

10,000 FAMOUS FREEMASONS

G. Washington
Louis Braille
G. Garibaldi
W.F. Halsey
John Hancock
Charles A. Lindbergh
Ben. Franklin
Robert Burns
G. Mazzini

BY William R. Denslow

FOREWORD BY HARRY S. TRUMAN

10,000 FAMOUS FREEMASONS

By

WH.LIAM R. DENSLOW

Volume I

A-D

Foreword by

HARRY S. TRUMAN, P.G.M.

Past Master, Missouri Lodge of Research

Published by Macoy Publishing
& Masonic Supply Co., Inc.
Richmond, Virginia

Copyright, 1957,
William R. Denslow

Foreword

Harry S Truman, PGM,
Grand Lodge of Missouri

It is a great pleasure and satisfaction to me that the Missouri Lodge of Research is to publish four volumes containing the biographies of ten thousand or more Freemasons who have contributed to the history of the Free World.

We know that research is the most important step in the study of history. Comprehensive and accurate information must be available for those who would interpret trends in world happenings.

History is made by men. It is therefore necessary to know about the men who have made history. In the study of the past we must know the motives that inspired men who made history. Events and dates are of no value unless we can discover what caused those events at the dates stated in what passes for history.

Plutarch in Roman times and Abbott in recent times wrote biographies of great men. Thousands of words about the subjects of these biographies have been written by other famous men—Shakespeare, for instance, and Milton and Emerson and Toynbee.

Perhaps these Masonic biographies will cause future historians, authors and playwrights to appreciate what has been done since these great books were written. Then people of future generations will have a fair basis for the evaluation of our times.

HARRY S. TRUMAN, PGM

Past Master Missouri Lodge of Research
Independence, Missouri

December 9, 1957

Preface

This is the first of four projected volumes entitled 10,000 Famous Freemasons, a much needed Masonic research project, sponsored by the Missouri Lodge of Research.

Perhaps the title is misleading, for the men listed herein, in the main, have not been famous primarily for their contributions to Freemasonry, but they are 10,000 famous or interesting personalities who have made their names in other fields. However, they have been, or are, members of the fraternity. There are hundreds of professional Freemasons and thousands of Masonic dignitaries who will not be mentioned. Their biographies have been inscribed in the various proceedings and annals of Freemasonry and will not be given here. A few national heads, founders and Masonic authors will be the exceptions.

These volumes do not cover any particular country or time, but, on the contrary, are world-wide in scope and cover the famous men from the beginnings of Freemasonry down to, and including, the present year.

Many volumes and pamphlets have been written on "Famous Freemasons." This work will exceed them all in scope, and, we hope, in accuracy. Nevertheless it is only a start on the vast amount of material that is available in the field of Masonic biography. It is a continuing process and tomorrow may lift a brother to prominence or rob another of his laurels.

It is difficult to establish a criteria for inclusion in these volumes. The reader will note, for instance, that many famous Freemasons have been overlooked, whereas many famous men who were anti-Masons are included. Former members who have been “back sliders” are noted as such when it comes to our attention and famous men who have been expelled are listed also. We have given the facts and have not attempted to claim what was not ours.

The last volume of this series will include an addenda of the many worthy brethren who have been omitted, and we will rely on our readers to bring these names to our attention so that they may be included.

To understand the difficulties in preparing a volume of this type, let us explain how it has been accomplished. Five years ago, we microfilmed and reprinted several thousand biographical cards in the library of the House of the Temple, Supreme Council, 33°, AASR (SJ). This kind gesture of the Southern Supreme Council is appreciated. This basic card file started our research. In the intervening five years, we have increased our 3 x 5 reference file from the original group to the amazing total of approximately 60,000 cards. To do this, we have read, marked and pasted on 3 x 5 cards, all the biographies in the current Who's Who, the two volumes of Who Was Who and the Who's Who Supplements. The majority of our references, however, have come from thousands of Masonic books and periodicals which we have indexed during this period. This is a continuing process, and we add a dozen or more biographical cards a day to our files. This card file is supplemented by an extensive biographical file for more lengthy material.

We already have mentioned the valuable assistance given by the Scottish Rite, Southern Jurisdiction, for the part it contributed to this project. The York Rite also has donated heavily by paying the salary of the author and his staff of The Royal Arch Mason magazine for the many hours they have spent working on these volumes. They have bought card files, cards, books and other material that has been necessary in compiling the original material. The contribution of the General Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons will run into five figures before the project is completed.

The compiler wishes to express his appreciation to Ray V. Denslow, Nada W. Hoffman and Juanita D. Denslow for their help in copyreading and proofreading and to Hazel H. Jackson for maintaining the card files.

These volumes will stand as a memorial to the criticism of our detractors. What other group of men in the world has accomplished so much? A perusal of these biographies will indicate that a great proportion of the liberators, patriots, royalty, explorers, statesmen, judges, inventors, soldiers, sailors, musicians, entertainers, aviators, and business executives have seen fit to honor our fraternity with their membership. For more than 200 years Freemasonry has produced men of leadership, morals and vision; men of knowledge; men of science; men of war; men who would free their people from the oppressor; men who would fight to maintain that liberty—and men who would offer a helping hand to the downtrodden. They are, indeed, brethren of whom we may be proud!

In these four volumes you may read their record. It will speak for itself!

WILLIAM R. DENSLOW

Compiler of the 1957 Transactions,
Missouri Lodge of Research.

A

John Aasen A giant 8' 6" tall who, when raised in Highland Park Lodge No. 382, Los Angeles on July 14, 1924, weighed 536 lbs. The raising was done by Arthur S. Crites, G.M. and all ritualistic ceremonies were observed except that 12 craftsmen were required. Fifteen hundred witnessed the ceremony. Aasen appeared in a number of motion pictures including The Circus.

Leon Abbett Governor of New Jersey, 1885–1887. Past master Mystic Tie Lodge No. 272, New York City. Demitted to Varick Lodge No. 31, Jersey City and later to Temple Lodge No. 110. Was representative to G.L. of Ireland from G.L. of New Jersey from 1886 to 1894. Member of Ancient Chapter No. 1, R.A.M., New York City.

Stephen Abbot General in American Revolution. Member Essex Lodge, Salem, Mass.

Bud Abbott Radio, stage and screen performer. b. Asbury Park, N.J., Oct. 2, 1898. Began as a cashier in theatres in 1916 and became famous with the founding of the team "Abbott and Costello." Sold 78 million in war bonds on a 31 day tour during WW2 and entertained in 300 Army and Navy camps. A Mason and a Shriner.

George B. Abbott English Masonic writer. Member of Gladsmuir Lodge No. 1385.

Leon M. Abbott (1867–1932) Grand Commander of Supreme Council AASR (NJ) PGM of Mass. Raised in Columbian Lodge, Boston, June 7, 1894. PHP of St. Paul's Royal Arch Chapter, Boston.

Robert O. Abbott (1824–1867) Surgeon General of the U.S., 1862–67. b. in Pennsylvania, he entered the army in 1849 as assistant surgeon and accompanied Magruder's battery to California. He subsequently served in the East and also in Florida and Texas. During 1861 he was assistant to the chief medical purveyor of New York and later medical director of the Fifth Army Corps. The duties of his office were arduous and he died of overwork. Mentioned as a Mason in the District of Columbia proceedings of 1865.

William R. Abbott (1869–1950) President of Illinois Bell Telephone Co. 1922–30; chairman of the board, 1930–34. b. Sept. 18, 1869 in New York City. Began as clerk for Erie Railroad in 1885 and with the Westchester (N.Y.) Telephone Company in 1888. Was with Illinois Bell from 1893, becoming general superintendent, general manager, vice president and president. Mason and Knight Templar. d. Mar. 2, 1950.

Abd-el-Kader (1807–1883) Algerian patriot and emir of Mascara. b. near Mascara, his family were Sherifs or descendants of Mohammed, and his father, Mahi-ed-Din, was celebrated throughout north Africa for his piety and charity. He received an excellent education in theology, philosophy and the manly arts such as horsemanship. After the French had taken possession of Algeria (1830) the Arabs entreated Mahi-ed-Din to become their 1st Duke of Abercorn sultan, which he did, but immediately abdicated in favor of Abd, his son. Abd, at the head of 9,000 troops marched toward Oran to drive out the French. The fighting was bitter, but the French remained in possession of the city. For the next 13 years he stubbornly resisted the French conquest of Algeria, but in 1847 when they massed 120,000 troops against him, he was forced to surrender under these tremendous odds. Although promised that he would be allowed to go to Alexandria, he and his family were detained in Europe for five years. In July, 1860, he was active in defending the Christians against the murderous attacks of the Moslems in the Christian quarters at Damascus. In recognition of saving many lives, he received decorations and presents from many countries.. The remainder of his life was occupied in public devotions, religious instruction and practical charity. A biography published in London in 1867 records this interesting episode: "Abd-el-Kader had just succeeded in achieving, after much toil and self-abnegation, the highest distinction to be attained in a religious profession, dogmatic and exclusive. By a singular contrast he now wished to wear the badge of a society based and established on the principle of universal brotherhood. The Masonid body in Alexandria hastened to welcome the illustrious neophyte. The Lodge of the Pyramids was specially convened for the occasion on the evening of 18th of June (1867). Abd-el-Kader was initiated into the mysteries, and to the privileges of being a 'Fellow of the Prophet,' added the more time-honored privilege of being a 'Free and Accepted Mason.' He died at Damascus on May 26, 1883.

James, 1st Duke of Abercorn (1811–1885) 10th Earl, 2nd Marquis and 1st Duke of Abercorn. Grandson of 1st Marquis; lord lieutenant of Ireland(1866–68; 1874–76). Grand Master of Ireland 1874–1885.

James, 2nd Duke of Abercorn (1838–1913) Eldest brother of Lord George Francis Hamilton. Was official figurehead of the Irish landlords in land war and opposed home rule. Grand Master of Ireland in 1886 succeeding his father, the first duke.

James, 7th Earl of Abercorn (James Hamilton) (?–1744) Privy Councilor of England. Named Grand Master of England by the retiring Grand Master, Duke of Richmond, in 1725. He was at that time master of a lodge and had served on the committee of charity during that year. Succeeded his father as Earl of Abercorn in 1734. Died, 1744.

John W. Abercrombie (1866–1940) Educator and public official. President of University of Alabama 1902–11. State supervisor of teacher certification in Alabama 1935–40. Acting Secretary for U.S. Department of Labor 1918–20. Member of 63rd and 64th Congress 1913–17. Member of Alabama Senate 1896–98. Mason and 32° AASR.

Sir Ralph Abercromby (1734–1801) British general who led the expeditionary force that conquered St. Lucia and Trinidad in 1795–96. He commanded troops in the Mediterranean in 1800, defeated the French at Alexandria in 1801 and died of wounds received there. He is credited with restoring the discipline and efficiency of the British army.

Member of Canon-gate Kilwinning Lodge No. 2, Edinburgh, Scotland.

Charles Aberdour (Lord Sholto) Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of England (Moderns) from 1757–61 and 20th Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1755–56. He was later the 15th Earl of Morton.

Walter S. Abernathy Transportation economist, government official.

Sir Allan Adair b. Sept. 7, 1887 at Petersburg, Va. Transportation specialist, Dept. of Commerce 1928–53; executive secretary Pan American Railway Congress since 1949. Raised in Powhatan Starke Lodge No. 124, Petersburg, Va. on Sept. 5, 1919. Member of Columbia Chapter No. 1, Washington, D.C. 32° AASR (SJ) in Albert Pike Consistory, Washington, D.C. May 28, 1946. Member of Almas Shrine Temple, 1946; Washington Chapter No. 3, National Sojourners, George Washington Camp of Heroes of '76. Past president (1944) of advisory board of Masonic Clubs of D.C. Past deputy state president of National League of Masonic Clubs.

Robert S. Abernethy Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Aug. 5, 1874 in Gonzales Co., Texas. Commissioned lieutenant in 1897 and promoted through grades to general rank on Oct. 1, 1932. Served in the Spanish American War and in the Philippines. Commanded 175th Field Artillery Brigade, A.E.F. in WW1. His last command was San Francisco Port of Embarkation and he retired in 1938. Member of Summerton Lodge No. 105, Summerton, N.C. and served as national president of the National Sojourners from 1937–40.

Thomas G. Abernethy Congressman from Mississippi. Member of 76th to 84th Congresses. b. May 16, 1903 at Eupora, Miss. Lawyer. Received degrees in Eupora Lodge No. 423 and presently member of Prairie Lodge No. 87 at Okolona, Miss. Member of Royal Arch Chapter and Commandery, K.T. at Okolona and Hamasa Shrine Temple at Meridian, Miss.

Edmond Francois Valentin About (1828–1885) French journalist, novelist, playwright and member of the French Academy. Author of Le Roi des Montagnes (1856), Le Nez d'un Notaire (1862) and Madelon (1863). Mason.

George, 5th Earl of Aboyne (George Gordon) (1761–1853) Soldier; succeeded as 5th Earl of Aboyne in 1794 and the 9th Marquis of Huntly in 1836. Was Grand Master of Scotland in 1802–03.

Antonine Firmin Abraham A Freemason who made himself notorious at Paris in the beginning of the 19th century by the manufacture and sale of false Masonic diplomas and by trading the higher degrees, from which traffic he reaped a harvest for some time.

Herbert Abraham President of Ruberoid Co. since 1903. b. July 9, 1883, New York City. President of Asphalt Roofing Industry Bureau three terms. Served on War Industries Board, Washington, 1917–18. Mason.

Allen Abrams Vice president of Marathon Corp. since 1940 and Director since 1943. Deputy Director of development and research for O.S.S. in 1943–44. b. Jan. 27, 1889. Mason.

Benjamin Abrams President of Emerson Radio and Phonograph Corp. Came to this country from Romania at the age of 12. Left school at 13 to help support his fatherless family and by the age of 29 had acquired the name, assets and presidency of the Emerson Corp. His career is studded with “firsts”; the radio–phonograph, the smallest radio and commercial television. Famed for his philanthropy to national and international projects. He is a member of Farragut Lodge No. 976, New York City.

Franz Abt (1819–1885) German composer. b. Eilenberg Saxony d. Wiesbaden. Composed a number of cantatas and songs for the lodge for use on St. John’s Feast Days. Initiated in Brunswick Lodge in 1853.

Sir Allan Adair British Major General created the 6th Baron in 1938 of baronetcy established in 1888. Served with Grenadier Guards in 1916–17 and was in command of the 3rd Bn. in 1940; the 30th Guards Brigade in 1941; and the 6th Brigade in 1942; when he was given command of the newly formed Armored Division of the Guards which he retained until the end of WW2 and led in the epic dash of 1944 from the Seine to the relief of Brussels. It was regarded as one of the most gallant achievements of the European liberation. His only son (a captain) was killed when the Guards attacked Mount Camino in Italy, Nov. 1943. Since 1951 he has been second in command of the Queen's Bodyguard of the Yeomen of the Guard. Commander of the Bath; DSO; M.C. He entered Masonry in April, 1924 in Household Brigade Lodge No. 2614, serving as master. Appointed assistant grand master of the G.L. of England in 1953. A member of most of the Masonic rites in England.

E. Ross Adair Congressman from 4th Indiana district to 82nd Congress. b. Dec. 15, 1907 at Albion, Ind. Admitted to bar in 1933 and since practiced at Fort Wayne. Served in army overseas in WW2. Raised in Albion Lodge No. 97, Albion, Ind. in 1929. 32° AASR in Fort Wayne, Ind. Shriner, National Sojourner, Tall Cedar member.

Hugh R. Adair Justice, Supreme Court of Montana from 1943 and chief justice since 1947. b. Aug. 27, 1889 at Trego Co., Kansas. Served in both bodies of Montana state legislature and was lieutenant governor from 1937–41, addressing the Grand Lodge of Montana in this capacity in 1938. Past potentate of Algeria Shrine Temple.

Jackson L. Adair Congressman, judge. b. Feb. 23, 1888 at Clayton, Ill. Graduated from Univ. of Michigan in 1911 and admitted to bar in Michigan, Oklahoma and Illinois, first practicing in Muskogee, Okla. in 1911–13 and then in Quincy, Ill. Illinois state senator in 1928–32 and member of the 73rd and 74th Congresses (1933–37) from 15th district. Has been U.S. district judge, Southern Illinois district since 1937. Mason.

Alva Adams (1850–1922) Governor of Colorado 1887–89;

1897–99. Candidate for governor in 1904 and was declared elected, being seated on Jan. 10, but on March 20, 1905 he was ousted by legislature which gave the office to James H. Peabody, who served one day and resigned. Member of first Colorado legislature in 1876. U.S. Commissioner–General to Australia, New Zealand, Java, Siam, and China. Knighted in Pueblo Commandery No. 3, K.T. Jan. 15, 1884; 32° January 29, 1890 in Denver. Active member of Supreme Council AASR (SJ). b. Iowa Co., Wis., May 14, 1850; d. Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 1, 1922.

Alva B. Adams (1875–1941) U.S. Senator from Colorado, 1923–45. b. Oct. 29, 1875 at Del Norte, Colo. Graduate of Yale and Columbia universities, and admitted to Colorado bar in 1899, practicing at Pueblo. d. Dec. 1, 1941. Mason.

Andrew Adams (1736–1797) Signer of Articles of Confederation in 1777 and chief justice of Supreme Court of Connecticut. b. in January, 1736 in Stratford, Conn. Graduated from Yale in 1760 and practiced at Stamford and Litchfield. Member of state legislature in 1776–81; delegate to Congress in 1777–80 and again in 1781–82. Appointed judge of state supreme court in 1789, he was made chief justice in 1793. He was an adroit lawyer and an able judge. Member of St. Paul's Lodge No. 11, Litchfield, Conn. d. Nov. 26, 1797.

Charles F. Adams (1876–1946) Business executive who pioneered and developed National League hockey in U.S., 1925. Governor of the league 1925–37; Director and chairman of board of Eastern Racing Association 1935–43. Director Boston

National League Baseball Association 1927–35. Knight Templar and Shriner. b. Oct. 19, 1876, in Newport, Vt. d. Oct. 1, 1946.

Claude M. Adams Brigadier General U.S. Army (1943). Executive officer and aide-de-camp to General G. C. Marshall, chief of staff; military attache to Brazil 1942–44. Served in WW1 as lieutenant. Vice president of O'Donnell Shoe Corp. Mason. b. Hum-bolt, Tenn., Oct 2, 1895.

Frank R. Adams Author and playwright. Has written about 20 novels, a score of musical comedies, several motion pictures and a book of lyrics of musical comedy. b. July 7, 1883 at Morrison, Ill. Graduate of Univ. of Chicago in 1904. Mason.

Jasper Adams (1793–1841) Clergyman and educator. b. Aug. 27, 1793 in Medway, Mass. Graduate of Brown Univ. and studied theology at Andover. Math professor at Brown and at same time ordained in Episcopal church. Became president of the college of Charleston in 1824, and Hobart College (Geneva, N.Y.) in 1826. Served as professor at West Point from 1838–40. Raised in Mt. Vernon Lodge No. 4, Providence, R.I. in Sept., 1821. d. Oct. 25, 1841.

John Adams American Revolution (naval). Purser on ship Raleigh during Revolution. Member St. John's Lodge No. 1, Portsmouth, N.H.

John Quincy Adams (1767–1848) Sixth President of the United States 1825–29. An anti-Mason who a year before his death published a book of his letters against the Masonic fraternity which amounted to an expose.

John T. Adams (1873–1942) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Colorado, 1931–34. b. Dec. 25, 1873 at La Porte, Ind. Admitted to bar in 1900. Named to Supreme Court of Colorado as justice in 1925, serving last part of term as chief justice. Resumed law practice in 1935. Mason. d. May 13, 1942.

Karl L. Adams (1888–1948) President of Northern Illinois State Teachers College at DeKalb, Ill. from 1929. b. Sept. 5, 1888 at Lexington, Ohio. Mason. d. Dec. 6, 1948.

Kenneth S. Adams Chairman of board of Phillips Petroleum Co. since 1951. President of Phillips from 1938–51. b. Aug. 31, 1899 at Horton, Kans. Began with Phillips as a warehouse clerk in 1920. Member of Bartlesville Lodge No. 284, Bartlesville Chapter No. 55, R.A.M.; Calvary Commandery No. 26, K.T. all of Bartlesville, Okla. 33° AASR (SJ) at Guthrie, Okla.; Kara Grotto, Bartlesville; Tulsa Court No. 47, Royal Order of Jesters, Tulsa; Akdar Shrine Temple at Tulsa; Wasono Shrine Club, Bartlesville, Bartlesville Scottish Rite Club. Member, Legion of Honor, Order of DeMolay and Trustee, Masonic Foundation of Oklahoma, Inc.

Myron E. Adams (1876–1930) Social Worker. D.D. Syracuse University 1898. Ordained Baptist minister 1905. Social worker in Rochester, N.Y.; Cleveland, Ohio; Buffalo and New York City. Organized and became first director of Department of Morale (under Chief of Staff U.S. Army) during WW1. Executive secretary of National Rehabilitation Comm. 1922; associated with Marshall Field and Albert A. Sprague in the Public Service Associates, Inc., 1922–26. Mason. b. Feb. 19, 1876. d. Jan. 17, 1930.

Richard Adams Privateer and Captain during Revolution. Member of St. Peter's Lodge, Newburyport, Mass.

Samuel Adams Signer, Declaration of Independence. No record of his Masonic affiliation although purported to have been made a Mason in St. John's Lodge, Boston, Mass.

Samuel Adams Governor of Arkansas in 1844. Member of Clarksville Lodge No. 5 (Ark.) and junior grand warden pro-tem of the G.L. of Arkansas in 1844.

Samuel E. Adams Active member of Supreme Council AASR (SJ). d. March 29, 1912. Raised in Vermont Lodge No. 18, Hartland, Vt. Exalted in Burlington (Vt.) Chapter No. 3, Feb. 14, 1855. Knighted in Burlington Commandery No. 2, Sept. 19, 1855. Received 33° from G.C. Albert Pike at Minneapolis, Minn. Aug. 23, 1885.

Sherman Adams Governor of New Hampshire; advisor to President Eisenhower. Elected governor of New Hampshire in 1949 and was the 40th Freemason to serve as governor out of a total of 67 since 1785. As advisor to Eisenhower he was often called "Assistant President," and was chief of the White House staff. Described as "tough-minded, aloof, knowing all the policies, aims, purposes and background." Makes many decisions on his own and is sometimes called

“The Rock of Gibraltar.” Knight Templar, 32° and member of Bektash Shrine Temple of N.H. Served in WW1 and traces kinship back to two presidents of the U.S. Speaker of N.H. House of Representatives 1943–44 and member of the 79th Congress. b. East Dover, Vt., Jan. 8, 1899.

Wilbur L. Adams (1884–1937) Congressman from Delaware 73rd Congress. Lawyer. Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, 1934. b. Oct. 23, 1884. d. Dec. 4, 1937. Mason.

Henry Adamson Wrote the first printed reference yet discovered showing the Master’s Word to be connected with the Rosy Cross. It occurs in his The Muses Threnodie—“For weare brethren of the Rosy Cross we have the Mason’s Word.”

Sir Michael Adeane Private secretary to Queen Elizabeth of England and to her father, King George VI, to whom he acted, in a sense, as a Masonic aide-de-camp on many occasions. Represented George VI at installation of the Earl of Scarbrough as GM in 1951. A Knight of the Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath, he served as senior grand deacon of the Grand Lodge of England in 1946.

Charles Adkins (1863–1941) Congressman from Illinois 69th to 72nd Congresses (1925–33). Mason. Home, Decatur, Ill.

Jesse C. Adkins (1879–1955) Judge. Special assistant to the Attorney General from 1908 to 1916. Appointed Associate Justice, Supreme Court of District of Columbia in 1930. Chairman jud. sect. American Bar Assn., 1935. Mason. 32°. b.

April 13, 1879. d. Mar. 29, 1955.

Julius Ochs Adler (1892–1955) Major General; vice-president and general manager of the New York Times. Fought in both WW1 and WW2 and was called a “Soldier’s Soldier” by President Eisenhower. Was active in many Jewish, civic and patriotic endeavors throughout his life. The rank of general—which Adler carried proudly—was not honorary. He had been a civilian soldier for forty years. Since WW1, he had served the 77th infantry division. He left it during WW2 to lead other combat troops. After the war he rejoined the 77th and became the commanding general of this New York reserve unit. He started with the New York Times in 1914, and in directing its business management as well as that of the Chattanooga (Tenn.) Times, he helped maintain the high standards that have been a credit to the world of journalism. He was a member of Justice Lodge No. 753 of New York City. Adler died on October 3, 1955 and was buried in Arlington National Cemetery on October 6.

Adolph Friedrich IV Duke of Mecklenburg–Strelitz (1738–1794) Initiated in 1772 by deputation of the lodge Irene zu den drei Sternen in Rostock, Germany. In 1774 he entered the lodge at New–Brandenburg remaining a member until his death.

Adolph Fredrik (1710–1771) King of Sweden 1751–1771. Was master of a Stockholm lodge and received the title of Protector of Swedish Freemasonry in 1762.

Baron van Aersen-Beyeren Grand Master of the Netherlands 1756–1758.

John S. Africa (1839–1900) Banker and grand master of Pennsylvania 1891–1892. Member Pennsylvania legislature, 1860. Secretary Internal Affairs of Pa. 1883–87. President Union Trust Co. of Philadelphia 1887–1900.

Gregorio Aglipay Chaplain General of the Philippine Army 1899–1901. Scottish Rite member. Later headed the Philippine Independent Church.

Andrew D. Agnew (1867–1951) Grand Master of the Grand Encampment, K.T. 1932–37. Native of Ireland. Lawyer. Active member of the Supreme Council (NJ), 1920. 33* in 1911.

Ignacio Agramonte (1841–1873) Cuban patriot and Freemason who participated in war which followed Cuba's declaration of independence in 1868. b. in Puerto Principe, he was commissioned under Cespedes and became leader of the revolts of 1868–69 against Spain. He was killed in battle.

Camillo Mora Aguilar Governor of province of San Jose, Costa Rica. Son of President Juan Rafa el Mora. An agriculturist. Member of Union Fraternal No. 10.

Joaquin Aguilar Magistrate of Supreme Court of Costa Rica. Member of the College of Lawyers. Esperanza Lodge.

Emilio Aguinaldo Philippine patriot and general. b. March

22, 1869, at Old Cavite, Luzon of Chinese and Tagalog parentage. Was educated in the home of a Jesuit priest and later in the University of St. Thomas, conducted by the Dominican friars in Manila. Was initiated Jan. 1, 1895 in Pilar Lodge under the Grand Orient of Spain, becoming master of the lodge. At the outbreak of the insurrection in August, 1896, he was mayor of Cavite Viejo. During this uprising, he took a prominent part, displaying a marked capacity for leadership. In 1898 Spain gave him a subsidy for remaining out of the country and he went to Hong Kong until the U.S. entered the war against Spain. Believing the time was ripe for a change in government, he returned immediately after the Battle of Manila, May 1, 1898, for the express purpose of assisting the American government. They gave him authority to set up a native government of which he became the head and organized an army. Having doubt as to the future freedom of his country under American rule, he began hostilities against the U.S. during the year 1899 and engaged in several pitched battles, but was driven from capital to capital until finally captured by General Frederick Funston at Palawan, Luzon on March 23, 1901. On April 19, 1901 he took an oath of allegiance to the U.S. and retired to a peaceful life. During the Spanish rebellion he organized the Triagle Magdalo, with other Freemasons and it later became Magdalo Lodge. The lodge held its meetings in Aguinaldo's residence. It was on the balcony of this residence that the proclamation of the First Republic and the unveiling of the original Philippine flag took place, June 12, 1898. Four months after his initiation into Freemasonry, he affiliated with the Katipunan, an organization patterned after Freemasonry with passwords and three degrees. Seeing this organization was the best means of gathering support for the revolutionary movement, he encouraged all able-bodied men to join it, and the success of the revolution, at least in Cavite, may be attributed to the Katipunan. When the Grand Orient of Spain fused with the G.L. of the Philippines in February 1917, Aguinaldo became a Scottish Rite Mason. He was coroneted a 33° on Feb. 13, 1955.

Charles T. Aikens (1862–1927) University president and Lutheran minister. Ordained, 1888. President of Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove, Pa. from 1905. President of Lutheran Synod of Central Pa. 1897–1901. 32° AASR.

Marquess of Ailsa (1872–1943) Archibald Kennedy, 15th Earl of Cassillis, created Marquess of Ailsa in 1938. b. May 22, 1872. d. Feb. 27, 1943. The Kennedys are a famous and powerful Scottish family long settled in Ayrshire. Ancestor John Kennedy of Dunure obtained Cassillis and other lands in Ayrshire about 1350. John's descendant Sir James Kennedy married Mary, a daughter of King Robert III and their son Sir Gilbert Kennedy was created Lord Kennedy before 1458. Gilbert's grandson David, third Lord Kennedy, was created Earl of Cassillis before 1530. In 1831 the 12th Earl of Cassillis became the first Marquess of Ailsa, taking the title from the craig which was his property. Archibald was educated at Eton College, Trinity College, Cambridge and Edinburgh universities. Served as major in the South African War (1900–1902) and was with the British Expeditionary Forces from Dec., 1914 to May, 1919. Later became a member of the Royal Company of Archers and as such constituted a member of His Majesty's Bodyguard for Scotland. His services were called for in every large civic or national enterprise. He had held many high offices in Freemasonry, and was head of the Grand Chapter of Scotland for 30 years, being 1st Grand Principal from 1913 until his death in 1943. He made three Masonic visits to the United States, 1924, 1927 and 1933 for the purpose of settling jurisdictional differences with the General Grand Chapter over the chapters in the Philippines. On his death his titles passed to his brother Charles q.v. Initiated in Holy-rood House Lodge No. 44, Edinburgh, Nov. 17, 1896.

Marquess of Ailsa Charles Kennedy, 16th Earl of Cassillis and 5th Marquess of Ailsa upon the death of his brother, Archibald q.v., in 1943. b. April 10, 1875, he was educated at Eton and Royal Agriculture College Cirencester. Formerly captain Ayrshire Yeomanry and lieutenant 3rd Bn. Royal Scots Fusilliers; served in South Africa 1900–1901 as captain, Prince of Wales Light Horse. As Lord Kennedy, he received most of his Masonic light in the United States, where he came after the African War. He was initiated in Acacia Lodge No. 11, A.F. & A.M. of Cheyenne, Wyoming April 4, 1905; passed May 25, 1905 and raised June 8, 1905. His petition for the capitular degrees was received by Lebanon Chapter No. 3 of Laramie, Wyo. on June 9, 1909 and was elected July 14. He received the MM and PM degrees Aug. 11, 1909. The MEM and RAM degrees were conferred by Nevada Chapter No. 56, of Nevada, Mo. by request of Lebanon chapter on March 14 and 22, 1910. About 1914 he was in Davenport, Iowa. He de-milted from the lodge in Nov. 15, 1921 and the chapter Nov. 9, 1921. In a letter to the chapter dated Dec. 10, 1919

he thanked them for remitting a year's dues because of his war service, stating that he left the U.S. in Nov., 1914 and joined the Ayrshire Yeomanry, Jan., 1915. He stated he "was passed as unfit for overseas service and at the end of 1916 was appointed an area gas officer. . . . I was attached to the 18th Division for a short time in France in 1918 on a tour of instruction. Until quite recently have been engaged in training in gas defensive measures and am now trying to get the bally stuff out of my system."

William D. B. Ainey (1864–1933) Chairman Public Service Commission of Pa. and Congressman. Member of 62nd and 63rd Congresses (1911–15). Chairman of Public Service Comm. of Pa. 1915. Delegate to Interparliamentary Conference, Geneva, 1912 and to the Hague in 1913. Delegate to Interparliamentary Union, Paris, 1927. Mason.

James Ainslie Scottish clergyman, who in 1652 was the subject of an ecclesiastical investigation because he was a Mason and "possessed the Mason Word." On appeal to the Presbytery at Kelso, he was cleared "because in the purest tymes of this kirke, maisons haveing that word have been ministers."

John C. Ainsworth (1870–1943) Financier. President of States Steamship Co.; president of Ainsworth National Bank, Portland, Oregon and its successor, the U.S. National Bank. Director of many corporations and the Federal Reserve Bank in Portland. 33° John C. Ainsworth (1822–1893) Transportation pioneer of the Pacific Northwest. Went West with the 1850 gold rush and soon settled in Oregon where he pioneered in transportation. He was the guiding genius of river steamboat transportation and his Oregon Steam Navigation Co. grew to the Pacific Northwest division of the Union Pacific Railroad. His Portland bank was the largest in Oregon. Was an incorporator and promoter of the Northern Pacific Railway. Was raised in Farmington Lodge No. 9, Ohio and became the first master of Multnomah Lodge No. 86 (Mo. register), now Oregon No. 1. He helped organize the G.L. of Oregon and served as grand master 1854–55. In 1865 he was grand high priest of the Grand Chapter. Inspector general 33° AASR (SJ).

Milburn P. Akers Editor, political and editorial writer. b. May 4, 1900. Assistant to Secretary of Interior 1939–41. Executive secretary of Illinois Development Council 1937–39. Editor of Chicago Sun, 1941–42. Mason.

George E. Akerson (1889–1937) Secretary to President Hoover 1929–31; Hoover's assistant when Secretary of Commerce 1925–28. Washington correspondent and asst. managing editor of Minneapolis Tribune 1912–25. 32° at Minneapolis Feb. 27, 1929. Received Shrine at Washington, D.C. Apr. 29, 1929 as courtesy to Zurah Temple in Minneapolis.

Spencer B. Akin Major General U.S. Army. b. Feb. 13, 1889. B.S. Virginia Military Institute 1910. 2nd Lt. U.S. Army, 1910 advancing through grades to brigadier general in 1941 and major general in 1943. Chief signal officer on staff of General MacArthur and later chief signal officer, Department of Army.

Cited by Poor Richard Club for his reorganization of Army's system of communication to needs of atomic warfare. Mason.

Sir Adeyemo Alakija (1884–1952) Nigeria spiritual and political leader. Headed the Executive Council of the Colony and Protectorate in Nigeria, also a spiritual leader among the natives and respected public figure. Member Star of Nigeria Chapter No. 255, R.A.M. 23° AASR. Appointed grand superintendent over Royal Arch in the district both English and Scottish constitutions as well as head of the District Grand Lodge. Died April 9, 1952.

Miguel Ricardo de Alava (1771–1843) Spanish general and statesman. He participated in the Peninsular War under Wellington in 1811 and in 1815 was in the service of Ferdinand VII. He was a liberal leader and president of the Cortes in 1822, in which year he aided in the deposition of Ferdinand. In 1814 he was imprisoned for being a Freemason. Upon Ferdinand's restoration by the French in 1823, Alava fled to England. He was later in' the service of Maria Christina against Don Carlos. Named ambassador to London in 1834 and Paris in 1835, retiring to France after the La Granja insurrection.

Leopold, Duke of Albany Youngest son of Queen Victoria was initiated in Apollo University Lodge No. 357, Oxford, England May 1, 1874 and in May, 1875 became a member of Lodge of Antiquity. No. 2. Served as master of Apollo Lodge, 1876.

Juan Bautista Alberdi (1810–1884) Distinguished Argentine statesman, jurist and publisher. He was noted principally for his Bases, a treatise on American public right. Hostile to Rosas, he exiled himself to Uruguay where he studied law, later practicing in Chile. On the overthrow of Rosas by Urquiza q.v. he was successively named by the latter as minister to Paris, Madrid, Washington and London. Mason.

Albert Victor Christian Edward (see Duke of Clarence)

Carl Albert Congressman from Oklahoma, 80th Congress (1947–49) Lawyer. b. May 10, 1908. Member of South McAlester Lodge No. 96, Mc– Alester, Okla. (1946), 32° Indian Consistory, AASR (SJ) and DeMolay Legion of Honor.

Casimir August Albert Duke of Saxony–Teschén (1738–1822) Last governor of the Austrian Netherlands. Brother of King Karl Christian Joseph. Initiated in Dresden, Germany, in lodge Zu den drei Schwestern, 1764.

Prince Albert Duke of York. b. December 14, 1895, in London. Provincial G.M. of Middlesex.

Albert–Edward, Prince of Wales (1841–1910) (see Edward VII of England) Eldest son of Queen Victoria. Initiated in Stockholm in 1868 by King Charles XV and made past grand master in 1870. In 1875 he received the AASR degrees. In 1875 he succeeded the Marquis de Ripon as grand master of England, an office which he held until his death in 1910.

Manuel Masimino Alberti (1763–1811) Catholic priest and Argentine patriot. Although a Catholic priest he joined Freemasonry and was active in events that led to the “open forum” on May 24, 1810 and the revolution of that year. He was one of the “junta,” or council, then formed to rule the country.

Henri Christophe Albrecht (1763–1800) German Masonic writer. Initiated 1785. In 1792 he published at Hamburg a work entitled Materialen zu einer kritischen Geschichte der Freimaurerei (Collections towards a critical history of Freemasonry).

Ralph G. Albrecht Specialist in international law. Prosecuted Herman Goering and others before International Military Tribunal, 1945–46. b. Aug. 11, 1896 at Jersey City, N.J. Graduate of Univ. of Pennsylvania and Harvard. Admitted to bar in 1924. Associate counsel for American claimants against Germany in “Black Tom” and “Kingsland” explosions, 1924–39. Commander, U.S. Navy, 1941–45. Naval observer with American Embassy London, England and with Pacific Fleet, Pearl Harbor and Australia. Assistant Director O.S.S. (War Crimes) and assistant to attorney general, 1945. Raised in Dalhousie Lodge, Newtonville, Mass. on Nov. 16, 1921.

Horace M. Albright Conservationist. b. Jan. 6, 1890. Director National Park Service 1917–18; asst. director and superintendent Yellowstone National Park 1919–29. In charge of Yosemite National Park, 1927–28. Director National Park Service Jan. 12, 1929 to Aug. 10, 1933. Advisor, director and official of many national conservation projects. Member of Livingston Lodge No. 32, Livingston, Montana, being raised in June, 1923. He was given his degrees in a period of five weeks while in charge of Yellowstone National Park so that he would be a member in time to entertain President Harding in Yellowstone on June 30 and July 1, 1923.

James L. Alcorn Former Governor and Senator from Mississippi. Member Coahoma Lodge No. 104, Friar's Point, Miss. and Jackson Chapter No. 6, Jackson, Miss.

Alvin B. Alden (1818–1882) Did much for laying foundation of Freemasonry in Wisconsin. Grand master 1861–63; grand high priest 1863; grand commander 1866–68; sovereign grand inspector general, AASR.

Chester H. Aldrich (1862–1924) Governor of Nebraska and jurist. Admitted to Nebraska bar, 1891. Member Nebraska Senate, 1907. Governor of Nebraska 1911–13. Justice, Supreme Court of Nebraska 1919–25. Mason and Knight Templar.

Kildroy P. Aldrich 1st Assistant Postmaster General, 1943–45. b. Feb. 16, 1877. With postal department from 1897 to 1945, serving in various capacities from postal clerk to assistant postmaster general. Raised in Siloam Lodge No. 276, Oklahoma City, Okla. in 1913 and a life member. Member of Missouri Consistory No. 1, St. Louis, Mo. (SJ).

Nelson W. Aldrich (1841–1915) U.S. Senator from Rhode Island from 1881 to 1911. b. Nov. 6, 1841 at Foster, R.I.; Graduate of Brown Univ. Member of R.I. House of Representatives from 1875–77, serving as speaker of same. Elected five times to U.S. Senate and declined nomination for reelection in 1910. A member of What Cheer Lodge No. 21, (past master) Providence and Providence Chapter No. 1 as well as Cavalry Commandery No. 13 which he served as commander in 1871. In 1879 he was grand commander of the Grand Commandery of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. d. Apr. 16, 1915.

Elizabeth Aldworth Said to be the only woman ever regularly initiated into Freemasonry. See “Elizabeth St. Leger.”

J. Frank Alee Former U.S. Senator from Delaware. Member Union Lodge No. 7, Dover, Del.

Miguel Aleman President of Mexico 1947–52. Petitioned Antiquities Lodge No. 9 of Grand Lodge Valle de Mexico on Sept. 25, 1930 as a young man of 26. Initiated Oct. 20, 1930; passed April 27, 1931 and raised July 31, 1931. He later demitted to City of Mexico Lodge No. 35. Received AASR degrees 4th through 32nd Nov. 24, 1942 by Grand Commander Antonio Arceo. Made a noble of the Mystic Shrine in Anezeh Temple of Mexico City on Nov. 27, 1945. Son of General Miguel Aleman, who as a revolutionist against Porfirio Diaz, fled to the mountains as an open rebel for three years before the general revolution of 1910, leaving 8-year-old Miguel as head of the house. By selling papers he worked his way through the law school of the National University and on graduation set up a thriving law business principally with labor unions and individual workers. His public life began as magistrate of the Veracruz Supreme Court. Was elected to the Senate and in 1936 was appointed Governor of Veracruz, serving until 1940. He resigned as governor to manage the election of his friend, General Avila Camacho, who, when he won, appointed Aleman as Minister of Interior. At 37, he was the youngest cabinet member and Camacho's principal trouble shooter between the federal government and the 28 states. In this capacity he won international recognition for tracking down some 2,000 German and Japanese nationals in deference to the U.S. He was nominated as president by the head of the Latin-American Federation of Labor and his campaign manager was the editor of the labor newspaper, El Popular. Industrialists backed him because he understood the technical necessities of Mexican industry. Scholars and professional men cheered him for his ability and brains. The old revolutionary generals liked his background and political philosophy, and the masses voted for him because he had given them more in the way of social reform than anyone within their memory. He was particularly interested in public education and transportation.

Alexander I (1777–1825) Czar of Russia from 1801–1825. b. Dec. 23, 1777 and succeeded Paul I q.v. on the throne in 1801. While he prohibited all secret societies in 1801, in 1803 he rescinded this prohibition. It is said that he was convinced by Johann Boeber q.v., later grand master of Russia, of the benefits of Masonry and he not only lifted the ban, but became a member himself. Some sources claim he was initiated in Canongate Kilwinning Lodge of Edinburgh, Scotland and in 1814 acted as master at the conferring of the degrees in a military lodge in Paris on William III, Emperor of Germany. He was, for certain, a member of the Polish Grand Orient. In November, 1815 the Polish Masons gave a banquet in his honor after which he left generous gifts for the Grand Orient. He has been accused of using Freemasonry for political purposes. d. Dec. 1, 1825 under mysterious circumstances. In 1822 he became suspicious of the political dangers inherent in some of the Russian lodges, and on the advice of Grand Master Kushelev of the Grand Lodge "Astra," banned Freemasonry on August 1, 1822. This date marks the destruction of Russian Freemasonry, for his successor, Nicholas I, confirmed the edict on April 21, 1826.

Alexander III (1241–1286) King of Scotland from 1349. Legend states he favored Freemasons and that Kilwinning Abbey was built under his guidance. Married Margaret, daughter of Henry III, in 1251. Defeated Norwegian invasion in 1263. United Hebrides and Isle of Man to the kingdom.

Abraham Alexander (?–1816) One of the founders of the Mother Supreme Council, Scottish Rite at Charleston, S. Car. He was born in London and emigrated to this country before 1764, settling in Charleston, where he became secretary to the collector of customs and later auditor. He became first secretary general of the Mother Supreme Council and seems to have been a member of Lodge La Candeur as his signature appears on the minutes of March 18, 1798. Of Jewish religion, he was chazan, or reader for Bayh Elohim congregation. He served as reader for 20 years, resigning in 1784. He died Feb.

21, 1816 and is buried in the Jewish cemetery at Charleston.

Prince Alexander of Wurtemberg Ben Alexander (1894–1944) President of Masonite Corp. Started as a laborer in the wood pulp industry in 1919 and by 1926 was president of the Masonite Corp. Director or officer of many corporations. Mason.

George F. Alexander (1882–?) Jurist. U.S. Marshal of Oregon 1917–21. Judge, 1st Division of Alaska since 1933. b. Apr. 20 1882. Mason. 32°, Shriner, president of Juneau Shrine Club 1934–39. Deceased.

Grover C. Alexander (1887–1950) Early member of Baseball Hall of Fame (1938). A great National League pitcher for two decades with the Phil-lies, Cubs and Cardinals starting in 1911. In 1926 he won the world championship for the Cardinals by striking out Lazzeri with bases full in final crisis at Yankee Stadium. He was raised in St. Paul Lodge No. 82, St. Paul, Nebraska on Feb. 8, 1923 expelled for un-Masonic conduct March 20, 1930.

Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander 1st Viscount of Tunis. b. 1891. Served in France, 1914–18 and northwest frontier of India in 1935. Was commander of the 1st Division from 1938–40 and was in charge of the evacuation of the British army from Dunkirk. Assigned to the Burma front in March, 1942, he became commander-in-chief of the Middle East in August. As deputy allied commander-in-chief in North Africa (1943), Alexander, with General Montgomery, who mapped the successful British campaign in Egypt. He commanded Sicilian (July 1943) and Italian (Sept. 1943) invasions. He was made field marshal in November, 1944 and was allied commander-in-chief of Italy in 1944–45. Since 1946 he has been Governor-General of Canada. Alexander is a member of Athlumney Lodge No. 3245 of London, serving as its master in 1938–39. He is a past grand steward and past grand warden of the G.L. of England and a member of the house committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. He is active in Royal Arch Masonry. Born in New Zealand, he was a well known athlete and Olympic games record holder in his youth.

Hubbard F. Alexander Steamship executive. b. Aug. 14, 1879. Began as wharf agent in Tacoma, Wash. 1894. Later president of the following: Commercial Dock Co. 1901–27; Alaska Pacific S.S. Co. 1907–08; Alaska Coast Co. 1908–11; Pacific Alaska Navigation Co. 1908–26; Pacific Steamship Co. (Admiral Line), 1916–30. Mason, 32°.

James P. Alexander Judge. (1883–1948) Chief Justice Supreme Court of Texas (1941–48). Texas lawyer since admittance to bar in 1908. District judge, 19th district of Texas 1920–24; associate justice Court of Civil Appeals, Waco, 1931 to 1940; Mason and Shriner.

John L. Alexander (1878–1932) Executive Director of American Youth Foundation 1924–32. Served in executive or secretarial capacity for many religious and youth movements including Boy Scouts, Y.M.C.A. Mason.

Lord Alexander Scottish records show him to be one of the earliest of the speculatives (July 3, 1634) Lodge of Edinburgh. He was Right Honorable Master of the Work to His Majesty.

Nathaniel Alexander (1756–1808) Governor of North Carolina, 1805–07. Surgeon in the Revolutionary War. Served as an officer of the G.L. of North Carolina in 1802, '03, '06, '07 and was senior grand deacon at his death in 1808.

Prince Alexander of Orange (Netherlands) Grand Master 1832–84.

Prince Alexander of Wurtemberg Initiated in 1808 in the Phoenix Lodge in Paris. Was uncle of Emperor Alexander of Russia.

Robert Alexander (1863–1941) Major General U.S. Army. Advanced in rank from a private in 1886 through grades to Brig. General N.A., 1918 and Maj. General 1918–19 (temp.); Brig. General 1921 and retired as Maj. General 1927. Served in Indian campaign of 1890–91, Philippines, Cuba and Mexico as well as WW1. Mason.

Algert D. Alexis Rear Admiral U.S. Navy. b. June 25, 1897. Appointed lieutenant (jg) in 1921 and advanced through grades to rear admiral in 1950. His speciality in the service was naval construction and he commanded many naval installations both at home and abroad, including staff commander of the service force for the invasion of Japan. He retired in 1954 and is now a consulting civil engineer. Raised in Peter Williamson Lodge No. 323, Scranton, Pa. in 1920. Royal Arch membership in Norfolk, Va. Past president of Charleston, S.C. chapter of the National Sojourners.

Bernard Soto Alfaro Former president of Costa Rica. He developed a national spirit in the country and is one of the most eminent men produced by the Republic. He entered the lodge Esperanza when a young man and was made “Protector of the Order” in the Supreme Council, AASR.

Colon Eloy Alfaro Ambassador from Ecuador. b. Jan. 1, 1891, son of Eloy Alfaro, Ecuadorian patriot and president. Educated in Ecuador, U.S. Military Academy, German Cavalry School, and George Washington University. Served as consul general to Canal Zone, Panama, Mexico, Nicaragua, Guatamala, El Salvador, Honduras, Costa Rica, Colombia, Dominican Republic and United States. Was ambassador to U.S. 1936–44. He has also served his country on many special diplomatic missions. Has been a member of the Board of Governors of the Pan American Union at Washington, D.C., since 1947. Mason and 33° AASR. Shriner. Member of Canal Zone Consistory as are his three sons, Eloy, Jaime and Olmedo.

Eloy Alfaro (1842–1912) Ecuadorian liberator and president. b. June 25, 1842 in Montecristi. He led an uprising against President Cordero (1893–95) and declared himself anticlerical dictator and president of Ecuador from 1897–1901 and 1907–11. He led the revolt of 1906 that deposed President Lisardo Garcia and became constitutional president in 1907.

As president he reduced the power of the Roman Catholic church. More laws for the betterment of public schools and social reforms for the people were enacted during his presidency than there had been in the 120 years since the Republic was established. Most of his life was spent in exile. As a disciple of Bolivar he advocated Pan-Americanism and convened the second Pan American Congress in Mexico City in 1896. Alfaro was responsible for the introduction of the "Panama hat" to the world. While in exile in Panama, he imported the Ecuador-made toquilla hats which he sold in great numbers to travelers passing through the Isthmus. Having been purchased in Panama, the hats were presumed to be products of the country and thus became known as "Panamas." Alfaro attempted to aid Cuba in securing its independence from Spain and in 1895 sent an impassioned letter to Queen Marie Cristina of Spain, pleading for Cuban independence. He resigned as president Aug. 12, 1911 hoping to prevent a revolt and continue the liberal regime. When a new revolt broke out, he returned from his exile in Panama hoping to effect a conciliation between the factions. He was seized in Guayaquil and sent over the railway which he had built to Quito where he was thrown into jail and a few hours later (Jan. 28, 1912) was murdered. Affectionately called "Citizen of the Americas," he has been honored with monuments and statues in Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Nicaragua, Panama, Puerto Rico and the United States. Busts of Alfaro in the U.S. are found in St. Augustine, Florida; Lincoln, Nebraska; House of the Temple, Washington, D.C.; Washington National Memorial at Alexandria, and Gainesville, Florida. Even Spain named a street in his ancestral town of Cervera del Rio Alhambra for him.

Bruce R. Alger Congressman, 84th Congress from 5th Texas district. b. June 12, 1918. Owner of Alger Development Co., Bruce Alger Realtor, Modernair Construction Co., all of Dallas. 32° AASR and Shriner.

Russell A. Alger (1836–1907) Major General in Civil War, working his way from the ranks. Served as governor of Michigan from 1885–87 and was Secretary of War under McKinley from 1897–99, resigning at McKinley's request because of criticism directed against the War Department for inefficiency. Member of Corinthian Lodge No. 241 of Detroit, being raised Dec. 9, 1895.

Francois D'Alincourt French gentleman, who, in the year 1776 was sent with Don Gyres de Ornellas Pracao, q.v. a Portuguese nobleman, to prison, by the governor of the island of Madeira, for being Freemasons.

Sir Archibald Alison (1792–1867) English author. b. Dec. 29, 1792 at Kenley, Shropshire, England and d. May 23, 1867 at Glasgow, Scotland. Received his degrees at Glasgow Kilwinning Lodge in 1837. An historian; and as sheriff of Lanarkshire suppressed the riots of 1837. Author of History of Europe during the French Revolution (1833–42) in ten volumes and a nine volume continuation in 1852–59.

John S. Allard Brigadier General and corporation executive. b. Jan. 16, 1897. Served overseas with Air Force, 1942–45, and promoted from colonel to brigadier general in 1944. President of Curtis–Wright Export Corp. since 1929; vice pres. of Curtis–Wright Corp. since 1929 and director of Wright Aeronautical Corp., Curtis–Wright Airplane Co., and Curtis–Wright Airports Co. Mason.

Herbert J. Allemang Vice president of Philco Corp. since 1951. b. May 3, 1902. Raised in South Bend Lodge No. 294, South Bend, Ind. in 1923. Member of AASR (NJ) in South Bend and Medinah Shrine Temple.

Alfred G. Allen (1867–1932) Congressman from Ohio to 62nd, 63rd, and 64th Congresses (1911–17). Lawyer. Mason.

Charles H. Allen (1848–1934) First governor of Puerto Rico. b. April 15, 1848 at Lowell, Mass. He was a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives in 1881 and ‘82 and in the state senate in 1883. He was a member of the 49th and 50th Congresses (1885–89), and assistant secretary of the Navy from 1898–1900. After the United States freed the island of Puerto Rico from a 400–year despotic rule of Spain he became its first governor (1900–02). He was a member of William North Lodge of Lowell, Mass.

Ethan Allen (1738–1789) Major General in Revolution. Gained fame as a colonel commanding the “Green Mountain Boys,” who with Benedict Arnold, q.v., seized Fort Ticonderoga on May 10, 1775. He was captured at Montreal and held prisoner from 1775–78, exchanged and returned to Vermont. Although he has been described as one “who seems to have been a Master Mason” it is thought that he only received one degree at Windsor, Vt. on July 7, 1777. His brother Ira, q.v., was a member of Vermont Lodge No. 1. Probably not a Mason. Was a prisoner in England on date given for his first degree in Windsor, Vt.

Ethan N. Allen Baseball coach. b. Jan. 1, 1904. An outfielder with various National League teams 1926–36 and with Browns of American League since 1938; motion picture director of National League public relations dept. 1938–42; head coach at Yale in 1946. Has done sports announcing and written several books on baseball. Member of Yeatman Lodge No. 162, Cincinnati, Ohio, 32° Ohio Consistory at Cincinnati and Shriner.

Ezra G. Allen (1885–1952) Rear Admiral U.S. Navy. b. March 11, 1885 at Scranton, Pa. Graduated U.S. Naval Academy, 1907. Ensign. U.S. Navy in 1907, advancing to rear admiral. Mason. d. January, 1952.

Frank G. Allen Former governor of Massachusetts. b. Lynn, Mass. Oct. 6, 1874. Was raised in Orient Lodge, Norwood, Mass. June 23, 1920, receiving 33° in Northern Jurisdiction, Sept. 16, 1930.

George W. Allen (?–1928) Chief Justice Supreme Court of Colorado, 1926–28. Member Pennsylvania House of Representatives 1874–76 moving to Colorado in 1880. Judge district court, Denver 1888–1910. Republican nominee for governor 1896 and defeated for U.S. Senator 1896. Justice of Supreme Court 1916–26. Died Jan. 29, 1928. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

Henry J. Allen (1868–1950) U.S. Senator and former governor of Kansas. b. Sept. 11, 1868 in Warren Co., Pa. Began as editor of Manhattan Nationalist in 1894 and later owned and operated several daily newspapers in Kansas; chairman of board of Wichita Daily Beacon Publishing Co. Governor of Kansas from 1919–23 and appointed U.S. Senator to succeed Vice-president Curtis in 1929. Assistant to Charles G. Dawes, pres. of Reconstruction Finance Corp. in 1932. Editor of the Topeka Journal from 1935 until death. Director of publicity for the Hoover–Curtis campaign in 1928 and as president of the Great Lakes–St. Lawrence Tidewater Assn., helped prepare treaty between U.S. and Canada on that project. Active abroad in WW1 in Red Cross work. Mason. d. Jan. 17, 1950.

Hervey Allen Author, who although not a Freemason, is one of the few writers of historical novels to give credit for the part Freemasonry played in our Revolutionary period. Among his writings are Anthony Adverse, 1933; The Forest and the Fort, 1943; and Bedford Village, 1944. b. Dec. 8, 1889. Mr. Allen wrote on May 23, 1944 as follows: “Several members of the fraternity have written in asking if I hold membership. I do not and never have. My father and grandfather and a great many other relatives have been Masons for many generations back, but for various reasons I have never joined. My interest in the theme of Masonry in American life is purely historical, and I think that my not being a member is at this time perhaps a help in my stressing the theme, as I can do so without any suspicion of being a special pleader from the inside. There is no doubt that for some reason or other American historians have overlooked one of the prime and deep-running influences in American life. As you know, there are many reasons for that.”

Hubert A. Allen (1872–1942) Brigadier General U.S. Army. Actively identified with Iowa national guard for 25 years. Served as captain in Spanish–American war and appointed brigadier general in 1917. Mason.

Ira Allen (1751–1814) Brother of Ethan Allen q.v. and politically active in the Revolutionary period. b. Cornwall, Conn., he with two other fellow members of Vermont Lodge No. 1 (now 18), led the fight for statehood of Vermont. The others were Thomas Chittenden q.v. and Dr. Jonas Fay q.v. Between 1780 and 1791 he was in negotiation with the British which was thought to force Congress to recognize Vermont’s claims—which they did on March 4, 1791. He assisted in the founding of the Univ. of Vermont in 1789. He was initiated in Vermont Lodge No. 1 of Charleston, N.H. in 1782.

Ivan E. Allen Business executive who gave Fort Mountain to state of Georgia; it is now one of the state parks. b. Mar. 1, 1877 at Dalton, Ga. Chairman of Ivan Allen–Marshall Co.; Ivan Allen Bldg., Atlanta Blank Book Mfg. Co., and has served on many state political and civic boards including term as state senator 1919–21. A Knight Templar and Shriner.

James M. Allen General in the Civil War. A Mason.

J. Edward Allen Educator and writer. Instructor in public school system of Warrenton, N.C. since 1907 and served as superintendent of public instruction for Warren Co. since 1919. Member board of trustees Wake Forest College since 1922; board of trustees, state school for blind and deaf; on board of Oxford Orphanage. Grand Master G.L. of North Carolina 1939–40. Also headed state York Rite bodies and Shrine. Writer of many Masonic books and articles including revision of Goulds History of Freemasonry published by Scribners in 1936. b. March 21, 1887 at Warrenton, N.C.

John Allen 3rd Viscount Grand Master, G.L. of Ireland, 1744.

John E. Allen (1873–1945) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of New Hampshire, 1934–43. Educated at Dartmouth and Harvard, he was admitted to N.H. bar in 1897, serving as probate judge from 1899 to 1906. He was associate justice of Superior Court of N.H. 1917–24 and 1924–34 before becoming chief justice. Mason.

John M. Allen Major in Texas–Mexican War. He came to Texas attracted by the rumors of impending conflict between Americans and Mexicans. As commander of the armed ship Terrible, he had been ordered to New Orleans for the purpose of recruiting soldiers for the impending conflict. While in New Orleans he received a charter from the grand secretary of the G.L. of Louisiana for Holland Lodge No. 36 to be delivered to Anson Jones q.v. General Sam Houston q.v. sent an orderly to Allen advising him of the impending clash and urging speed to the reinforcements he had. Allen joined Houston's forces, carrying with him the charter and other communications from the G.L. of Louisiana. He met Anson Jones (to be first Grand Master of Texas) on the prairie between Croce's and San Jacinto, while Houston's army was on the march just before the battle of San Jacinto. Jones placed it in his saddlebags and carried it through the battle of San Jacinto.

Lee E. Allen Congressman from 16th district of Illinois to 73rd to 80th Congresses inclusive (1933–49). b. Oct. 5, 1898 at Elizabeth, Ill. Taught school, served as circuit court clerk and has practiced law since 1930. Mason.

Oscar K. Allen Former governor of Louisiana. Member of Eastern Star Lodge No. 151, Winnfield, La.

Peter B. Allen General U.S. Army. First master of Terre Haute Lodge No. 19, Terre Haute, Indiana.

William Allen Purchased the ground for the State House (Independence Hall) at Philadelphia in 1729 and gave a grand banquet in 1736 at the inauguration of the building. It was here that the Declaration of Independence was signed.

Roger Allin Former governor of North Dakota. Member of Golden Valley Lodge No. 6, Park River, N.D.

James B. Allison Major General, U.S. Army. b. Sept. 15, 1873 at York, S. Car. Appointed 2nd lieutenant in 1898 advancing through grades to major general in 1935 when he became chief signal officer. Retired in 1937. Served in Mexican War and WW1. Mason.

William B. Allison (1829–1908) U.S. Senator from Iowa 1873–1909. b. March 2, 1829 at Perry, O. Admitted to bar in 1850, he practiced in Ohio until 1858 when he moved to Dubuque, Iowa. Raised troops for Civil War and was U.S. Representative in Congress from 1863–71. In 1888 and 1896 he was a candidate for Republican presidential nomination. A charter member of Mosaic Lodge No. 125 of Dubuque, Iowa, he was honorary senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of Iowa in 1889.

James V. Allred Governor of Texas 1935–39. b. Mar. 29, 1899 at Bowie, Texas. Admitted to Texas bar in 1924. Served as district attorney 1923–25 and attorney general of Texas 1931–35. U.S. District Judge, southern district of Texas 1939–42. Practicing attorney since 1942. Raised in Bowie Lodge No. 578 July 6, 1920. Received Scottish Rite degrees in 1926. K.C.C.H.

Avery Allyn Anti-Masonic writer. Once a member of lodge, chapter and commandery in Connecticut.

Edward B. Almon (1860–1933) Congressman from Alabama to 64th to 72nd Congresses (1915–33). b. April 18, 1860 at Moulton, Ala. Admitted to bar 1883. Member Alabama state senate 1892–96 and speaker of house of representatives in 1911. Judge of 11th circuit 1898–1906. Mason.

James L. Almond, Jr. Congressman and attorney-general of Virginia. b. June 15, 1898 at Charlottesville, Va. Served as prosecuting attorney and judge at Roanoke and in the 79th and 80th Congresses from Virginia. Has been attorney-general of Virginia since 1948. Past potentate of Shrine.

Alfred S. Alschuler (1876–1940) Architect. b. Chicago, Nov. 2, 1876. Graduate of Armour Institute of Technology and studied at Art Institute of Chicago. Designed the following Chicago buildings: London Guarantee and Accident, Westminster, Cunard, John R. Thompson, John Sexton, Utilities, Lake Michigan, Mercantile Exchange, Adams Franklin and Garment Center buildings; plans of E. J. Brach & Son, Chicago Mail Order, Sinai Temple and Isaiah Temple. Mason.

Richard Alsop (1761–1815) American author and poet. b. Middletown, Conn. Was one of the Hartford wits, collaborating in the writing of The Echo, a verse satire which appeared in the American Mercury and published in book form in 1807. Among other works is A Poem, Sacred to the Memory of George Washington (1800). A member of St. John's Lodge No. 2, Middletown, Conn. There was a Richard Alsop who became a member of Hiram Lodge No. 1 at New Haven, Conn. in 1752 and may have been his father.

Wilbur M. Alter Chief justice, Supreme Court of Colorado since 1955. b. Dec. 17, 1879 at Allegheny, Pa. Admitted to Colorado bar in 1906. Judge of Supreme Court of Colorado from 1928–33; 1944–46; 1946 to present. Past state commander of American Legion. Served in WW1 as an enlisted man. Raised in Victor Lodge No. 99, Victor, Colo. in 1909. Demitted from chapter and commandery at Cripple Creek and shrine in Denver.

Paul S. Althouse (1889–1954) American opera tenor. b. 1889 at Reading, Pa., made his debut with Metropolitan Opera Co., N.Y. in 1913. Member of St. John's Lodge No. 435, Reading, Pa. 32° AASR (SJ) at Reading, Pa. and member of Rajah Shrine Temple, Reading. d. Feb. 6, 1954 and service was conducted by Grand Lodge of New York at Rutgers Presbyterian Church on Feb. 8.

Francisco E. Alvarado Former secretary of state of Costa Rica. He also served as president of the chamber of representatives and administrator-general of railways. A member of Caridad Lodge No. 26.

Francisco P. Alvarado Costa Rican banker. He was one of the founders of the Scottish Rite of Central America. A banker and teacher, he was benefactor of San Juan de Dios Hospital. A member of Caridad No. 26.

Carlos Maria de Alvear (1789–1853) Argentine patriot, general and coworker with San Martin, q.v. He took a prominent part in the liberation wars of Argentine both politically and militarily. In 1814 he was the victorious besieger of Montevideo, Uruguay, and a year later was named "supreme administrator." In 1839 he was appointed minister to the United States, where he died. He was a founder of the Lau-taro Lodge in 1812 together with San Martin, liberator of the country.

Claude B. Alverson (1878–1922) Judge, Supreme Court of

New York, 1921–22. Knight Templar, 32° AASR and Shriner.

Count Goblet d' Alviella (1846–1925) Belgian writer on religious history, and politician. Also known as Comte Eugene. Was grand commander of the Supreme Council 33° of Belgium.

Richard H. Amberg Publisher of St. Louis Globe–Democrat from Sept., 1955. b. June 5, 1912 in New York City. Graduated from Harvard in 1933. Editor and publisher of newspapers in Oil City and Knox, Pa. from 1937–41 and also Sportsman's Hunting & Fishing Digest same years. He was director of publicity for the American Transit Assn. from 1945–47 and general manager of Newsday in 1947–49. In 1949–50 he was administrative assistant on the New York Herald Tribune and general manager and director of The Post Standard, Syracuse, N.Y. from 1950–52. Raised in Oil City Lodge No. 710, Oil City, Pa. in 1938. Member of Oil City Chapter No. 236, R.A.M. and Talbot Cornmandery No. 43, K.T. both of Oil City. 32° AASR, Valley of St. Louis (SJ). Member of St. Leo Conclave No. 71, Red Cross of Constantine, Syracuse, N.Y. and Moolah Shrine Temple, St. Louis, Mo.

John Frederick Amelung Early American glass manufacturer. In March, 1789 he visited George Washington at Mt. Vernon and presented him with two engraved gobets with Washington's coat of arms. A zealous Mason, he established a lodge in Frederick Co., Maryland sometime between 1790 and 1799.

James E. Ament (?–1936) College president and educator. b. Woodburn, Ill. Graduated from Illinois Normal, Transylvania Univ. and a Ph.D. from Oskaloosa College. Served as president of state teachers colleges in Oklahoma, Missouri, Indiana and Pennsylvania. Inspected educational facilities in England, Scotland, France, Germany and Switzerland. Ament became president of the ultra National Park Seminary for Women at Washington, D.C. in 1916 and was president and owner until his death in 1936. He was a 32° AASR (SJ).

Leopold S. Amery (1873–1955) English publicist, statesman and mountaineer. b. Nov. 22, 1873 in India. Friend of Winston Churchill q.v. at school days in Harrow and later when he was correspondent of the Times in the South African War when Churchill was correspondent of Daily Telegraph. He served with the army in Flanders and Near East (1914–16). He became first lord of admiralty in 1922, serving until 1924 when he became secretary of state for colonies 1924–29 and secretary for dominion affairs from 1925–29. In 1945–49 he was secretary for India and Burma. Endowed with a strong physique, he was an avid mountaineer and three peaks have been named for him—one in South Africa Drakenberg, one in the Canadian Rockies and the third on Kerguelen Island on the edge of the Antarctic. Member of Canada Lodge No. 3527, London and 10th master of that lodge in 1920.

Ezra Ames (1768–1836) Portrait painter. b. Framingham, Mass. May 5, 1768. Painted portraits of Washington, Alexander Hamilton, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, Martin Van Buren, George Clinton, DeWitt Clinton. Served as grand high priest of the G.C. of New York for 24 years, and was general grand scribe of the General Grand Chapter for ten years (1806–16). From 1816–20 he served as grand captain general of the Grand Encampment, Knights Templar. Died Feb. 23, 1836.

Oliver Ames Former governor of Massachusetts. Although his membership is not known, he was made an honorary member of Columbian Lodge of Boston; was present at a meeting of Washington Lodge in Roxbury March 15, 1866; delivered a Masonic oration before Meridian Lodge, Natick, Mass., June, 1888.

Louis Amiable (1837–1897) French Masonic historian.

Arthur Oliver Villiers, Lord Ampthill (1869–1935) English nobleman of the Russell family, holding the earldom of Bedford (from 1550), dukedom of Bedford (from 1694) and barony of Ampthill (from 1881). b. Feb. 19, 1869 at Rome, Italy where his father was British ambassador. Linguist and rowing man, he saw service in WW1, being twice mentioned in dispatches and attaining the rank of brevet colonel. He served as private secretary to Joseph Chamberlain (1895–99) and was governor of Madras from 1899 to 1906. In 1904 he was appointed acting Viceroy of India. Ampthill was appointed by King Edward VII (then grand master) as provincial grand master for Bedfordshire on Nov. 17, 1891, and later served 27 years as pro grand master (1908–35) under H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught. He was one of the founders of the National Party in 1918. Member of Apollo Lodge, Oxford, England.

Roald Amundsen (1872–1928) Discoverer of South Pole. A Norwegian polar explorer. b. Borge, Norway. He discovered the South Pole in December, 1911. In 1903–06 he navigated the northwest passage and fixed the position of the North magnetic pole, and in 1926 he flew across the North pole with Lincoln Ellsworth. He disappeared in June, 1928 on flight to rescue Nobile who was lost returning from North Pole. Said by several sources to be a Freemason but no lodge ever specified.

Charles L. Anceney (1863–?) Pioneer cattle rancher of the West. b. April 17, 1863 at Denver, Colo., he was in charge of a cattle outfit at the age of 14. Anceney was with the first herd of cattle going into lower Yellowstone ranges in 1879 and was on the first drive to Bismarck, N. Dak. in 1881. At one time he swam the Missouri river and loaded a shipment of cattle to Buffalo, N.Y. Fought with Sioux, Blackfeet and Cheyenne Indians. Was an associate of Child & Anceney (Harry W. Child), 1910 in the Flying D. Cattle Ranges, covering 500,000 acres and furnishing support to 15,000 to 25,000 head of cattle. President of Gallatin Gateway State Bank, promoted Camp Creek Branch of Northern Pacific Railway which terminated at townsite of Anceney, Mont. Mason. Deceased.

William, Earl of Ancrum Fortieth Grand Master of Scotland, 1794–95 and later the 6th Marquis of Lothian.

Clinton P. Anderson U.S. Secretary of Agriculture and senator. b. Oct. 23, 1895 at Centerville, S. Dak. Was state treasurer of New Mexico 1933–34; member of 77th to 79th Congresses from New Mexico (1941–47); secretary of agriculture in Truman's cabinet (1945–48) and elected U.S. Senator from N. Mexico in Nov., 1948. Was raised in Albuquerque Lodge No. 60 in 1917. Member of Rio Grande Chapter No. 4, R.A.M. and Pilgrim Commandery No. 3, K.T. 32° AASR in Orient of New Mexico; KCCH in 1937 and 33° in 1945. He is past potentate of Ballut Abyad Shrine Temple (1937), member of Tall Cedars of Lebanon, Santa Fe Conclave No. 55, Red Cross of Constantine, National Sojourners and Royal Order of Jesters.

Edward Anderson (1833–1916) Clergyman and Civil War soldier. b. Nov. 19, 1833. Studied theology and was ordained pastor in the Congregational ministry in 1858. Served pastorates in Michigan, Ill., Ohio, and Conn. In the Civil War he served with John Brown in Kansas; was chaplain of the 37th Illinois Volunteers until after the Missouri Campaign in 1862 and was colonel with the 12th Indian Volunteer Cavalry until close of war. Mason.

George T. Anderson General in Confederate army. Said to have been a Freemason.

George W. Anderson (1861–1938) Judge. b. Sept. 1, 1861 at Acworth, N.H. Attended Boston Law School and Boston University, opening practice in 1890. U.S. District Attorney of Mass. 1914–17; member interstate commerce commission 1917–18; became judge U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, Boston, 1918. Retired. Trustee World Peace Foundation and Cushing Academy. Mason. Died Feb. 14, 1938.

Heartley W. "Hunk" Anderson Notre Dame football coach. Member of Calumet Lodge No. 271, Calumet, Michigan.

Jack Z. Anderson Congressman to 76th to 80th Congresses from California (1939–49). b. March 22, 1904. An orchardist at San Juan Bautista, Calif. since 1923. Raised in Texas Lodge No. 46, San Juan Bautista, Calif. on Dec. 20, 1946.

James Anderson (1680?–1739) Compiler of the famous Anderson's Constitutions of 1723 and 1738 which are recognized as being the first printed volumes dealing officially with Freemasonry. The records of the United Grand Lodge of England show that Bro. James Anderson was ordered to "digest the old Gothic Constitution in a new and better method," on Sept. 29, 1721. Only three months later Dr. Anderson presented his finished production to the grand lodge (Dec. 27, 1721), which has come down to us as the basis for all Freemasonry. The historical part, however, which traces the history from the Garden of Eden to 1721 is quite fanciful, unreliable and pretentious. No one today would quote that part as an authority. It was not until the following March (1722) that a committee was appointed to examine the character of the revision, and it was not until 1723 that the volume came from the printer. The first edition was followed by a second in 1738, the latter being more valuable because it contains some history about the grand lodge covering the period 1717–1738. James Anderson, M.A., D.D., was born about 1780 at Aberdeen, Scotland, and was educated at Marischal College where he received his M.A. degree and it is thought he earned his D.D. degree about 1731 from the same college. There are no records of his life from the time of his receiving his college training until after his arrival in London. It is recorded in state records that he and his church (Scotch Presbyterian) purchased a lease of the French Protestant Chapel in Swallow St., Piccadilly on Feb. 15, 1709–10 from Rev. Jean Desaguliers, minister of the church and father of Dr. J. T. Desaguliers q.v. Anderson came from a Masonic family; his father serving as secretary of the well known Scottish Lodge Aberdeen and as master in 1688–89. It is highly possible that the son may have entered Freemasonry during the period the father served as master. Little can be learned of his Masonic connections previous to 1721. He was not at the revival of Freemasonry in 1717, but he assumed the station of grand warden of the grand lodge, January 17, 1723, and was master of Lodge No. 17 in 1723 (Masonic students have not been able to identify this lodge.) He was, however, shown as a member of Lodge of the Horn in 1723, and later of other lodges meeting in London. In addition to the Constitutions, he was the author of some non-Masonic books including Royal Genealogies, or the Genealogical Tables of Emperors, Kings and Princes, from Adam to These Times (1732) and Unity in Trinity (1733). He attended grand lodge fifteen times between 1723 and 1728, acting as grand warden on four occasions. His death was May 28, 1739, shortly after he had issued the second edition of the Constitutions. He was buried in Bunhill Fields with Masonic services, and accounted for the earliest known account of a Masonic funeral which appeared in the London Daily Post of June 2, 1739: "Last night (June 1) was interr'd the corpse of Dr. Anderson, a Dissenting Teacher, in a very remarkable deep Grave. His pall was supported by five Dissenting Teachers, and the Rev. Dr. Desaguliers; it was followed by a dozen of Freemasons who encircled the Grave; and after Dr. Earle had harangued on the Uncertainty of Life &c, without one word of the Deceased, the Brethren, in the most solomn dismal Posture, lifted up their Hands, sigh'd, and struck their aprons three times in Honour to the Deceased."

Jesse T. Anderson State superintendent of education of South Carolina since 1946. b. Oct. 26, 1892 at Timmons ville, S.C. Member board of trustees of Univ. of South Carolina, The Citadel, Winthrop College and state school for the blind. Past master and member of all York Rite bodies serving as deputy grand commander in 1951.

Joseph I. Anderson (1757–1837) Senator from Tennessee from 1795–1815 and first comptroller of U.S. Treasury, 1815–36. b. White Marsh, Pa. and served through Revolutionary War as captain and brevet major. He was a member of Military Lodge No. 19 of Pennsylvania. When serving as regimental paymaster of the 1st New Jersey he was a member of Lodge No. 36 in the New Jersey Brigade. After the war he became 1st senior warden of Princeton Lodge No. 38 (N.J.).

Richard C. Anderson (1750–1826) Officer of the American Revolution. He was first master of Lexington Lodge No. 25 (now 1 of Kentucky) and was presumed to have been a member of Fredericksburg No. 4 of Va., as he was very close to General Washington. b. Jan. 12, 1750 in Hanover Co., Va. As a captain in the 5th Virginia Continentals, he led the advance of the Americans at the battle of Trenton in 1776, crossing the Delaware in the first boat; was wounded in this action; promoted to major of the 6th Virginia in 1778 and transferred to the 1st Virginia in Sept., 1778. Fought in battles of Brandywine and Germantown and was again wounded at Savannah May 12, 1779 and taken prisoner at Charleston in May, 1780. A daring leader he was at the death-bed of Count Pulaski q.v. and the dying Pole gave him his sword as a memento. After the war he removed to the wilderness of Kentucky near Louisville, and led the life of a pioneer and Indian fighter until advancing civilization pushed the frontier farther west. He obtained the charter for the Louisville lodge from the Grand Lodge of Virginia. d. Oct. 16, 1826.

Robert Anderson (1805–1871) Major General U.S. Army who was in command of Fort Sumter at time of Confederate attack. Known as “hero of Fort Sumter.” b. in Kentucky and graduated from West Point in 1825. Raised in Mercer Lodge No. 50, Trenton, N.J. May 27, 1858. He was also an honorary member of Pacific Lodge No. 233 of New York City. In 1859 he was senior warden of Mercer lodge, but was ordered to another station and withdrew at the end of the year. He received the Knight Templar orders in Columbian Commandery No. 1 of New York City in December, 1862 and January, 1863 and was made a life member Oct. 28, 1867. d. Nice, France Oct. 27, 1871.

Robert B. Anderson Secretary of the Navy in Eisenhower cabinet (appointed in 1953) and deputy secretary of defense (which he resigned in 1955). b. June 4, 1910 at Burleson, Texas, he received his law degree from University of Texas in 1932. While still in law school he ran for the state legislature and won. He served as assistant attorney-general of Texas in 1933 and taught law at Texas University. Anderson has served as general manager of the Waggoner estate—and largest cattle ranch in Texas—since 1941. He has probably been director and president of more large corporations than any one man in Texas. He is a member of Vernon Lodge No. 655 of Vernon, Texas and while Secretary of the Navy returned from Washington to be installed as master on Oct. 17, 1953. In December, 1953 he was appointed grand senior steward of the G.L. of Texas and addressed the G.L. at the 1954 communication. He is a member of the Chapter, Council and Commandery at Vernon, the AASR (SJ) and Maskat Shrine Temple.

Robert H. Anderson Brigadier General in Confederate Army. Served as commander of Palestine Commandery, K.T. No. 7 at Savannah, Georgia in 1886–87.

Rudolph M. Anderson Zoologist, explorer, writer and government official. b. June 30, 1876 near Decorah, Iowa. Ph.D. from University of Iowa in 1906. Taught zoology and was associated with many schools and museums in U.S. and Canada. Was chief of division of biology of National Museum of Canada from 1920–46. Active in biological and anthropological explorations to Arctic Alaska, Yukon and Northwest Territories 1908–12; chief of southern party Canadian Arctic Expedition 1913–16; naturalist on Canadian Arctic expedition to Greenland and Canadian Arctic Archipelago, 1928. Mason.

Sigurd Anderson Governor of South Dakota (1951–55). b. Arendal, Norway, Jan. 22, 1904 and brought to U.S. in 1906, becoming a citizen upon his father's naturalization in 1912. Graduated in law from the University of South Dakota in 1931. Was assistant attorney general of South Dakota in 1941–43 and later attorney general. Served as an officer in the U.S. Navy in WW2. Now with the Federal Trade Commission in Washington. He was raised in Coteau Lodge No. 54 at Webster, S. Dak. in 1943; member of Rabboni Chapter No. 23, R.A.M., Webster; Temple Council No. 7 R. & S.M. Pierre; and Damascus Commandery No. 10, K.T. Aberdeen; 32° AASR at Yankton; Yelduz Shrine Temple at Aberdeen; Order of Eastern Star, Webster; and National Sojourners in Washington, D.C. He served as grand orator of the Grand Lodge of South Dakota.

Thomas O. Anderson Naval officer U.S. Navy. As a lieutenant, he assisted Commodore Decatur in destroying the ship Philadelphia in the harbor of Tripoli in 1804. Raised in Harmony Lodge No. 23 Newton, N.J. on Nov. 28, 1803.

Victor Emanuel Anderson Governor of Nebraska since 1955. b. March 30, 1902 at Havelock, Nebr. Owner of Anderson Hardware & Plumbing Co. since 1924; Victor Anderson Bottle Gas Co. since 1946; president Havelock (Nebr.) National Bank; Nebraska state senator in 1949–50. Raised in George Washington Lodge No. 250, Lincoln, Nebr. in 1928. Member of AASR (SJ) at Lincoln, Nebraska. Also member of Shrine, Jesters and DeMolay.

Wilhelm A. Anderson Brigadier General U.S. Army. b. July

22, 1894 at Hana–Maui, T.H. Served as 1st lieutenant in WW1. Called to active service in 1940 and made brigadier general (temp.) in 1942. Mason and National Sojourner.

William F. Anderson (1860–1944) Bishop, Methodist Episcopal Church. b. April 22, 1860 at Morgantown, Va. (now W. Va.) Ordained in 1887 and elected bishop in 1908, retiring in 1932. During that time he was resident bishop of Chattanooga, Tenn., Cincinnati, Ohio, and Boston, Mass. He was acting president of Boston Univ. in 1925–26. Visited many foreign missions prior to WW1 and during that war made five trips abroad as member of Emergency and Reconstruction Committee of the church. Mason and 32° AASR.

William H. Anderson Prohibitionist. b. Aug. 8, 1874 at Carlinville, Ill. Graduated from Univ. of Michigan and Illinois Wesleyan. His attorney–ship for the Anti–Saloon League of Illinois led him into a lifetime fight against alcohol. His successful fight for the Illinois local option law brought him to New York in 1906–07 as associate supt. of the New York Anti–Saloon League and state supt. of the Maryland League from 1907–14. He returned to New York in 1914 and was general state supt. of their League until 1924, securing enough congressional votes to submit the 18th Amendment. His defeat of the Tammany organization caused them to indict him in July, 1923 for an “alteration” of the League’s books (which the auditors had officially approved). He was convicted in Feb., 1924 and sent to the state prison for nine months in spite of the League’s denunciation of it as “a monstrous perversion of justice.” He founded the American Christian Alliance of which he has been general secretary since 1926. Mason and 32° AASR.

Gomez Freire d' Andrade (1685?–1763) Portuguese general and administrator. b. Coimbra. Governor and captain general of Rio de Janerio (1733–63.) Celebrated in de Gama's epic poem, Epicos Brasileiros. He was a Venerable of the Lodge Virtude at Lisbon and a member of the Lusitanio Grand Orient.

General Ignacio Andrade President of the Republic of Venezuela from 1898 to 1899. A 32° Freemason.

Count Gyula (Jules) Andrassy (1823–1890) Hungarian patriot and statesman. b. March 3, 1823. Allied himself with Louis Kossuth q.v. in the revolt of 1848 and was exiled until 1857 when he returned to Austria. During his exile he became a Freemason in 1851 in France. He was elected to the diet in 1861, becoming its vice-president in 1865. He was first constitutional prime minister in 1867, foreign minister in 1871, and plenipotentiary at Congress of Berlin in 1878. d. Feb. 18, 1890.

Christopher Karl Andre Austrian cleric. An active Freemason who resided at Brunn, Moravia, where, in 1789, he was director of the Evangelical Academy.

Johann Valentin Andrea (1586–1654) Protestant theologian, alchemist, satirical writer and early Rosicrucian. Said to have been a Mason. Grandson of Jakob Andrea, theologian active in organizing and uniting the Lutheran church in Germany.

Adolphus Andrews (1879–1948) Vice admiral commanding the Eastern Sea Frontier of WW2 (1942–43). b. Oct. 7, 1879 at Galveston, Texas and graduated from Naval Academy in 1907. Promoted through grades to rear admiral, 1934. Naval aid to Theodore Roosevelt, Harding and Coolidge. Commanded several ships including Mayflower, Massachusetts and Texas. Commanded New London, Conn. submarine base 1927–29; chief of staff Naval War College, 1931–33; chief of staff, U.S. Fleet, 1934–35; chief of Bureau of Navigation, 1935–38; Raised in Temple Noyes Lodge No. 32, Washington, D.C. on July 13, 1911, d. June 19, 1948.

Alexander B. Andrews (1873–1946) Lawyer, writer. b. Feb. 2, 1873 at Henderson, N.C. Admitted to N.C. bar in 1894. Prominent in Episcopal lay circles; delegate to American Council on Education 1932–37; member board of trustees Univ. of N.C. from 1927. Grand master of G.L. of N.C. 1917 and grand commander, grand commandery 1907. Wrote Digest of Masonic Law, 1841–1926. d. Oct. 21, 1946.

Charles O. Andrews (?–1946) Senator from Florida from 1936–46. b. Ponce de Leon, Fla. Admitted to bar in 1907 and served variously as judge of criminal court, assistant attorney general of Florida, circuit judge and member of Florida house of representatives. Member of Orlando Lodge No. 69, Orlando. d. Sept. 18, 1946.

Frank Andrews (1864–1936) Judge, Supreme Court of Texas from 1918. b. Fayette Co., Texas, June 15, 1864. Assistant attorney general of Texas, 1891–95; judge court of civil appeals, 1899. d. Dec. 7, 1936. Mason.

Isaac Andrews Private secretary to George Washington. A member of Dundee Lodge No. 123, Dundee, N.Y.

Robert Andrews Revolutionary chaplain of the 2nd Virginia regiment in the Continental Army. This illustrious clergyman was the acting master of the meeting at which John Blair, Jr. was chosen as the first grand master of masons in Virginia on October 13, 1778, and later presided over the grand lodge when Blair was installed. He later became grand master himself. He was past master of Williamsburg lodge at the time he opened the October 13th meeting of the grand lodge.

Thomas G. Andrews (1882–1942) Justice, Supreme Court of Oklahoma 1929–35. b. Aug. 29, 1882. Admitted to Oklahoma bar in 1911. Active in Oddfellows, serving as G.M. of Oklahoma and representative to the supreme grand lodge for 14 years. Member of the ritual revision committee and chairman of judiciary committee (natl.). Elected grand sire 1937. He was a Knight Templar, 33° AASR and Shriner. d. Sept. 1942.

Harvey A. Andruss President of State Teachers College, Bloomsburg, Pa. since 1939. b. Feb. 19, 1902 at Fort Worth, Texas, he has had a long and distinguished career as teacher, lecturer and advisor to labor, business and government on business law, bookkeeping, accounting and civil service. Mason, 32° AASR.

William R. Angell (1877–1950) President of Continental Aeronautic Corp. b. Feb. 10, 1877 at Jesup, Iowa. Admitted to Illinois bar in 1899, beginning with Continental Motors in 1916 and becoming president from 1930–39. In addition to the Aeronautic Corp., he has served as president of Continental Aircraft Engine Co., Continental Divco Co., Home Finance Co. and Midland Corp., as well as being a director of several other companies. Mason. d. Jan. 25, 1950.

Frank M. Angellotti (1861–1932) Justice, Supreme Court of California, 1902–14. b. Sept. 4, 1861 at San Rafael, Calif. Raised in Marin Lodge No. 191, San Rafael Feb. 3, 1886, serving as master from 1888–90 and grand master of G.L. of California 1898–99. He was a member of the jurisprudence committee from 1899 until his death May 23, 1932.

Albert H. Angstman Justice, Supreme Court of Montana. b. March 23, 1888 at Farmington, Minn. Admitted to Minn. and Mont. bar in 1912. Assist, attorney-general of Montana 1921–28; assoc. justice supreme court 1929–35; counsel Public Service Comm. of Montana 1935–37; assoc. justice supreme court 1945–51. Raised in Helena Lodge No. 3, Helena, Mont. in 1918 and served as its master. Member of Helena Chapter No. 2, R.A.M. and past high priest; Helena Council No. 1, R. & S.M. and Helena Commandery No. 2, K.T. 32° AASR in Helena Consistory and member of Shrine since 1925.

Levi Ankeny (1844–1921) U.S. Senator from Washington 1903–09. b. Aug. 1, 1844 near St. Joseph, Mo., he crossed plains with parents to Oregon in 1850. Early in life he was a Wells Fargo agent and later in the mercantile business in Lewiston, Idaho, where he was the first mayor. He later moved to Walla Walla, Wash. where he was president of seven banks in Washington and Oregon. He became a member of Willamette Lodge No. 2 of Portland in 1866, affiliating with Walla Walla Lodge No. 7 in 1878, serving as master in 1881. He was past high priest of Walla Walla Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. and member of Washington Commandery, K.T. No. 1. He was a KCCH in Lawson Consistory, AASR and member of El Kalif Shrine at Spokane. d. March 29, 1921.

Louis Annance (1794–1875) Chief of the St. Francis Indians, a vigorous and powerful tribe of the Quebec province. b. Aug. 25, 1794 at Saint Francis du Lac in the county of Yamaska, Quebec. He received his early education from the Jesuits who subsequently secured his admission to a school in Hanover, N.H., but as he was about to enter college the war of 1812 was declared and he was summoned back to his tribe to serve under the British. In 1817 he publicly renounced Catholicism and joined the Congregationalists. It was about this time that he became, by laws and rules of his tribe, successor to his father as chief and ruler, but having become a Protestant, was subjected to persecution and annoyance so he moved to Hanover, N.H. where he connected himself with the Methodists and was made a Freemason in North Star Lodge of Lancaster, N.H. in 1834. In 1835 or 1836 he removed Matthew Arbuckle to Greenville, Maine where he lived near Moosehead Lake. He died Dec. 25, 1875. The G.L. of Maine issued dispensation to Doric Lodge which erected a tombstone over his grave in the Greenville cemetery.

Martin F. Ansel Former governor of South Carolina. Mason.

Martin C. Ansorge Congressman, lawyer and business executive. b. Jan. 1, 1882 at Corning, N.Y. Began law practice in New York City in 1906 after graduation from Columbia Univ. Member of the 67th Congress from N.Y. in 1921–23 and author of Edge–Ansorge Port of New York Authority bills for the comprehensive development of the Port of New York. Was one of the first to advocate construction of Tri–Borough Bridge and first chairman of its committee. Attorney for Henry Ford in SapiroBernstein libel cases. Director of United Air Lines. Raised in Mt. Nebo Lodge No. 257, New York City in 1907.

Charles L. Anspach College president. b. March 5, 1895 at Fremont, Ohio. Received degrees from Ashland College, Univ. of Toledo and Ph.D. from Univ. of Michigan in 1923. Was president of Ashland College (Ohio) from 1935–39 and has been president of Central Michigan College of Education at Mt. Pleasant since 1939. Active in many civic and religious organizations on state and national scale. Member of Ashland Lodge No. 151, Ashland Chapter No. 67, RAM, Ashland Council No. 128 R. & SM., all of Ashland, Ohio, and Mansfield Commandery, K.T. No. 21 of Mansfield, Ohio. Received 32° AASR (NJ) in Bay City Consistory, Bay City, Mich., and is a member of Elf Khurafeh Shrine Temple, Saginaw, Mich.

Jules Anspach (1826–1879) Lord mayor of Brussels, Belgium and master of the lodge Les Amis Philantropes.

Duke d' Antin Elected “perpetual Grand Master” of the Freemasons of France on June 24, 1738, serving until 1743.

Dr. Carl Gottlob von Anton German Masonic writer who wrote several books on Templarism. d. Gorlitz, Nov. 17, 1818.

Earl of Antrim (see William Randal)

Frank Appleby (1864–1924) Congressman from N.J., 67th Congress (1921–23). b. Oct. 10, 1864. In real estate and insurance business in Asbury Park, N.J. starting in 1885. Member N.J. State Board of Education from 1894–1902. Mason. d. Dec. 15, 1924.

Troy W. Appleby (1874–1947) President of Ohio National Life Insurance Co. b. Oct. 2, 1874 at Morrisville, Mo. Started with the Ohio company as an actuary in 1905 and served as president from 1922. Active in many youth and social organizations and Methodist church. d. April 21, 1947. Mason and 32° AASR.

Sylvanus Apps Ice hockey player. Captain of the Toronto Maple Leafs. Member of University Lodge No. 496, Toronto, Ont., Canada.

Emmanuel Arago (1812–1896) French politician, senator and barrister. Mason.

Matthew Arbuckle (1774–1851) Brigadier General in Mexican War. b. Greenbrier, Va. in 1774, he entered the U.S. Army as an ensign in 1800. Was sent to the Oklahoma territory to supervise the newly removed Indian tribes in 1821, establishing Fort Gibson and Fort Towson near the Kiamichi for this purpose. Fort Arbuckle was named for him. d. June 11, 1851 at Fort Smith and buried with military and Masonic honors. The remains were afterwards reinterred at his birthplace.

John Arbuthnot (1667–1735) Scottish physician and writer. Was physician in ordinary to Queen Anne (1709). A close friend of Swift, he authored witty political pamphlets including The History of John Bull, a satire against the Duke of Marlborough, which popularized and fixed the modern conception of John Bull as the typical Englishman. He was also the author of a number of medical and scientific papers. Reported to be member of a London lodge.

Branch T. Archer (1790–1856) Texas patriot. b. in Virginia and came to Texas in 1831 where he was active in measures for Texas independence. He served as secretary of war of Texas under President Lamar. He was raised in Harmony Lodge No. 62 at Pridewell, Amelia Co., Va. in 1808 and later became a member of Manchester Lodge No. 14 at Manchester becoming its master in 1821. He signed the petition for St. John's Lodge No. 5 of Texas.

P. C. Archer General in Confederate Army. Member of Paris Cornmandery, K.T. No. 9 of Texas.

Leslie C. Arends Congressman from Illinois to 74th to 81st Congresses (1935–51). b. Sept. 27, 1895. Mason.

James C. Argetsinger (1883–1955) Vice president of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. b. Dec. 12, 1883 at Burdet, N.Y. Lawyer. Secretary of the above firm from 1932–49. Vice president since 1935. Mason. d. June 16, 1955.

7th Duke of Argyle (George William) 54th Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1822–23.

Richard Arlen Movie actor. Member Utopia Lodge No. 537, Los Angeles, Calif.

Modeste Armijo Former Nicaraguan minister of education and chief justice of the Supreme Court. A Masonic guest in Connecticut in June 1945.

Lewis A. Armistead (1817–1863) American army officer. b. New Bern, N.C., he served in the U.S. army from 1839–61 and in the Confederate army 1861–63, receiving the rank of brigadier general in 1862. He was killed in Pickett's charge at Gettysburg. Member of Alexandria Lodge No. 22, Alexandria, Va. Also charter member of Union Lodge No. 7, Ft. Riley, Kans.

David H. Armstrong (1812–1893) U.S. Senator from Missouri 1877–79. b. Oct. 21, 1812 in Nova Scotia, Canada. He received an academic education at the Maine Wesleyan seminary and moved to St. Louis in 1837 where he opened and taught the first public school in the state on April 1, 1838.

He was comptroller of St. Louis from 1847 to 1850 and a member of the board of police commissioners from 1873–75 and again in 1877. Armstrong was a member of Washington Lodge No. 9 of St. Louis.

Donald Armstrong Brigadier General, U.S. Army and business executive. b. April 15, 1889. Served in the two world wars. Promoted to general rank in 1942 and was chief of the Tank Automotive Center at Detroit in 1942; commanding general of Ordnance Replacement Training Center, Aberdeen, Md. 1943; commandant of Army Industrial College, Washington, D.C. 1944. President of U.S. Pipe and Foundry Co. since 1948. Mason.

George E. Armstrong Brigadier General U.S. Army, surgeon. b. Lawrence Co., Ind. Aug. 4, 1900. Served in Army Medical Corps since 1925. Theater surgeon of C.B.I. and later surgeon China Theater 1944–46. Deputy surgeon-general with rank of general since June 1947. Raised in Bedford Lodge No. 14, Bedford, Ind. on March 12, 1922. AASR membership in Valley of Indianapolis; 33°, honorary. Member of Murat Shrine Temple, Indianapolis.

Harry L. Armstrong President of Castle Heights Military Academy, Lebanon, Tenn. since 1929. b. July 19, 1888 at Logan, Ohio. President of Association of Military Colleges and Schools of the U.S. in 1942. Raised in Mingo Lodge No. 171, Logan, Ohio in 1909.

Harry W. Armstrong (1879–1951) American composer famous for the all-time favorite Sweet Adeline which he wrote in 1903 with words by Richard H. Gerard. b. Somerville, Mass. He was raised Feb. 20, 1922 in Montgomery Lodge No. 68, New York City and affiliated with John Stewart Lodge No. 871 in 1932.

John Armstrong (1758 – 1843) American revolutionary officer; general in War of 1812, secretary of war, U.S. senator and minister to France. b. Carlisle, Pa. Was deputy adjutant general in the American Revolution and wounded at Germantown. In 1783 he wrote a series of anonymous letters in effort to force Congress to pay arrears to army officers. He was U.S. senator from New York from 1800–04 and U.S. minister to France 1804–10. As secretary of war 1813–14, he was held responsible by many for the military failures in the War of 1812. Raised in Army Lodge No. 19 on register of G.L. of Pennsylvania and later seems to have become a member of Old Cone Lodge No. 9 at Salisbury, N.C. He may have affiliated later in New York as there is such a name listed as a member of Hibernia Lodge No. 339.

J. P. Taylor Armstrong Business executive. b. New London, Conn. July 1, 1882. President of Belding Heminway Co. since 1937; president Corti-cell Silk Co. 1920–32, working his way up from mill clerk. Director of La France Industries, United States Testing Co., Stowell Silk Spool Co. Active in local government and charities. Mason and 32° AASR (N.J.).

Lebbeus Armstrong Anti-Mason. A clergyman who became a Scottish Rite Mason and later an anti-Mason.

Sir Richard Armstrong (?–1823) British lieutenant general commanding forces in West Canada. He entered the Queen's Rangers as a captain and afterward became major. He showed great efficiency as a partisan officer on the Royalist side during the Revolution. In 1783 he was appointed with Capt. Saunders to prepare a parting address for Col. John G. Simcoe q.v., the intrepid leader of the rangers. He was advanced to colonel in 1797; to major general in 1803 and to lieutenant general in 1809. A Mason.

Thomas Armstrong, Jr. (1857–1937) Lawyer, public benefactor. b. July 18, 1857. Admitted to Wisconsin bar in 1880 and practiced in Portage. President of 1st National Bank of Portage 1891–92, moving to Phoenix, Arizona in 1892 where he engaged in law practice and was president of the 1st National Bank of Arizona 1924–29. He was the donor of the Pueblo Grande Ancient Ruins to the city of Phoenix. d. Nov. 1937. Mason.

Edward F. Arn Governor of Kansas 1952–55. b. Kansas City, Kansas May 19, 1906. Began law practice in Wichita in 1936; attorney general of Kansas 1947–49; associate justice Supreme Court of Kansas 1949–51. Raised in Wyandotte Lodge No. 3, Kansas City, Kansas in 1927. 32° AASR (SJ), Orient of Kansas at Wichita, National Sojourners Chapter No. 24 at Wichita, DeMolay Legion of Honor and Senior member, International Supreme Council, Order of DeMolay. Member of Midian Shrine of Wichita and member of patrol from 1937–47; honorary life member of Korein Temple at Rawlins, Wyo. and deputy to imperial potentate of the Shrine in 1954–55.

Elmer R. Am (1886–1951) Surgeon. b. July 8, 1886 at Arnhelm, Ohio. Received M.D. from Univ. of Cincinnati in 1911 and did post graduate work in Berlin and Vienna Universities. Specialist in goiter. Dr. Arn became a Mason in 1908. As grand master of the G.L. of Ohio (1935–36) he devoted much of his time to the Ohio Masonic Home—a service which he continued until his death. In 1930 he received the 33° and two years later was crowned an active member of the Supreme Council being elected deputy for Ohio in 1946 and continuing until he retired in 1950. His most distinctive service to Freemasonry was his leadership of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association from 1938 until his death. In those 13 years he visited grand lodges throughout the country presenting this cause which meant most to him. He died December 24, 1951 and, in compliance with Arn's request, his ashes were dropped by airplane on the Washington memorial.

Ellis G. Arna Governor of Georgia, 1943–47. b. March 20, 1907 at Newnan, Ga. Admitted to Georgia bar in 1931. Served as member of state house of representatives and speaker pro tern from 1933–37; attorney general of Georgia 1939–43. Since 1947 he has been president of the Dixie Life Insurance Co.; president of the Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers since 1948. From 1947–51 he was a member of the National Comm. for UNESCO. Member of Cowetta Lodge No. 60 at Newnan, Ga., since 1931.

Albert F. Arnason State commissioner of higher education, North Dakota since 1943. b. Hensel, N.D., March 12, 1908.

Taught in public schools and became president of N.D. School of Forestry, 1938–43. Mason.

Thomas A. Arne (1710–1778) English musical composer. He wrote music for Joseph Addison's Rosamund (1733); Fielding's Tom Thumb, or the Opera of Operas (1733); Milton's Comus (1738); Thomson and Mallet's Masque of Alfred (1740 which included the song Rule Britannia). In addition to the oratorios Abel (1755) and Judith (1764), he composed many songs, as those for the Tempest (1746) and light operas. Mason.

Ben Arnold Justice, Supreme Court of Oklahoma 1941–53. b. Newark, Ark., Oct. 24, 1892. LL.B. from Univ. of Oklahoma in 1925 and admitted to bar same year. Mason, 32° AASR, Shriner.

Benedict Arnold (1741–1801) America's most notorious traitor. b. Norwich, Conn., Jan. 14, 1741. His early life was spent in trade with the West Indies, but volunteered for service at the outbreak of the Revolution and with Ethan Allen q.v. captured Fort Ticonderoga on May 10, 1775. He was the leader of an unsuccessful campaign to capture Quebec in 1775, but, as a brigadier general in 1776, stopped a British thrust from Canada down Lake Champlain. In 1777 as a major general he repulsed a British force in the Mohawk Valley and aided in forcing Burgoyne's surrender. While in Philadelphia (1778–79) as commander, he was court-martialed for irregularities and reprimanded by Washington (in kind words). It was here that he began treasonable correspondence with the British and while in command at West Point (1780), he arranged to surrender that key position to the British. The plot was discovered by the capture of Major Andre on Sept. 23, and Arnold fled to the British. He was commissioned a brigadier general in the British army and received ~£6,315 in compensation for his property losses. He then led an expedition into Virginia which burned Richmond and made an attack on New London, Conn. in Sept. 1781, returning to London in December of that year. Disappointed at the failure of his plans and embittered by the neglect and scorn which he met in England, he gradually sank into a melancholia and died in London June 14, 1801. His last words were reported as: "Let me die in the old uniform in which I fought my battles for freedom. May God forgive me for putting on any other." There is no question that Arnold was a Freemason. Wallace in his Traitorous Hero says he was admitted a member in a lodge "in the West Indies" which may well be true as he was there in his early days before the Revolution. The first record in Book II of Hiram Lodge No. 1, New Haven, Conn. (April 10, 1765) record that "Br. Benedict Arnold is by R.W. (Nathan Whiting) proposed to be made a member (i.e. an affiliate) of this R.W. Lodge, and is accordingly made a member in this Lodge." This was ten years before his first action in the Revolution. His name appears frequently on the records of Hiram lodge until about 1772. After his defection the lodge erased his name from membership and he was abandoned as a Mason. On June 12, 1771 he visited Solomons Lodge No. 1 at Poughkeepsie, N.Y. and on May 16, 1781 the lodge by vote "ordered that the name of Benedict Arnold be considered as obliterated from the minutes of this Lodge; a Traitor" (with figure of a hand pointing to word "traitor.") This was done and the old records show his name partially obliterated by pen marks.

Henry H. “Hap” Arnold (1886–1950) Commanding general of the U.S. Air Force. b. June 25, 1886 at Gladwyne, Pa. Graduated from West Point in 1907 and a pioneer in military aviation, who in 1912 was awarded a trophy for “a 30-mile flight.” From a 2nd lieutenant in 1907 he advanced to the highest American rank in 1944—that of a 5-star general. He was flight commander of the U.S. Alaska Flight of 1934; assistant chief Air Corps, 1936–38; chief of Army Air Corps, 1938; commanding general Army Air Forces, 1942. He was raised in Union Lodge No. 7, Junction City, Kansas on Nov. 3, 1927, received the 32° AASR on April 11, 1929 at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas and 33° on Oct. 19, 1945. d. Jan. 15, 1950. On Nov. 21, 1958 the lodge at Edwards A.F.B., Calif. was constituted as General Henry H. Arnold Lodge No. 791.

John C. Arnold Justice, Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. b. March 10, 1887 at Durwensville, Pa. Admitted to Pennsylvania bar in 1910. Judge of superior court (appellate) 1945–53. Justice of supreme court since 1953. Raised in Garfield Lodge No. 559, DuBois, Pa. on Nov. 7, 1912. Member of AASR, Valley of Williamsport, Pa. and received 33° in 1952. Member of Jaffa Shrine Temple at Altoona, Pa.

Remmie LeRoy Arnold Pen manufacturer and Imperial Potentate of Shrine (1953–54). b. Jan. 25, 1894 at Petersburg, Va. Started the R. L. Arnold Pen Co. in 1935 which has grown to the second largest pen company in the world. Served as president of the American War Dads during WW2, making a trip to England as guest of Lord Halifax, British Ambassador, visiting camps, hospitals and front lines. On his return he toured the United States at his own expense to report directly to the American people and wrote over 5,000 letters to parents of men with whom he had talked. Served as president of the Southern States Industrial Council. Ran for governor of Virginia in 1949. Raised in Powhatan Starke Lodge No. 124, Petersburg, Va. on Feb. 24, 1928. Royal Arch Mason and Knight Templar in 1930 and 32° AASR in 1928. Received Royal Arch in Petersburg Chapter No. 7, R.A.M. and knighted in Appomattox Commandery No. 6, both of Petersburg, Va. in 1930. AASR (ST) in Richmond, Va., receiving 33°. Member of Acca Temple, Royal Order of Scotland, Royal Order of Jesters in Richmond, Order of Quetzacoatl in Mexico City, National Sojourners and Heroes of '76 at Fort Lee, Va., chairman of board of Shriners Hospitals, and Legion of Honor, DeMolay.

Samuel W. "Wat" Arnold Congressman from Missouri 78th to 80th Congresses (1943–49). b. Sept. 21, 1879 near Downing, Mo. Taught school and served as superintendent from 1896 to 1903. Owner of lumber business and radio stations. Member of the following Masonic bodies of Kirksville, Mo. Adair Lodge No. 366; Caldwell Chapter No. 53, R.A.M.; Ely Commandery No. 22.

William W. Arnold Congressman from Illinois to 68th to 74th Congresses (1923–37), resigning to become member of U.S. Board of Tax Appeals (now The Tax Court of the U.S.) on which he has served since 1937. Knight Templar and 32° AASR. Died Nov. 23, 1957.

Sir Lauriston J. Arnott Managing Director of the Irish Times, Dublin, Ireland. Served as master of Meridian Lodge XII in Dublin in 1952. Also member of Lodge of Erin No. 2895, London, England.

Jacob Aronson (1887–1951) Vice president and general counsel of New York Central Railroad since 1947. b. Jan. 2, 1887 at Brooklyn, N.Y. Admitted to N.Y. bar in 1908. Associated with New York Central since 1906 as attorney, general attorney and counsel. Director of several other corporations. Mason. d. Jan. 13, 1951.

J. Hugo Aronson Governor of Montana since 1952. b. Sept. 1, 1891, Gallstad, Sweden. Came to U.S. in 1911. Director of Toole Co. Bank, Shelby, Mont. since 1927 and president since 1940. Member state house of representatives 1939–45; senator 1945–53. Mason. King Gustav VI Adolf q.v. of Sweden appointed him as representative of the G.L. of Sweden to the G.L. of Montana. His appointment was in Swedish, accompanied by an English translation, but Aronson could read the original. Received degrees in Shelby Lodge No. 143, in 1924 and later demitted to Cut Bank Lodge No. 82, Cut Bank, Mont. Member of Tyrean Chapter 34, R.A.M. and Cut Bank Council R. & S.M. No. 11 at Cut Bank and Golden West Commandery 24, K.T. at Shelby, Mont. 32° AASR in Valley of Helena. Was senior steward of Shelby Lodge at time of his transfer. Member of Algeria Shrine Temple and Shelby Chapter No. 113, O.E.S.

Received “Hats Off” award from Edward C. Day Chapter, DeMolay in Helena.

Chester A. Arthur (1830–66) President of the United States, 1881–85 on death of Garfield. Was not a Mason. Although often referred to as a “Mason, brother, and worthy member of the Craft” by early publications, there is not one shred of evidence that points to his membership.

Harold J. Arthur Governor of Vermont. b. Feb. 9, 1904 at Whitehall, N.Y. Admitted to bar in 1932 and has been in civil and criminal practice since that date. Clerk of Vermont lower house 1939–43, lieut. governor of Vermont 1949–50 and elected governor in 1950. Served as an officer, U.S. Army WW2, 1941–46. Mason, Knight Templar, 32° AASR (NJ) and Shriner.

John M. Arthur Brigadier general U.S. Marine Corps. b. April 12, 1893. Graduate of Infantry School, Fort Benning, Command and General Staff School, Ft. Leavenworth, Naval War College. From 2nd lieutenant Marine Corps in 1917 he advanced to brigadier general in 1946. Served in Cuba 1917–19. Aide to White House during Harding and Coolidge administrations. Subsequently served in Nicaragua, China. Legislative liaison officer of Marine Corps to Congress, 1934–37. Chief-of-staff, Fleet Marine Force 1940–41; commander of combined forces during Guadalcanal campaign 1942–43. Mason.

Thomas Arthur (1860–1925) Chief justice, Supreme Court of Iowa (1923–25). b. July 12, 1860. LL.B. University of Iowa. Judge of district court of Iowa, 1911–20; justice Supreme Court of Iowa, 1920–23. Mason. d. Sept. 15, 1925.

Gotthardus Arthusius Wrote many works on Rosicrucianism under the assumed name of Irenaeus Agnostus. Was rector of the gymnasium of Frankfort-on-the-Main.

Earl of Arundel (Thomas Howard) (1585?–1646) Tradition places him as grand master of English Freemasons from 1633 to 1635 and the claim is in accordance with the accounts of Anderson and Preston. He was the 14th Earl, and became a Protestant in 1615; president of the committee of peers on Bacon's case in 1621; general of the army against the Scots in 1639. He was one of the first large scale collectors of art in England, and his collection of statues, pictures, guns, coins, manuscripts and marbles was presented to Oxford in 1667 by his grandson.

William Arundel (?–1816) Early American merchant and fur trader. He was first secretary of Western Star Lodge No. 107 at Kaskaskia, the first capital of Illinois. Arundel was raised in St. Andrews Lodge, Quebec, Canada. When No. 107 at Kaskaskia was formed on Sept. 27, 1805, he was a charter member. He was located at Kahokia (Ill.) as early as 1783, but had resided near Peoria at an earlier date. He had emigrated from Ireland to Canada and possessed a good education for that time.

Jacob M. Arvey Political boss of Chicago and prominent national Democratic political figure. b. Chicago, Nov. 3, 1895.

Served as state's attorney in 1918–20; master in chancery, circuit court of Cook Co. 1930–34; alderman 24th ward, Chicago, 1923–41; chairman Cook Co. Central Committee, Democratic party. Mason.

Charles G. Ashbrook President of North American Life Insurance Co. of Chicago. b. Nov. 1899 at Granville, Ohio. Graduated from Denver Univ. in 1921 and started as a clerk with North American, working his way successively up to president in 1955. Raised in Nunda Lodge No. 169, Crystal Lake, Ill. on May 7, 1938. Member of Woodstock Chapter No. 36, R.A.M. and Woodstock Council, R. & S.M. and Calvary Commandery No. 25, K.T. all of Woodstock, Illinois. Served as master of Nunda Lodge No. 169 in 1942. Joined Medinah Shrine Temple in 1943.

Frank G. Ashbrook Fur animal expert. b. York, Pa., Oct. 20, 1892. B.S. in agriculture, Pa. State College, 1914; with Bureau of Animal Industry, Dept. of Agriculture 1914–18 and on leave from dept. to French High Commission, 1919–20. In charge of fur-bearing animal work, Div. of Fur Resources, Biological Surveys, U.S. Dept. of Agriculture since 1921. Traveled in Japan and China in 1937 for Treasury Dept. to obtain information on methods of dressing dog, lamb and kid skins imported to U.S. Author of many books in field. Mason.

William A. Ashbrook (1867–1940) Congressman from Ohio to 60th to 65th Congresses (1907–21) and 74th and 75th Congresses (1935–39) from 17th Ohio district. b. July 1, 1867 at Johnstown, Ohio. Publisher and editor of Johnstown Independent from 1885–1940. Mason. d. Jan. 1, 1940.

George F. Ashby Railroad president b. Sept 3, 1885 at Mt. Airy, N.C. Started with railroad industry as a clerk with the Atlantic Coast Line in 1906. With Union Pacific RR Co. since 1921, serving as president and director 1946–49. Also president and director of Oregon Short Line, Oregon–Washington RR and Navigation Co.; Los Angeles and Salt Lake RR; St. Joseph and Grand Island; Laramie North Park and Western; Saratoga and Encampment Valley and Des Chutes RR. Mason and Shriner.

Turner Ashby (1824–1862) Confederate Brigadier General in Civil War. b. Rose Hill, Va. He was a grain dealer in Markham, Va., and afterward a planter and politician. At the outbreak of the Civil War he raised a regiment of cavalry. Being a fine horseman and daring by nature, he soon distinguished himself. He met his death in a skirmish preceding the battle of Cross Keys, Va. on June 6, 1862. He was a member of Equality Lodge No. 44, Martinsburg, W. Va. and was buried Ma-sonically.

Bowman F. Ashe (1885–1952) President of University of Miami from 1926. b. Scottdale, Pa., April 3, 1885. Regional director Social Security Board for Southeastern States, 1936–38 and regional director War Manpower Committee for Southeastern States, 1942. Mason. d. Dec. 16, 1952.

Rev. Jonathan Ashe Author of Masonic Manual, 1814 which he copies from Hutchinson without giving credit.

Dr. Carl Wilhelm Asher First translator into German of the Halliwell or Regius Manuscript, which he published at Hamburg in 1842 under the title of Alteste Urkunde der Freimaurerei.

Edward Ashley (1854–1931) Clergyman, missionary to Dakota Indians. b. Road Hill, England Dec. 12, 1854, came to U.S. in 1873 and naturalized in 1889. Became Episcopalian deacon in 1877 and priest in 1881. Served as general missionary among Sioux Indians for 57 years. Mason and 33° deputy in South Dakota for Supreme Council (SJ). d. March 30, 1931.

James M. Ashley (1824–?) Governor of Montana. b. Nov. 14, 1824 near Pittsburgh, Pa. Clerked on boats of Ohio and Mississippi rivers, became editor of the Dispatch and later the Democrat at Portsmouth, O. Admitted to bar, but never practiced. Elected five times to U.S. Congress from Ohio, serving from 1859–1869. Four times chairman of the committee on territories, it was under his supervision that the territories of Arizona, Idaho and Montana were organized. Appointed governor of Montana in 1869. Raised March 2, 1853 in Toledo Lodge No. 144, Toledo, Ohio.

Elias Ashmole (1617–1692) Most learned English antiquarian of his day. A Royalist in the Civil War. In 1672 he published an exhaustive history of the Order of the Garter which is now an exceedingly rare volume. In 1677 he presented a collection of rarities to Oxford University which became the Ashmolean Museum. His importance to Freemasonry stems from the diary which he kept with great care. Masonic historians have generally set the date of speculative Masonry as 1717 when the G.L. of England was formed. His diary entry of Oct. 16, 1646 stated that he had been made a Freemason at 4:30 p.m. at Warrington, Lancashire with Col. Henry Mainwaring of Karincham, Cheshire. At this time Ashmole was a captain in Lord Ashley's regiment and also Comptroller of the Ordnance on the King's side. Mainwaring, of whom there is frequent mention in the bulletins of the civil war, was a staunch Parliamentarian. The diary also gives the names of those that were then members of the lodge which seems to justify the conclusion that they were in the habit of associating in Masonic fellowship for some time. It is noteworthy that not a single operative Mason was present on this date. His diary therefore earned him the name of "first speculative English Freemason." d. May 18, 1692.

Henry F. Ashurst Former U.S. Senator from Arizona. Married as Catholic and afterwards withdrew from the fraternity.

John W. Askew Comptroller of Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. since 1949. b. Nov. 1, 1901. With postal service since 1920. Now regional comptroller at Atlanta, Ga. Raised Oct. 6, 1925 in Corinthian Lodge No. 266 at Norfolk, Va.

William D. Askren Justice Supreme Court State of Washington 1924–28. b. Oct. 1, 1885 Mount Ayr, Iowa. Admitted to bar 1908. Judge of Superior Court, 1920–04. Mason and past potentate Ai Shrine Temple, 1926–27.

Richard Aspinall Educator. b. Dec. 1, 1881 at Bolton, England. President Western State College, Gunnison, Colo., 1927–30. Director of student affairs and assistant to president of West Virginia University 1930–48. Superintendent of Moosehart Home and School, Moosehart, Ill. (Loyal Order of Moose) since 1948. Received his degrees in Terra Alta Lodge No. 106, W. Va. about 1922 and later member of Morgantown Union Lodge No. 4, Morgantown, W. Va. 32° AASR(SJ) at Wheeling, W. Va. and KCCH. Member of Osiris Shrine Temple at Wheeling. Served as grand prelate, Grand Lodge of West Virginia circa 1932–44. Has served many times as orator for Masonic events. Grand chaplain G.L. of W.V. 1936–43.

Wayne N. Aspinall Congressman from Colorado to 81st Congress (1949–51). b. April 3, 1896 at Middleburg, Ohio. Graduate of Univ. of Denver and Denver Law School. Admitted to bar 1925. Member of state legislature of Colorado from 1931–38 and speaker of house 1937–38. State senator 1939–48. Participated in Normandy drive WW1 as American officer with British forces. Raised in Palisade Lodge No. 125, Palisade, Colo. in 1926. Member of Grand Junction Chapter No. 24, R.A.M.; Grand Junction Council No. 16 R. & S.M. and Temple Commandery No. 23, K.T., all of Grand Junction, Colo. 32° AASR (SJ) in Valley of Grand Junction, receiving KCCH. Served as master of Palisade lodge and also as secretary. Member of El Jebel Shrine Temple.

Rupert F. Asplund (1875–1952) Tax and budget expert. b. June 26, 1875 at Little Indian, Ill. M.A. and LL.D., Illinois College, Jacksonville, Ill. Instructor of Latin and Greek at Univ.

of New Mexico 1902–09. Secretary State Tax Commission (N.M.) 1917–18; director Taxpayers' Assn. of N.M. since 1918; editor and manager of N.M. Journal of Education, 1907–19; director of N.M. State Budget, 1919–41; comptroller State of N.M. 1930. Grand Master of G.L. of N.M. 1947–48. Deputy of Supreme Council AASR (SJ) for N.M. from 1935. d. Dec. 7, 1952.

John Jacob Astor (1763–1848) German–American financier and czar of the fur trade. b. Duchy of Baden, Germany, July 17, 1763, coming to U.S. in 1784 and entering the fur trade. He incorporated the American Fur Co. in 1808 and the Pacific Fur Co. in 1810. He founded the city of Astoria at the mouth of the Columbia River as a trading post but lost it to the British in 1813. During the War of 1812 he made large and profitable loans to the government. Astor invested heavily in New York real estate and by 1817 had monopolized the Mississippi valley fur trade and that of the upper Missouri from 1822–34. He sold his fur interests in 1834 and retired to administer one of the largest fortunes made in America. He was one of the first members of Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City and served as master in 1788. He was grand treasurer of the G.L. of New York from 1798 to 1801; was junior grand warden pro tern on two occasions, 1798 and 1801. For a time he was secretary of a commandery (then called encampment) that met in Holland lodge room at 66 Liberty street, New York City. d. March 29, 1848.

David R. Atchison (1807–1886) Ex-officio President of the United States for one day (March 4, 1849) because President Taylor was not sworn in until March 5. b. Aug. 11, 1807 at Frogtown, Ky. Lawyer, politician and congressman, 1843–55. Member of Platte Lodge No. 56, Platte City, Mo. (now extinct). d. June 26, 1886.

King Athelstan (895–940) King of England; son of King Edward the Elder and grandson of King Alfred the Great. His connection with Masonry is purely legendary, resting on the Old Charges. The Regius Poem states that: “Thys craft corn yn to england as y yow say yn tyme of good kynge adelsonus day.” It is further stated that he summoned an assembly of Masons for the purpose of drawing up a charter. A later manuscript refers to a charter he gave to the Masons on the intercession of his son, Edwin, but Athelstan died unmarried.

John 3rd Duke of Atholl (1729–1774) Heir to Scottish title held by Murray family. Sold the sovereignty of Isle of Man to the British Crown in 1765. Grand master, G.L. of England (Antients) 1771–74. Also G.M. of Scotland in 1773. (Scots spell it “Athole.”) John, 4th Duke of Atholl (1755–1830) Created Earl Strange in peerage of Great Britain in 1786. He succeeded his father as grand master of G.L. of England in 1775, serving until 1781 and again from 1791–1813. Was grand master of G.L. of Scotland from 1778 to 1779.

George Augustis, 6th Duke of Atholl Served as 66th Grand Master Mason of Scotland 1843–63 while Lord Glenlyon. He was grand master of England from 1843 until his death in January, 1864. The three craft degrees were conferred upon him at the same time and he was installed as master at the same meeting in Grand Master Lodge No. 1.

John George, 8th Duke of Atholl Served as 79th Grand Master Mason of Scotland 1909–13 while Marquis of Tullibardine. He later became the 8th Duke of Atholl.

Harry W. Atkins Poultry industry executive. b. May 16, 1883 at Streator, Ill. Judged 800 poultry shows and fairs in 38 years. Supt. poultry department Iowa Farms, 1910–16. Owner of Atkins Farm Hatchery and Atkins Poultry Sales until 1943. President of American Poultry Association 1938–40 and secretary since 1940. Former concert work with Atkins Family Band and Orchestra. Organized and directed Kaaba Shrine band 1915–25. Raised in Amity Lodge No. 483, Huntington, Ind. on June 3, 1912. 32° at Davenport, Iowa in 1915. Member of Mohassan Grotto.

Smith D. Atkins General, Union Army, Civil War. Mason and Knight Templar at Galena, Ill. Member Illinois Masonic Veterans Association.

Arthur K. Atkinson President of the Wabash Railroad since 1947. b. Denver, Colo., Oct. 19, 1891. Started as office boy with the D. & R.G. Railroad in 1909. Has been with Wabash since 1922. He is also an officer and director of the following railroads: Ann Arbor Boat Co., Ann Arbor Ry. Co., Detroit & Western, Lake Erie & Fort Wayne; Manistique & Lake Superior, Menominee & St. Paul, N.J., Indiana & Illinois, Wabash Motor Transit Co., Wabash Radio Corp., American Refrigerator

Transit Co., Belt Ry. of Chicago, Chicago & Western Indiana, Kansas City Terminal. A Freemason since 1924, he is a member of University City Lodge No. 649 (Mo.), exalted in Cabany Chapter No. 140, R.A.M. Nov. 26, 1948 and knighted in St. Aldemar Commandery No. 18, K.T. March 18, 1949. Council degrees in Hiram Council No. 1, St. Louis, Sept. 3, 1952. AASR (SJ) in Valley of St. Louis in 1948; KCCH on Oct. 20, 1953, he is president of the Scottish Rite Endowment, Philanthropic and Educational Foundation and junior warden in St. Louis Lodge of Perfection. He is viceroy of St. Louis Conclave No. 42, Red Cross of Constantine and president of KCCH in 1956. Member of Moolah Shrine Temple. Member of board of governors of St. Louis Shrine Hospital. Member of board of governors of DeMolay Foundation, Inc. Active member-at-large for life of the International Supreme Council, Order of DeMolay and member of Royal Order of Jesters, St. Louis Court No. 81, since 1950.

George W. Atkinson (1845–1925) Governor of West Virginia 1897–1901. b. June 29, 1845 at Charleston, Va. (now W.Va.). Served as internal revenue agent, postmaster and U.S. Marshal. Member of 51st Congress (1889–91). Judge U.S. Court of Claims 1905–16. Raised in Kanawha Lodge No. 20, Charleston Oct. 12, 1866. Wasgrand master of W.Va. in 1876 and grand secretary of the G.L. of W. Va. from 1897 to 1901. Knight Templar. d. April 4, 1925.

Harry H. Atkinson Lawyer and U.S. Attorney for Nevada from 1926–34. b. Salt Lake City, Utah, May 22, 1881. Law degree from Stanford in 1903. Admitted to California and Nevada bar in 1906. Served with 1st Troop, Utah, U.S. Vol. Cay. in Spanish American War. Grand master of the G.L. of Nevada 1920–21.

Theodore Atkinson Secretary of the Province of New Hampshire (before statehood) and chief justice of New Hampshire in 1754. Admitted December 22 (St. John's Day) to St. John's Lodge No. 1, Portsmouth, N.H.

William Y. Atkinson (1855–1899) Governor of Georgia, 1894–96. b. Oakland, Ga. and graduated from state university in 1877. Admitted to Georgia bar in 1878. Member of state legislature 1886–94, being speaker the last three years. In 1889 he founded the Georgia Normal and Industrial College and was president of the board of trustees. Buried Masonically.

William W. Atterbury (1866–1935) President of the Pennsylvania Railroad from 1925. b. Jan. 31, 1866 at New Albany, Ind. Graduated from Yale and started as an apprentice in the Altoona shops of the Pennsylvania R.R. in 1886. While vice president in charge of operations, he was granted a leave of absence in 1917 to direct the construction and operation of U.S. military railways in France, and was commissioned brigadier general. Was officer and trustee of many corporations. He was raised in Colonial Lodge No. 631, Philadelphia, Pa. in 1895. d. Sept. 20, 1935.

Frank E. Atwood (1878–1943) Judge, Supreme Court of Missouri 1925–35. b. Carrollton, Mo., Oct. 5, 1878. Attended Missouri University and William Jewell College. Admitted to Missouri bar in 1904. Member of Missouri Constitutional Convention of 1922. Mason. d. March 5, 1943. Belonged to Wakanda Lodge No. 52 at Carrollton and exalted in George Washington Chapter No. 24, R.A.M. Nov. 21, 1913, demitting from latter in 1938.

Henry C. Atwood (?–1860) Masonic writer. b. Connecticut and settled in New York in 1825. Raised in York Lodge No. 197, New York in 1835. Published The Master Workman; or True Masonic Guide in 1850. Organized a lodge and introduced ritual of Jeremy L. Cross. Was a leader in establishing St. John's G.L. and was grand master at the union in 1851. d. 1860.

W. K. Au One of the leaders in the establishment of the Grand Lodge of China, and foremost Chinese Freemason of the present day. He served for several years as an officer in his lodge and grand lodge.

Lord Auckland (see William Eden)

Lord John Touchet Audley Anderson states he was Grand Master of England from 1540–1548. He was a patron of the building art in Magdalene College, Cambridge.

John James Audubon (1785–1851) American ornithologist and artist known for his imposing works in full color of Birds of America (1827–38). b. April 26, 1785 in Haiti. d. Jan. 27, 1851. Although Audubon referred to himself as a “Mason” and “Brother” in his diary, no proof has been found of his membership.

Berthold Auerbach (1812–1882) German patriot and writer. Known for his pictures of life in the Black Forest. His fiction includes Spinoza (1837); Schwarzwälder Dorfgeschichten (1843); Edelweiss (1861); Auf der Höhe (1865). He translated Spinoza's works in 5 volumes in 1841. Initiated in 1838.

Pierre Francois C. Augereau (1757–1816?) nee Due de Castiglione. French soldier created Marshal of France by Napoleon. Distinguished himself at Lodi and Castiglione (1796) and carried through the coup d'état of Sept. 4, 1797. He served through the Napoleonic wars throughout the empire period. Was premier grand surveillant of the Grand Lodge Symbolique of France in 1805.

Edward Augustus, Duke of York b. March 14, 1738. Brother of King George III. Was initiated in the Lodge of Friendship (later known as Royal York Lodge of Friendship) Berlin, Germany on July 27, 1765.

Frederick Augustus, Prince of Brunswick (1740–?) b. 1740 the second son of Duke Charles I. Affiliated with the Rite of Strict Observance in 1769 and declared grand master of Prussia in 1772, serving until 1799. Rendered distinguished service in the Seven Years' War and is said to have written extensively on Rosicrucianism, alchemy and magic.

Stanislas H. Augustus King of Poland. (See Stanislas).

William Augustus, Crown Prince of Prussia (1722–1758) Member of the Hohenzollern line and brother of Frederick the Great. Not successful as a military leader and deprived of command in 1757 by Frederick. Father of Frederick William II, who succeeded Frederick the Great as king of Prussia. Member of Three Globes Lodge, Berlin. (Lodge Drei Weltkugein) William Augustus, Duke of Cumberland b. April 26, 1721 in London. Initiated in 1743.

Dr. Isaac Auld (1769–1827) Physician and 3rd grand commander, Supreme Council (SJ) (1822–26). b. Pennsylvania. Received the 33°, January 19, 1802. Died at his home “Edingsville” on Edisto Island, south of Charleston, S.C., Oct. 17, 1827.

Henry S. Aurand Lieut. General U.S. Army. b. April 21, 1894 at Tamaqua, Pa. Graduate of West Point, 1915. Promoted through grades to lieutenant general in 1948. Major in Ord. dept. during WW1. Comdg. general 6th Service Command 1942–44; comdg. officer Normandy base section, 1944; comdg. general Service of Supplies, China Theater, 1945; 6th Service Command, 1946; Africa–Middle East Theater, 1946; director of research and development War Dept. General Staff 1946–48; director of logistics General Staff from 1948. Retired. Member of Shamokin Lodge No. 255, Shamokin, Pa.; Hawaiian Chapter No. 9, National Sojourners and president of latter in 1952.

John C. W. Austin Architect. b. Feb. 13, 1870 at Bodicote, England. An architect in Los Angeles, Calif. since 1894. Designed and supervised construction of following Los Angeles buildings: Shrine Auditorium, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, California State Building, St. Vincent’s Hospital, Griffith Observatory, and Saint Paul's Church. Collaborated in design and construction of Los Angeles City Hall. Past president of Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. 32° AASR (SJ) and member Al Malaikah Shrine Temple, Los Angeles.

Moses Austin (1765–1821) Secured a grant of 200,000 acres in the province of Texas (under New Spain) on Jan. 17, 1821, but died on his return trip to home in Missouri. His son Stephen F. Austin q.v. carried out the colonization by his father's dying request the following year. Although his Masonic membership has never been established, a biographer (Adella Breckenridge Moore) states in the Congressional Record, March 21, 1949 that "From things read in his printed letters I believe Moses Austin to have been a Mason, and it might have been that on some of his trips abroad he was made a Mason in London." It is noted that in his statements to the Spanish authorities in December of 1820 he answered he was 53 years old, a Catholic, and former subject of the King of Spain. This is not unusual, however, for Sam Houston q.v. the first president of the Republic, who founded the G.L. of Texas was also a Catholic. Only Catholics could hold land under the Spanish rule.

Stephen F. Austin (1793–1836) American colonizer of Texas sometimes called "The Father of Texas." b. Nov. 8, 1793 in Wythe Co., Va., son of Moses (1761–1821) Austin, settling in Missouri in 1798. He became a member of the Missouri Territorial Legislature in 1814 and served until 1820. It was in this year that his father gained a tract of land in what is now Texas. The father died before he could start his colonization efforts and Stephen took over the project, becoming a leader in the first colony of U.S. settlers in Texas. In Missouri he was initiated in Louisiana Lodge No. 109 (first lodge West of the Mississippi) at Ste. Genevieve, on June 23, 1815 at the age of 22. The lodge was then under Pennsylvania charter. In Texas he headed the first attempt to establish a lodge when in 1828 several Masons petitioned the Yorkino G.L. of Mexico for a charter. He was named to be the first master, but the petition was lost and the lodge never founded. From 1822–32 he directed the government in the colony, encouraging immigration from the U.S. and maintaining peace and order. He was imprisoned in Mexico City (1833–34) for urging Texas statehood and separation from Coahuila. Although he was defeated for the presidency (first) of Texas in 1836 by General Sam Houston q.v., he became first secretary of state of the Republic of Texas and was commander-in-chief of the Army of Texas. Austin, Texas is named for him, as is a Masonic lodge in that state. d. Dec. 27, 1836.

Warren R. Austin United States Representative to United Nations (1947–50). b. Nov. 12, 1877 at Highgate, Vt. Admitted to Vt. bar in 1902. Served as mayor of St. Albans in 1909 and U.S. Senator being elected in 1931, 1934 and 1940. As a special ambassador of the president, he served as U.S. advisor to the United Nations in 1946, and in 1947 was named as the United States first ambassador to the U.N. with rank of ambassador E. and P. While with the U.N. he served as our representative on the Security Council, made a goodwill mission to Cuba in 1950 and was official guest of Dominican Republic, Haiti, Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico. He was chairman of Committee for Permanent Headquarters. In 1951 he was recipient of the Distinguished Achievement medal of the G.L. of New York. He was raised in Brattleboro Lodge No. 102 at Burlington, Vt. and later affiliated with Franklin Lodge No. 4, St. Albans. A Knight Templar and Shriner he received 33° AASR in September, 1944.

Gene Autry Singer, actor, producer, writer of screen, stage, radio and TV. b. Sept. 29, 1907 at Tioga, Texas. Graduated from Tioga high school in 1925. Began as a railroad telegraph operator in Sapulpa, Okla. in 1925. Autry made first phonograph record of cowboy songs in 1929; radio artist WLS, Chicago, 1930–34; motion picture director since 1934; actor since 1934. His first picture was In Old Santa Fe and since that time he has starred in 55 musical Western feature pictures. Joined Army Air Force in 1942 as technical sergeant and discharged in 1945 as flight officer. With the advent of TV after WW2 he produced and starred in many productions. He has written over 250 songs including Silver-Haired Daddy of Mine (1931); You're the Only Star in My Blue Heaven (1938); Dust (1938); Tears on My Pillow (1941); Be Honest With Me (1941); Tweedle O'Twill (1942). Raised in Catoosa Lodge No. 185, Catoosa, Okla. in 1927. Life member of Long Beach, Calif. AASR (32°) and life member of Al Malaika Shrine Temple, Los Angeles, Calif.

George W. Auxier Writer, political analyst, government official. b. Nov. 27, 1905 Paintsville, Ky. A.B. and M.A. Miami Univ., Ph.D. Ohio State Univ. Served as supt. Federal archives, Ohio; research asst. in Library of Congress; asst. editor

Territorial Papers of U.S., Dept. of State; liaison officer Office of Censorship; historical officer, War Department, General Staff 1942–44; principal policy analyst, Office of Executive Sec. W.P.R., 1944–45; chief policy analysis staff, bureau of demobilization, 1945–46; asst. general managers office U.S. Atomic Energy Commission 1947; principal policy analyst U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, 1947. General director research and reports National Security Resources Board since 1947. Member of Takoma Park Lodge No. 29, Takoma Park, Md. Author of many books and articles, historical and current.

Henry G. Avers (1886–1947) Mathematician. Chief mathematician of Geodetic Survey since 1924. Member of National Geographic Society Committee of experts which determined that Commdr. Byrd q.v. reached the North Pole by airplane in 1926 and the South Pole in 1929. Mason 32° AASR, Shriner. d. Jan. 19, 1947.

Christopher L. Avery Justice, Supreme Court of Connecticut, 1929–42 (retired). b. Sept. 4, 1872. Graduate of Yale, A.B. 1893, LL.B. 1897. Admitted to N.Y. bar in 1897 and moved to Connecticut in 1903. Judge, Superior Court of Conn. 1920–29. Served as quartermaster, U.S. Navy in Spanish American War. Member of House of Representatives, 1913. Mason.

Ray L. Avery Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. July 15, 1884, Manchester, N.H. Graduate West Point, 1908. Advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1940. Commanding general, Edgewood Arsenal, Md. 1940–46. Retired, 1946. Mason.

William H. Avery Congressman from Kansas, 84th Congress. b. Aug. 11, 1911, Wakefield, Kansas. Farmer, stockman, 1935–55; member Kansas state legislature, 1951–55. Received degrees in Wakefield Lodge No. 396, Wakefield, Kansas in 1954–55–56.

S. B. Axtell Former governor of New Mexico and Utah. Member of Amador Lodge No. 65, Jackson, Calif.

John Thomas Axton (1870 – ?) Chief of chaplains, U.S.A. b. July 28, 1870, Salt Lake City, Utah. General secretary to YMCA 1893–1902. Chaplain U.S. Army, 1902 and in 1920 appointed colonel and chief of chaplains; retired in 1928. Served in P.I. twice, Mexican border 5 years and duty at Port of Embarkation, Hoboken, N.J., WW1. He officiated at the interment of America's unknown soldier at Arlington National Cemetery Nov. 11, 1921. Mason. deceased.

Charles B. Aycock (1859–1912) Governor of North Carolina, 1901–05. b. Nov. 1, 1859 at Fremont, N.C. Degrees from Univ. of North Carolina and Univ. of Maine. Practiced law at Goldsboro, N.C. Served as county superintendent of schools, U.S. district attorney. His bust is in Statuary Hall, U.S. Capitol, Washington, D.C. He served as grand orator of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina in 1897. d. April 4, 1912.

Atlee B. Ayers Architect. b. July 12, 1874, Hillsboro, Ohio. Architect in San Antonio since 1899. Architect of Smith–Young Plaza Hotel, Federal Reserve Bank Building and Municipal Auditorium, all of San Antonio, Texas. Collaborated in Blind Institute, Austin, and Administration Building, Randolph Field, Texas. Mason, 32° AASR (SJ).

George F. Ayers (1865–1913) President of Lindenwood Female College, St. Charles, Mo., 1902–13. b. May 17, 1865 at Hannibal, Mo. Active Presbyterian, author and Mason. d. Oct. 23, 1913.

William A. Ayers Congressman from Kansas 64th to 66th Congresses (1915–21) and 68th to 73rd Congresses (1923–35), resigning upon appointment as Federal Trade Commissioner in 1934, reappointed in 1940 and again in 1947. Mason 33° AASR, Shriner. d. Feb. 17, 1952.

Sir George Aylwen Lord Mayor of London (circa 1949–51) Junior grand warden of the G.L. of Mark Masters of England and Wales, installed Sept. 6, 1949.

William Edmonstoune Aytoun (1812–65) Scottish poet and parodist. Educated at Univ. of Edinburgh and at Aschaffenburg, Germany. He began contributions to Blackwood's in 1836; professor of rhetoric and belles letters, Univ. of Edinburgh, 1845. Author of Poland, Homer, and Other Poems (1832); Lays of the Scottish Cavaliers (1848); Firmilian a Spasmodic Tragedy (1854) and Poems and Ballads of Goethe (1858). Annotated collection of Ballads of Scotland, (1858). Active member the Scottish grand lodge and representative there of the Grand Lodge Royal York of Germany.

Miguel de Azcuenaga (1754–1833) Argentine patriot.

Helped defend the city of Buenos Aires against the first British attack. Was active in the May 1810 revolution and was part of the first “junta” or governing council. Later appointed chief of the general staff.

B

Irving B. Babcock President of General Motors Truck Corp. since 1935. b. June 25, 1891 at Milwaukee, Wis. LL.B. DePaul Univ. in 1916. Also president and director of Yellow Truck & Coach Mfg. Co., vice president of General Motors Corp. since 1943 and director of several large corporations. 32° AASR.

Catherine Sweet Babington (1815–1886) A woman, who was said to have received the first three degrees of Freemasonry. Although the statement has been seriously questioned, there are several strong arguments in its favor. Her death notice which appeared in the Shelby Aurora, Shelby, N.C. which was edited by a Freemason stated: “At her death she was the only female Mason in the United States, and was well versed in the mysterious workings of the Blue Lodge. Having overheard the secrets of Masonry when she was a girl of 16 years, it was thought best to initiate her as a member and thus prevent any disclosure.” Sometime after her death, her son, J. P. Babington, a member of Cleveland Lodge 202, Shelby, N.C., (later Lee Lodge No. 253 at Taylorsville, N.C.) wrote a biography of his mother entitled Biography of Mrs. Catherine Babington, the Only Woman Mason in the World, and How She Became a Blue Lodge Mason. It is said she hid herself in a pulpit of a lodge room in Princess Furnace, Kentucky and watched each meeting for a year and a half before being discovered by an uncle. After much discussion, the lodge obligated her but did not admit her to membership. It was claimed that she kept herself posted on Freemasonry until a short time before her death but never attempted to visit a lodge. It has been pointed out that there was never a regular lodge situated at or near Princess Furness (now Princess), Ky.

John Christian Bach (1735–1782) Musician, composer. One of the four sons of composer John Sebastian Bach—all of whom were musicians of importance. Known as “the Milan or London Bach,” he was cathedral organist at Milan in 1760 and music master to Queen Charlotte Sophia, London in 1762. He was co-founder of Bach–Abel concerts in 1765 and composed operas, arias, cantatas, chamber music, symphonies and overtures. He was an early member of the Lodge of the Nine Muses No. 235 in London.

Nahum J. Bachelder (1854–1934) Governor of New Hampshire, 1903–05. b. Sept. 3, 1854 at Andover, N.H. He was a farmer. Mason. d. April 22, 1934.

Irving A. Bacheller (1859–1950) American novelist. b. Sept. 26, 1859 at Pierpont, N.Y. He was actively connected with the New York press for years and was an editor of the New York World from 1898–1900. When presented with the medal for distinguished achievement in the field of art by the Grand Lodge of New York in 1937 he said: "My brothers, it seems very long ago—exactly, I think it was in 1898 (raised Dec. 5, 1899)—when I was a member of the editorial staff of the New York World—that my friend Jules Chambers proposed me for membership in Kane Lodge (No. 454) with a membership of distinguished and illustrious names. That relationship has been one of the dearest of my life, one which I have been denied the pleasure of enjoying very much, for some 20 years ago I became a citizen of Florida. . . ." Commenting on his award in 1943 he said, "I never felt so highly honored as when I got a medal from the grand lodge some years ago. I'm in my 84th year. It was my ambition to set up a woodwork-ing shop at the Masonic Home for children." Bacheller wrote more than 30 novels during his life including The Master of Silence (1890); Eben Holden (1900); D'ri and I (1901); Silas Strong (1906) ; Keeping Up With Lizzie (1911); A Man for the Ages (1919); A Candle in the Wilderness (1930); The Oxen of the Sun (1945) and A Boy for the Ages (1937).

Clifford J. Backstrand Vice president and director of Armstrong Cork Products Co. since 1935. b. July 21, 1897 at Los Angeles, Calif. Graduate of Pomona College (Calif.) and University of Pennsylvania, beginning as a student salesman with the Armstrong Co. in 1921. Director of Hamilton Watch Co. Served in WW1 and was head of the linoleum unit, floor covering and upholstery section of War Production Board in 1942. Mason.

Rudolph J. L. Backstrom Heraldist. b. June 16, 1894 at Philadelphia, Pa. Established portrait business, Union of S.

Africa, 1926–28. Chief heraldic designer and consultant Office of Quartermaster General, U.S. War Dept. 1942–43. Engaged in heraldic business since 1928 and director International Heraldic Institute, Ltd. Active in Shrine crippled children's hospitals. 32° AASR.

Augustus O. Bacon (1839–1914) U. S. Senator from Georgia three terms, 1894, 1900, 1907. b. Oct. 20, 1839 at Bryan Co., Ga. Graduate of Univ. of Georgia in 1860 and practiced law at Macon. Mason. d. Feb. 14, 1914.

Francis Bacon (1561–1626) English philosopher and author. Raised to peerage as 1st Baron of Verulam after serving as solicitor general (1609) attorney general (1613) and Lord chancellor (1618). Famous for his Essays; History of Henry VII; Advancement of Learning and other important works. Thought by some to be a Rosecrucian whose New Atlantis was an early influence on the development of the craft.

Frank Bacon (1864–1922) Actor and writer. b. Jan. 16, 1864 at Marysville, Calif. Wrote Lightnin' in collaboration with Winchell Smith, which had long Broadway run. Appeared in stage hits such as Alabama; Pudd'n Head Wilson; Me and Grant; Cinderella Man; Fortune Hunter and many others. Mason. d. Nov. 19, 1922.

Robert L. Bacon (1884–1938) Congressman from N.Y., 68th to 75th Congresses. b. July 23, 1884 at Boston, Mass. Served with field artillery in WW1. Mason. d. Sept. 12, 1938.

Walter W. Bacon Governor of Delaware 1941–49. b. Jan. 20, 1880 at Newcastle, Del. Served as treasurer of Buick Motor Co., Flint, Mich., 1918–30 when he retired from business. Served as mayor of Wilmington, Del. 1935–41, resigning to accept office of governor. Member of St. John's Lodge No. 2, New Castle, Del., being raised July 2, 1902. In 1915 he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Delaware. Member of St. John's Chapter, No. 4, R.A.M. of Wilmington and past high priest. Member of St. John's Commandery, No. 1, K.T., Wilmington and past commander. Member of Delaware Consistory, AASR (NJ) and 33°. Also member of Shrine, Tall Cedars, National Sojourners.

Robert Baddeley Comedian of Drury Lane Theatre (London). A member of St. Alban's Lodge No. 29, London.

Jesse M. Bader General secretary, World Convention of Churches of Christ (president in 1930). b. April 15, 1886. A pastor in Christian Church since 1905. Member of Washington Lodge No. 5, Atchison, Kansas.

Harry A. Badt Commodore U.S. Navy. b. Sept. 22, 1884 at Tyler, Texas. Graduated U.S. Naval Academy, 1908 and advanced through grades to commodore in 1944. Commanding officer U.S.S. Simpson 1923–24; commanding officer Aleutian Islands survey expedition in 1933; director of recruiting for U.S. Navy 1935–37; commanding officer U.S.S. Tuscaloosa 1938–40; director of enlisted personnel U.S. Navy 1940–42. Retired in 1947. Mason.

Milton B. Badt Justice, Supreme Court of Nevada since 1947. b. July 8, 1884 at San Francisco, Calif. Admitted to California bar in 1909. Raised in Elko Lodge No. 15, Elko, Nev. on Feb. 12, 1918, serving as its master in 1924. Member of Valley of Reno AASR (SJ), Elko Chapter No. 17 O.E.S. and Kerak Shrine Temple, Reno, Nev.

William A. Baehr (1873–1943) Utilities corporations president. b. Sept. 15, 1873 at Oshkosh, Wis. Graduated University of Wisconsin in 1894. President of the following: North Continent Utilities Corp., Great Falls Gas Co., Great Northern Utilities Co., Elk River Power & Light Co., Denver Ice & Cold Storage Co., Western Railways Ice Co., North Shore Coke & Chemical Co., North Shore Gas Co., the S. W. Shattuck Chemical Co., and North Continent Mines, Inc. He was director of many other corporations. Mason. d. Feb. 18, 1943.

Arthur P. Bagby (1794–1858) Governor of Alabama, U.S. Senator, Minister to Russia. b. 1794 in Virginia. Settled in Alabama in 1818 and gained a reputation as a lawyer. Member of state legislature and speaker of the house in 1820–22. Governor of Alabama from 1837–41. Member of the U.S. Senate from 1841–48 and in 1848–49 was minister to Russia. Served as grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Alabama. d. Sept. 21, 1858.

Charles L. Bagley Vice president American Federation of Musicians since 1931. b. April 24, 1873 at Tipton, Iowa. Was formerly a professional musician. Graduated University of Southern California in 1910 and admitted to California bar in 1909 and has practiced in California since 1911. He was raised in Hollenbeck Lodge No. 319, Los Angeles on Aug. 31, 1897 and demitted about 1911 to Silver Trowel Lodge No. 415 of Los Angeles, serving as master in 1918. Member of Signet Chapter No. 57, R.A.M., Los Angeles Council, No. 11, R. & S.M. and Los Angeles Commandery No. 9, K.T. all of Los Angeles. 32° AASR in Valley of Los Angeles. Served as patron of Daylight Chapter No. 265, O.E.S. in 1915, 1925, 1929 and member of Al Malaikah Shrine Temple.

John J. Bagley (1832–1881) Governor of Michigan. b. July 24, 1832 at Medina, N.Y. Emigrated in early life to Michigan and at age of 15 was employed in a tobacco factory in Detroit. He later began a tobacco business of his own and operated it with financial success until his death. He was elected governor in 1872 and again in 1874. His administration was marked by benefits to educational and charitable institutions. Member of Charity Lodge No. 94, Detroit, Mich. d. July 27, 1881.

William E. Bahl Vice president of The National Cash Register Co. since 1947 (in charge of manufacturing). b. Feb. 8, 1889 at Zimmerman, Ohio, he started with the above company as an apprentice in 1906. Past master of his lodge.

Karl Friederich Bahrdt (1741–1792) German doctor of theology. A Freemason, who with other Freemasons founded the “German Union” or the “Two and Twenty” society at Halle. It was not Masonic but its object was the enlightenment of mankind. It was dissolved in 1790 by the imprisonment of Bahrdt for libel of Prussian Minister Woeliner. Bahrdt was described by one of his biographers as being “notorious alike for his bold infidelity and for his evil life.”

Philip Milo Bail President Municipal University, Omaha, Nebr. since 1948. b. June 26, 1898. Attended Missouri Valley College and University of Iowa, receiving Ph.D. in 1931. Member of George W. Lininger Lodge No. 268, Omaha, Nebr.; 32° AASR (SJ) at Omaha and Tangier Shrine Temple, Omaha.

Carl E. Bailey (1894–1948) Governor of Arkansas 1937–41. b. Oct. 8, 1894 at Bernie, Mo. Worked as a laborer, farmer, school teacher, accountant and began law practice in 1924. Served as attorney general of Arkansas 1935–37. Mason. d. Oct. 23, 1948. Received 32° at Little Rock, May 25, 1928.

Cassius M. Bailey (1876–1935) President of Lydia Cotton Mills, Clinton, S.C. b. Nov. 22, 1876 at Clinton, S.C. Mason. d. July 5, 1935.

Francis L. Bailey President of Gorham State Teachers College, Gorham, Maine since 1940. b. Nov. 18, 1894 at Wyman, Mich. Graduate of Univ. of Michigan and Columbia Univ. 32° AASR and Shriner.

Frank M. Bailey Justice, Supreme Court of Oklahoma, 1919–21. b. Sept. 27, 1876 at Winona, Miss. Began law practice at Chickasha, Okla. in 1901. Retired to private law practice in 1921. Trustee of Southern Methodist Univ. Active representative of M.E. church in jurisdictional and general conferences. Received certificate from Oklahoma Memorial Assn. in 1933 “for distinguished services to the State of Oklahoma.” 32° AASR (SJ).

George W. Bailey (1856–1909) Justice of Supreme court of Colorado, 1905–09. b. March 8, 1856 at St. Louis, Mo. Admitted to bar 1885. d. 1909.

Guy W. Bailey (1876–1940) President of University of Vermont from 1920. b. May 7, 1876 at Hardwick, Vt. Admitted to bar in 1904 but never practiced. Secretary of state of Vermont, 1908–17. Mason. d. Oct. 22, 1940.

James E. Bailey (1822–?) U.S. Senator from Tennessee. b. Montgomery Co., Tenn., Aug. 15, 1822. Educated at Clarksville (Tenn.) Academy and Univ. of Nashville. Was admitted to bar and began practice at Clarksville in 1843. Elected to Tennessee lower house in 1853. Served in the Confederate army and was elected U.S. Senator from Tennessee in place of Andrew Johnson in 1876. Member of Clarksville Lodge No. 89, Clarksville, Tenn.

John O. Bailey Judge, Supreme Court of Oregon from 1933. b. Sept. 26, 1880 at Grinnell, Iowa. Graduate Harvard School, 1906. Assistant atty. general of Oregon, 1915–20. Member house of representatives, 1925–29 and state senate 1929–33. Raised in Doric Lodge No. 132, Portland, Oregon about 1920. Member of Mt. Hood Chapter No. 50, R.A.M., Portland and Oregon Commandery No. 1.

Joseph E. Bailey Union General in Civil War. Member of Columbia Lodge No. 124, Wisconsin Dells, Wis.

Leonard H. Bailey Architect. b. London, Eng., Aug. 12, 1880, coming to U.S. in 1903 and naturalized in 1917. President of Allied Architects who designed the city hall, Civic Center, Rogers Courts, Masonic Temple, Wesley M.E. Church and Liberty Theatre—all of Oklahoma City and many military buildings. Raised in Oklahoma City Lodge No. 36 in 1904. He was the last master of Oklahoma 3, which was changed to No. 36 when Indian Territory became the state of Oklahoma and was charter master of No. 36. Served as district deputy grand master in 1907–09. Member of Cyrus Chapter No. 7, R.A.M. and Bethlehem Commandery, K.T., of Oklahoma City. A Shriner and past patron of Eastern Star chapter No. 10.

Theodorus Bailey (1805–1877) Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. April 12, 1805 in Chateaugay, N.Y. Appointed midshipman in 1818 and remained with American Navy until retired in 1866 as a rear admiral. In early years served on the Cyane, Franklin, Vincennes, Constellation, and Lexington. Took part in the Mexican War. At start of Civil war he commanded the frigate Colorado off Pensacola. Second in command of Farragut's squadron at New Orleans, he led the attack in the gunboat Cayuga. He ran the fire of five forts and was sent by Farragut to demand the surrender of New Orleans, at which time he coined the phrase "Iron Hearts and Wooden Ships." He later commanded the eastern Gulf blockading squadron. After war he was commander of the Portsmouth navy yard.

He was raised in Washington Lodge No. 21, New York City on March 3, 1829. d. Feb. 10, 1877.

Thomas L. Bailey (1888–1946) Governor of Mississippi, term of 1944–48. b. Jan. 6, 1888 at Maben, Miss. Admitted to bar in 1913. Member of Mississippi legislature from 1916–40 and speaker from 1924–36. Mason and Shriner. d. Nov. 2, 1946.

Walter C. Bain Aircraft executive. Vice president, general manager and director of the Republic Aviation Corporation, Farmingdale, L.I., N.Y. b. June 20, 1910 at Springfield, Ill. Started as a metallurgist with Allis Chalmers Mfg. Co. in 1936. Entered service USAAF as a cadet in 1932 and rose in rank to major general. Released from service in 1953. A Mason.

George W. Baird (1843–1930) Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. April 22, 1843 at Washington, D.C. Appointed 3rd assistant engineer, U.S. Navy, Sept 19, 1862 and promoted through grades retiring with rank of rear admiral, April 22, 1905. He superintended the construction and designed the special machinery of the Albatross, famous deep sea exploring vessel. He was initiated in the French lodge Tolerancia (Tolerance) at Lisbon, Portugal on July 23, 1867 and received his FC and MM degrees one week later. In 1879 he affiliated with Naval Lodge No. 87 at Vallejo, Calif., withdrawing in 1872 to Hope Lodge No. 20, Washington, D.C. where he served as master and in 1896 was grand master of the G.L. of the District of Columbia. Baird wrote a widely published series of articles entitled Great Men Who Were Masons. He received his 32°

AASR (SJ) at Washington on Aug. 21, 1897, KCCH on Oct. 19, 1899 and 33° on Oct. 25, 1901. d. Oct. 4, 1930 at Washington.

Sir Robert Baird Former owner and publisher of the Belfast Telegraph (Ireland) and grand treasurer of the G.L. of Ireland. Also was a member of several London lodges. In 1929 a portrait bust of Baird was presented to the Belfast Museum and Art Gallery.

Albert Z. Baker President of Rotary International (1955), president of the American Stockyards Assn. and chairman of board of Cleveland Union Stockyards Co. A member of Lakewood Lodge No. 601, Cleveland Chapter No. 148 R.A.M., Forest City Council No. 111, Forest City Commandery No. 40, K.T. and AI Koran Temple, all of Cleveland. In the AASR (N.J.) he received his 33° in 1945.

Bryant Baker Sculptor. b. July 8, 1881 in London, England. Graduated from Royal Academy of Arts, London in 1910. His portrait bust of Edward VII was Queen Alexandra's favorite. He did busts of many English notables and of Prince Olav of Norway before coming to America in 1916. Here he has made busts from life of President Coolidge, Col. John Coolidge, Senators H. C. Lodge, W. A. Clark, J. H. Bankhead, generals Pershing, March and Gorgas, Chief Justices White, Taft and Hughes; John Hays Hammond, Herbert Hoover, Newton Baker, Josephus Daniels, Percival Lowell, George Harvey, Cordell Hull and heroic bronze statue of Chief Justice Edward D. White, New Orleans. He has done heroic bronze statues of Grover Cleveland, Millard Fillmore and Young Lincoln at Buffalo, N.Y. For Delaware's Statuary Hall he executed marble statues of patriots Caesar Rodney and John M. Clayton. His Gov. Reuben Fenton statue is at Jamestown, N.Y. and the Bishop Freeman memorial is in the National Cathedral in Washington. His heroic 17-ft. bronze of George Washington at the Washington Masonic National Memorial in Alexandria was unveiled by President Truman, Feb. 22, 1950. His ideal works in permanent collections include Eros at Manchester City Art Gallery, Memory at Hull City Art Gallery in England and Pioneer Woman statue in Ponca City, Oklahoma, the latter winning him the Marland competition in a field of 12 top sculptors. Baker is a member of Constitutional Lodge No. 294 at Beverly, Yorkshire, England. He has been instrumental in keeping very much alive the communications between his home lodge in Beverly, England and Beverly Lodge in Massachusetts, as well as the Alexandria-Washington Lodge in Virginia. Died March 29, 1957. Masonic Services.

Earl D. Baker Newspaperman and publisher. b. Apr. 14, 1898, Spencer Co., Ind. Associated with Scripps-Howard Newspapers since 1918 in Evansville, Ind., Terre Haute, Ind., Washington, D.C. and San Francisco. President of the Washington Daily News from 1938-1947 and assistant general business manager of Scripps-Howard papers since 1937. Business manager of The San Francisco News since 1947. Raised in Humboldt Lodge No. 42, Terre Haute, Ind. about 1927. 32° AASR at Evansville, Ind. Member Almas Shrine Temple, Wash., D.C.

Howard H. Baker Congressman from Tennessee to 82nd

Congress (1951–53). b. Jan. 12, 1902 at Somerset, Ky. Admitted to bar in 1924. Member of Tennessee legislature, 1929–30. Nominee for governor of Tenn. in 1938 and U.S. Senator in 1940. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

James C. Baker Bishop, Methodist Church. b. June 2, 1879 at Sheldon, Ill. Received degrees from Illinois Wesleyan, Boston University and attended Cornell, College of the Pacific and Univ. of Southern Calif. Entered M.E. ministry in 1900 and was organizer and head of the Wesley Foundation Univ. of Ill. (the first Wesley Foundation in the country). Elected bishop of Methodist Episcopal Church in 1928 and assigned to supervision work in Japan, Korea and Manchuria. Later assigned to California area, and a delegate to General Conference in 1916, '20, '28 and Oxford Conference in 1947. President of Council of Methodist Bishops, 1948–49. Member of Acacia Fraternity at Univ. of Illinois. Raised in McLean Lodge No. 469, McLean, Ill. in 1906. 32° AASR at Bloomington, 111.

James M. Baker (1861–1940) Diplomat and government official. b. Aug. 18, 1861 at Lowndesville, S.C. Assistant librarian U.S. Senate, 1893–1913. Elected secretary of U.S. Senate in 1913. Deputy commissioner Internal Revenue Bureau, U.S. Treasury 1919–21. Private law practice 1921–31. American minister to Siam by appointment of Franklin Roosevelt in 1933, resigning in 1937 due to ill health. Mason. d. Nov. 21, 1940.

John F. “Home Run” Baker Member of the National Baseball Hall of Fame. b. March 13, 1886 at Trappe, Maryland. Elected to the Cooperstown Hall of Fame in 1955. Member Coats Lodge No. 102 at Easton, Md.

Leonard T. Baker (1868–1955) President of University of South Carolina, 1944, and president emeritus from 1946. b. Jan. 22, 1868, serving the University of South Carolina as professor, administrator, acting president, vice president and dean. Mason. d. Jan. 5, 1955.

Milton G. Baker President of Valley Forge Military Academy since 1928. Commanding general of Pennsylvania National Guard, 1943–46; major general U.S. director civilian defense, Philadelphia 1941–42. b. Aug. 24, 1896 at Philadelphia. Served in WWI 1917–21 and Pennsylvania National Guard 1921–46. Mason and 32° AASR.

Nathaniel B. Baker (1818–1876) Governor of New Hampshire. b. Sept. 29, 1818 in Henniker, N.H. Graduate of Harvard in 1839 and admitted to bar in 1842. Joint owner and editor of the New Hampshire Patriot for three years. Served two terms in state legislature starting in 1851 and was speaker of the house. Presidential elector in 1852, and in 1854 was elected governor of New Hampshire, serving until 1855. In 1856 he moved to Clinton, Iowa where he practiced law. Served in the Iowa legislature in 1859–61 when he was appointed adjutant general of Iowa, a position he held until his death on Sept. 11, 1876. A member of Western Star Lodge No. 100, Clinton, Iowa.

Phil Baker Comedian of radio and stage since the early 1930's. Raised in Keystone Lodge No. 235, New York City. Baker once said "I belong to various organizations, but I have always felt that my membership in Masonry has been nearest my heart. One of the grandest compliments ever paid me was my acceptance into the fraternity."

Samuel A. Baker (1874–1933) Governor of Missouri 1925–28. b. Patterson, Mo., Nov. 7, 1874. LL.D. Missouri Valley College. Teacher, principal and superintendent of schools in various Missouri cities from 1895 to 1919. State superintendent of schools of Missouri from 1919 to 1923. d. Sept. 16, 1933. Member of Jefferson Lodge No. 43, Jefferson City Chapter No. 34 and Prince of Peace Commandery No. 29, all of Jefferson City, Mo. He was grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Missouri in 1926 and delivered an oration on the support of the public school system and religious institutions.

Simon S. Baker (1866–1932) President of Washington and Jefferson College, 1921–22. b. July 11, 1866 in Washington Co., Pa. Graduated Washington and Jefferson B.S. and M.S., LL.D. University of Pittsburgh 1923. Served in public school system of Pittsburgh for 25 years. Mason. d. Oct. 11, 1932.

Walter C. Baker Major General U.S. Army. b. Sept. 22, 1877 at Chester, Pa. Graduate of Coast Artillery School, Army War College, Command and General Staff School, Army Industrial College and Chemical Warfare School. Served as enlisted man in Spanish American War with 6th Penn. Vol. Infantry, advancing through grades in U.S. Army to major general in 1937. Served as an officer in WW1 and recalled to active duty in WW2 serving from 1941–44. Mason.

Walter R. G. Baker Vice president of General Electric Co. b. Nov. 30, 1892 at Lockport, N.Y. Began as electrical engineer with General Electric in 1916; managing engineer of radio dept. 1928–30; vice president in charge of engineering and manufacturing R.C.A. Mfg. Co. 1930–36; head of radio engineering manufacturing and sales General Electric 1936–39; manager radio and television department, 1939–41. Since 1941 he has been director of many banks and corporations including General Electric (International); G. E. Supply Corp. and G. E. Credit Corp. Mason.

William C. Baker Vice president of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad since 1948 in charge of maintenance and operation. b. Feb. 18, at Baltimore, Md. Began with the B. & O. in 1906 as a clerk, advancing through assistant train master, train master, assistant superintendent, superintendent, general superintendent and general manager. Mason.

William E. Baker (1873–?) Judge, U.S. District Court, Northern District of West Virginia since 1921. b. Feb. 25, 1873 at Beverly, W. Va. A.B. and LL.B. at Western Virginia University, 1896. Knight Templar, 32° AASR and Shriner. Deceased.

William E. Baker Vice president of Servel, Inc. b. Dec. 11, 1887 at Rushton, Ill. Graduate of Rose Poly. Institute. Started as an apprentice of Westinghouse Electric in 1911, serving as production engineer of several companies from 1912–16.

Superintendent of Delco Products Corp., 1916–24; vice president The Day Fan Electric Co. 1924–29. Mason, Shriner.

H. Sheridan Baketel (1872–1955) Physician, co-founder and editor of Medical Economics. b. Nov. 15, 1872. M.D. Boston College and post graduate work at Harvard Medical. Practiced in New York since 1910. Writer and editor for many medical publications. Urology was his specialty. He was vice president and chairman of the board of Columbia University College of Pharmacy from 1938–1942. Wrote several medical books. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner. d. July 7, 1955.

Norris C. Bakke Chief justice, Supreme Court of Colorado, 1945 and general counsel F.D.I.C. since March, 1947. b. April 19, 1894. Degrees from University of Chicago and graduate work at Harvard. Admitted to Colorado bar, 1920. Attorney general of Colorado, 1933–36; associate justice, Supreme Court of Colorado 1936–45 and chief justice in 1945. Named associate general counsel F.D.I.C. Washington, March, 1947. Active in Salvation Army and many church and religious organizations. Raised in Sterling Lodge No. 54 in October, 1920. Member of Denver Consistory No. 2 AASR (SJ) and El Jebel Shrine Temple, Denver.

Alexander Dmitrievich Balashov (1770–1837) Governor general of several Russian provinces and Minister of Police from 1810–1816 under Alexander I. He was an aide-de-camp to Emperor Alexander I q.v. It is thought that he was directed by the government to join Freemasonry so that it could be brought under control of the ruling circle. He was appointed Minister of Police on March 28, 1810 and in August of that year wrote the masters of all lodges that the government was going to examine their records and rules of the society inasmuch as some of the members had through their imprudence given cause for ignorant and malicious forms of misjudgments. He then called in the four masters of the Petersburg lodges and asked them if they wanted official government protection—or toleration. Rather than become a governmental agency they chose toleration. It was not until 12 years later that Freemasonry was forever banned by Alexander I.

Antonio Gonzalez Balcarce (1777–1819) Argentine patriot and general. Participated in the 1807 defense of Montevideo, Uruguay against the British. Taken prisoner, he was sent to Europe. In 1810 he returned to his native Argentina to take command of inland troops. He became Supreme Administrator in 1816. Balcarce was a member of Lautaro Lodge.

Alexander, 6th Earl of Balcarres (1752–1825) Member of the Scottish family of Lindsay whose titles date from 1365 with Sir David, 1st Earl of Crawford. Was 33rd Grand Master Mason of Scotland from 1780–1781. He was forced to surrender at Ticonderoga in 1777, became governor of Jamaica 1794–1801; a general in 1803; representative Scottish peer from 1784–1825. In 1848 the House of Lords adjudged the earldom of Crawford (dormant since 1808) to his son James, 7th Earl of Balcarres.

Bernt Balchen Explorer, air pioneer, army officer, OSS operator, and one of the most colorful characters of the 20th century. b. Oct. 23, 1899 at Tveit, Topdal, Norway. Educated Norway air force and artillery line; War Academy at Oslo and Horton 1918–21. Came to U.S. in 1926 and naturalized in 1931. Pilot engineer with Roald Amundsen q.v. 1925–26. Piloted The America for Admiral Byrd q.v. across the Atlantic in 1927. Pilot of the Bremen relief expedition to Greenly Island, Labrador, 1928. Chief pilot Admiral Byrd's Antarctic Expedition (piloted first flight over south pole, Nov. 29, 1929) 1928–30; pilot Viking Rescue Expedition to Newfoundland, 1931; chief pilot, Ellsworth Antarctic Expedition, 1933–35; chief inspector of Norwegian Airlines 1935–40 and managing director, 1946–48. Served with R.A.F. Ferry Command as pilot-navigator 1940–41; Transferred to U.S. Air Force, 1941, building base at Bluie West 8 on Greenland and commanding officer of this station until 1943. Chief of A.T.C. for Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, and U.S.S.R. in Stockholm, 1943–45 and during this time supported Norwegian underground resistance against German occupation forces, 1944–45. Balchen was in charge of evacuating 70,000 Russians from slave labor camps in northern Norway. Entered U.S. Air Force in 1941 and advanced to captain in 1941, then to colonel in 1942, working with the Air Force and OSS in Greenland and Scandinavia from 1943–45. Stationed in Alaska since 1948. As a U.S. colonel on the OSS he made 166 flights to Norway (Operation Carpetbagger) where his B–24 dropped allied agents and 700 tons of sabotage material. Project "Sonnie" required 270 trips between his base at Prestwyck, Scotland and the neutral airfields of Sweden. In these trips he evacuated 1,000 Americans who had crossed the border and 5,000 others, including Trygve Lie q.v. He is a member of Norseman Lodge No. 878 of Brooklyn, N.Y. With Admiral Byrd they dropped Masonic flags over the two poles, and Balchen dropped his Kismet Temple Shrine fez over the South Pole. He is a member of the AASR (N.J.) of New York. He helped in the staggering achievement of establishing the new air base at Thule, Greenland, 900 miles from the North Pole and was one of the organizers of the "Top of the World" Masonic Square Club at that base which 500 airmen and construction workers joined. In reference to this he stated "Men needed the fellowship and warmth of Masonry at 20° below zero." In 1954 he was awarded the G.L. of New York's distinguished achievement medal.

Loomis Baldrey (1882–1954) Lawyer and grand master of Washington and Alaska, 1934–35. b. May 19, 1882 at Camden, N.J. Educated in Minnesota and New York schools, attending law school at Syracuse University. Settled in Bellingham, Wash. after his marriage in 1906 and became master of Whatcom Lodge No. 151 in 1920. He served as the Masonic reviewer for Washington for many years. Was past president of Washington State Prosecuting Attorney Assn. and past district governor of Kiwanis International. d. Aug. 8, 1954.

H. Clarence Baldrige (1868–1947) Governor of Idaho two terms (1927–31). b. Nov. 24, 1868 at Carlock, Ill. Student at Illinois Wesleyan University, Bloomington, Ill. 1890–93 and settled at Parma, Idaho in 1904 where he engaged in mercantile business and farming. He was a member of the Idaho house of representatives 1911–13 and the state senate 1913–15. He served as lieut. governor of Idaho 1923–27 and retired from mercantile business in 1942. Baldrige was raised in Parma Lodge No. 49, Parma, Idaho in 1923 and received 32° at Boise Nov. 21, 1929. d. June 7, 1947.

Kenneth F. Baldrige President of Central Newspaper Co., consisting of seven southern Iowa newspapers since 1930. Publisher of Bloomfield Democrat since 1909. b. May 25, 1886 at Bloomfield, Iowa. Started as a reporter in Bloomfield in 1903. President of National Editorial Assn. in 1934; president Iowa Press Assn. 1925. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Abraham Baldwin (1754 – 1807) Chaplain in Revolution, member of Congress of the Confederation and Constitution, signer of 1787. b. North Guilford, Conn., he moved to Georgia(1783–84) where he was a founder of the University of Georgia, originally Franklin College. He served in the Congress from Georgia 1790–99 and was U.S. Senator 1799–1807. It is not known where his original membership was, but he affiliated with American Union Lodge during the Revolution. Not a Mason. The “visiting Baldwin” was Col. Jeduthan Baldwin (1732–1788) of Mass. whose diary contains Masonic references.

Evelyn B. Baldwin (1862–1933) Arctic explorer. b. July 22, 1862 at Springfield, Mo. Graduated Northwestern College, Naperville, Ill. in 1885. Accompanied Robert E. Peary q.v. on North Greenland expedition 1893–94 as meteorologist and was meteorologist and 2nd in command of Walter Wellman's polar expedition to Franz-Josef Land 1898–99. Built and named Fort McKinley, discovered and explored Graham Bell Land, 1889. Organized and commanded Baldwin-Ziegler polar expedition 1901-02. He was a member of Adams Lodge No. 63, Oswego, Kansas and Lake Ontario Commandery, K.T. No. 32 at Oswego, N.Y. Member of New York AASR. Baldwin reportedly carried Masonic flags with him on his expeditions. d. Oct. 25, 1933.

Henry Baldwin (1780-1844) Associate justice U.S. Supreme Court 1830-44. b. New Haven, Conn. Congressman from Pennsylvania 1817-22.

Howard C. Baldwin Corporation director. b. March 15, 1891 at Deerfield, Mich. Admitted to Michigan bar in 1912. Vice president and trustee The Kresge Foundation since 1937. Director S. S. Kresge Co. since 1931. Director of several corporations. Raised in Corinthian Lodge No. 241, Detroit, in 1916 and served as master. Member of King Cyrus Chapter No. 133, R.A.M. and Detroit Commandery No. 1, K.T. being past commander. 33° AASR (N.J.) in Valley of Detroit and past master of Lodge of Perfection. Shriner and member of Red Cross of Constantine.

F. W. Baldwin Brigadier General, U. S. Army. Mason and member of National Sojourners.

Joseph C. Baldwin Congressman from New York 77th to 79th Congresses (1941-47). b. Jan. 11, 1897, New York City. A reporter and associate editor on several New York papers. President and director of United Dyewood Corp. Member New York City board of alderman 1928-34 and minority leader 1929–34. Member of New York state senate 1934–36 and Constitutional Convention of 1937. On New York City Council, 1941–47. Mason.

Raymond E. Baldwin Governor of Connecticut 1939–41 and 1943–46. b. Aug. 31, 1893 at Rye, N.Y. Admitted to Conn. bar in 1921. Member Connecticut general assembly 1931–33. U.S. Senator from Connecticut 1946–49, resigning to become justice Supreme Court of Errors of Conn. since 1949. Member St. John's Lodge No. 8, Stratford, Conn. since June 6, 1929.

Lloyd G. Balfour Jewelry manufacturer; president and treasurer of L. G. Balfour Co. since 1913. b. Jan. 6, 1887 at Wauseon, Ohio. LL.B. University of Indiana in 1907 and A.B. University of Louisville. Past grand consul of Sigma Chi social fraternity and former chairman of the National Interfraternity Conference. 32° AASR and Shriner.

Robert Arthur Lytton, 3rd Earl of Balfour Initiated Lodge Tyneside No. 714 in 1928, serving as master in 1932 and Grand Master Mason of Scotland from 1939–41.

A. P. Ball Showman. Predecessor, of P. T. Barnum as the greatest showman of his day. Member of Western Star Lodge No. 15, Bridgewater, N.Y.

Edmund F. Ball President of Ball Bros. Co. of Muncie, Ind. since 1948. b. Jan. 8, 1905 at Muncie, Ind. Grad-uated from Yale in 1928. With Ball Bros. Co. since 1928 as assistant secretary, vice president. Raised in Muncie Lodge No.

433, Muncie, Ind. Sept. 9, 1927. Member of Muncie Chapter No. 30, R.A.M. Muncie Council No. 16, R. & S.M., Muncie Commandery No. 18, 32° AASR at Indianapolis. Murat Shrine Temple and St. James Conclave, Red Cross of Constantine, both of Indianapolis. Commander of Muncie Commandery in 1938, grand commander of Grand Commandery, K.T. of Indiana in 1946–47; grand treasurer of Grand Encampment, K.T. U.S.A. in 1955.

Frank C. Ball (1857–1943) President of Ball Brothers, Muncie, Ind. b. Nov. 24, 1857 at Greensburg, Ohio. Ball Brothers donated seven million to educational and welfare work including buildings for Y.M.C.A., Ball Memorial Hospital and Masonic Auditorium in Muncie and James Whitcomb Riley Children's Hospital at Indianapolis. Raised Nov. 15, 1891 in Muncie Lodge No. 433, Muncie, Ind. Member of Muncie Chapter No. 30 R.A.M.; Muncie Council No. 16, R. & S.M. and Muncie Commandery No. 18, K.T. all of Muncie, Ind. 32° AASR at Indianapolis, Ind.

George A. Ball (1862–1955) Glass manufacturer. Chairman of board of Ball Bros. Co. at Muncie, Ind. b. Nov. 5, 1862 at Green, Ohio. Began manufacture of glass in partnership with four brothers at Buffalo, N.Y. in 1888, moving to Muncie the same year. Raised Dec. 15, 1898 in Muncie Lodge No. 433, Muncie, Ind. Member of Muncie Chapter No. 30, R.A.M.; Muncie Council No. 16, R. & S.M.; Muncie Commandery No. 18, K.T. all of Muncie, Ind. and 32° AASR in Indianapolis. Member of Murat Shrine and St. James Conclave, Red Cross of Constantine, both of Indianapolis.

John Ball Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Aug. 31, 1893 at Artesia, Calif. Enlisted in Navy, 1912 and advanced through grades to rear admiral in 1944. Served on U.S.S. Aroosook with North Sea Mine Force in WW1. In naval supply branch in California, Washington, Puerto Rico, Utah, and commanding officer Naval Supply Depot, Mechanicsburg, Pa., 1948–50. Retired in June, 1950. Member of Annapolis Lodge No. 89, Annapolis, Md. (EA 11 Dec. 1920; FC 3 Aug. 1922; MM 22 Aug. 1922). Received his Royal Arch degree in Borinquin Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. and knighted in Puerto Rico Commandery No. 1, K.T., both in San Juan, P.R. in 1943, demitting in 1953 to Palo Alto Chapter No. 93 and Palo Alto Commandery No. 47 in Palo Alto, Calif. Member of Islam Shrine Temple, San Francisco and El Camino Real Chapter No. 413 of National Sojourners being past president and regional representative for northern California.

L. Heisler Ball (1861–1933) U.S. Senator from Delaware. b. Sept. 21, 1861 near Stanton, Del. Received Ph.B. from Delaware College in 1882 and M.D. from Univ. of Pennsylvania in 1885, beginning practice of medicine that same year. Served as state treasurer of Delaware 1898–1900. Delegate at large to 57th Congress, 1901–03. Served two terms in U.S. Senate, 1903–05, 1919–25. d. Oct. 18, 1933.

Thomas R. Ball (1896–1943) Architect and ex-congressman. b. Feb. 12, 1896 at New York City. Architect and designer of many residences and buildings in eastern Connecticut. Member of 76th Congress (1939–41) from Connecticut. Mason, 32° AASR. d. June 16, 1943.

James Ballantine (1808–1877) Scottish poet and reviver of art of glass painting and maker of stained-glass windows. Author of The Gaberlunzie's Wallet. Mason.

James Ballantyne (1772–1833) Scottish printer, who with his brother John q.v. was an intimate friend of Sir Walter Scott and published his work from 1802–08 until ruined by bankruptcy of Constable and Co. in 1826. After that he was editor of the Weekly Journal. A member and past master of Kelso Lodge No. 58.

John Ballantyne (1774–1821) Scottish printer who with his brother James q.v. was a friend and business associate of Sir Walter Scott, publishing his works from 1808. He was initiated in Lodge Edinburgh St. Davids, No. 36 and afterwards master of Lodge Ayr Kilwinning, known originally as Squareman's Kilwinning Lodge No. 65, Ayr, Scotland.

William S. Ballenger Treasurer of Chevrolet Motor Co., Flint, Mich., 1911–25. b. Dec. 5, 1866 at Cambridge City, Ind. Secretary and treasurer of Flint Wagon Works 1888–1916. Director of Industrial Rayon Corp., Cleveland since 1930. Mason, 32° AASR.

George W. Balloch Union general in Civil War. Member of Stansbury Lodge No. 24, Washington, D.C.

Hosea Ballou (1771–1852) Baptist clergyman and founder of the Universalist Church. b. April 20, 1771 at Richmond, N.H. He was editor of the Universalist Magazine (1819–28) and Universalist Expositor from 1830. It is not established where he first joined the fraternity, but was a member of Warren Lodge No. 23 at Woodstock, Vt. and served as master in 1807. There is also record of a "Hosea Ballou" as belonging to Mount Lebanon Lodge, Boston, Mass. (Oct. 27, 1817). Ballou died in Boston, June 7, 1852. Was grand warden of G.L. of N.H. between 1811-15.

Lord Baltimore (see Charles Calvert)

Giuseppe Balsamo (see Cagliostro)

Robert C. Baltzell (1879-1950) U.S. district judge, Indiana since 1925. b. Aug. 15, 1879 at Lawrence Co., Ill. Admitted to Indiana bar in 1904. Appointed district judge by President Coolidge. Major of infantry in WW1. Mason. d. Oct. 18, 1950.

Louis Charles Balzac French architect and sometimes poet who wrote many Masonic canticles in French among which is the well known hymn Taisons nous, plus de bruit with music by M. Riguel. He founded the Lodge of the Great Sphinx at Paris. Died March 31, 1820.

Fredrick B. Balzar (1880-1934) Governor of Nevada two terms, 1927-34. b. June 15, 1880 at Virginia City, Nev. Engaged in mining from 1899. Served in house of representatives (Nev.), 1905 and state senate 1909-17. Chairman state board of education from 1927. Raised Aug. 28, 1908 in Inyo Lodge No. 221 at Independence, Calif. and later affiliated with Carson Lodge No. 1, Carson City, Nevada.

Received 32° AASR at Reno, Dec. 17, 1920. d. March 21, 1934.

Simon Bamberger (1847–1926) Governor of Utah, 1917–21. b. Feb. 27, 1847 at Darmstadt, Germany coming to U.S. in 1861 and a resident of Utah from 1869. President of Barnberger Coal Co.; director Salt Lake Valley Loan & Trust Co. and Bamberger Electric Railway. Member Utah state senate 1903–07 and member Salt Lake City school board 1898–1903. Mason. d. Oct. 6, 1926.

Desire Bancel (1822–1871) French politician, publicist and orator. Mason.

Frederick Bancroft Magician, Mason.

George H. Bancroft Motion picture actor. Member Hollenbeck Lodge No. 319, Los Angeles, Calif. and Al Malaikah Temple of Los Angeles.

Jonathan Bancroft Revolutionary War soldier who witnessed the execution of Major Andre. Member St. Paul's Lodge, Groton, Mass.

Harry H. Bandholtz (1864–1925) Major General U.S. Army. b. Dec. 18, 1864 at Constantine, Mich. Graduate U.S. Military Academy 1890, advancing through grades to major general, 1923. Served with 7th Infantry during Santiago campaign and with 2nd Infantry in Philippine insurrection; governor of Tayabas Province, 1902–03; in command of district of Southern Luzon, 1903; conducted campaign against Simeon Ola in Albay, resulting in destruction of Ola's forces; transferred to District of Central Luzon in 1905 and forced surrender of outlaws Montalan, Sakay and others. Brig. general and chief of Philippine Constabulary 1907–13. In Mexican Border campaign, 1916 and provost marshal general of A.E.F. in WWI 1918–19. Suppressed Miners' Insurrection in West Virginia in 1921, Mason, member Washington Chapter No. 3, National Sojourners. d. May 7, 1925.

Baldwin B. Bane Chief of Securities Division, Federal Trade Commission since 1933. He organized the division. b. Aug. 2, 1891 at Standards-vine, Va. Degrees from Randolph-Macon (1911) and Washington and Lee (1917). Practiced law in Virginia until 1922. Served as officer in WW1 (France). Mason.

John Hollis Bankhead (1842–1920) U.S. Senator from Alabama 1906–1920, b. Sept. 13, 1842 at Moscow, Ala. Captain in 16th Alabama Volunteers (Confederate) in Civil War, 1861–65. Wounded three times. Member Alabama house of representatives 1865–67 and 1880–81 and of the state senate from 1876–77. Warden of Alabama penitentiary 1881–85. In congress was conspicuous as a leader in the work of the Commission on Public Buildings and Rivers and Harbors. Grand master of G.L. of Alabama in 1883–84. d. March 1, 1920.

Frank A. Banks Supervising engineer of Grand Coulee Dam (1933–43) and other large engineering projects. b. Dec. 4, 1883 at Saco, Maine. Began as engineer U.S. Reclamation Service, Lower Yellowstone Project in 1906. Construction engineer, Jackson Lake Dam, Wyo., 1913–16; Minidoka Project, 1916–20; American Falls Dam, 1920–26; Owyhee Dam & Project, 1926–33. Acting administrator Bonneville Power Project, 1939; regional director Region 1, U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, 1943–45. District manager, Columbia River District since 1945. Raised May 17, 1919 in American Falls Lodge No. 58, American Falls, Idaho.

Nathaniel P. Banks (1816–1894) Governor of Massachusetts (1858–61) and Civil War general. b. Waltham, Mass. Served through Civil War as major general and received thanks of Congress in 1864 for capture of Port Hudson (1863). Member of U.S. House of Representatives, 1853–57, 1865–73, 1875–79 and 1889–91. Speaker of house 1856–57. He was a member of Monitor Lodge, Waltham, Mass. and although a Union general, delivered the St. John's day address at Memphis, Tenn., on June 24, 1875.

Jose Bans One of the five Catholic friars who established the lodge Philantrophia in Santo Domingo (now Dominican Republic) in 1819 and met in the vestry of a Catholic Church called Convento Dominico.

N. Moore Banta (1867–1932) Writer of children's stories. b. Dec. 3, 1867 at Rensselaer, Ind. Editor and publisher with Flanagan & Co., Chicago from 1921. Wrote 23 children's books between 1905 and 1927. Mason. d. Feb. 5, 1932.

Parke M. Banta Congressman from Missouri, 80th Congress

(1947–49). b. Berryman, Mo. Nov. 21, 1891. Admitted to Missouri bar in 1913. Practiced at Potosi, Mo. from 1914–25. Administrator of State Social Security Comm. (Mo.) 1941–45. Circuit judge, 1935–36. Served in WW1 advancing from private to 1st lieutenant. General counsel, U.S. Dept. of Health and Education since 1953. Raised in Potosi Lodge No. 131 at Potosi, Mo. about 1916, serving as master in 1923. 32° in Missouri Consistory No. 1, St. Louis. Member of Ironton chapter No. 349, O.E.S.

Charles W. Barber (1872–1943) Brigadier General U.S. Army. b. Sept. 21, 1872. Served in Spanish–American War 1898–1899, being mustered out as a captain; served in the Philippines 1899–1908 and duty with Isthmian Canal Commission, Panama, 1908–15. Mexican border service in 1916. Brig. general N.A., July 25, 1917. Commanded the 29th Infantry Division, 1917 and 57th Infantry Brigade in front line sectors as chief of staff, Base Sector No. 2, Bordeaux, France WW1. Retired as brigadier general in 1930 serving as director, officer and special representative of several corporations. Mason. d. Jan. 7, 1943.

George C. Barber President–general of Methodist Church of Australia (1948–51) and president of Australian Council, World Council of Churches (1950–51). b. Jan. 24, 1893 at Bendigo, Australia. Graduate of Wesley College and University of Melbourne in Australia and University of London, England. Ordained Methodist ministry in 1922. President of Victoria–Tasmania Conference, 1948; chairman Australian Student Christian Movement, 1939–51. Served in WW1; military chaplain 1936–39 and Air Force chaplain 1939–46. Chaplain of the grand lodge 1949–51. Mason.

Orion M. Barber (1857–1930) Judge, U.S. Court of Customs Appeals. b. July 13, 1857 at Jamaica, Vt. Member of Vermont house of representatives in 1892 and state senate in 1894. Was member of commission to revise Vermont statutes, state railroad commissioner and state auditor. Mason. d. March 28, 1930.

Clarence A. Barbour (1867–1937) President of Brown University 1926–36; Peddie School, 1929–36; Worcester Academy 1926–36. b. April 21, 1867. Ordained Baptist ministry in 1891. Professor of homiletics, Rochester Theological Seminary, 1915–29. President of Northern Baptist Convention, 1916–17. Author of several books on religion. He was grand chaplain of the G.L. of New York four years and of the G.L. of Rhode Island one year. d. Jan. 16, 1937.

James Barbour (1775–1842) Secretary of War, minister to England, U.S. Senator and governor of Virginia. b. June 10, 1775 in Orange Co., Va. Gained a knowledge of law while a deputy sheriff and admitted to practice when 19. Sat in Virginia House of Delegates from 1796–1812. Elected governor in 1812. After term as governor, was elected to U.S. Senate in 1815. In 1825 John Q. Adams made him Secretary of War. In 1828 he went to England as American minister, but was recalled upon the election of President Jackson. Member of Stephensburg Lodge No. 40, Stevensburg, Va. d. June 8, 1842.

Sir Charles Malcolm Barclay-Harvey (of Kinord) 95th Grand Master Mason of Scotland (1949–54) and G.M. of G.L. of Southern Australia, (1941–44). First grand principal, Grand Chapter of Scotland, 1948–53, making trip to South Africa in 1950 to visit chapters there. He was initiated in Apollo University Lodge No. 357 (E.C.) in 1908 and affiliated with Lodge Charleston of Aboyne No. 281 in 1924.

McClelland Barclay (1891–1943) Artist and illustrator. b. May 9, 1891 at St. Louis, Mo. Began as advertising illustrator in 1912 and is also known for sculpture and portrait painting. Awarded 1st prize WW1 for recruiting poster and 1st prize for Red Cross poster Fill the Breach. Creator of the Fisher Body Girl. Designer of covers for Ladies' Home Journal, Pictorial Review, Saturday Evening Post, etc. A naval camoufler in 1918. Called to active duty as lieutenant commander in Navy, 1940 and reported missing in action while passenger on ship torpedoed in Solomon Sea, July 18, 1943. Mason.

A. T. Bard President of Reliance Manufacturing Co., Chicago since 1944. b. March 18, 1889 at New Carlisle, Ind. Started with the Reliance Company in 1901 and advanced from cutting room foreman to president. Member of Republic Lodge No. 914 Chicago, Ill.

Guy Kurtz Bard (1895–1953) U.S. District Judge, Eastern Pennsylvania 1939–52, resigning to private practice. b. Oct. 24, 1895 at Lincoln, Pa. Admitted to bar in 1922. Attorney general of Pennsylvania 1938–39. Active in Democratic politics on state and national level. Mason. d. Nov. 23, 1953.

Samuel Bard (1742–1821) Famous early American physician who was personal doctor to George Washington in New York following the Revolution. He was instrumental in establishing first New York medical school and the New York hospital. Member of Union Lodge, N.Y.

Thomas R. Bard (1841–1915) U.S. Senator from California. b. Dec. 8, 1841 at Chambersburg, Pa. Graduated from Chambersburg Academy at 18 with honors and studied law. Sent by Col. Thomas A. Scott in 1865 to California to supervise his property, and remained. Was interested in farm lands and oil property. Served as U.S. Senator from 1900–1905. Member of Hueneme Lodge No. 311, Hueneme and Ventura Chapter No. 50. Also Knight Templar. d. Mar. 6, 1915.

Graham A. Barden Congressman from North Carolina to 74th to 81st Congresses (1935–51). b. Sept., 1896, Sampson Co. North Carolina. Began as school teacher in New Bern and admitted to bar in 1920. Mason and Shriner.

Clinton L. Bardo (1867–1937) President of New York Shipbuilding Co., 1928–37. b. Oct. 24, 1867 at Montgomery, Pa. With railway and steamship companies since 1885, beginning as telegraph operator. Superintendent of N.Y.C. & H. R.R. 1907–12; assistant general manager of N.Y. N.H. & H. R.R. in 1913; president of Central N.E. Ry. 1920–25. Mason. d. Aug. 2, 1937.

Winfield W. Bardwell (1872–1946) Judge and college president. b. July 18, 1872 at Excelsior, Minn. Admitted to Minn.

bar in 1893. Presiding judge, District Court of Minneapolis since 1919. President of Minneapolis College of Law since 1924 and member of faculty University of Minnesota for many years. Mason. d. Dec. 22, 1946.

Frank F. Barham Vice president and director of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc. and Hearst Publishing Co., Inc. b. May 24, 1879 at Anaheim, Calif. Mason.

Walter S. Baring Congressman from Nevada to 81st Congress (1949–51). b. Sept. 9, 1911 at Goldfield, Nev. Graduate of University of Nevada in 1934. Representative in Nevada state legislature 1936 and reelected in 1942. With U.S. Navy WW2. Raised in May 1941, Reno Lodge No. 13 and has served as senior deacon of same. Member of Valley of Reno, 32° AASR and member of Kerak Shrine Temple and Adah Chapter No. 4 O.E.S.

John Barker (1794–1845) A dispenser of Masonic degrees during middle of the 19th century in the United States. He appeared about ten years after Jeremy L. Cross, who was in the same “business.” It is said that he originally received his degrees from Cross. Organized councils in the south and southwest under a warrant from The Supreme Council, Southern Jurisdiction. When the Supreme Council demanded the return of the warrant, he refused. Although his purpose was mercenary, like Cross, he did much to spread the degrees throughout the country.

William J. Barker U.S. District Judge, Southern District of

Florida since 1940. b. June 25, 1886 at Marietta, Ga. Admitted to Florida bar in 1916. Florida circuit judge, 1925–40. Mason.

Countess Helene Hadik Barkoczy b. 1833. A Hungarian countess, said to have been a Freemason. The sole heir of Count Johann Barkoczy, she succeeded him on his death in 1871 in the extensive Majorat of Barkoczy. In 1860 she married Count Bela Hadik, aide-de-camp to Emperor Maximilian. She became interested in an extensive Masonic library that came with her inheritance, and being highly educated, made an earnest study of Freemasonry. She endeavoured to gain admittance as a member of the craft and through some close acquaintances who were Freemasons, was initiated in 1875 in the Lodge Egyenloseg at Unghvar, holding a warrant from the Grand Orient of Hungary. On learning of the glaring violation of its statutes, the Grand Orient instituted proceedings against the brethren who were guilty of conferring the degrees and on January 5, 1876 ordered the deputy master of the lodge forever expelled and the officers of the lodge to have their names struck off the lists. The other members were expelled for periods of three, six and twelve months. This still left the question of the Countess's standing in Freemasonry. This was resolved at a meeting of the Grand Orient held on March 10, 1876 when it held that her admission was contrary to law and therefore null and void. They forbade her admittance into any lodge under the penalty of erasure of the lodge from the rolls and requested all other grand lodges to do the same. It was demanded that she return her invalid certificate within ten days.

James A. Barksdale Commissioner of Education, Tennessee, since 1950. b. Nov. 29, 1904 at Kenzie, Tenn. A teacher and principal of Tenn. schools 1925–49. Member of Cookeville Lodge No. 266, Cookeville, Tenn. and past master of same.

Elmer E. Barlow (1887–1948) Justice Supreme Court of Wisconsin 1942–48. b. May 18, 1887 at Arcadia, Wis. Admitted to bar in 1909 and in general practice from 1909 to 1939. Mason. d. June 26, 1948.

Joel Barlow (1754–1812) American poet and diplomat. b. Redding, Conn. Served as chaplain in the Revolution. As U.S. consul to Algiers in 1795, he arranged treaties with Tunis, Algiers and Tripoli. He served as U.S. Minister to France in 1811. His works include two epic poems The Vision of Columbus (1787) and The Columbiad (1807). He was admitted (which probably meant affiliation) a member of St. John's Lodge No. 4, Hartford, Conn. on Jan. 9, 1788. He died near Cracow, Poland in 1812 while trying to reach Napoleon who was then campaigning through Russian snows. Efforts to have his body removed met with no success. Barlow was chaplain at the execution of Major Andre, the spy.

Henry Clay Barnabee American actor and operatic comedian. A member of Columbian Lodge, Boston, Mass. March 2, 1865, receiving a life membership March 2, 1890. Exalted in St. Andrew's Chapter, R.A.M., Boston on June 3, 1868 and knighted in DeMolay Commandery, Boston, Sept. 23, 1868. Received 32°, Massachusetts Consistory (NJ) April 27, 1866.

Ernest S. Barnard (1874–1931) President of the American Baseball League 1927–31. b. July 17, 1874 at West Columbia, W. Va. Was sports editor of Columbia Evening Dispatch 1898–1902; secretary of the Cleveland Ball Club Co., 1903–10, vice president 1911–15 and president 1922–27. He was vice president of the Acetylene Stove Mfg. Co. of Cleveland. A member of both York and Scottish Rites. d. March 27, 1931.

Isaac D. Barnard (1791–1834) U.S. Senator from Pennsylvania, 1827–31. b. July 18, 1791 at Aston, Pa. Began study of law, but War of 1812 intervened and he served as captain and major in the 14th Infantry. Was at capture of Fort George and Lyon's Creek. In 1815 he resumed his legal studies and admitted to bar in 1816. In 1820 he was elected to the state senate and in 1826 became secretary of state for Pennsylvania. A Mason. d. Feb. 28, 1834.

Cassius McD. Barnes Territorial governor of Oklahoma Territory. Active in all branches of Freemasonry, he attended the grand lodge session of 1902 as master of Guthrie Lodge No. 35. He took an active part in cornerstone laying and assisted in the organization of the Grand Chapter of Oklahoma. He was one of the three original petitioners to the Grand Encampment, K.T. for a commandery and was first commander of Guthrie Commandery No. 1 and first grand commander of the Oklahoma Territory.

James M. Barnes Congressman from Illinois 76th and 77th Congresses (1939–43) Administrative assistant to President of U.S. 1943–45. b. Jan. 9, 1899 at Jacksonville, Ill. LL.B., Harvard, 1924. Admitted to Ill. bar, 1924. Director National Savings and Trust Co. Member of Jacksonville Lodge No. 570, Jacksonville, Ill. and 32° AASR (NJ) at Springfield, Ill. Shriner and Jester.

Will C. Barnes (1858–1936) Author, rancher and Congressional Medal of Honor winner. b. June 21, 1858 and educated in public schools of Minneapolis. Enlisted man Signal Corps 1879–82 and received Congressional Medal at Ft. Apache, Ariz., Sept., 1881 “For bravery in action with hostile Apache Indians.” Member of Arizona state legislature 1891–92 and of New Mexico legislature 1901–02. Assistant U.S. Forester 1907–28. Mason. Wrote Tales from the X-Bar Horse Camp (1920), Cattle (1930), Arizona Place Names, (1934). d. Dec. 17, 1936.

Eugene E. Barnett General secretary National Council Y.M.C.A.'s since 1941. b. Feb. 21, 1888 at Leesburg, Fla. In Y.M.C.A. work since 1908. Founder of Y.M.C.A. at Hangchow, China 1910–21; secretary for China 1921–23. Raised in University Lodge No. 408, Chapel Hill, N.C. in 1910. He later became a charter member of Amity Lodge in Shanghai, China under Philippine jurisdiction.

W. J. Barnett Admiral, U. S. Navy. Member of Roman Lodge No. 223 of New York.

George A. Barnewall (1888–1952) Vice president of Brooklyn Dodgers baseball team. At his death on April 14, 1952 he was Deputy G.M. of the G.L. of New York and if he had lived a few weeks longer would have been installed as grand master. He was raised Oct. 18, 1916 at age of 28 in Continental Lodge No. 287, N.Y. While a grand lodge officer Barnewall always arranged an afternoon “break,” so the delegates could see his team play while the committees digested the reports of the morning communication.

John Barney (1780–1847) Masonic lecturer who studied under Thomas Smith Webb q.v. b. October, 1780 at Litchfield, Conn. Raised in Friendship Lodge No. 20, Charlotte, Vt. in 1810. He was appointed “Lecturing Master” of the G.L. of Vermont in 1817, moving to Harper’s Field, Ohio in 1826 where he affiliated with New England Lodge No. 4 of Worthington in 1834 and served as grand lecturer of Ohio from 1836–43. He later moved to Chicago, Ill. where he affiliated with Apollo Lodge No. 32 and was appointed grand lecturer of Illinois in 1845. d. 1847 at Peoria, Ill.

Joshua Barney (1759–1818) Commodore American Navy, serving in Revolutionary War and War of 1812. b. July 6, 1759 at Baltimore, Md. Served throughout the Revolution, being captured three times by the British. Captured British frigate General Monk (1782). In French service 1796–1802. A privateer during War of 1812. Joined forces at Bladensburg, Md., defending Washington where he was severely wounded in 1814 and captured for the fourth time. d. Dec. 1, 1818. He was buried with military and Masonic honors at Pittsburgh, Pa. Dec. 1, 1818. He was made a Freemason in the Lodge of the Nine Sisters, Paris, France in 1799 (although other sources state that he was raised in Lodge No. 3, Philadelphia, Pa. on May 17, 1777, and still another lists him as a member of No. 3 on May 1, 1777). He was a visitor of Lodge No. 2, Philadelphia on June 16, 1780.

Maurice V. Barnhill Judge, Supreme Court of North Carolina since 1937. b. Dec. 5, 1887 at Halifax, N.C. Admitted to bar in 1909. Member state legislature (N.C.) 1921–23; judge N.C. Superior Court, 1924–37. Mason and Shriner.

Henry A. Barnum (1833–?) Major General (Union) in Civil War. b. Sept. 24, 1833 at Jamesville, N.Y. Studied law and enlisted as a private in 12th New York volunteers in 1861, advancing through grades to major general, March, 1865. He was twice wounded. First officer to enter Savannah on Sherman's march to the sea. After war became inspector of New York prisons, harbor-master of New York and deputy tax commissioner. Member of lodge at Syracuse, N.Y. Member of Syracuse Lodge No. 102, Syracuse Chapter No. 70, R.A.M., of N.Y.

William H. Barnum (1818–?) U.S. Senator from Connecticut. b. Sept. 17, 1818. Engaged in the manufacture of car wheels and iron production. Served in the state legislature in 1852 and in U.S. Congress as representative from Connecticut from 1866–1876. Elected to U.S. Senate in 1876, serving until 1879. Member of Montgomery Lodge No. 13 at Lakeville, Conn.

Joseph L. Baron Jewish rabbi. Founder of Temple Judah, Cedar Rapids, Iowa (1918); Temple Emmanuel, Waukesha, Wis. (1938), Temple Beth El, Madison, Wis. (1939). b. May 27, 1894, Vilno, Lithuania, coming to U.S. with parents in 1907.

A.B. Columbia, 1914. Ph.D. Univ. of Chicago, 1932. Professor and faculty member of State Teachers College, Milwaukee and University of Wisconsin. Editor of Young Judean, 1914. Member national council of Jewish education, 1927–30. Author. Member of Wisconsin Lodge No. 13 at Milwaukee; 32° AASR (SJ) at Davenport, Iowa and also Shrine at Davenport. Honorary member of Tripoli Shrine Temple in Milwaukee.

Norris S. Barratt (1862–1924) Judge (president) of Common Pleas, Pennsylvania from 1913. b. Aug. 23, 1862 at Philadelphia, Pa. Admitted to bar 1883. Served in various public capacities. Judge, Court of Common Pleas from 1902, and president from 1913. Author of Freemasonry of Pennsylvania 1827–1907 (3 vols.) with Dr. J. F. Sachse (1909), History of St.

Paul's Church, Philadelphia; Colonial Wars in America and several other works. Mason. d. April 26, 1924.

Jesse W. Barrett (1884–1953) Attorney general of Missouri, 1821–25. b. March 17, 1884 at Canton, Mo. Graduated cum laude Christian Univ. (now Culver–Stockton) Canton, Mo. 1902 and LL.D. 1923; LL.B. George Washington U. 1905. Began practice, St. Louis, 1906. Mason 33° honorary (SJ). d. Nov. 12, 1953.

Lawrence P. Barrett (1838–1891) American actor. b. Paterson, N.J. April 4, 1838. Joined Boston Museum Company (1858–59). Served in Civil War. In partnership with the famous Shakespearean actor Booth q.v. 1886–91. Excelled in Shakespearean roles. Raised in Oriental Lodge No. 144, San Francisco, Calif. July 19, 1870, Royal Arch membership in New York and member of Adelpic Commandery No. 59, New York City. d. New York City March 20, 1891 and buried by Catholic church.

Oscar F. Barrett (1860–1935) President of The Barrett Line (operators of tow-boats and barges on Ohio and Mississippi rivers) 1897–1907; president of Barrett Line, Inc. from 1927. b. April 27, 1860 at Racine, Ohio. Associated with father in John Barrett & Son from 1882. Vice president of Columbia Life Ins. Co.; president of National Board of Steam Navigation 1928–30. Mason. d. Aug. 12, 1935.

Robert S. Barrett Physician, diplomat, philanthropist. b. March 30, 1877, at Richmond, Va. Educated in the University of the South and George Washington Univ. In 1897 he went to Mexico where he was editor and publisher of the Mexico City Daily Record; returned to the U.S. in 1907. For many years he served the U.S. in quasi-political positions abroad. In 1910, with Charles H. Callahan, he inaugurated the movement to establish the George Washington National Masonic Memorial Association which resulted in the erection of that famous memorial. He served as grand master of the G.L. of Virginia in 1942. From 1925 to 1950 he served as president of the Florence Crittenden Mission, an organization of which his mother was one of the founders. He is 33° Sovereign Grand Inspector General for Virginia AASR (SJ). Dr. and Mrs. Barrett have erected a hospital at the Masonic Home in Virginia (1940) and given an auditorium for the Elks Home at Bedford, Va. (1945). He was grand exalted ruler of the Elks, U.S.A. in 1944–45. In 1946 they gave a library to the city of Alexandria, Va. as a memorial to his mother, and in 1947, gave $1,000,000 to the Barrett Foundation for philanthropic and educational purposes. Barrett is the author of several volumes including Standard Guide to Mexico (1900) ; Blue Book of Mexico (1905); Fifty Years Work With Girls, I Was an Unmarried Mother. He was raised in Puritan Lodge No. 7, Mexico City in 1902, and affiliated with Alexandria–Washington Lodge No. 22, of Alexandria, Va. in 1910. He is a member of Mount Vernon Chapter No. 14 R.A.M. and Old Dominion Commandery, K.T. of Alexandria. While in Mexico, he was one of the organizers of the Anezeh Shrine Temple in 1907.

Samuel A. Barrett Anthropologist and explorer. b. Nov. 12, 1879 at Little Rock, Ark. Received B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. at University of Calif. Ethnologist with George G. Hey Expedition, 1908–09 in South America. Cur–ator of anthropology, Milwaukee Public Museum since 1909 and director 1920–40. Director emeritus since 1940. Active in research and ethnology of Pomo and Miwok tribes of California; also Cayapa Indians of Ecuador. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Carter T. Barron (1905–1950) Theatre executive. Manager of Loew's Eastern Division of Theatres including D.C., Md., Va., Del. and Pa. since 1934. b. Clarkesville, Ga. Jan 30, 1905. B.S. Georgia Institute of Tech., 1927. Assist. manager and manager of theaters from 1905. Vice president of Kes–Bar, Inc.; director of Washington Board of Trade since 1949; executive vice chairman of National Capitol Sesqui-Centennial Comm. since 1948; Chairman entertainment comm. President's Birthday Balls 1934-46. Head of music and entertainment committee National Democratic Convention, 1940. Mason. d. Nov. 16, 1950.

Dionysius Barron Male alto singer. Raised in St. Cecile Lodge No. 568, New York City on Oct. 7, 1873.

Clark DeBlanc Barrow President of Southeastern Louisiana College at Hammond since 1952. b. June 8, 1894 at Plaquemine, La. Graduate of Louisiana State and Columbia. Mason.

Chester W. Barrows (1872-1931) Judge, Supreme Court of Rhode Island, 1925-31. b. July 4, 1872 at Woonsocket, R.I. LL.B. Harvard, 1898. Admitted to R.I. bar, 1898. Associate Justice Superior Court of R.I. 1913-25. Mason. d. Feb. 19, 1931.

Lewis O. Barrows Governor of Maine 1937-41. b. June 7, 1893 at Newport, Maine. Secretary of Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. and United Mutual Fire Ins. Co. of Boston. Maine secretary of state 1935-36. Member of lodge, chapter, council, commandery and consistory.

Augustin Barruel (1741-1820) An anti-Mason better known as the Abbe. Born in Villeneuve de Berg, France, he was a prolific writer but owes his reputation principally to his Recollections to Serve for a History of Jacobinism (1797).

He sought to trace the origin of Freemasonry to the Templars, accusing them of having an “impious code and vows of vengeance against kings and priests.” Educated by the Jesuits and entered the society. When they were suppressed in France, he went to Moravia and Bohemia.

John Barry Commodore, U.S. Navy in American Revolution. Initiated in Lodge No. 2, Philadelphia, Pa. on Oct. 12, 1795. Suspended NPD in 1800.

William T. Barry (1785–1835) Postmaster General of the U.S. under President Jackson and U.S. Senator from Kentucky. b. Feb. 5, 1785. Served in the war of 1812. Lawyer and statesman. Was a member of Lexington Lodge No. 1, Lexington, Ky. and later of Daviess Lodge No. 22 of Lexington. On Jan. 4, 1830 he was elected an honorary member of Federal Lodge No. 1, Washington, D.C.

John L. Barstow (1832–1913) Governor of Vermont. b. Feb. 21, 1832 at Shelburne, Vt. Served as major in Union army from 1861–64 and was made brigadier general of state troops at time of the St. Albans raid. Member of Vermont house 1864–65 and senate, 1866–68. Became 39th governor in 1880, serving two terms until 1885. Mason. d. June 28, 1913.

Oliver E. Barthel Engineer and inventor. b. Oct. 3, 1877 at Detroit, Mich. Has been designer and engineer with Ford, Cadillac, Oldsmobile and Standard Steel Car Co. Holder of 35 patents. Designed and built outboard motor in 1906; streamlined automobile in 1912; all-steel automobile body in 1917. Mason and Knight Templar.

Frederic A. Bartholdi (1834–1904) Designer of Statue of Liberty in New York harbor. b. April 2, 1834 at Colmar, Alsace, France. He was one of the early members of Lodge Alsace–Lorraine, Paris (Oct. 14, 1875) which was composed of prominent intellectuals, writers and government representatives. When his famous statue Liberty Enlightening the World was achieved, Bartholdi convened his lodge to review it, even before the statue was shown to the U.S. committee. On June 19, 1884, the lodge, as if it were a pilgrimage, went in a body to review his masterpiece that was to be the gift of the French people to the United States. On Nov. 13, 1884 Bartholdi delivered a lecture and gave the lodge a report on the history and various methods used in the execution of his statue. Again the lodge witnessed his emotion when he came back from his visit to U.S. in 1887, and he told them of the ardent welcome he had received and of the wide enthusiasm created by his work. Another famous work by Bartholdi is Le Lion de Belfort, commemorating the defense of Belfort in Franco–Prussian War.

Frank H. Bartholomew President and general manager of United Press Association since April, 1955. b. Oct. 5, 1898 at San Francisco, Calif. Began as a reporter in 1918 on Portland and Vancouver (B.C.) papers, starting with United Press as the Portland Bureau manager. During WW2 he was in charge of all correspondents covering the Pacific War and a correspondent himself in New Guinea, Aleutians, Luzon. He covered the Japanese surrender aboard the U.S.S. Missouri in Tokyo Bay in Sept., 1945 and the atomic bomb test at Bikini in 1946. Member of Temple Lodge No. 14, Sonoma, Calif., and Islam Shrine Temple, San Francisco.

H. Roe Bartle Lawyer, youth leader, college president. b. Richmond, Va. Admitted to Kentucky bar in 1920 and Missouri bar in 1921. President of Missouri Valley College, Marshall, Mo. 1948–51. Long-time scout executive for Kansas City area, Boy Scouts of America. Member of 17 boards of directors and owns 5,000 acres in Missouri and Oklahoma. Makes some 200 public speeches a year ranging upwards from $1,000 per speech—much of which he turns over to the American Humanities Fund of which he has been administrator since 1947. Elected mayor of Kansas City in 1955. Member Ararat Shrine Temple; Lebanon Lodge No. 87 (Ky.) Independence Chapter, R.A.M. No. 12 and Palestine Commandery No. 17, K.T. of Independence, Mo.

Frederick B. Bartlett (1882–1941) Bishop, Protestant Episcopal Church. b. Aug. 23, 1822 at South Manchester, Conn. Graduate of Trinity College, Episcopal Theological School and Harvard. Served as deacon and priest from 1908. General secretary National Council. P. E. Churches 1925–31 and consecrated bishop of North Dakota Dec. 16, 1931, transferring to Missionary District of Idaho in 1935. Mason. d. Dec. 15, 1941.

John H. Bartlett Governor of New Hampshire and 1st Assistant Postmaster General in Coolidge Cabinet. b. Sunapee, N.H., March 15, 1864. Member of DeWitt Clinton Commandery, K.T. (N.H.). Birth date March 15, 1869.

Josiah Bartlett (1729–1795) Signer of the Declaration of Independence. Not to be confused with Josiah Bartlett (1759–1820) who was also a physician q.v. b. Amesbury, Mass. Nov. 21, 1729. Practiced medicine at Kingston, N.H. (1750–95). Was a delegate to Continental Congress (1773–76) (1778–79). Associate justice (1782–88) and chief justice (1788–90) of superior court of New Hampshire. He was "President" of New Hampshire, 1790–93 and its first governor from 1793–94. d. May 19, 1795 at Kingston, N.H. Although his lodge is not known, his great grandson, Levi S. Bartlett, has a letter written by Josiah to his son Ezra saying, "I attended a Mason meeting last night, and as soon as you can I wish you would join the Masons."

Josiah Bartlett (1759–1820) Revolutionary physician and grand master of the G.L. of Mass. Not to be confused with Josiah, the signer of the Declaration of Independence, who was also a physician q.v. b. Charlestown, Mass. Aug. 11, 1759. He was elected and initiated in Union Lodge at Danbury, Conn. (now No. 40 on the roll) on April 13, 1780; passed April 24 and raised May 2, same year. The history of that lodge, written in 1926, says in discussing the installation of the first master that a meeting was held on April 13 at the home of Mrs. Mary White, "to consider the request of Dr. Josiah Bartlett whose inclination to be a Freemason was so great he was determined if possible to be initiated so as to join this Lodge on the day appointed for the installment of the Wor. Master” He later became a charter member of King Solomon’s Lodge, Charleston, Mass. in Mass. in Sept., 1783. The 150th anniversary history of that lodge confirms his original membership by stating that he was barely 21 years old when in 1780 he received his degrees in Union Lodge at Danbury. Bartlett followed Paul Revere q.v. as grand master of Massachusetts (after union of March, 1792), serving in 1798, 1799 and 1810. d. March 2, 1820 at Charlestown.

Murray Bartlett Organizer and first president of University of Philippines (1911–15). b. March 29, 1871 at Poughkeepsie, N.Y. Graduate of Harvard, Gen. Theol. Sem., Univ. of Rochester, Trinity College, Columbia and Hobart. Protestant Episcopal rector and dean, serving Cathedral of St. Mary and St. John, Manila, P.I. 1908–11. Founder of Tropical Medicine and Public Health school. Chaplain with U.S. Infantry in WW1, wounded in Marne–Aisne offensive Mason. 33° AASR.

Robert A. Bartlett (1875–1946) Explorer. b. Aug. 15, 1875 at Brigus, Newfoundland. Began explorations wintering with R. E. Peary at Cape D’Urville, Kane Basin 1897–98; on a hunting expedition, Hudson Bay and Strait in 1901; captain of a sealer off Newfoundland coast, 1901–05; commanded the Roosevelt, 1905–09, taking active part in Peary’s expedition to the pole, reaching the 88th parallel; with Canadian government Arctic expedition 1913–14 as captain of the cutter Kariuk which was crushed by ice in January, 1914. He reached Wrangel Island with 17 persons, and leaving 15 on the island, he crossed ice to Siberia with one Eskimo and returned with a rescue party in Sept., 1914. They reached Nome, Alaska a year later with 13 survivors. In the service of the U.S. government, National Geographic Society and various museums, he made exploration trips until 1944 to Arctic ocean, Greenland, Alaska, Baffin Land, Siberia, and Hudson Bay. Received many national and international honors for his explorations. Author of several books. Mason. d. April 28, 1946.

Francesco Bartolozzi (1727–1815) Famous Italian designer and engraver. b. Florence, Italy. Studied on the continent and settled in London in 1764. He was an early member of the Lodge of Nine Muses No. 235, London, and collaborator of Cipriani q.v. the painter, who was a member of the same lodge. He was one of the four members of this lodge to be original members of the exclusive Royal Academy at its foundation in 1768. He engraved works of Guercino, Annibale Carracci, Giordano, Reynolds, Gainsborough, Cosway and Angelica Kauffmann. The frontispiece of the 1784 edition of the Book of Constitutions is his engraving. He became engraver to the King (England), later moving to Lisbon where he became head of the Royal Academy at Lisbon (1802–15).

Sir Edmund Barton (1849–1920) First prime minister of Australian Commonwealth (1901–03). Speaker of legislative assembly, New South Wales, 1883–87 and attorney general in 1889 and 1891–93. He led the delegation presenting Australian Commonwealth Constitution bill to British Parliament in 1900. Nearly one-third of the members of the first Australian parliament were Freemasons. He was judge of the Australian high court from 1903 until his death in 1920. Barton was a member of Australia Lodge of Harmony No. 556 (initiated March 3, 1878) which later became No. 5 with the establishment of the United Grand Lodge of New South Wales in 1888. He was invested as senior deacon of the lodge on June 9, 1880.

LeRoy Barton Architect. b. Dec. 14, 1887 in New York City. An architect in New York City, 1910–34. Assistant to Secretary of Treasury 1934–39 and acting supervising architect to Treasury Department. Architectural supervisor Public Buildings Administration, 1939–40. Now practicing as consultant architect. Served in both WW1 and WW2, retiring as colonel in 1948. Raised in Wamponamen Lodge No. 437, Sag Harbor, N.Y. on March 3, 1921. Member of Manhattan (N.Y.) Chapter No. 86, National Sojourners and Martyr's Camp, Heroes of '76.

William Barton (1748–1831) Colonel of American Revolution. b. May 26, 1748 at Providence, R.I. Noted for his daring capture of British General Prescott in the latter's house at Newport. He was imprisoned at Danville, Vt. from 1810–24 for refusing to pay judgment on his land in Vermont. The judgment was paid by General Lafayette q.v. on his visit to America in 1824. He became a member of St. John's Lodge, Providence, R.I. in 1779. d. at Providence, Oct. 22, 1831.

Sydney N. Baruch Research engineer who invented the depth bomb successfully used in destruction of submarines in WW1 and WW2. b. March 1, 1890 at Mamaroneck, N.Y. Chief engr. Federal Telephone Co. (radio division of Postal Telegraph Co.) 1919–20. President of Public Service Corp. of Calif. 1916–20. Conductor of private research laboratories in New York City since 1930. Inventor of thermo relay and other devices, also thyatron and nortron type mercury rectifier tubes and sound recording on film (1934). Designer of 300,000 volt direct current transmission system of Bonneville Project. Mason and Shriner.

Charles Baskerville (1870 – 1922) Chemist who discovered the chemical elements, carolinium and berzellum. b. June 18, 1870 at Noxubee Co. Miss. Author of many books on chemistry. Mason. d. Jan. 28, 1922.

Edward Bass (1726–1803) First Protestant Episcopal bishop of Massachusetts in 1797. His bishopric included Rhode Island and New Hampshire. b. Dorchester, Mass. Nov. 23, 1726. Served as pastor at Newbury, Mass. from 1752–1803. Admitted a member of St. John's Lodge No. 1 of Portsmouth, N.H. April 12, 1758. In 1768 he served as grand chaplain of the G.L. of Mass.

Perkins Bass Congressman from New Hampshire to 84th Congress. b. Oct. 6, 1912 at East Walpole, Mass. Admitted to N.H. bar in 1938. Member N.H. state legislature, 1939–43 and 1947–49. President of N.H. state senate 1949–51. Member of Altemont Lodge No. 26, Peterborough, N.H. 32° AASR (NJ) in Nashua, N.H. Member of Bektash Shrine Temple, Concord, N.H.

Norman L. Basset (1869–1931) Justice, Supreme Court of Maine 1925–31. b. June 23, 1869 at Winslow, Me. Graduate of Colby College, Harvard and University of Maine. Mason. d. Sept. 29, 1931.

Richard N. Batchelder (1832–1901) Quartermaster General of U.S. Army. b. July 27, 1832 at Lake Village, N.H. Entered volunteer service in 1861 and rose through ranks to brigadier general on March 13, 1865. Was awarded Congressional Medal of Honor in Civil War. Entered regular service after war and made Quartermaster General in 1890. A member of Lafayette Lodge No. 41 at Manchester, N.H. d. 1901.

Robert F. Batchelder Commodore, U.S. Navy. b. March 27, 1895 at Worcester, Mass. Commissioned ensign in supply corps of Navy in 1921 and advanced through grades to commodore in Nov., 1945. With Atlantic fleet in WW2, Sicilian occupation and Normandy invasion. Deputy administrator, War Assets Admin., 1946–47; assistant chief, Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, U.S. Navy since 1947. Retired. Raised in Quinsigamond Lodge, Worcester, Mass. in 1922. Life member of Eureka Chapter, R.A.M., Worcester, Mass.; life member California Consistory AASR (SJ) at San Francisco; life member of Chapter No. 3, National Sojourners and Heroes of '76, Washington, D.C.

Willis T. Batcheller President and chief engineer of Canadian Alaska Railway Co., involving 3,300 mile trans-continental system from Seattle and Vancouver to Fairbanks, Alaska. b. Dec. 23, 1889 at Joliet, Ill. President and chief engineer of Portland Canal Power Co. Served as engineer on many hydro-electrical developments, including Grand Coulee, Skagit River, Nimpkish River pulp plant and Quincy Valley Irrigation Dist. Raised in Green Lake Lodge No. 149, Seattle in April, 1921. Member of Ballard Chapter No. 26, R.A.M.

Seattle Council No. 6 R. & S.M., Bethlehem Cornmandery, K.T. No. 19 all of Seattle. Active worker in Commandery 32° AASR (SJ) in 1921 and KCCH in 1945. Past wise master of Rose Croix, 1944. Member of Nile Shrine Temple since 1921 and past patron of University Chapter, O.E.S.

James C. Batchelor (1818–1893) Succeeded Albert Pike as 9th grand commander of Supreme Council AASR (SJ) in 1891, serving until death in 1893. b. July 10, 1818 at Quebec, Canada. Was a physician in New Orleans and distinguished himself in the yellow fever epidemic. Initiated in Eureka Lodge No. 64, Greenville, Ala. April 11, 1846 and Royal Arch in Polar Star Chapter No. 21, New Orleans Aug. 17, 1857. Joined Orleans Council R. & S.M. Feb. 15, 1859 and Jacques DeMolai Commandery, K.T. No. 2, New Orleans, Feb. 17, 1860. 32° AASR in New Orleans Dec. 17, 1856 and 33° on Feb. 14, 1857. d. July 28, 1893 at Washington, D.C.

William B. Bate (1826–1905) U.S. Senator from Tennessee. b. Oct. 7, 1826 near Castilian Spring, Tenn. Was a steamboat clerk on Mississippi river and served as private in Mexican War in Louisiana and Tennessee regiments. He served in the Tennessee legislature and graduated from Lebannon Law School in 1852, practicing at Gallatin, Tenn. Entering the Civil War as a private, he advanced to major general, C.S.A. 1861–65, being wounded three times. After the war he practiced law at Nashville and was U.S. Senator from 1887 until his death in 1905. He was a member of King Solomon Lodge No. 94 (successor of No. 6).

Edward Bates (1793–1869) Attorney General of United States in Lincoln's cabinet. b. Sept. 4, 1793 at Belmont, Va. of Quaker parentage. He came to Missouri in 1814 at the age of 21, his brother Frederick q.v. then being secretary of the territory. Admitted to bar in 1816 after studying with Rufus Easton q.v.. He was a member of the convention of 1820 that framed the state constitution of Missouri, and appointed by Gov. McNair q.v. as first attorney general. In 1822 he was a member of the legislature and in 1824 was appointed by President Monroe q.v. as U.S. Attorney for the District of Missouri. He was the second representative in Congress from Missouri being elected to the 20th Congress in 1826, but declined re-election. In 1830 he served as state senator and in 1834 as state representative. In 1850 President Fillmore q.v. appointed him Secretary of War and he was confirmed by the Senate, but declined the position. In 1853 he was elected judge of the St. Louis Land Court and in 1856 he was presiding officer of the Whig national convention in Baltimore. President Lincoln named him Attorney General of the U.S. in 1861 and he served until 1863 when he resigned. He was the first cabinet member from west of the Mississippi river. He was a member of Missouri Lodge No. 12, under Tennessee charter (later Missouri No. 1) and was active in the formation of the Grand Lodge of Mo. He was elected to preside at the preliminary convention and was later made permanent chairman. A preamble and resolution was drawn up, evidently the work of Bates. Two months later the delegates again assembled to consider the matter of organizing a grand lodge with Bates presiding. Bates served four terms as grand master, 1825–26–27–31. In his last term as grand master he introduced a resolution to be submitted to all subordinate lodges of the state (height of Anti-Masonic period) which ended: "Be it Resolved, that immediately after the close this evening, this Lodge shall cease to act as an organized body, and that its charter be surrendered and returned to the Grand Lodge." As far as known, Edward Bates never thereafter appeared at a Masonic meeting. d. March 25, 1869.

Frederick Bates (1777–1825) Second governor of Missouri, 1824–25. b. June 23, 1777 in Belmont, Va. of a Quaker family. Older brother of Edward Bates q.v. In 1797 he settled in Detroit, Mich. where he engaged in the mercantile business and served as postmaster, U.S. Receiver of Public Money and named in 1805 by Jefferson as the first U.S. Judge for the Territory of Michigan. He first appeared in St. Louis in 1806 where he was first recorder of the Board of Land Commissions. On May 7, 1807, Jefferson appointed him as the second secretary for the Territory of Louisiana, a position he held 13 years until the formation of the state government. As Territorial secretary he compiled the Laws of the Territory of Louisiana, which was the first book printed in the territory. He was probably made a Freemason in Michigan for he is listed as a charter member of St. Louis Lodge No. 111 (Pennsylvania charter) in 1809. He succeeded Meriwether Lewis as Master. He is also listed as a charter member of Missouri Lodge No. 1 (12 under Tenn.) when the Grand Lodge of Missouri was formed in 1821. He was elected grand master on Oct. 3, 1821 and turned it down for reasons of heavy business and poor health. This was probably true as he died Aug. 4, 1825 after having served as governor for less than a year.

Isaac B. Bates (1780–1845) U.S. Senator from Massachusetts. b. May 14, 1780 in Granville, Mass. Graduated at Yale in 1802 and studied law, practicing in Northhampton, Mass. First elected to Congress as an anti-Jackson man, and reelected three times, serving from 1827–1835. In 1841 he was elected to U.S. Senate where he served until his death. He opposed the admission of Texas to the union. Member of Jerusalem Lodge at Northhampton, Mass. d. March 16, 1845.

John L. Bates (1859–?) Governor of Massachusetts, 1903–04. b. Sept. 18, 1859 at Easton, Mass. Practiced law at Boston since 1885. Member state house of representatives 1894 – 99 (speaker 1897–99); lieutenant governor of Mass. 1900–02. President of Mass. Constitutional Convention of 1917–18–19. President board of trustees Boston University 1907–27. Member Baalbec Lodge, East Boston and St. John's Royal Arch Chapter of Boston. 33° AASR (NJ). Deceased.

Joseph B. Bates Congressman from Kentucky, 75th to 80th Congresses (1937–49). b. Oct. 29, 1893 at Republican, Ky. Teacher and school superintendent for 16 years and county clerk of Greenup County, Ky. from 1922–38. Mason.

John S. Battle Governor of Virginia, 1950–54. b. July 11, 1890 at New Bern, N.C. Admitted to bar in 1913 and began practice at Charlottesville, Va. Member of Virginia general assembly in 1920 and state senator from 1934–49. Served in WW1. He is a member of Charlottesville Lodge No. 55 and a past master. A member of Keystone Chapter No. 58, R.A.M. and past high priest. Member of Charlottesville Commandery

No. 3, K.T. and Acca Shrine Temple, Richmond, Va.

Laurie C. Battle Congressman from Alabama to 80th and 81st Congresses (1947–51). b. May 10, 1912 at Wilsonville, Ala. Graduate of Birmingham–Southern College and Ohio State Univ. Has been a laborer, clerk, salesman, personnel worker and teacher of sociology at Ohio State Univ. Served in WW2 Pacific Theatre and rose from private to major. Member of Docena Lodge No. 815, Docena, Ala.; 32° AASR at Birmingham, Zamora Shrine Temple; High Twelve and O.E.S. chapter No. 118, Birmingham.

Arthur A. Batts Chairman of the board of the Carborundum Co. b. June 25, 1884 at Syracuse, N.Y. With the Carborundum Co. since 1901 as bookkeeper, office manager, assistant secretary, secretary (1827–42); president (1942–46) and chairman of the board since 1947. Mason.

Clyde M. Bauer Geologist, naturalist. With National Park Service. b. April 5, 1886 at Bristol, Ind. Taught school; was high school principal from 1908–11. With U.S. Geological Survey 1911–16. Commercial geologist 1916–31. Park naturalist, Yellowstone National Park 1932–46 (chief naturalist 1943–46). Director of Yellowstone Library and Museum Association, 1932–46. Wrote The Story of Yellowstone Geysers (1937) and Yellowstone—Its Underworld. Raised in Bartlesville, Okla. in 1917 and now life member of Columbia Lodge No. 14, Boulder, Colo. 32° AASR (SJ) at Billings, Mont. and member of Al Bedoo Shrine Temple, Billings.

Howard K. Bauernfeind President of J. B. Lippincott Co. Philadelphia, book publishers since 1949. b. April 12, 1900 at Council Bluffs, Iowa. Graduate of Central College, Naperville, Ill. and Univ. of Chicago. School superintendent from 1921–30. With Lippincott Co. since 1930 as editor, managing editor and vice president. Raised in Monmouth Lodge No. 37, Monmouth, Ill. in 1922. Member of Monmouth Chapter No. 30, R.A.M.

Harry L. Baum (1887–1951) Physician and author of several Masonic plays. b. Sept. 7, 1887 at Shelbyville, Ill. Graduated in medicine from University of Pennsylvania and removed to Denver, Colo. where he specialized in diseases of ear, nose and throat. Was first master of Emulation Lodge No. 154 of Denver and served as grand master of the G.L. of Colorado 1937–38. Was chairman of the correspondence committee of the G.L. for many years. 33° AASR (SJ) in 1929. Best known for his Masonic plays, John Brent and Prelude to Victory. d. March 25, 1951.

Warren W. Baumgartner Artist and illustrator. b. Oakville, Mo. March 15, 1894. Student at Art Institute of Chicago and Grand Central School of Art, N.Y. Illustrator for national magazines since 1938. Exhibited at National Academy American Water Color Society. Awarded Adolph and Clara Obrig prize in 1941 and Hans Obst prize in 1945. Mason.

Bruce R. Baxter (1892–1947) Bishop, Methodist Church 1940–47. b. Aug. 18, 1892 at Rock Run, Ohio. Assistant to president of University of Southern California 1924–30 and president of Willamette Univ., Salem, Ore. 1934–40. President of Oregon Assn. of Independent Colleges 1939–40. Mason, Knight Templar, 32° AASR. d. June 20, 1947.

James P. Baxter (1831–1921) Author. b. March 23, 1831 at Gorham, Me. President of Savings Bank of Portland and mayor of Portland six terms (1893–97) (1904–05). Organized and established Portland Society of Art in 1883 and Associated Charities. Built and donated libraries to Portland (1888) and Gorham (1907) and conveyed the family mansion to city of Gorham for a museum. President of the Maine Historical Society from 1890. Author of many historical works including The Trelawney Papers (1884); George Cleve and His Times (1885); The British Invasion from the North (1887); The Voyages of Jacques Cartier (1906), and edited 20 volumes of documentary history of Maine. Mason. d. May 8, 1921.

Jedediah H. Baxter Surgeon General, U.S. Army. Member of Columbia Commandery No. 2, K.T. at Washington, D.C. d. Dec. 4, 1890.

John B. Mac. Baxter (1868–1946) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of New Brunswick from 1935. b. Feb. 16, 1868 at Saint John, N.B., Canada. Began as an attorney in 1890. Attorney general of New Brunswick 1916–17; premier of New Brunswick, 1925–31; member of Canadian Parliament 1921–25 and judge of Supreme Court, N.B. from 1931–35. Mason and 33° AASR. d. Dec. 27, 1946.

Warner Baxter Movie actor. Member Cahuenga Lodge No. 513, Hollywood and of the “233 (Masonic) Club.”

Francis Baylies Lawyer, author, member of Congress and U.S. Minister to Buenos Aires. Original lodge not known, but made honorary member of Mount Lebanon Lodge, Boston, Mass. on Jan. 26, 1835.

Hojjah Baylies Aid to General Washington in Revolutionary War. Held rank of major and was member of Masters’ Lodge No. 2, New York.

William Baylis (1848–1919) Architect, inventor and Sovereign Grand Commander, Supreme Council. b. Nov. 8, 1848 at Pictou, N.S., Canada. Became superintendent hospital construction, office of surgeon general, U.S. Army in 1882 (Major). Invented combination steam and hot water heating system in 1893.

Samuel H. Baynard, Jr. (1879–1947) Secretary General of AASR (NJ). b. June 3, 1879 at Wilmington, Del. Graduated B.A. from Delaware College in 1900. Admitted to bar in 1904. Raised in Eureka Lodge No. 23, Wilmington. Author of two volume history of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite (Northern Jurisdiction) in 1938. d. Sept. 9, 1947.

Alfred W. Bays Lawyer, president of The Abbott Foundation and vice chairman of board of Abbott Laboratories since 1947. b. July 12, 1876 at Vermont, Ill. Graduate of Northwestern Univ. School of Law, 1904. Professor of law, 1912–37 at Northwestern. Trustee Northwestern Univ., Lake Bluff Orphanage, Ravenswood and Evanston hospitals and others. Editor and compiler of American Commercial Law Series (9 vols.) and other law works. Mason.

Etienne–Francois Bazot b. March 31, 1782 at Nievre, France. Wrote a Masonic dictionary and manual.

George L. Beal Union general in Civil War. b. May 21, 1825 in Norway, Maine. He left Portland on Oct. 6, 1861 as colonel of 10th Maine regiment. Appointed by president as brigadier general of volunteers Nov. 30, 1864 and mustered out of service Jan. 15, 1866. Member of Oxford Lodge No. 18, Norway, Maine.

Jack Beall, Jr. Radio commentator and newspaperman. b. Dec. 6, 1898 at Waxahachie, Texas. Graduate of Princeton (1921), and Yale Law School, 1924. Admitted to Texas bar in 1924, but gave up practice in 1929 to become newspaperman. With Dallas Times–Herald and New York Herald Tribune and then London correspondent and later Washington correspondent covering White House, Senate and State Department (1937–43). Entered radio field in 1944, with WLW, Cincinnati. Now Washington correspondent for A.B.C. with Headline Edition; News of Tomorrow and This Week Around the World. Mason.

Walter B. Beals Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Washington (1933–34 and 1945–46) and presiding judge for the War Crimes Tribunal in Nurnberg, Germany, 1946–48 (with military leave of absence from Supreme Court of Washington). b. July 21, 1876 at St. Paul, Minn. Admitted to Washington bar in 1901. Judge of Supreme Court of Washington 1928 to 1952. Advanced from private to lieutenant colonel in WW1, served in Meuse–Argonne offensive. Mason and 32° AASR.

Rosenham (Jack) Beam Brigadier General U.S. Air Force. b. June 11, 1895 at Bardstown, Ky. Commissioned 2nd lieutenant Infantry in 1916 and advanced through grades to brigadier general, Air Force, 1948. Served in WW1 with Aviation Section, Signal Corps. Commanded the 12th Air Support Command in invasion of North Africa 1932–43. Commander of various air force bases since 1944. Commanding general of Air Force Technical School, Lowry Air Force Base, Denver since 1945. Mason, National Sojourner and Shriner.

Alexander G. E. Beaman (1885–1943) Insurance executive and Masonic editor. b. June 23, 1885, Hartford, Conn. Started as shorthand teacher with Gregg School, Chicago and later as executive assistant of railroads and banks. Organized the A. G. Beaman Agency, Ltd. and headed since 1929. President of Fire–Police Commission, City of Los Angeles and director of Hollywood Academy of Fine Arts. Managing editor of Masonic Digest, 1923–25 and secretary of Masonic Periodicals Corp. 1923–25. Active for many years in the care of homeless and transients. Editor of Los Angeles Consisterry Bulletin from 1912. d. Oct. 22, 1943.

John V. Beamer Congressman from Indiana to 82nd Congress (1951–53). b. Nov. 17, 1896 in Indiana. A.B. from Wabash College, 1918. Farm owner and operator since 1943. Member of Hanna Lodge No. 61; Wabash Chapter No. 26, R.A.M.; Wabash Council No. 13, R. & S.M.; Wabash Commandery, No. 37, K.T. all of Wabash, Ind. and Capital Forest No. 104, Tall Cedars of Lebanon at Washington, D.C.

Henry J. Bean (1853–1941) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Oregon (1930–32 and 1937–38). b. Nov. 13, 1853 at Bethel, Maine. Admitted to bar, 1881. Member of Oregon house of representatives 1889, district attorney, county co-judge, circuit court judge. Justice of Supreme Court of Oregon, 1911 to term expiring in 1944. d. May 9, 1941.

Cyrus Beard (1850–1920) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Wyoming, 1911–13. b. Aug. 1850 in Venango Co., Pa. Began practice of law in Washington, Iowa, 1874. Removed to Harlan, Iowa, 1878 and to Evanston, Wyo., 1890. Justice of Supreme Court of Wyoming, 1904 to term expiring in 1921. d. Dec. 17, 1920.

Daniel Carter Beard (known as Dan Beard) (1850–1941) American painter, illustrator and organizer of the Boy Scout movement in the United States. b. June 21, 1850 at Cincinnati, Ohio. Started as book and magazine illustrator and teacher of drawing. Originator and founder of the first boy scout society from which others were modeled. National Scout Commissioner and honorary vice-president of B.S.A. Awarded the Golden Eagle, by B.S.A., the only one ever given. Chief scout, dept. of woodcraft at Culver (Ind.) Military Academy (1911–15). Mt. Beard, the peak adjoining Mt. McKinley is named for him. Wrote many books on scouting and wilderness lore including: Moonlight and Six Feet of Romance (1890); American Boys' Handy Book (1882); Boy Pioneers and Daniel Boone (1909); Shelters, Shacks and Shanties (1914); Bugs, Butterflies and Beetles (1915); Signs, Signals and Symbols (1918); American Boy's Book of Wild Animals (1921) and at least a dozen others. Associate editor of Boy's Life. Chief of School of Woodcraft. Raised in Mariners' Lodge No. 67, New York City and later a member of Cornucopia Lodge No. 563, Flushing, N.Y. at the time of his death on June 11, 1941. Raised Nov. 30, 1917.

Arthur L. Beardsley (1869–1944) President of Miles Laboratories, Inc. b. Dec. 27, 1869. Employed by hardware companies until 1900 and with Cleveland Twist Drill Co. 1902–20. With Miles Laboratories since 1920, purchasing agent, plant manager, treasurer, general manager and president and treasurer. Mason, Knight Templar, Shriner. d. Jan. 4, 1944.

William S. Beardsley (1901–1954) Governor of Iowa 1949–54. b. May 13, 1901 at Beacon, Iowa. Retail druggist and jewelry business, 1922–38. Operator of 900-acre farm from 1938. Member of Iowa state senate, 1932–40 and house of representatives, 1947–48. Killed in highway accident while governor on Nov. 21, 1954.

Theodore P. Beasley President, owner and general manager of Republic National Life Insurance Co., Dallas since 1937. b. June 29, 1900 at Mt. Ayr, Iowa. Started in insurance business, Joplin, Mo. in 1928. Director of several companies. Active nationally and internationally in Y.M.C.A. and Salvation Army work. Member of Washington Lodge No. 1117, Dallas, Texas. 32° AASR, Dallas and Bella Shrine Temple.

Mrs. Beaton (1717–1802) A lady of Norfolk, England, who it was said, concealed herself in a lodge room and learned the secrets of the first degree before she was discovered, upon which she herself was initiated. The only reference to the occurrence, which is probably tradition, is found in A General History of the County of Norfolk (1829). It gives the following: “Died in St. John’s Madders-market, Norwich, July, 1802, aged 85, Mrs. Beaton, a native of Wales. She was commonly called the ‘Freemason’ from the circumstances of her having contrived to conceal herself one evening in the wainscoting of a lodge room, where she learned the secret, the knowledge of which thousands of her sex have in vain attempted to arrive at. She was, in many respects, a very singular character, of which one proof adduced is, that the secret of Freemasons died with her.”

John Beatty Commissioner General of prisoners (with rank of Colonel) in Revolutionary War. Raised in Trenton Lodge No. 5, Trenton, N.J. A past master of that lodge, he was elected grand master of the G.L. of New Jersey Jan. 11, 1791. In 1792 he transferred his membership to Solomon’s Lodge No. 1.

Troy Beatty (1866–1922) Bishop, Protestant Episcopal Church. b. Nov. 12, 1866 at Tuscaloosa, Ala. Deacon, 1891; priest, 1892. Rector in various churches in Tennessee and Georgia until 1919 when consecrated coadjutor bishop of Tenn. (Sept. 18). Deputy to General Convention from 1901. Mason. d. April 23, 1922.

Henry, 5th Duke of Beaufort Grand master of G.L. of England, 1767–71. Of the Somerset family holding earldoms and later marquess of Worcester, merging in 1682 with dukedom of Beaufort. Its founder was Charles Somerset (1460?–1520) illegitimate son of Henry Beaufort, 3rd Duke of Somerset.

Eugene de Beauharnais (1781–1824) Viceroy of Italy. b. Paris. Served with Napoleon in Egypt, 1798–99. Napoleon made him viceroy of Italy in 1805. He married Princess Amalie Auguste of Bavaria in 1806. In the same year he was formally adopted by Napoleon and made heir apparent to the throne of Italy. He commanded the army corps in Russia (1812), retiring to Bavaria in 1814 and became the Duke of Leuchtenberg and Prince of Eichstatt. He was Grand Commander of the Supreme Council of Italy.

Campbell E. Beaumont Judge, U.S. District Court of Southern California since 1939. b. Aug. 27, 1883. Admitted to bar in 1912. Served as assistant and district attorney. Was judge of Calif. Superior Court, 1921–39. Mason.

Chevalier d'Eon de Beaumont (1728–1810) A French political adventurer and Freemason who was thought to be an hermaphrodite or a woman. The full name was Charles Genevieve Louis Auguste Andre Timothee de Beaumont. “He” was born at Tonnerre, Burgundy, France on October 5, 1728. In 1755 Beaumont received an appointment at the court of Louis XV and was sent to Russia as a secret agent in woman’s dress. In 1762 he was sent to London as an agent and later became minister plenipotentiary. In 1764 doubts began to be expressed as to Beaumont’s sex and between 1769 and 1777 the matter became so notorious that a scheme of “insurance on the sex of M. le Chevalier (or Mlle. la Chevalhere) d’Eon” resulted in policies to the amount of £120,000. While the discussion was at its height, Beaumont was initiated a Freemason in La Lodge de l’Immortalite No. 376. It was a French lodge under English constitution and met at the Crown and Anchor tavern on the Strand in London. “He” received the third degree in January, 1769 and was appointed junior warden the same year. Fearing an attempt at kidnapping might be made by those who had effected “policies” on the issue, Beaumont was sheltered by Earl Ferrers at Staunton Harold near Ashby-de-la-Zouch. Ferrers was grand master of England in 1762–63. In 1777 an action was brought by a policyholder against an insurance broker to recover the sum secured by the policy, and when two witnesses swore in court that, of their own personal knowledge, the Chevalier was a woman, Beaumont admitted that “he” was a female. In order to receive a pension from France, Louis XVI decreed that Beaumont should wear woman’s dress to the end of “his” life. Beaumont never again entered a Masonic lodge.

William Beaumont (1796–1853) Pioneer physician who laid the foundations for the present medical knowledge of how the human stomach functions. b. in Lebanon, Conn. He was a surgeon with the U.S. Army and when stationed at Mackinac, Mich. in 1822, he was called to treat a young Canadian half-breed named Alexis St. Martin, who had been wounded in the stomach by the accidental discharge of a gun in the store of the American Fur Co. The opening in the stomach failed to close and while alleviating the boy's suffering, Beaumont studied his stomach through this opening, noting the structure and action of gastric juices. He noted that when St. Martin was upset by fear or anger the secretions of acid in his stomach would increase. He observed the effects of alcohol and time required for various foods to digest. His work Experiments and Observations of the Gastric Juice and the Physiology of Digestion (1833) is considered the greatest single contribution ever made to the knowledge of gastric digestion. Although he did not expect St. Martin to live more than 36 hours, the youth survived Beaumont by many years. Beaumont was raised in Harmony Lodge, Champlain, N.Y. holding a certificate from that lodge dated April 11, 1820. He also held a certificate dated April 3, 1820 from the "Mark Master Masons Lodge in the town of Plattsburg, N.Y." A third certificate was issued to him by Plattsburgh Chapter No. 39, N.Y. dated April 3, 1820, which vouched for him as a Royal Arch Mason. After resigning from the Army, he practiced at St. Louis, Mo. where he died on April 25, 1853. In 1954 the Michigan State Medical Society sponsored the reconstruction of the retail store of the American Fur Co. on Mackinac Island where St. Martin was shot, as a memorial to Beaumont. Beaumont Ave. in St. Louis is named for him.

Pierre G. T. Beauregard (1818–1893) Confederate General, Civil War. b. near New Orleans. Graduate of West Point, 1838 and served through Mexican War. Superintendent of West Point at outbreak of Civil War but resigned to enter Confederate Army. As brigadier general he was in command of the bombardment of Fort Sumter, serving through the Civil War at Bull Run, Shiloh and Corinth. He was manager of the Louisiana lottery, 1780–88 and commissioner of public works of New Orleans, 1888. Author of Principles and Maxims of the Art of War (1863) and A Commentary on the Campaign and Battle of Manassas (1891). Mason and Knight Templar.

Charles H. Bebb (1856–1942) Architect of Washington State Capitol and other west coast buildings. b. April 10, 1856 at West Hall, Surrey, England. Began practice in Chicago, 1886, and moved to Seattle in 1893, where as member of Bebb and Jones, designed buildings for University of Washington, residence and commercial buildings and supervising architect of state capitol from 1911. Mason, 32° AASR, Shriner. d. June 21, 1942.

Robert C. Becherer President of Link–Belt Co., Chicago since 1952. b. June 25, 1902 at Indianapolis, Ind. Graduate of Purdue, 1923. With Link–Belt Co. since 1923. Raised in Mystic Tie Lodge No. 398, Indianapolis, Ind. in 1924.

J. George Becht (1865–1925) State superintendent of public instruction of Pennsylvania 1923–25. b. July 17, 1865. President of State Normal, Clarion, Pa. 1904–12 and with State Board of Education from 1912. Mason. d. April 26, 1925.

Stephen Bechtel President of W. A. Bechtel Co. since 1936; vice president of Six Companies, Inc. (builders of Hoover Dam) and of Bridge Builders, Inc. (foundations of San Francisco Bay bridges). b. Sept. 24, 1900 at Aurora, Ind. Vice president and director of a score of firms allied with the ship-building, pipe line and heavy construction field. Raised June 30, 1923 in Oakland Lodge No. 188, received 32° AASR (SJ) in Oakland Consistory in 1924; member of Aahmes Shrine Temple, all of Oakland, Calif.

Adam L. Beck (1862–1939) Organizer and president of three Portland Cement Companies, Oklahoma (1906) Great Lakes (1925), Indiana (1917). b. May 9, 1862 at Huntington, Ind. Construction engineer from 1883–87 followed by organization of several limestone companies. Mason. d. Aug. 10, 1939.

Edward A. Beck (1885–1925) City manager of Goldsborough, N.C. (1917–18) ; Auburn, Me. (1919–20) and Lynchburg, Va. from 1920. b. Jan. 19, 1885 at Peru, Ind. Mason. d. Oct. 18, 1925.

Robert Mc. Beck, Jr. Major General U.S. Army. b. May 9, 1879 at Westminster, Md. Graduate of West Point, 1901. Commissioned 2nd lieutenant, Cavalry 1901 and promoted through grades to brigadier general in 1936 and major general in 1938. Served in Philippines 1903–05 and 1909–11. Participated in many large offensives in WW1. Instructor in army service schools and chief of staff, Operations and Training Div. of War Department General Staff, 1938–39. Retired, 1939. Mason.

T. Romeyn Beck (1791–1885) Physician and author. b. Schenectady, N.Y. Collaborated with his brother John B. in Elements of Medical Jurisprudence (1823). Member of Masters Lodge No. 5, Albany, N.Y.

Arthur D. Becker (1878–1947) Osteopathic physician, president of American Osteopathic Assn. 1931–32 and president of American College of Osteopathic Internists since 1944. President of Des Moines Still College of Osteopathy, 1935–42. President of Associated Colleges of Osteopathy 1938–39. Mason. b. Aug. 20, 1878, at Austin, Minn. d. May 16, 1947.

Rudolph Zacharias Becker (1752–1822) German popular writer, journalist and active Freemason of Gotha. Edited Allgemeiner Reichsanzeiger (from 1791), Nationalzeitung der Deutschen (1796). In 1786 he published an historical essay on the Bavarian Illuminati titled Grundsätze Verfassung und Schicksale des Illuminaten-Ordens in Baiern. He also wrote Noth- und Hulfsbuchlein (1788), Mildheimisches Liederbuch (1799), and a description of his experiences in prison in 1814.

John C. W. Beckham Governor of Kentucky. Member of Duvall Lodge No. 6, Bardstown, Ky. (June, 1901) A Knight Templar.

John J. Beckley First clerk of the House of Representatives and first Librarian of Congress. Member of Williamsburg Lodge No. 6, Williamsburg, Va.

Johann Beckmann (1739–1811) German technologist and educator. Professor of economics, Gottingen (from 1770) and author of a history of inventions. Mason.

Marc, Michel and Joseph Bedarride Three brothers classed as Masonic charlatans who were active in the “Rite of Mizraim” during the middle of the 19th century.

Elbert Bede Editor and publisher of several periodicals. b. June 28, 1881. Retired in 1936, moving to Portland, Ore. where he purchased the Masonic Analyst, changing its name to Oregon Mason in 1938 and later to Oregon Freemason. Raised in Chicago Lodge No. 271, North Branch, Minn. and later affiliated with Ashlar Lodge No. 209 of Portland, Ore. Raised in Cisago Lodge 232 (Ill). Member of Cottage Grove (Oreg) Lodge No. 51.

Gunning Bedford, Jr. (1742–1812) Constitution signer of 1787. b. Philadelphia. Colonel and aide to General Washington in Revolution. Washington appointed him the first judge of the U.S. District Court of Delaware, a position which he held until his death. He was the first grand master of Delaware (1806–08). Graduated from Nassau Hall (now Princeton) with distinction. Studied law in Philadelphia and practiced in Delaware. He was raised on Sept. 11, 1782 in Washington Lodge No. 14 (under Pa.) and now No. 1 of Delaware. He served as master of the lodge but the date is not known. It was through his efforts that two U.S. senators were obtained for Delaware. He died March 30, 1812 at Wilmington and was buried with honors by the G.L. of Delaware on the lawn of the Masonic Home on Lancaster Pike about three miles from Wilmington.

Joseph D. Bedle Governor of New Jersey. Raised in Olive Branch Lodge No. 16, Freehold, N.J. on April 24, 1857.

Bernard B. Bee, Jr. Confederate General in Civil war. Graduate of West Point. Bee named General T. J. Jackson “Stonewall” in the first battle of Bull Run where Bee was killed. A Knight Templar in Texas.

Hamilton P. Bee Confederate General in Civil War. Member of Austin Lodge No. 12, Texas.

Lewis C. Beebe Brigadier General U.S. Army. b. Dec. 7, 1891. Commissioned 2nd lieutenant in 1917 advancing through grades to brigadier general in 1942. Served as regimental staff officer 3rd Inf. Division in WW1. Deputy chief of staff for General MacArthur on Corregidor and chief of staff for General Wainwright until surrender of U.S. forces in Philippines. Japanese prisoner of war from 1942–1945. Later served in Europe. Mason.

Royden E. Beebe Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Dec. 14, 1878 at Burlington, Vt. Graduated in chemistry cum laude, Univ. of Vermont, 1900. Commissioned 2nd lieutenant, Infantry, U.S. Army in 1901, advancing through grades to brigadier general in 1942. His son, Royden E., Jr., is also a brigadier general. Served 82nd division WW1 and commanding general of Fort Jackson, S.C. in 1941–43. Retired. Mason.

R. Livingston Beeckman (1866–1935) Governor of Rhode Island. b. April 15, 1866 in New York City. Banker and member of New York Stock Exchange, 1887–06. Member R.I. house of representatives, 1909–11 and state senate, 1912–14. Served three terms as governor, 1915–21. Mason. d. Jan. 21, 1935.

Carroll L. Reedy (1880–1947) Congressman from Maine to 67th to 73rd Congresses (1921–35). b. Aug. 3, 1880 at Phillips, Maine. LL.B. Yale, 1906. Began practice at Portland in 1907. Practiced law in Washington, D.C. from 1935. Mason. d. Sept. 20, 1947.

Frederick W. Beekman American clergyman, dean of Nativity Pro-Cathedral of the Holy Trinity, Paris, France since 1918 (Protestant and Episcopal). b. Feb. 14, 1871 at Newbury, Mass. Ordained priest, 1905. Founder of American Students and Artists Center, Paris since 1919. Founder of American Battle Cloister, Paris, 1923. Served in Spanish–American War 1898. Mason.

Alfred B. Beers (1845–1920) Commander in Chief of G.A.R., 1912–13. b. April 23, 1845 at New Rochelle, N.Y. Served as enlisted man Civil War, 1861–65. Lawyer in Bridgeport, Conn. from 1871. Mason. d. March 30, 1920.

Wallace Beery (1889–1949) Movie star, actor. b. in Kansas City, Mo. and attended Chase School in that city. He ran away from home to join a circus and became an elephant trainer. He was first identified with the film world as a female impersonator. He is noted for his character roles in such films as Big House, Hell Divers, The Champ, Grand Hotel, Stable Mates, Sergeant Madden, and Bad Man of Brimstone. Was awarded gold medal as "World's best actor" by the International Motion Picture Exposition at Venice, Italy in 1934. Was a member of the advisory board of the Bank of America. Beery belonged to Blaney Lodge No. 271 of Chicago, 32° AASR and a Shriner. d. April 25, 1949.

Fred I. Holt Beever His Masonic burial was the first Masonic ceremony held in the present state of N. Dak. While carrying orders from General Sibley to Col. Crooks, near the conjunction of Apple Creek and the Missouri River, Beever took the wrong route and was ambushed and killed by the Indians. A marker erected on the spot by the Grand Lodge of North Dakota to his memory, bears the following inscription: "On this spot, July 31, 1863, occurred the first Masonic Ceremony held in the present State of North Dakota. It was the Masonic funeral of Lieutenant Fred I. Holt Beever, an Englishman and Oxonian, and a volunteer soldier attached to the staff of General H. H. Sibley. He was killed in a skirmish with the Indians and was buried in the rifle pits which were dug along this ridge. Deputy Grand Master John C. Whipple of Minnesota, convened an emergency Masonic Lodge, with brothers A. J. Edgerton as Worshipful Master, J. C. Braden, Senior Warden, and Patch, Junior Warden, and the body of Brother Beever was here consigned to earth with Masonic Services. This tablet and marker has been placed by the Grand Lodge A.F. & A.M. of North Dakota, 1920, to commemorate the fact that while Lieutenant Beever died far away from home and among strangers, yet he was among brethren, who saw that the honors so justly his due were paid him."

Harvey A. Beffa Brewery executive and past imperial potentate of Shrine. b. June 19, 1900 at St. Louis, Mo. With Anton Beffa & Son Wrecking Co., 1915–33. With Falstaff Brewing Corp., St. Louis since 1933 being vice president and director in 1935 and now executive vice president and general manager. Raised in Purity Lodge No. 658, St. Louis, Mo. in 1925, serving as master in 1935. Member of Cabany Chapter No. 140, R.A.M. and St. Aldemar Commandery No. 18, K.T. 32° AASR (SJ) Valley of St. Louis. Potentate of Moolah Shrine temple in 1940. Member of Grotto and O.E. S. Imperial potentate, North America from 1952–53 of Shrine and honorary life member of 75 Shrine temples.

Lyall T. Beggs National commander Veterans of Foreign Wars, 1948. b. Nov. 1889 at Plainfield, Wis. Graduate of University of Wisconsin, 1925. Admitted to bar in 1926. Member of Wisconsin legislature 1940–46. Mason, 32°, Shriner.

Josiah W. Begole Former Governor of Michigan. Member of Flint Lodge No. 23, Flint, Mich.

Herman A. Behrens (1883 – 1945) President of Continental Assurance Co. from 1928. b. Sept. 29, 1883 at Hamburg, Germany. With Pacific Mutual Life of California from 1903–12, coming to Chicago in 1907 where he became vice president and manager of Continental Casualty Co. in 1912–28. Mason, 32° AASR, Shriner.

H. Frederick Behrens (1870–1935) President of Sterling Products, Inc. and Bayer Co., Inc. b. Aug. 4, 1870 at Wheeling, W. Va. Trustee of Washington and Jefferson College. Mason.

d. Jan. 17, 1935.

William W. Behrens Commodore, U.S. Navy. b. June 6, 1898 at Lancaster, Pa. Commissioned ensign in 1918 and advanced through grades to commodore in 1945. Executive officer of USS Concord during Pearl Harbor attack and subsequent duty in Pacific. Mason.

Lynden E. "Bee" Behymer (1862–1947) Impresario and manager of world celebrities on the Pacific coast. b. Nov. 5, 1862 at New Palestine, Ohio. Presented La Boheme first time in America on Oct. 14, 1897 at Los Angeles. In 1898 he formed and managed for 20 years the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra. Presented Metropolitan Opera Co. on west coast in 1901, 02, 04, 06 and Boston Opera in 1910, 12. Chicago Opera Co. 1914, 16, 18. Brought the following to the west coast for tours: Sarah Bernhardt, Eleanora Duse, Enrico Caruso, Sir Henry Irving, Edwin Booth, Paderewski, Rabindranath Tagore, Jacob Riis, Feodor Chaliapin. Presented Lawrence Tibbett, Maud Allan and Isadore Duncan in first concerts. Knight Templar, AASR member and Shriner. d. Dec. 16, 1947.

William A. Beiderlinden Brigadier General U.S. Army. b. March 4, 1895 at Springfield, Mo. Graduate Drury College, Springfield, Mo., and army service schools. Commissioned 1st lieut. in 1917 and advanced through grades to brig. general in 1943. Commanded 44th Div. Arty. in WW2 and later assistant chief of staff G-1 GHQ, SCAP and FEC, Tokyo, 1946. Mason.

Robert S. Beightler Brigadier General U.S. Army. b. March 21, 1892 at Marysville, Ohio. Student at Ohio State University and of service schools. Member of engineering firm in Columbus, Ohio since 1930 and from 1912–30 was highway engineer, serving as chief engineer of Ohio State Highway Department. Enlisted in 4th Ohio Infantry in 1911, served on Mexican border and WW1. Promoted to major general in 1940 and permanent major general in 1944. Commanded 37th Division in WW2, 43 months in Pacific. Member War Department General Staff, Washington 1932–36; commanding 5th Service Command 1946–47; president of Army Personnel Board 1947–48; commanding general, Camp Chaffee, Ark. and 5th Armored Division since 1948. Mason. Received 33° Sept. 25, 1945.

Edwin J. Beinecke President and chairman of board of The Sperry and Hutchinson Co. since 1923. b. Jan. 6, 1886 in New York City. Graduate of Yale in 1907. President of Henry Maurer & Son, 1921–23; president and chairman of board of U.S. Realty & Improvement Co. 1936–42; chairman of board Plaza Hotel Co. 1936–42; and present director of 13 large corporations. Served as captain in WW1 and department commander of Red Cross in England in WW2. Mason.

Ian Hay Beith (1876–1952) British major general, author and playwright. Served as junior grand deacon of the G.L. of England in 1934. Widely known to literary public and playgoers under pseudonym of his two christian names of “Ian Hay.” d. Sept. 1952.

Jonathan Belcher (1681–1757) Colonial governor of Massachusetts, and New Hampshire (1730–41) and of New Jersey in 1747. b. Jan. 8, 1681 at Boston and claimed by some to be the first native born American to become a Freemason. He was raised in an old “Guilde Lodge” in England in 1704–13 years before the founding of the G.L. of England. Others have claimed this honor for John Moore q.v. and John Skene q.v. Belcher is also reported as having been on the rolls of the craft in Nova Scotia at an early date. He graduated from Harvard in 1699, later affiliating with St. John’s Lodge in Boston, Mass. In 1756 the trustees of Princeton University wanted to name Nassau Hall after Belcher stating “when your Excellency is translated to a house not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens, let Belcher Hall proclaim your beneficent acts.” Upon his retirement as governor in 1741 the First Lodge of Boston called upon him to thank him for the many favors bestowed upon Freemasonry. In reply, he wrote the lodge: “. . . It is now thirty–seven years since I was admitted into the Ancient and Honorable Society of Free and accepted Masons, to whom I have been a faithful Brother & well–wisher to the Art of Masonry . . .” d. August 31, 1757 at Elizabethtown, N.J.

Clark Belden Advertising and public relations expert b. April 4, 1896 at Falls Village, Conn. Student at Brown, Cornell and Northwestern Universities. Started as a reporter, 1914 in Hartford, Conn. In advertising with Insurance companies from 1919 to 1924. With Connecticut Chamber of Commerce 1924–29 as secretary, vice president and director. Lecturer, advisor and public relations expert for many corporations, universities and quasi-governmental organizations. Mason.

Manuel Belgrano Argentine patriot who designed that country's flag. b. June 3, 1779 at Buenos Aires. Studied in Spain and returned to River Plate as consul. Ardent supporter of the 1810 revolution, he formed part of the junta that governed the country for a short time. Was made a general and commanded an unsuccessful military expedition against Paraguay. After this defeat, he created the Argentine flag. He returned to Spain to negotiate recognition of the new state and on his return was given another command, with which he defeated the Spanish Royalists. For these successes he received a substantial grant which he turned into the building of schools.

Robert Edward, 11th Lord of Belhaven (and Stanton) Was 87th Grand Master Mason of Scotland 1931–32.

Brian Bell (1890–1942) Newspaperman and chief of Washington Bureau of Associated Press from 1939. b. March 30, 1890 at York, S.C. Began as a reporter in Columbia, S.C. and has been with Associated Press since 1924 as staff member in Atlanta, Ga., chief of New Orleans Bureau, general staff in New York (1926–30); chief of Los Angeles Bureau (1930–36); news editor, Western division (1936–39). Mason, 32° AASR, Shriner. d. June 8, 1942.

Charles J. Bell Congressman from Missouri 74th to 80th Congresses (1935–49). b. Jan. 16, 1885 at Lake City, Colo. LL.B. Kansas City School of Law, 1913 and began practice in Kansas City same year. Member of city council of K.C. 1926–30 and judge of 16th Mo. Circuit Court 1931–34. Member of Temple Lodge No. 299, Kansas City, Mo.

Charles J. Bell (1858–1929) Banker, organizer of Bell & Co., Washington, D.C. in 1881. b. April 12, 1858 at Dublin, Ireland. Educated in Wesleyan College, Dublin. Came to U.S. in 1873. General manager of National Telephone Co. in 1880, organizing exchanges in north of England. Chairman of board of Terminal Cold Storage Co., Washington, from 1893. Trustee of George Washington National Memorial Association and National Geographic Society. Mason. d. Oct. 2, 1929.

Charles S. Bell (1880–1945) Judge, Supreme Court of Ohio from 1942. b. Oct. 8, 1880 at Cincinnati, Ohio. Admitted to bar in 1910. Served as local solicitor and prosecutor and judge of court of common pleas, Hamilton Co. Mason, Shriner. d. Aug. 22, 1945.

Frank Bell Acting Governor of Nevada. Member of Reno Lodge No. 13, and grand master of the Grand Lodge of Nevada.

George M. Bell Publisher of The Albertan, Calgary, Alta, Canada since 1943. b. Oct. 13, 1911 at Regina, Sask., Canada. Graduate of McGill Univ. 1932. Liberal. Member of Perfection Lodge No. 9, Calgary, Alta. and Al Azhar Shrine Temple of Calgary.

John Bell Former Governor of New Hampshire. Member of St. John's Lodge No. 1, Portsmouth, N. H.

John Bell (1797–1869) Secretary of War, U.S. Senator from Tennessee and speaker of U.S. House of Representatives. b. Feb. 15, 1797 near Nashville, Tenn. Member of state senate in 1817. Elected to Congress in 1827 over Felix Grundy q.v. and reelected six times, serving until 1841. Elected speaker of house in 1834. Was one of the founders of the Whig party. Named Secretary of War in 1841 by Harrison. Elected to U.S. Senate in 1847, remaining in that body until 1859. Member of King Solomon Lodge No. 6 at Gallatin, Tenn., and was probably a member of Nashville Lodge No. 37 before he affiliated with the former lodge.

John A. Bell Organizer of Negro “bogus” lodges in competition with legitimate Prince Hall (Negro) Grand Lodges.

Lawrence D. Bell Founder of Bell Aircraft Corp., 1935. (Buffalo, N.Y.) b. April 5, 1894 at Mentone, Ind. Started with Glenn L. Martin Co., airplane mfgs. as shop foreman in 1912 and became vice president and general manager. Then moved to Consolidated Aircraft Corp., (1928) and became vice president and general manager. Organized Bell Aircraft with associates in 1935. Completed the Airaconda, a twin-engine fighting plane with two cannons in 1937; began making the Airacobra, a pursuit plane with one cannon, in 1939 in mass production for U.S. Army. President of Aircraft War Production Council, East Coast, Inc.; president of National Aircraft War Production Council. Received trophy for aid in supersonic flight. Mason.

Robert C. Bell Federal judge. b. Nov. 1, 1880 at Harrisonville, Mo. LL.B. University of Missouri, 1908. U.S. district judge since 1933. U.S. Attorney General 1916–21; attorney for Red Lake Indians (Minn.) 1927–33; attorney for Pillager Indians (Minn.) 1930–33; Minnesota state senator, 1928–33; Author of Minnesota Income Tax Law. Mason.

Rev. Francis J. Bellamy (1855–1931) Author of the American “Pledge of Allegiance” to the flag. Member of Little Falls Lodge No. 181, Little Falls, N.Y. The original pledge as written by Bellamy did not contain the words “of the United States of America,” or “under God.” The Order of Eastern Star erected a memorial tablet to him in 1955 at the O.E.S. Home in Oriskany, N.Y.

Johann Joachim Bellermann (1754–1842) German Theologian and Freemason.

George, Viscount of Bellfield Grand Master, Grand Lodge of Ireland in 1774. Later became 2nd Earl of Belvedere.

Perry Belmont (1851–1947) Lawyer and philanthropist. b. Dec. 28, 1851 in New York City, son of August Belmont a noted financier. His grandfather was Commodore Matthew C. Perry q.v. Raised in Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City on June 11, 1878 and received 50–year medal and palm on April 28, 1941. Graduated from Harvard in 1872 and Columbia law school in 1876. Practiced in New York until 1881 when he was elected to Congress and served until 1887.

Charles S. Belsterling Vice president of U.S. Steel Corp. since 1932. b. May 31, 1874 at Philadelphia, Pa. Admitted to Pennsylvania bar in 1904; general commerce attorney for U.S. Steel Corp. from 1914 to 1932. Life member of Lodge No. 51, Philadelphia and 50-year veteran. Member of Keystone Chapter No. 175, R.A.M. (life) and Corinthian Commandery (life), both of Philadelphia. Life member of Zamora Shrine Temple, Birmingham, Ala. as well as Lu Lu Temple, Philadelphia.

Harry H. Belt Associate justice, Supreme Court of Oregon since 1925. b. Nov. 24, 1883 at Salem, Oregon. Mason.

Giovanni Battista Belzoni (1778–1823) Italian explorer and archaeologist. Explored Egyptian antiquities (1815–19); opened temple of Abu-Simbel (1817); discovered tomb of Seti I, Thebes (1817); opened second pyramid of Giza; transferred bust Young Memnon from Thebes to Alexandria. The Norfolk Remembrancer (England) in August 1821 said, “Mr. Belzoni, the celebrated traveller and discoverer of Egyptian antiquities, visited Norwich; he stayed with Jeremiah Ives, Esquire, of St. Catherine’s Hill; previous to his departure he received the high masonic degree of Knight Templar.” He was referred to as “Bro. Belzoni” when his widow was helped by the Lodge of Emulation (London) in 1825. Bedford Lodge No. 183 (England) also contributed to his widow.

Thomas Benbury Brigadier General of Militia in American Revolution. Served as Master of Unanimity Lodge No. 7, Edenton, N.C.

Charles A. “Chief” Bender (1883–1954) Baseball player. b. May 5, 1883 at Brainerd, Minn. A Chippewa Indian who was elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame in 1953 for winning over 200 games. He pitched for the Athletics in the 1905, 1910, 1911, 1913, 1914 world series. He defeated the New York Giants 3–0 for the Athletics’ only victory in 1905. He was first pitcher in world series of six games (1911) to pitch three complete games. In 1910 he pitched a no-hit game against Cleveland. He petitioned Robert A. Lamberton Lodge No. 487 of Philadelphia, Pa. when 27 years of age and was raised on April 4, 1911. He was suspended NPD in 1938, but reinstated in 1943.

Andrew B. Benedict (1885–1953) University administrator. President of Ward–Belmont, 1938–39 and trustee of Vanderbilt University from 1930–53. b. July 21, 1885 at Nashville, Term. Mason.

David Benedict (1779–1874) Early Baptist minister and author. b. Oct. 10, 1779 at Norwalk, Conn. Studied shoemaker’s trade, but became interested in religion and graduated from Brown Univ. in 1806. Although he did not hold a regular pastorate, he preached with great vigor until 92 years old. Devoted much time to historical research and wrote History of the Baptists (1813), History of all Religions (1824), History of the Baptist Denominations in America and all Parts of the World (1848), Fifty Years among the Baptists (1860), and several others including poems and a hymn book. He was raised in Newport Lodge No. 1, Newport, Rhode Island on June 24, 1827 and was a member of Pawtucket Chapter No. 4 at Pawtucket, R.I. d. Dec. 5, 1874.

Pope Benedict XIV (1675–1758) Anti-mason who issued a Papal Bull on May 18, 1751, renewing and perpetuating that of his predecessor which excommunicated all Freemasons (see Pope Clement XII). His real name was Prospero Lambertini and he served as Pope from 1740, succeeding Clement XII, to his death in 1758. He greatly encouraged education, literature and science and was liberal in his policy toward foreign powers. He was, however, an implacable enemy of secret societies.

William L. Benedict Surgeon, president of staff of Mayo Clinic 1932–34. b. Feb. 13, 1885 at Springport, Ind. Received M.D. degree at University of Michigan in 1912. In private practice until 1917 when he went with the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn. as head of section of Ophthalmology. Member of Rochester Lodge No. 21 and Halcyon Chapter No. 8, R.A.M., both of Rochester, Minn.

Eduard Benes (1884–1948) President of Czechoslovakia. Educated in universities of Prague, Paris, and Dujon. A disciple of Masaryk, he worked in Paris with him from 1915–19 in Czech nationalist movement. He was Czech delegate at peace conference in 1919–20 and first foreign minister of Czechoslovakia from 1918–35 and prime minister from 1921–22. He was co-founder of the Little Entente. Elected president of Czechoslovakia in 1935, he resigned in October, 1938 on German occupation of Sudetenland. Was appointed professor of sociology at the University of Chicago in 1939. President of the Czechoslovak government in exile with headquarters in England from 1939–45, returning to Czechoslovakia in March, 1945 and was re-elected president in 1946. Buried in the garden of his country home at Sezimovo Usti, September 10, 1948, with both Catholic and Protestant services. When elected President of Czechoslovakia, he withdrew from Masonic activities, but remained interested in the fraternity and rendered his full moral and financial support in London where the National Grand Lodge of Czechoslovakia in Exile was established as well as the Comenius in Exile Lodge. Benes was initiated in the Jan Amos Komensky Lodge No. 1 of Prague (the oldest modern Czechoslovak lodge) about 1924–25 and he later became a member of Pravda Vitezi (Truth Shall Prevail) Lodge of Prague, being passed and raised in the latter about 1927–28.

Conrado Benitez Philippine statesman, serving under Quezon. Helped write the Philippine constitution. A past grand master of the Philippines. Appointed a member of the Philippine delegation to the Manila Treaty Conference by President Magsaysay. A 33° AASR, he served for a time as acting sovereign grand commander. Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Philippine Woman's University, president of the Y.M.C.A. and director of the Rotary Club of Manila.

Louis Benjamin (1883–?) Newspaper publisher. b. London, England, Nov. 8, 1883 and brought to the U.S. as a child. Publisher of the Erie (Pa.) Dispatch–Herald from 1925. Became president of Benjamin Advertising Corp. in 1913 and was president of the Erie Dispatch–Herald Broadcasting Corp. A director of Zem Zem Shrine Hospital for children and member of board of governors of B'nai B'rith. Mason. Deceased.

Aleksandr Khristoforovich Benkendorf (or Benckendorff) (1783–1844) Russian general and statesman. Family was originally German. He engaged in campaigns against Napoleon in 1813–15 and became Chief of Gendarmes under Nicholas I. Nicholas I banned Freemasonry in an edict dated April 21, 1826 just as his predecessor Alexander I q.v. had on Aug. 1, 1822. Benkendorf was a member of the Lodge of United Friends in Petersburg.

Winthrop W. Benner Rubber executive. b. Minneapolis, Minn. March 25, 1881. President of National Synthetic Rubber Corp. from 1942 until retirement in 1948. Began as chemist for Oliver Iron Mining Co. in 1903 and later with Zenith Furnace Co., Atikokan Iron Co., production superintendent for Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. from 1909–14 and vice president of Lee Rubber Tire Corp. from 1915–26. Mason.

Augustus W. Bennet Lawyer, congressman. b. Oct. 7, 1897 in New York City. Graduated from Amherst and Columbia Universities. Admitted to N.Y. bar in 1921 and practiced since in Newburgh, N.Y. Member of the 79th Congress (1945–47) from 29th N.Y. district. Served in Navy Air Corps in WW1. A past district deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of New York. Member of Hudson River Lodge No. 607, Newburgh, N.Y., serving as master in 1930. Member of Highland Chapter, R.A.M. No. 52, Newburgh and Tall Cedars of Lebanon.

William S. Bennet Lawyer, congressman. b. Port Jervis, N.Y., Nov. 9, 1870. Member of 59th to 61st Congresses (1905–11) from 17th N.Y. district and 64th Congress (1915–17) from 23rd N.Y. district. Declined appointment as U.S. District Judge in 1906. Assistant treasurer of the United States in 1911; appraiser of Port of New York in 1912; assistant attorney general of U.S. in 1929; delegate to state constitutional convention in 1938; member of the U.S. Immigration Commission 1907–10. He moved to Chicago in 1920 as vice president and general counsel of Edward Hines lumber interests, returning to New York City in 1933 where he resumed practice. Mason and 32° AASR.

Andrew C. Bennett Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Goodland, Kansas. Graduated from U.S. Naval Academy in 1912 advancing from ensign to rear admiral in 1942. He commanded submarines and submarine units for 24 years, also serving on battleships and cruisers. Commanded light cruiser U.S.S. Savannah from 1940–42; unit commander at Oran, Algeria area of invasion of North Africa in WW2. Commandant of 8th Naval District Hdqs. in New Orleans from 1943. Mason, 32° AASR. Deceased.

Burton E. Bennett (1863–?) Lawyer, who as early district attorney for Alaska secured first convictions in that territory for murder, adultery and illicit sale of intoxicants; secured 99 convictions out of 101 cases in spring term of 1898. b. April 17, 1863 at Brookfield, N.Y., he received three degrees from Cornell University. Practiced law in New York but early moved to Seattle, Washington. Mason.

Caleb P. Bennett (1758–1836) Governor of Delaware. b. Nov. 11, 1758 in Chester Co., Pa. He entered the Delaware regiment of the Revolution as a private and rose to 1st lieutenant, serving in the Battle of Brandywine and was wounded at Germantown. At Valley Forge during winter of 1777 and in command of battery at surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown. In the War of 1812 he was a major of the Delaware State Militia. His grandmother was Mary Boone, daughter of the famous Daniel Boone. He was governor of Delaware from 1832–36. He adhered to the old fashioned style of dress, low shoes, silver knee and shoe buckles, long silk stockings, white breeches, velvet coat with brass buttons, ruffled shirt bosom, powdered hair and cue. He was raised in Lodge No. 14 at Christina Ferry, Del., Jan. 16, 1781. d. July 11, 1836.

Charles E. Bennett Lawyer, congressman. b. Dec. 2, 1910 at Canton, N.Y. Graduated University of Florida in 1934 and admitted to Florida bar that year, since practicing in Jacksonville. Member of Florida State Legislature in 1941 and member of 81st Congress (1949–51) from 2nd Florida dist. Served in south Pacific in WW2, advancing from private to captain. Member of Riverside Lodge No. 266, Jacksonville, Fla.

Charles Edwin Bennett Public utilities executive. b. May 21, 1888 at Ft. Collins, Colo. Graduated University of Wisconsin in 1912. President and director of the following companies: Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., Natural Gas Co. of W. Va., Cumberland & Allegheny Gas Co., Home Gas Co., Binghamton Gas Works, The Keystone Gas Co., Inc., Eastern Pipe Line Co., Gettysburg Gas Corp. Mason.

Charles H. Bennett President of Daisy Manufacturing Co. (air rifles) since 1920. b. Plymouth, Mich., July 27, 1863. Began as salesman for Daisy Co. at Plymouth, Mich. in 1888. Was vice president from 1888–1920. Mason.

Charles R. Bennett (?–1855) His tombstone bears the inscription “Capt. Charles Bennett was discoverer of gold in California.” He came to California as a mule hostler with General Fremont, q.v., in 1845. While satering his mules at their camp on the American River, in what is now El Dorado Co., he picked up a small nugget which he recognized as gold. He showed it to Fremont who paid little attention to the incident. Bennett afterwards moved to Oregon, but in company with Stephen Staat and James W. Marshall, returned to Calif. and was employed by Sutter to assist Marshall in the construction of the mill at Coloma. Bennett was present at Coloma when Marshall picked up the piece of gold which precipitated the gold rush. Staat said that Bennett picked up the original piece of gold before Marshall saw it. As soon as Sutter recognized the extent of the discovery at his mill, he sent Bennett to Monterey in an effort to induce Governor Mason to lease him the land surrounding the mill with mineral rights. The governor refused, believing the land was still held under Mexican law. After mining for some time on the lode Bennett returned to Oregon with a large quantity of gold and built the first hotel in Salem, located where the present Masonic temple stands today. Hotel keeping was a little tame for him, and soon he became captain of the Salem Oregon Mounted Rifles, and while leading the company in the Yakima Indian War, he was killed at Walla Walla in 1855. His body was returned to Salem where it was interred with Masonic honors by Salem Lodge No. 4. Bennett was the first candidate to have been initiated in that lodge. Name on original petition is spelled "Bennet".

Granville G. Bennett Bishop, Protestant Episcopal church. b. Nov. 28, 1882 at Deadwood, S.D. Degrees from University of Nebraska, Seabury Divinity School and Brown University. Priested in 1907, he served in Faribault, Minn., Holdrege, Nebr., Bozeman, Mont., Great Falls, Mont., and Minneapolis, Minn. He was bishop coadjutor of Duluth from 1920–22 and bishop of Duluth from 1922–32 when he became auxiliary bishop of R.I. In 1946 he was named bishop of R.I. Mason.

Henry G. Bennett College president. b. Dec. 14, 1886 in Nevada Co., Ark. College degrees from Ouachita College, University of Oklahoma and Columbia University. Has served as president of Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College since 1928. Previous to that he had served as superintendent of schools of Choctaw County, Okla. and at Hugo, Okla. He was president of Southeastern State Teachers College from 1919–1928. Mason.

Philip A. Bennett (1881–1942) Congressman. b. March 5, 1881 in Dallas Co., Mo. Began as school teacher in 1899 and was publisher of the Buffalo (Mo.) Reflex from 1904–21. Served as state senator, 19th dist. of Mo. 1921–25 and lieutenant governor of Mo. from 1925–29. Was a member of the 77th Congress (1941–43) from 6th Mo. dist. Director of O'Bannon Banking Co. from 1919–36. Died Dec. 7, 1942 at Springfield, Mo. Mason.

Richard Bedford Bennett (1870–1947) Prime minister of Canada. Statesman, minister of justice and attorney general 1921, served as prime minister from 1930 to 1935. Viscount Bennett was raised in Miramichi Lodge No. 18 at Chatham, N.B., and affiliated with Ashlar Lodge No. 28, Calgary, Alta., on April 14, 1910.

Robert R. Bennett (1865–1933) Explorer, lawyer. b. Dec. 12, 1865 at Toledo, Ohio. LL.B. from George Washington Univ. in 1904. Served as special agent of the U.S. Dept. of Justice in 1917 as well as confidential agent of War Dept. Later a captain of Intelligence, General Staff. Sent on confidential mission to Central America in 1919 and conducted expedition to Yucatan, exploring ancient ruins for Museum of American Indian, N.Y. in 1930. Mason. d. Dec. 12, 1933.

Thomas Bennett Governor of South Carolina who was a member of Solomons Lodge No. 1, Charleston, S.C.

Henry A. Benning Business executive. b. Aug. 8, 1882 at Lyons, N.Y. President and general manager of Amalgamated Sugar Co., Ogden Transit Co. Director of First Security Bank, Mountain States Implement Co., Utah Power and Light Co. and U.S. Beet Sugar Assn. Residence, Ogden, Utah. Mason and Shriner.

Pierre L. L. Benoit (1834–1901) Belgian composer and director of Antwerp Conservatory of Music. A leader in Flemish musical circles, composing oratorios, operas, cantatas, religious dramas, hymns and songs. A Freemason according to Cock's Dictiarmaire Macanique, published in Brussels.

August Benson Clothing manufacturer. b. Nov. 29, 1892 at Simrishamm, Sweden. Vice president and designer of Richmond Bros. (clothiers), Cleveland, Ohio, since 1922. Earlier he was designer for Society Brand Clothes of Chicago. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Carville D. Benson (1872–1929) Congressman from 2nd Maryland dist. b. Baltimore Co., Md. Aug. 24, 1872. Received law degree from Baltimore Univ. and practiced at Baltimore from 1893. Served in Maryland's lower house of legislature from 1904–10 inclusive and again in 1918, beingspeaker in 1906. Member of Maryland Senate 1912–14 and served in 65th and 66th Congress. Mason. Died Feb. 8, 1929.

Elmer A. Benson U.S. Senator and governor of Minnesota. Raised in Appleton Lodge No. 137, Appleton, Minn. on Jan. 3, 1917.

William E. Benswanger Insurance and baseball executive. b. Feb. 22, 1892 at New York. In insurance business from 1911–31 and in baseball from 1931 to 1946. President, treasurer and director of Forbes Field Co.; director of the National League and former president of the Pittsburgh Pirates (he sold in 1946). Served in Air Service (balloon) during WW1. Now devotes himself to many musical activities. Director of Pittsburgh Symphony Society, president of Pittsburgh Concert Society and has written extensively on music. Has been annotator of the Pittsburgh Symphony since 1926. A member of Lodge No. 45 and Zerubbabel Chapter No. 162 of Pittsburgh as well as Islam Grotto.

Charles Bent (1799–1847) Pioneer and first American governor of New Mexico. b. at Charleston, Va. (now W. Va.) November 11, 1799. His father, Judge Silas Bent, emigrated to St. Louis, Mo. in 1806 and became a famous Missouri jurist. Both were members of Missouri Lodge No. 1, Charles being initiated on June 8, 1822. He attended West Point, but resigned from the army to engage in the fur trade in Colorado and New Mexico. With his brother, William, and Ceran St. Vrain, organized a trading company and built an adobe fort known as Bent's Fort on the bank of the Arkansas River where the Santa Fe Trail crossed. When New Mexico was formed into a territory, he was named as first governor and thereby was ex-officio superintendent of Indian Affairs. He left Santa Fe for Taos on Jan. 14, 1846 to return his family after hearing rumors of Mexican and Indian uprisings. Reaching Taos on Jan. 18 he was shot, and scalped while still alive in an Indian–Mexican raid of that evening. He was closely associated with Kit Carson q.v.

Alvin M. Bentley Congressman and foreign service officer. b. Aug. 20, 1918 at Portland, Me. Graduated from Univ. of Michigan in 1940. Was a foreign service officer in Mexico City, 1942–44; Bogata, Colombia, 1945–46; Budapest, Hungary, 1947–49; and Rome, Italy 1949–50. Vice president of Lake Huron Broadcasting Co., Saginaw, Mich. since 1952. Member of U.S. Congress from 8th Dist. Mich. since 1953. Member of Owosso Lodge No. 81, Owosso Chapter No. 89, R.A.M., Owosso Comrnandery No. 49, K.T. all of Owosso, Mich. 32° AASR (NJ) in Bay City, Mich. and Elf Khurafeh Shrine Temple of Saginaw, Mich.

George A. Benton (1848 –1921) Judge. b. May 7, 1848 at Tolland, Conn. Admitted to N.Y. bar in 1874. Served as justice of Supreme Court of N.Y. from 1907–1918 when he was retired by age and appointed official referee. Mason. Died Sept. 10, 1921.

Joseph Horace Benton (see Joseph Bentonelli)

Thomas Hart Benton (1782–1858) U.S. Senator from Missouri, 1821–51. Defender of sound money; supported Jackson q.v. in his campaign against the national bank; often called “Old Bullion.” In slavery issue he opposed secession, which resulted in his defeat in 1850 for another senate term. He did return to Washington from 1853–55 as congressman. His political autobiography is contained in his Thirty Years’ View. His daughter, Jessie, married John C. Fremont q.v. and his nephew and namesake q.v. became a Civil War general and grand master of Iowa. Benton was a charter member of Missouri Lodge No. 1 at St. Louis until the anti-Masonic days of 1831 when he withdrew for political reasons. Painter Thomas Hart Benton is his grandnephew.

Thomas Hart Benton (1816–1879) Civil War general. b. Sept. 5, 1816 in Williamson Co., Tenn. Nephew of Missouri senator of same name q.v. Raised July 16, 1849 in Iowa City Lodge No. 4, Iowa City, Iowa and later a member of Bluff City Lodge No. 71, Council Bluffs, Iowa. Served as grand master of Iowa from 1860–62. As a Union general he saved the valuable Masonic library of Confederate General Albert Pike q.v. by placing a guard of Federal troops around Pike's Little Rock, Ark. home. d. April 10, 1879 at St. Louis, Mo.

William P. Benton (1828–1867) Brigadier general (Union) in Civil War. b. Dec. 25, 1828 Newmarket, Md. When 18 years old, enlisted as a private in Mexican War and fought at Contreras, Churubusco, Chapultepec and Mexico City. Returning to home at Richmond, Ind. he re-entered college and was admitted to bar in 1851. Early volunteer for Civil War and raised first company from Wayne Co., Ind. Fought battles at Pea Ridge, Port Gibson, Jackson, Champion Hills, Black River Bridge, Vicksburg and Mobile. At close of war he returned to Richmond and resumed practice of law. He was a member of Webb Lodge No. 24 at Richmond, Ind. and King Solomon Chapter No. 4. d. March 14, 1867 at New Orleans, La.

Joseph Bentonelli (Joseph Horace Benton) Lyric tenor. b. Sept. 10, 1898 at Kansas City, Mo. Holds three degrees from Univ. of Oklahoma and later studied with Jean de Reszke. Made debut in Don Giovanni at Nice, France in 1924 and created the world premieres of two operas—// Vassallo at Trieste in 1930 and Cecilia at Rome in 1934. Was with the Chicago Civic Opera in 1934 and made debut with Metropolitan Opera in 1936, when he took the lead on 33 hours notice. Has been tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Quartet since 1936. In 1934 he was voted one of Italy's four most popular tenors by the Italian Fascist Society of Musicians. Has served as advisor to dept. of voice at University of Oklahoma since 1944. In 1934 he was the star on three major radio hours of the NBC and guest on seven other radio hours. He gives yearly concert tours from coast-to-coast. Raised in Norman Lodge No. 38, Norman, Okla. on Nov. 22, 1920 and received 32° at Guthrie, Okla. Oct. 24, 1940. Present home is Norman, Okla.

Lloyd Bentsen Congressman, judge. b. Feb. 11, 1921 at Mission, Texas. LL.B. Univ. of Texas in 1942. Practiced law at McAllen, Tex. from 1945–1948; judge of Hidalgo Co., Texas from 1946–48. Elected member of 80th Congress in 1948 to fill unexpired term. Member of 81st Congress (1949–51) from 15th Texas dist. Entered WW2 as private and rose to major in 1945. Served in European theater as squadron commander of bombers. Mason and Shriner.

Paul F. Berdanier Artist. b. March 7, 1879 at Frackville, Pa. Illustrator for St. Louis Post–Dispatch from 1902–18. Painted St. Louis Veiled Prophet Ball in permanent collection of Missouri Historical Society; Canal at Moret, France in permanent collection, Museum of Fine Arts, Foret, France; six etchings on aviation themes in permanent collection of National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C.; four etchings (satire) in John Vanderpoel Memorial Museum, Chicago; 19 etchings in permanent collection of New York Public Library; one etching in Library of Congress. Now a cartoonist with United Feature Syndicate, Inc. Mason.

Victor L. Berger (1860–1929) Socialist leader and editor. Born in Austria and came to United States in 1879, settling in Milwaukee, Wis. Edited the Milwaukee Daily Vorwaerts from 1892–98, the Social Democrat Herald in 1900 and Leader (socialist daily) from 1911. Berger, a pioneer in U.S. organizing Socialists, became a member of the U.S. House of Representatives from 1911–13, being the first Socialist elected to Congress. He was elected again in 1918 and 1919, but excluded by Congress on the ground of disloyalty to the United States (1919). He was finally elected and seated in 1923, serving until 1929. He was sentenced to prison for 20 years on charge of giving aid and comfort to the enemy in time of war, (1918–19) but the sentence was reversed by the U.S. Supreme Court in 1921. He was raised in Aurora Lodge No. 30, Milwaukee, Wis. on Feb. 26, 1889.

George E. Bergstrom Architect. b. March, 1876 at Neenah, Wis. B.S. in architecture from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1899. After 14 years with architectural firms, went into business alone in 1913. Chief architect of The Pentagon, War Department building in Washington, D.C., 1942. Also chief architect of the Pasadena Civic Auditorium; the Los Angeles County Hospital; Los Angeles Hall of Justice; Los Angeles Museum of History, Science and Art. Served as president of the Los Angeles Housing Commission in 1916; editor of the Uniform Building Code, State of California 1938–39; chief consulting architect to U.S. War Department in 1941. Mason.

Randolph C. Berkeley Brigadier general, U.S. Marine Corps. A Mason and Sojourner.

Richard C. Berkinshaw President and general manager of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of Canada, Ltd. b. Sept. 2, 1891 at Toronto, Ontario. Graduated in law, 1916 and has been with Goodyear since 1920. Has served in capacities as assistant secretary, secretary, general counsel, assistant to president, and treasurer. Also vice president and director of The Goodyear Improvement Co., Ltd.; Toronto Elevators Ltd. and chairman of board of Easy Washing Machine Co., Ltd. Other directorates include Bank of Montreal, Mutual Life Assurance Co., Crown Trust Co., Phoenix Assurance Co. Raised in Georgina Lodge No. 343, Toronto on Nov. 2, 1929 and also charter member of Kingsway Lodge No. 565, Lamberton Mills, Ont. Past master of his mother lodge. Past grand senior warden of grand lodge and presently member of the board of general purposes and chairman of the audit and finance committee, Grand Lodge of Canada. Life member of both St. Patrick's Chapter No. 145, R.A.M. and Cyrene Preceptory. 33° AASR in Moore Consistory, Hamilton, Ont. and Rameses Shrine Temple.

Irving Berlin Composer. b. May 11, 1888 in Russia, the son of Moses and Leah (Lipkin) Baline, who brought him to the United States in 1893. His only education was two years in the public schools of New York City. Served in WW1 as infantry sergeant at Camp Upton, N.Y. Is president of the Irving Berlin Music Corporation. Among his most famous compositions are: Alexander's Ragtime Band, A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody, Easter Parade, Blue Skies, O, How I Hate to Get Tip in the Morning, White Christmas, God Bless America, All Alone, Remember, Always, Russian Lullaby, Because I Love You. On several songs he has turned over all royalties to a foundation to assist youth in “less chance” areas. He received the first three degrees of Freemasonry in Munn Lodge No. 190, New York City on May 12, May 26 and June 3, 1910, becoming a life member of the lodge on December 12, 1935. Berlin received the 32° AASR (N.J.) on December 23, 1910 and was initiated into Mecca Shrine Temple on January 30, 1911, becoming a life member of the Shrine in December, 1936.

Morton M. Berman Rabbi, Temple Isaiah Israel, Chicago, since 1937. b. Aug. 23, 1899 at Baltimore, Md. Degrees from Yale, Jewish Institute of Religion and studied in Palestine, France and Germany. From 1927 to 1937 was rabbi at temples in Davenport, Iowa and New York City. With 6th Marine division at Okinawa as chaplain, U.S.N.R. during WW2. Author of A Jew’s View of the Crucifixion, Role of the Rabbi and other works. Mason and 32° AASR (NJ).

Remigio Morales Bermudez (1836–1894) President of Peru from 1890–94, dying in office. Previously he was a military leader and general. Mason.

Jean Baptiste Bernadotte (see Charles XIV John, King of Sweden)

John Charles Bernadotte (see Charles XV, King of Sweden)

David Bernard Anti-Mason. An expelled member who had received degrees up to “Intimate Secretary,” and in 1829 published a pretended expose entitled Light on Masonry. The book was one of the fruits of the anti-Masonic excitement of that period. It was a worthless production, intended as a libel on the craft.

Max Bernd-Cohen Artist, lecturer and critic. b. May 7, 1899 at Macon, Ga. Graduated from Columbia Univ. B.A. and LL.B. and studied art in Paris and Madrid. Painter of portraits, landscapes and murals. Has held one-man expositions in Madrid; Morgan Galleries, New York; Durand Ruel Galleries of New York and Paris; Boyer Galleries, Philadelphia, and Del Gado Museum at New Orleans. Among his murals have been the Florida building at Chicago Century of Progress Exposition and The Sermon on the Mount for the First Methodist Church of Canon City, Colo. Served in WW1 and with the American Red Cross in Pacific during WW2. Mason.

Ben Bernie (1893–1943) Orchestra leader and entertainer. b. May 31, 1893 at Bayonne, N.J. He first studied engineering and later became a violin salesman but switched to vaudeville in 1910. His real name was Abramowitz and he was known to his radio audiences as the “Old Maestro.” From 1914–1917 he teamed up with Phil Baker. From 1923–1928 he was an orchestra leader in New York and later in London. Bernie served as master of ceremonies on many radio shows during his day. d. Oct. 20, 1943. He was a member of Keystone Lodge No. 235, New York City.

Armand Berquin (1750–1791) French literary man called “The Friend of the Children.” Bulletin of the International Masonic Congress of 1917 lists him as a Freemason.

Berridge, H. H. British General. Present at the consecration of Lodge of Aviation in London on Sept. 5, 1952.

George L. Berry (1882–1948) Union official and U.S. Senator. b. Sept. 12, 1882 at Lee Valley, Tenn. Started to work at age of 9½ years with the Jackson Evening News (Miss.), and held every position in printing offices of various cities including St. Louis, Omaha, Denver, San Francisco. Was president of the International Pressmen and Assistants Union of North America from 1907 until his death. Organized the movement and built the Pressmen's Home in Tennessee where he died on Dec. 4, 1948. Appointed U.S. Senator from Tenn. May 7, 1937 to fill unexpired term of Nathan L. Bachman. Private, 3rd Marines (Miss.) in Spanish–American War.; major AEF during WW1. Delegate to Britain representing A.F. of L. to British Trades Union Congress, Newport, Wales in 1912; delegate to International Economic Congress in Zurich, 1912; delegate to International Printer's Congress, Stuttgart, Germany in 1912. One of the founders of the American Legion and past national vice commander. Defeated by three votes for vice presidential nomination in 1924 and declined to have name submitted in 1928. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner. Honorary member of St. Brides Lodge of England. d. Dec. 4, 1948.

Hiram G. Berry (1824–1863) Union Major General in Civil War. b. Aug. 27, 1824 at Thomaston (now Rockland) Maine. Learned the carpenter's trade as well as navigation. Served as mayor of Rockland and organized a company of volunteers. At beginning of Civil War he entered as a colonel of the 4th Maine Infantry and took part in the battles of Bull Run, Yorktown, Williamsburg, Fair Oaks, 2nd Bull Run and Chantilly. Had risen to the rank of major general when he was killed at battle of Chancellorsville on May 2, 1863. His orders on that date were "Go in, general; throw your men into the breach; don't fire a shot—they can't see you!" Berry was junior deacon of Aurora Lodge No. 50, Rockland, Maine.

James D. Berry, Jr. Oil producer and cattle breeder. b. March 25, 1914. An oil producer in the Penn. field since 1934. A breeder of registered Guernsey cattle, Titusville, Pa. since 1939. A director of Quaker State Oil Refining Corp. since 1940. Secretary and director of Oil City National Bank since 1945. Member of Fraternal Lodge No. 483, Rouseville, Pa.; Oil City Chapter No. 236, R.A.M. and Talbot Commandery No. 43, K.T. all of Oil City. Served as commander of his commandery. 32° AASR (SJ) at New Castle, Pa. and member of Zem Zem Shrine Temple, Erie, Pa.

Kearie L. Berry Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. July 6, 1893 at Denton, Texas. Attended University of Texas and officer's training camp, commissioned 2nd lieutenant of infantry on Aug. 15, 1917, advancing through grades to brigadier general (Temp.) on Jan. 18, 1946. Served on Mexican Border in 1916 and during WW1 in Siberia, Philippines and Hawaii. Later in China, and back to Philippines where at outbreak of WW2 he commanded 1st Philippine division until captured at Bataan on April 9, 1942. Prisoner of war in Luzon, Formosa, Kyushu and Manchuria until Aug. 20, 1945. He was appointed adjutant general of Texas in 1947 and major general of Texas National Guard in August, 1947. Retired from regular army as brigadier general in June, 1947. Received first two degrees in Southern Cross Lodge No. 6, Manila, P.I. and 3rd in Schofield Barracks Lodge No. 443, T.H. in 1921, transferring to Fort Benning Lodge No. 579 in 1926. Received 32° AASR (SJ) in Salina, Kansas in 1946 and transferred to Austin, Tex. in 1947. Member of Ben Hur Shrine Temple, Austin, Tex. and Court 35, Royal Order of Jesters.

Thomas M. Berry Governor of South Dakota from 1933 to 1937. Member of White River Lodge No. 181, White River, S. Dak. and received 32° AASR (SJ) in Oriental Consistory at Yankton, S. Dak. in May, 1933. d. Oct. 30, 1956.

Clifford K. Berryman (1869–1949) Cartoonist. b. April 2, 1869 at Versailles, Ky. He was self-taught in drawing and received an honorary A.M. from George Washington Univ. in 1921. He started as a draftsman in the U.S. Patent Office in 1886 and turned to general illustrating in 1891, switching to cartooning in 1896. Was with the Washington Post from 1896–1907, going to the Washington Evening Star on Feb. 1, 1907 where he remained until his death. He was the originator of “Teddy Bear” and winner of the Pulitzer Prize in 1943. He is the author of Berryman’s Cartoons of the 58th House (probably the only cartoonist who has cartooned every member of any one Congress). He was a past master of Temple Noyes Lodge No. 32 of Washington, D.C., a Knight Templar and Shriner. d. Dec. 11, 1949.

William A. Berryman Vice president of Gulf Oil Corp. b. Jan. 22, 1892 at Enterprise, Va. With the Gulf interests since 1933, first in the European marketing field, then as assistant to the vice president and then vice president since 1949. He is also vice president of Gulf European Co., Gulf Exploration Co., Gulf Refining Co. and Gulf Research and Development Co. Is a director of 11 Gulf foreign oil companies. Mason.

Paul Bert (1833–1886) French physiologist and politician. Governor general of Annam and Tonkin (1886) and author of scientific works, including Lecons d'Anatomie et de Physiologie Animales (1885). International Masonic Congress Bulletin of 1917 lists him as a Freemason.

Bartholomew Berthold (1780–1831) Pioneer fur trader who helped lay foundation for the American Fur Company. b. in 1780 in the city of Trent, Tyrol, a province of Austria that is now part of Italy. He came to Philadelphia in 1798 and in 1809 moved to St. Louis, Mo. with a stock of goods and entered business with Rene Paul. On Dec. 27, 1809 he joined Louisiana Lodge No. 109 at St. Genevieve, Missouri's first lodge. The lodge was chartered by Pennsylvania and records show that on June 2, 1810, dues from the lodge in the amount of $32.49 were delivered to the Grand Secretary of Pennsylvania by Berthold. He withdrew from the lodge on June 9, 1812, the records noting that he had "withdrawn and removed." He was married to Pelagie, the only daughter of Major Pierre Chouteau, Sr. and in 1812 built a brick house and store building on Main St. in St. Louis—the first west of the Mississippi river. In the same year he formed a partnership with his brother-in-law, Peter Chouteau, Jr. q.v. under the name of Berthold & Chouteau. To this firm they added two partners, John P. Cabanne and Bernard Pratte, Sr. This firm was later combined with the Columbia Fur Company under John Jacob Astor q.v. as the great American Fur Company. d. April 20, 1831.

Julius Bertin Actor who played the role of “Abie” in Abie’s Irish Rose on the New York stage. He was a member of St. Cecile Lodge No. 568, and Corinthian Chapter No. 159, R.A.M. of New York City. d. Oct. 3, 1945.

Abbe Bertolio French Roman Catholic abbe who was a member of the Lodge Social Contract of the Grand Orient of France and the first master of the adoptive lodge (for both sexes) formed by that lodge. His co-officer in the adoptive lodge was Princess Lamballe q.v., who served as the first Grand Mistress when the lodge was formed in 1780.

Francisco Bertrand President of Honduras from 1913–15 and again from 1916–20. Was initiated in the Lodge Francisco Morazan.

Antonio Luis Berutti (1772–1846) Argentine patriot who as a colonel distinguished himself in many military engagements and became successively, governor of the province of Santa Fe and Tucuman and minister of war after the formation of the new country. Mason.

Jons Jakob Berzelius (1779–1848) Swedish chemist and baron. Taught medicine, pharmacy and chemistry at Stockholm from 1807. Created a baron in 1835 because of scientific achievements. He determined the atomic and molecular weights of many substances, using oxygen as a standard. He discovered the elements selenium, cerium and thorium and first isolated columbium and silicon. He was initiated in 1805 in St. John's Lodge St. Erik, at Stockholm.

Sir Walter Besant (1836–1901) English novelist. Educated in King's College, London and Christ's College, Cambridge. Was co-author with James Rice of a series of novels including Ready-Money Mortiboy (1872) and The Seamy Side (1881). Sole author of All Sorts and Conditions of Men (1882) and Children of Gibeon (1886). He was raised in Mauritius Lodge in 1862 and became master of Marquis of Dalhousie Lodge No. 1159, London, in 1873. He conceived the idea of establishing a lodge of research and as a result became one of the founders of the famous Quatuor Coronati Lodge No. 2076 of London, serving as its treasurer at one time. d. Hempstead, England, June 10, 1901.

Dale P. Bessire Artist. b. May 14, 1892 at Columbus, Ohio. His paintings represented in the Indiana building at Chicago Century of Progress; Gary, Lafayette and Indianapolis public schools; Muncie Indiana Art Assoc.; Ball collection of Indiana Univ.; public library at Bedford; DePauw Univ.; and others. His works have won numerous art awards through the years. Raised in Nashville Lodge No. 135, Nashville, Ind., Sept. 1, 1917.

William N. Best Brigadier General, U.S. Marine Corps. b. July 14, 1887 at Los Angeles, Calif. Served in WW1 as 2nd lieutenant Marines and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1946. Service included United States, Haiti, Hawaii, Santo Domingo, China, Nicaragua, Philippines, Cuba and at sea with fleet. He retired Dec. 1, 1946. Mason.

William T. Best (1826–1897) Famous English organist who edited the works of Handel and Bach and was a composer of anthems and fugues. Mason.

James A. Bethea Major General, Army Medical Corps. b. Oct. 30, 1887 in Marion Co., S.C. Received M.D. degree from Tulane Univ. in 1913 and graduated from Army Medical School in 1917. A director of the 4th Division Field Hospital in WW1, rising through the grades to major general in 1948. Now chief surgeon of Far East Command, Tokyo, Japan. Mason.

Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr. b. April 11, 1887 at New York City. B.S., Columbia Univ. 1911, LL.B. George Washington Univ. 1924, LL.M., 1925, A.B., 1926, A.M., 1927. Graduate of Command and General Staff School, 1938. Served in Mexican Border conflict and WW1 in field artillery, rising to colonel. He became assistant chief of staff of the military district of Washington and military analyst of the U.S. Dept. of State as well as biographer of the Inter-American Military Association. Has been adjutant general and executive officer of the Order of World Wars since 1931. Headed expedition in 1929 to northern Russia to search for and return the bodies of Americans lost in the Polar Bear Campaign. A past president of the National Sojourners and past commander of the Heroes of '76 (both Masonic military organizations). Past grand master of the Grand Lodge of the District of Columbia. Shriner and Knight Templar.

Jackson E. Betts Congressman from 8th Dist. of Ohio in 82nd, 83rd and 84th Congresses (1951–1957). b. May 26, 1904 at Findlay, Ohio. Law–yer, member of General Assembly of Ohio from 1937–47, serving as house speaker in 1945–46. Member of the Judicial Council of Ohio, 1941–45. Raised in Findlay Lodge No. 227, Findlay, Ohio in 1931. Member of Findlay Chapter No. 58, R.A.M. and Findlay Council No. 50 R. & S.M. 32° AASR (NJ) in Toledo.

James A. Betts (1853–1928) Justice, Supreme Court of New York, 1898–1912, 3rd judicial district and associate justice of the appellate division, 1910–12. b. March 18, 1853 at Broadalbin, N.Y. After serving as a school principal for two years, he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1880, practicing at Kingston. Mason.

Frank A. Beu Educator and president of Western Illinois State Teachers College at Macomb, Ill., since 1942. b. Sept. 2, 1898 at Huntley, Ill. B.A. and M.A. degrees from Northwestern Univ. and Ph.D. from Univ. of Chicago. Taught and served as administrator in Illinois public schools and in 1928 became professor of education at Eastern Illinois State Teachers' College, serving until 1933 when he became dean. Raised in Hebron Lodge No. 604, Hebron, Ill. Received 32° at Quincy, Ill. in 1947. Member of O.E.S. in Hebron.

Pierre de Reil, Marquis of Beurnonville (1752–1821)

Marshal of France. He served as minister of war in 1793, ambassador to Berlin in 1800, ambassador to Madrid in 1802. In 1814 he supported Louis XVIII and was named marshal in 1816. He was a zealous Freemason and became grand master "adjoint" in the Grand Orient of France.

Albert P. Beutel Business executive. b. Nov. 13, 1892 at Cleveland, Ohio. Started with Dow Chemical Co. in 1914 as draftsman. General manager of the Texas division of Dow Chemical Co. at Freeport, Texas since 1940; director and assistant secretary of Dow Chemical Co.; president and director of Dowell, Inc., Midland, Mich.; vice president and director of Dow Magnesium Corp. Mason.

Thomas D. Beven President and director of Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway Co. since 1946. b. Dec. 23, 1898 at New Orleans, La. Started with the Central and Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Railway companies in 1912. Served in U.S. Marine Corps in WW1. Mason and Shriner.

Albert J. Beveridge (1862–1927) U.S. Senator and historian. b. in Highland Co., Ohio. Served as member of U.S. Senate from Indiana from 1899–1911 and was a supporter of Theodore Roosevelt and his policies. He was the author of The Life of John Marshall (2 vols., 1916, 1919). Member of Oriental Lodge No. 500, Indianapolis, Ind.

Frank Stanley Beveridge (1879–1956) Founder of Stanley Home Products, Inc. b. April 17, 1879 at Yarmouth, N.S. From 1904–09 he was a photographers' representative. Became associated with the Fuller Brush Company in 1913 and rose to vice president in charge of sales from 1921–29. From 1929–31 he was associate sales manager of Real Silk Hosiery Mills, founding the Stanley Home Products, Inc. in 1931, serving as president until 1950 when he became chairman of the board. Received a citation from Pope Pius XII in 1949. Member of Port Byron Lodge No. 130, New York.

James R. Beverley Governor of Puerto Rico 1932–33. b. June 15, 1894 at Amarillo, Tex. A.B., A.M. and LL.B. from Univ. of Texas and honorary LL.D. from Polytechnic Institute of Puerto Rico. Practiced law in Corpus Christi. Special adviser to Public Service Commission of Puerto Rico from 1925–27; assistant attorney general 1927–28 and attorney general, 1928–32. Acting governor of Puerto Rico various times. Served as officer in field artillery during WW1 and lieutenant commander, U.S. Coast Guard Reserve in WW2. Mason.

Howard L. Bevis Chairman of the President's Committee on Scientists and Engineers from 1956. b. Nov. 19, 1885 at Bevis, Ohio. A.B. and LL.B. from Univ. of Cincinnati; S.J.D. and LL.D. from Harvard. Practiced law from 1910–18. Served as director of finance of Ohio from 1931–33; judge of Ohio Supreme Court, 1933–35; professor of law and government at Harvard, 1935–40 and president of Ohio State Univ. from 1940–56. Raised in McMakin Lodge No. 120, Mt. Healthy, Ohio in 1911 and served as master of same in 1916. York rite memberships in Cincinnati and Columbus. Received AASR (N.J.) in 1921 and 33° in 1942. Member of Syrian Shrine Temple, Cincinnati.

Raymond H. Beyer Engineer and designer. b. Dec. 11, 1902 at South Bend, Ind. An engineer and designer since 1920. Built and flew first airplane in Indiana; designer of amphibian plane in 1920, helicopter in 1943. Has been associated with Dodge Mfg. Corp., Westinghouse, U.S. Airlines, Bendix Aviation, Rockne Motors, Chevrolet Motors, Glen L. Martin, Emerson Electric, South Bend Bait Co., National Pressure Cooker, AC Spark Plug. With Armour Research Foundation since 1950. Mason.

Francois Louis de Beyerle French Masonic writer and member of the French Constitutional Convention of 1792. He was a leading member of the Rite of Strict Observance in which his adopted name was Eques a Fiore. He wrote a criticism on the Masonic Congress of Wilhelmsbad and translated Frederic Nicolai's essay on the Templars.

Osborne Bezanson Vice president and director of Monsanto Chemical Company since 1942. b. Nov. 10, 1888 at Woburn, Mass. Started as chemist with Merrimac Chemical Co. of Woburn, Mass. in 1906 and became vice president in 1930. When Monsanto liquidated Merrimac in 1935 he became assistant vice president of the Everett division. Has served as general manager of the Texas division and the organic chemicals division and a member of the Monsanto executive committee since 1948. Mason.

George M. Bibb (1776–1859) Secretary of Treasury under President Tyler (1844–45). b. Oct. 30, 1776 in Prince Edward Co., Va. He served two terms as U.S. Senator from Kentucky—1811–14 and 1829–35. He was the first master of Russellville Lodge No. 17, Russellville, Ky. and was master of Hiram Lodge No. 4, Frankfort, Ky. He was also past master of Lexington Lodge No. 1 at Lexington, and served as secretary in 1804. In 1804 he was grand master of Kentucky. Past high priest of Frankfort Chapter No. 3, Frankfort, Ky. and was adjunct professor of ancient languages in the primary department of the Masonic College of Kentucky. d. April 14, 1859 at Georgetown, D.C.

Thomas Bibb Governor of Alabama (1820–21). He succeeded his father (Wm. W.) as governor when the latter died in office. Member of George Lodge No. 32, Warminster, Va.

Joseph H. Biben Newspaper publisher. b. Oct. 27, 1900 at Kiev, Russia and came to United States in 1902. Editor and publisher of the Jewish Ledger publications; in Rochester, N.Y. since 1928, in Washington, D.C. since 1930, in Albany, N.Y. since 1931, in Syracuse, N.Y. since 1932. Publisher of the American Hebrew in New York since 1936. Mason.

Dana X. Bible Athletic director, Univ. of Texas since 1947. b. Oct. 8, 1891 at Jefferson City, Tenn. An athletic director since 1912 with Brandon Training School (Tenn.), Mississippi College, Louisiana State Univ., Texas A. & M. College, Univ. of Nebraska. With University of Texas as football coach from 1937–47. Served with the A.E.F. in WW1 as a pursuit pilot. Author of Championship Football, A Guide for Coach, Player and Fan. Member of the National Football Rules Committee and past president of American Football Coaches Association.

Member of Mossy Creek Lodge No. 353, Jefferson City, Tenn.; Jefferson Chapter No. 81, R.A.M., Jefferson City, Tenn.; Lincoln Council No. 4 R. & S.M. and Mt. Moriah Commandery, K.T. both of Lincoln, Nebr. Member of Ben Hur Shrine Temple, Austin, Texas.

Thomas W. Bickett (1869–1921) Governor of North Carolina 1917–21. b. Feb. 28, 1869 at Monroe, N.C. Graduated from Wake Forest College (N.C.) and studied law at Univ. of North Carolina, practicing at Monroe and later Danbury. Member of state house of representatives in 1907–08 and attorney general of N.C. 1906–16. He was raised in Louisburg Lodge No. 413, Louisburg, N.C. on Oct. 2, 1901, demitting to William G. Hill Lodge No. 218 at Raleigh in 1921. In 1917 he was grand orator of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina. d. Dec. 28, 1921.

Edward Biddle Delegate to first Continental Congress in 1774. Raised in Lodge No. 2, Philadelphia, Pa. March 29, 1763.

Benjamin A. Bidlack (1804–1849) American diplomat. b. at Paris, N.Y. U.S. charge d'affaires in New Granada (Colombia) and negotiated a treaty with that country in 1846 for U.S. right-of-way across the Isthmus of Panama. Raised in Lodge No. 61, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. on May 1, 1826.

John Bidwell (1819–1900) California pioneer and politician. b. Aug. 5, 1819 in Chautauqua Co., N.Y. Taught school in Pennsylvania and Missouri and in 1841 emigrated to California, being one of the first to make the hazardous journey overland.

He served in the Mexican War with Fremont's Battalion and became the state's first great agriculturist, owning an immense estate of several thousand acres. Gov. Leland Stanford q.v. commissioned him brigadier general of California Militia, and he later was made a regent of the Univ. of Calif. In 1849 he was a member of the state constitutional convention and the same year became state senator. Representative to U.S. Congress from California 1865–67. He was raised in San Jose Lodge No. 10 in 1851 and later affiliated with Chico Lodge No. 111.

Marshall S. Bidwell Organist. b. Dec. 24, 1893 at Great Barrington, Mass. Studied music at New England Conservatory, Fontainebleau, France, Coe College (Ia.), Univ. of Pittsburgh. Served as organist of several large churches and from 1919–32 was organist and director of music at Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Ia. Has been organist and director of music of Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, Pa. since 1932. Raised in Mt. Herman Lodge No. 263, Cedar Rapids, Ia. in 1926. Member of Scottish Rite in Cedar Rapids.

Baron Jacob Frederick Bielfeld (1717–1770) German merchant. b. March 31, 1717. d. April 5, 1770. He was one of the founders of the Lodge of the Three Globes in Berlin.

Daniel L. Biemesderfer President, State Teachers College, Millersville, Pa. since 1943. b. Jan. 19, 1894 at Kissel Hill, Pa. Teacher and schoolprincipal in Pennsylvania from 1911–1943. Member of Charles M. Howell Lodge No. 496, Millersville, Pa., and past master of same. 32° AASR (NJ) at Harrisburg, Pa. and member of Zembo Shrine Temple, Harrisburg.

Lucius V. Bierce Led an expedition into Canada in 1838 to “save” the Canadians from the “Crown.” He headed an abortive attempt to raid Windsor, Canada from Detroit with a rabble of 200 men. The raid was easily repulsed. Bierce was grand master of Ohio in 1854. Raised in Unity Lodge No. 12, Ravenna, Ohio on Oct. 12, 1826 and demitted to Akron Lodge No. 83 as charter member on Oct. 1, 1841, serving that lodge as master a number of times.

Albert Bierstadt (1830–1902) American landscape painter of the Hudson River school. b. in Solingen, Germany and came to the United States in 1831. His paintings include Sunshine and Shadow, Rocky Mountains, Valley of the Yosemite. His historical works include Discovery of the Hudson River, Settlement of California, and Entrance into Monterey. Bierstadt was a member of Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City.

Leslie L. Biffle Secretary of the U.S. Senate, 1945–47. b. Oct. 9, 1889 at Boydsville, Ark. Secretary of the majority, U.S. Senate from 1933–45; executive director of Democratic Policy Committee, U.S. Senate, 1947–49. Member of American Battle Monument Commission, 1941–45. Member of Piggott Lodge No. 545, Piggott, Ark.

Horace F. Bigelow Admiral of the U. S. Navy. Made a Shriner at a ceremonial in Tokyo, Japan in November, 1956.

Timothy Bigelow (1767–1821) Massachusetts lawyer and politician. b. April 30, 1767 at Worcester, Mass. He was the son of Timothy Bigelow, Revolutionary War patriot. Graduated from Harvard in 1786, studied law and practiced at Groton, Mass. from 1789–1807, when he moved to Medford and opened a law office in Boston. He was an active Federalist and was elected to the legislature in 1790, serving there 20 years, eleven of which he was speaker of the house. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts two terms, 1806–08 and 1811–13. It is said that in the course of his 32 years practice he argued 15,000 cases. d. May 18, 1821.

George C. Biggers President of the Atlanta Journal since 1946. b. Jan. 24, 1893 at Louisville, Ky. Began journalism career with the Louisville Herald in 1910 and subsequently with the Indianapolis Star, The Courier-Journal, Louisville Times, Birmingham Age-Herald, Atlanta Georgian, Atlanta Constitution, and Birmingham News. Went to the Atlanta Journal as business manager in 1934; vice president and general manager in 1939 and president since 1946. Mason.

Benjamin T. Biggs (1821–?) Governor of Delaware in 1887–91. b. Oct. 1, 1821 at Summit Bridge, Del. Congressman from Delaware 1860–71. Member of state constitutional convention of 1852. Member of Union Lodge No. 5, Middletown, Del.

Burton B. Biggs Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. July 3, 1898 at Elliott, W. Va. Graduated U.S. Naval Academy in 1921. Ensign with Navy June 5, 1920 and advanced through grades to rear admiral, May 1, 1948. Mason and member of Scottish Rite.

John Bigler (1804–1871) Governor of California. b. Jan. 8, 1804 in Cumberland Co., Pa. Learning the printer's trade, he became a journalist and afterwards a lawyer, moving to Illinois in 1846. In 1849 he emigrated to California and there became a prominent Democratic politician, gaining the name "Honest John Bigler." From 1852–1856 he was governor of the state. His brother, William, was governor of Pennsylvania at the same time. Bigler was initiated in Pacific Lodge, Long's Bar, Butte Co., Calif. in 1850 and later a member of Tehama Lodge No. 3, Sacramento and Washington Lodge No. 20, Sacramento.

Louis Pierre Edouard Bignon (1771–1841) French statesman and historian. Designated by Napoleon in his will to write the history of France from time of Consulate, he produced Historie de France depuis le 18-Brumaire jusque'en 1812. (1829–38) A Freemason.

Theodore G. Bilbo (1877–1947) U.S. Senator and Governor of Mississippi. b. Oct. 13, 1877 at Juniper Grove, Miss. Attended Univ. of Nashville, Vanderbilt Univ. and Univ. of Michigan. Taught school for six years and admitted to bar in 1908. Member of Miss. state senate, 1908–12, lieutenant governor of Miss. 1912–16. Twice governor of Miss. 1916–20 and 1928–32, elected three terms as U.S. Senator from Miss., 1935, 1941, 1947. He was raised April 17, 1899 in Claiborn Lodge No. 293 at Nashville, Tenn. and affiliated with Sherrard Byrd Lodge No. 353 at Poplarville, Miss. Received AASR 32° in Hattiesburg, Miss. in 1925 and was suspended NPD in 1929 from those bodies. d. Aug. 21, 1947.

W. Chester Billings (1872–1939) Senior surgeon and medical director of U.S. Public Health Service. b. April 15, 1872 at Hartford, Conn. Received M.D. from Harvard in 1894 and after private practice in Springfield, Mass. of four years entered U.S. Public Health Service as surgeon. Was senior surgeon from 1929 and medical director from 1930–33, serving in 19 different stations including chief medical officer at Angel Island, Calif. and Ellis Island and chief surgeon of U.S. Coast Guard and medical adviser to American Consulates in Liverpool and London. Mason. d. Aug. 16, 1939.

Clayton O. Billow (1860–1945) Pioneer in burning oil for industrial use. b. June 14, 1860 at Shelby, Ohio. Carried on experiments with crude oil for fuel for the Champion City Oil Co. from 1884–88 and was general western manager of Pasteur–Chamberlain Filter Co. in 1888, later organizing the National Supply Co. for furnaces, forges, kilns, etc. for oil burning. Inventor of many appliances incidental to oil burning. Knight Templar, 33° AASR, Grand Sovereign, Grand Imperial Council of the Red Cross of Constantine (1938–39). Decorated Knight Grand Cross, 1938. d. March 19, 1945.

Thomas H. Binford Vice Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Aug. 25, 1896, at Durant, Miss. Graduate Naval Academy in 1919, advancing through grades to vice admiral in 1954. In 1942 he commanded the destroyer division of the Asiatic Fleet and participated in entire Java Sea campaign. He commanded the cruiser U.S.S. Miami and participated in first strikes on Tokyo and raids on Chichi Jima, Iwo Jima, Kyushu, Okinawa. Commanded cruiser division one of Pacific Fleet from 1949.

Assisted in establishing Enlisted WAVE program of Navy.
Retired. Mason.

George Bingaman Judge, Supreme Court of Oklahoma. b. Sept. 15, 1904 at Princeton, Kansas. Admitted to Oklahoma bar in 1928 and practiced law in Purcell, Okla. from 1929–50. Has been judge of Supreme Court of Oklahoma since 1951. Raised in Purcell Lodge No. 27, Purcell, Okla. on Dec. 15, 1925 and has served as master and secretary of same. Member Purcell Chapter No. 10, R.A.M. and Norman Council, R. & S.M. of Norman, Okla. 33° AASR (SJ) in Guthrie Consistory. Member of India Shrine Temple, Oklahoma City and DeMolay Legion of Honor.

Malcolm W. Bingay (1884–1953) Newspaper editor and Pulitzer Prize winner. b. Dec. 16, 1884 at Sandwich, Ont., Canada and was brought to United States in infancy. Began at 17 as reporter for Detroit News, rising as sports editor, city editor, managing editor and in charge of the London Bureau of the News. Became editor of the Detroit Free Press in May 1930, serving until his death. Author of Detroit Is My Own Home Town (1946) and Of Me I Sing (1949). He became a member of City of the Straits Lodge No. 452, Detroit, June 19, 1920 and successively joined Peninsular Chapter No. 16, R.A.M. Detroit Commandery No. 1, K.T. and Scottish Rite, being coroneted a 33° Sept. 15, 1925. He was known to Masonic readers for his series of brilliant word sketches on English Freemasonry. d. Aug. 21, 1953.

Hiram Bingham Governor and Senator from Connecticut, explorer and aviator. b. Nov. 19, 1875 at Honolulu, T.H. His father and grandfather (both named Hiram) were missionaries. His grandfather reduced the Hawaiian language to writing and his father, a missionary to Gilbert Islands, did the same for the Gilbert language. Holds degrees of A.B., M.A., Ph.D. and Litt.D. Taught in Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Johns Hopkins Universities. Explored Bolivar's route across Venezuela and Colombia in 1906–07, the Spanish trade route from Buenos Aires to Lima, 1908–09 and the Inca ruins in Peru, 1911–15. Served as lieutenant governor of Connecticut, 1923–24 and governor, 1924, resigning in 1925 to become U.S. Senator and serving until 1933. Chief of Air Personnel Division at Washington 1917–18. A member of both Scottish and York rite bodies as well as the Shrine. Has written on Masonic subjects. Chief writings are on exploration, his latest being Lost City of the Incas. (1948) Robert Bingham (1838–1927) Educator. b. Sept. 5, 1838 at Hillsboro, N.C. Captain in 44th N.C. troops, Army of Northern Virginia, C.S.A. Surrendered with General Lee. Was superintendent of the Bingham School (which his grandfather founded in 1793) from 1873–1920. Grand Master of North Carolina 1883–85.

Robert W. Bingham (1871–1937) U.S. Ambassador to Great Britain from 1933–37. b. Nov. 8, 1871 in Orange Co., S.C. Degrees from universities of North Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky and Louisville. Publisher of both the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times. He was past master of Falls City Lodge No. 376 of Louisville and a member of York and Scottish Rites as well as the rank of KCCH. At a meeting of the Grand Lodge of England, in the presence of the King and 8,000 Masons, he was created a past senior grand warden of that grand lodge. d. Dec. 18, 1937.

Claude V. Birkhead (1880–1950) Lawyer and Major General (NGUS). b. May 27, 1880 at Phoenix, Oreg. Practiced law at San Antonio from 1904, serving as district judge and city attorney. He was special attorney appointed by the Texas legislature to represent the state's coastal land claims before Congress in 1939. In WW1 he served as a colonel with the 131st Field Artillery in France and as chief of staff of Texas 36th division national guard. He was elevated to brigadier general in 1923 and major general, commanding the 36th division in 1936; commanding general of Camp Bowie, Texas 1940–41; commanding general Internal Security Forces, 3rd Service Command, 1942, retiring from active service that year. Mason and Knight Templar. d. Nov. 19, 1950.

Leon M. Birkhead Clergyman, author. b. April 28, 1885 at Winfield, Mo. Served as minister of Methodist churches in New York City and St. Louis and Unitarian churches in Wichita, Kansas and Kansas City, Mo. In 1937 he founded "Friends of Democracy" and has been national director since. He was technical advisor to Sinclair Lewis during his writing of Elmer Gantry (1926–27). He has written numerous "Little Blue Books" including Is Elmer Gantry True?, Religious Bunk, Over the Radio, Can Man Know God, President Hoover and Quakerism, and The Religion of a Free Man. Mason.

Matthew Birkhead English singer, composer and actor who wrote the Enter'd 'Prentice's Song first printed in Read's Weekly Journal in 1722. It was immortalized by being printed in the first Book of Constitutions after his death in 1723. He was not only a composer, but a singer and actor at the famous Drury Lane Theater in London. Mackey says he was master of Lodge V at the time Anderson was preparing his constitutions. d. December, 1722.

Ormand N. Birkland President of S. H. Kress & Co. b. July 26, 1890 at Chicago, Ill. Started with S. H. Kress & Co. in 1916 as a stockman in the Little Rock, Ark. store and rose to presidency in 1948. Served in WW1. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Hammond D. Birks Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Feb. 5, 1896 at Chicago, Ill. Commissioned 2nd lieutenant in 1917 and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1945. Served with the AEF in WW1. In WW2 he was commander of the 120th Infantry Combat Team of the 30th Division and assistant division commander of 9th Infantry Division, participating in battle of Mortain and other important engagements of European Theater. Mason.

David B. Birney (1825–1864) Union Major General of Civil War. b. May 29, 1825 at Huntsville, Ala. Studied law in Cincinnati and after engaging in business in Michigan, began practice of law in Philadelphia in 1848. Entered army as lieutenant colonel at beginning of war and was made colonel of the 23rd Pennsylvania volunteers, which he raised principally at his own expense in 1861. Distinguished himself in battles of Yorktown, Williamsburg, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville and Gettysburg. At death of General Berry he commanded the division, and was commissioned major general May 23, 1863. He commanded the 3rd Corps at Gettysburg and later the 10th Corps. Died of disease contracted in the service on Oct. 18, 1864 at Philadelphia. He was initiated in Franklin Lodge No. 134 of Philadelphia on Oct. 31, 1850.

Hoffman Birney Writer of fiction, juvenile, historical and biographical books. b. April 1, 1891 at Philadelphia, Pa. Among his books are: King of the Mesa, The Masked Rider, Steel-dust, Vigilantes, The Canyon of Lost Waters, Roads to Roam, The Pinto Pony, Zealots of Zion, Two Little Navajos, Kudiu, the Eskimo Boy, Barrier Ranch, Forgotten Canon, Eagle in the Sun, Mountain Chief, Ann Carmeny, Brothers of Doom. Mason.

Eben F. Bishop (1863–1943) Sugar executive. b. Oct. 27, 1863 at Naperville, Ill. Started with C. Brewer & Co., sugar factors at Honolulu, TH in 1883. Was chairman of the board and director of Hilo Sugar Co., Onomea Sugar Co., Pepeekeo Sugar Co., Honomu Sugar Co., Waimanalo Sugar Co., and Matson Navigation Co. Trustee of the B. P. Bishop Museum of Polynesian Ethnology. Mason. d. Feb. 11, 1943.

George T. Bishop (1864–1940) Financier. b. Ravenna, Ohio, Oct. 11, 1864. A director of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Sherwin-Williams Co., Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. Mason. d. Aug. 24, 1940.

Sir Henry Rowley Bishop (1786–1855) English composer who introduced the air of Home Sweet Home and was first musician to be knighted (1842). He composed operas, burlettas and incidental music to Shakespeare's plays. Mason.

Herbert P. Bissell (1856–1919) Justice of Supreme Court of New York 1912–19. b. Aug. 30, 1856 at New London, N.Y. Graduated at Harvard, 1880 and practiced law in Buffalo. Mason. d. April 30, 1919.

Andrew G. Bisset Vice Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Oct. 4, 1893 at Washington. Entered Navy in 1917 and advanced through grades to rear admiral in 1947 and retired in July, 1950 as vice admiral. Was treaty engineer to Republic of Haiti, 1924–28, officer in charge of construction, U.S. Naval Academy 1936–39, Portsmouth, N.H. and Norfolk, Va. navy yards 1939–41. Commanded Seabees in South Pacific and Okinawa operations WW2. Member of William R. Singleton Lodge No. 30 (1922) and William R. Singleton Chapter No. 14, R.A.M. both of Washington, D.C.

Van A. Bittner (1885–1949) Labor official. b. Mar. 20, 1885 at Bridgeport, Pa. A labor representative since 1908, representing the United Mine Workers of America from 1908–42 and steelworkers from formation in 1936 until meeting of constitutional convention in 1942, when it became United Steelworkers of America, C.I.O. At death on July 20, 1949 he was vice president and national director of the C.I.O. Organizing Committee. Served as labor representative on National War Labor Board in 1943. Mason.

William B. Bizzell (1876–1944) University president. b.

Oct. 14, 1876 at Independence, Texas. Held degrees from Baylor Univ., College of Law, Chicago, Univ. of Chicago, and Columbia. Was superintendent of public schools in Navasota, Texas 1900–10, president of College of Industrial Arts, at Denton 1910–14, president of Texas A. & M. 1914–25 and president of the Univ. of Oklahoma, 1925–41. From 1941 until his death on May 13, 1944, he was president emeritus of Univ. of Oklahoma. Author of several books including Judicial Interpretation of Political Theory, Teaching of the Jewish Prophets, Farm Tenantry in the United States, and The Green Rising. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Sveinn Bjornsson First president of Iceland. He was one of the founders of Edda Lodge in Reykjavik on Jan. 6, 1919 under the authority of the National Grand Lodge of Denmark. At that time he had the 6th degree of the 11-degree Denmark system. At the time of his death on Jan. 25, 1952 he had received the highest degree and was grand master of Icelandic Freemasonry. The Sovereign Grand Jurisdiction of Iceland was constituted on July 23, 1951.

Alfred W. Bjornstad (1874–1934) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Oct. 13, 1874 at St. Paul, Minn. Served as captain in the Spanish–American War. Promoted through grades to brigadier general in Jan. 1925. Engaged in 34 battles and actions in Philippines 1898–1904. Later on duty with general staff, military attache, instructor at army schools. At beginning of WW2 he directed the 16 training camps for officers which produced the original 25,341 officers of WW2. He organized and directed the Army General Staff College in France in 1919. Commanded the 13th brigade in France and participated in all major engagements. Retired Aug. 21, 1928. Mason. d. Nov. 4, 1934.

Frank S. Black (1853–1913) Governor of New York. b. March 8, 1853 at Limington, Maine. While reading law he was part time editor of the Johnstown Journal (N.Y.) and later a reporter on the Troy Whig. Admitted to the bar in 1879, he practiced in Troy until 1898 when he moved to New York City. Served his district in the 54th Congress (1895–97) and was governor of New York from 1897–99. He was raised in King Solomon's Primitive Lodge No. 91 of Troy and later affiliated with Roman Lodge No. 223 at Rome. d. March 21, 1913.

Hugo La Fayette Black U.S. Supreme Court Justice. b. Feb. 27, 1886 at Harlan, Ala. Received LL.B. from Univ. of Alabama in 1906 and began practice in Birmingham the next year. Served as police judge and prosecuting attorney and in general practice until 1927 when he was elected U.S. Senator from Alabama for two terms (1927–37). Nominated associate justice of the supreme court by Franklin D. Roosevelt Aug. 12, 1937, confirmed Aug. 17 and took his seat Oct. 4. Black was raised in Ashland Lodge No. 356, Ashland, Ala. in 1909 and later became life member of Birmingham Temple Lodge No. 636, Birmingham, Ala. He is a 32° AASR (SJ) member, Knight Templar and Shriner.

James D. Black (1849–1938) Governor of Kentucky. b. Sept. 24, 1849 in Knox Co., Ky. Member of Kentucky lower house 1876–77. Elected governor of Kentucky in 1915 for term of 1916–17 inclusive and again served as governor from May to Dec., 1919. President of Union College, Barbourville, Ky., 1910–12. Was grand master of Grand Lodge of Kentucky in 1888–89. d. Aug. 5, 1938.

John Black (1800–1854) U. S. Senator from Mississippi. Member of Rising Virtue Lodge No. 7.

John C. Black (1839–1915) Union Brigadier General in Civil War. b. Jan. 27, 1839 at Lexington, Miss. Received A.M. and LL.D. from Knox College. Entered service as private and advanced to brigadier general “for gallant services in assault on Ft. Blakely, Ala.” Awarded medal of honor for Battle of Prairie Grove, Ark. in which he was severely wounded. Admitted to Illinois bar in 1867 and practiced at Danville until his death on Aug. 17, 1915. Was U.S. Commissioner of Pensions 1885–89 and member of the 53rd Congress from Ill. at large (1893–95), president of the U.S. Civil Service Commission 1904–13. Commander-in-chief of the G.A.R. in 1903–04. Member of Olive Branch Lodge No. 38, Danville, Ill. and grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Illinois in 1894 and again in 1895.

Lloyd L. Black Federal Judge. b. March 15, 1889 at Leavenworth, Kans. Received A.B. (cum laude) and LL.B. from Univ. of Washington and admitted to Washington bar in 1911. Associated with father in firm Black & Black 1913–32, served as prosecuting attorney, attorney for Port of Everett and special counsel for City of Everett as well as judge of superior court. Was appointed U.S. Judge for Western District of Washington in 1949 and Eastern and Western Districts in 1940. Mason.

Samuel W. Black Governor of Nebraska, 1859–61. In 1849 he was a member of St. John's Lodge No. 219, Pittsburgh, Pa.

S. Rexford Black Lumber executive. b. April 30, 1894 at Flint, Mich. Chairman of board of C. D. Johnson Lumber Corp., president of Springfield Plywood Corp., Acme Door Corp., and Whatcom Timber Co. Mason and Shriner.

Joseph C. S. Blackburn (1838–1918) U.S. Senator from Kentucky. b. Oct. 1, 1838 in Woodford Co., Ky. A.B. and LL.D. from Centre College, (Ky.). First practiced law in Chicago. After serving in Confederate forces during Civil War resumed his practice in Kentucky. Member of house of representatives (Ky.) 1871–75; member of 44th to 48th Congresses (1875–85); and U.S. Senator, 1885–97 and again from 1901–07. Member of Isthmian Canal Commission and head of department of civil administration, Canal zone, 1907–09. Mason, Knight Templar. d. Sept. 12, 1918.

Luke P. Blackburn (1816–1887) Governor of Kentucky in 1879. Member of Landmark Lodge No. 41, Versailles, Ky. and Webb Chapter, R.A.M. No. 6 of same city.

Robert Blackburn (1870–1935) Congressman from Kentucky. b. April 9, 1870 in Estell Co., Ky. Traveling salesman, merchant, insurance and stock brokerage business in Stanton, Ky. and later Lexington. Served in Spanish American War. Member of Kentucky lower house in 1904–05. Elected to 71st Congress (1929–31). Mason. d. Sept. 20, 1935.

Isaac N. Blackford (1786–1859) Jurist. b. Nov. 6, 1786 at Bound Brook, N.J. Graduated from Princeton, 1806 and moved to Indiana in 1812 and settled in Vincennes. Clerk of the territorial legislature in 1813 and judge of the first judicial circuit in 1814–15. He was speaker of the first state legislature in 1816 and judge of the supreme court of Indiana from 1819–35. From March, 1855 until his death on Nov. 6, 1786 he was judge of the U.S. Court of Claims in Washington. Member of Harmony Lodge No. 11 at Brookville, Ind.

Samuel H. Blackmer (1902–1951) Supreme Court Justice, Vermont. b. March 2, 1902 at Bennington, Vt. A.B. from Yale and LL.B. from Harvard. Elected one term to Vermont lower house, served as states attorney, municipal judge and superior judge, being appointed associate justice of Vermont Supreme Court in 1949. Raised in Mount Anthony Lodge No. 13 on Dec. 25, 1923, serving as junior warden in 1932–33; member of Temple Chapter No. 8, R.A.M., Bennington Council No. 3, R. & S.M.; Taft Commandery No. 8, K.T., all of Bennington, Vt. Member of Vermont Consistory, Burlington, Vt. and received 33° AASR (NJ). Member of Cairo Shrine Temple of Rutland, Vt.

William W. Blackney Congressman from Michigan. b. Aug. 28, 1876 at Clio, Mich. Law degree, Univ. of Michigan, 1912. Member of 74th and 76th to 81st Congresses (1936–37, 1939–51). Mason and 32° AASR.

J. Stuart Blackton (1875–1941) Pioneer motion picture producer. b. Jan. 5, 1875 at Sheffield, Eng., coming to the United States in 1886. Started as newspaper writer and artist and entered the motion picture industry in 1896. Associated with Albert E. Smith, 1900 in organizing the Vitagraph Co.—first to make screen plays—of which he was vice president. In 1910 he founded Motion Picture Magazine. In 1915 he organized the Motion Picture Board of Trade of America and was its first president. He produced The Christian, Island of Regeneration, Battle Cry of Peace, The Glorious Adventure (in color), The Clean Heart, The Happy Warrior and Bride of the Storm. Member of Centennial Lodge No. 763, New York City. d. Aug., 1941.

Ibra C. Blackwood (1878–1936) Governor of South Carolina. b. Nov. 21, 1878 at Blackwood, S.C. Admitted to bar in 1902 and practiced at Spartanburg, S.C. Member of house of representatives 1903–05, solicitor 7th Judicial Circuit, 1916–31 and governor of South Carolina 1931–35. Raised in Spartan Lodge No. 70, Spartanburg, S.C. on Aug. 20, 1903. Past grand master of Grand Lodge of S.C. d. Feb. 12, 1936.

Norman J. Blackwood (1866–1938) Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Jan. 3, 1866 at Philadelphia, Pa. Graduate of U.S. Naval Academy and received M.D. from Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia in 1888. Entered navy in 1890 and advanced through grades to rear admiral Oct. 10, 1929. Served in Spanish–American War, Cuban Insurrection, WW1. Commanded naval hospitals in the Philippines and U.S. and the ships U.S.S. Solace and U.S.S. Mercy. Retired from active service Jan. 3, 1930 and became medical director of Provident Hospital, Chicago. Mason and member of the National Sojourners. d. April 1, 1938.

Robert L. Blaffer (1876–1942) President of Humble Oil & Refining Co. b. Aug. 5, 1876 at New Orleans, La. Began with Monongahela Coal & Coke Co., New Orleans, 1894. Entered oil business in 1902 and from 1917–33 was vice president and treasurer of Humble Oil & Refining Co., becoming president in 1933 and chairman of the board in 1937. Mason. d. Oct. 22, 1942.

James G. Blaine Bank president. b. Jan. 10, 1888 in New York City. Began with New York Life Insurance Co. in 1911. Vice pres. Liberty National Bank, 1919–21, vice pres. New York Trust Co. 1921–27, president Fidelity Trust Co. 1927–30. President and director of Marine Midland Trust Co. 1930–54 and chairman of the board since 1955. He is a director of the following: Fidelity Safe Deposit Co., Remington Rand, Inc., Studebaker-Packard Corp., Pepsi Cola Co. In 1948–49 he was chief of the E.C.A. Mission to Belgium and Luxembourg and has served on many national and by Washington as a justice on the first Supreme Court of the United States. b. Williamsburg, Va. in 1732. Graduated from William and Mary College and studied law at the Temple, London, soon becoming prominent in his profession and was a member of the legislature as early as 1765. In 1776 he was a member of the committee that drew up a plan for governing the state and was chosen to the council and in 1777 became a judge of the court of appeals for Virginia. He was afterward chief justice and in 1780 was judge of the high court of chancery. A delegate to the convention that drew up the Federal Constitution and with Washington and Madison voted for its adoption—the other Virginians dissenting. In 1789 Washington named him as one of the justices of the first Supreme Court of the U.S. and he served until 1796 when he resigned. He is often confused with his father, John Blair (1689–1771), who was president of the Council of Virginia under British rule (same as governor). A member of Williamsburg Lodge No. 6, Williamsburg, Va. he was passed Aug. 3, 1773, raised Dec. 23, 1773. Where he was initiated is not known, but it is thought it may have been at the Lodge of St. James, England. The records of Williamsburg Lodge show that on Sept. 7, 1773 he was fined “1 shill, 3 pence for absence this evening,” and that he signed the by-laws on July 6, 1773. He was elected master in May, 1774 and served as the first grand master of the Grand Lodge of Virginia from 1778–84. d. Aug. 31, 1800.

Edgar Blake (1869–1943) Methodist bishop. b. Dec. 8, 1869 at Gorham, Maine. Graduate of Boston Univ. School of Theology, 1898; D.D. from Nebraska Wesleyan Univ., 1909 and LL.D. from DePauw Univ. Ordained in 1899 and held pastorates in New Hampshire from 1895–1908. Secretary international charitable organizations. Mason.

David E. Blair Lawyer, jurist. b. Aug. 16, 1874 at Salina, Kans. LL.B. Univ. of Kansas, 1899. Law practice at Joplin, Mo. Judge, Circuit Court, 25th Judicial Circuit 1908–17; member Public Service Commission of Mo. 1917–20; associate justice Supreme Court of Mo., 1921–30 and chief justice, 1925–26.

Practiced law in St. Louis 1931–34 and returned to Joplin, 1934. Elected to Springfield Court of Appeals in 1944 for 12 year term, making him the only Missourian elected to all three benches. Mason and 32° AASR (SJ).

James 1'. Blair (1871–1944) Jurist. b. Nov. 11, 1871 at Loudon, Tenn. Father of James T. Blair, Jr. q.v. Taught school before starting law practice in 1896. President of Obion (Tenn.) College 1895. Member of committee to revise statutes of Mo. 1909–11; judge of Supreme Court of Mo. 1915–25 and chief justice, 1921–22. Re-entered law practice at St. Louis in 1925. Member of the Appellate Judicial Commission of Missouri from 1941 until death on April 12, 1944. Mason.

James T. Blair, Jr. Governor of Missouri, 1957–60. b. March 15, 1902 at Maysville, Mo. Admitted to bar in 1924 and since practiced in Jefferson City, Mo. Member of house of representatives 1928–32 and majority leader in 1931. Mayor of Jefferson City 1947–49 and lieutenant governor of Mo. from 1949–56 when elected governor. Served as lieutenant-colonel, U.S. Army, 1942–45. Raised in Jefferson Lodge No. 43, Oct. 14, 1925; exalted March 24, 1926, Jefferson City Chapter No. 34; Ezra Council No. 32 R. & S.M., March, 1936; Knighted Prince of Peace Commandery No. 29, K.T. March 27, 1939, all of Jefferson City, Mo. Shriner.

John Blair, Jr. (1732–1800) Named 102 Antonio Guzman Blanco of Board of Sunday Schools 1912–20. Made a bishop on May 18, 1920. Mason and Knight Templar. d. May 26, 1943.

Henry S. Blake (1888–1956) President of Capper Publications, Topeka, Kans. b. Feb. 14, 1888 at Minneapolis, Minn. Joined the Capper Publications in 1920 as business manager and was selected vice president and general manager in 1937, taking over the presidency in 1952 on the death of Senator Arthur Capper. As president of the largest publishing firm west of the Mississippi he was executive officer of the following publications with a circulation of 5 million; Capper's Weekly, Topeka Daily Capital, Kansas City Kansan; two national magazines, Household and Capper's Farmer and five state farm papers, Kansas Farmer, Missouri Ruralist, Michigan Farmer, Ohio Farmer, and Pennsylvania Farmer. Capper Publications also include radio stations WIBW, Topeka and KCKN, Kansas City and television station WIBW-TV at Topeka. He was a Mason, 32° AASR (SJ) and Shriner. d. March 12, 1956.

William Rufus Blake (1805–1863) Actor. b. in Halifax, N.S. and first appeared on the stage of that city when 17 as the Prince of Wales, in Richard the Third. His first New York appearance was in 1824 at the Chatham theatre as Frederick in The Poor Gentleman. While playing at the Tremont theatre, Boston in 1827, he received the first call before the curtain ever given to an actor in this country. In 1839 he visited England, making his first appearance there in the Haymarket theatre, London. On April 21, 1863, while playing Sir Peter Teazle, in the Boston theatre, he was suddenly taken ill and died the next day. He was the author of several plays including Nero and The Turned Head. Blake was a member of Independent Royal Arch Lodge No. 2 of New York City.

Raymond B. Blakney President of Olivet College (Mich.) b. Nov. 4, 1895 at Boston, Mass. Ordained Congregational minister in 1918 and taught physics at Fukien Christian Univ., Foochow, China from 1920–27. Served as pastor in Sanford, Me., and Williamstown, Mass. Returned to Orient as missionary for American Board Commissioners (Cong.) at Peking and Mindanao, Philippines until 1949. Served as chaplain, U.S. Army in WW1 and WW2. President of Olivet College since 1950. In 1957 he became president of Pierce College, Athens, Greece. Raised in Foochow Lodge, Foochow, China in 1923 and now member of International Lodge, Peking, China (in exile). 32° AASR (SJ) in Peking, Orient of China and served as secretary of the Scottish Rite bodies of North China (in exile) from 1948–57. KCCH.

Antonio Guzman Blanco (1829–1899) President of Venezuela three terms. b. in Caracas. Served as vice-president of Venezuela 1863–68. Following the overthrow of Falcon in 1868, as a general he led a successful revolution. He was president from 1870–72 and on alternate two years until 1889 when deposed by Congress. He was practically a dictator for the entire period. As president he decreed that the Grand Lodge of Venezuela could send out communications postage free, a privilege which has since been rescinded. He erected the beautiful Masonic temple at Caracas, the largest and most complete in South America. He established the separation of the Catholic church and the state and abolished the convents and transformed Catholic churches into monuments such as the Capitol and the Pantheon for their independence heroes. He also installed compulsory education. He was a 33° AASR.

Died in Paris, France—where he liked to live even when he was president.

John R. Bland (1851–1923) Organizer and president of the U.S. Fidelity & Guaranty Insurance Co. in 1896. b. March 24, 1851 at Bridgeton, Mo. d. Jan. 6, 1923. Mason.

Richard P. Bland (1835–1899) U.S. Congressman from Missouri for 25 years. Known as “Silver Dick.” b. Aug. 19, 1835 near Hartford, Ky. Moved to Missouri in 1855 and thence to California on a mining expedition. He then removed to that part of Utah which is now Nevada and practiced law at Virginia City. He returned to Missouri in 1865 and practiced law at Rolla until Aug. 1869 when he moved to Lebanon. As a member of Congress from 1873–95 and 1897–99, he was the author of the Bland bill for the coinage of not less than two million and not more than four million in silver bullion per month which was passed in 1878 and repealed in 1891. In 1896 he received many votes for president. He was a member of Rolla Lodge No. 213, Rolla, Mo. and was exalted in Rolla Chapter No. 32 in 1868. He later transferred as a charter member of Lebanon Chapter No. 64 and served as high priest in 1871. Knighted in St. John’s Cornmandery No. 33, Springfield and later affiliated with Lebanon Commandery No. 33 at Lebanon. d. June 15, 1899 and buried with Masonic and Knight Templar honors in a Catholic cemetery in Lebanon, Mo.

Theodoric Bland (1742–1790) Revolutionary soldier, doctor and member of Continental Congress. b. in Prince George Co., Va. he was educated in England and studied medicine at Univ. of Edinburgh. After being admitted to medical practice he returned to America in 1764. Wrote against the English governor under the pen name "Cassius" and was one of those who removed arms and ammunition which Lord Dunmore had taken from the public arsenal. He became captain of the first group of Virginia cavalry and later colonel. He distinguished himself at the battle of Brandywine and had the confidence of General Washington. He served one term during the war in the Virginia senate and was elected to the Continental Congress from 1780–83. He was a member of the Virginia convention of 1788 and was among those opposed to the adoption of the federal constitution. He became representative from Virginia to the first Congress, taking his seat March 30, 1789. Although his lodge is not known, he was present at Williamsburg Lodge No. 6 on July 7, 1778. d. June 1, 1790.

William T. Bland (1861–1928) U.S. Congressman from Missouri, 66th Congress (1919–21). b. Jan. 21, 1861 at Weston, Va. Law degree from Univ. of West Virginia in 1884. Practiced law in Atchison, Kans. and was elected judge of 2nd Judicial District from 1896–1904 but resigned in 1901 to engage in wholesale drug business as vice president and later president of McPike Drug Co., Kansas City, Mo. Mason. d. Jan. 16, 1928.

Alexander H. Blankingship Episcopal Bishop. b. Nov. 30, 1894 at Richmond, Va. Graduate of Univ. of Richmond (A.B. and D.D.); Yale Divinity School (A.B.) and B.D. Virginia Theological Semin. Served as rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church in Alexandria, Va. 1924–27 and dean of Holy Trinity Cathedral, Havana, Cuba, 1927–39. Has been bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Missionary District of Cuba since Feb. 1939. Served in Mexican Border conflict of 1916 and WW1. Received degrees in Alexandria–Washington Lodge No. 22, Alexandria, Va. in 1925 and presently a member of Island Lodge No. 56, Island Chapter No. 1, R.A.M.; Havana Commandery No. 1, K.T. and 32° Santiago Consistory, Havana, Cuba. Member of Mahi Shrine Temple, Miami, Florida and Havana Shrine Club. Has served as chaplain of his blue lodge and commandery.

John D. Blanton (1859–1933) President of Ward Belmont School, Nashville, Tenn. b. March 26, 1859 in Cumberland Co., Va. Taught and supervised schools in Missouri until selected as vice-president of Ward Belmont in 1913. Became president in 1915. Mason. d. Oct. 6, 1933.

Henry G. Blasdel First Governor of Nevada. Member of Santa Cruz Lodge No. 38, Santa Cruz, Calif. and later past master of Carson Lodge No. 1, Carson City, Nevada.

Samuel Blatchford (1820–?) U.S. Supreme Court justice. b. March 9, 1820 in New York. Became private secretary to Gov. William H. Seward in 1839 and military secretary on his staff until 1843. Admitted to bar in 1842 and settled in Auburn, N.Y. where he was associated with Seward as a law partner. Moved to New York in 1854. Named associate justice of U.S. Supreme Court in 1882 and served eleven years (1893). He was raised in Manhattan Lodge No. 62, New York City on Jan. 16, 1863.

Valentine Blatz Founder of Blatz Brewing Co. and member of Aurora Lodge No. 10, Milwaukee, Wis.

Cadwallader, 9th Lord of Blayney (1720–1775) Grand Master of the Moderns from 1764–67 and of Ireland in 1768. It was under his authority that the Charter of Compact was drawn up with the Royal Arch Grand Chapter. During his grandmastership 74 lodges were constituted as contrasted with the 20 charters issued by the “Ancients.”

Jesse Bledsoe (1776–1837) U.S. Senator from Kentucky. b. April 6, 1776 in Culpepper Co., Va. Became secretary of state of Kentucky in 1808 and member of the state legislature in 1812. Served as U.S. Senator, 1913–15. From 1917–20 he was state senator and in 1822 was appointed circuit judge in the Lexington district. In 1833 he removed to Mississippi and in 1835 to Texas. Member of Lexington Lodge No. 1, Lexington, Ky. and past master of same; grand tyler of the G.L. of Kentucky in 1808. Member of Frankfort Chapter No. 3, R.A.M. at Frankfort, Ky. d. June 30, 1837.

Samuel T. Bledsoe (1868–1939) President of A.T. & S.F. Railroad and affiliated companies. b. May 12, 1868 in Clinton Co., Ky. Practiced law in Texas, Indian Territory and Oklahoma. First associated with A.T. & S.F. in 1908, becoming president in 1933. Director of Railway Express Agency. Mason. d. March 8, 1939.

Harman Blennerhassett (1764–1831) Associate of Aaron Burr and controversial figure of the post–Revolutionary period. b. Oct. 8, 1764 (or 1765) in Hampshire, England. Of a wealthy family he studied at Westminster, London and Trinity college, Dublin, receiving B.A. and LL.B. degrees in 1790. In 1797 he disposed of his estates, and sailed for New York, determined to spend the rest of his life in study and leisure. In 1798 he purchased an island in the Ohio river a few miles below Parkersburg called Backus island—and afterwards Blennerhassett island. Here he erected an elaborate mansion which he filled with costly pictures, statues and books. Settling down to a life of study on the sciences such as chemistry and astronomy, he was known for his lavish hospitality and soon became the social leader of the area. On Aug. 12, 1797 he visited American Union Lodge No. 1 at Marietta and in 1798 was made its secretary. Where he received his degrees is not known. Among the many distinguished guests to share his hospitality was Aaron Burr in 1805. Burr succeeded in interesting him in his scheme for the invasion of the Mexican territory west of the Mississippi and setting up a private “nation.” It is probable that Blennerhassett did not realize that Burr’s scheme was treasonable, and he invested large sums in boats, arms and provisions for the expedition. When Jefferson issued a proclamation against the scheme, Blennerhassett fled with Burr, was arrested and freed but arrested again at Lexington, Ky. and placed in prison. Even the legal services of Henry Clay could not effect his release, but when the treason charges against Burr failed, he was released in 1807. His property had been seized and then accidentally burned. Blennerhassett then settled in Natchez, Miss. where he purchased 1,000 acres of ground. He was admitted a member of Harmony Lodge No. 1 at Natchez on March 4, 1816 and was shown as a member of that lodge until the returns of 1819 when he removed to Montreal where he began the practice of law. When he failed to receive a judgeship from his friend and schoolmate, the Duke of Richmond, he sailed for Ireland in 1822 hoping to recover his estates, but failed. He died Feb. 1, 1831 on the Isle of Guernsey.

1st Earl of Blesington (Viscount Mountjoy) (1709–1769) First grand master of the Ancients, 1756–60. It was to him that Laurence Dermott dedicated his Ahintan Rezon probably in an effort to secure his acceptance of the office. He was privately installed in his own library. Previously, as the 3rd Viscount Mountjoy, he had ruled the Irish craft in 1738–39, and had been responsible for the foundation of Irish Masonic charity. He was a kinsman of the Hon. Elizabeth St. Leger q.v. the lady Freemason.

Archie Bleyer Musician, composer and orchestra leader. Made a hit of the Davy Crockett song in 1954. President of Cadence Records. A member of St. Cecile Lodge No. 568, New York City.

Reynolds E. Blight (1879–?) Writer and lecturer. b. May 19, 1879 at Torrington, Eng., coming to United States in 1896. Lectured for churches and Southwestern Univ. Editor of several publications—Liberal Review 1918–19; Masonic Digest, 1921–23 and 1925–33; New Age 1923–25; California Certified Public Accountant, 1935–41; and Los Angeles Churchman, 1935–43. President of Pierce Insurance Co. Mason, 33° AASR (SJ), Knight Templar and Red Cross of Constantine. Field secretary of Los Angeles AASR bodies, since 1944. Member of committee on Masonic Information, G.L. of Calif. and Masonic Homes Endowment Fund Board. Author of What I Believe and Why; Freemasonry at a Glance.

Aaron T. Bliss (1837–1906) Governor of Michigan. b. May 22, 1837 at Smithfield, N.Y. Served in New York militia during Civil War, captured and spent six months in prisons, eventually escaping and making way back to Union lines nearly starved. Engaged in lumbering at Saginaw, Mich. from 1865 until his death in 1906. Served in many local, state and national public offices, including state senator, member of U.S. Congress from 8th Mich. dist. in 1889–91. Elected twice as governor of Michigan, serving from 1900–04. Member of Saginaw Valley Lodge No. 154 at Saginaw.

Cornelius N. Bliss (1833–1911) Secretary of Interior under McKinley. b. Jan. 26, 1833 at Fall River, Mass. Engaged in dry goods business most of his life. Trustee and director of several large corporations. Served as chairman of the New York Republican Committee and treasurer of National Republican Committee. Named by McKinley as Secretary of the Interior in 1897 and resigned in 1899. Declined to be a candidate for governor of New York in 1885 and 1891. Member of St. Johns Lodge, Boston, joining in 1858. d. 1911.

Herbert Bliss Brigadier General, U. S. Army. 33° AASR and member of National Sojourners.

Raymond W. Bliss Surgeon General, U.S. Army. b. May 17, 1888 at Chelsea, Mass. Graduated Tufts Medical College in 1910, Army Medical School, 1913, Harvard Medical School, 1921 (C.S.) and 1943 (D.Sc.). Commissioned 1st Lt. in Medical Reserve Corps, 1911 and advanced through grades to major general in 1943. Appointed Surgeon General in June, 1947. Mason.

Antonio Blitz (1810–1877) Magician. b. June 21, 1810 in Deal, England. An early magician who in those days were known as “prestidigitateurs.” He began his career at the age of 13 in Hamburg, Germany and after travelling two years in northern Europe, he returned to England, appearing first in Dover in Dec. 1825. He then visited Ireland and Scotland and in 1834 came to the United States, travelling through the country, Canada and West Indies. On his return from the South he settled in Philadelphia, Pa. where he resided until his death on Jan. 28, 1877. He was author of Fifty Years in the Magic Circle. Although his original lodge is not known, he was made an honorary member of Montgomery Lodge No. 19 of Philadelphia.

V. Harwood Blocker Consul General of United States. b. June 8, 1903 at Hondo, Texas. Entered U.S. consular service in 1926 and has served as clerk, vice consul, sec. consul in Peru, Mexico, Paraguay, Morocco, Honduras, Martinique, Brazil, Victoria. Consul general at Athens, Greece since 1954. Hondo Lodge No. 756, Hondo, Texas.

William P. Blocker (1892–1947) Consul General of United States. b. Sept. 30, 1892 at Hondo, Texas. Entered consular service in 1913 and served in various capacities in consular offices of Mexico and Cuba. Was consul general at Ciudad Juarez, Mexico from 1938. Mason. d. Feb. 28, 1947.

Timothy Bloodworth (1736–1814) U.S. Senator from North Carolina. He was a member of the Continental Congress of 1786–87 and for thirty years a member of the legislative assembly of N.C. Served in U.S. Congress from 1790 to 1791 and as U.S. Senator from 1795–1801. After his senatorship, he was collector of the port of Wilmington. He grew up in poverty and followed in turn the professions of farmer, smith, preacher, doctor, wheelwright and politician. He was noted for his benevolence. In 1805 he represented St. Tammany Lodge No. 30, Wilmington, N.C. at the G.L. of N.C. d. Aug. 24, 1814.

Henry Bloom General in the war of 1812. His grave has a Masonic headstone.

Sol Bloom (1870–1949) U.S. Congressman from 20th New York district from 68th to 81st Congresses (1923–51). b. March 9, 1870 at Pekin, Ill. Had a varied career in newspaper, theatrical and music publishing businesses. In 1893 he was superintendent of the construction of the Midway Plaisance of the Chicago Exposition. Moved to New York City in 1903 and engaged in real estate and construction business. He was chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs. His greatest service to the U.S. was as director of the U.S. George Washington Bicentennial Commission in 1932. He was also chairman of committee on the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court and director general of the U.S. Constitution Sesquicentennial Commission. He was a signer of the United Nations Charter and delegate to U.N. conferences in San Francisco, London and New York. A member of Pacific Lodge No. 233 (1903), New York City, he was a 32° AASR (NJ) member and Shriner. d. March 7, 1949.

Joseph Bloomfield (1753–1823) Governor of New Jersey. b. Oct. 5, 1753 at Woodbridge, N.J. Studied law until beginning of the Revolutionary War when he was made a captain in Dayton's regiment of the 3rd New Jersey in 1776 and served through the war, attaining the rank of major. Following the war he was admitted to the bar and practiced at Burlington until he became attorney general of the state. During the War of 1812 he was a brigadier general. From 1801–12 he was governor of New Jersey, and member of U.S. Congress from 1817–21. He was raised in Bristol Lodge No. 25, Bristol, Pa. and served as master in 1782. He affiliated with Trenton Lodge No. 5, Trenton, N.J. in 1790 and in 1799–80 was grand master of the G.L. of New Jersey. d. Oct. 3, 1823.

Sumner N. Blossom Magazine editor. b. Kansas City, Mo. Attended public schools and Univ. of Missouri. Started journalism career with the Kansas City Star, 1912–14 and with the Associated Press, 1914–16. Was correspondent with the U.S. punitive expedition in Mexico, 1916. From 1919–22 was with the New York Daily News. Editor of Popular Science Monthly, 1922–29, and editor of The American Magazine since 1929 and director of Crowell–Collier Publishing Co. Raised in Ivanhoe Lodge No. 446, Kansas City, Mo. about 1913. Member of the Grand Council, Order of DeMolay.

Willie Blount (1767–?) Governor of Tennessee, 1809–15. b. in North Carolina and was a half-brother of William Blount, the Constitution signer. He was secretary to his brother while the latter was territorial governor of Ohio, and afterward moved to Montgomery Co., Tenn. Member of Unanimity Lodge No. 54 of North Carolina.

Gebhard Leberecht von Blucher (1742–1819) Field Marshal General of Prussia and Prince of Wahlstadt. Entered Swedish service in 1756 and captured by Prussians in Seven Year's War. He then entered Prussian army. Discharged in 1770 but rejoined in 1787. Took part in Dutch and Pomeranian campaigns and commissioned lieut.-general in 1801, serving as governor of Munster in 1803. Captured by French in 1806 but was exchanged for a French general. In the War of Liberation he led Prussian troops under Russian command and became commander in chief of the Silesian army, in war against Napoleon in 1813; defeated Macdonald at Katzbach and Marmont at Mockern. Crossed the Elbe and was first to enter Leipzig. Created field marshal general, he crossed the Rhine in 1814 and besieged Napoleon at La Rothiere, but was forced to retreat. He defeated Napoleon at Laon and entered Paris in 1814 for which he was created Prince of Wahlstatt (in Silesia). As commander of Prussian forces in Belgium, 1815, he was defeated at Ligny, but aided Wellington in the victory of Waterloo. His original lodge is not known, but he was a constant visitor in the Lodge "Pax Inimicamalis" at Emmeriah in 1800–01; and in 1814 the Lodge “Archimedes” at Altenburg received him as an honorary member. His nickname was “Marshal Forward.”

Monte Blue Movie actor. b. Indianapolis, Ind. His father was a railroad engineer who was killed when Monte was 5, and when his mother died six years later, he and his brothers were placed in an orphans’ home at Knightstown, Ind. Worked his way through school and turned to his father’s trade of railroading. After working as a fireman on the Big Four, he became a soldier of fortune, trying almost everything—cowboy, lumberjack, sailor, with a circus and finally the silent films, where he was a popular Warner Brothers star. A member of Utopia Lodge No. 537 of Los Angeles, he was a member of the Los Angeles Consistory AASR and was noted for his impressive degree work in that branch of Freemasonry. He was also a member of Al Malaikah Shrine Temple and the famous “233 Club”—a movie-Masonic club.

Robert D. Blue Governor of Iowa (1945–49). b. Sept. 24, 1898 at Eagle Grove, Ia. In law practice at Eagle Grove since 1922. Served as state representative, Republican floor leader, speaker of the house and lieutenant governor. Mason, Shriner, member of Eastern Star and White Shrine.

Fred H. Blume Chief justice, Supreme Court of Wyoming. b. Jan. 9, 1875 at Audubon, Ia. Admitted to Iowa bar in 1899 and practiced at Audubon until 1904 when he moved to Sheridan, Wyo. Member of Wyoming lower house 1907–09 and senate, 1909–13. Has been a justice of the Supreme Court of Wyoming since 1921, serving as chief justice 1927–31, 1937–39 and 1945–47. Mason.

4th Lord of Blythswood (Archibald Douglas Campbell) 85th Grand Master Mason of Scotland (1926–28). b. April 25, 1870 at London, Eng. Active member of the Supreme Council of Scotland.

Elijah Boardman (1760–1823) U.S. Senator from Connecticut. b. March 7, 1760 at New Milford, Conn. Served several terms in the lower branch of the Connecticut legislature and in 1821 was elected to the U.S. Senate, serving in the 17th Congress. He died Oct. 8, 1823 at Boardman, Ohio, a town in which he was interested. He was a member of Columbia Lodge No. 25 at Stepney, Conn., and in 1809 of Hiram Lodge No. 1, New Haven.

Harold S. Boardman President of University of Maine 1926–34. b. March 31, 1884 at Bangor, Me. A civil engineer with degrees from Maine State, Mass. Institute of Technology, Univ. of Maine, Colby, Rhode Island College and Bates College. Alternated between teaching and practical engineering work, specializing in bridges and hydrographic, structural and hydraulic highway projects. Mason and 32° AASR (NJ).

Victor V. Boatner (1881–1950) President of Chicago Great Western Railroad and Peoria & Pekin Union Railroad. b. May 6, 1881 at Bethlehem, Mass. Began railroad career with Yazoo & Mississippi Valley in 1901. Served as director of railway transport in Office of Defense Transportation, 1942–44. Mason, AASR and Shriner. d. Feb. 11, 1950.

Hiram Abiff Boaz Methodist bishop. b. Dec. 18, 1866 at Murray, Ky. Licensed to preach in 1889 and ordained Methodist minister in 1891. Held several pastorates in Texas before becoming president of Polytechnic College at Fort Worth 1902–11; vice president of Southern Methodist Univ., Dallas, 1911–13; and president of Texas Woman's College, 1913–18. From 1918–20 he was president of S.M.U. In 1922 was elected bishop M.E. Church and assigned to superintend church work in China, Japan, Siberia and Manchuria. From 1926 until his retirement in 1938 he headed various conferences in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Mexico. A member of Granger Lodge No. 677, Granger, Texas, he served as grand chaplain of the G.L. of Texas in 1953. Active in York Rite Masonry, he is a noted Masonic speaker.

E. Manchester Boddy Newspaper executive. b. Nov. 1, 1891 at Lake Tapps, Wash. Began as salesman for Encyclopedia Britannica in New England, 1916. Owner and editor of Huntington Park Signal and Los Angeles Daily News. Is associate editor of L. D. Powell Co., book publishers. Served as infantry officer in WW1 and was disabled in Argonne Forest. Member of Craftsmen Lodge No. 559, Los Angeles, Calif.

Johann Joachim Christoph Bode (1730–1793) German musician, book-dealer and translator. Translated Sterne, Fielding, Goldsmith, Burney, Montaigne and others. Wrote extensively on Freemasonry and was one of the most distinguished Masons of his time. b. Jan. 16, 1730 in Brunswick. He was initiated in 1791 and is listed as a member and past master of Lodge Absalem at Hamburg. He served as deputy grand master of the G.L. of Hamburg.

Thomas Bodley (1744–?) American general who served in Wayne's Indian campaign. b. Feb. 2, 1744. A member of Lexington Lodge No. 1, Lexington, Ky., serving as master in 1798 and grand master of the G.L. of Kentucky in 1818.

Joseph R. Bodwell (1818–1887) Governor of Maine. b. June 18, 1818 in Methuen, Mass. Opened quarries in 1852 on an island in Penobscot Bay and in 1870 organized the Bodwell and Hallowell granite company. Served twice in the legislature and was elected governor in 1886. A member of Rockland Lodge No. 79, Rockland, Me. d. Dec. 15, 1887.

Johann Boeber Russian Royal Councilor of State and director of the School of Cadets at St. Petersburg during the reign of Alexander I q.v. It was presumably through his influence that Emperor Alexander revoked the edict against Freemasonry and became a member of the craft himself. Boeber was grand master of the G.L. of Russia from 1811–14. He became a member of the Lodge "Alexander of Charity of the Crowned Pelican" in 1808 or 1809. This lodge worked under the Swedish system.

Jacob Boehmen (also Bohm, Boehme) See Bohme J. Caleb Boggs Governor of Delaware. b. May 15, 1909 at Cheswold, Del. Received A.B. from Univ. of Delaware and LL.D. from Georgetown Univ. Practiced law in Wilmington. U.S. Congressman from 1946–52. Active service in WW1 as army colonel. Member of Eureka Lodge No. 23; 32° Delaware Consistory, both of Wilmington. Member of Nur Shrine Temple, Wilmington; Tall Cedars of Lebanon, Milford; National Sojourners, DeMolay, Jesters, of Wilmington.

Lewis V. Bogy (1813–1877) U.S. Senator from Missouri. b. April 9, 1813 at St. Genevieve, Mo., a descendant of the early French settlers of the region. Studied law in Illinois and Kentucky and graduated from Lexington Law School in 1835 and set up practice in St. Louis. Served several terms in Missouri legislature and in 1867–68 was commissioner of Indian affairs. Interested in the development of the mineral resources of the state, he was a founder and president of the St. Louis and Iron Mountain railroad. Elected to U.S. Senate as a democrat in 1873. Member of Polar Star Lodge No. 79 of St. Louis.

Jakob Bohme (1575–1624) Also Boehmen, Bohm, Boehme. Leading German theosophist and mystic. In later years some of his disciples who were Freemasons, sought to incorporate his dogmas into Freemasonry and to make the lodges schools of theosophy. The Theosophic Rites of Freemasonry, which prevailed to a great extent in France and Germany can be traced to Bohme's ideas. In 1634 he published Aurora, order die Morgenrote im Auf gang which was condemned as heretical by the church.

Simon Bolivar (1783–1830) The “George Washington” of South America, who in 20 years of warfare liberated from Spanish tyranny the area which is now Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru and Bolivia. b. in Caracas, Venezuela. He joined Freemasonry in Cadiz, Spain and received the Scottish Rite degrees in Paris and was knighted in a Commandery of Knights Templar in France in 1807. While on a diplomatic mission to London in 1810 he was active in Freemasonry in that country. He founded and served as master of Protectora de las Vertudes Lodge No. 1 in Venezuela and in 1824 founded the Lodge Order and Liberty No. 2 in Peru. In 1828, when the anti-Masonic wave was sweeping over the world, Bolivar forbade meetings of Masons in Venezuela. His Scottish Rite collar and apron are on exhibit in the New York Grand Lodge museum. Catholic born, he broke away from the church when, in his liberation movement, he found that the clerics who ruled with an iron hand under the Spanish administration were among his chief opponents. On his death bed in 1830 he returned to Catholicism for spiritual aid. Nevertheless it was as a Freemason that he performed the deeds which established him as one of the greatest liberators of the world.

Frank C. Bolles Major General, U.S. Army. b. Sept. 25, 1872 at Elgin, Ill. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1896 and promoted through grades to major general in 1935. Served in Spanish American War, Philippine Insurrection and WW1. Wounded twice and gassed once. Commanded 39th Infantry in WW1, later 30th Infantry at Presidio, Calif. Was commanding general of Ft. Russell, Ft. Stotsenburg, Fort Sheridan, Fort Sam Houston and 7th Corps Area. Retired in 1936. President of Union State Bank, South San Antonio, Texas since 1937. Mason and member of National Sojourners.

Jerome Bonaparte (1784–1860) Brother of Napoleon I q.v. b. Nov. 15, 1784. Served as lieutenant on an expedition to Haiti in 1803 and took refuge from British in United States where in 1803 he married Elizabeth Patterson of Baltimore. The marriage was annulled in 1805 as Napoleon did not recognize it. He later married Princess Catherine of Wurtemberg. He was made King of Westphalia in 1807 by Napoleon and was afterwards known as the Duc de Monfort. At Napoleon's defeat in 1814, he settled in Florence, returning to France in 1848; was made a Marshal of France in 1850 and served as president of the Senate. He was grand master of the Grand Orient of Westphalia. d. June 24, 1860.

Joseph Bonaparte (1768–1844) Eldest of the four brothers of Napoleon who were all Freemasons. b. Jan. 7, 1768. He was a member of the Council of Five Hundred in 1798 and councilor of state in 1799. Napoleon made him King of Naples from 1806–08 and King of Spain from 1803–13. From 1815–32, following Napoleon's defeat he lived in the United States under the name of Comte de Survilliers. He was made a Freemason at the Tuilleries in April, 1805 by a commission composed of "Bros. Cambaceres, Kellerman, Hugh Maret and several others" and in the same year was appointed as grand master of the Grand Orient of France by Napoleon. d. July 28, 1844.

Louis Bonaparte (1778–1846) Brother of Napoleon I and

King of Holland. b. Sept. 2, 1778. Made King of Holland in 1806 by Napoleon, abdicating in 1810, when he assumed the title of Comte de St. Leu. In 1805 he was governor of Paris, and when his brother, Joseph was named grand master of the Grand Orient of France in 1805, he was named deputy grand master. d. July 25, 1846. Father of Emperor Napoleon III.

Lucien Bonaparte (1775–1840) Brother of Napoleon I and a member of the Grand Orient of France. As president of the Council of Five Hundred in 1799, he aided Napoleon in securing dictatorship of France. He was named ambassador to Madrid in 1800 and negotiated a treaty between Spain and Portugal in 1801, but in 1810 was exiled for opposing Napoleon's policies and while on way to United States was captured by the English and held as prisoner of state in England. In 1814 he was given the title of Prince of Canino. b. May 21, 1775. d. June 29, 1840.

Napoleon Bonaparte See Napoleon I.

Shadrach Bond (1773–1832) First governor of Illinois. b. Nov. 24, 1773 in Frederick Co., Md. He moved to Kaskaskia (Ill.), then in Indiana territory and was a member of the legislature of the Illinois territory and its first delegate to Congress, serving from 1812–14. In 1814 he was appointed receiver of public monies and when Illinois became a state he was elected its first governor, serving 1818–22. He was initiated in Temple Lodge No. 26, Reisterstown, Md. and affiliated with Western Star Lodge No. 107 at Kaskaskia, Ill. on Dec. 27, 1806, serving as master of the lodge in 1815–18–27–28–29.

He was first grand master of the Grand Lodge of Illinois in 1822, which later became defunct. d. April 12, 1832.

Thomas Bond (1712–1784) Distinguished early day physician who founded the Pennsylvania hospital. He was closely associated with Benjamin Franklin and Dr. John Bartram, the botanist, in a literary society of Philadelphia. In 1749 he was deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania.

August (Anshel) Bondi (1833–1907) Compatriot of free-stater John Brown q.v. b. July 21, 1833 Vienna, Austria. An adventurer whose last request was that he be known as a “fighter for freedom,” he first saw action at the age of 14 in the Metternich revolution after which he migrated to the United States. He joined a group going to Cuba to fight the Spaniards, but this venture failed. He also attempted to join Perry’s first expedition to Japan. Finally settling in Kansas, he joined John Brown and his free-staters and participated in the battles of Blackjack and Osawatimie. At the outbreak of the Civil War he joined the 5th Kansas Cavalry and participated in the battles of Black River, Pine Bluff; and was left for dead on the battlefield at Monticello Cross Roads (Ark.) A few months later he was mustered out of the service. His many business ventures failed, due mainly to his wanderlust. He died Sept. 30, 1907 in St. Louis and was buried in Salina, Kansas with Jewish and Masonic rites.

William W. Bondurant Educator and college president. b. Rice, Va. Professor of Latin. President of Daniel Baker College, Brownwood, Texas, 1915–16. Superintendent of Texas Military Institute from 1926–47 (emeritus since 1952). Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Manual Jose Carazzo Bonilla Vice president of Costa Rica (1936–40) under President Castro. Was secretary of state. A brilliant student, he was active in many political fields. Member of Caridad Lodge No. 26. Ygnacio Bonillas (1858–1944) Ambassador from Mexico to United States from 1917. b. Feb. 1, 1858 at San Ygnacio, Sonora, Mexico. Studied at Mass. Inst. of Tech. Mining inspector, state of Sonora 1911–13. Secretary in first Carranza cabinet 1884–88. Member of 23rd Congress, State of Sonora and member of commission to settle difficulties arising from Villa's attack on Columbus, N. Mex. and Pershing expedition. Mason. d. Jan. 31, 1944.

Nicholas de Bonneville (1760–1828) French writer, book-seller, man of letters and president of one of the Paris districts at outbreak of French Revolution in 1789. b. March 13, 1760 at Evreux. In 1788 he published a book entitled The Jesuits driven from Freemasonry and their weapon broken by the Freemasons (translation). His theory was that the Jesuits had introduced the history of the life and death of the Templars into the symbolic degrees, and the doctrine of vengeance for the political and religious crime of their destruction. He is best known for his History of Modern Europe. (1792).

Milton O. Boone Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. June 15, 1891 at Oakland, N.J. Commissioned in 1917, rising to rank of brigadier general in 1948. Served in A.E.F. during WW1. During WW2 was commanding general of California

Quartermaster Depot at Oakland and later of the European command from 1946–48. Retired, 1948. Mason.

William J. Boone (1860–1936) Founder and president of College of Idaho, 1891–1936. b. Nov. 5, 1860 at Cannonsburg, Pa. Received B.A., M.A., D.D. from Wooster College (Ohio) and LL.D. and S.T.B. from Western Theological Seminary. Ordained Presbyterian minister in 1887. Mason. d. July 8, 1936.

Ballington Booth (1859–1940) Reformer and founder of The Volunteers of America. b. July 28, 1859 at Brighouse, Yorkshire, England, second son of General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army. Ballington was in charge of the Salvation Army in Australia from 1885–87 and in the United States from 1887 to 1896 when he withdrew from the army after disagreement with his father on the method of operation in America. He then organized a similar group, The Volunteers of America. His wife, Maud Charlesworth, aided him in founding the Volunteers and directed its prison work. She was one of the founders of the Parent–Teachers Association. Booth was a member of Montclair Lodge No. 144, N.J. about 1899, and later Charter Oak Lodge No. 249, New York City. He was past grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of New York and member of York and Scottish rites as well as Kismet Temple, AAONMS. d. Oct. 5, 1940.

Charles B. Booth Reformer and welfare worker, head of The Volunteers of America since 1948. Son of Ballington Booth q.v., founder of the Volunteers, and grandson of General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army. b. Dec. 26, 1887, Brooklyn, N.Y. Was general secretary of the Volunteer Prison League 1906–15 and national field secretary of the Big Brother and Big Sister Federation, 1925–29. Associated with The Volunteers of America since 1930 in Detroit, Pittsburgh and Kansas City, Mo. Western area secretary 1938–39, national field secretary, 1939–45, central area commander, 1945–49, and general commander in chief since 1949. Raised in Montclair Lodge No. 144, Montclair, N.J. and demitted to Morton Lodge No. 63, Hempstead, N.Y.

Edwin T. Booth (1833–1893) Famous Shakespearean actor of the American stage. b. Nov. 13, 1833 at Belair, Md. Member of a famous stage family, his father was Junius Brutus and his brother, John Wilkes, who assassinated Lincoln on April 14, 1865. Edwin first appeared on the stage in 1849 and by 1855 was a well established actor. His later travels carried him throughout the world. He was greatly admired for his moral strength in rising above periods of poverty and hunger, his father's addiction to drink and periods of insanity, and his brother's act of assassination and death. He was initiated in New York Lodge No. 330 on Sept 11, 1857 and raised Sept. 23. His love of Freemasonry is attested by his bequest of five thousand dollars to the Hall and Asylum Fund, and his statement that “. . . to be worshipful master and to throw my whole soul in that work, with the candidate for my audience, and the lodge for my stage, would be greater personal distinction than to receive the plaudits of the people in the theaters of the world.” He was an honorary member of the Masonic Veterans Association of New York, and on at least two occasions gave dramatic recitals in Independent Lodge. While visiting a lodge in Omaha, Nebr. he was called upon to give a short talk and when asked what his favorite hymn was, he answered Jesus Lover of My Soul, and recited it. Asked for his favorite prose, he called the members to stand and repeated The Lord's Prayer. In 1925 Booth was elected to the American Hall of Fame. d. June 7, 1893.

John L. Booth Broadcasting and newspaper executive. b. June 13, 1907 at Detroit, Mich. Founder, president and owner of Booth Radio & TV Stations, Inc., which includes WJLB, Detroit; WBBC, Flint; WSGW, Saginaw; WBKZ-TV, Kalamazoo-Battle Creek; WSBM-TV, Flint-Saginaw-Bay City-Midland, since 1939. As director of Booth Newspapers, Inc., he is owner and operator of the Grand Rapids Press, Flint Journal, Saginaw News, Bay City Times, Muskegon Chronicle, Kalamazoo Gazette, Jackson City Patriot, and Ann Arbor News. Mason.

Sir Robert Laird Borden (1854-1937) Prime minister of Canada, 1911-1920. 1:). in Nova Scotia where he was a member of the craft. Member of Parliament from 1896, and leader of Conservative opposition in House of Commons, 1901. Served as delegate to Paris Peace Conference in 1919 and was representative of Canada on Council of League of Nations.

James B. Boren President of Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, Texas. b. Nov. 16, 1905 at Ennis, Tex. Served as a public school superintendent from 1931-39, organizing and establishing Mangum (Okla.) Junior College in 1937, serving as president until 1939. From 1939–42 he was president of Southwestern Institute of Technology at Weatherford, Okla., and since 1939 has been president of Midwestern University (Hardin College). Mason.

Gutzon Borglum (John Gutzon de la Mothe Borglum) (1871–1941) Sculptor and painter, best known for the gigantic Mt. Rushmore national memorial in the Black Hills of S.D. b. March 25, 1871 in Idaho and educated in public schools of Nebraska. Studied art in San Francisco and Paris. M.A. from Princeton Univ. and L.L.D., Oglethorpe Univ. Painted, studied and traveled in Spain, Europe, England until 1901 when he settled in New York. Among his many marbles and bronzes are Sheridan Equestrian, Washington, D.C. and Chicago, Ill.; colossal marble head of Lincoln in rotunda of Capitol in Washington; bronze group, Mares of Diomedes in Metropolitan Museum; Lincoln, Newark, N.J.; Trudeau memorial, Saranac Lake; Trail Drivers Memorial, Texas. He designed and began carving the Confederate Memorial on the face of Stone Mountain, Ga., but a controversy arose with the association and he destroyed all plans and models. Borglum designed the Confederate half-dollar. His greatest work, however, is the Black Hills carving which he designed and officially started on August 10, 1927, when President Coolidge dedicated it. He lived to see the fourth head unveiled in 1939, but not to complete the work—which was done by his son, Lincoln q.v. in 1941. Borglum was an active Mason, being raised in Howard Lodge No. 35, New York City on June 10, 1904, and serving as its master in 1910–11. In 1915 he was appointed grand representative of the Grand Lodge of Denmark near the Grand Lodge of New York. He received his Scottish Rite Degrees in the New York City Consistory on Oct. 25, 1907, but was suspended in 1921. His lodge possesses the gavel used by him in the form of a bronze lion's paw, holding a stone from Solomon's Temple. He executed the bust of Edward M. L. Ehlers, who was grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of New York, that is now in the grand lodge library. His memorial "Silence" is in the Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial Hospital at the Masonic Home in Utica, N.Y. The cornerstone of his studio on the hills above Stamford, Conn. was laid with Masonic ceremonies by the grand master of New York under special dispensation from Connecticut. d. March 6, 1941.

Lincoln Borglum Sculptor. b. April 9, 1912 at Stamford, Conn., son of Gutzon Borglum q.v. the famous sculpture under his father for 12 years and also in Europe. With the National Memorial, Black Hills, S.D. since 1932. He was in charge of measurements and enlarging models from 1934–38 and superintendent of the memorial since 1938. Following the death of his father in 1941, he was assigned to complete the memorial. Lincoln was raised in Battle River Lodge No. 92 of Hermosa, South Dakota.

Ernest Borgnine Stage and screen actor, who in 1956 won an "Oscar" and more honors than any other actor for a single performance (in Marty) . Served ten years in U.S. Navy during WW2 and studied acting under the GI bill. Started on legitimate stage with Barter theater in Virginia and later to

New York. With Shakespearean group that gave eleven performances of Hamlet at Kronburg castle, Elsinore and then entertained soldiers in Europe. Back in America he was with a road show, playing the lead in Born Yesterday, winding up on Broadway in Mrs. McThing with Helen Hayes. Turning to TV he took the part of Captain Video and did some 200 radio and TV shows. The Mob brought him to Hollywood where he made From Here To Eternity and Marty. Borgnine is a member of Abingdon Lodge No. 48, Abingdon, Va.

Solon Borland (?–1864) U.S. Senator from Arkansas, Confederate brigadier general, minister to Nicaragua. Studied medicine and settled in Little Rock, Ark. Served in Mexican War and taken prisoner. Returning to Arkansas, he was appointed to fill Senator Sevier's unexpired term, 1948–53. Appointed minister to Nicaragua in 1853, serving until 1854. On his return he declined the governorship of New Mexico offered by President Pierce. Entered Civil War early and rose to rank of brigadier general in Confederate service. d. Jan. 31, 1864.

Henry V. Borst (1857–1925) Justice of Supreme Court of New York. b. July 6, 1857 at Cobleskill, N.Y. Graduate of Cornell Univ. and Albany (N.Y.) Law School. Admitted to New York bar in 1877 and became justice of Supreme Court of New York, 4th Dist., 1913, serving until his death Nov. 26, 1925. Mason.

Joseph Boruwlaski Celebrated dwarf of the 18th century known as "Count Borulaski" who was made a Mason at Warsaw, Poland and raised to the 3rd degree in the City of Chester, England (Feather's Lodge) on Nov. 15, 1783. English records show that he visited many Masonic lodges.

Frederick W. Boschen (1876–1942) Major General, U.S. Army. b. May 9, 1876 at Brooklyn, N.Y. Entered army as a private in 1898 and advanced through grades to major general in 1936. Served in Spanish American War and in WW1. Was chief of finances, U.S. Army from 1936 until retired. Mason. d. April 1, 1942.

Sir Alexander Boswell (1775–1822) Antiquarian and poet. Son of James Boswell q.v. the famous biographer of Dr. Johnson. He issued reprints of old poems from his private press and was a Conservative M.P. from 1818–21. He was ex-officio provincial grand master of Ayrshire and master of Canongate–Kilwinning Lodge No. 2 in Edinburgh when he was killed in a duel in 1822.

Elmer E. Boswell Hotel executive. b. Feb. 2, 1891 at Canton, Ill. Started as bell boy with Sheraton Hotel Corp. and rose to vice president in charge of all hotel operations and general manager since 1943. Director since 1952. Mason and Shriner.

James Boswell (1740–1795) Biographer of Dr. Samuel Johnson q.v. A Scottish lawyer who was acquainted with the literary greats of his age such as Voltaire, Rousseau and Wilkes. He met Dr. Johnson in London in 1763, visiting him frequently between 1772 and 1784 and touring the Hebrides with him in 1773. He took voluminous notes of Johnson's conversations. In 1782 he succeeded to his father's estate and was called to the English bar in 1786. He was raised in Canongate–Kilwinning Lodge, Edinburgh, on Oct. 14, 1759 and was master of the lodge in 1773–75 and deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Scotland from 1776–78. In Feb. 1777 he was made an honorary member of Lodge of Edinburgh No. 1. d. May 19, 1795. His son Alexander q.v. was active in Freemasonry as well as his uncle, John, q.v.

John Boswell One of the earliest known speculative Freemasons and ancestor of James Boswell q.v. the famous biographer of Samuel Johnson. Known as the Laird of Auchinleek (laird meaning property holder), he was present at a meeting of the Lodge of Edinburgh on June 8, 1600, and like his operative brethren, attested to the minutes by his mark.

John Boswell, M.D. Uncle of biographer James Boswell q.v. who was Censor of the Royal College of Physicians in Edinburgh. He was senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of Scotland in 1753–54.

Giovanni Bottesini (1821–1889) Italian musician and composer reputed to be the world's greatest contrabassist. He was director of the Conservatory at Parma. Among his compositions are the opera Cristoforo Colombo (1887), symphonies, and overtures. He was initiated June 20, 1849 in the Bank of England Lodge No. 263, London, England.

Karl August Bottiger (1760–1835) Famous German archaeologist and scholar. Initiated in the Lodge of the Golden Apple, Dresden, on November 8, 1781.

C. A. Bottolfsen Governor of Idaho. b. Oct. 10, 1891 at Superior, Wis. Began as a printer in Fessenden, N. Dak. and became publisher and owner of the Arco Advertiser in 1910. Elected governor of Idaho in 1939, serving two terms until 1945. Was member of the Idaho legislature four terms and speaker of the house in 1931. Served in WW1 as corporal in the army. A member of Arco Lodge No. 48, Arco, Idaho and a past district deputy grand master. Knight Templar and Shriner.

Raymond V. Bottomly Justice, Supreme Court of Montana. b. July 16, 1885 at Cederville, Kans. Admitted to bar in 1915. Was assistant attorney general of Montana for several years and attorney general from 1942–49. Elected justice of Supreme Court terms 1949–55 and 1955–61. Raised in Gaylord Lodge No. 183, Gaylord, Kansas in 1906 and demitted to become a charter member of Harlam Lodge No. 108, Harlam, Mont. 32° AASR (SJ) at Great Falls, Mont. Member of Algeria Shrine Temple, Helena, Mont.

Francis E. Bouck (1873–1941) Chief Justice Supreme Court of Colorado. b. Nov. 25, 1873 at New York City. Admitted to Colo. bar in 1896 and practiced at Leadville. Elected justice of Supreme Court of Colorado for term 1933–43 and served as chief justice from 1941 until death on Nov. 24, 1941. Mason.

Thomas Boude The brick mason for Independence Hall in Philadelphia, which after two centuries is still sound. He was the first secretary of St. John's Lodge in Philadelphia which laid the cornerstone of the hall with Benjamin Franklin as grand master. Boude later became deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania.

Elias C. Boudinot (1835–1890) Indian chief and one of the most noted characters of Indian Territory. b. Aug. 1, 1835 in Cherokee nation near Rome, Ga. Orphaned when young, he was raised by relatives. Settled in Fayetteville, Ark., studied law and admitted to bar in 1858, but soon turned to journalism and became editorialwriter. Elected secretary of the Arkansas secession convention in 1861 and helped General Standwaite raise an Indian regiment. In 1863 he was elected delegate for Indian Territory to the Confederate Congress. Spent his later years in Washington working for his Cherokee nation. He was an advocate of education for the Indian, the breaking up of tribal relations and of allotting the lands in severalty. It is believed that Albert Pike conferred the 32° on him in 1886. He died Sept. 27, 1890 and was buried with Masonic honors by Belle Point Lodge No. 20 of Fort Smith, Ark.

Louis de Bourbon-Conde (Comte de Clermont) (1709–1771) Elected Grand Master of France Dec. 2, 1743. He made many improvements in Freemasonry during his early years, but in the latter part of his life he delegated the work to others and on his death in 1771 left the craft weaker than when he first took over. It was during his grandmastership that the name was changed from the “English Grand Lodge of France” to the Grand Lodge of France.

Duchess of Bourbon First grand mistress of the French adoptive Freemasonry. Installed on March 25, 1775 in a fete d' adoption given by the Lodge of Candour under the constitution of the Grand Orient of France. The Duke of Chartres q.v. presided in his capacity as grand master of the Grand Orient. Other female members of note were the Duchess of Chartres, Princess Lambelle, Countess Polignac, Countess Choiseul-Gouffier and the Marchioness of Coutebonne q.v.

Thomas E. Bourke Major General, U.S. Marine Corps. b. May 5, 1896 at Saverna Park, Md. Commissioned in 1917 and advanced through grades to major general in 1945. Promoted to lieutenant general on retirement in 1946. Served in both World Wars including Virgin Islands, Nicaragua, Pearl Harbor, Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Saipan and Leyte. Mason.

Augustus O. Bourn Former governor of Rhode Island. He was raised May 18, 1860 in What Cheer Lodge No. 21, Providence, R. I.

Clarence M. Boutelle Author of The Man Of Mount Moriah, a novel with Masonic significance. Was raised in Rochester Lodge No. 21, Rochester, Minn. in 1885.

Warren E. Bow (1891–1945) President of Wayne University, Detroit, Mich. b. June 2, 1891 at Detroit. Received degrees from Univ. of Illinois, Univ. of Michigan and Battle Creek College. Teacher, principal and dean of schools. Superintendent of the Detroit Public Schools from 1942 and president of Wayne Univ. since 1942. Mason, Knight Templar, AASR and Shriner. d. May 12, 1945.

Sir Mackenzie Sowell (1823–1917) Prime Minister of Canada. b. at Rockinghall, England, he came to Canada in 1833. Represented North Hastings in Parliament from 1867–96 and served as Minister of Customs 1878–91. In the cabinet of Sir John A. Macdonald q.v. 1891–94 as Minister of Militia and later as Minister of Trade and Commerce. Served as Prime Minister from Dec. 21, 1894 to April 27, 1896, and thereafter for ten years was a member of the Senate and Conservative Party leader. He was knighted by Queen Victoria in 1895. While residing at Belleville, he was editor and publisher of the Belleville Intelligencer. He was raised in St. Lawrence Lodge No. 640 (English const. now No. 14 R.Q.) of Montreal in 1864. On Feb. 4, 1897 he affiliated with Eureka Lodge No. 283 (GL of Canada in Ont.), at Belleville, and was later a charter member of Moira Lodge No. 11 at Belleville.

John C. Bowen U.S. District Judge, western district of Washington. b. May 12, 1888 at Newbern, Tenn. Degrees from Univ. of Tennessee and Harvard Law School. Practiced in Washington. Member of Columbia River Basin Committee which promoted Grand Coulee Dam and assisted in letting the first construction contract. Was collector of internal revenue for Washington and Alaska 1933–34. U.S. district judge since 1934. Mason.

John Wesley Edward Bowen Methodist bishop. b. Sept. 24, 1889 at Baltimore, Md. Ordained to ministry of Methodist church in 1917. Held pastorates in Jackson, Miss., Shreveport and New Orleans, La.; dean of Walden College; field agent for Board of Sunday Schools. Editor of the Central Christian Advocate, 1944–48. Resident bishop of the Atlantic Coast Area, Methodist Church since 1948. Served in WW1 as chaplain. Mason.

Oliver Bowen (?–1800) Commodore of American Navy in the Revolutionary War. A revolutionary patriot of Augusta, Ga., who was successful in the early days of the war in seizing a large quantity of powder stored on Tybee Island, near Savannah, Ga., July 10, 1775. He joined the unsuccessful expedition against Wilmington in 1778. He has been called the “First Admiral of the American Navy.” A member of Solomon’s Lodge No. 1, Savannah, Ga., he was later suspended for visiting an illegal lodge at Sunbury, Ga.

Thomas Bartholomew Bowen (1741–1816) One of the founders of the Mother Supreme Council AASR (SJ) at Charleston, S.C. Born in Ireland, he emigrated to Pennsylvania and entered the Continental Army rising to rank of major with various Pennsylvania regiments, serving from April 6, 1776 to Jan. 1, 1781. He was a member of the Society of the Cincinnati. He was raised in Lodge No. 2 at Philadelphia on June 28, 1784 and entered the Scottish Rite the following year. He demitted from his original lodge May 8, 1785 upon moving to Charleston and was named first senior warden of a new lodge (No. 27) chartered by Pennsylvania. He was active in founding the Grand Lodge of South Carolina and in 1792 became its third grand master. As a printer, he published the South Carolina Weekly Messenger and Columbian Herald or Patriotic Courier of North America, and was also printer for the Supreme Council, AASR.

Oden Bowie Former Governor of Maryland. Member of Centre Lodge No. 108, Baltimore, Md. and reported as such in the grand lodge proceedings of 1895.

Henry L. Bowles (1866–1932) U.S. Congressman from 2nd Mass. district to 69th and 70th Congresses (1925–29). b. Jan. 6, 1866 at Athens, Vt. Began in lunch business with $1,000 borrowed capital in 1897 and extended business to ten cities in U.S. and Canada as Bowles Lunch, Inc. Mason. d. May 17, 1932.

John Bowles President, Rexall division of Rexall Drug Co. b. Nov. 16, 1916 at Monroe, N.C. Graduated from Univ. of N.C. in 1938 and began with Rexall Drug Co. in Los Angeles in 1949 as a stockroom clerk. Successively was field representative, district sales manager, regional sales manager and vice president. Director since 1955 and president of the Rexall division since 1955. Mason.

William Augustus Bowles (1763–1805) White man who became war chief of the Five Civilized Tribes. b. in Frederick Co., Md., the son of an English schoolmaster. He ran away when 13 and joined the British army obtaining a commission, later deserting at Pensacola, where he joined the Creek Indians and married an Indian woman. He led the Indian contingent at the surrender of Pensacola and was reinstated in the British Army for his service. He turned his Indians against the Spanish as well as the Americans to promote the British cause. On a trip to England, he was “admitted an honorary member” of Prince of Wales Lodge No. 259, London on Jan. 20, 1791. It is thought he was initiated at another place. He was made “Provincial grand master to the Creek, Cherokee, Chickasaw and Choctaw Indians” by the Grand Lodge of England. Twice captured by the Spaniards, he finally died prisoner in Morro Castle at Havana, Cuba, Dec. 23, 1805.

Frank L. Bowman (1879–1936) Congressman from 2nd W. Va. district to 69th to 72nd Congresses (1925–33). b. Jan. 21, 1879 at Masontown, Pa. Practiced law at Morgantown, W. Va. in 1905 and served as postmaster and mayor of that city. Mason. d. Sept. 15, 1936.

Grover C. Bowman President of Massachusetts State Teachers College since 1937. b. Dec. 15, 1884 at Covington, Ind. Degrees from Williams, Yale, Columbia, and Rhode Island College of Education. Taught school in 1906 and since has been associated with schools in supervisory and executive capacities. Mason.

Robert J. Bowman President of Pere Marquette Railroad since 1942 and Chesapeake & Ohio since 1946. b. April 15, 1891 at Fostoria, Ohio. Began as clerk in N.Y.C. & St. Louis R.R. in 1907. Mason.

James Bowron (1844–1928) President of Gulf States Steel Co. b. Nov. 16, 1844 in England and became U.S. citizen in 1885. Began in glass trade. Served as president of Gulf States Steel Co. 1913–21 and afterwards as chairman of the board. He built the town of South Pittsburgh, Tenn. which was started by his father. Is credited with having brought Alabama to the front as an active factor in the production of steel. Mason. d. Aug. 25, 1928.

Sir Leslie Boyce (1895–1955) Lord Mayor of London and corporation executive. b. July 9, 1895 at Taree, N.S.W. Educated at Oxford and called to the bar in 1922. Conservative member of Parliament from Gloucester, 1929–45; high sheriff of Gloucester, 1941–42; alderman, City of London since 1942 and lord mayor of London 1951–52. He is chairman and managing director of the Gloucester Railway Carriage & Wagon Co. and William Gardner & Sons, Ltd. Chairman and director of numerous other firms. Baroneted in 1952 and Knight Commander, O.B.E. He was senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England in 1948 and grand scribe N of the Grand Chapter of England in 1952. d. 1955.

David R. Boyd (1853–1936) University president. b. July 31, 1853 at Coshocton, Ohio. President of Univ. of Oklahoma, 1892–1908 and afterwards president emeritus. President of the Univ. of New Mexico 1912–19. Superintendent of Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, 1908–12. Mason. d. Nov. 17, 1936.

James E. Boyd Former Governor of Nebraska. Member of Capitol Lodge No. 3, Omaha, Nebr.

Thomas Boyd (?–1779) A lieutenant in the American Revolution whose life was spared by Indian Chief Joseph Brant when the former gave a Masonic sign. Brant turned him over to either Colonel John Butler q.v. or his son Captain Walter Butler who allowed the Senecas to torture and kill him when he refused to give information on the movements of General Sullivan's q.v. army. Boyd was probably a member of Military Lodge No. 19 under warrant from the grand lodge of Pennsylvania (now Montgomery No. 19, Philadelphia). It was this lodge that gave his remains Masonic burial.

William L. Boyden (1866–1939) Masonic librarian and author. b. Jan. 6, 1866 at Washington, D.C. Served as librarian for Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, Southern Jurisdiction for many years and wrote extensively on Masonic subjects. Raised in Osiris Lodge No. 26, Washington, D.C. in 1891. Was charter member, secretary and master of Albert Pike Lodge No. 36, Washington. d. Dec. 1, 1939.

Jean Pierre Boyer (1776–1850) President of Haiti from 1818–43. b. Feb. 28, 1776 at Port au Prince. He was a free mulatto and first became known in the revolution of 1792, fighting first against the planters and then against the negroes. He fled to France but returned to Haiti with Gen. Victor Leclerc to fight for the restoration of the colony to France. Afterwards he joined Petion and Christophe in the revolution to establish a republic. He succeeded Petion in 1818 as president of the southern portion and after the death of Christophe in 1820, the entire island was brought under his presidency. His maladministration caused the revolution of 1843 and brought his fall. He emigrated to Jamaica and thence to France, dying in Paris on July 9, 1850. He was grand commander of the Supreme Council AASR of Haiti, 33° and "Protector of the Order." According to the Magazine of American History (Vol. 13, p. 259, 1885) he was a frequent visitor to Somerset Lodge No. 34, Norwich, Conn.

Frank W. Boykin Congressman from 1st Alabama district 74th to 84th Congresses (1935–56). b. Feb. 21, 1885 at Bladon Springs, Ala. Started own business manufacturing railroad crossties and now identified extensively with real estate, farming, livestock, timber, lumber and naval stores in southern Alabama with headquarters at Mobile. Mason, AASR member, Shriner and Eastern Star.

Emerson R. Boyles Justice of Supreme Court of Michigan. b. June 29, 1881 in Eaton Co., Mich. Admitted to bar in 1903 and began practice in Charlotte, Mich. Served as probate judge, deputy attorney general of Michigan, member of Michigan Public Utilities Commission and legal advisor to the governor. Justice of the Supreme Court of Michigan since 1940. Mason and Knight Templar.

James S. Boynton Former Governor of Georgia. Reported as a member of St. John's Lodge No. 45, Jackson, Ga. in the grand lodge proceedings of 1862.

Paul Boynton (1848–?) Famous swimmer and adventurer. b. June 29, 1848 in Dublin, Ireland. Raised in Lodge of Friendship No. 206, London, England on May 21, 1875. With Gen. Pedro Martinez in revolution in Sonora, Mexico, followed by life-saving service on Atlantic coast where in years 1867–69 he saved 71 lives. He then served in the Franco–Prussian war and afterwards to African diamond fields. In 1874 he made a spectacular leap from a ship off the coast of Ireland in a storm and by means of a rubberized, inflated suit he had invented, gained land 40 miles away. He gained world wide renown with his suit, propelling himself feet forward with a double-bladed paddle. Among his exploits were: crossed English channel in 24 hours (1875); paddled Rhine 430 miles (1875); Alton, Ill. to St. Louis, Mo. on the Mississippi (1876) and same year Bayou Goula to New Orleans, 100 miles in 24 hours; 400 miles on the Danube in six days (1876); navigated all important rivers of the continent, passed through canals of Venice and crossed the straits of Gibraltar; returned to the U.S. and floated from Oil City, Pa. to the Gulf of Mexico—2,342 miles in 80 days. His longest voyage was in 1881 when he started at Cedar Creek, Mont. and ended at St. Louis, Mo., 3,580 miles. In 1880–81 he was a commander of the Peruvian torpedo service, captured by the Chilians and ordered executed, but escaped by sea.

John Bracken Leader of Progressive Conservative Party of Canada and former premier of Manitoba. b. June 22, 1883 at Seeley's Bay, Ont. An agriculturist, he was professor of field husbandry at the Univ. of Saskatchewan, 1910–20 and president of Manitoba Agricultural College, Univ. of Manitoba, 1920–22. Member of Manitoba legislature and premier of Manitoba 1922–42. Elected to Canadian House of Commons, 1945. Leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, 1942–48. Mason.

Hugh H. Brackenridge (1748–1816) Justice, Supreme Court of Pennsylvania from 1799–1816. b. near Campbellton, Scotland. Brought to United States when five years old. Graduated from Princeton in 1771 in same class as James Madison. Went to Philadelphia in 1776 and edited the United States Magazine. Served as a chaplain in the Revolution. d. June 25, 1816. Member of Lodge No. 45, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Theophilus Bradbury (1739–1803) Justice, Supreme Court of Massachusetts. b. Nov. 13, 1739 in Newbury, Mass. Graduated at Harvard in 1757 and studied law while teaching at Falmouth (now Portland) Maine. Practiced law in Falmouth until 1779 when he returned to Newbury, served in both houses of the state legislature and twice elected to U.S. Congress, but resigned in 1797 to accept appointment of judge on the Massachusetts Supreme Court. Mason and member of Newburyport Commandery K.T. d. Sept. 6, 1803.

Thomas Bradford (1745–1838) Son of Col. William Bradford, known as the “patriot printer of 1776.” b. May 4, 1745 at Philadelphia. He entered his father’s printing office and became his partner and associate editor of the Pennsylvania Journal which he changed to the True American in 1801. It was printed in the same building occupied by his great-uncle, Andrew (8 Front St.) who published the American Weekly Mercury, the first newspaper in Philadelphia (1719) in which Benjamin Franklin q.v. first worked as a compositor. Thomas became captain of a military company in Philadelphia in 1775 and later was commissary-general of the Pennsylvania division of the Continental Army. After founding of federal government, he became printer to Congress. He was a member of Lodge No. 2, Philadelphia as was his brother, William, Jr. q.v. d. May 7, 1838.

William Bradford, Jr. (1755–1795) Son of Col. William Bradford who was known as the “patriot printer of 1776,” and brother of Thomas q.v. b. Sept. 14, 1755 at Philadelphia. Graduated from Princeton in 1772 and studied law. Served in the Revolutionary War as lieut. colonel. In 1780 was appointed attorney general of Pennsylvania and justice of supreme court of Pennsylvania in 1791. On Jan. 8, 1794 he succeeded Edmund Randolph q.v. as the second attorney general of the United States and served until his death on Aug. 23, 1795. Member of Lodge No. 2, Philadelphia.

Henry D. Bradley President of the St. Joseph News–Press–Gazette Corp. b. Jan. 10, 1893 at Detroit, Mich. Was with the Toledo Blade (Ohio) from 1906–23 and in 1923 was with Lord Beaverbrook on the London Express (Eng.) in advisory capacity. From 1924–26 he was general manager of Norristown Times–Herald (Pa.) and president and general manager of the Times–Star at Bridgeport, Conn. He was publisher of the News Press and Gazette at St. Joseph from 1939 and president from 1950. He has recently turned the active managership over to his son, David. He is a member of Sanford L. Collins Lodge No. 396 of Toledo, Ohio, and a KCCH in the St. Joseph (Mo.) Consistory AASR (SJ).

Joseph S. Bradley Major General, U.S. Army. b. June 9, 1900 at Vancouver, Wash. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy, 1919 and advanced through grades to major general in 1944. Served with American occupation forces following WW1 and with infantry regiments in U.S., China and Philippines. With 32nd Division in S.W. Pacific in 1942. Now chief of training group, War Department General Staff, G-2. Mason.

Omar N. Bradley General of the Army (5-star). b. Feb. 12, 1893 at Clark, Mo. Graduated from West Point in 1915; Infantry School, 1925; Command and General Staff School, 1929; and Army War College, 1934. He has since received honorary LL.B. and other degrees from 20 institutions of higher learning. Advanced from 2nd lieut. in 1915 to brigadier general, 1941; major general, 1942; lieut. general, 1943; general, 1945 and general of the army, 1950. In WW2 he commanded the 2nd Corps in the Northern Tunisian and Sicilian campaigns; the 1st U.S. Army in the Normandy campaign and the 12th Army Group in France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and Germany. He was chief of staff, U.S. Army 1948-49 and chairman U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, 1949-53. In 1945-47 he was administrator of Veterans Affairs. Since 1953 he has been chairman of the board of Bulova Research and Development Labs., Inc. He was raised in West Point Lodge No. 877, Highland Falls, N.Y. in 1923.

Willis W. Bradley (1884-1954) Naval officer, governor of Guam, U.S. Congressman. b. June 28, 1884 at Ransomville, N.Y. Graduated U.S. Naval Academy, 1907. Commissioned in Navy, 1907 and advanced through grades to captain in 1933, retiring in 1946. Governor of Guam 1929-31. Member of Congress from 18th dist. of California 1947-49. Awarded Congressional Medal of Honor in WW1 and Silver Medal from Pope Pius XI. Mason, 32° AASR, Knight Templar and Shriner. Past national president of National Sojourners. d. Aug. 27, 1954.

Aaron Bradshaw Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. July 1, 1894 at Washington, D.C. Graduated U.S. Military Academy, 1917 and commissioned, advancing through grades to brigadier general in 1943. Recipient of many decorations including Papal Lateran Cross. Editor of Coast Artillery Journal, 1936–40. Mason.

De Emmett Bradshaw Former president of Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society and now chairman of the board. b. Jan. 5, 1869 in Izard Co., Ark. Practiced law since 1894, first in Arkansas and later in Nebraska. General attorney for Woodmen 1916–32 and president, 1932–43. Director of Omaha National Bank and Western Union Telegraph Co. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

John Bradstreet (1711–1774) British Major General of the French–Indian Wars. b. in Horbling, England. Sent to America as a young officer and remained here the rest of his life. Served in the expedition against Louisburg in 1745 as lieut. colonel of Pepperell's regiment. Made captain in 1745 and the following year appointed lieutenant governor of St. John's, Newfoundland. Defeated a strong party of French between Oswego and Albany, N.Y. Participated in the attack on Ticonderoga in 1758 and was made quartermaster general with the rank of colonel. In Aug. 1758 he captured Fort Frontenac, which he razed to the ground and served under Amherst in his expedition against Crown Point and Ticonderoga in 1759. He was advanced to major general in 1772 and fought in Pontiac's war, negotiating a treaty of peace in Detroit in 1764. He was a member of the craft in Nova Scotia. d. Sept. 25, 1774 in New York City.

John M. Bradstreet American lawyer and businessman, who, in 1849 established Bradstreet's Improved Mercantile Agency, which in 1876 was called the Bradstreet Co. In 1933 it merged with the R. G. Dunn and Co. to form Dunn and Bradstreet, Inc., a firm furnishing financial data and credit ratings of American businesses and businessmen. Member of St. John's Lodge No. 1, New York City.

Hugh Brady (1768–1851) Major General in War of 1812. b. in Northumberland Co., Pa. Joined the army as an ensign in March, 1792 and served in the western expedition under General Wayne. In War of 1812 he led the 22nd Infantry in Battle of Chippewa and distinguished himself in battles of Lundy's Lane and Niagara. Made brigadier general in 1822 and major general in 1848. Initiated June 9, 1797 in Lodge No. 22, Sunbury, Pa. and withdrew Jan. 15, 1805. d. April 15, 1851.

James H. Brady (1862–1918) U.S. Senator from Idaho. b. June 12, 1862 in Indiana Co., Pa. Moved to Idaho in 1894 and became governor of the state from 1909–11. Elected U.S. Senator in Jan. 1913 for term 1913–15 and again in 1914. Mason. d. Jan. 13, 1918.

James T. Brady (1815–1869) Famous criminal lawyer. b. April 9, 1815 in New York City. Admitted to the bar in 1836. It was said that he never lost a case in which he was before the jury for more than a week. At one time he successfully defended four clients charged with murder in a single week, and all without fee or reward. Made a Mason at sight by the grand master of New York in 1866 in Ivanhoe Lodge No. 610. d. Feb. 9, 1869.

David L. Brainard (1856–1946) Arctic explorer and brigadier general, U.S. Army. b. Dec. 21, 1856 in Norway, N.Y. Entered army as a private in 1876 and rose to brig. general in 1918. Served in Sioux, Nez Perce and Bannock campaigns (1877–78). Detailed for duty with Howgate Arctic exploring expedition in 1880. He was with Lady Franklin Bay Arctic expedition under Lt. Greely from 1881–84 and was one of the seven survivors rescued by Comdr. W. S. Schley. On May 13, 1882, he with two others reached the most northerly point attained up to that time (83°, 24', 30"). Received many awards and decorations for his services in the Arctic. Member of Marathon Lodge No. 438, Marathon, N.Y. in 1885. d. March 22, 1946.

William G. Bramham (1874–1947) Baseball executive. b. July 13, 1874 at Hopkinsville, Ky. Admitted to N.C. bar in 1905 and practiced at Durham. President and treasurer of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, 1933–46 and from 1946 until death, consultant to the president of the National Association. He also served as president of the following professional baseball clubs: South Atlantic, Piedmont League, Eastern Carolina League, Virginia League.

Mason and Shriner. d. July 8, 1947.

Thomas E. Bramlette (1817–1875) Governor of Kentucky.
b. Jan. 3, 1817 in Cumberland Co., Ky. Admitted to bar in 1837 he was judge of the sixth district in 1856 but resigned in 1861 to raise the 3rd Kentucky Infantry, and became its colonel. He was elected governor of Kentucky as a Union man in 1863 and by re-election until 1867. He was past master of Albany Lodge No. 260, Albany, Ky. and a Knight Templar.
d. Jan. 12, 1875.

Cardinal Brancafarte Casanova, in his Memoirs wrote of him: “The first day of the year, 1772, I presented myself to the Cardinal Brancafarte, Legate of the Pope, whom I had known at Paris 20 years previously when he was sent by Benoit (Benedict XIV) to carry the blessed linen clothes to the new-born Duke de Bourgoyne. We had been together in a Lodge of Freemasons for the members of the Sacred College who thundered against the Freemasons and knew well that their anathemas impressed only the weak, whom a too lively light might dazzle.”

John Branch (1782–1863) Secretary of the Navy, Governor of North Carolina, Governor of Territory of Florida, U.S.
Senator. b. Nov. 4, 1782 at Halifax, N.C. Studied law and became judge of the superior court and was state senator from 1811–17, 1822, 1834. Elected governor in 1817 and was U.S. Senator from 1823–29, resigning when appointed Secretary of the Navy by Pres. Jackson. In 1844–5 he was governor of the territory of Florida, serving until the election of a governor under the state constitution. Member of Royal White Hart Lodge No. 2, Halifax, N.C. d. Jan. 4, 1863.

James T. Brand Justice, Supreme Court of Oregon. b. Oct. 9, 1886 at Oberlin, Ohio. Degrees from Oberlin College, Harvard and Willamette Univ. Began private law practice in 1914 after three years as a forest ranger. Served as circuit judge 1927–41 and since that time has been associate justice of the Supreme Court of Oregon and chief justice in 1951–52. He was appointed judge of the military tribunal for trial of major war criminals at Nurnberg, Germany in 1947. Mason.

William A. Brandenburg (1869–1940) President of Kansas State Teachers College, 1913–40. b. Oct. 10, 1869 at Clayton Co., Iowa. Teacher and school superintendent in Iowa, Oklahoma and Kansas. Mason. d. Oct. 29, 1940.

Rodney H. Brandon Organizer of Loyal Order of the Moose. b. Sept. 21, 1881 at Monroe Co., Ind. One of the founders of the Loyal Order of the Moose in 1906 and an official in it until 1929. In 1913 he supervised the construction of Mooseheart and established Moosehaven, Fla. in 1922. Organizer of the Progressive Party in Indiana in 1912, moving to Illinois in 1913 where he was delegate to state constitutional convention in 1919. From 1929–33 he was director of Department of Public Welfare of Ill. In 1926 he was special investigator for U.S. of child welfare conditions in Europe. Lecturer in criminology, social hygiene and medical jurisprudence, Univ. of Illinois since 1933. Mason.

William W. Brandon (1868–1934) Governor of Alabama. b. June 5, 1868 at Talladega, Ala. Admitted to bar in 1892 and practiced at Tuscaloosa. Became successively a member of state house of representatives, clerk of Alabama constitutional convention, state auditor and probate judge. Served as governor from 1923–27. A major in Spanish American War, he was brigadier general and adjutant general of the Alabama national guard from 1898–1907. d. Dec. 7, 1934. Member of Rising Virtue Lodge No. 4 at Tuscaloosa.

Samuel Brannan (1819–1889) Mormon pioneer of California. b. in Saco, Me., he was an editor and printer and elder in the Mormon church, editing Mormon journals. He was leader of the Mormon colony that arrived in San Francisco in July, 1846 on the ship Brooklyn from New York. The discovery of gold in 1848 led to the dissolution of the Mormon community in California and a little later to Brannan's apostasy from the Mormon church, an event that followed a quarrel with Brigham Young and other Utah leaders. Brannan was practically first in everything in the San Francisco area. He preached the first Protestant sermon in California and solemnized the first Protestant marriage in the state. He was the subject of the first jury trial and organized the first newspaper, The California Star in San Francisco (2nd in the state). He brought the first gold from Coloma and thereby started the first stampede from that village to the new diggings on the American River. He was the first to offer a resolution to exclude slavery from California. He was California's first millionaire, built the first flour mill in San Francisco and was a member of California Lodge No. 1, of San Francisco.

Melvin A. Brannon (1865–1950) College president and biologist. b. Sept. 11, 1865 at Lowell, Ind. Taught science and biology 1890–1914. Organized School of Medicine, Univ. of North Dakota in 1905. President of Univ. of Idaho 1914–17 and Beloit College 1917–23. Chancellor University of Montana 1923–33. Mason. d. March 26, 1950.

John Brant (1794–1832) Indian chief of the Mohawks and son of the more famous Joseph Brant q.v. His Indian name was Ahyouwaighs. b. Sept. 27, 1794 at Mohawk Village, Upper Canada. Served the British with distinction in the War of 1812. Visited England in 1821 in effort to settle differences between the Mohawks and the government of Upper Canada and correspondence shows that he was also commissioned by the grand lodge at Niagara to place the state of the Craft before the English Masonic authorities. He succeeded his father, the noted Joseph, as principal chief of the Six Nations in 1807. He died in Sept. 1832 of Asiatic cholera, having been elected to the parliament of Upper Canada only shortly before. It is supposed that he was initiated about 1815 in Union Lodge No. 24 which first met in Flamborough Village and afterwards at Dundas and Ancaster. He received his second degree on May 10, 1818. On Nov. 7, 1818 he was acting secretary of the lodge and was elected junior warden on Dec. 27, 1819.

Joseph Brant (1742–1807) Mohawk Indian chief and later principal chief of the Six Nations. He was the first Indian-Freemason of which there is record and the most famous Indian of the Revolutionary period. b. on the banks of the Ohio river in 1742. Sir William Johnson q.v. became interested in him and educated him in Eleazar Wheelock's school. Johnson also was the common-law husband of Brant's sister, Molly. In 1771 Brant became chief sachem of the Six Nations at the age of 29. He fought with Johnson in Battle of Lake George (1755); Niagara campaign (1759) and Pontiac's War (1763). He became secretary to Guy Johnson q.v., superintendent of Indian affairs and nephew of Sir William, in 1774. Sent to England in 1775 where he was made a Freemason in Hiram's Cliftonian Lodge No. 417, London, early in 1776. Returning to America, he participated as a colonel in the Cherry Valley massacre (1778); Minisink, Fort Stanwix and Oriskany (1779). At the war's end in 1783, he settled with his Mohawks on a six square mile grant on the Grand River in Ontario (Upper Canada). During the war Brant was credited with saving the lives of several Freemasons who appealed to him Masonically. They were: Col. John McKinstry (May 20, 1776); Lt. Johnathan Maynard (May 30, 1778); Major John Wood (July 19, 1779); Lt. Thomas Boyd (Sept. 13, 1779) who was later killed by the whites (q.v. each of the above names). In 1785 Brant again visited England in connection with a land grant and in 1796 was present at the first meeting of Barton Lodge No. 10, being listed as a member. In 1798 a charter was issued to Lodge No. 11, Brantford, Mohawk Village and named Joseph Brant as first master. He died Nov. 24, 1807 at the Brant mansion in Wellington Square, Ont. and his son John (Ahyouwaighs) was named principal chief as his successor q.v.

Charles W. Brashares Methodist Bishop. b. March 31, 1891 at Williamsport, Ohio. Attended Ohio Wesleyan, Boston Univ.,

Harvard and Cornell, receiving degrees of A.B., D.D., LL.D. Ordained Methodist Episcopal church in 1917 and served as pastor in Mass., Maine, Ohio, and Mich. from 1917–44. Bishop of Des Moines area from 1944–52 and bishop of Chicago area since 1952. Mason. Raised in Harmony Lodge No. 38, Gorham, Me. about 1918 and received AASR degrees in Dayton, Ohio. Demitted.

Alva J. Brasted Chief of chaplains, U.S. Army. b. July 5, 1876 at Findley Lake, N.Y. Ordained to Baptist ministry in 1905 and held pastorates in N. Dak., Minn., and Iowa until 1913 when commissioned chaplain in U.S. Army, rising to rank of colonel and chief of chaplains 1933–47. Now retired. Raised in Wauconda Lodge No. 298, Wauconda, Ill. and presently member of Sojourners Lodge No. 51, Washington, D.C. 32° AASR (SJ) in Fargo, N. Dak. in 1916.

Sam G. Bratton U.S. Senator from New Mexico and federal judge. b. Aug. 19, 1888 at Kosse, Texas. Educated in public schools and admitted to Texas bar in 1909, moving to Clovis, N. Mex. in 1915. Judge of the district court, 5th judicial dist. of N. Mex. 1919–22; associate justice supreme court of New Mex. 1923–24; U.S. Senator from N. Mex. 1925–33. Judge, U.S. Court of Appeals, 10th circuit since 1933. Member of Clovis Lodge No. 40, Clovis, New Mexico, 32° AASR (SJ) in Valley of Santa Fe; Ballut Abyad Shrine Temple, Albuquerque, N.M. and Honorary Legion of Honor, Order of DeMolay.

Mason Brayman (1813–?) Major General in Civil War (Union). b. May 23, 1813 in Buffalo, N. Y. Brought up as a farmer, but became a printer and edited the Buffalo (N. Y.) Bulletin, later studying law and taking up practice in Monroe, Mich. in 1838. In 1842 he opened a law office in Springfield, Ill. In 1845–46 he was special attorney to prosecute offenses growing out of the Mormon difficulties and negotiated a peace between the followers of Joseph Smith q.v. and their enemies at Nauvoo, Ill. Joined volunteer army in 1861 and was major in the 29th Illinois regiment, being promoted to major general at the close of the war. After war he engaged in railroad enterprises, edited the Illinois State Journal and moved to Wisconsin in 1873 and in 1876 was appointed as governor of the Territory of Idaho for four years, later returning to Wisconsin and practicing law at Ripon. Mason. Member Springfield (Ill) Lodge No. 4.

David Brearley (1745–1790) Revolutionary soldier, member of Constitutional Convention, chief justice of New Jersey and first grand master of New Jersey. b. June 11, 1745 near Trenton, N.J. He practiced law in Allentown and took an early part in the controversy with England for which he was arrested for high treason but set free by a mob of his fellow citizens. He was a member of the first convention to frame a constitution prior to 1781, and was an officer in the Revolutionary War. Elected chief justice of New Jersey in 1779, he served until 1789, when he was appointed U.S. District judge. He was one of the compilers of the Protestant Episcopal prayer-book of 1785 and was first grand master of New Jersey, serving from 1786 until his death on Aug. 10, 1790. Mason.

John Breathitt (1786–1834) Governor of Kentucky. b. Sept. 9, 1786 near New London, Va., he moved to Kentucky with his father in 1800 where he was a surveyor, teacher, studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1810. A Jacksonian Democrat, he served several years in the legislature and was lieut. governor of Kentucky in 1828–32 and governor in 1832–34. He was a member of Russellville Lodge No. 17 and Russellville Chapter No. 8, R.A.M.

Daniel Breck (1788–1871) Judge, Supreme Court of Kentucky and U.S. Congressman. b. Feb. 12, 1788 at Topsfield, Mass. Graduated at Dartmouth in 1812, studied law and began practice in Richmond, Ky. in 1814. He became judge of the Richmond County court, was a member of the Kentucky house of representatives from 1824–29 and a judge of the supreme court of Kentucky from 1834–49. He served in the 31st Congress from 1849–51. A past master of Richmond Lodge No. 25, he served as grand master of Kentucky in 1827–28.

John Cabell Breckinridge (1821–1875) 14th Vice President of the United States, U.S. Senator, major general in Confederate army and secretary of war of the Confederate states. b. Jan. 21, 1821 near Lexington, Ky. A grandson of John Breckinridge, U.S. Senator and attorney general. Educated at Centre College and Transylvania Institute, he resided in Burlington, Iowa for a short time before settling at Lexington, Ky. where he practiced law. While in Burlington he petitioned Des Moines Lodge No. 41 (now 1) on Feb. 7, 1842 and on Dec. 5, 1842 was elected senior warden of the lodge, and re-elected on June 5, 1843. Served as a major in the war with Mexico in 1847, returning to Kentucky to be elected first to the house of representatives and then to the U.S. Congress in 1851 and again in 1853. Elected vice president of the U.S. in 1856, serving from 1857–1861. As a presidential candidate in 1860 he received 72 electoral votes. The same year he was elected U.S. Senator from Kentucky to succeed John J. Crittenden q.v. At the beginning of the Civil War, he defended the south in the Senate and soon entered the Confederate service for which he was expelled from the senate on Dec. 4, 1861. On Aug. 5, 1862 he was made major general and for the next two years fought in many battles. He was secretary of war in Jefferson Davis's cabinet from Jan. 1865 until the close of the conflict when he fled to Cuba and then to Europe. He returned to the states in 1868 determined to have no further part in politics. He became a member of Good Samaritan Lodge No. 174 at Lexington, Ky. by affiliation; was suspended in 1861 and reinstated on Nov. 16, 1871. He was a member of Temple Chapter No. 19, R.A.M., Webb Commandery No. 2, K.T., both of Lexington and received the 33° AASR (SJ) on March 28, 1860. d. May 17, 1875 at Lexington, Ky. and was buried with Knight Templar services.

Robert Jefferson Breckinridge (1800–1871) Clergyman, lawyer, author and principal author of the public school system of Kentucky. b. March 8, 1800 at Cabell's Dell, Ky. Attended Princeton and practiced law for eight years, but in 1829 he determined to enter the ministry and was licensed to preach in 1832. Held several Presbyterian pastorates including Martimore and Lexington, Ky. Served four years in Kentucky legislature. Edited several religious magazines and wrote a number of books. He was opposed to slavery even though his nephew John C. Breckinridge q.v. was secretary of war in Jefferson Davis's cabinet. He presided over the national Republican convention in 1864 which renominated Lincoln. His nephew, John C., was Lincoln's closest contender in the previous election. Member of Lexington Lodge No. 1 and Lexington Chapter No. 1 of Lexington, Ky. d. Dec. 27, 1871.

William C. P. Breckinridge (1837–1904) Member U.S. Congress (1884–95) from 7th Kentucky district. First cousin of John C. Breckinridge q.v. vice-president of the United States. b. Aug. 28, 1837 at Baltimore, Md. son of Robert J. Breckinridge q.v. Although his father was opposed to slavery, William entered the Confederate army as a captain in 1861 and became colonel of the 9th Kentucky cavalry and commanded the brigade when it surrendered. Became professor of equity jurisprudence in Cumberland Univ., Term. A member of Lexington Lodge No. 1, Ky., he delivered the oration at the cornerstone laying of the Masonic Temple in Richmond, Virginia in 1888.

Ernest R. Breech Chairman of the board of Ford Motor Company. b. Lebanon, Mo. Feb. 24, 1897. Began as an accountant with Fairbanks, Morse & Co. in 1917. Assistant treasurer of General Motors Corp., 1929–33 and vice president, 1933–42; chairman of board of North American Aviation 1933–42; president of Bendix Aviation Corp., 1942–47. Executive vice president and director of Ford Motor Co. from 1946–1955 and chairman of the board since. Holds directorates of several large corporations. Raised in Austin Lodge No. 850, Chicago, Ill. in 1924. AASR (NJ) at Detroit and sovereign grand inspector general, 33°, since Sept. 1956.

R. E. Breed (1866–1926) Organizer and president of American Gas & Electric Co. b. March 17, 1866 at Pittsburgh, Pa. Director of many corporations. Mason. d. Oct. 14, 1926.

Robert G. Breene Major general, U.S. Army. b. Sept. 17, 1894 at Dayton, Ohio. Graduated with B.S. in M.E. from Purdue Univ. in 1917. Commissioned in 1917 and advanced through grades to major general in 1943. Mason.

Edmund Breese (1871–1936) Actor. b. June 18, 1871 at Brooklyn, N.Y. On the legitimate stage from 1896. Played lead roles in Neil Gwynn, Marie Stuart and Frou Frou. With James O'Neil in Merchant of Venice (1898); all star cast of Monte Cristo (1899), Romeo and Juliet (1899), Ransom's Folly (1904), Strongheart (1905). Originated "John Burkett Ryder" in The Lion and the Mouse which he played in New York and London. Later played "Richard Brewster" in The Third Degree. Star of The Earth in 1909. Member of St. John's Lodge No. 6, Norwalk, Conn. d. April 6, 1936.

Sidney Breese (1800–1878) U.S. Senator from Illinois and chief justice, Supreme Court of Illinois. b. July 15, 1800 at Whitesboro, N.Y. Moved to Illinois in 1821 where he became assistant secretary of state the following year and advanced to state attorney, U.S. attorney, circuit judge and in 1841 elected to the supreme court of that state. From 1843–49 he was U.S. Senator from Illinois. In 1857 he was again elected to the supreme court and in 1873 became chief justice, holding that position until his death. Served in the Black Hawk War; a regent of the Smithsonian Institution; one of the organizers of the Illinois Central Railroad. He was a member and past master of Scott Lodge No. 79, Carlyle, Ill. d. June 27, 1878.

Walter E. Brehm U.S. Congressman from 11th Ohio district 78th to 81st Congresses (1943–51). b. May 25, 1892 at Somerset, Ohio. Practiced dentistry at Logan, Ohio 1917–42. Served in Ohio legislature two terms. Initiated in Somerset Lodge No. 76 in 1915 and presently member of Mingo Lodge No. 171, Logan, Ohio. Exalted in Somerset Chapter No. 61, R.A.M. presently member of Logan Chapter No. 75. Took his council and commandery work at New Lexington, Ohio and presently member of those bodies at Logan. Member of Consistory (32°) AASR (NJ) at Columbus and Aladdin Shrine at Columbus. Has served as master of his lodge, high priest of chapter, commander of commandery and also secretary of lodge.

Sereno E. Brett (1891–1952) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Oct. 31, 1891 at Portland, Oreg. Commissioned in 1916 and rose to brigadier general in 1942. A pioneer in tank warfare, he organized and commanded the 327th Battalion Tank Corps in June 1918, and as a major led the first American tank attack with the 326th battalion at St. Mihiel, Sept. 12–15, 1918. Commanded 1st American Tank Brigade throughout Meuse–Argonne. He was chief of staff of the Armored Force in 1940–41 and commanded the Fifth Armored Division from 1942 until retirement Oct. 31, 1943. Member of Hancock Lodge No. 311, Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, Hawaiian Chapter No. 9 of National Sojourners and Lafayette Chapter No. 7, Heroes of '76 at Baltimore. d. Sept. 9, 1952.

Basil Brewer Newspaper and radio executive. b. July 22, 1884 at Rush Hill, Mo. With Scripps-Howard papers from 1908-21 in Cincinnati, Cleveland and Omaha, Nebr. Now publisher and controlling owner of New Bedford (Mass.) Standard-Times and Cape Cod Standard-Times, Hyannis, Mass. and radio stations WNBH, WFMR and WOCB in Mass. Mason.

Earl LeRoy Brewer (1869 – 1942) Governor of Mississippi. b. Aug. 11, 1869 in Carroll Co., Miss. Received LL.B. from Univ. of Mississippi in 1892 and practiced law at Water Valley, Miss. 1882-1901. Member of Mississippi state senate 1895-99 and governor of the state from 1912-16. Ma-on. d. March 10, 1942.

Few Brewster Justice, Supreme Court of Texas. b. May 10, 1889 at Corn Hill, Texas. Graduate of Howard Payne College (Texas) and Univ. of Texas. Admitted to bar in 1915 and held offices of county attorney, district attorney, district judge and judge of court of appeals. Has been associate justice of the supreme court of Texas since 1945. Served as 2nd lieutenant of Infantry in WW1. Raised in Killeen, Texas in 1910.

Owen Brewster Governor of Maine and U.S. Senator. b. Feb. 22, 1888 at Dexter, Me. Graduated from Bowdoin College, Harvard and Univ. of Maine. Member of the Maine house of representatives, 1917–19, 1921–23 and of the state senate in 1923–25. He served two terms as governor of Maine, 1925–29 and was a member of the 74th to 76th Congresses from Maine 3rd district (1935–41). Elected U.S. Senator, serving from 1941–53. Member of Penobscot Lodge No. 39, Dexter, Maine, as was his father and grandfather, before him; St. John's Chapter No. 25, R.A.M. and DeMolay Commandery, K.T. both of Dexter. 32° AASR (NJ) and member of Anah Shrine Temple, Bangor, Maine. When Harry S. Truman, a fellow-senator, was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Missouri, Brewster spoke at the grand lodge session at Truman's request.

Charles R. Brice Chief Justice, Supreme Court of New Mexico. b. Aug. 6, 1870 at Terrell, Texas. Admitted to Texas bar in 1893, moving to Carlsbad, N. Mex. in 1903. Served as justice of the supreme court of New Mexico from 1935 to 1951, being chief justice in 1941–42, 1947–51. Returned to private practice in Roswell, 1951. Mason and 32° AASR.

Jean Joseph Brice English strong man. Member of St. James Union Lodge No. 177, London on Dec. 12, 1866.

John W. Bricker Governor and U.S. Senator from Ohio. b. Sept. 6, 1893 in Madison Co., Ohio. A.B. and LL.B. from Ohio State Univ. Admitted to bar in 1917 and became assistant attorney general of Ohio in 1923, serving until 1927. Became attorney general in 1933 serving until 1937. Elected governor of Ohio in 1939 and re-elected two more terms until 1945. In 1944 he was the Republican candidate for vice president of the United States. Was elected to the U.S. Senate from Ohio in Nov. 1945 and has served continuously since that time. An active Mason, Bricker is a member of Mt. Sterling Lodge No. 269, Mt. Vernon, Ohio, Community Chapter No. 227, R.A.M., Columbus Council No. 8, R. & S.M., Mt. Vernon Commandery No. 1, Scioto Consistory (AASR-NJ), receiving honorary 33° in 1942, and Aladdin Temple AAONMS.

Mead L. Bricker Banker and former vice president of Ford Motor Co. b. April 24, 1885 at Youngstown, Ohio. Began as a machinist in 1904 and became vice president and director of manufacturing of Ford Motor Co., resigning to become director of City Bank of Detroit and director of several corporations. Raised in Friendship Lodge No. 417, Detroit, Mich. in May, 1914 and is life member of the lodge. Is president of the Detroit Masonic Temple Building Fund and member of Grand Lodge of Michigan foreign relations committee. Member of King Cyrus Chapter No. 133, R.A.M. of Detroit and 33° AASR (NJ), Detroit; Moslem Shrine Temple; St. Clement Conclave No. 39, Red Cross of Constantine and The Royal Order of Scotland.

Styles Bridges Governor of New Hampshire and U.S. Senator. b. Sept. 9, 1898 at West Pembroke, Me. Graduate of Univ. of Maine and Dartmouth with LL.D. degrees from several universities. Began as instructor in Sandhurst Academy, Ashfield, Mass. 1918, later county agent and extension specialist for Univ. of New Hampshire. Later of Granite Monthly magazine and director of New Hampshire Investment Co. Governor of New Hampshire, 1935-37 and U.S. Senator since 1937. Republican leader of Senate in 1952 and president pro tern in 1953. Received his degrees in Morning Sun Lodge, Conway, Mass. and is member of Eureka Lodge, No. 70, Concord, N.H. Member of Trinity Chapter No. 2, Concord, N.H. and Mt. Horeb Commandery, as well as Bektash Shrine Temple, all of Concord.

Ansel W. Briggs (1806–1881) Inaugurated first governor of the newly constituted State of Iowa on December 3, 1846. His Masonic membership is obscure. He was often in the company of many active Masons, Robert Lucas q.v., the first territorial governor, being among them. The confused records of Nebraska Lodge No. 1, Bellevue, Nebr. which was organized in 1854, gives him as a charter member in one official account issued by the Grand Lodge of Illinois (from whence the charter came) and in another his name does not appear. At this time Briggs was at a hamlet on the Missouri River called St. Mary's not far south of where Omaha now stands and opposite the town of Bellevue in the Territory of Nebraska.

Asa G. Briggs (1862–1945) Director U.S. Chamber of Commerce (1930–34). b. Dec. 20, 1862 at Arcadia, Wis. Admitted to Minn. bar in 1887. An officer of the Great Lakes, St. Lawrence Tidewater Assn. and St. Paul Chamber of Commerce and director on the national board for Camp Fire Girls. Mason and Shriner. d. Aug. 31, 1945.

Eugene S. Briggs President of Phillips University, Enid, Okla. since 1938. b. Feb. 1, 1890 in Howard Co., Mo. B.S. Central College (Mo.); B.S., M.A. and Ph.D. Univ. of Missouri.

High school principal in Missouri and Okla. 1913–23. President State Teachers College, Durant, Okla. 1928–33; director adult education Mo. State Dept. of Education 1934–35; president of Christian College, Columbia, Mo. 1935–38 and president of Phillips Univ. since 1938. Elected to Oklahoma Hall of Fame in 1951. Member of Garfield Lodge No. 501, Enid, Okla. and Enid Commandery No. 13, K.T., Enid. Member of Trenton Chapter No. 66, R.A.M. and Trenton Council No. 37, R. & S.M., both of Trenton, Mo. Member of Akdar Shrine Temple of Tulsa. Charter member and first president of High Twelve at Okmulgee and past president of the Enid High Twelve Club. Member of DeMolay Legion of Honor. Brother of Frank P. Briggs q.v.

Frank A. Briggs Former Governor of North Dakota. Was 32° AASR and KCCH in Scottish Rite, being buried Masonically.

Frank P. Briggs U.S. Senator from Missouri and newspaper owner. b. Feb. 25, 1894 at Armstrong, Mo. Graduate of Univ. of Missouri 1914. Edited newspapers in Fayette, Moberly, Trenton, Mo. and Shawnee, Okla. Editor and owner of the Macon Chronicle–Herald (Mo.) since 1924. Member of Missouri state senate from 1933 to 1945, serving as president 1941–45. Appointed U.S. Senator from Mo. Jan. 18, 1945 to fill unexpired term of Harry S. Truman q.v. by Governor Donnelly q.v. Member of Missouri Conservation Commission since 1947. Past grand high priest of the Grand Chapter Royal Arch Masons of Missouri and grand master of the Grand Lodge of Missouri (1957). Raised in Fayette Lodge No. 47, Fayette, Mo. on Aug. 17, 1915; later a member of Trenton Lodge No. 111, Trenton, Mo. (1917–24) and presently member of Censer Lodge No. 172, Macon. Member of Macon Chapter No. 22, R.A.M. and past high priest; Centralia Council No. 34, R. & S.M. and past master, and Emmanuel Commandery No. 7, Macon. Ararat Shrine Temple of Kansas City.

Leon E. Briggs Treasurer of Ford Motor Co. b. Jan. 31, 1892 at Syracuse, N.Y. Started with Ford Motor Co. as a stenographer in 1914, advancing as branch auditor, branch comptroller, traveling auditor, assistant general auditor, general auditor and treasurer since 1946. He is vice president and treasurer of the Ford Motor Co. Fund. Served in navy in WW1. Mason.

Elbert S. Brigham U.S. Congressman, 69th to 71st Congresses (1925–31) from first district of Vermont. b. Oct. 19, 1877 at St. Albans, Vt. President of the National Life Insurance Co., Montpelier, Vt. retiring in 1948 and is now president of the Franklin Co. Savings Bank & Trust Co. of St. Albans. Member of Franklin Lodge No. 4, St. Albans, Vt. and 33° AASR (NJ) at Burlington, Vt.

Howard R. Brinker Episcopal bishop. b. Oct. 20, 1893 at Nashotah, Wis. Graduate of the Univ. of Pennsylvania (1918) and ordained priest in the Episcopal Church in 1919. Served as rector in Wyoming and Illinois and dean of the Chicago South Deanery, 1935–39. A member of the diocesan council 1924–40, chairman of department of publicity, 1939 and chairman department of missions 1930–38. Bishop of Nebraska, 1943, provisional bishop of Missionary District, Western Nebraska, 1943 and bishop of reunited diocese and district since 1946. Raised in Ashlar Lodge No. 10, Douglas, Wyo. about 1920 and presently a member of Nebraska Lodge No. 1, Omaha, Nebr.

George F. Briston Composer. Member of Independent Royal Arch Lodge No. 2, New York City.

Marquis de Britigney Served as a colonel in the American Revolution. Member of St. Johns Lodge No. 3, New Bern, North Carolina.

James L. Britt (1861–1939) U.S. Congressman to 64th and 65th Congresses (1915–19) from 10th North Carolina district. b. March 4, 1861 at Johnson City, Tenn. Practiced law at Asheville, N.C. Special attorney for department of justice 1906–9 and special assistant to attorney general in 1910 for prosecution of civil cases for Post Office dept. Minority leader of N.C. senate in 1909. Mason. d. Dec. 26, 1939.

Edwin F. Britten, Jr. President of Monroe Calculating Machine Co. b. Feb. 2, 1885 at Jersey City, N.J. Graduated from Cornell Univ. 1907. Employed as a mechanical engineer and executive from 1907–17 by several companies. In 1917 he became vice president in charge of manufacture of the Monroe Co. and has been president since 1937. Holds many patents on calculating and office machines. Mason.

Daniel Broadhead (1736 – 1809) Revolutionary soldier. In 1775 he raised a company of riflemen who served in the battle of Long Island. He was appointed colonel of the 8th Pennsylvania regiment, and in April 1778, led a successful expedition against the Muskingum Indians. He made two important treaties with the Indians and received the thanks of Congress, being made brigadier general after the war. He was a member of Lodge No. 3, Philadelphia, Pa. d. Nov. 15, 1809.

James O. Broadhead First president of the American Bar Association, congressman and diplomat. When the American Bar Association was founded in 1878, James O. Broadhead of St. Louis was chosen its first president. His original membership is not known, but at his death in 1898, he was a member of Tuscan Lodge No. 360 of St. Louis, Mo.

Glen P. Brock President of Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad. b. Nov. 22, 1896 at Alden, Ia. Graduated from Univ. of Illinois in 1922. Started with the Illinois Central Railroad in 1912, going to the Gulf and Mobile in 1923 as assistant to general manager. Was general manager from 1934; vice president and general manager from 1940. President since June, 1957. Raised in Palestine Lodge No. 849, Palestine, Ill. in 1921. 32° AASR in Mobile, Ala. and member of Abba Shrine Temple of Mobile.

William Brockmeier (1866–1947) Conducted 5,586 Masonic funeral services. Member of Mt. Moriah Lodge No. 40, St. Louis, Mo. He started keeping records of the funerals in 1911, although he had attended many before that time. The dignity and eloquence he developed through the years resulted in requests from other lodges for his services and he eventually represented 48 lodges, serving each without remuneration. As a stationary engineer with the American Brake Co., he worked a night shift and thus had free time in the day. He attended his last funeral on May 29, 1947 at the age of 81—it was his own.

Charles Brockwell English clergyman, who it is claimed, delivered the first recorded Masonic sermon on Dec. 27, 1749 at Christ Church, Boston, Mass.

Edward E. Brodie (1876–1939) U. S. Envoy and Minister to Siam and Finland. b. March 12, 1876, at Fort Stevens, Oreg. A newspaper man, he began with the Morning Enterprise, Oregon City in 1901 and later became owner and publisher until 1935. Became Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Siam in 1921, resigning in 1925. In 1930 he was E.E. and M.P. to Finland, serving until 1933. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner. d. June 27, 1939.

William A. Brodie Laid the foundation stone of the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor on August 5, 1884 as Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of New York.

Kazimierz Brodzinski (1791–1835) Polish epic poet and scholar. Was professor of Polish literature at Warsaw from 1826. A Freemason. His best known work was Wieslaw, written in 1820.

Samuel Broers President Firestone International Co. b. Jan. 1, 1892 in Amsterdam, Holland, coming to the U.S. in 1909.

Began career as shipping clerk in 1910 and started with Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio as an export clerk in 1914, rising through field manager, export manager, and in charge of all overseas operations since 1934. Raised in Adoniram Lodge No. 517, Akron, Ohio in 1922.

Willis J. Brogden (1877–1935) Justice, Supreme Court of North Carolina. b. Oct. 18, 1877 at Goldsboro, N.C. Admitted to bar in 1907 and practiced at Durham. Elected associate justice of the supreme court in 1926. Mason. d. Oct. 29, 1935.

Henry P. H. Bromwell (1823–1903) Masonic author. b. Aug. 26, 1823 in Baltimore Co., Md. Moved to Illinois, studied law and became judge of the circuit court of Fayette Co. He later edited a newspaper and served in the state legislature from 1865–69. A member of the Illinois Constitutional Convention in 1869. He was raised in Temperance Lodge No. 16, Vandalia, Ill. in 1854, master in 1856 and grand master of the Grand Lodge of Illinois in 1864. Was grand orator of the grand lodge four times; high priest of Edgar Chapter No. 32, R.A.M. in 1858, knighted in Elwood Commandery No. 6, 1861 and received the AASR from A. G. Mackey in 1877. Moved to Colorado and became active in the Grand Lodge of Colorado, affiliating with Denver Lodge No. 5. Grand orator of Colorado in 1874. Author of the ponderous volume Restorations of Masonic Geometry and Symbolism. d. Jan. 9, 1903.

Green C. Bronson (1789–1863) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of New York. b. in Oneida, N.Y. Practiced law at Utica, N.Y. and elected attorney general in 1829. At this time he came under attack for being a “high Mason” by the Anti-Masonic Enquirer published at Rochester. Became chief justice of supreme court in 1945 and two years later one of the judges of the court of appeals, just organized. He left the bench and practiced law in New York City. d. Sept. 3, 1863. Chief justice in 1845.

John R. Brooke (1838–1926) Major General, U.S. Army. b. July 21, 1838 in Montgomery Co., Pa. Enlisted in –the 4th Pennsylvania Infantry in 1861. Participated in Civil War battles of Cold Harbor, Gettysburg, Spottsylvania Court–House and Tolopotomy and made brigadier general for gallantry. Resigned from volunteer service and entered regular army as lieutenant colonel, rising to major general in 1897. Was head of the military commission and governor general of Puerto Rico and governor general of Cuba. Retired in 1902. Mason and member of Columbia Chapter No. 21, R.A.M. Philadelphia, Pa. d. Sept. 5, 1926.

Laurens Brooke Surgeon and medical officer to John Paul Jones q.v., father of the American Navy. Was a member of Fredericksburg Lodge No. 4, Va. He served on Jones’ ships Ranger and Bon Homme Richard.

Robert Brooke Governor of Virginia from 1794–96. He also served as attorney general of Virginia ,Ä¢ from 1798–1800 and it was during this period that Henry Clay q.v. studied in his law office. At the outbreak of the Revolution he was a medical student at the University of Edinburgh and returned to America to serve as a first lieutenant of cavalry. A member and past master of Fredericksburg Lodge No. 4, he became grand master of Virginia on Nov. 23, 1795.

Walker Brooke (1813–1869) U.S. Senator from Mississippi. b. Dec. 13, 1813 in Virginia. Graduated from Univ. of Virginia in 1835, studied law, emigrated to Kentucky where he taught school two years and then took up practice in Lexington, Miss. Elected senator and served from March, 1852 to March, 1853. He was a member of the Mississippi seceding convention of 1861. He was a member of the Confederate congress, but was defeated for the Confederate senate. He was a member of Hill City Lodge No. 121, Vicksburg, Miss. past high priest of Lexington Chapter No. 9, Lexington, Ky. and the second grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Mississippi (1848). He demitted from the chapter in 1858. d. Feb. 19, 1869.

Bryant B. Brooks (1861–1944) Governor of Wyoming. b. Feb. 5, 1861 at Bernardston, Mass. A livestock grower in Wyoming from 1882, was president of Consolidated Royalty Oil Co. and Wyoming National Bank, serving in the Wyoming legislature in 1892. He was a presidential elector in 1900 and governor of Wyoming from 1905–11. He was a member of Ashlar Lodge No. 10 at Douglas, Wyo. and later of Casper Lodge No. 15, Casper, of which he was past master. In 1940 he was grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Wyoming. d. Dec. 7, 1944.

C. Wayland Brooks (1897 – 1957) U.S. Senator from Illinois. b. March 8, 1897 in West Bureau Co., Ill. Student at Wheaton College and Univ. of Chicago, receiving LL.B. from Northwestern Univ. in 1926. Admitted to bar in 1926 and practiced in Chicago. Elected U.S. Senator in 1939 and reelected in 1942 for six-year term. Served with Marines in WW1 and was wounded seven times, receiving D.S.C. from both Army and Navy and was retired at age of 21. Member of Wheaton Lodge No. 269, Wheaton, Ill., being raised Jan. 24, 1920. Grand Orator of the Grand Lodge of Illinois in 1946. 33° AASR (NJ), York Rite Mason and member of St. John's No.1, Red Cross of Constantine. d. Jan. 14, 1957.

Henry L. Brooks U.S. District Judge (Ky.). b. Dec. 9, 1905 at Louisville, Ky. Graduate of Univ. of Wisconsin and Jefferson School of Law. Admitted to bar in 1928 and practiced at Louisville. Judge of Jefferson Circuit Court, 1946–48 and U.S. District Judge since 1954. Member of Louisville Lodge No. 400, Louisville, Ky. AASR in Valley of Kentucky (KCCH).

John Brooks (1752–1825) Governor of Massachusetts. First elected in 1816 and re-elected seven years in succession, finally declining to again be a candidate. b. May 31, 1752 at Medford, Mass. Studied medicine under Dr. Simon Tufts and settled at Reading, Mass. as a physician. Drilled a company of minute-men and was present at the Battle of Lexington. Participated in Fort Stanwix expedition and Battle of Saratoga. He was then promoted to colonel (1778) and was associated with Baron von Steuben q.v. in training the Continental Army. A friend of Washington, he was major general of the militia for many years, practicing law at Medford, Mass. From 1812–15 he was adjutant general of Mass. He received his E.A. degree in American Union Lodge (Military) on Aug. 28, 1779 and later a member of Washington Lodge No. 10 (Military) under Grand Lodge of Mass. d. March 1, 1825.

Overton Brooks U.S. Congressman from 4th Louisiana district, 75th to 81st Congresses (1936–51). b. Dec. 21, 1897 at East Baton Rouge, La. Received LL.B. from Louisiana State Univ. 1923, practicing law at Shreveport. Served in WW1 in 1st Division field artillery. Raised on Joppa Lodge No. 362, Shreveport, La. about 1921. 32° AASR (SJ), Shriner and honorary member of National Sojourners.

Samuel P. Brooks (1863–1931) President of Baylor University, 1902–1931. b. Dec. 4, 1863 at Milledgeville, Ga. Graduate of several universities, including Baylor, Yale and Univ. of Chicago. Was vice president of the Southern Baptist Convention in Baltimore, 1910 and president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, 1914–17. A Mason, he was grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Texas in 1914 and 1922. d. May 14, 1931.

Stratton D. Brooks (1869–1949) University president b. Sept. 10, 1869 at Everett, Mo. Principal of high schools from 1890–99 in Illinois and Michigan; assistant professor of education and high school inspection, Univ. of 1899–1902; assistant superintendent of schools, Boston, 1902–06; superintendent of schools, Cleveland, O., 1906; superintendent of schools, Boston, 1906–12; president of Univ. of Oklahoma, 1912–23; president of Univ. of Missouri, 1923–31. Educational director, Order of DeMolay from 1931. Member of Norman (Okla.) Lodge No. 38; Columbia (Mo.) Chapter No. 17, R.A.M. (1923); St. Graal Commandery (Mo.) No. 12, K.T. (1924). d. Jan. 18, 1949.

Wiley G. Brooks College president. b. Oct. 24, 1886 at Adelphia, Ohio. Superintendent of schools in Idaho, Nebraska and Iowa from 1910–37. President and trustee of Illinois Wesleyan Univ. 1937–40 and president of Nebraska State Teachers College, Chadron, since 1941. Mason, 32° AASR, Knight Templar.

Jacob Broom (1752–1810) Signer of Federal Constitution in 1787. One of the delegates from Delaware to the Philadelphia convention meeting on May 14, 1787 and was among the signers of Sept. 17. He was a member of the Delaware legislature from 1784–88 and the first postmaster of Wilmington in 1790–92. He was a school teacher, real estate dealer and surveyor. Two weeks before the Battle of Brandywine, he drew a map of this area for the use of General Washington. An early member of Lodge No. 14, Christiana Ferry (Wilmington) Del., he was elected secretary and treasurer on June 24, 1780, junior warden June 25, 1781 and again treasurer in 1783. d. April 25, 1810.

Joseph J. Broshek Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Nov. 1, 1886 at New Bedford, Mass. Graduate of U.S. Naval Academy in 1908 and Columbia Univ. in 1915. Commissioned ensign in 1910, advancing through grades to rear admiral in 1942 and retired in 1946. Served on U.S.S. George Washington in WWI and was head of maintenance, Bureau of Ships, Navy Dept.

to retirement in 1946. Member of Mistletoe Lodge No. 647, Brooklyn, N.Y. Deceased.

Henry Peter Brougham (Baron Brougham and Vaux) (1778–1868). Lord High Chancellor of England from 1830. b. Sept. 19, 1778 at Edinburgh, Scotland. With Sydney Smith and Jeffrey, founded the Edinburgh Review in 1802. Practiced at English bar in 1808 and member of parliament in 1810. He carried the measure making slave trade a felony and defended Queen Caroline as her attorney general in trial (1820). He was a founder of London Univ. in 1828 and by a famous speech in 1831 helped pass the Reform Bill. He was the original “learned friend” in Peacock’s Crochet Castle. The brougham (carriage) is named for him. He was initiated, passed and raised in Fortrose Lodge, Stornoway, Scotland on Aug. 20, 21, 1799 and on June 24, 1800 affiliated with Canongate Kilwinning Lodge in Edinburgh. d. May 7, 1868.

John Brougham (1810–1880) Actor and playwright. b. May 9, 1810 in Dublin, Ireland. Orphaned early in life, he was raised by an eccentric uncle. Studied medicine, but took to the stage to make a living, first appearing in the Tottenham theatre in Dublin in July, 1830. His first hit was as O’Slash in The Invincibles. His first 20 years were passed in Dublin and the remainder was divided between runs in New York and London. Made his first appearance on the American stage as O’Callaghan in His Last Legs on Oct. 4, 1842 at the Park theatre in New York City. In addition to acting he wrote about 100 plays. Misfortune struck him in later years and a benefit performance was given at the New York Academy of Music which netted $10,279 with which his friends bought him an annuity. He was a member of St. John's Lodge No. 1, New York City. d. June 7, 1880 in NYC. Member of Antiquity Lodge No. 11, N.Y.C.

William E. Brougher Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Feb. 17, 1889 in Miss. Commissioned 2nd lieut. in 1911 and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1941 (advanced by Gen. MacArthur for leadership in Philippines). Served in WW1 as major of infantry. Served through Bataan campaign, Philippines and taken prisoner by Japanese and liberated in Aug., 1945. Became commanding general of Ft. McClellan, Ala. in 1946 and later Camp Gordon, Augusta, Ga. Mason, 32° AASR.

J. M. Broughton Former Governor of North Carolina. Member of Wake Forest Lodge No. 282, receiving his degrees on Oct. 17, 1909 and Jan. 18 and Feb. 1, 1910.

Aaron V. Brown (1795–1859) Postmaster General of U.S. and Governor of Tennessee. b. Aug. 15, 1795 in Brunswick Co., Va. Graduated from Chapel Hill (N.C.) in 1814 and moved with parents to Tennessee in 1815 where he studied law and became the partner of James K. Polk q.v. From 1821–32 he was almost continuously a member of the state legislature. He was elected to Congress in 1839, 1841 and 1843. From 1845–47 he was governor of Tennessee. As postmaster general in Buchanan's cabinet q.v. he shortened the oceanic mail route to California and the routes from St. Louis westward before the construction of the railroads. A member of Pulaski

Chapter No. 7, R.A.M., Tenn. he was junior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of Tennessee in 1825. d. March 8, 1859, and buried Masonically at Nashville on March 14.

Albert G. Brown (1813–1880) Governor of Mississippi and U.S. Senator. b. May 31, 1813 in Chester Dist., S.C. Was made brigadier general in Mississippi state militia when only 19 years old. A lawyer, he was a member of the state legislature from 1835–39 and member of the U.S. Congress from Miss. in 1840–41; from 1841–43 he was circuit judge, and governor of Mississippi from 1843–1848. He was again a member of Congress from 1848–54 and U.S. Senator from 1854–58. Reelected in 1859 for six years, he resigned in 1861 to join the Confederate forces with his colleague of the senate, Jefferson Davis. d. June 12, 1880. Member of Gallatin Lodge No. 25, Gallatin, Miss. and later Silas Brown Lodge, U.D.

Anthony Brown (see 6th Viscount Montagu)

Charles W. Brown (1858–1928) President of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. from 1916. b. June 14, 1858 at Newburyport, Mass. Was master mariner in charge of vessels in Chinese and Australian trade for six years. Was identified with the manufacture of plate glass from 1898 until his death, Mar. 6, 1928. Mason and Knight Templar.

Clarence J. Brown U.S. Congressman from 7th Ohio dist., 76th to 84th Congresses (1939–1956). b. July 14, 1893 at Blanchester, O. Purchased first newspaper in 1917 and has been in publishing business since that date. President of

The Brown Publishing Co. Was lieut. governor of Ohio from 1919–23 and secretary of state, 1927–33. Was a member of the Hoover commission for organization of the executive branch of the Federal government. Mason, 33° AASR (N.J.).

Clarence J. Brown Vice Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Jan. 15, 1895 at Plum City, Wis. Received B.S. from Univ. of Wisconsin in 1915 and M.D. from Washington Univ. in 1917, entering Navy Medical Corps in 1917, advancing to rear admiral in 1946, and retired as vice admiral in 1954. Assistant chief, Bureau of Medicine and Surgery of Navy 1947–49 and general inspector, 1949; deputy surgeon general of the Navy from 1950 and presently chief of medical services, State of California, Youth Authority. Raised in Maiden Rock Lodge No. 196, Maiden Rock, Wis. in 1916; member of Mt. Horeb Chapter No. 6, Pensacola, Fla. and Coeur le Leon Commandery No. 1, Pensacola.

D. Russell Brown (1848–1919) Governor of Rhode Island, 1892–95. b. March 28, 1848 at Bolton, Conn. Publisher of the Evening News in Providence, R.I. Mason. d. Feb. 28, 1919.

Egbert B. Brown (1816–?) Union Brigadier General in Civil War. b. Oct. 24, 1816 in Brownsville, N.Y. Elected mayor of Toledo, Ohio in 1849. Spent four years in the Pacific on a whaling vessel returning to St. Louis, Mo. as a railway manager from 1852–61. He was instrumental in saving the city of St. Louis from southern hands at start of Civil War. Was severely wounded at Battle of Springfield (Mo.) in 1863. Served through Civil War in Missouri, Arkansas and Texas.

From 1866–68 he was U.S. pension agent at St. Louis, retiring to a farm near Hastings, Ill. in 1869. Member of Toledo Lodge No. 144, Toledo, Ohio.

Everett C. Brown (1863–1937) Livestock commission man and Olympic committee member. b. Oct. 14, 1863 at Oneida, Ill. Started in livestock industry, Chicago, 1881 and later general manager of Brown–St. John Commission Co. In 1918–19 he was chairman of the Price Control Commission of Live Stock, U.S. Food Administration; president of the Chicago Live Stock Exchange 1916–20 and 1923–28; president of the National Live Stock Exchange 1918–23. Member of the Chicago Plan Committee. President of the National Amateur Athletic Union in 1910. Member of the executive committee of American Olympic Committee in charge of Olympic teams to London in 1908, Stockholm, 1912, Antwerp, 1920 and Paris, 1924. Mason and Knight Templar. d. April 11, 1937.

Fred H. Brown Former U.S. Senator from New Hampshire. A Mason and Knight Templar.

Gustavus R. Brown One of the physicians called into consultation during the last illness of George Washington. He was one of the organizers of St. Columbia Lodge No. 10, Port Tobacco, Md., and was the fifth grand master of Maryland (1797).

Guy L. Brown Head of Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. b. Aug. 22, 1893 at Boone, Ia. Locomotive fireman and engineer on the C. & N.W. Railroad from 1909–1945 when he assumed office in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; assistant grand chief engineer 1950–53 and grand chief since that date. Raised in Mount Olive Lodge No. 79, Boone, Iowa in 1941. Member of Tuscan Chapter No. 31, R.A.M.; Gebal Council No. 5, R. & SM.; Excalibar Commandery No. 13, K.T. all of Boone, Iowa. 32° AASR (NJ), Cleveland, Ohio and Al Koran Shrine Temple of Cleveland.

Harvey W. Brown (1883–1956) International president of International Association of Machinists. b. Oct. 28, 1883 in Schuylkill Co., Pa. After serving as a machinist apprentice from 1902–05, he became business representative for International Association of Machinists for Anthracite Coal Region in 1911; general vice president in 1921 and president in 1938. Elected international president in 1940. Member of American Federation of Labor executive council, 1940–43. Member of Roseville Lodge No. 143, Newark, N.J. d. Sept., 1956.

Jacob Brown (1775–1828) Commander-in-Chief of the U.S. Army (1821–28) and major general in War of 1812. b. May 9, 1775 in Bucks Co., Pa. Taught school and did surveying in Ohio until 1798 when he moved to New York and settled at present town of Brownsville. Having had military experience as secretary to Alexander Hamilton q.v. he was made colonel of militia in 1809 and advanced to brigadier general in 1810. In command of a 200 mile section along Canadian border in 1812 and repulsed several attacks from superior British forces including fights at Ogdensburg, Sackets Harbor, Chippewa and Lundy's Lane. Made brigadier general of regular army in 1813 and major general in 1814. At the close of the war he commanded the northern division of the army and on March 10, 1821 became general-in-chief of the U.S. Army. He was initiated in Ontario Lodge at Sackets Harbor, N.Y. on Jan. 2, 1806 and was probably raised there. He later became a member of Watertown Lodge No. 49, Watertown, N.Y. d. Feb. 24, 1828 and buried in Congressional cemetery, Washington, D.C.

James W. Brown President of Editor and Publisher, 1912–52 and chairman of the board since 1953. b. Oct. 20, 1873 at Detroit, Mich. With Detroit News and Tribune 1891–95; Chicago Journal, Chicago American and Chicago Tribune 1895–1903. General manager of the Louisville Herald 1903–11. Raised April 29, 1907 in Louisville Lodge No. 400, Louisville, Ky. and at present a member of Publicity Lodge No. 1000, New York City. Member of DeMolay Commandery, K.T. No. 12 of Kentucky.

James W. Brown, Jr. Newspaper executive. b. Jan. 1, 1902 at Chicago, Ill. With Editor and Publisher for 23 years and was president, member of the board and chairman of the executive committee 1941–48, and general manager since 1953. With Chicago Tribune–N.Y. Daily News Syndicate as sales manager 1948–51. Member of Publicity Lodge No. 1000, New York City and master in 1937. Member of Jerusalem Chapter No. 8, R.A.M. and Coeur de Leon Cornmandery No. 23, K.T., both of New York City.

Joe E. Brown Stage and screen star. b. July 28, 1892 at Holgate, Ohio. Began as a circus acrobat in 1902 and was with burlesque and vaudeville from 1916–19. From 1919–27 was with musical comedies including Ten Lester, Greenwich Village Follies, Captain Jinks and others. Leading roles in movies of which Crooks Can't Win was his first “silent” and Painted Faces his first talking. Made the “Elmer” films famous. Member of Rubicon Lodge No. 237, Toledo, Ohio and of Al Malaikah Shrine in Los Angeles.

John Brown (1800–1859) American abolitionist fanatic, regarded by some northern sympathizers as a martyr. Brown's cause was glorified by the famous marching song, John Brown's Body. He was a Freemason who later turned anti-Mason. b. May 9, 1800, he was executed on Dec. 2, 1859 in Charlestown, Va. From 1856 on, he was obsessed with the idea of abolishing slavery by force. When a pro-slavery massacre occurred at Lawrence, Kans., Brown killed five slavery adherents at Pottawatomie, Kans. in retaliation. He next made a heroic stand at Osawatomie, Kans. against a raid by pro-slavery forces from Missouri. He conceived a plan of establishing a new state as a refuge for negroes. With help from Massachusetts abolitionists, he seized the government arsenal at Harpers Ferry, Va. in 1859, intending the action as a signal for a general insurrection of slaves. Overpowered and convicted of treason, he was hanged Dec. 2, 1859. Brown was raised in Hudson Lodge No. 68, Hudson, Ohio, on May 11, 1824, serving as junior deacon in 1825–26. His uncle was the first master of the lodge. Shortly after 1826 he moved to Pennsylvania and with the anti-Masonic movement, he renounced Freemasonry and continued to do so on every possible occasion. His son, John Brown, Jr. became a Freemason and was buried with Masonic honors. His daughter, Sarah, once told a biographer that Brown had stated that “the forms of the initiatory ceremonies of the Masons struck him as silly,” and in a negro newspaper Brown wrote, “another of the few errors of my life is that I have joined the Freemasons, Oddfellows, Sons of Temperance, and a score of other secret societies instead of seeking the company of intelligent, wise and good men.”

John Brown (1757–1837) First U.S. Senator from Kentucky and last survivor of the Continental Congress. b. Sept. 12, 1757 at Staunton, Va. Was a student at Princeton when the Revolutionary army retreated through N.J. and he joined it, serving until the close of the war. Admitted to bar in 1782, he practiced at Frankfort, Ky. He was elected to the Virginia legislature from the district of Ky. and from the same district to the Continental Congress of 1787–88. Later he was congressman from this district (1789–92) and became the first U.S. Senator from Kentucky, serving from Nov. 5, 1792 until March 3, 1805. He took a prominent part in the Indian warfare, the admission of Kentucky into the union and in securing navigation of the Mississippi for the west. Member of Lexington Lodge No. 1, Lexington, Ky. and Lexington Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. d. Aug. 29, 1837.

John C. Brown (1827–1889) Major General, C.S.A. and twice governor of Tennessee. b. Jan. 6, 1827 in Giles Co., Tenn. Joined the Confederate army at start of war and rose to major general. Left almost destitute at close of war, he was employed as a railroad surveyor and rose to president of the Nashville Railroad. He later had charge of the Texas Pacific's construction to the Rio Grande and was receiver of the entire property. President of the constitutional convention of Tennessee, he was twice governor (in 1870 and 1875). A member of Pulaski Lodge No. 101, Pulaski, Tenn., he served three terms as master and was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Tennessee in 1869. Received his Royal Arch degree in Pulaski Chapter No. 20 on Mar. 28, 1871 and Knight Templar in Pulaski Commandery No. 12 on April 26, 1871. d. Aug. 16, 1889.

John H. Brown (1820–1895) Early Texas newspaper editor, soldier. b. Oct. 20, 1820 in Pike Co., Mo. Moved to Texas in 1840 with his uncle, Dr. James Kerr, and worked on the Texas Sentinel. As first sergeant of the “Minute Men” he engaged in several Indian campaigns and after being wounded in the Battle of Salado in 1842 was discharged in 1843. Worked on the Victoria Advocate and accepted a position of colonel in state militia. In 1854 he bought an interest in the Galveston Civilian and in 1858 became editor of the Belton Democrat. Attended the Secession Convention of 1861 and served in the Confederate army until 1862 when he was named adjutant general. Following the war he went to Mexico and became commissioner of immigration under Maximilian, returning to Texas in 1871. Represented Dallas in legislature in 1873 and member of the 1875 Convention. He was revising editor of the Encyclopedia of the New West and wrote History of Dallas County, Life and Times of Henry Smith, History of Texas (2 volumes) and Indian Wars and Pioneers of Texas. Was raised in Clarksville Lodge No. 17, Clarksville, Mo. March 1, 1845 (on a visit to his old state), demitting the same date and became one of the original signers for a charter of Victoria Lodge No. 40, Victoria, Tex. d. May 31, 1895.

Louis M. Brown President of Eberhard Faber Pencil Co. b. Aug. 25, 1896 at Atlanta, Ga. Started with Eberhard Co. in 1923, successively Canadian representative, advertising manager, assistant sales manager, sales manager, general manager, vice president and president since 1952. Mason.

Mordecai P. C. Brown (1876–1949) Elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame in 1949. b. Oct. 19, 1876 at Nyesville, Ind. Full name was Mordecai Peter Centennial and was called "Three Fingered" as he lost two digits of his pitching hand in an accident during his coal mining days. His two fingerstumps helped give his pitches strange and baffling twists and curves. Throwing right handed, he was aswitch batter. Was the ace hurler of Chance's Chicago Cubs and for six straight seasons (1906–11) won 20 or more games for the Cubs. His lifetime major league record was 239 wins against 130 losses. A good hitter, he was one of the best fielding pitchers of all time. In 1908 he accepted 108 chances without an error. The same year he hurled four shutout games in a row—the first major league pitcher to perform such a feat. He was often pitted against the other pitching star of that era—Christ/ Mathewson q.v. and their duels were classics. In 24 meetings Brown was victorious over Mathewson 13 times. He was a member of Edward Dobbins Lodge No. 164, Lawrenceville, Ill. receiving his degrees on March 24, May 19 and July 7, 1925. At the time his petition was presented it was referred to the DDGM, Byron R. Lewis, for determining whether the loss of two fingers would disqualify him for Masonic membership. d. Feb. 14, 1949.

Norris Brown Former U.S. Senator from Nebraska. A Mason, he served as grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Nebraska.

Prentiss M. Brown U.S. Senator from Michigan, lawyer, business executive. b. June 18, 1889 in St. Ignace, Mich. Graduate of Albion College and Univ. of Michigan. Practiced law since 1914. Member of 73rd and 74th Congresses (1933–37) from 11th Mich. district. Appointed to U.S. Senate in 1936 and elected for term 1937–43. Administrator, Office of Price Administration, 1943. Chairman of the board of the Detroit Edison Company since 1944. Chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority. President, vice president and director of many corporations. Member of St. Ignace Lodge No. 369, St. Ignace, Mich. he received the 33° AASR (NJ) in October, 1955.

Rex I. Brown President of Mississippi Power and Light Co. b. Aug. 22, 1889 at Lowell, Mich. Began with Little Rock Railway & Electric Co. in 1880 as clerk. With Arkansas Power & Light Co. 1927–32. In 1932 he became vice president and general manager of the Mississippi Power & Light and president since 1936. Member of Trinity Lodge No. 694, Little Rock, Ark.; Union Chapter No. 2, R.A.M.; Occidental Council No. 1, R. & S.M. and Hugh de Payens Cornmandery No. 1, K.T., all of Little Rock, Ark. 32° AASR (SJ) at Little Rock April 23, 1925. Member of Wahabi Shrine Temple, Jackson, Miss.

Roy H. Brown University president, Presbyterian missionary. b. May 2, 1878 at Girard, Kans. Ordained Presbyterian minister in 1903 and from that date was a pioneer missionary in the Philippines, establishing 79 churches and receiving over 2,500 members. Held pastorates in U.S. from 1922–32, but returned to the Philippines to be president of Silliman Univ., the largest theological evangelical institution in the islands. Interned prisoner by the Japanese for 3½ years and freed by U.S. troops during WW2. Mason and 32° AASR.

Thomas Brown Former Governor of Florida. Raised in Hiram Lodge No. 59 of Virginia in August, 1807, he became a member of Jackson Lodge No. 1, Tallahassee, Fla. serving as secretary in 1833 and master in 1855 and was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Florida in 1849. He was also grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Florida in 1834–35. He assisted in the formation of the grand lodge in 1830. A member of Florida Chapter No. 1, Tallahassee and Mackey Council No. 1 of the same city, he was grand treasurer of the grand chapter in 1848–59 and grand high priest in 1851.

Wallace E. Brown (1868 – 1939) Methodist bishop. b. Oct. 30, 1868 at Chittenango, N.Y. Ordained Methodist minister in 1894, holding pastorates in New York state until 1924 when ordained bishop. He was director of the Epworth League of the church and member of the general conferences of 1912–16–20–24 and the Ecumenical conference of London in 1921. Mason. d. Nov. 18, 1939.

Wilfred J. Brown Railroad executive. b. Aug. 10, 1893 at Plymouth, Mass. Graduate of Harvard, 1917. President and director of Consolidated Railroads of Cuba and The Cuba Railroad Co., 1941–48 and chairman of the board from 1948 until retirement in 1954. Served in Navy during WW1. Mason.

William A. Brown Bishop, Protestant Episcopal Church. b. Jan. 3, 1878 at Albemarle Co., Va. Ordained in 1901, serving churches of Virginia until ordained bishop in 1938, serving Diocese of Southern Va. Mason.

Wm. Moseley Brown Educator, explorer, army officer, linguist and personnel consultant. b. Feb. 27, 1894 at Lynchburg, Va. B.A. from Washington and Lee Univ. in 1914; M.A. from Washington and Lee, Columbia, and Ph.D. from Columbia. Professor of language, biology and psychology in Washington and Lee from 1913–29. President of Atlantic Univ. (Va.) 1929–32. Personnel director of Vick Chemical Co. 1937–42 and personnel consultant since 1947. Served in WW1, advancing from private to 2nd Lt. In WW2 as major and Lt. colonel, 1942–47. Independent Republican candidate for governor of Virginia in 1929 and to Congress in 1932. Was U.S. representative on Ulrich expedition to interior of Brazil in 1931–32 and “Rio Brown” discovered and so named for him by the Brazilian government. Also representative on similar expedition to interior of Brazil in 1933–34. 33° AASR (SJ), past grand master of Grand Lodge of Virginia, past high priest of Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Virginia and past grand commander, Grand Commandery, K.T. of Virginia. As president of the National Sojourners, his name was placed on the black list of the Vichy French government during WW2. Author of many volumes including Character Traits as Factors in Intelligence Test Performance (1923), Best Books on the Choice of a Career (1926), History of Freemasonry in Virginia (1935), Temp/ary in the Old Dominion (1937), The Making of a Mason (1949), German Psychological Warfare (1941), Highlights of Templar History (1943).

Charles F. Browne (1834–1867) (originally “Brown”) American humorist who wrote under the pseudonym of “Artemus Ward.” b. in Waterford, Maine. Learned the printer’s trade at age of 14 on a Maine newspaper and later employed by the Plain–dealer in Cleveland, O. where his first series of Artemus Ward’s Sayings were printed. When the Vanity Fair was established in New York he was asked to be a contributor, and later its editor. He then gave humorous lectures throughout the country, 1861–1866, and an English tour, 1866–1867. He died in Southampton, England of tuberculosis on March 6, 1867. He received his degrees in Manhattan Lodge No. 62, New York City on Sept. 4, 25, and Oct. 2, 1863.

Edward E. Browne (1868 – 1945) U.S. Congressman, 63rd to 71st Congresses (1913–31) from 8th Wis. district. b. Feb. 16, 1868 at Waupaca, Wis. Graduate of Univ. of Wisconsin. In law practice at Waupaca from 1892. Mason and 32° AASR (NJ).

Jefferson B. Browne (1857–1937) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Florida. b. June 6, 1857 at Key West, Fla. Received LL.B. from Univ. of Iowa in 1880. In Key West he was successively city attorney, postmaster and collector of customs. Member of Florida state senate from 1891–95 and en–officio lieut.-governor 1891–93. Was chief justice of Supreme Court of Florida from 1917–23 and associate justice 1923–25, resigning to become judge of 20th judicial circuit. Mason, Knight Templar and 32° AASR (SJ). d. May 4, 1937.

J. Lewis Browne (1866–1933) Organist. b. May 18, 1866 at London, Eng., coming to America in 1875. Studied in U.S. and Europe. Was soloist at Royal Academy of St. Cecilia in Rome, 1901. Organist at Wanamaker's Egyptian Hall, Philadelphia 1908–10 and the St. Louis and Jamestown world fairs. Organist and choirmaster of St. Patrick's Church, Chicago from 1912. Faculty member, Univ. of Notre Dame. Designed the great organ in Medinah Shrine Temple, Chicago and conducted symphony concerts there. Director of music public schools of Chicago from 1928. Composed the opera La Corsicana (1923) which was produced in the Chicago Playhouse. His Ecce Sacerdos Magnus was produced by the Paulist Choristers of Rome in 1912. In 1921 he wrote Missa Immaculatae Conceptionis B.V.M. for the 100th anniversary of the establishment of the Catholic Diocese of Cincinnati. Also wrote more than 60 songs, pieces for organ, orchestra, piano, etc. Mason and 32° AASR (NJ). d. Oct. 23, 1933.

John Browne Englishman who in 1798 published in London one of the first ciphers of the Masonic ritual. It was entitled: The Master Key Through All the Degrees of a Freemason's Lodge, to Which Is Added, Eullogiums and Illustrations Upon Freemasonry. In 1802 he published a second edition under a much lengthier title. The works are now very rare. Browne claimed to have been past master of six lodges, and his ciphers are considered to be a very complete representation of the monitorial Prestonian lectures. He stated that he printed them not as an offensive expose, but as a means of giving Freemasons instruction and the key to the cipher was only given personally.

John M. Browne (1831–1894) Surgeon General of U.S. Navy. b. May 10, 1831 at Hinsdale, N.H. Graduated from Harvard Medical School in 1852, entering Navy following year as assistant surgeon. Sent to Calif. in 1854, he served aboard the storeship Warren at Sausalito and was then transferred to the Mare Island Navy Yard. In the Civil War he saw much service in Atlantic waters and was surgeon on the U.S.S. Kearsarge in its engagement with the Alabama in 1864. According to one account in the files of Naval Lodge, he was also surgeon in the battle between the ironclads, the Merrimac and the Monitor. Following the war, Browne was back at Mare Island where he was Medical Inspector in 1871 and Director in 1878. His next promotion was to surgeon-general, the highest medical rank in the Navy. He retired as commodore in 1893 at the age of 62. Browne was initiated just 24 days after he was 21 in Philesian Lodge No. 40, Winchester, N.H., receiving all the degrees the night of June 3, 1852 by special dispensation. In 1866, on returning to California after the Civil War, he affiliated with Naval Lodge No. 87 of Vallejo. He was elected master in 1870. In 1871 he was named grand orator of the Grand Lodge of California and in 1875 was elected grand master for the first of the four terms he was to serve (1875–79). A member of Naval Chapter No. 35, R.A.M., he served as grand high priest of Calif. in 1878; a member of California Commandery No. 1, K.T. (knighted in 1867). In the Scottish Rite he received his 33° on Oct. 20, 1880 and on Oct 18, 1886 was elected treasurer general of the Supreme Council (S.J.). His wife was a daughter of Francis Scott Key, author of the national anthem. d. Dec. 7, 1894.

Thomas C. Brownell (1779–1865) Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. Oct. 19, 1779 at Westport, Mass. Ordained deacon in 1816. Consecrated bishop of Connecticut in 1819. First president of Washington (now Trinity) College in 1829. During his last 12 years, he was by seniority the presiding bishop of the United States. He retired in 1851. Received his degrees in Ade1phi Lodge No. 63, New Haven, Conn. in 1824. d. Jan. 13, 1865.

Gordon Browning Governor of Tennessee. b. Nov. 22, 1889 in Carroll Co., Tenn. Admitted to bar in 1915 and began practice at Huntingdon. Member of 68th to 73rd Congresses (1923–35) from 7th Tenn. dist. Governor of Tennessee in 1937–39 and again in 1949–51. In WW1 he served ten months overseas and in WW2 served three years in European theater. Member of Huntingdon Lodge No. 106, Huntingdon, Tenn., receiving his degrees on Aug. 8, Oct. 6, 1919 and Aug. 24, 1920. Was officially received in the Grand Lodge of Tennessee in 1952. 32° AASR in Valley of Tennessee (SJ) and member of Al Menah Shrine Temple.

Charles B. Brownson U.S. Congressman from 11th Indiana dist. to 82nd, 83rd, 84th Congresses. b. Feb. 5, 1914 at Jackson, Mich. Established Central Wallpaper and Paint

Corp., in Indianapolis, 1936. In WW2 he served as infantry lieutenant and later as executive officer to assistant chief of staff, G-1, 1st Army in the invasion planning staff of the Normandy invasion, European campaign and the Philippines. Raised in Mystic Tie Lodge No. 398 of Indianapolis, Ind. in 1950. 32° AASR (NJ) at Indianapolis and Murat Shrine Temple of same city.

Nathan Brownson (1742–1796) Member of the Continental Congress, Revolutionary surgeon and Governor of Georgia. b. May 14, 1742 at Woodbury, Conn. Graduated from Yale in 1761 and studied medicine, practicing in Liberty Co., Ga. An early supporter of the American cause, he was for some time a surgeon in the Revolutionary army. He was a member of the provincial congress of 1775 and was a delegate to the Continental Congresses of 1776 and 1778. As speaker of the Georgia legislature, he was chosen by that body as governor of the state in 1781. He was again speaker in 1788 and president of the state senate in 1789–91. In 1789 he was a member of the convention that framed the state constitution. He was a member of North Star Lodge of Manchester, Vt. d. Nov. 6, 1796.

Eli Bruce Resident of Lockport, N.Y. and sheriff of Niagara Co. at the time of the William Morgan affair. He aided in releasing Morgan to unknown persons for which Governor DeWitt Clinton q.v. removed him from office and he was later sent to prison for “aiding and abetting the unlawful abduction.” Bruce later wrote a book on the Morgan episode. He was a member of Lockport Lodge No. 73 and Ames Chapter No. 88, both of Lockport, N.Y.

James Bruce (1730–1794) Scottish explorer. Explored Africa, and was known as “The Abyssinian Traveller.” Was British consul at Algiers from 1763–65. In 1770 he rediscovered the source of the Blue Nile. Author of Travels to Discover the Source of the Nile (1790 in 5 vols.) Raised in Canongate Kilwinning Lodge, Edinburgh, Scotland on Aug. 1, 1753.

James Bruce Executive and former U.S. Ambassador to Argentina (1947–49). b. Dec. 23, 1892 at Baltimore, Md. Served as officer overseas in WW1 with 2nd Infantry Division; special aide to President Wilson; military attache in Italy and representative at Versailles Peace Conference. In 1949–50 he was the first director of the Mutual Defence Assistance Program. Has served as vice president of several banks, including Chase National, Atlantic Exchange and president of Baltimore Trust Co. He is a director of many large corporations including Revlon, American Airlines, American–Hawaiian Steamship, AVCO Mfg., Fruehauf Trailer and Technicolor, Inc. Mason and 32° AASR.

Robert le Bruce (1274–1329) King and liberator of Scotland. Opposed to Edward I of England as King of Scotland in 1296 and fought against him in 1298, but adhered to him during invasion of 1302–4. He murdered John Comyn in 1306 and was crowned as Robert I, King of Scotland, at Scone in 1306. In the same year he was defeated by the English and took refuge on the coast of Ireland, excommunicated and outlawed. He returned the following year and in two years wrested most of Scotland from the English, routing Edward II’s army at Bannockburn in 1314. He repulsed the English time after time until Edward III recognized the independence of Scotland and Bruce's right to rule by the treaty of 1328 at Northampton. He died of leprosy. He is traditionally said to have introduced Freemasonry into Scotland and in 1314 established the Order of Heredom for the reception of those Knights Templar who had taken refuge in his dominions from the persecutions of the Pope and King of France. As part of a combined order, he is said to have established the Royal Order of Scotland at the Battle of Bannockburn in recognition of the Freemasons who helped him defeat the English. His descendant, Lord Elgin q.v., is present head of the Royal Order of Scotland and the possessor of the great sword of Robert le Bruce.

Wallace Bruce (1844–1914) Poet, author and orator. b. Nov. 10, 1844 at Hillsdale, N.Y. Engaged in literary work from 1868 on. Was U.S. consul at Edinburgh, Scotland 1889–93. Was poet and orator at numerous centennial and memorial occasions in U.S., Scotland and England, delivering the Burns anniversary addresses at Ayr, Edinburgh and Kilmarnock. Among his writings were The Land of Burns (1878), The Yosemite (1879), The Hudson, (1882), Old Homestead Poems (1887), Leaves of Gold (1907), and Wanderers (1907). Member of Hudson Lodge No. 7, Hudson, N.Y. d. Jan., 1914.

Walter Bruchhausen U.S. District Judge for eastern district of New York since 1953. b. May 29, 1892 in Brooklyn, N.Y. Graduate of New York U. in 1912 and admitted to bar in 1919, practicing in New York City. Mason and 32° AASR (N.J.).

Wilber M. Brucker Secretary of Army, Governor of Michigan. b. June 23, 1894 at Saginaw, Mich. Received LL.B. from Univ. of Michigan in 1916. Admitted to bar in 1919 and began practice at Saginaw. Attorney general of Michigan 1928–30 and governor of the state from 1931–33. Named general counsel of Department of Defense, Washington in 1954 and on June 23, 1955 President Eisenhower appointed him Secretary of the Army. Filed his Masonic petition on his 21st birthday and was raised in Salina Lodge No. 155 on Sept. 15, 1915, later serving as its master. A member of King Cyrus Chapter No.133, R.A.M. of Detroit and Detroit Commandery No. 1, K.T., he served the latter as commander in 1943 and was grand commander of Michigan in 1951. He belongs to Detroit Consistory AASR (NJ) and Moslem Shrine Temple.

Henry Bruckner (1871–1942) U.S. Congressman from N.Y. 63rd to 65th Congresses from 22nd N.Y. dist. b. June 17, 1871 in New York City. President of Bruckner Bros., manufacturers. Member of New York Assembly 1900–01, and commissioner of public works for New York from 1902–06. Mason. d. April 14, 1942.

James Bruff Commandant of Upper Louisiana Territory shortly after the U.S. took over the Louisiana purchase. In the Revolutionary War he was a 1st lieutenant with the 7th Maryland regiment. A close associate of General James Wilkinson q.v., governor of the Louisiana Territory, he no doubt received his appointment as commandant through his influence. He signed a petition to the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, asking for a dispensation for a lodge in St.

Louis, Mo., signing "J. Bruff, R.A.M." His original lodge is unknown. He is listed as a visitor to American Union Lodge and as being "from Baltimore." He was present on Dec. 27, 1799 at Morristown, N.J. when a petition was filed nominating General Mordecai Gist q.v. to represent the lodge at a convention to select a grand master of the United States (to be Washington, but he declined). (1734–1815) Member of Lodge No. 7, Chestertown, Md.

Clement Brumbaugh (1863–1921) U.S. Congressman 63rd to 66th Congresses (1913–21) from 12th Ohio dist. b. Feb. 28, 1863 at Greenville, O. Founder and principal of Van Buren Academy, 1887. Admitted to bar in 1900 and practiced at Columbus. Mason. d. Sept. 28, 1921.

David E. Brumbaugh U.S. Congressman 79th Congress (1945–47) from 22nd Pa. dist. b. Oct. 8, 1894 at Martinsburg, Pa. In insurance, lumber and banking fields since 1914. Served as enlisted man in WW1. Member of Woodbury Lodge No. 539 at Roaring Spring, Pa.; 32° AASR (NJ) at Altoona, also past potentate of Jaffa Shrine Temple; Royal Order of Jesters and DeMolay Legion of Honor.

Martin G. Brumbaugh (1862–1930) Governor of Pennsylvania. b. April 14, 1862 in Huntington Co., Pa. Received the degrees of B.E., M.E., M.S., A.M., Ph.D. from Juniata College and Univ. of Pa. He was president of Juniata College from 1895–1906 and again from 1924 until death. He was superintendent of Philadelphia schools 1906–15; first commissioner of education for Puerto Rico (1900–02). Elected governor of Pennsylvania serving 1915–19. Author of many educational books. Member of Mt. Moriah Lodge No. 300, Huntington, Pa. d. May, 1930.

Avery Brundage Amateur sportsman who was president of the U.S. Olympic Association and Committee from 1939–45 and president of the Cimate Internationale Olympique since 1952. b. Sept. 28, 1887 at Detroit, Mich. Graduated in engineering from Univ. of Illinois in 1909. Was American all-around amateur champion in 1914, 1916 and 1918. President of Avery Brundage Co. builders 1915–47, chairman Roanoke Real Estate Co. since 1932; president Roanoke Hotel Corp., 1939–45. A collector of Oriental art, he is a trustee of the Art Institute of Chicago. Received many foreign decorations for his devotion to amateur athletics. Member of North Shore Lodge No. 937, Chicago, Ill. 32° AASR (NJ) at Chicago and member of Medinah Shrine Temple, Chicago.

Guillaume M. A. Brune (1763–1815) French army officer who was Marshal of France in 1804. Was murdered by a royalist mob during the White Ter-ror at Avignon on Aug. 2, 1815. In 1814 he was grand administrator of the Grand Orient of France.

Albert, Prince of Brunswick–Luneburg Prussian Major General. Initiated in the Lodge “Jonathan” at Brunswick in 1744.

Ferdinand, Duke of Brunswick (1721–1792) Prussian Field Marshal. b. in Wolfenbittel, son of Ferdinand Albert II.

Entered Prussian service in 1740 and fought with Frederick the Great, who was for many years his close companion. He rendered distinguished service at Hohenfriedeberg in 1745 and was one of the ablest commanders of the Seven Years' War. Was governor of Madgeburg in 1755–57 and 1763–66, when in the latter year he became estranged from Frederick and resigned from his service, devoting himself to Freemasonry. Initiated in 1740 in the Lodge of Three Globes, Berlin, he received his Master's degree in 1743 at Breslau. Became protector of the Lodge St. Charles, Brunswick in 1764 and English past grand master of Brunswick in 1770. In 1771 he was protector of Von Hund's Strict Observance and in 1772 was declared grand master of the Scottish lodges. He was present in 1782 at the convent at Wilhelmsbad when the Templar system was supposedly disbanded and while there was declared general grand master of the assembled lodges. When presiding at the St. John's festival at Brunswick in 1792, he proudly stated that he had been a Freemason for 50 years.

Maximilian, Prince of Brunswick Youngest son of Duke Charles I. Educated at the Collegium Carolinum and went to Italy in 1775. Admitted in the Saint Charles Lodge, Brunswick in 1770, becoming its protector. Served Frederick the Great with honors.

William, Prince of Brunswick Third son of Duke Charles I of Brunswick who joined the Lodge St. Charles in 1769. Died, 1770. His brothers, Maximilian and Frederick Augustus q.v. were prominent members of the Craft.

Alvin G. Brush Business executive. b. Sept. 16, 1896 at Dunton, N.Y. In accounting field from 1919–32 when he became president of R. L. Watkins Co., mfgs. of Dr. Lyons tooth powder until 1934. President of Affiliated Products Co., cosmetics mfg. until 1935 and chairman of the board of American Home Products, mfgs. of drugs and household items since 1935. Raised in Garden City Lodge No. 1083, Garden City, L.I., N.Y. in Nov., 1917.

George W. Brush (1842–1927) Congressional Medal of Honor winner, physician. b. Oct. 4, 1842 at West Hills, L.I., N.Y. Served in U.S. Volunteers, 1861–65 from private to captain, receiving Medal of Honor in 1897. First practiced dentistry and later went into medicine. Retired from medical practice in 1906 to devote his time to civic betterment. Served terms in both N.Y. houses of legislature. Mason. d. Nov. 18, 1927.

Henry Brush (1778–1855) Judge of Supreme Court of Ohio and member of Congress from Ohio (1818–21). b. in June, 1778 in Dutchess Co., N.Y. Member of Scioto Lodge No. 2, Chillicothe, O., he was grand master of Ohio. d. Jan. 19, 1855.

Louis H. Brush (1872–1948) Newspaper publisher. b. Jan. 24, 1872 at Alliance, O. Purchased the Salem News in 1897; East Liverpool Review in 1901; and with others the Marion Star, 1923; Steubenville Herald-Star, 1926; Canton Repository, 1927; Portsmouth Times, 1930. In 1927 he organized the Brush–Moore Newspapers, Inc. of which he was president. Ma-son, 32° AASR and Shriner. d. June 24, 1948.

Nathaniel Brush Revolutionary War colonel who headed the Bennington (Vt.) militia at the battle of Bennington in Aug. 1777 which later proved to be the turning point in the Revolution. He was a charter member and first master of North Star Lodge, Manchester, Vt., formed in 1785.

William Bryan Brigadier General of militia in the Revolutionary War. Member of St. John's Lodge No. 3, New Bern, North Carolina.

William Jennings Bryan (1860–1925) Secretary of State, U.S. Congressman and presidential nominee three times. b. Mar. 18, 1860 at Salem, Ill. Admitted to bar in 1883 and began practice at Jacksonville, Ill. moving to Lincoln, Nebr. in 1887. Was member of 52nd and 53rd Congresses (1891–95) from 1st Nebr. dist. Edited Omaha World-Herald in 1894–96. As a delegate to the Democratic convention of 1896 he wrote the famous “silver plank,” of its platform and was nominated for President, but defeated by McKinley 176 to 271 electoral votes. In the Spanish-American war he was colonel of the 3rd Nebraska regiment. Was again defeated for President by McKinley in 1900 155 votes to 292. Nominated for third time for President in 1908, he was defeated by Taft, 162 votes against 321. As secretary of state in Wilson's cabinet (1913–15) he negotiated 30 treaties. He was raised in Lincoln Lodge No. 19, Lincoln, Nebr. on Apr. 15, 1902 and later affiliated with Temple Lodge No. 247, Miami, Fla. d. in Miami July 26, 1925.

Joseph R. Bryson (1893–1953) U.S. Congressman 76th to 82nd Congresses (1939–53) from fifth S. Car. Dist. b. Jan. 18, 1893 at Brevard, N.C. Graduate of Furman Univ. and Univ. of South Carolina. Member of state legislature 1921–24 and senate 1929–32. Mason, 32° AASR, (SJ) and Shriner. d. March 10, 1953.

Charles William, Duke of Buccleuch (See Earl of Dalkeith) Francis, 2nd Duke of Buccleuch (See Earl of Dalkeith) Earls of Buchan Henry David, 10th Earl was the 10th Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1745–46. David, 11th Earl was 34th Grand Master Mason 1782–83 and Henry David, 12th Earl was 59th Grand Master Mason, 1832–33.

James Buchanan (1791–1868) Fifteenth President of the United States (1857–61). b. April 23, 1791 near Mercersburg, Pa. He was U.S. minister to Russia from 1832–34, U.S. senator from Pennsylvania 1834–45, secretary of state in Polk's cabinet 1845–49 and U.S. minister to England 1853–56. His undated petition to Lodge No. 43, Lancaster, Pa. stated that he resided in the borough of Lancaster, age 25 and was an attorney at law. One of the signers was Malton C. Rogers q.v. who was later secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and for 25 years a justice of the supreme court of that state. Buchanan was initiated Dec. 11, 1816 by John Reynolds, passed and raised Jan. 24, 1817 by George Whitaker. On Dec. 13, 1820 he was elected junior warden and on Dec. 7, 1822 unanimously elected master. On Dec. 27, 1823 he was appointed as the first district deputy grand master of that district. On March 10, 1858 he donated $100 to the lodge and was elected an "honorary" member, the record book being changed from "life" to "honorary." On May 15, 1865 he attended a special meeting of No. 43 which was his last attendance. A history of Perseverance Lodge No. 21, Harrisburg, Pa. states that Buchanan never failed to visit Perseverance during the earlier days of his life if in town. He was exalted to the Royal Arch degree in Chapter No. 43 at Lancaster. On Feb. 22, 1860 he assisted in the Masonic dedication of the George Washington statue in Washington Circle, Washington, D.C. and delivered the dedicatory address. d. June 1, 1868 and was given Masonic burial by his home lodge at Lancaster on June 4. Four thousand persons attended the funeral.

James T. Buchanan (1853-?) Business executive and authority on Masonic history, literature and doctrines. b. Aug. 3, 1853 at Hamilton, Ont., Canada, settling in Pennsylvania in 1877. He was at one time president of the Pittsburgh Trust Co., and Pittsburgh Terminal Warehouse & Transfer Co. Raised in Strict Observance Lodge at Hamilton, Ont. on Aug. 17, 1875. Knighted in Talbot Commandery No. 43, K.T., Oil City, Pa. on July 23, 1883 and received council degrees in Mt. Moriah Council No. 2, R. & S.M. at Pittsburgh on Dec. 3, 1883. At time of his death he was dean of the Northern Supreme Council AASR.

John P. Buchanan Former Governor of Tennessee. Member of Charles Fuller Lodge No. 412, Rutherford Co., Tenn. which was later Mt. Moriah Lodge No. 18, of Murfreesboro.

George Villiers, 2nd Duke of Buckingham (1628-1687) b. Jan. 30, 1628. A questionable character whom Dryden described as the "epitome of mankind" and Dr. Anderson stated was the grand master of England in 1674. He joined the Royalists in 1640 and served under Prince Rupert, later joining Lord Holland's rising in Surrey in 1648. He engaged in a series of intrigues and caused much scandal by his personal immorality. He was attacked in parliament as a promoter of popery and arbitrary government, and dismissed from office in 1674. Remembered as Simri in Dryden's Absalom and Achitophel and a figure in Scott's Peveril of the Peak. A poet and author, himself, his best known is the burlesque, The Rehearsal (1671). d. April 16, 1687.

James T. Buckley President of Philco Corp. b. Oct. 13, 1896 at Philadelphia, Pa. Began as a laboratory assistant with Philco in 1912, rising as chief draftsman, assistant engineer, general purchasing agent, treasurer and president from 1939–43. Chairman of executive committee since 1943 and chairman of the board since 1949. Member of Palestine Lodge No. 470, Philadelphia; Germantown Chapter No. 208, and 32° AASR (NJ) all of Philadelphia.

Alexander Buckner (1785–1833) U.S. Senator from Missouri and first grand master of Indiana in 1818. b. in Jefferson Co., Ky., he practiced law in Charlestown, Ind. as early as 1812. He was probably raised in Union Lodge No. 29, Madison, Ind. for he demitted from there on May 6, 1816, affiliating with Blazing Star Lodge No. 3, Charleston, Indiana Territory and by 1818 was a past master of that lodge. Shortly after serving as the first grand master of Indiana (1818) he moved to Missouri. While grand master he engaged in a duel with another Ma son, Col. Thomas H. Blake. In Missouri he became the first master of Unity Lodge No. 6, Jackson, Mo. He was a member of Missouri's state constitutional convention of 1820 and served several terms in the state legislature. Was U.S. Senator from 1831 until his death on June 6, 1833.

Simon Bolivar Buckner (1823–1914) Lieutenant General in Confederate Army and Governor of Kentucky. b. in Hart Co., Ky. April 1, 1823. Served with distinction in war with Mexico being advanced from 2nd lieut. to captain. Taught at West Point, re-signing from U.S. Army in 1855. He was inspector general of Kentucky from 1860–61 and at start of Civil War was made brigadier general, advancing through major general to lieutenant general in 1864. Was prisoner of war for two months in 1862. Governor of Kentucky in 1887–91. He was a candidate for vice president of the United States on the "Gold Ticket" in 1896. d. Jan. 8, 1914. Listed as a Freemason in the Grand Lodge of Kentucky proceedings of 1891.

Frederick G. Budlong (1881–1953) Protestant Episcopal bishop of Connecticut. b. July 10, 1881 at Camden, N.Y. Ordained deacon and priest in 1907, serving churches in St. Paul, Minn., Winnetka, Ill., Chicago, Pittsburgh and Greenwich, Conn. until 1931 when he was consecrated bishop-coadjutor of Connecticut and bishop in 1934. Mason. d. Sept. 25, 1953.

Buffalo Bill (See William F. Cody)

Howard Buffett U.S. Congressman, 78th to 80th Congresses (1943–49) from 2nd Nebr. dist. b. Aug. 13, 1903 at Omaha, Nebr. Began as journalist and bond salesman. President of Buffett & Co. since 1931 and South Omaha Feed Co. since 1938. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner. Raised in Covert Lodge No. 11, Omaha, Nebr. in 1930; 32° and KCCH in AASR (SJ) at Omaha and past master of Mt. Moriah Lodge of Perfection. Past president of Omaha Square and Compass Club, member of Tangier Shrine Temple, Omaha.

Charles H. Buford President of C.M. St.P. & P. Railroad. b. Feb. 5, 1886 at Newport, Ark. Graduated from Univ. of Arkansas in 1907. Started with the C.M. St.P. & P. as engineer of track elevation in 1907 and worked way up to presidency in May, 1947. Was vice president of Operations and Maintenance Dept. of the Association of American Railroads from 1939–46. Member of Ottumwa Lodge No. 16, Ottumwa, Ia.; 32° AASR (SJ) at Sioux City, Ia. and member of Zorah Shrine Temple, Terre Haute, Ind.

Rivers H. Buford Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Florida. b. Jan. 18, 1878 at Pulaski, Tenn. Admitted to Florida bar in 1900. Served in many public capacities as prosecuting attorney, state's attorney, and attorney general of the state (1921–25), resigning to be appointed supreme court justice and has served on the court since that date. Was chief justice from 1931–33 and 1943–45. Mason and Shriner.

Johann Gottlieb Buhle (1753–1821) Professor of philosophy in the University of Gottingen, who, although not a Freemason, published a work in 1804 entitled Origin and the Principal Events of the Order of Rosicrucianism and Freemasonry. His theory was that Freemasonry was invented in the year 1629 by John Valentine Andrea q.v.

William F. Bulkley Protestant Episcopal Archdeacon for Utah, (1924–49). Now retired. b. April 21, 1881 at Tashua, Conn. Ordained deacon in 1908 and subsequently, priest, and general missionary. Raised in Wasatch Lodge No. 1, Salt Lake City, Utah in 1916 and presently member of Story Lodge No. 4, Provo, Utah. Member of Utah Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. and past grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of Utah in 1927; Utah Council No. 1, and past grand illustrious master in 1942; Utah Commandery No. 1, K.T. and past grand generalissimo of Grand Commandery of Utah in 1928. Served as master of his lodge, president of Order of High Priesthood, master of Order of Silver Trowel; prior of K.Y.C.H. and presently prelate of national K.Y.C.H. Member of El Kalah Shrine Temple; 32° AASR (SJ) at Salt Lake City.

Chief Crazy Bull Great grandson of Sitting Bull is said to have been a member of Suffolk Lodge No. 60, Port Jefferson, N.Y.

Daniel F. Bull President of the Cream of Wheat Corp. b. at Grand Forks, N.D. in 1886. Graduated from Univ. of North Dakota in 1906. In engineering from 1908–18 when he became associated with the Cream of Wheat Corp. as assistant general manager and has been president and general manager since 1940. Director of a number of large corporations. Mason.

Harold R. Bull Lieutenant General, U.S. Army. b. Jan. 6, 1893 at Springfield, Mass. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1914. Served in WW1 with 3rd Division, A.E.F. In WW2 he was with the Allied Force Headquarters in North Africa (1943), commanding general of the III Corps (1943); assistant chief of staff, G-3, Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, 1943-45; deputy chief of staff and chief of staff U.S. Forces, European theater (1945 -46) . Received rank of lieutenant general in 1949. Mason and National Sojourner.

Ole B. Bull (1810-1880) Famed Norwegian violinist. b. Feb. 5, 1810 in Bergen, Norway. Studied under Spohr and Paganini and toured as virtuoso throughout the world. Made five tours through North America (1843-79) and eventually spent each summer in America and the winters in Norway. In 1852 he attempted to found a Norwegian colony in Pennsylvania, but he had been deceived by land titles and lost a fortune. His own lodge is not known, but he was a visitor to St. Cecile Lodge No. 568 of New York City in March, 1868 and the Lodge of St. Andrew in Massachusetts. His business manager in this country was Fred Widdows, past master of Clinton Lodge No. 453, N.Y. On Oct. 30, 1845 Bull gave a concert for the Masonic Hall and Asylum Fund of the Grand Lodge of New York which netted $1,400. d. Aug. 18, 1880.

Egbert F. Bullene Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Jan. 25, 1895 at Salinas, Calif. A graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy in 1917, he was commissioned that year and advanced through grades to general officer in 1943. During WW1 he was a battalion commander in 4th Division. In 1944 he commanded a joint American–British secret Army–Navy project. Served in European and Pacific theaters in 1945. He was a member of the military commission that tried and convicted General Yamashita. Mason.

H. Edmund Bullis b. July 24, 1888 at Manlius, N.Y. Engaged in chamber of commerce organization 1910–17. Sent by General Leonard Wood q.v. on special mission to rulers of Indo–China, Siam, Malay, Borneo 1922–23. Chief of Organized Reserve Section, General Staff, U.S. Army, 1924–27. Active in associations for mental hygiene, dementia praecox and human relations. Served in both world wars. In WW2 he was on claims commission for England, French Morocco, North Africa, Sicily, Italy. Author of several volumes including The Land of Masonic Romance and Human Relations in Action. Raised in Fredericksburg Lodge No. 4, of Va. in 1910; member of Lake Ontario Chapter No. 165, R.A.M. at Oswego, N.Y. and Lake Ontario Commandery, K.T. of same city. 32° AASR (NJ) in Wilmington, Del.; Media Shrine Temple of Watertown, N.Y.; past president of DuPont Chapter of National Sojourners; organizing president of Rockefeller Square Club in N.Y.C. (1935); served as ceremonial director for Afifi and Nile Shrine Temples in the Philippines in 1922–23.

Archibald Bulloch (1730–1777) President of Georgia, holding that office in 1776–77 just before the state constitution came into existence. b. in Charleston, S. Car. he studied law, was admitted to the bar and settled in Georgia. In 1772 he became speaker of the commons house and in 1775 was elected a member of the provincial congress, and became its president. The next year he was again elected and presided over the second provincial congress and was sent as a delegate to the Continental Congress at Philadelphia. He missed signing the Declaration of Independence as he was in Georgia at the time. His son, William B. q.v. was later a U.S. Senator from Georgia. Member of Solomons Lodge No. 1, Savannah.

William B. Bulloch (1776–1852) U.S. Senator from Georgia. b. in Savannah, he was the son of Archibald Bulloch q.v. Became a prominent lawyer and in 1809 was elected mayor of Savannah. Subsequently he was collector of the port. Served in War of 1812 in Savannah heavy artillery. Appointed U.S. Senator to fill a vacant term and served in year 1813. His lodge is not known, but probably was Solomon's No. 1, Savannah. He wrote an address on Masonry about 1810–15 and the original copy is in the House of the Temple, Washington.

Edward G. E. Bulwer-Lytton (1803–1873) First Baron Lytton of Knebworth and brother of Sir Henry Bulwer. English novelist and politician. His first novel was Faulkland (1827) followed by Pe/ham (1828). He was a member of Parliament from 1831–41 during which time he produced three plays, The Lady of Lyons, Richelieu and Money. Returning to politics he was a member of parliament from 1852–66 and colonial secretary 1858–59. Created baron in 1866. Among his historical and romantic novels are Eugene Aram (1832), The Last Days of Pompeii (1834) and Rienzi (1835) on which Wagner's opera of the same name is based. Among his poems is The World May Rail at Masonry. Mason.

Alfred L. Bulwinkle U.S. Congressman, 67th to 70th Congresses (1921–29) and 72nd to 81st Congresses (1931–51) from 11th N. Car, district. b. April 21, 1883 at Charlestown, S. Car. Admitted to bar in 1904. Served overseas as major in WW1. Member of executive board of United Lutheran Church in America. Mason.

Horace A. Bumby Manufacturing executive. b. Aug. 22, 1890 at Burnett, Wis. President and general manager of Speed Queen Corp., Ripon, Wis. since 1940. President and director of Ripon Foods, Inc., since 1930. Officer and director of several corporations. Mason.

Edward Buncombe (?–1777) Colonel in American Revolution, b. in the West Indies, he was educated in England and inherited a large estate. Came to America in 1776, settling in Tyrrel Co., N. Car. He raised and commanded the 5th N. Car. regiment and fought in the battles of Brandywine and Germantown, being wounded and taken prisoner in the latter, dying of wounds at Philadelphia. In 1791 his name was given to a county in N. Car. The Americanism “speaking for Buncombe,” signifying any speech made solely to please a constituency, is derived from a congressional representative from that county who was in the habit of making speeches to which no one listened. One day, observing many members were leaving the house, he declared that he did not care how many left—he was not speaking to them, but to Buncombe! Buncombe was a member of Unanimity Lodge No. 7 at Edenton, N. Car. His degree dates were May 16, May 26, June 3, 1776.

Charles E. Bunnell First president of University of Alaska. b. Jan. 12, 1878 at Dimock, Pa. Received A.B., A.M. and LL.D. from Bucknell Univ. Arrived in Alaska in 1900 and taught school, being admitted to bar in 1908. Appointed judge of U.S. District Court, 4th Division, serving 1915–21. First president of Alaska Agricultural College and School of Mines (now Univ. of Alaska) from 1922–35 and president of the Univ. of Alaska from 1935. Mason.

George A. Bunting President of Noxzema Chemical Co. b. April 3, 1870 at Bishopville, Md. A.B. and A.M. from Washington College, Md. and Ph.G. from Univ. of Maryland School of Pharmacy. First with public schools of Bishopville, Md. as principal then proprietor of Bunting's Drug Store in Baltimore (1902–22) where he originated the Noxzema formula in 1914. Established the Noxzema Co. in 1917 and was president until 1949, being chairman of the board since that time. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

John Bunyan (1628–1688) Preacher and most celebrated allegorical writer of England. b. at Elstow, near Bedford, he served in the Parliamentary army from 1644–46. Moved by two devotional books of his wife's, he gave up amusements and swearing and joined the nonconformist church in Bedford in 1653. He began to preach in 1657 and published his first writings against the Quakers in 1656. Served 12 years (1660–72) in prison for preaching without a license. Wrote nine books while in prison. During a short imprisonment in 1675 he is supposed to have written the immortal Pilgrim's Progress, published in 1678. Although it is not known whether he was a Freemason or not, his little-known work Solomon's Temple Spiritualized contains so much Masonic phraseology and dogma that it would be hard to believe that he did not have some knowledge of the Craft.

Luther Burbank (1849–1926) Horticulturist and naturalist. b. March 7, 1849 at Lancaster, Mass. Spent his boyhood on the farm and became interested in plant life at an early age. He moved to Santa Rosa, Calif. in 1875 where he established Burbank's Experimental Farms. The first practical result of his experiments was the Burbank potato. Others were a rapid-growing, edible, thornless cactus; 11 types of plums and four types of prunes; a new fruit, the "plumcot"; Peachblow, Burbank and Santa Rosa roses; gigantic forms of amaryllis, tigridian, the Shasta daisy and various new apples, peaches, nuts, berries, trees, fruits, flowers, grasses, grains and vegetables. Burbank was raised in Santa Rosa Lodge No. 57 on August 13, 1921 and coroneted an honorary 33° AASR (SJ) on Oct. 20, 1925. d. April 11, 1926.

Henry Burbeck (1754–1848) Founder of West Point, soldier of the Revolution and War of 1812. b. June 8, 1754 at Castle William in Boston harbor. His father, William, was commanding officer of Castle William and as senior grand warden of St. John's Provincial Grand Lodge in Boston, he had signed the warrant for American Union Lodge. Henry was commissioned as lieutenant of artillery in May, 1775 and his commission was signed by Joseph Warren q.v. He served under such famous artillerymen (and Masons) as Gridley, Knox and Crane q.v. In the Revolution he was at the battles of Long Island, Brandywine and Germantown, wintering at Valley Forge. He was stationed at West Point and commanded the troops that took over New York City from the British on Nov. 25, 1783. He was discharged from service in 1784 but re-entered the army and was in command of his birthplace, Castle William in 1786. He served again at West Point, building Ft. St. Tammany and was with Wayne in the Northwest Territory in 1792. In 1800 he was named Chief of Artillerists and Engineers and recommended the establishment of a military school for training cadets that later developed into the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. When the Corps of Engineers was created in 1801, Burbeck was its first chief. In the War of 1812 he commanded the harbor defenses of New York, New London and Newport. It is no doubt that under his instructions volunteer working parties of Freemasons marched to those several sites where earthworks were raised under the name of Fort Hiram, Fort Masonic, etc. Burbeck retired in 1815 as a brigadier general. He was a member of St. John's Lodge, Boston, as was his father. In the spring of 1792 he commanded a force sent to Fort Recovery, Ohio to bury over 200 Americans that had fallen there on Nov. 4 of the preceding year under General St. Clair when the Miami Indians overwhelmed them. At his direction they were all buried in a common grave and both military and Masonic ceremonies were given over the grave. d. Oct. 2, 1848.

Thomas G. Burch (1869–1951) U.S. Congressman, 72nd to 77th Congresses (1931–43) from 5th Virginia dist. b. July 3, 1869 in Henry Co., Va. In banking business. U.S. Marshal Western Dist. of Va. from 1914–21. Mason and Shriner. d. March 20, 1951.

Clark Burdick (1868–1948) U.S. Congressman 66th to 72nd Congresses (1919–33) from 1st R.I. dist. b. Jan. 13, 1868 at Newport, R.I. Practiced law at Newport from 1894. Served as city solicitor, mayor, and in the state house and senate. Mason and 32° AASR. d. Aug. 27, 1948.

Usher L. Burdick U.S. Congressman 74th to 78th and 81st to 84th Congresses from North Dakota at large. b. Feb. 21, 1879 at Owatonna, Minn., he was raised among the Sioux Indians. Received law degree from Univ. of Minnesota and admitted to N. Dak. bar in 1904. He has been a member of the N. Dak. house, speaker of the house, lieutenant governor, states attorney and assistant federal attorney of N. Dak. Author of several books including The Last Battle of the Sioux Nation (1928), Tragedy in the Great Sioux Camp (1939), and Tales from Buffalo Land (1940). Member of Mt. Moriah Lodge No. 51, Williston, N. Dak. Dimitted from York and Scottish Rite.

Gottfried A. Burger (1747–1794) German romantic poet and writer of ballads. Translated Homer and Shakespeare. His ballad Lenore (1773) is considered to be his masterpiece. Also wrote Die Kuh (1784), Der Wilde Jager (1785), Der Kaiser und der Abt (1785) and Lenardo und Blandine. Edited the first German version of Baron Munchausen. Was initiated in 1775.

William O. Burgin (?–1946) U.S. Congressman 76th to 78th Congresses (1939–45) from 8th N. Car. dist. b. at Marion, N. Car. Practiced law in Lexington. Served in N. Car. house and senate. Mason. d. April 11, 1946.

Father Jose Burgos (?–1872) Catholic priest, who although not a Freemason, had a Scottish Rite chapter of Rose Croix named for him—Burgos Chapter, Manila, Philippines. A liberal-minded native priest, he campaigned vigorously for reforms in religion and government in the Philippines in the second half of the 19th century. In opposing the despotic powers of the Spanish friars, he was on the side of many Masons, who while they were in accord with the spiritual side of the Catholic Church, resisted the subjugation of the people under the cloak of religion. For this, he with two other priests were put to death Feb. 17, 1872 by garroting.

Andrew H. Burke Former Governor of North Dakota. Mason, 33° AASR (SJ).

Edmund Burke (1729–1797) British statesman and orator who gained fame by favoring the cause of the American colonies. b. in Dublin of Protestant father and Catholic mother, he was brought up a Protestant. He abandoned legal studies for writing. Became a member of Parliament in 1765 and gained high position among the Whigs through his eloquence on the American question. Delivered a nine-day speech for the impeachment of Warren Hastings. Advocated abolishment of the slave trade, advocated free trade with Ireland and emancipation of Catholics; denounced use of Indians in American war. He was thought to be a member of Jerusalem Lodge No. 44, Clerkenwell, London which was sometimes referred to as “Burke’s Lodge.” Burke championed John Wilkes q.v. when he was imprisoned for libel, writing the political pamphlet Thoughts on the Present Discontents in his defense. It is significant that members of Jerusalem Lodge No. 44 went to the King's Bench Prison on March 3, 1769 and made John Wilkes a Mason. d. July 9, 1797.

Edward R. Burke Former U.S. Senator from Nebraska. Member of Omaha Lodge No. 288, Omaha, Nebr. receiving his Scottish Rite (SJ) in 1927 and KCCH on Oct. 17, 1933.

Haslett P. Burke Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Colorado. b. April 28, 1874 in Monona Co., Iowa. Admitted to bar and moved to Colorado in 1896. Served as clerk in district court of Logan Co. and then as district judge from 1907–19. Served as judge of the supreme court from 1919 until voluntary retirement in 1949. He was chief justice in 1927, 1937, 1938. Declined appointment as U.S. Senator in 1941. Served in Spanish American War. Self educated, the first time he ever set foot on a campus of higher learning was to deliver the commencement address, and the first time he entered the door of a law school was as a teacher of constitutional law. Raised in Sterling Lodge No. 34 in 1903 and elected master three months later. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Colorado in 1920–21. Received 32° AASR (SJ) in 1905, KCCH in 1909; 33° in 1914 and GCCH in 1939. Appointed deputy in Colorado in 1940; crowned active member in 1941 and in 1955 elected as lieutenant grand commander of the Southern Jurisdiction. d. 1957.

Elmer J. Burkett (1867–1935) U.S. Senator from Nebraska. b. Dec. 1, 1867 in Mills Co., Iowa. LL.B. and LL.M. from Univ. of Nebraska and entered law practice in 1891 at Lincoln, Nebr. Member of the Nebraska lower house for one term and U.S. Congressman, 56th to 59th Congresses (1899–1905) from 1st Nebr. dist. U.S. Senator 1905–11. Mason and 32° AASR. d. May 23, 1935.

Edwin C. Burleigh (1843–1916) U.S. Senator and Governor of Maine. b. Nov. 27, 1843 at Linneus, Me. Taught school and was land surveyor in early life, later publisher of the Kennebec Journal (1887 on). He was state treasurer from 1885–88 and governor of Maine 1889–92. A member of the U.S. Congresses, 1897–1911 from 3rd Maine dist. and U.S. Senator 1913 until death on June 16, 1916. Member of Augusta Lodge No. 141, Augusta, Me.

Albert S. Burleson (1863–1937) Postmaster General of U.S. b. June 7, 1863 at San Marcos, Tex. Received degrees from Baylor Univ. and Univ. of Texas and admitted to bar in 1885. Member of 56th to 62nd Congresses (1899–1903) from 9th Texas dist. Also congressman from 10th dist. in 1903–13. Resigned from 63rd Congress to accept postmaster generalship in cabinet of President Wilson, serving from 1913–21. Member of the Masonic bodies of Austin, Texas. d. Nov. 24, 1937.

Edward Burleson Vice President of Republic of Texas. Member of Clinton Lodge No. 54, Bolivar, Tenn. Initiated March 22, 1826.

Anson Burlingame (1820–1870) U.S. Minister to China. b. Nov. 14, 1820 in New Berlin, N.Y. Graduated from Harvard law school in 1846 and practiced in Boston, serving in the state senate and a member of the state constitutional convention. U.S. Congressman to 34th, 35th and 36th Congresses, he was one of the founders of the Republican party in 1855. He gained national fame when he denounced the assault by Preston S. Brooks on Senator Sumner over the slavery question, and when Brooks challenged him to a duel, he promptly accepted, naming rifles as the weapons and the place to be Navy island above Niagara Falls. Brooks backed down. President Lincoln appointed him as minister to Austria, but the government refused to receive him as he had spoken in favor of Hungarian independence. He was then named minister to China in which capacity he served with distinction and in 1867 Prince Kung, regent of China, named him as special envoy to the United States and European powers to frame treaties of amity with those nations. It became known as the "Burlingame Treaty." He died in St. Petersburg, Russia on Feb. 23, 1870 while completing his mission for China. He was made a Freemason in Amicable Lodge, Cambridge, Mass. on Jan. 5, 1854.

David G. Burnet (1788–1870) President of Texas, soldier of fortune, lawyer, jurist b. April 1, 1788 at Newark, N.J., son of Dr. William Burnet, first master of Nova Caesarea Lodge No. 10, Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1806 he joined the liberator Miranda q.v. on the ship Leander in an attempt to free Venezuela, and was with him again in 1808 on another attempt. Afterwards studied law at Newark. On Nov. 24, 1813 he petitioned St. John's Lodge of Newark and the minutes of Dec. 8, 1813 state that his petition was laid over for further consideration.

Failing in health, he drifted to the plains in 1817 and lived with the Comanches for two years. He returned to Ohio where his family lived and then to Louisiana where he practiced law for six years. He migrated to Texas in 1826 and in 1833 he wrote the document sent by the convention of American settlers to the Mexican government. In 1834 he was appointed one of the first three district judges of Texas. When Texas declared her independence from Mexico on March 2, 1836, Burnet was chosen as the first president of the Republic to serve until the adoption of a constitution which took place on Oct. 22, 1836. During his eight months as president many important events occurred including the Battle of the Alamo, Goliad and San Jacinto as well as the capture of Santa Anna q.v. In 1838 he was elected vice president, and was president in 1840 during the illness of President Lamar. It was while vice president that he was initiated in Holland Lodge No. 1 of Houston the dates being Jan. 18, Jan. 24, and May 21, 1839. He de-mitted April 13, 1842 and there is no later Masonic record of him. He was defeated for presidency in 1841 by Sam Houston q.v. and was first secretary of state under Governor Henderson q.v. He then retired to his farm and died Dec. 5, 1870. His brother Jacob q.v. was U.S. Senator from Ohio and deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Ohio.

Jacob Burnet (1770–1853) U.S. Senator from Ohio, pioneer jurist and political figure. b. Feb. 22, 1770 at Newark, N.J., son of Dr. William q.v. and brother of David G. q.v. Graduated at Princeton in 1791 and in 1796 was admitted to the bar and settled in Ohio where he became a leading citizen. In 1799 he was appointed to the legislative council of the Northwest Territory and was active in forming the state government. In 1812 he was a member of the state legislature and judge of the supreme court in 1821–28. From 1828–31 he served Ohio as U.S. Senator. He was first president of the colonizing Society of Cincinnati. In 1799–1801 he was master of Nova Caesarea Lodge No. 10 (now N.C. Harmony, No. 2) at Cincinnati. His father was first master of this lodge. He also is listed in the grand lodge proceedings as a past master of Scioto Lodge No. 6. A Royal Arch Mason, he was deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Ohio in 1810–12 and at one time served as grand orator of that body. d. May 10, 1853.

William Burnet (1730–1791) Pioneer physician, member of Continental Congress of 1776. b. Dec. 13, 1730 at Newark, N.J., he was the son of a physician who came from Scotland. Two of his six sons became famous, David G. q.v. being the first President of Texas and Jacob q.v., U.S. Senator from Ohio. He graduated from Princeton in 1749—the school's second year. He was a member of Congress in 1780–81. From 1776 until the close of the war, he was surgeon general of the eastern district of the United States. When the grand lodge of New Jersey chartered Nova Caesarea Lodge No. 10 at Cincinnati on Sept. 8, 1791 he was named as first master. Shortly after this (Oct. 7, 1791) he died.

George H. Burnett (1853–1927) Justice, Supreme Court of Oregon from 1892–1911. b. May 9, 1853 in Yamhill Co., Ore. Practiced law at Salem, Ore. 1876–92 and then served as district attorney, court reporter and circuit judge. Mason. d. Sept. 10, 1927.

James Burnett (Lord Monboddo) q.v. (1714–1799) Scottish judge and pioneer anthropologist. Samuel Johnson visited him in 1773. He was the author of The Origin and Progress of Language (1773–92) which brought man into affinity with orangutans and traced elevation of man to a social state as a natural process. The Bulletin of the International Masonic Congress (1917) states that he was a Freemason.

Henry E. Burnham (1844 –1917) U.S. Senator from New Hampshire. b. Nov. 8, 1844 at Dumbarton, N.H. Graduate of Dartmouth in 1867 and admitted to bar in 1868. Held several political offices and was U.S. Senator from 1901–13. A member of Washington Lodge No. 61, Manchester, he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of New Hampshire in 1885. A 33° AASR (NJ). d. Feb. 8, 1917.

George Burnham (1868–1939) U.S. Congressman, 73rd and 74th Congresses (1933–37). b. Dec. 28, 1868 in London, England. Came to United States in 1881 and naturalized in 1890. Began as a clerk in store, became engaged in ranching and real estate and banking. From 1917–27 was vice president of the Southern Truce & Commerce Bank; from 1927–30, vice president of Bank of Italy; and from 1930–32, vice president of its successor, the Bank of America. Past grand commander, Grand Commandery, K.T. of Calif. d. June, 1939.

Lord Burnham (Edward Frederick Lawson) English peer and managing director of the London Daily Telegraph, founded by his family. He was educated at Eaton and Oxford and served with distinction in WW1, receiving the D.S.O.

In WW2 he was recalled to service as a major general and appointed director of public relations in 1941 at the War Office. He was senior military adviser to the Ministry of Information, remaining in that capacity long after the end of the war. As Edward Frederick Lawson, he succeeded his father to the barony in 1943 at the latter's death. In 1942 he was junior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England and since 1944 Masonic ruler of the Province of Buckinghamshire.

Wilbur H. Burnham Artist and designer of stained glass windows. b. Feb. 4, 1887 at Boston, Mass. Studied both at home and abroad, beginning as designer of stained glass in 1906. Has designed scores of church, cathedral and memorial windows including Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Washington Cathedral, Riverside Church (N.Y.), Princeton Univ. Chapel, Rollins College (Fla.) Chapel, Univ. of Southern Calif. Chapel, Belleau Chapel, France, American Church of Paris. Mason.

Bob Burns (1890–1956) Actor and humorist. b. Aug. 2, 1890 at Van Buren, Ark. Attended the Univ. of Arkansas but did not graduate. Started his professional career on vaudeville stage in 1911, but gained his fame through homely philosophy in movies and particularly radio. His famous homemade musical instrument the “bazooka” was immortalized in WW2 with the infantry rocket launcher being given that name. Mason. d. Feb. 2, 1956.

Gilbert Burns (?–1827) Brother of Scottish poet, Robert Burns q.v. who together farmed 118 acres at Mossiel, Scotland. Raised in St. James Lodge, No. 178 Tarbolton on March 1, 1786. d. April 27, 1827.

Robert Burns (1759–1796) Scottish national poet. b. Jan. 25, 1759 at Alloway, near Ayr, the son of a gardener. He first worked as a farm laborer and from 1784–88 farmed with his brother Gilbert q.v. on 118 acres at Mossgiel where he wrote some of his best poems. Constantly plagued with financial trouble and affairs of the heart, he determined to go to Jamaica as a plantation overseer, but when the edition of poems he published to raise his fare became a success, he decided to stay and moved to Edinburgh where he was lionized by literary circles. He was made a Freemason in St. David's Lodge No. 174 at Tarbolton, Scotland being initiated on July 4, 1781 and passed and raised Oct. 1, same year. He was one of those who withdrew from the lodge in 1782 and constituted St. James Lodge No. 178 in the same town. On July 27, 1784 he was made deputy master of the lodge and held that office until 1788. He was made an honorary member of St. John's Lodge No. 22, Kilmarnock, Scotland on Oct. 26, 1786. He was also a member of the Loudoun Kilwinning Lodge No. 51, Newmilns, Scotland. On Feb. 1, 1787, he became a member of the famous Lodge Canon-gate Kilwinning No. 2 at Edinburgh and was made poet laureate of the lodge on March 1, 1787. While on a visit to St. Andrew's Lodge No. 179, Dumfries, Scotland on Dec. 27, 1788 the brethren "assumed" him as a member of that lodge. On May 19, 1787 he received the Royal Arch de-gree in St. Ebbe Lodge at Eyemouth, Scotland.,Ä¢ Although Robert Ainslie who was exalted at the same time paid one guinea dues, the minutes testify “but on account of R. Burns’ remarkable poetical genius, the encampment unanimously agreed to admit him gratis” and considered themselves “honoured by having a man of such shining abilities as one of their Companions.” He wrote several Masonic poems including “Farewell to the Brethren of St. James Lodge, Tarbolton” and “The Freemasons’ Apron.” d. July 21, 1796.

Robert E. Burns President of College of the Pacific. b. July 26, 1909 at Flat River, Mo. Received A.B. and A.M. from College of the Pacific and LL.D. from Willamette Univ. Began as field secretary of College of the Pacific in 1931, later becoming alumni and placement secretary, registrar, assistant to president “and has been president since 1946. Raised Jan. 20, 1945 in San Joaquin Lodge No. 19, exalted Oct. 29, 1952 in Stockton Chapter No. 28, R.A.M.; greeted in Stockton Council No. 10, R. & S.M. Oct. 29, 1952 and knighted in Stockton Commandery No. 8, K.T. Dec. 1, 1953. Received 32° AASR (SJ) Nov. 18, 1945. Served as grand chaplain, Grand Lodge of California in 1955 and grand high prelate, Red Cross of Constantine, 1956–57.

Aaron Burr (1756–1836) American Revolutionary officer; third vice-president of the United States. He fell into disrepute by killing Alexander Hamilton in a duel (1804) and later by conspiring to seize territory from Spanish America to create a new republic in the Southwest. In spite of the fact that many authorities have claimed he was a Mason, there is not a shred of proof as to his membership. It is true that many of his close associates were Freemasons. He is often confused with another contemporary “Aaron Burr” who was a member of Union Lodge No. 40, Danbury, Conn., being initiated June 13, passed July 3 and raised Sept. 13, 1806. That summer Burr was in New Jersey with his daughter and left for the Southwest in Sept. of that year. There is also a record of “Aaron Burr” visiting Western Star Lodge No. 107 at Kaskaskia, Ill. on April 4, 1812. At this time he was either in England or aboard the ship Aurora which reached Boston in May, 1812. During the Anti-Masonic period, those opposed to the Craft associated Burr’s name with the fraternity as a traitor who used the Craft to further his plans. The following from an address in 1829 before a citizens meeting in Philadelphia is indicative of the times: “It was the key of the Royal Arch degree which was used by the celebrated Aaron Burr, in conducting his correspondencies, during his treasonable conspiracies against our liberties. That arch intriguer travelled over the United States; visited the Lodges and Chapters; communicated his private designs where the members were bound by oath to conceal the disclosures of their brethren.” d. Sept. 14, 1836.

Jonathan Burrall (1753–1834) Revolutionary soldier. Joined the northern army under Schuyler in 1776. He soon became assistant paymaster and at the close of the war he was on the commission to settle the accounts of the commissary and quartermaster departments. He was later assistant postmaster general and cashier of the U.S. branch bank of New York and manager of the New York state lotteries. Admitted to Masters’ Lodge No. 2 at Albany, N.Y. in 1778. d. Nov. 18, 1834.

George Burrington (?–1759) Twice colonial governor of North Carolina under the British. First appointed on Jan. 15, 1724 because his father had been active in support of British on accession of George I. He was removed and succeeded by Sir Richard Everard on April 7, 1725 as being "ignorant and profligate." He was ordered tried for his actions but did not appear at the trial and left for England. Although removed in 1730, he was again sent to North Carolina as governor, in Feb., 1731. Again he conducted himself with want of prudence and when he learned that the chief justice of the colony had been sent to England to protest against him, he left in April, 1734 for the British Isles. Shortly after his arrival, he was found murdered one morning in St. James' Park, London. He was a member of the lodge at the "King's Arms on New Bond Street" in London and his name also appears on the list of members of "Bear and Harrow in Butcher Roe," London in 1730. Murdered in London, Feb. 22, 1759.

Harry E. Burroughs (1890–1946) Lawyer and founder of the Burroughs Newsboys Foundation, a charitable organization for the benefit of newsboys, shoeblacks, etc. b. April 15, 1890 in Kashoffka, Russia. Received degrees from Suffolk Law School and Boston Univ., being admitted to Mass. bar in 1912 taking up practice in Boston. Mason and 32° AASR. d. Dec. 18, 1946.

Julius C. Burrows (1837–1915) U.S. Senator from Michigan. b. Jan. 9, 1837 at Northeast, Pa. Began law practice in Kalamazoo, Mich. in 1861. Member of 43rd, 46th, 47th and 49th to 54th Congresses. U.S. Senator from 1895 to 1911. Was temporary chairman of the Republican National Convention in Chicago, 1908. Past master of Anchor Lodge of Strict Observance No. 87 at Kalamazoo and member of Kalamazoo Chapter, R.A.M. No. 13 and Peninsular Commandery No. 8, K.T. of same city. d. Nov. 16, 1915.

Lansing Burrows (1843–1919) Soldier and clergyman. Secretary of Southern Baptist Convention from 1881–1914. b. April 10, 1843 at Philadelphia, Pa. and educated in Richmond College (Va.), Wake Forest College (N.C.), Princeton, Madison, Univ. Bethel College (Ky.). Served with C.S.A., enlisting in 1861, captured at Winchester, Va. in 1864. Ordained to Baptist ministry in 1867 serving churches in Mo., N.J., Ky., Ga. and Tenn. d. Oct. 17, 1919. Mason.

Calvin C. Burt Achieved prominence in the Rite of Memphis, but was expelled from his lodge in Michigan, said expulsion being confirmed by the Grand Lodge of Michigan when appealed.

Harold H. Burton Associate Justice, Supreme Court of United States. b. June 22, 1888 at Jamaica Plain, Mass. Educated in Bowdoin College and Harvard Univ., practicing law in Cleveland, Ohio from 1912. Served as an officer in 91st Infantry Div. in WW1 in France and Belgium. Acting mayor of Cleveland in 1931–32 and mayor from 1935–40. Member of the Ohio house of representatives in 1929 and U.S. Senator from Ohio from 1941–45. Associate Justice of Supreme Court of U.S. since Oct. 1, 1945. Member of Pythagoras Lodge No. 682 of Cleveland; 33° AASR (NJ) and member of Al Koran Shrine Temple, Cleveland.

Hutchins G. Burton (?–1836) Former Governor of North Carolina. Grand master of North Carolina in 1826–27. Was governor in 1824–27. His lodge memberships are not clear. In 1803 there was a H. G. Burton as a member of Hiram Lodge No. 24, Williamsborough, N.C.; said brother represented this lodge at grand lodge in 1817. However there was another H.G. Burton a member of Phalanx Lodge No. 31, Charlotte, N.C. in 1813. A brother of the same name represented Mount Morris Lodge No. 27 of Iredell Co., N.C. as well as Phalanx Lodge No. 31 at the grand lodge in 1809. A brother of the same name is listed in the proceedings of 1805 as a representative of Philanthropic Lodge of Tennessee (in Grand Lodge of Kentucky proceedings). To further complicate the matter, there was an “H. G. Burton” listed as a member of Royal White Hart Lodge No. 2 at Halifax, N.C. in the proceedings of 1836.

John Hill Burton (1809–1881) Scottish historian. He achieved fame with his Life of David Hume in 1846 and was editor with Sir John Bowring, of Bentham’s works. Made a Freemason in Glenkindil Lodge No. 333, Scotland on Aug. 17, 1827.

Sir Richard F. Burton (1821–1890) British explorer and writer. He joined the Indian army in 1842 and recorded his experiences in Scinde, or the Unhappy Valley in 1851. In 1853 he made a pilgrimage to Mecca disguised as Pathan, which he described in Personal Narrative (1855). With Speke, he explored Somaliland in 1854, Lake Tanganyika region in 1858 and accompanied Capt. Cameron to the Gold Coast in 1881. His First Footsteps in East Africa was published in 1856. He was British consul at Fernando Po, Damascus and Trieste from 1861–82. Member of Hope Lodge, Kurrachee, Scinde, India.

Robert Burton (1747–1825) Quartermaster General of militia in American Revolution and member of the Continental Congresses from North Carolina from 1787–88. b. in Mecklenburg, Va. Oct. 20, 1747, he was a planter, removing to Granville, S. Car. about 1775. In 1801 he was a member of the commission to fix the boundary between the Carolinas and Georgia. Member of Hiram Lodge No. 24 of Williamsborough, N. Car.

Theodore E. Burton (1851–1929) U.S. Senator and Congressman from Ohio. b. Dec. 20, 1851 at Jefferson, Ohio. Graduate of Oberlin, being admitted to bar in 1875 and practicing at Cleveland. Served in 51st, and 54th to 60th Congresses from 21st Ohio dist. Resigned from 61st Congress to be U.S. Senator from Ohio from 1909–15. Again served in 67th to 70th Congresses (1921–29) from 22nd Ohio dist. Member of Iris Lodge No. 229, Webb Chapter, R.A.M., Orion Commandery, K.T. and Al Koran Shrine Temple, all of Cleveland. d. Oct. 28, 1929.

William Burton Governor of Delaware for term starting 1861. Member of Temple Lodge No. 9 and deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Delaware from 1851–52.

Harlan J. Bushfield (1882–1948) U.S. Senator and Governor of South Dakota. b. Aug. 6, 1882 at Atlantic, Iowa. Graduate of Dakota Wesleyan Univ. and Univ. of Minn. Admitted to S. Dak. bar in 1904 and began practice in Miller. Served as governor of S. Dak. from 1938–42 and U.S. Senator from 1943. He was a member of St. Lawrence Lodge No. 39 at Miller, Oriental Consistory AASR at Yankton, La–Co–Tah Commandery K.T. No. 6 at Huron and El Riad Shrine at Sioux Falls. d. Sept. 27, 1948.

Asa S. Bushnell (1834–1904) Governor of Ohio. b. Sept. 16, 1834 at Rome, N.Y., moving to Cincinnati in 1845. Received a common school education and rose from a dry goods clerk to president of Warder, Bushnell & Glessner Co. mower and reaper manufacturers. Served as company commander in 152nd Ohio volunteer infantry in Civil War. Elected governor of Ohio for two terms, 1895–99. Was made a Mason “at sight” and received the 33° AASR (N.J.).

George E. Bushnell Associate Justice, Supreme Court of Michigan and Sovereign Grand Commander of Scottish Rite, Northern Jurisdiction. b. Nov. 4, 1887 at Roanoke, Va. Graduate of Virginia Poly. Inst. and Detroit College of Law with honorary LL.D. degrees from Detroit College of Law, Wayne Univ., Boston Univ., and Univ. of Michigan. His early years were spent as an advertising salesman from Denver, Colorado to London, England. Later he was supervisor for Canada Life Assurance Co. of Toronto. In 1915 he was admitted to the Virginia bar in the following year to the Michigan bar. In 1933 he was elected justice of the Supreme Court of Michigan, and reelected until he resigned in 1954 to accept the chieftainship of the Northern Jurisdiction of the AASR, upon the retirement of Melvin M. Johnson q.v. He was raised in Taylor Lodge No. 23 at Salem, Va. in 1909 and served as master of Sojourners Lodge No. 483 of Detroit in 1925. He received his 33° in 1924. Bushnell was a member of the Masonic Service Association European Committee sent abroad in 1945 to investigate the state of the Craft in Europe following the war.

Anastasio Bustamante (1780–1853) President of Mexico and soldier. b. in Jiquilpan, Michoacan, he fought in the Spanish army against revolution.. ists as early as 1808, but in 1821 supported Iturbide q.v. and his plan for government. He was vice-president of the republic under Guerrero q.v. in 1829, but joined Santa Anna q.v. in a revolt against him. He was president of Mexico from 1829–32, but was driven out by Santa Anna. After the latter's downfall in 1836, Bustamante again became president from 1837–39. He was a Royal Arch Mason.

Benjamin F. Butler (1818–?) Union Major General in Civil War and lawyer. b. Nov. 5, 1818 at Deerfield, N.H. Practiced law at Lowell, Mass. Entered war in 1861 as brigadier general of militia and promoted to major general the same year. He occupied Baltimore with 900 men and later commanded Fort Monroe in Virginia. He captured Forts Hatteras and Clark on the North Carolina coast and then formed an expedition for the Gulf of Mexico. On May 1, 1862 he took possession of New Orleans. After he hanged a man for pulling down the U.S. flag, issued "Order No. 28" to prevent women from insulting soldiers and confiscated $800,000 from the Dutch consul, he was recalled and placed in command of the department of Virginia and N. Carolina. In North Carolina he issued general order No. 38 which had to do with the care of Confederate Masonic property at New Bern. In 1865 Grant removed him from command and he returned to Massachusetts where he engaged in politics and practiced law. In Lowell, Mass. he was a member of Pentucket Lodge, Mt. Horeb Chapter, and Pilgrim Commandery. He was made a 33° honorary of the AASR (NJ) on March 16, 1864.

Burridge D. Butler (1868–1948) Publisher. b. Feb. 5, 1868 at Louisville, Ky. Founded Omaha Daily News in 1899, St. Paul Daily News in 1900, Minneapolis Daily News in 1900. Sold these properties in 1909. Became owner and publisher of The Prairie Farmer in 1909, also president of WLS Agricultural Broadcasting Co., Chicago. Mason. d. March 30, 1948.

Charles C. Butler (1865–1946) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Colorado. b. Feb. 6, 1865 at Milwaukee, Wis. Graduate of Univ. of Michigan in 1891 and admitted to Colorado bar same year. Practiced at Denver. Judge of Colorado district court 1913–27 and justice of supreme court 1927–37, being chief justice part of that time. Initiated in Union Lodge No. 7, Denver on April 27, 1935. d. Nov. 16, 1946.

David Butler First Governor of Nebraska. Governor when Nebraska was admitted to statehood on March 1, 1867. Butler affiliated with Pawnee Lodge No. 23 at Pawnee City in 1879. His original lodge is not known.

Hugh A. Butler (1878–1954) U.S. Senator from Nebraska. b. Feb. 28, 1878 at Missouri Valley, Iowa. Became engineer for C.B. & Q. Railroad in 1900 and in 1908 a grain miller at Curtis, Nebr. and was associated with the grain trade the rest of his life. Elected U.S. Senator from Nebraska in 1941, serving until 1952. He was raised in Wellsville Lodge No. 194, Wellsville, Mo. and later became a member of St. John's Lodge No. 25 of Omaha, Nebr. 32° AASR. d. July 1, 1954.

John Butler (1728–1794) Colonel in the British service during the American Revolution. b. in New London, Conn. At outbreak of war he recruited a force of Indians and rangers known as "Butler's Rangers." An expert in Indian tactics, he participated in many battles with them including Oriskany, the Wyoming massacre and raids on the Schoharie and Mohawk settlements. Many atrocities have been attributed to him. He was a close friend of Joseph Brant q.v., the famous Indian chief. After Brant had saved the life of Lt. Thomas Boyd on Sept. 13, 1779 near Genessee when Boyd had given a Masonic sign, he was turned over to either Col. Butler or his son, Walter, who in turn let the Indians torture and kill him. Previous to the war he had been made deputy superintendent of Indian affairs in New York and after the war when he removed to Canada he was special Indian agent. He was probably raised in Union Lodge No. 1, Albany, N.Y. and became the first secretary of the famous St. Patrick's Lodge No. 8 at Johnstown, N.Y. which first met on August 23, 1766. In Canada, after the war, he became a charter member of St. John's Lodge of Friendship No. 2 and served as its master. He became the first grand senior warden of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Upper Canada. Barton Lodge No. 6 (then 10) had many of his former rangers as members, and Brant himself was at one time a member of this lodge.

Richard Butler (1743–1791) Major General, U.S. Army. b. April 1, 1743 at Dublin, Ireland, coming to America with his parents before 1760. A lieut. colonel in the Pennsylvania line at the beginning of the Revolution; with Morgan's rifles in 1777. While with Lafayette's detachment near Williamsburg, Va. in 1781, he attacked Simcoe's rangers and defeated them. Promoted to colonel in the 9th Pennsylvania regiment at close of war. Was Indian agent in Ohio in 1787, and in the St. Clair's expedition against the Indians, he commanded the right wing with the rank of major general. He was killed in the attack on Ft. Recovery on Nov. 4, 1791, tomahawked and scalped. He was initiated in Lodge No. 2, Philadelphia on April 14, 1779, passed April 20 and raised April 27. He later affiliated with Pennsylvania–Union Lodge—a lodge of the Pennsylvania line and on January 9, 1787 is recorded as having been admitted to Lodge No. 45 of Pittsburgh. Lodge records show that he visited St. George's Lodge of Schenectady, N.Y. in June, 1779 and later American Union Lodge (military).

Robert Butler General in War of 1812. On the roll of the Grand Lodge of Alabama when it was organized on June 3, 1825 and member of Jackson Lodge No. 23, Tallahassee, Fla. He was charter member and master for four years, being grand master of the Grand Lodge of Florida in 1833.

William Morgan Butler Former U.S. Senator from

Massachusetts. Although his membership is not known he is listed in a Masonic publication of 1925 as “prominent in Masonic circles.” b. Jan. 29, 1861. d. March 29, 1937. Received degrees in Star In The East Lodge of New Bedford, Mass. in 1886.

Isaac Butt (1813–1879) Irish lawyer and nationalist leader. Formed coalition between Irish Protestants and other nationalists and inaugurated home-rule movement in 1870. Member of Lodge No. 2, Dublin.

George C. Butte (1877–1940) Acting Governor General of Philippines and Puerto Rico. b. May 9, 1877 at San Francisco, Calif. Educated home and abroad. Practiced law in Oklahoma and Texas. Attorney general of Puerto Rico 1925–28. Vice governor of Philippines 1930–32. Acting governor of Puerto Rico three times. Associate justice supreme court of Philippines 1932–36. In WW1 served as chief of foreign intelligence section of the General Staff, U.S. Army. Mason. d. Jan. 18, 1940.

John S. Buttles (1877–1949) Justice, Supreme Court of Vermont. b. Jan. 20, 1877 at Troy, N.Y. Admitted to Vermont bar in 1906. Member of Vermont house of representatives in 1919, superior judge 1926–37; associate justice supreme court, 1937–49. Retired. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner. d. May 18, 1949.

Harold Bye Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Jan. 16, 1886 at St. Paul, Minn. Enlisted in U.S. Navy in 1907 and advanced through grades to rear admiral in 1947, retiring from service that year. Raised in Bremerton Lodge No. 117, Bremerton, Wash. in 1922. Received 32° AASR (SJ) at Honolulu in 1935; member of Aloha Shrine Temple of Honolulu and was president of the Shrine Club at Sandpoint, Idaho in 1953.

Clovis E. Byers Lieutenant General, U.S. Army. b. Nov. 5, 1899 at Columbus, Ohio. Graduated U.S. Military Academy in 1920, advancing through grades to major general in 1944. With War Dept. General Staff 1940–42, chief of staff, 77th Div. 1942; chief of staff 1st Corps 1942–43; chief of staff 8th Army, 1944; commanding general 82nd Airborne Div. from 1948–49; chief of staff, G1 Dept. of Army 1949–51; commanding general X Corps in Korea, 1951, XVI Corps, Japan, 1952. Presently military adviser to assistant secretary of Defense (International Security Affairs). Received EA degree on April 1, 1923 in Laredo Lodge No. 547, Laredo, Texas and the FC on Nov. 2, 1925. MM degree in Star of the East Lodge No. 650 in Yokahama, Japan on Nov. 3, 1947.

Harry C. Byrd President, University of Maryland. b. Feb. 12, 1889 at Crisfield, Md. Graduated from Univ. of Maryland in 1908 and after law studies at several universities returned to his alma mater in 1912 as English and history instructor, later serving as director of athletics, football coach, assistant to president, vice-president, acting president and president since 1936. Raised in Harmony Lodge No. 17, Washington, D.C. in 1914. Member of chapter, council and commandery (Hyattsville) and 32° AASR (SJ) at Washington; Tall Cedars, Shrine and Jesters.

Harry F. Byrd Governor and U.S. Senator from Virginia. b. June 10, 1887 at Martinsburg, W. Va., he is a brother of Admiral Richard E. Byrd q.v. the explorer. Started with the Winchester (Va.) Star at the age of 15 and now owns the paper as well as the Harrisonburg Daily News Record. Actively interested in peach and apple culture, owning orchards and cold storage facilities. Served in Virginia senate from 1915–25 and a leader in establishing state highway system. He served as governor of Virginia from 1926–30. In 1933 he was appointed to fill unexpired term in U.S. Senate and has served in that body continuously since. He was raised in Hiram Lodge No. 21 at Winchester in Nov., 1925 and a member of the AASR (SJ) at Alexandria, Va. receiving the degrees in Oct. 1929. In 1943 he received the 33°.

Richard E. Byrd (1888–1957) Polar explorer, naval officer, pioneer aviator. b. Oct. 25, 1888 at Winchester, Va., a brother of Harry F. Byrd q.v., governor and senator. Graduated from U.S. Naval Academy in 1912 and advanced to lieut. commander at retirement in 1916 and later promoted to commander after flight over North Pole in 1926. Given rank of rear admiral in 1930. During WW1 he entered the Aviation Service and commanded U.S. Air Forces until armistice. In WW2 he served with Admiral King in Washington and Nimitz in the Pacific, going overseas four times. He was highly decorated including the Congressional Medal of Honor in 1926 and special Congressional Medals in 1930, 37 and 46. Made plane flight over North Pole on May 9, 1926 with Floyd Bennett. In 1927 he made trans-Atlantic flight of 4,200 miles with three companions—New York to France. His first Antarctic expedition was in 1928–30 and his second in 1933–35. Discovered Edsel Ford Mountains and Marie Byrd Land. He spent five months alone near the South Pole. In 1939 he was made commander of the U.S. Antarctic Service and again went to the South Polar region, discovering five new mountain ranges, five islands and more than 100,000 square miles of area. In 1946 he was named commanding officer of the U.S. Navy Antarctic Expedition and again in 1956 headed the U.S. expedition in Antarctic exploration. He became a member of Federal Lodge No. 1, Washington, D.C. on March 19, 1921 and affiliated with Kane Lodge No. 454, New York City, Sept. 18, 1928 (see Elisha Kent Kane). He is a member of National Sojourner Chapter No. 3 at Washington. He and his pilot, Bernt Balchen q.v. dropped Masonic flags on the two poles—Balchen also added his Shrine fez. In the Antarctic expedition of 1933–35, 60 of the 82 members were Freemasons and on Feb. 5, 1935 established First Antarctic Lodge No. 777 of New Zealand constitution. d. March 11, 1957.

Frank M. Byrne (1858–1927) Governor of South Dakota. b. Oct 23, 1858 at Volney, Iowa. Moved to Sioux Falls in Dakota Territory in 1878 and took homestead in McCook Co. Was a farmer and real estate dealer. He served in the first state senate in 1890 and also sessions of 1907 and 1909; lieut. governor 1909–13 and governor 1913–17. Mason. d. Dec. 25, 1927.

James F. Byrnes Secretary of State; Justice, Supreme Court of U.S.; Governor of South Carolina; U.S. Senator. b. May 2, 1879 in S. Car. Admitted to bar in 1903. First edited a newspaper and then served as court reporter. Was a member of the 62nd to 68th Congresses (1911–25) from 2nd S. Car. dist. Served as U.S. Senator two terms, 1931–43. Appointed justice of supreme court in 1941 but resigned to become director of economic stabilization in 1942; director of war mobilization 1943–45 and secretary of state 1945–47. Governor of S. Car. 1951–55. Raised in Aiken Lodge No. 156 on Jan. 12, 1911 and affiliated with Spartan Lodge No. 70, July 5, 1926. Received Royal Arch Nov. 21, 1911 in Kadoshlayah Chapter No. 41, Aiken and affiliated with Chicora Chapter 23, Spartanburg in 1934. Received into Aiken Council R. & S.M. No. 23, Nov. 26, 1920 and affiliated with Blakce Council No. 19 Oct. 22, 1945. Knighted in Columbia Commandery No. 2 Oct 20, 1916 and affiliated with Aiken Commandery No. 14 in 1923 and Spartanburg Commandery No. 3 in 1934.

Joseph W. Byrns (1869–1936) Speaker, U.S. House of Representatives. b. July 20, 1869 at Cedar Hill, Tenn. Graduate of Vanderbilt Univ. Served many years in the lower house (1895–1900) (1909–33) (1933–37). He died on June 4, 1936 before his term in the 74th Congress had expired. He was twice speaker of the house, 1899 and 1936. Mason, Knight Templar, 32° KCCH and Shriner. Member of Phoenix Lodge No. 131 and Cumberland Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. of Nashville. Son, Joseph W. Jr. was also a congressman (1939–41) and member of Phoenix Lodge.

John Byrom (1692–1763) English poet, hymnologist and inventor of an early shorthand system that was copyrighted in 1742. He was the author of the famous phrase “tweedledum and tweedledee.” He is listed as a member of a lodge held at The Swan in Long Acre, England, 1750.

C

Pierre Jean Georges Cabanis (1757–1808) French surgeon, philosopher and writer. Was administrator of Paris hospitals and physician to Mirabeau. A sympathizer with the revolutionists, he was a member of the Council of Five Hundred. He is often called the founder of modern physiological psychology. The bulletin of the International Masonic Congress, 1917, Geneva, Switzerland, lists him as a Freemason.

James A. Cabell (?–1930) Governor of Virginia and Judge, Supreme Court of Appeals. Served as governor of Virginia 1805–08; judge of the general court 1808–11; judge of supreme court of appeals 1842–51 and president of that court 1842–54. He revived the Virginia Society of the Cincinnati and was first president of the temporary organization in 1889. Mason. d. July 22, 1930.

Robert H. Cabell (1867–1947) President of Armour & Co. b. Dec. 1, 1867 at Brunswick, Mo. Began as a salesman with Armour in 1892; managing director of European interests with headquarters in London, 1913–34; general manager, Chicago, 1934 and president from 1935 until retirement in 1940. Mason. d. Dec. 12, 1947.

William H. Cabell (1772–1853) Governor of Virginia for three years (1805–07). b. Dec. 16, 1772 at Boston Hill, Va. Graduated from William and Mary College and admitted to the bar in 1794. Was elected to house of delegates in 1796 and frequently reelected. He served on the Virginia Court of Appeals from 1811 until his death on Jan. 17, 1853, at which time he was president of the court. A member of George Lodge No. 32, Warminster, Virginia, he served as master and treasurer.

John L. Cable U.S. Congressman 67th to 68th (1921–25) and 71st and 72nd (1929–33) Congresses from 4th Ohio dist. b. April 15, 1884 at Lima, Ohio. Practiced law at Lima from 1909. Mason.

Charles L. Cadet–Gassincourt (1769–1821) A French anti–Mason who later became a Freemason. b. Jan. 23, 1769 at Paris. A victim of political persecution, he attributed his sufferings to the influence of Masonic lodges in France and published the book Le Tombeau de Jacques de Molay in 1796 in which he attempted to show that Freemasonry was the instigator of all the European political revolutions. He later changed his views and became a member of the Lodge l'Abeille in Paris, serving as master in 1805. d. Nov. 21, 1821.

Charles Wakefield Cadman (1881–1946) American composer. b. Dec. 24, 1881 at Johnstown, Pa. Began as music critic and organist in Pittsburgh. His best known songs are From the Land of the Sky Blue Water and At Dawning. He became interested in American Indian music, basing many of his songs and operas on that theme. Composed cantatas, chamber music, sonatas, quintets, symphonies, suites and operas. Member of Albert Pike Lodge No. 484, Los Angeles, received 32° AASR (SJ) May 26. 1923. Member of York Rite and Shrine. d. Dec. 30, 1946.

S. Parkes Cadman (1864–1936) Clergyman. b. Dec. 18, 1864 at Wellington, Salop, England. Received honorary degrees from a dozen universities. Served as pastor of the Central Congregational Church of Brooklyn for many years, starting in 1901. From 1924–28 he was president of the Federal Council, Churches of Christ in America and as radio minister of the same, starting in 1928, he was one of the most popular radio artists of that decade. Contributed to the daily press and wrote many books. He was noted for his broad and liberal attitude with regard to the religious opinions of others. It has been said that in his generation no man exerted more influence for the brotherhood of man. A member of Independent Royal Arch Lodge No. 2, New York City, he was grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of New York for 28 years. Once in a question period, he was baited with a question concerning membership in secret societies. He answered thus: “That question is aimed at the Masons. I am a Mason and I know Masonry to be a broad-minded, Christ-like institution. Masons are friendly and as a Christian minister, I can say that they fear God and are the orchestra of God toward bringing about fraternity, and for that reason I am and shall always remain a Mason.” d. July 12, 1936.

John Cadwalader (1742–1786) Brigadier General in American Revolution. b. Jan. 10, 1742 at Philadelphia. Took an active part in public affairs previous to the war and was captain of a military company. On the formation of the city battalions, he was placed in command of one and promoted to brigadier general in command of the Pennsylvania militia. He cooperated in the capture of the Hessians at Trenton and was at the battles of Brandywine, Germantown and Monmouth as a volunteer. In the fall of 1777 he organized the militia of western Maryland at the request of Washington. After the war he moved to Maryland and became a member of the state legislature. He was a member of Lodge No. 8 in Philadelphia. d. Feb. 11, 1786. Also master of Military Lodge No. 55.

Thomas Cadwalader (1707–1779) Revolutionary surgeon. b. in Philadelphia in 1707, he was medical director of the Army hospital at Philadelphia in 1776. He was senior grand warden of first St. John's lodge of Philadelphia in 1738. d. at Trenton, N.J. in 1779.

James H. Cafferty (1819–1869) Painter. He began as a portrait painter and attained a wide reputation as such, but in his later years he turned to still life painting. He was chosen an associate member of the national academy of design in 1849 and in 1853 became an academician. His most notable paintings were My Girl, My Father and Brook Trout. Member of Independent Royal Arch Lodge No. 2, New York City.

Count Alessandro di Cagliostro (1743–1795) Italian imposter, charlatan. Real name was Giuseppe Balsamo. b.

June 8, 1743 in Palermo, Italy of poor parents, he was placed in the convent of the Good Brotherhood at Castiglione where he was assistant to the apothecary of the monastery and picked up some knowledge of chemistry and medicine. He fled the monastery and after many brushes with the law, left Italy to travel in Greece, Egypt, Arabia, Persia, Rhodes and Malta, picking up the title of "count." Back in Italy he married Lorenza Feliciani q.v. who later was to play an important part in his "Masonic" career. In 1776 he appeared in London and during the early part of that year was initiated in Esperance Lodge No. 289 which met at the King's Head Tavern, Soho, London. The lodge was founded as a French lodge in 1768 under English constitution. The next year (1777) while still in London, he was said to have invented his grand scheme of Egyptian Freemasonry. He assumed the impressive title of Grand Master Supreme of the Egyptian Freemasonry of High Science, Grand Cophta of Europe and Asia. Searching for more lucrative fields, he moved his operations to the continent, posing as a physician, alchemist, neo-romancer and Freemason. In addition to his "Masonic" activities he practiced many frauds, selling love philters, elixirs of youth, etc. It is claimed that he was driven from England by exposes of the editor Morand in the Courier de l'Europe, and although he had several "Egyptian lodges" established, he appears to have lost his popularity. The last official Masonic record we have of him was when he visited the Lodge of Antiquity in London on November 1, 1786. He left England permanently in May, 1787. In Europe he was the associate of princes, prelates and philosophers. He established his Egyptian rite throughout the continent, admitting women as well as men. In 1789 he daringly organized a lodge in Rome under the very shadow of the Vatican. That was the last straw and the Holy Inquisition caught up with him, tried and sentenced him to death. The penalty was later commuted to life imprisonment. He spent four years in the prison of St. Leo, in the Duchy of Urbino, and in 1795 died in a fit of apoplexy.

Holly M. Cain (1882–1947) President of Abbot Laboratories. b. Jan. 14, 1882 in Davies Co., Ind. President of Swan–Myers Co., Indianapolis 1913–30 and when company merged with Abbott Lab. Chicago, he became vicepresident, and in 1943 president and director of Abbott Labs. International. Mason. d. Feb. 21, 1947.

Wellins Calcott English Masonic writer of the 18th century, ranking with Anderson, Hutchinson and Preston. He has been called the father of the didactic school. His work, A Candid Disquisition of the Principles and Practices of the Most Ancient and Honourable Society . . .” was published in 1769. At that time it is thought that he was past master of the Palladian Lodge of Hereford, now No. 120. He twice visited America. On Jan. 20, 1779 was made an honorary member of Apollo Lodge at York, England.

William M. Calder (1869–1945) U.S. Senator from New York. b. March 3, 1869 at Brooklyn, N.Y. As a contractor he erected over 4,000 houses in Brooklyn and was building commissioner of Brooklyn in 1902–03. A delegate to the national Republican convention nine times, he was U.S. Senator from 1917–23. Mason. d. March 3, 1945.

Harmon W. Caldwell President, University of Georgia. b. Jan. 29, 1899 in Meriwether Co., Ga. A.B. Univ. of Georgia and LL.B. from Harvard with honorary degrees from Emory, Mercer and Tulane. Practiced law at Atlanta from 1926 to 1933 with exception of four years when he was professor of law at the Univ. of Georgia. Became president of the Univ. of Georgia in 1935, serving until 1948 when he became Chancellor of the university system of Georgia. Raised in John W. Akin No. 537, Taylorsville, Ga. in 1920; 32° AASR (SJ) at Atlanta and Yaarab Shrine Temple of Atlanta.

Joseph Caldwell (1773–1835) President of University of North Carolina. b. April 21, 1773 at Lammington, N.J. He graduated from Princeton in 1791 and after teaching school he became professor of mathematics in 1796 at the Univ. of North Carolina when it was just five years old. The school was in a feeble state and in 1804 he was made president, serving until his death on Jan. 24, 1835. He was raised on April 14, 1798 by Eagle Lodge No. 19 of Hillsboro, N. Car., the lodge going to Chapel Hill where the university was located, to confer the degrees.

Millard F. Caldwell, Jr. Governor of Florida, U.S. Congressman, 73rd to 76th Congresses (1933–41) from 3rd Florida dist. b. Feb. 6, 1879 at Knoxville, Tenn. Practiced law and elected to Florida state legislature in 1928 and 1930. Governor of Florida from 1945–49. Was chairman of the National Governors Conference in 1946–47; a delegate of the Interparliamentary Union at the Hague in 1938 and at Oslo in 1939. Served in field artillery in WW1. Member and past master of Santa Rosa Lodge No. 16, Milton, Fla., but was raised in a lodge in Macon, Miss. 32° AASR (SJ) at Meridian, Miss. and member of Morocco Shrine Temple, Jacksonville, Fla.

Galloway Calhoun Lawyer and Imperial Potentate of the Shrine of North America in 1948–49. b. Aug. 22, 1894 at Athens, Texas. Admitted to Texas bar in 1915 and served as district attorney of 7th judicial dist. of Texas; assistant attorney general of the state and special assistant to attorney general of the U.S. on Selective Service matters during WW2. In WW1 he was band leader of the 144th Inf. band. An active Methodist, his lectures to the men's bible class at Tyler, Texas are broadcast. In 1944 he was a delegate to the general conference of the Methodist Church. In 1936 he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Texas. Raised in St. John's Lodge No. 53, Tyler, Texas, Aug. 18, 1916. Member of Tyler Chapter No. 24, R.A.M., George M. Patrick Council No. 13, R. & S.M.; Ascension Commandery No. 25, K.T. and past commander of same. 33° AASR (SJ), Dallas. Chairman of board of trustees for Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children; grand junior general Empire of the West, Red Cross of Constantine; active member Supreme Council of DeMolay.

Norman Call President of the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad since 1932. b. March 29, 1880 at Richmond, Va. Began with Richmond Locomotive Works and started with the R.F. & P. as secretary to the president in 1900. Member of Dove Lodge No. 51 and Meridian Lodge No. 284; Washington Chapter No. 9, R.A.M. and Richmond Cornmandery No. 2, K.T. all of Richmond, Va. Member of Acca Shrine Temple.

Richard K. Call (1791–1862) Governor of Florida, Brigadier General. b. near Petersburg, Va. Was brigadier general of Florida militia in 1833, and led the army against the Seminoles in 1836 in second and third battles of Wahoo Swamp. Served as governor of Florida from 1835–40, but in a controversy with Joel R. Poinsett, q.v. secretary of war, he was removed from office. President Harrison again appointed him governor from 1841 to 1844 and he was an unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1845 when Florida became a state. He joined Cumberland Lodge No. 8 at Nashville, Tenn. in 1821 and later of Centerville Lodge No. 18, Leon Co., Fla. of which he was master in 1851. In 1853 he affiliated with Concordia Lodge No. 28, Gadsden Co., Fla. He assisted in the formation of the Grand Lodge of Florida in 1830 and was grand master in 1851. In 1847 he was made an honorary member of Florida Royal Arch Chapter No. 1 (formerly No. 32) and an honorary member of the Grand Chapter of Florida the same year. d. Sept. 14, 1862.

Charles H. Callahan (1858–1944) He is credited with the idea that brought into being the George Washington National Masonic Memorial at Alexandria, Va. He was commissioner of revenue of Alexandria for 44 years and a member of Alexandria–Washington Lodge No. 22. He served as grand master of the Grand Lodge of Virginia from 1924–26 and was the author of the noted book, Washington, the Man and the Mason. b. Aug. 22, 1858 at Acquia Mills, Va., he died July 31, 1944 at Alexandria.

Albert S. Callan Newspaper publisher. b. July 27, 1884 at Albany, N.Y. Graduate of Hobart College, 1907. President of the Chatham Courier Co. since 1912. Member of New York general assembly 1909–10 and delegate to Republican state convention 17 times. Served in WW1 as captain and in WW2 as lieutenant colonel. Member of New York National Guard 1906–17. Raised in Valatie Lodge No. 362, Kinderhook, N.Y. in 1908.

Llewellyn L. Callaway (1868–1951) Chief justice, Supreme Court of Montana. b. Dec. 15, 1868 at Tuscola, Ill. Graduate of Univ. of Michigan, 1891. Practiced law in Montana from 1891. Appointed chief justice of Montana supreme court in 1922, retiring in 1935. Past grand master of Montana, 33° AASR, past grand commander, Knights Templar, past grand high priest, Royal Arch Masons, and member of Supreme Council, Scottish Rite and inspector general for same in Montana. d. Aug. 6, 1951.

Plutarco Elias Calles (1878–1945) President of Mexico. b. Sept. 25, 1878 at Guaymas, Sonora, where he was later a schoolteacher, farmer and tradesman. From 1913–15 he served in the army under Obregon and Carranza. In 1917 he was governor of Sonora. He held cabinet positions under Carranza in 1919–20 and under Obregon in 1920–24. Calles served as President of Mexico from 1924–28, during which time he carried out reforms in an administration marked by struggle between the church and the state. He fought for control of the government with Cardenas in 1935 and in 1936 was driven into exile in the United States. He was made a Freemason in Helios Lodge in his home town of Guaymas and at one time served as its secretary.

Charles Alexandre de Calonne (1734–1802) French minister of finance under Louis XVI. From 1868–74, he held government positions at Douai, Metz and Lille. When he became controller general of finance in 1783, he found the state treasury in hopeless disorder, without money or credit. He is said to have been one of the principals who precipitated the French Revolution. In 1787 he opened the Assembly of Notables and proposed the taxation of nobles and clergy, which received violent opposition, causing his removal from office. He then lived in England from 1787 until 1802 when Napoleon allowed him to return to France a month before his death. His lodge is not known, but he is recorded as a visitor to the Loge des Maitres at Amiens, France.

Charles Calvert 5th Baron (Lord) Baltimore Member of the English family that obtained patent for the colonization of Maryland. He was the first Protestant in his family's line since his ancestor, George, 1st Baron, turned Roman Catholic in 1625. Charles was proprietary governor of Maryland from 1715 to 1751. He was made a Mason about April, 1730 at Goodwood, Sussex, England, and was one of the eight brethren present when Dr. Dessaugliers q.v. initiated at the Castle Kew on April 28, 1737.

Francisco Calvo (1820–1890) Catholic priest of the Jesuit order, who established Freemasonry in Costa Rica in 1865. At that time he was canon of the San Jose Cathedral. He received his degrees in Lodge Cruz Austral No. 5 in 1862 at Callao, Peru. He obtained a charter for Caridad Lodge No. 26 at San Jose from the Grand Orient of Spain, then operating in Colombia. Out of this lodge developed the Supreme Council 33° AASR of Central America, which covers five republics, and which chartered lodges of its own until the turn of the 20th century. Calvo served as master of Caridad Lodge No. 26 and eventually became the first sovereign grand commander of the Scottish Rite, a position which he held until his death. The Masonic temple in San Jose now displays the gavel he used. Others who were active with Calvo in the founding of the Scottish Rite were Dr. Jose Maria Castro q.v., president of the Republic in 1847–49, who served as grand chancellor in 1866–68 and was also founder and rector of Santo Tomas University; Dr. Lorenzo Montufar q.v., lawyer, historian, and rector of Santo Tomas University, serving also as grand minister of state; Francisco Poralto Alvarado, teacher, banker and benefactor of San Juan de Dios Hospital, who was first grand representative.

Renah F. Comelier Commissioner of Washington, D.C. b. Oct. 8, 1890. Lawyer by profession. Was 2nd assistant secretary of the Navy in 1917–20; examiner of Federal Trade Commission, 1925–27; assistant U.S. Attorney, U.S. Department of Justice 1927–30; fuel coordinator O.P.A. 1942–43. Appointed commissioner of Washington in 1954 by President Truman. Raised Sept. 18, 1922 in Benjamin B. French Lodge No. 15, Washington, D.C., serving as master in 1932 and grand master of District of Columbia in 1952. Honorary member of Hope Lodge No. 20, Samuel Gompers Lodge No. 45 and Washington–Centennial Lodge No. 14 of District of Columbia. Member of Mt. Vernon Chapter No. 3, R.A.M.; Adoniram Council No. 2, R. & SM.; Washington Commandery No. 1, K.T.; Kallipolis Grotto; Tall Cedars of Lebanon; National League of Masonic Clubs; Masonic Boosters Club; Masonic Veterans Association National Sojourners, Heroes of '76; past potentate of Almas Shrine Temple of Washington, D.C. (1949). In AASR, he received KCCH in 1949 and 33° in 1953. He served as sovereign of St. Simeon Stylites Conclave No. 51, Red Cross of Constantine and grand marshal of the Grand Imperial Council in 1957. Member of Royal Order of Scotland, being at present provincial first grand steward.

Duke Jean Jacques Regis Cambaceres (1753–1824)

Archchancellor of the French Empire. One of the greats of the Napoleonic period, he was a jurist and statesman who was a member of the convention of 1792. In 1794 he was president of the Committee of Public Safety and also of the Committee of Five Hundred in 1796. In 1799 he was minister of justice and second consul in 1799. Above all, he was the friend and chief counselor of Napoleon, who made him chief counselor of the Empire in 1804. In 1808 he was created Duke of Parma. A Mason, he became grand commander of the Supreme Council of France and was so recognized in the official register of the Supreme Council (SJ) .

Comte Pierre Jacques Etienne Cambronne (1770–1842)

Commander of a division of the French Imperial Guard at the Battle of Waterloo in 1815. He served with distinction in the campaigns of 1812–14 and accompanied Napoleon to Elba.

He was active in the founding of French military lodges.

C. B. Camerer Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Aug. 20, 1882 at Kinmundy, Ill. Received M.D. from St. Louis Univ. School of Medicine in 1909. Entered U.S. Navy as a medical officer in 1909 and advanced through grades to rear admiral in 1945. He was with the Root Commission to Russia in 1917 and brigade surgeon for the Marine Corps in WW1. In WW2 he was medical officer for the 9th Naval district and with the 14th Naval district from 1945–46. His specialty in the service was eye, ear, nose and throat. Returned from active service in 1946. After retirement he engaged in Red Cross work. Mason and member of the National Sojourners.

Augustus G. Cameron Vice president of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Export Co. b. Mar. 21, 1880 at Knightstown, Ind. Began in the wholesale grocery business at Indianapolis in 1910 and first employed by Goodyear in 1913, rising to his present position in 1939. Raised in Golden Rule Lodge No. 16, Knightstown, Ind. on April 3, 1903 and served as its master. Presently a member of Joppa Lodge No. 666, Akron, Ohio. Received Royal Arch in Knightstown Chapter No. 33, Knightstown, Ind. (now Akron No. 209) and served as high priest. Cryptic degrees in Knightstown Council R. & S.M. No. 29 Dec. 10, 1909. Knighted in Knights-town Commandery No. 9, K.T. (now Bethany No. 72 of Akron) March 6, 1906, serving as prelate of both No. 9 and 22. Tadmor Shrine Temple of Akron.

Ralph H. Cameron Former U.S. Senator from Arizona.

Member of Flagstaff Lodge No. 7, Flagstaff, Ariz. and member of El Zaribah Shrine Temple of Phoenix.

Simon Cameron (1799–1889) Secretary of War in Lincoln's cabinet. b. March 8, 1799 in Lancaster Co., Pa. and orphaned at an early age. Worked as a journeyman and edited newspapers before becoming interested in banking and railroad construction. Became Republican political czar of Pennsylvania and served three terms in the U.S. Senate, 1845–49, 1857–61, 1867–77. For a time he was adjutant general of Pennsylvania. Named by Lincoln as Secretary of War in his first cabinet; resigned in 1862 when criticized for manner of awarding army contracts, but immediately appointed U.S. Minister to Russia by Lincoln. He served but six months as U.S. Minister, resigning on Nov. 8, 1862. Initiated in Perseverance Lodge No. 21 at Harrisburg, Pa., on July 12, 1826, he served as master in 1833. He was a member of Perseverance Chapter No. 21, R.A.M. at Harrisburg and St. John's Commandery No. 4, K.T. at Philadelphia. Strangely, he received the Order of the Temple on Oct. 25, 1826 and the Red Cross and Malta on Oct. 30, 1826.

Albert S. Camp (1892–1954) U.S. Congressman from 4th Georgia dist. in 76th and 78th–83rd Congresses. b. July 26, 1892 in Coweta Co., Georgia. Admitted to Georgia bar in 1915. Practiced law in Newnan and was U.S. attorney for Northern Dist. of Ga. in 1934–39. Served overseas with Army in WW1. Mason and Shriner. d. July 24, 1954.

Thomas J. Camp Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Nov. 10, 1886 at Seymour, Conn. Received B.A. from Yale in 1908 and M.A. in 1915. Commissioned 2nd lieutenant in 1912 and rose to temporary brigadier general in 1942. Served in Hawaii from 1912–17; instructed in first officers training camp in 1917; battalion commander in France in 1918; on War Department General Staff from 1937–41; organized 51st Armored Infantry in 1941; edited Infantry Journal from 1931–34. Raised in Pyramid Lodge No. 92, New Egypt, N.J. in 1918. 32° AASR (SJ) at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Alexander W. Campbell (1828–?) Brigadier General, Confederate Army in Civil War. Raised in Jackson, Tenn. June, 1858. Royal Arch Mason in same year and knighted in Jackson Commandery, K.T. on April 3, 1874.

Archibald Douglas Campbell (see 4th Lord of Blythswood)

Arthur G. Campbell Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Nov. 15, 1884 at Lexington, Va. Commissioned in 1908 in Coast Artillery and promoted through grades to brigadier general in 1940. Served with A.E.F. in WW1 and was member of War Department General Staff from 1918–21; assistant chief of staff of 6th Corps Area 1928–32 and 8th Corps Area 1939–40. Retired in 1944. Mason.

Doak S. Campbell President of Florida State University since 1941. b. Nov. 16, 1888 at Tate, Arkansas. Received degrees from Ouachita College, George Peabody College, Stetson Univ. and Florida Southern. Was superintendent of Columbus, Ark. high school from 1911–14; vice-president of Central College, Ark. 1916–20 and president 1920–28; with George Peabody College 1928–41. Has written several books on education. Raised in Buck Range Lodge, Howard Co., Ark. and presently a member of Jackson Lodge No. 1, Tallahassee, Fla. Has served as grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Florida.

Douglas L. Campbell Prime Minister of Manitoba, Canada. b. May 27, 1895 at Portage la Prairie. Owner and operator of a farm near High Bluff, Manitoba since 1918. Served as a member of the Manitoba legislature since 1922; member of the ex–ecutive council in 1936 and minister of agriculture and immigration from 1936–48. Elected premier of Manitoba in 1948 and has since been the leader of the Liberal–Progressive Party. He was initiated in Assiniboine Lodge No. 7 at Portage La Prairie in 1917 and served as master in 1922. Also member of Keystone Chapter No. 2 of the same place.

Dwight Campbell Judge, Supreme Court of South Dakota. b. Nov. 5, 1887. Graduate of Iowa College, 1909 and Harvard, 1912. Began practice in Aberdeen, S.D. in 1919. Appointed judge of Supreme Court of S.D. in 1925, serving until 1937 when he resigned to re–enter private practice. Mason, 32° and Shriner.

George W. Campbell (1768–1848) Secretary of the Treasury and U.S. Senator from Tennessee. b. 1768 in Tenn. Graduated from Princeton in 1794. Served in U.S. Congress as representative from 1803–09. Elected U.S. Senator in 1811, but resigned in 1814 to become Secretary of the Treasury. He was again elected to the Senate in 1815, serving until 1818 when he was appointed U.S. Minister to Russia, returning to the United States in 1820. He served as master of Greenville Lodge No. 43, Greenville, Tenn. and is also reported to have held offices in three other Tennessee lodges: Knoxville No. 2, Mount Libanus No. 59 and Tennessee No. 41, all of Knoxville.

Jacob M. Campbell Union General in Civil War. Became a member of Cambria Lodge No. 278 at Johnstown, Pa. on Oct. 26, 1858, but demitted April 13, 1875 to become a charter member of Johnstown Lodge No. 538, serving as first senior warden.

James Campbell (1813–?) Postmaster General of the United States under President Pierce, 1853–1857. b. in Philadelphia, son of an Irish emigrant. Admitted to bar in 1834, becoming attorney general of the state in 1852. His lodge is not known, but he was a member of Harmony Chapter No. 52, R.A.M. of Philadelphia.

James U. Campbell (1866–1937) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Oregon. b. Aug. 29, 1866, Prince Edward Island, Canada and educated in Prince of Wales College, studying law privately. Came to the U.S. in 1887 and was naturalized in 1893. Began teaching public schools in 1884 and admitted to Oregon bar in 1893. Served as circuit judge of the 5th district five times. Elected to supreme court in 1930 and was chief justice from 1935 until his death on July 16, 1937.

John Campbell, 2nd Marquess of Breadalbane (1796–1862) Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Scotland between 1824 and 1826. He was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society in 1834 and made a Knight of the Thistle in 1838. The following year he was appointed Lord Lieutenant of Argyllshire.

John Campbell 4th Earl of Loudoun (1705–1782)

Governor of Virginia and commander of all British forces in America in 1756. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of England in 1736. He was the first PGM of England to visit a grand lodge in America, when on Jan. 31, 1757 the Festival of St. John the Evangelist was postponed by the Provincial Grand Lodge in Boston so that he might attend. A special working lodge was opened and four members of Campbell's staff "were made enter'd Prentices & Pass'd Fellow crafts" with Richard Gridley q.v. in the chair." Commissioned in the Scots Greys at an early age, he succeeded his father to the title and became one of the 16 representative Scottish peers in Parliament. As a mark of royal esteem, he was made governor of Stirling Castle and Edinburgh, and was aide-de-camp to the king, serving in the Flanders campaigns and the rebellion of 1745. Following the disastrous expeditions of 1755 against the French and Indians in America, and the death of General Braddock, General Campbell was appointed governor of Virginia (as asinecure) and to command all British forces in America. Due to politics at home and poor handling of colonial authorities in the new world, he served only from July 23, 1756 until December, 1757. The earl was said to have resembled "Saint George on the tavern sign—always on horseback, but never advancing." He lost Forts Oswego and William Henry, and failed in the planned invasion of French Canada. However, he was far from discredited with the king or later ministries. In 1762 he took part in the Peninsular Wars in Portugal, where although second in command, he was actually first in the field. He was promoted to full general in 1770. He retired to Scotland as titular governor of Edinburgh until his death in 1782.

Sir Malcolm Campbell (1885–1948) English businessman and famed automobile racer. Employed in 1906 on the staff of Lloyds of London. He served through WW1 from 1914–18, the last two years, being an airplane pilot. He began motor racing as a hobby in 1910 and later established many world records for speed at Daytona Beach, Fla. and Salt Lake City, Utah. He wrote Speed, 1931; The Romance of Motor-Racing, 1936; and The Roads and the Problem of Their Safety, 1937. A Freemason, he was made a member of the Azngi Grotto of Daytona Beach, Fla.

Price Campbell President of West Texas Utilities Co. b. Jan. 22, 1890 at Weatherford, Texas. Received B.S. and E.E. from Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College. With the American Public Service Co. since 1915 and a director of many public utilities. Mason.

Thomas D. Campbell Agricultural engineer and Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Feb. 19, 1882 at Grand Forks, N.D. Graduate of North Dakota, Cornell and Southern Calif. universities. Engaged in farming since 1898, operating 95,000 acres of wheat and flax land in Montana. President of Campbell Farming Corp. since 1922. In 1929 he was special adviser for Russian government to assist in operation of 10 million acres in Russia. Was special advisor to British government on increased wheat production in 1941. Made report for French government on wheat production in North Africa in 1948. Served as colonel with Air Corps from 1942 and made brigadier general in 1946; now general U.S. Army Reserve. Inventor of Campbell grain dryer and developer of Campbell windrow method of harvesting grain. Raised in Acacia Lodge No. 4, Grand Forks, N. Dak. on Nov. 29, 1907. 32° AASR (SJ) and member of Kem Shrine Temple, Grand Forks.

Wayne Campbell Actor and university professor. b. May 9, 1872. Taught school and worked on his father's newspaper in Waterville, Kansas before becoming an entertainer with the Lyceum Bureau. Barnstormed with repertory and stock companies and was leading character actor from 1915. Head of the drama department of Oklahoma City University since 1922. Author and producer of annual pre-dawn Easter play, Life, Lord of Death from 1937–43, and the annual passion play Via Crucis produced at the Guthrie Masonic Temple since 1940. Has written several books on writing and acting. Mason, member of Scottish Rite.

Lord William Campbell (?–1778) English governor in America. He was appointed governor of Nova Scotia in 1766 and was the last British governor of South Carolina (1773), which he unsuccessfully attempted to keep loyal to the Crown.

Sir William Campbell (?–1834) Chief Justice of Upper Canada from 1826–29. Served with the British in the American Revolution. Founded Guysboro and Temple Lodge No. 7 in 1785. He was appointed attorney general of the province of Cape Breton and while there was identified with Freemasonry in Sydney. He went to England in connection with the affairs of the province, and while there, was appointed a justice of the King's Bench, Upper Canada in 1811, becoming chief justice in 1826 and resigning in 1829. He was the founder of St. Andrew's Lodge No. 16 in Toronto. Campbell was knighted and died in 1834.

William B. Campbell (1807–1867) Governor of Tennessee. b. Feb. 1, 1807 in Sumner Co., Tenn. Practiced law in Carthage, Term. Raised a cavalry company and commanded it in Creek and Florida wars of 1836. From 1837–43 was Whig member of U.S. Congress from Tennessee. Was major general of militia in 1844 and served in the Mexican War, distinguishing himself in the battles of Monterey and Cerro Gordo. He served as governor of Tennessee, 1851–53. From 1857 he served as judge of the state circuit court. Lincoln appointed him brigadier general in the Federal Army in 1862, but he was forced to retire in 1863 due to ill health. He was a member of Lebanon Lodge No. 98, Lebanon, Term. d. Aug. 19, 1867.

Joachim Heinrich Campe (1746–1818) German writer and educator. Studied theology and was tutor to the Humboldt family in Berlin in 1769 and 1774–75. He was director of the schools in Dessau and Hamburg, 1786–1805 and head of the Brunswick educational book house from 1787–1808, which published many of his own writings including Robinson der Jungere, based on Defoe. He was a learned and zealous Freemason as shown by his correspondence with Gotthold Lessing q.v.

Edward R. S. Canby (1819–1873) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. Born in Kentucky, his family later moved to Indiana and he graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1835. He served in the Florida Indian War and assisted in the removal of the Five Civilized Nations to Oklahoma. In the Mexican war he saw action in most of the important engagements and was promoted to captain. As a major in 1855 he served the next three years on frontier duty and when the Civil War broke out, he was on an expedition against the Navajos in the Southwest. Made colonel, he commanded the New Mexico forces that repelled a Confederate thrust into that area. He was then made brigadier general and called to Washington to assist Secretary of War Stanton. He then saw service in New York, Mississippi Valley, Virginia, Louisiana, Alabama. After the War he served in Washington, D.C. and was then sent to California, where he attempted to bring the Modoc Indians to terms with the government. On April 11, 1873 he met “Capt. Jack,” the Modoc leader on neutral ground, but the Indians waylaid Canby and two other officers at the meeting place and killed them. The principal Indians were later tried and executed. General Canby “was a member of a lodge in the East. His body was escorted under auspices of the Craft to the Masonic Temple at Yreka and afterwards conveyed East where he was buried with Masonic honors.”

Allen D. Candler Former Governor of Georgia. Member of Gainesville Lodge No. 219, Gainesville, Ga.

John S. Candler (1861–1941) Justice, Supreme Court of Georgia 1902–06. b. Oct. 22, 1861 at Villa Rica, Ga. Alderman of City of Atlanta and president of the general council in 1911, 12, 14. Served in Spanish American War as colonel. Member of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church five times between 1890 and 1934, being a member of the commission on unification of the two branches. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner. d. Dec. 9, 1941.

Thomas S. Candler Justice, Supreme Court of Georgia since 1945. b. Dec. 15, 1890 at Blairsville, Ga. Engaged in law practice from 1915–39. Judge of Superior Court, N.E. Judicial Circuit, 1939–45. Mason.

William Candler (1890–1936) President of Atlanta Biltmore Hotel Co. from 1923 and vice president of Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of N.Y. from 1925. b. Jan. 24, 1890. Former director of U.S. Chamber of Commerce and officer and director in several corporations. Mason. d. Oct. 2, 1936.

Gordon Canfield U.S. Congressman 77th to 84th Congresses from 8th N.J. district. b. April 15, 1898 at Salamanca, N.Y. Received LL.B. from National Univ. in 1928. Began as news-boy in Binghamton, N.Y. in 1912, later clerk for Western Union, reporter for Passaic (N.J.) Daily News and for 17 years secretary to Congressman George N. Seger. He served in WW1 in the Signal Corps and in WW2 was on active duty with the Merchant Marine (incognito) in the North Atlantic. He visited Buchenwald concentration camp in Germany as an observer at request of General Eisenhower in 1945, made a 30,000 mile inspection trip of island bases in Pacific in 1946 and visited 16 European and Middle East countries in 1947 on investigating committee. In 1952 he inspected the Pacific defenses and the Korean front. Mason.

Erwin D. Canham Editor of Christian Science Monitor. b. Feb. 13, 1904 at Auburn, Maine. Received B.A. and Litt.D. from Bates College; L.H.D. Boston University and was Rhodes Scholar at Oxford Univ. England, receiving B.A. and M.A. in 1936. Began with the Christian Science Monitor, in 1925 and has covered many important national and international stories for his paper including the League of Nations assemblies of 1926–28, Ramsay MacDonald's tour of the U.S.; London Naval conference; trips of American presidents; nationwide political surveys; inauguration of Philippine Commonwealth. He was head of the Washington Bureau from 1932–39; general news editor 1939–41, managing editor, 1941–44 and editor since 1945. Mason.

Ralph J. Canine Lieutenant General, U.S. Army. b. Nov. 9, 1895 at Flora, Ind. A graduate of Northwestern Univ. and several army schools, he advanced through grades from 2nd lieutenant in 1917 to lieutenant general in 1953. In WW2 he served as commanding general of First Infantry Division Artillery in Europe. He is now serving with the Department of Defense, Washington, as director of the National Security Agency. Raised in East Chicago Lodge No. 595, East Chicago, Ind. in 1917. 32° AASR (SJ) at Guthrie, Oklahoma and member of Ararat Shrine Temple, Kansas City, Mo.

George Canning (1770–1827) English statesman who served as Foreign Secretary, Chancellor of the Exchequer and Prime Minister. Educated at Oxford, he was a brilliant orator. Member of parliament in 1793, he became under-secretary for foreign affairs in Pitt's administration (1796–99), but was barred from advancement because of poverty and his merciless wit, which he directed against the Whigs. Chief confidant of Pitt, he left office as treasurer of the Navy on Pitt's death in 1806. Was foreign sec-retary from 1807–10. After 12 years of minor offices he again became foreign secretary in 1822, succeeding Castlereagh as leader of the House of Commons. In 1827 he succeeded Liverpool as prime minister and chancellor of the exchequer. He was a member of Royal Somerset House and Inverness No. 4, but the date of his initiation is not known. In 1810 he became a dual member and "was admitted" to the Lodge of the Antiquity No. 2, resigning in 1811 and being reinstated in 1812.

Clarence Cannon Missouri Congressional representative continuously since the 68th (1923) Congress. b. April 11, 1879 at Elsberry, Mo., he is a graduate of LaGrange College, William Jewell College and the Univ. of Missouri. Was professor of history at Stephens College, Columbia, Mo. 1904–08, beginning practice of law at Troy, Mo. in 1908. Has been parliamentarian of the House of Representatives for many years, both in Republican as well as Democratic administrations, and parliamentarian for the Democratic National Conventions since 1920. He is regent of the Smithsonian Institute. He is the author of Synopsis of the Procedure of the House (1919), Cannon's Procedures (1928), Convention Parliamentary Manual (1928, 1951) and other writings. Member of Troy Lodge No. 34, Troy, Mo. Exalted in Troy Chapter R.A.M. No. 85, (now extinct) and transferred to Mexico Chapter No. 27, Mexico, Mo.; Crusade Commandery No. 23, K.T. Mexico and AASR, Valley of St. Louis. Died, 1964.

Joseph G. Cannon (1836–1926) Served in the U.S. House of Representatives for 50 years (1872–1923) with the exception of two terms. “Uncle Joe” was speaker of the House from 1903–11, ruling that body with a stern and august hand. b. May 7, 1836 at Guilford, N.C., he was admitted to Illinois bar in 1858. After serving eight years as state’s attorney he began his long service in Congress. Was made a Mason in Shelbyville, Ill. in 1858 and later affiliated with Olive Branch Lodge No. 38 of Danville in Feb., 1888. In Jan., 1888 he was exalted in Vermilion Chapter No. 82, R.A.M. and on Feb. 9, knighted in Athelstan Commandery No. 45, K.T. both of Danville, Ill. d. Nov. 12, 1926 at age of 90 and was buried with Masonic honors.

Newton Cannon (1781–1842) Governor of Tennessee, 1835–39. b. in N. Carolina and after public school education removed to Tennessee where he was a member of the legislature in 1811–12. Served in the Tennessee Mounted Rifles as a colonel in 1813 and commanded the left column in the Battle of Tallushatchee with the Creek Indians on Nov. 3, 1813. Elected to Congress in 1814 to fill vacancy of Felix Grundy q.v. and served until 1817, and again from 1819–23. In 1819 he was appointed one of the two commissioners to treat with the Chickasaw Indians by President Monroe.

A member of Cumberland Lodge No. 8, Nashville, he was present at a called meeting of the Grand Lodge of Tennessee in 1825. d. Sept. 29, 1842.

Archbishop of Canterbury (see Henry Chicheley)

James Cantey Confederate Brigadier General in Civil War. Member of Kershaw Lodge No. 29, Camden, S. Car.

Eddie Cantor Stage, screen and radio star. b. Jan. 31, 1892 in New York City, he was educated in the public schools and at Wood's Business School, Williamsburgh, N.Y. Married Ida Tobias in 1914; they have five girls—Marjorie, Natalie, Edna J., Marilyn and Janet. He began as a vaudeville and burlesque entertainer and later with Morosco, the Shuberts and Florenz Ziegfeld. In 1916 he toured the country as "Sam Beverly Moon" in Canary Cottage. He played in Broadway Brevities (1920), Make It Snappy (1922), and starred in Kid Boots (1923–26), Whoopee (1929–30), making his first motion picture appearance in 1926. He is known for his charitable work with Christians as well as Jews, and founded the Eddie Cantor Camp which sends poor and undernourished boys to the country. He has served as president of the Jewish Theatrical Guild of America, and president of the American Federation of Radio Artists. He was initiated in Munn Lodge No. 190, N.Y.C. on Nov. 6, 1919 and raised on June 23, 1921.

Homer E. Capehart U.S. Senator from Indiana. b. June 6, 1897 at Algiers, Ind. Began as salesman with Burton–Paige Mfg. Co., Chicago, in 1919. From 1927–33 he was president of The Capehart Corp., mfgs., Fort Wayne, Ind., and vice president of The Wurlitzer Co. from 1933–40. He is chairman of the board of Packard Mfg. Co., Indianapolis, and owner of the Capehart Farms, Washington, Ind. Served in army during WW1 (1917–19). Elected U.S. Senator in 1944 and again in 1950. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

Joseph P. E. Capelle (1757–1796) Surgeon of the American Revolution, he was born in Flanders, coming to America with Count Rochambeau q.v. and later served on General Lafayette's q.v. staff as surgeon. After the Revolution, he settled in Wilmington, Del., and was both popular and successful as a physician. He was one of the incorporators of the Delaware State Medical Society. He was raised in Lodge No. 14 at Wilmington (under Pennsylvania charter) on Aug. 21, 1783. He served as master in 1786 and again in 1792. He was treasurer of the lodge from 1788–91. On Aug. 6, 1789, he was in the first group of Delaware Masons to receive the Royal Arch Degree, conferred in his own lodge, and played a prominent part in the effort to establish a grand lodge in Delaware. He died on Nov. 5, 1796 and was buried with Masonic services in Old Swedes Cemetery. As the Masonic rites began, the sky suddenly darkened, and winds of near-hurricane velocity tore at the graveyard, forcing a number of crows to the ground among the onlookers, where they helplessly flapped their wings over the grave. The strange incident so terrified some of the onlookers, that they sprang over the cemetery wall and forever after talked of the strange alchemy and close affinity the Freemasons had with evil spirits.

Luigi Capello (1859–?) Italian General of World War I. He commanded the army which captured Gorizia in August, 1916 and the 2nd Army in the Italian offensive of Bainsizza plateau the following year. He retired in July of 1918. An opponent of Fascism, Mussolini called on him to choose between Freemasonry and Facism. He chose the craft and in Nov., 1925 he was arrested and accused of plotting against Mussolini's life. He was not brought to trial until the spring of 1927 when he was convicted and sentenced to 30 years' penal servitude.

William T. Capers (1867–1943) Bishop of Protestant Episcopal Church. b. Aug. 9, 1867 at Greenville, S.C. Graduate of Theological Seminary of Virginia, State Univ. of Kentucky and Univ. of the South. In business from 1887–90. Became P.E. deacon, 1894; priest, 1895 and served as rector in Anderson, S.C., Vicksburg, Miss., Asheville, N.C., Lexington, Ky., Philadelphia, Pa. from 1895–1913. Elected bishop of missionary district of Spokane in 1913 but declined. Was then named bishop co-adjutor of Diocese of West Texas, serving from 1913–16 and bishop of West Texas from Oct. 16, 1916. Mason, 32° AASR. d. March 29, 1943.

Arthur Capper (1865–1951) U.S. Senator, Governor of Kansas and publisher. b. July 14, 1865 at Garnett, Kans. Began as a compositor on the Topeka Daily Capital in 1884 and by 1892 owned and published the paper. Eventually he added the following publications to become one of the largest publishers in the world: Cap-per's Weekly, Kansas Farmer, Household Magazine, Capper's Farmer, Missouri Ruralist, Ohio Farmer, Pennsylvania Farmer, Michigan Farmer, Kansas City Kansan. He also owned radio stations KIBW, Topeka and KCKN, Kansas City, Kans. Elected governor of Kansas, 1915–19 and served Kansas as U.S. Senator from 1919–1951. He was a member of Orient Lodge No. 51 of Topeka and received his 33° AASR, (SJ) in Oct. 1948. d. Dec. 19, 1951.

John H. Capstick (1856–1918) U.S. Congressman from 5th N.J. district in 64th Congress (1915–17). b. Sept. 2, 1856 at Lawrence, Mass. Business interests were dyeing, printing and bleaching of textile fabrics. Mason. d. March 16, 1918.

Thaddeus H. Caraway (1871–1931) U.S. Senator from Arkansas, 1921–33, dying in office. b. Oct. 17, 1871 in Stoddard Co., Mo., he was admitted to Arkansas bar in 1900. He served in the U.S. House of Representatives from the 1st Arkansas district in the 63rd to 66th Congresses (1913–21). Mason and member of Sahara Shrine Temple at Pine Bluff, Ark. d. Nov. 6, 1931.

Giosue Carducci (1835–1907) Considered the national poet of modern Italy. b. in Valdicastello, Tuscany, his early pseudonym was Enotrio Romano. From 1861–1904 he was professor of literary history at Bologna. He was awarded the Nobel prize for literature in 1906. Wrote many volumes of verse and historical studies in literary criticism. The Bulletin of the International Masonic Congress of 1917 lists him as a Freemason.

Henry C. Carey (1793–1879) Political economist. b. in Philadelphia, the son of Mathew Carey, an Irish publisher who fled to America in 1784 to escape prosecution for attacks on British government. Henry continued his father's publishing and bookselling business from 1817–35 when he retired to devote himself to study and writing. He was the author of Principles of Political Economy (1837–40) in three volumes, and The Principles of Social Science (1858–59) in three volumes. He was raised in Lodge No. 3, Philadelphia on January 21, 1817.

James B. Carey Judge, Delaware Supreme Court since 1945. b. Feb. 17, 1905. Graduated from Univ. of Delaware (1926) and Temple Univ. (1931). Admitted to Pennsylvania bar in 1931 and Delaware bar in 1936. Practiced law in Georgetown, Del. from 1936–45. Member and past master of Franklin Lodge No. 12, Georgetown, Del. Past grand marshal of Grand Lodge of Delaware. Member of Hope Chapter No. 7, R.A.M. and Joppa Council No. 3, R. & S.M. both of Georgetown; 32° AASR (NJ) at Wilmington; Evergreen No. 49, Tall Cedars and member of Kent and Sussex Past Masters' Association.

Jeremiah Carhart (1813–1868) Inventor. b. Sept. 1813 in Dutchess Co., N.Y., he received no extended education, but when 15 learned the cabinet making trade and became adept in the use of tools. He moved to Buffalo where he perfected several inventions between 1836–46, including the exhaustion bellows and tubular reed-board for reed instruments. With E. P. Needham, he founded firm of Carhart and Needham, moving to New York City where they manufactured melodeons and organs. His Blue Lodge is not known, but he was a member of Jerusalem Chapter No. 8, N.Y.C. d. Aug. 16, 1868.

1st Marquess of Carisbrooke (Alexander Albert Mountbatten) b. Nov. 22, 1886. His father was the third son of Prince Alexander, of Hesse, brother of the ruling grand duke, Prince Louis of Battenberg, later the Marquess of Milford Haven, was the elder brother of Prince Henry, and married Princess Victoria of Hesse, granddaughter of the late Queen Victoria. Their eldest daughter, Princess Alice of Battenberg married Prince Alexander of Greece and is the mother of H.R.H., Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburg and royal consort of Queen Elizabeth. The family name was changed from Battenberg to Mountbatten in 1914 at the outbreak of WW1 when there was a popular outcry against names of Teutonic origin. The marquissate of Carisbrooke was created in 1917, taking its name from Carisbrooke Castle on the Isle of Wight. The Marquess was educated at Wellington College and went to sea as a midshipman on the H.M.S. Britannia, the royal yacht, remaining in the navy from 1902–08. Commissioned as lieutenant in the Grenadier Guards in 1911, he was promoted to captain three years later. He served throughout the War of 1914–18, subsequently on the staff, retiring in 1919. A member of Prince of Wales Lodge No. 259, the lodge connected with the royal family, he served as master in 1952 and as grand steward of the Grand Lodge of England in that year. In 1956 he was master of Royal Colonial Institute Lodge No. 3556. He has served on the board for the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys for several years.

Carl XIII King of Sweden (see Charles XIII)

Carl XIV, John King of Sweden (see Charles XIV)

Carl XV, Ludwig Eugen King of Sweden (see Charles XV)

Father Antoine Caries (?–1824) French Catholic priest, an Austrian by birth, who was chaplain of L'Esperance Lodge in Savannah, Georgia. This lodge was composed of French Roman Catholic refugees from the “black uprising” of San Domingo. He first settled in Pennsylvania, but in 1803 moved to Savannah. He was associated with John Paul Jones q.v. in France as well as Benjamin Franklin q.v. French Naval Captain Denis Nicholas Cottineau was buried from his home on Broughton St. in Savannah on Nov. 30, 1808. He returned to France after the Bourbons were restored and died in 1824, just after completing Easter services at the Cathedral of Bordeaux.

James H. Carleton (1814–1873) Major General U.S. Army. Fought in the Aroostook war of 1839 as a lieutenant of the Maine volunteers on the N.E. boundary of the U.S. Later with the 1st U.S. Dragoons and was with Kearny's expedition to the Rocky Mountains in 1846. In the Mexican War he was made captain and then major, serving with General Wool in Mexico and cited in the battle of Buena Vista. After the Mexican War, he engaged in exploration and expeditions against hostile Indians. In one expedition against the Utes and Apaches, Kit Carson q.v. was his guide. He led the “California Column” in the Civil War across the Yuma and Gila deserts to Mesilla, on the Rio Grande, and in April, 1862 was ordered to relieve General Canby q.v. as commander of the department of New Mexico, where he remained for several years. Advanced to brigadiergeneral in 1865 and major general in U.S. forces. He was raised in Montezuma Lodge No. 109 in New Mexico, chartered by the Grand Lodge of Missouri, and is later thought to have belonged to San Diego Lodge No. 35, San Diego, Calif.

Will Carleton (1845–1912) American poet. b. Oct. 21, 1845 at Hudson, Mich. In newspaper work at Hillsdale, Mich., Detroit, Chicago, Boston and New York and became editor of Everywhere, a monthly published in Brooklyn. Lecturer and reader of his own works in U.S. and Europe. Author of Farm Ballads, Farm Legends, Farm Festivals, Young Folks' Rhymes, City Ballads, City Legends, City Festivals, Rhymes of Our Planet, The Old Infant and many others. Mason. d. Dec. 18, 1912.

Richard Carlile (1790–1843) Printer and bookseller of London who wrote and published several pretended exposes of Freemasonry, which after his death, were collected in one volume under the title of A Manual of Freemasonry (in three parts). An atheist and freethinker, he was imprisoned for the publication of Paine's Age of Reason and Palmer's Light of Nature. His Masonic works are interspersed with considerable learning, and are not as abusive of the craft as most expositions generally are.

Carlini English sculptor. Early member of the Lodge of Nine Muses No. 325 in London, and one of the four members of this lodge to be original members of the Royal Academy at its foundation in 1768.

Evans F. Carlson (1896–1947) Brigadier General, U.S. Marine Corps. b. Feb. 26, 1896 at Sidney, N.Y. Entered army in 1912 and served in Philippines, Hawaii, Mexican border, France and Germany and was member of Pershing's staff. Entered Marine Corps in 1922 and served in West Indies, Nicaragua, and observer with Chinese armies. He joined Chinese guerrilla forces in penetrations behind Japanese lines. Resigned from Marine Corps to lecture and write in 1939 but reentered in 1941 as commander of 2nd Marine Raider Bn. which became known as "Carlson's Raiders," advancing from colonel to brigadier general. Retired in 1946 as result of wounds. d. May 27, 1957. Mason, member of Scottish Rite.

Frank Carlson Former Governor and U.S. Senator from Kansas. b. Jan. 23, 1893 at Concordia, Kansas. Farmer and stockman since 1914; member of Kansas state legislature, 1929–33 and governor of Kansas, term of 1947. U.S. senator from Kansas, 1951–57. Served as private in army, WW1. Member of St. John's Lodge No. 113, Concordia and 33° AASR (SJ).

George A. Carlson (1876–1926) Governor of Colorado from 1915–17. b. Oct. 23, 1876 at Alta, Iowa. Graduate of Colorado State Normal and Univ. of Colorado. Admitted to Idaho bar in 1904 and practiced at Lewiston, removing to Colorado in 1905, practicing at Fort Collins. After governorship he resumed practice at Denver. d. Dec. 6, 1926. Mason.

Wilbur G. Carlson Dairy expert b. May 11, 1904 at Madison, Wis. Editor of Pure Milk Products Press in 1931–32; director of Wisconsin Agricultural Authority, 1939–39; executive with Kraft Foods, 1940–49. Technical specialist with Quartermaster Corps in WW2 in France and Germany. Director of livestock products, division of Foreign Agricultural Service, Dept. of Agriculture since 1954. Cofounder of American Dairy Association. Was secretary general of first World Congress for Milk Utilization in 1953. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

Doyle E. Carlton Governor of Florida from 1929–33. b. July 6, 1887 at Wauchula, Fla. Graduate of Univ. of Chicago and Columbia Univ. Admitted to Florida bar and began practice at Tampa in 1912. Member of Florida state senate from 1917–19. He received his first degree on April 27, 1909 in St. John's Lodge No. 37, DeLand, Fla., his second degree on July 7, 1911 in Damascus Lodge No. 888, Chicago, and his third in Hillsborough Lodge No. 25, Tampa, on Sept. 29, 1915, affiliating with the latter lodge.

Newcomb Carlton (1869–1953) President (ret.) of Western Union Telephone and Telegraph Co. 1914–33, chairman of the board 1933–43 and honorary chairman 1943–49. b. Feb. 19, 1869 at Elizabeth, N.J. Graduate of Harvard and Colgate. Began as a mechanical engineer in Buffalo, N.Y. in 1891, becoming vice president of Bell Telephone of Buffalo in 1902 and vice president of Westinghouse Electric in 1904. In 1910 he was made vice president of Western Union. Life trustee of American Academy in Rome, grand officer of Crown of Italy, and holder of French Legion of Honor.

Member of Kane Lodge No. 454, New York City. d. March 12, 1953.

Henry, 4th Earl of Carnarvon (Henry Howard Molyneux) (1831–1890) Undersecretary for the colonies in 1858–59 and colonial secretary, 1866–67, 1874–78. He presented bill for the federation of North American provinces in 1867, abolished slavery on the African Gold Coast in 1874 and favored federation for South Africa. Resigned in 1878 in opposition to breach of neutrality in Russo–Turkish conflict. As lord lieutenant of Ireland (1885–86), he favored limited self government, and resigned in opposition to Gladstone’s home rule bill. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of England in 1870–74, and from 1874–90 served as pro–grand master for H.R.H. Albert Edward, later King Edward VII. The office of pro–grand master must be held by a peer of the realm and is created only when the grand master is a king or prince of royal blood.

Henry, Marquis of Carnarvon (see 2nd Duke of Chandos)

James, Marquis of Carnarvon (see 3rd Duke of Chandos)

L. J. J. Caron Governor of the Celebes in Dutch East Indies, he was elected grand master of the Netherlands in 1945 succeeding the late General H. van Tongeren. The Chinese government conferred the high distinction of “Brilliant Jade of China” on him. He was a member of the committee sent to Syria by League of Nations when that nation declared its independence. At the German invasion of Holland in 1938, he was grand orator and senior surviving grand officer after liberation. He was head of the first chapter of Royal Arch Masons established in Holland on Feb. 3, 1949 by the Grand Chapter of England. Grand Secretary, Sir Sydney White, of England was present at the consecration of the chapter as were other English notables.

Admiral Carraciola Italian naval officer and Freemason who during the uprising at Naples in 1799 was hanged from the masthead of his own vessel and his body thrown into the sea.

Lord Carrington (Archibald Philip, 5th Earl of Primrose) (1847–1929). Left Oxford without a degree because he owned race horses. An avid sportsman, he won the Derby three times (1894, 1895, 1905). Was prime minister of Britain (1894–95) following Gladstone. Undersecretary for home department with charge of Scottish affairs from 1881–83; visited Australia in 1883–84. Foreign secretary under Gladstone 1886, 1892–94, holding to policy of distrust of Russia; firmness with France during Egyptian trouble. Was governor of New South Wales from 1888–1891 and at the same time served as the first grand master of the United Grand Lodge of New South Wales, being installed Sept. 18, 1888. Prior to the union he was provincial grand master under English constitution. He was leader of the liberal opposition from 1895–96.

Frank Carrington Theatrical producer. b. Sept 13, 1901 at Angel Island, Calif. Began acting at the Pasadena Community Playhouse in 1915 and in 1925 he organized his own Shakespeare company. In 1944–45 he was producer for Theatre Guild and the Shuberts. He was the co-founder of The Paper Mill Playhouse, N.J. in 1934 and since that time has directed over 150 plays and musicals. He studied subsidized theatres in England, France and Germany in 1937 and was with the U.S. Navy in WW1. Raised Oct. 24, 1923 in Hope Lodge No. 124, East Orange, N.J.

Charles Carroll, Jr. Son of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence. Although the family was strong Roman Catholic, Schultz in his History of Freemasonry in Maryland states that Charles, Jr. was a Freemason in a Maryland Lodge. Daniel Carroll q.v., cousin of Charles Carroll of Carrollton was definitely a Mason.

Daniel Carroll (?–1829) Member of the Continental Congress of 1780–84 and a delegate to the convention that framed the U.S. Constitution. He was also a representative in congress in 1789–91, when in the latter year he was appointed commissioner for surveying the District of Columbia. His farm formed the site of the present city of Washington, D.C. He was a cousin of Charles Carroll, signer of the Declaration of Independence (see Charles Carroll, Jr.). He was raised in Maryland Lodge No. 16, Baltimore, Md. on May 8, 1781. His birth date is not known, but he lived to an advanced age.

Horace Bailey Carroll Historian, editor and college professor. b. April 29, 1903 at Gatesville, Texas. Taught at Texas Technical College, Texas Univ., Texas Wesleyan, Hillsboro College, West Texas State College, Eastern New Mexico

College, Texas Agricultural College. Professor of history in Texas Univ. since 1946. Director of Texas State Historical Association since 1946. Editor of Southwestern Historical Quarterly. Associate editor of Panhandle-Plains Historical Review. Editor of several volumes on S.W. American history. Member of Yellowhouse Lodge No. 841, Lubbock, Texas.

Thomas K. Carroll Governor of Maryland in 1829. Joined Somerset Lodge No. 49, Princess Anne, Md. "upon reaching his maturity." Later associated with Washington Lodge No. 3, Baltimore and Concordia Lodge No. 13, Baltimore. Served as deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Maryland.

Arthur J. Carruth, Jr. Journalist and editor. b. July 26, 1887 at Clinton, N.Y. With the Topeka State Journal since 1908. Managing editor in 1914. Columnist, editor and co-publisher from 1933-40. Director of North American Light & Power Co. since 1942. Mason.

Christopher "Kit" Carson (1809-1868) One of America's most famous plainsmen, Indian scouts, guide, trapper and soldier. b. Dec. 24, 1809 in Madison Co., Ky. While an infant, his parents moved to Howard Co., Mo. which was then a wilderness. At the age of 15 he was apprenticed to a saddler, but ran away after two years (in 1826) to join a party of hunters in Santa Fe, N.M. His employer advertised in the Missouri Intelligencer, offering one cent reward for his return. For eight years he lived the life of a plains trapper and was then appointed hunter for the garrison at Bent's Fort, where he remained eight more years. Carson was closely associated with Charles Bent q.v. and married Josefa Jaramillo, sister of Bent's wife. Next he served as guide for General John C. Fremont q.v., "The Pathfinder," on his first expedition—and later others, including the famous one to California in 1843–44. In 1851 he settled down to ranching, 50 miles east of Taos. In 1853, he drove 6,500 head of sheep over the mountains to Calif.—a hazardous undertaking at that time, and on his return to Taos, was appointed Indian agent. He was perhaps better known among the western Indians than any other white man. He knew their habits, customs; understood their mode of warfare; and spoke their language as a mother tongue. Under this appointment, he was largely instrumental in bringing about the treaties between the Indians and the U.S. At the advent of the Civil War he was made colonel of a New Mexico regiment and later breveted brigadier-general for his achievements. After the war, he returned to his appointment as Indian agent. Unlike most frontiersmen, he was modest almost to the point of bashfulness. He received his degrees in Montezuma Lodge No. 109 (then under Missouri charter): EA March 29, 1854, FC June 17, 1854; MM Dec. 26, 1854. When Bent Lodge No. 204 (named after his friend) was chartered by Missouri in Taos on Dec. 15, 1859, Carson demitted to it on April 30, 1860 and became its first junior warden. However circumstances forced the lodge to surrender its charter in 1864 and in 1865 Carson again affiliated with his mother lodge (Montezuma) and remained a member until his death on May 24, 1868. Carson City, Nev. is named for him, as is Carson Lodge No. 1, Nev. His brother was Moses B. Carson q.v.

Enoch Terry Carson (1822–1899) Masonic scholar. b. Sept. 18, 1822 in Hamilton Co., Ohio. An active worker in all rites and bodies of Freemasonry. Was an active 33° and deputy for Ohio in the AASR. He printed, at his own expense, many important works on Freemasonry, including the first facsimile of the Book of Constitutions of 1723 in 1855. His valuable Masonic library was acquired by General Samuel C. Lawrence of Medford, Mass. q.v. at the close of the last century. General Lawrence bequeathed it to the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts. Carson was raised in Cynthia Lodge No. 155 in 1846 and served as its master. He was also the founder and first master of Kilwinning Lodge No. 356 in 1865.

Harry R. Carson (1869–1948) Bishop of Protestant Episcopal Church. b. Dec. 8, 1869 at Norristown, Pa. Deacon, 1895; priest, 1896; general missionary (La.) 1895–98; chaplain 2nd La. Vol. Inf. of Spanish–American War; rector at Franklin and Monroe, La.; archdeacon of Northern La. 1910–12; chaplain of Ancon Hospital, Canal Zone 1913–22 and also archdeacon of Panama; bishop of Haiti from Jan. 10, 1923 and also in charge of Dominican Republic from 1928–43. Mason.

Henderson H. Carson Congressman, 78th and 80th Congresses (1943–45, 1947–49) from 16th Ohio district. b. Oct. 25, 1893 at Cadiz, Ohio. Lawyer. With legal department of Pennsylvania Railroad in 1915. Entered private practice, but retained railroad connection. Specializes in insurance law. Served in field artillery in WW1. Raised Feb. 21, 1928 in Lathrop Lodge No. 676, Canton, Ohio. 32° AASR (NJ) April 6, 1928 at Cleveland and member of Al Koran Shrine Temple and Nazir Grotto.

Ken Carson Radio star. Born at Carman, Canada in 1910. Member of Hollywood Lodge No. 355, Hollywood, Calif.

Moses B. Carson Founded Missouri Fur Company with two other Freemasons—Joshua Pilcher and Joseph Perkins. They were in competition with the American Fur Company headed by brothers Pierre Chouteau, Jr. and Bartholomew Berthold. Moses was a brother of Kit Carson q.v., the famous plainsman. Their father brought them from Kentucky and they settled at Old Franklin in Howard county on the Missouri river. It was here that Moses was initiated, passed and raised in Franklin Union Lodge No. 7 in 1826. He was a member of a military company at Fort Hempsted in 1812.

William L. Carss (1865–1931) Congressman from 8th Minnesota dist. to 66th, 69th and 70th Congresses (1919–21 and 1925–29). b. Feb. 15, 1865 at Pella, Iowa. Mason.

Benjamin E. Carter (1894–1943) Justice, Supreme Court of Arkansas. b. Nov. 1, 1894 at Texarkana, Ark. Graduate of Harvard in 1916. Practiced law in Texarkana from 1922. Named to supreme court in 1943. d. April 11, 1943. Mason.

Edward F. Carter Justice, Supreme Court of Nebraska since 1935. b. March 11, 1897 at Middlebranch, Nebr. Admitted to bar in 1919 and practiced in Bayard, Nebr. until 1927 when he became judge of the 17th district. He served as judge on the 5th Military Tribunal, Nurnberg, Germany, to try major German war criminals in 1947–48. Served in WW1. Raised in Scotts Bluff Lodge No. 201, Gering, Nebr. Feb. 22, 1929 and past master of same. Grand master of Grand Lodge of Nebraska in 1941. Member of Oregon Trail Chapter No. 65, R.A.M., Gering; Lincoln Council No. 4, R. & S.M. and Mt. Moriah Cornmandery No. 4, K.T. of Lincoln; consistory membership at Alliance; 33° AASR (SJ); member of Shrine, Red Cross of Constantine, High Twelve and Eastern Star.

Frank J. Carter Vice president of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. b. Dec. 20, 1900 at Warren, Ark. Started with Goodyear as a trainee in 1922, advancing to vice president in charge of industrial relations in 1956. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

Fred A. Carter (1870–1948) President and general manager of American Textile Woolen Co. from 1910. b. Oct. 14, 1870 in Sweetwater, Tenn. Started as a laborer, clerk and bookkeeper and became secretary–treasurer of Sweetwater Woolen Mills in 1892, going to the American Textile Woolen Co. in 1906 in the same position. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner. d. Feb. 17, 1948.

George H. Carter (1874–1948) Public printer of the U.S. from 1921–34. b. Sept. 10, 1874 at Mineral Point, Wis. Degrees from Univ. of Iowa and George Washington Univ. Worked as editor and political writer of several Iowa newspapers from 1890 to 1907 when he went to the Washington (D.C.) Post. He served as secretary of the Printing Investigation Commission in Washington in 1910–11 and as clerk of the Joint Committee on Printing, U.S. Congress from 1911–21. Mason, 33° AASR, Knight Templar, Shriner and member of Royal Order of Scotland. d. Oct. 23, 1948.

Jesse F. Carter (1873–1943) Justice, Supreme Court of South Carolina. b. Sept. 12, 1873 at Lodge, S.C. Admitted to bar in 1905 and practiced in Bamberg, S.C. until 1927 when he was elected associate justice of the state supreme court. He was reelected in 1930 and again in 1940. He was a member of the state senate in 1925–27. Mason. d. Nov. 5, 1943.

Jesse W. Carter Justice, Supreme Court of California. b. Dec. 19, 1888 at Carrville, Calif. Admitted to California bar in 1913 and practiced in San Francisco and then Redding. Appointed to supreme court bench in 1939. Raised in Western Star Lodge No. 2, Shasta, Calif. in 1914, serving as master in 1922 and senior grand steward of the Grand Lodge of California in 1922. 32° AASR (SJ) in Sacramento Consistory; Ben Ali Shrine Temple of Sacramento and honorary life member of Al Malaikah Temple, Los Angeles. Honorary member of DeMolay Legion of Honor.

Joseph H. Carter President of Pittsburgh Steel Co. b. 1893 in Harvey, Ill. Graduate of Rose Polytechnic Institute in 1916. Mason and Shriner.

Thomas J. Carter Commanding officer, U.S. Naval Hospital at Portsmouth since 1953. b. July 3, 1899 at Lawrence, Kans. Served in Navy in WW1. Commissioned in 1927, advancing to captain in 1943. Has served as naval medical officer throughout the world. Raised in Lawrence Lodge No. 6, Lawrence, Kansas in 1926.

Thomas M. Carter Bandmaster. Made a Mason in Newburyport, Mass. Knighted in Boston Commandery in 1889, he took an active part in the musical side of Freemasonry. He is the composer of the Boston Commandery March.

William C. Carter President of Link-Belt Co. 1942–46 and chairman of executive committee since 1946. b. Oct. 10, 1881 at Homer, Ill. Graduated from Univ. of Illinois and started with Link-Belt Co. in 1902 as a draftsman. Raised in Olympia Lodge No. 864, Chicago, Ill. in 1904.

William S. Carter (1859–1923) Labor executive. b. Aug. 11, 1859 at Austin, Texas. Was fireman and engineer on railroads in Texas, Colo. and Mexico from 1889–94, and editor of Locomotive Firemen, and Engineer's magazine until 1903, when he became general secretary and treasurer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. He was president of the organization from 1909 until 1918. In 1918 he became director, Division of Labor of U.S. Railroad Administration. In 1920 he was elected president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, a position which he held until his death on Mar. 15, 1923. Mason.

Julius Victor Carus (1823–1903) German zoologist and a professor at Leipzig from 1853. He authored a history of zoology and translated most of Darwin's works. The bulletin of the International Masonic Congress lists him as a Freemason.

Ugo Carusi Former U.S. Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization (1945–47) and chairman of Displaced Persons Commission since 1948. b. Mar. 17, 1902 in Carrara, Italy and brought to the U.S. in 1902. Was secretary and assistant to U.S. attorney general from 1925–30. Was official delegate of U.S. at first international congress on criminology in Rome, 1938. Raised in Justice Lodge No. 46, Washington, D.C. on May 31, 1927. 32° AASR (SJ) in Washington, D.C. and presently guardian of the temple in Evangelist Chapter of Rose Croix. Member of Almas Shrine Temple, Washington.

Elbert N. Carvel Governor of Delaware, 1949–53. b. Feb. 9, 1910 at Shelter Island Heights, N.Y. Graduated from Univ. of Baltimore in 1931. President of Valliant Fertilizer Co. of Laurel, Del. since 1945. Lieutenant governor of Delaware from 1945–49. Raised in Hope Lodge No. 4, Laurel, Del. in 1946 and junior steward of his lodge in 1957. 32° AASR (NJ); Nur Shrine Temple; Evergreen Forest, Tall Cedars and National Sojourners.

Edgar M. Carver Vice President of Dodge Mfg. Company. b. Oct. 22, 1886 at Morton, Ind. B.S. and M.E. degrees from Purdue. Employed by the Dodge company since 1909, beginning as a draftsman. Was general superintendent from 1927 and now vice president and director. Served in WW1 with Army Ordnance. Raised in Tippicanoe Lodge No. 492, Lafayette, Ind. about 1907.

Glover H. Cary (1885–1936) Congressman from Kentucky to 72nd and 74th Congresses (1931–33 and 1935–37) and 73rd Congress (1933–35). b. May 1, 1885 at Calhoun, Ky. Admitted to Kentucky bar in 1909 and began practice in Owensboro. Mason. d. Dec. 5, 1936.

John Proby, 1st Lord Carysfort Grand master of the Grand Lodge of England (Moderns) from 1752 to 1754.

Thomas Casady Bishop, Protestant Episcopal church. b. June 6, 1881 at Des Moines, Iowa. Graduate of Univ. of Iowa in 1902. Deacon, 1906; priest, 1907. Served as rector in Oelwein and Des Moines, Iowa, Pueblo, Colo. and Omaha, Nebr. Elected bishop of Oklahoma on June 2, 1927, and consecrated Oct. 2, 1927. Elected president of the Province of the Southwest in 1944. Mason.

Peter Casanave Master of Georgetown Lodge No. 9 of Maryland (now Potomac No. 5 of D.C.) who laid the cornerstone of the White House on Oct. 17, 1792. Like James Hoban q.v. the architect, Casanave was a devout Romanist. At the time of the cornerstone laying, Casanave was probably a young man in his mid-twenties. A copy of his will dated April 14, 1856 and probated March 31, 1860, is in the archives of Potomac Lodge. Casanave gave “an oration well adapted to the occasion” at the laying of the stone.

Casanova, or Casanova de Seingalt (1725–1798) Born Giovanni Jacopo in Venice, Italy, of family of actors. He was educated for the priesthood and showed brilliance of mind and wit, but was expelled for scandalous conduct from Seminary of St. Cyprian in 1741. He then became secretary in the household of Cardinal Aquaviva, followed by a spell in the Venetian army at Corfu. He was by turn a preacher, abbe, alchemist, cabalist, gambler, and violin player. For 20 years he roamed Europe, alternately in fortune and distress. Skeptic and sensualist, he was involved in one intrigue after another. He was imprisoned as a spy in Venice in 1755. As director of the state lotteries in Paris, he accumulated a fortune. He was an agent of Louis XV. He made acquaintance with the great of his day, including the pope (who bestowed him with the papal order of the Golden Spur). He was alternately forced to flee Russia, France, Spain and Italy. He is best known for his Memoirs, which although a cynical record of his rogueries and amours, is of great historical importance. He was thought to have entered Freemasonry in Lyons in 1750. The Craft must have had a mighty appeal to this wild adventurer without morals, for scattered through his Memoirs are numerous references to Freemasonry. He advised all young men, well-born, who wished to become of value in society to become Freemasons "even though it would only be to know superficially what it is." He defended the fraternity with unmeasured scorn from those who thought it political, anarchistic or subversive. He asked young men to "choose well the Lodge, for although bad company cannot work in the Lodge, it may however be found there and the candidate ought to guard himself against dangerous associations." What is really remarkable, however, is his reverent appreciation of the inner content of the art. He asserted that the real secrets of the fraternity were not in its symbols or words, but were to be found only in reflection, reason, comparison and deduction. He averred that the secret of Freemasonry, discovered by the individual, cannot be imparted to another.

Clarence E. Case Chief Justice, Supreme Court of New Jersey. b. Sept. 24, 1877 at Jersey City, N.J. Admitted to N.J. bar in 1903. Judge of county court, secretary to president of N.J. senate, member of senate from 1918–29; acting governor of New Jersey in 1920. Justice of N.J. supreme court, 1929–46 and chief justice from 1945–48 when court was terminated. Was senior associate justice on the new court from 1948. Mason.

Francis H. Case U.S. Senator from South Dakota. b. Dec. 9, 1896 at Everly, Iowa. Graduate of Dakota Wesleyan, and Northwestern Universities. Was assistant editor of the Epworth Herald, Chicago in 1920–22 and afterward editor of Rapid City (S.D.) Daily Journal, Hot Springs (S.D.) Star, Custer (S.D.) Chronicle. He was Congressman from 2nd S.D. dist. to 75th to 81st Congresses (1937–51), and U.S. Senator from South Dakota since 1951. Served in Marine Corps, WW1, as a private and later a major in Marine Corps Reserve. Member of Custer City Lodge No. 66, Custer, S. Dak.; Black Hills Chapter No. 25, R.A.M.; Black Hills Council No. 3, R. & S.M.; Schrader Commandery No. 9, K.T. all of Rapid City, S. Dak. Was member of Acacia fraternity at Northwestern Univ.

Norman S. Case Governor of Rhode Island, three terms (1928–33). b. Oct. 11, 1888 at Providence, R.I. Graduate of Brown, Harvard and Boston Universities. Admitted to bar in 1911. Was lieutenant governor of Rhode Island in 1927–28.

Member of Federal Communications Commission 1934–45 and now senior member of law firm of Case & Wozencraft, Washington, D.C. Served as an officer in Mexican border campaign and overseas in WW1 with a machine gun battalion and later with General Staff, A.E.F. Raised in Corinthian Lodge No. 27, Providence, R.I. on May 8, 1817 and a past master of his lodge. Member of Tall Cedars of Lebanon.

Robert O. Case Author of western books. b. Oct. 8, 1895 at Dallas, Texas. Graduate of Univ. of Oregon. After serving as reporter and financial editor of the Morning Oregonian, Portland, he began as a professional writer in 1924. Among his many books are: Just Buckaroo Riders of the Grande Ronde, The Yukon Drive, A Pair O'Mavericks, Dynamite Smith—Cowboy, Whispering Valley, The Loop, Big Timber, Wings, North, Golden Portage, West of Barter River and The Empire Builders. Contributor of fiction to Saturday Evening Post and Colliers. Mason.

Charles C. Casey (1881–1946) President of Western State College of Colorado from 1930. b. Dec. 5, 1881. Was principal of high school and supt. of schools in Longmont,– Colo. from 1909–30. Mason, 32° AASR. d. July 31, 1946.

John E. Caskey Vice president of U.S. Rubber Company. b. Feb. 29, 1892 in Fairmont, Ind. Graduate of Ohio State Univ. in 1915. Has been with U.S. Rubber since graduation from college, becoming vice president in 1953 and general manager of the Naugatuck (Conn.) chemical division. Raised in Shepherd Lodge No. 478 at Naugatuck, Conn. in 1924 and served as master of same. Member of Allerton Chapter No. 39, R.A.M. Naugatuck.

Marion M. Caskie Vice President of Reynolds Metals Company. b. July 29, 1890 at Remington, Va. First an accountant for Southern Railroad, he engaged in practice before Interstate Commerce Commission and came to Reynolds Metals as traffic executive in 1930. He has been executive vice president and director of Reynolds Metals since 1940. Mason.

Albin R. Caspar Vice President of Great Northern Paper Company. b. July 20, 1896 at Lisbon Falls, Me. With Great Northern since 1919, successively as pulp mill foreman, assistant superintendent of paper and pulp mill, assistant manager of manufacturing and vice president and manager of sales. Mason. Served in Navy in WW1.

Lewis Cass (1782–1866) General, Governor of Michigan, Secretary of War, Minister to France, U.S. Senator, Secretary of State and candidate for president. b. Oct. 9, 1782 at Exeter, N.H., he practiced law at Zanesville, Ohio in 1802. He was made a Mason in old American Union Lodge No. 1 at Marietta, Ohio (EA Dec. 5, 1803, FC April 2, 1804, MM May 7, 1804). He was admitted a member of Amity Lodge No. 5, Zanesville June 24, 1805. After a term in congress he was named U.S. marshal of Ohio (1807–13). An early volunteer in the War of 1812 he became a brigadier general. Following the defeat of the British in the Battle of the Thames, he was given command of the garrison at Detroit and in 1813 appointed civil governor of the territory of Michigan—a position he held for nearly 18 years. During this time his constructive administration opened up the territory. Traveling 5,000 miles by canoe, he negotiated more than 20 treaties with the Indians. In 1831–36 he was secretary of war in Jackson's cabinet. In 1836–42 he was U.S. minister to France, and returned home to run for president, but a deadlock with Van Buren resulted in election of Polk. Michigan sent him to the U.S. senate from 1845–57. He again ran for president against Zachary Taylor and was defeated. Buchanan appointed him secretary of state in 1857, but when he found himself to be a mere figurehead, he resigned in 1860 and retired to his home in Detroit. Cass received the four degrees of the chapter in American Union Royal Arch Chapter on the same day—Aug. 17, 1804. He later became the first high priest of Monroe Chapter No. 1, Detroit on Feb. 7, 1821. He helped organize the Grand Lodge of Ohio and was its grand master from 1810–13. Upon moving to Detroit, he affiliated with Zion Lodge No. 1 and was the first grand master of Michigan in 1826. Was the first high priest of Monroe chapter under charter. d. June 17, 1866.

Andres Cassard Masonic writer, member of La Fraternidad Lodge No. 387, New York City. Senior grand deacon of Grand Lodge of New York in 1859 and 33° AASR.

Archibald, 15th Earl of Cassillis (see Marquess of Ailsa)

John, 7th Earl of Cassius Prominent figure in the Revolution of 1688. He was deacon, or head, of the Lodge Kilwinning in 1672.

Stephen Cassin (1783–1857) U.S. naval officer. b. Feb. 16, 1783 in Philadelphia, Pa. and entered the navy as a midshipman in 1800. Advanced through lieutenant (1807), master (1814) and captain (1825). Both he and his father (another naval officer) served in the War of 1812. Stephen served with distinction in the war with Tripoli and commanded the Ticonderoga in Macdonough's victory on Lake Champlain. For this he was awarded a gold medal by congress. He was a terror to the pirates that infested the West Indies, and captured four of their vessels in Sept., 1822. He was a member of Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City. d. Aug. 29, 1857.

Emilio Castelar (y Ripoll) (1832–1899) Spanish statesman, orator and writer. Was professor of history in Madrid 1856–65, exiled to France in 1866, returning to teach again from 1868–75. As a deputy to the Cortes in 1869 he advocated the republic and separation of church and state. After the proclamation of the republic in 1873 he was minister of foreign affairs and prime minister 1873–74 and deputy 1876–93. The bulletin of the International Masonic Congress (1917) lists him as a Freemason.

Juan Jose Castelli (1764–1812) Argentine patriot, lawyer and politician of indomitable courage. He was a member of the Lautaro Lodge and took an active part in the struggle for independence. He was a member of the first governing "junta."

Francisco Pio Pacheco Castilla (1826–1896) Roman

Catholic priest of Costa Rica who was a member of Esperanza Lodge No. 2 and Maraville Lodge No. 12. b. July 9, 1826, he was ordained priest in 1849. In 1851 he was in Guatemala at the consecration of Monsignor Llorente and returned with him to Costa Rica. In 1874 he was a deputy to the constitutional congress. Served as orator and junior warden of his lodge. d. Aug. 20, 1896.

Alejandro Aguilar Castillo Costa Rican patriot. Deputy to constitutional congress in 1874. Spoke against the Jesuits in 1875 and aided in their expulsion from Costa Rica. A charter member of Esperanza Lodge No. 2, he founded Maraville Lodge No. 12 and Lodge No. 19 in San Jose. Was officer of Supreme Council AASR.

William J. Castle (1836–1909) Operatic tenor. b. Dec. 22, 1836 in England. Studied music in New York, London and Milan and was leading tenor of English opera for 30 years. Made debut as concert singer in New York, 1861 and in opera in 1864. Sang in Europe 1872–74 and retired from stage in 1891. Later he became vocal director of the Chicago Musical College. He was raised in St. Cecile Lodge No. 568, New York City on Jan. 20, 1867. d. in 1909.

Jose Antonio Pinto Castro Governor of San Juan, Costa Rica, secretary of state and president of the supreme court at his death. He prohibited the Jesuits from entering the country. He belonged to Lodge Caridad No. 26 and was master of No. 3.

Dr. Jose Maria Castro (1818–1892) President of the Republic of Costa Rica in 1847–49 and again 1866–68. He was founder and rector of Santo Tomas University and was one of the founders of the Scottish Rite of Central America and its first grand chancellor.

Julian Castro Venezuelan General and tenth President of the Republic of Venezuela (1858–1860). He was 18°, AASR.

Tobias Zuniga Castro Diplomat and former Secretary of State of Costa Rica. Was candidate for president, deputy to constitutional congress and president of the charity board of San Jose. Member of Union Fraternal Lodge No. 19.

Richard Caswell (1729–1789) General of American Revolution, Governor of North Carolina and member of Continental Congress. b. Aug. 3, 1729 in Maryland, he moved to North Carolina in 1746. Became a colonel early in the Revolution and was in command at battle of Moore's Creek where he defeated a large body of Loyalists. Delegate to congress in 1774–75 and again in 1787–89 when the Federal constitution was framed and ratified. He was president of the provincial congress which framed the state constitution in Nov. 1776 and governor of the state in 1777–79 and again in 1784–86. In 1780 he led state troops in the disastrous battle of Camden. Where he was initiated is unknown, but he was "healed" Dec. 28, 1772 in St. John's Lodge No. 3, New Bern, N.C. He was elected deputy grand master of North Carolina Dec. 11, 1787 and grand master Nov. 18, 1788. d. Nov. 20, 1789.

Thomas H. Caswell (1825–1900) 11th Grand Commander, Southern Supreme Council AASR (1894–1900). b. Aug. 10, 1825 at Exeter, N.Y. He served as grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of California, R.A.M. and was grand secretary of the same —also grand lecturer for 37 years. He was grand commander of the Grand Commandery, K.T. of Calif. and served as recorder of that state body for 20 years. He was also grand recorder of the Grand Council of Calif. He was initiated in Lafayette Lodge U.D. at Nevada City, Calif. on Dec. 10, 1850 and received his other degrees in Nevada Lodge No. 13, Nevada City in May 1851. Received his 32° AASR at San Francisco on Oct. 17, 1867, 33° July 9, 1868 and crowned active member of Supreme Council May 3, 1870. d. Nov. 13, 1900.

Louis S. Cates Mining executive. b. Dec. 20, 1881 at Boston, Mass. Graduate of M.I.T. in 1902. Began as mine operator in Mexico; in charge of construction at Bingham Canyon, Utah for Boston Consolidated Mining 1904–08 and was general manager in 1909. With Utah Copper Co. 1919–30, first as assistant general manager, general manager and vice president; president of Phelps Dodge Corp., 1930–47 and chairman of board since 1947. Developed system making it economically possible by underground methods, to mine low grade ores. Member of Kane Lodge No. 454, New York City and past master of Canyon Lodge No. 13 Brigham City, Utah. 32° AASR (SJ) at Salt Lake City, Utah and El Kalah Shrine Temple, same city.

Catherine I, Czarina of Russia (1684?–1727) She was of Livonian peasant origin, taken prisoner in 1702 and made a serf of Prince Menshikov. She attracted the attention of Peter I (The Great) q.v. who established the first Masonic lodge in Russia. First she was his mistress and advisor. Later married him and succeeded him as empress in 1725–27. Shortly after their marriage in 1712 she obtained permission from Peter to found the Order of St. Catherine, an order of knighthood for women only of which she was grand mistress. It was a quasi-Masonic body.

Catherine II (The Great) Empress of Russia (1729–1796)

In 1762 she issued an edict against all Masonic meetings in her dominions, but subsequently learned the true character of the institution, and not only revoked her order, but invited the Freemasons to reestablish their lodges and constitute new ones. She reigned from 1762–96, and was followed by her son Paul I q.v., who during the early part of his reign was a Freemason, but later fell under the influence of the Jesuits and Knights of Malta and banned Freemasonry.

John D. Caton (1812–?) Chief Justice, Illinois Supreme Court. b. March 19, 1812 in Monroe, N.Y. Set up law office in Chicago, Ill. 1833. He became judge of Illinois supreme court in 1842 and chief justice in 1855. He resigned in 1864, having acquired wealth in business. He traveled widely through Europe, China and Japan, and wrote extensively on his travels and nature subjects. A member of Occidental Lodge No. 40, Ottawa, Ill., he was master in 1846, 1851 and 1852.

John Catron (1778–1865) Associate Justice, U.S. Supreme Court (1837–65). b. in Wythe Co., Va. Studied law and served in the New Orleans campaign under Jackson in War of 1812. Returned to Nashville, Tenn. to practice, and in 1824 was chosen one of the judges of the state bench and was its chief justice from 1830–36, when he retired. While on the bench, he did his utmost to suppress the practice of duelling, although he had been a noted duelist himself. He was a member of Cumberland Lodge No. 8, Nashville, Tenn.

Thomas B. Catron (?–1921) U.S. Senator from New Mexico, 1912–17. b. in Lafayette Co., Mo. he received A.B. and A.M. from Univ. of Missouri. Began practice of law in New Mexico in 1867. Member of N. Mex. legislature for several terms and attorney general from 1869–72. He was U.S. attorney, dist. of N. Mex. 1872–79 and a delegate from his state to U.S. Congress in 1895–96. He was the first senior warden of the Santa Fe Lodge of Perfection (AASR).

Roscoe A. Cattell Chief of petroleum and natural gas division of Bureau of Mines since 1933. b. Jan. 6, 1892 at New Sharon, Ia. Graduate of Univ. of Calif. 1916. Employed by oil companies in Calif., Okla., England and Algeria from 1916–20 and with Bureau of Mines since 1921. From 1925–33 he was chief of helium division, in charge of research, construction and operation of plants which produce the world's supply of helium gas. Member of Bartlesville Lodge No. 284, Bartlesville, Okla. since 1924.

Henry S. Caulfield Governor of Missouri 1929–33. b. Dec. 9, 1873 at St. Louis, Mo. Graduate of Washington Univ. 1895. Began law practice in St. Louis in 1895. Member of the 60th Congress from 11th district (1907–09) and judge of St. Louis court of appeals 1910–12. Raised May 9, 1922 in Tuscan Lodge No. 360, St. Louis, Mo.

Peter F. Causey Former Governor of Delaware. Member of Temple Lodge No. 9 at Milford and at one time was junior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of Delaware.

Anthony Cavalcante U.S. Congressman, 81st Congress (1949–51) from 23rd Pa. district. b. Feb. 6, 1897 at Vanderbilt, Pa. Graduate of Dickinson College and admitted to bar in 1924. Member of Pennsylvania state senate, 1935–43. Chief counsel for United Mine Workers of America, Dist. 4. Served overseas with 110th Inf., 28th Div. in WW1. Mason. Member of Order of Sons of Italy.

Peter A. Cavicchia U.S. Congressman 72nd–74th Congresses (1931–37) from New Jersey. b. May 22, 1879 in Italy and brought to U.S. at age of nine. Graduate of American International Coll. Began law practice at Newark, N.J. Mason. Past grand master of N.J. for Order Sons of Italy.

Duque de Caxias (Luiz Alves de Lima e Silva) (1803–1880) Brazilian general and statesman. b. in Rio de Janeiro. He was commander in chief of the Brazilian army in war against Argentina in 1851–52 and as marshal in 1862 commanded forces in successful war against Paraguay. Made duke by Dom Pedro I and was prime minister in 1850, 1856–57, 1861–62 and 1875–78. Mason.

Roland B. Caywood (1890–1952) President of H. D. Lee Co., wholesale grocers. b. Aug. 24, 1890 at New Hartford, Iowa. Was with H. D. Lee Company, Kansas City, Mo. from 1910; vice president and general manager from 1935. Mason. d. Jan. 7, 1952.

Elford A. Cederberg U.S. Congressman 83rd and 84th Congresses from 10th Michigan dist. b. March 6, 1918 at Bay City, Mich. Manager of Nelson Mfg. Co., Bay City, 1946–52. Mayor of Bay City 1949–53. Served in WW2 as Infantry major and was in Normandy invasion. Mason.

Charles F. Cellarius Architect. b. July 28, 1891 at Dayton, Ohio. Graduate of Yale and M.I.T. An architect since 1921. At Berea College, Ky. he designed the library, Draper, and Art buildings; dormitories at Miami Univ.; Norwood, Ohio Masonic Temple; Eastern Hills Y.M.C.A. and Bond Hill school at Cincinnati; and was supervising architect for model town of Mariemont, Ohio. Served as Infantry lieutenant in WW1. Raised in Norwood Lodge No. 576, Norwood, Ohio, about 1916 and also member of Trinity Commandery No. 193, K.T. of that city. 32° AASR (NJ) at Cincinnati and member of Syrian Shrine Temple, Cincinnati.

Miguel Juarez Celman (1844–1902) President of the Argentine Republic from 1886–90. A “get-rich-quick” fever, accompanied with unrestrained speculation on the stock market and corrupt public administration led to an unsuccessful revolt in 1890. It was led by L. N. Alem (who became grand master). In spite of the failure of the revolt, Celman was forced to resign. He was succeeded in office by Pellegrini q.v. another Mason.

Anton J. Cermak (1873–1933) Mayor of Chicago, Ill. 1931–33. b. May 9, 1873 in Prague, Bohemia and came to U.S. with parents in 1874. Engaged in coal mining in Illinois until 1892 and in coal and wood business in Chicago until 1908. Organized partnership of Cermak & Serhant, real estate in 1908. Member of the 43rd to 46th general assemblies of Illinois. He was fatally wounded on Feb. 15, 1933 in Miami, Fla. by a bullet intended for President F. D. Roosevelt and died March 6. He was a member of Lawndale Lodge No. 995, Chicago, Columbia Commandery, K.T., Chicago, the Shrine and Grotto.

Joseph Cerneau French jeweler who founded spurious rite in competition with Scottish Rite, known as “Cerneauism.” b. in Villeblevin, Yonne, a department of central France. He was probably a member of a French lodge, but migrated to the West Indies and became a member of Lodge Reunion des Coeurs at Port-au-Prince, Santo Domingo and in 1802 was junior grand warden of the provincial grand lodge for the Island of St. Domingo. In 1804 the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania granted dispensation for a new lodge in Havana, Cuba named Le Temple des Vertus Theologalis No. 103. Joseph Cerneau was its first master. In 1807 his lodge in Cuba expelled him and on petition to the governor of Cuba, he was expelled from the island, coming to New York City about 1807 where he was proposed in Washington Lodge No. 21 on Jan. 2, 1810 and elected Jan. 16, 1810. His son, Augustus

T. Cerneau joined the same lodge by affiliation Jan. 20, 1824. In New York he founded his spurious Sovereign Grand Consistory of Supreme Chiefs of Exalted Masonry, According to the Ancient Constitutional Scottish Rite of Heredom in 1807 and it continued until 1827. In 1823 it was presided over by none other than De Witt Clinton, governor of New York and grand master of the grand lodge. He also established a separate degree called Aaron's Band which worked as a separate body, but in 1825 the grand chapter, R.A.M. stopped it as an infringement on its degrees. Cerneau was also a member of the York Rite and in April, 1814 he is recorded as having visited Jerusalem Chapter No. 8, N.Y.C. and acted as senior warden. The New York Grand Encampment Constitution of 1820 lists him as a past officer of the Grand Encampment of New York. His rite spread to Puerto Rico and other states. He subsequently fell into disrepute and he left for France in December, 1827, where he died between the years 1840 and 1845 in comparative poverty.

Cenon S. Cervantes Philippine patriot and past grand master of the Grand Lodge of the Philippines (1951). b. March 29, 1903 at Davao City. During WW2 he received worldwide attention by concealing $1,720,000 in Philippine and American funds during the Japanese occupation and returning it to the reorganized government after liberation. He also served as an under-cover man for Col. Macario Peralta in Panay, risking his life on a number of occasions in the transmission of reports on enemy movements. He was made a Freemason in Pangasian Lodge No. 56 in 1933. He has been a bank manager for many years and is technical assistant to the president of the Philippine National Bank.

S. F. Chadwick Former Governor of Oregon. Past master of Laurel Lodge No. 13, Roseburg, Oregon.

Chaillou (de Joinville) Prominent French Freemason of the middle 18th century. Played a large part in the schisms that developed in that period. He was an active member of the Council of Emperors of the East and West, or Rite of Perfection, and signed the patent of Stephen Morin q.v., authorizing him to extend the order in America, which was the first step that subsequently led to the establishment of the Scottish Rite in the United States. In 1762 the Prince of Clermont, grand master of the Grand Lodge of France removed Locorne as his substitute general and put de Joinville in his place. This action created a schism in the grand lodge, but de Joinville eventually became as notorious as his predecessor by issuing irregular charters and deputations. On the death of Clermont in 1771, de Joinville, himself, seems to disappear from the field of French Freemasonry and Masonic intrigues.

Thomas Chalmers Scottish theologian and philosopher. Initiated in Lodge St. Vigean No. 101, Arbroath, Scotland April 26, 1800.

Frank Chamberlain (1826–1910) Brigadier General of U.S. Army. b. Dec. 1826 at Romulus, N.Y. Studied law under Gov. William H. Seward, but did not enter the profession. Engaged in grain and milling business in Seneca Falls and Albany, N.Y. In Civil War he was Commissary General. Mason. d. 1910.

George E. Chamberlain (1854–1928) U.S. Senator and Governor of Oregon. b. Jan. 1, 1854 at Natchez, Miss. Graduate of Washington and Lee Univ., 1876. Went to Oregon in 1879, serving in the house of representatives, district attorney, attorney general and elected governor (11th) for terms 1903–11, but resigned in 1909 on election as U.S. Senator for term 1909–15 and reelected from 1915–21. Member of U.S. Shipping Board, 1921–23. Past master of St. John's Lodge No. 62, Albany, Ore. and representative of Grand Lodge of England near Oregon. d. July 9, 1928. Was grand highpriest, Royal Arch Masons of Oregon in 1892.

Joshua L. Chamberlain (1828–1914) Major General, Union forces, Civil War and Governor of Maine. b. Sept. 8, 1828 at Brewer, Me. Awarded Congressional Medal of Honor for "Daring heroism, holding position Little Round Top and carrying Great Round Top in Battle of Gettysburg on July 3, 1863. Three times wounded. Governor of Maine from 1866 to 1871. Was professor of rhetoric, oratory and modern languages of Bowdoin College and president of that institution from 1871–83. Member of United Lodge No. 8, Brunswick, Maine. d. Feb. 24, 1914.

Richard H. Chambers Federal Judge. b. Nov. 7, 1906 at Danville, Ill. Admitted to Arizona bar in 1932 and practiced at Tucson. Judge of circuit court of appeals 9th circuit from 1954. Served as major in USAAF, 1942–45. Mason.

Alexander W. Chambliss (1864–1947) Chief Justice Supreme Court of Tennessee. b. Sept. 10, 1864 at Greenville, S.C. Admitted to Virginia bar in 1884 and began practice at Chattanooga, Tenn. in 1866. Vice president of Provident Life & Accident Ins. Co.; member of Tenn. state senate, mayor of Chattanooga and judge of state court of civil appeals. Apointed justice of state supreme court in 1923, elected to same in 1924 and chief justice from 1947. Mason. d. Sept. 30, 1947.

Sebastian Roch Nicholas Chamfort (1741–1794) French writer, scholar and wit. At outbreak of Revolution he joined the Jacobins and took part in the storming of the Bastille. He bitterly attacked the National Convention and mortally wounded himself when about to be arrested by order of that body. He is best known for his Maximes, published posthumously, but was also the author of comedies, literary criticisms, letters and verse. The bulletin of the International Masonic Congress of 1917 lists him as a Freemason.

Adelbert von Chamisso (1781–1838) German romantic writer and naturalist. Born in Champagne, France but his family was forced to flee by the Revolution. Served in Prussian army from 1798 to 1807. In 1815–18 he made a scientific voyage around the world. He was curator of the Berlin botanical gardens in 1818. He wrote much, but is best known by the prose tale, Peter Schlemihls Wunderbare Geschichie (1814), the humorous story of a man who sold his shadow. The International Masonic Congress bulletin of 1917 lists him as a Freemason.

John W. Champlin (1831–1901) Judge, Supreme Court of Michigan from 1884–91. b. Feb. 17, 1831 at Kingston, N.Y. Moved to Grand Rapids, Mich. in 1854 and admitted to bar following year. Mayor of Grand Rapids in 1867. Professor of law at Univ. of Michigan from 1892–96. Served as grand master of the Grand Lodge of Michigan. d. 1901.

Albert B. “Happy” Chandler Governor of Kentucky and former baseball commissioner. b. July 14, 1898 at Corydon, Ky. Graduate of Transylvania College and Univ. of Kentucky. Began practice of law at Versailles, Ky. in 1924. Served in state senate and as lieutenant governor, being elected governor 1935–39, but resigned in 1939 when appointed U.S. Senator to fill vacancy of Logan. He was reelected in 1940 and again in 1942. In 1945 he was elected high commissioner of baseball and served until 1951. Member of Landmark Lodge No. 41, Versailles, Ky. being raised Feb. 4, 1924. He is also an honorary member of Monitor Lodge No. 528, New York City. Also a member of Webb Chapter No. 6 (Sept. 14, 1931) and Versailles Commandery No. 3, K.T. (Nov. 19, 1931) both of Versailles, Ky.; 32° AASR (SJ) in Valley of Louisville as well as Oleka Shrine Temple in Lexington. Member of board of state Shrine Hospital.

Bert D. Chandler (1874–1947) Justice, Supreme Court of Michigan. b. March 19, 1874 in Lenawee Co., Mich. Admitted to Michigan bar in 1895. Was circuit judge in 1914 and elected associate justice, Michigan supreme court in 1936. Mason. d. Dec. 13, 1947.

Harry Chandler (1864–1944) Publisher of Los Angeles Times and real estate speculator. b. May 17, 1864 at Landaff, N.H. Began as clerk in circulation dept. of Los Angeles Times and became chairman of the board of Times–Mirror Co. In 1899 organized syndicate that purchased 862,000 acres in Lower Calif. and president of Calif.–Mexico Land & Cattle Co. In 1909 he purchased 47,000 acres of land adjoining Los Angeles and sold entire area for homes in seven years. In 1912 he organized a syndicate that purchased the Tejon Ranch of 281,000 acres in Los Angeles and Kern counties, and in 1927 he helped organize the Vermejo Club and purchased the Bartlett ranch in Colorado, famous for its 340,000 acres as a sportsman's paradise. Mason, 33° AASR and Shriner. d. Sept. 23, 1944.

John Chandler (1760–1841) U.S. Senator from Maine (1820–29) and Brigadier General in War of 1812. b. in Epping, N. Hamp. He was a blacksmith who gained much wealth. Member of Congress from 1805–08. In War of 1812 he was wounded and made prisoner at battle of Stoney Creek, Upper Canada. He was collector of Portland, 1829–37, trustee of Bowdoin college and sheriff of Kennebec Co. His lodge membership is not known, but he attended a session of the Grand Lodge of Maine in 1820. d. Sept. 25, 1841.

Joseph R. Chandler (1792 –1880) Journalist and member of U.S. Congress (1848–55). b. Aug. 25, 1792 in Kingston, Mass. Moved to Philadelphia, Pa. in 1815 where he and his wife opened a private school. In 1822 he took over the United States Gazette, and developed it into a prominent Whig journal. r Buchanan appointed him U.S. Minister to Sicily in 1858. Raised in Columbia Lodge, Boston, Mass., on Oct. 28, 1813 and later became member of Phoenix Lodge No. 130, Philadelphia and Columbia Mark Lodge of same city. He served as high priest of Harmony Chapter No. 52, Philadelphia, and served as grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of Pennsylvania five years (1836–40). He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania two terms, 1841–42.

Paul G. Chandler President of Clarion (Pa.) State Teachers College since 1937. b. Nov. 7, 1889 at Princeton, Ky. Graduate of Kentucky Wesleyan and Columbia. Began as a rural teacher in 1908. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Stephen S. Chandler U.S. Judge, western district of Oklahoma since 1943. b. Sept. 13, 1899 at Blount Co., Tenn. Graduate Univ. of Kansas 1922. Practiced law in Oklahoma City 1922–43. Mason, Shriner.

Zachariah Chandler (1813–1879) U.S. Senator from Michigan and Secretary of Interior under Grant. b. Dec. 10, 1813 in Bedford, N.H. Moved to Detroit, Mich. in 1833, where he engaged in dry goods business and became mayor of Detroit in 1851. Elected to U.S. Senate in 1857 to succeed General Lewis Cass q.v., serving until 1875 and again in 1879. He was outspoken for Republicanism, Lincoln and the Union. Grant named him as secretary of Interior in his second cabinet and he served from 1875–77. He was raised in Detroit Lodge No. 2, Detroit, Mich. on July 7, 1857. d. Nov. 1, 1879.

Henry, 2nd Duke of Chandos As Marquess of Carnarvon, he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of England (Moderns) in 1738.

James, 3rd Duke of Chandos As Marquis of Carnarvon, he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of England (Moderns) from March, 1754 to May 1757.

George Channing (1888–?) Editor of Christian Science Journal, Sentinel and Herald since 1949. First reader, mother church, Boston, Mass., 1941–42. b. Nov. 21, 1888 at Providence, R.I. Studied at Brown, Yale and Boston Univ. Began journalistic work on Providence (R.I.) Journal 1913. Was city editor of Seattle Star, 1921–23. Mason, 32° AASR. Deceased.

Albert K. Chapman President of Eastman Kodak Co. since 1952. b. May 31, 1890 at Marysville, Ohio. A.B. and A.M. from Ohio State Univ. and Ph.D. from Princeton. With Eastman since 1919 as head of development dept., assistant to vice president, production manager, vice president and assistant general manager. Director of Eastman since 1943. Served in WW1 with Army Ordnance. Mason.

Arthur Chapman Justice, Supreme Court of Maine 1925–42. b. Aug. 6, 1873 at Portland, Me. Admitted to Maine bar in 1900. Was assistant U.S. attorney 1905–16 and U.S. commissioner 1917–25. Justice of supreme judiciary court of Maine 1942–45 and active retired justice since 1946. Mason.

Roy H. Chapman (1885–1952) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Florida. b. July 15, 1885 at Lake Butler, Fla. Graduate of Florida and John B. Stetson Universities. Admitted to bar and began practice in Lake City. On supreme court of Florida and chief justice from 1945. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner. d. Aug. 9, 1952.

Virgil M. Chapman U.S. Congressman from Kentucky to 69th, 70th, 72nd, 73rd and 74th to 80th Congresses. b. March 15, 1895 in Simpson Co., Ky. Graduate of Univ. of Kentucky. Admitted to bar in 1917 and practiced at Irvine, Ky. Mason, York Rite and Scottish Rite as well as Shrine.

Ellwood B. Chappell Justice, Supreme Court of Nebraska since 1943. b. May 4, 1889 at Osmond, Nebr. Graduate of Univ. of Nebraska and admitted to bar in 1916, practicing in Lincoln. Served as municipal judge, district judge. Mason and 32° AASR.

Sidney L. Chappel Brigadier General, U.S. Army Medical Corps. b. July 22, 1886 at Washington, D.C. Received M.D. degree from George Washington Univ. in 1909. Entered Medical Corps as 1st lieutenant in 1913 and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1945, retiring in 1946. Raised in Watertown Lodge No. 49, Watertown, N.Y. in 1918 and joined Wm. R. Singleton Lodge No. 30, Washington, D.C.

Charlemagne, Charles, King of France (742–814) A number of Masonic writers have claimed him as a “patron of Freemasonry,” inasmuch as he encouraged the arts and invited the traveling Freemasons to come to France and construct importing buildings. He ascended the throne in 768, ruling until his death; first as King of the Franks and later as Emperor of the West. His benefaction was obviously to operative masons and not the speculative craft which grew out of it.

Charles XIII, King of Sweden (1748–1818) Second son of Adolphus Frederick and younger brother of Gustavus III. Commanded Swedish fleet against Russia in 1788–90. Last of the Holstein–Gottorp dynasty, his reign lasting from 1809 to 1818. As Duke of Sodermanland, he was made regent after the assassination of Gustavus III (his brother) and again regent on the deposition of Gustavus IV (his nephew). As king, he signed a new constitution restoring limited monarchy. Compelled by peace with Russia in 1809 to give up Finland. During reign, Norway united with Sweden (1814) and much material progress was made. As duke of Sodermanland (or Sundermania) in 1778, he became grand master of the VII Province. In 1780 King Gustavus III became interested in the fraternity and through his instigation the IX Province of the Rite of Strict Observance was created in Sweden. The Duke of Sodermanland was named as grand master and “Vicarius Salomonis” of the rite in that year. In 1777, becoming dissatisfied with the rite, he ordered all rituals returned and from 1778 to 1780 he personally rewrote and revised them. They can be seen today in his own handwriting. After his ascension to the throne, he instituted the 11th Degree of the Swedish Rite—the Civil Order of Charles XIII, of highly restricted membership (1811). Since his reign, each King of Sweden has been either grand master or “protector” of the Craft in Sweden.

Charles XIV John, King of Sweden and Norway (1764–1855). b. at Pau, France, he entered the army in 1780 and served in the French Revolution. In diplomatic service for Napoleon from 1798–99, he rose from ranks to become one of Napoleon’s marshals in 1804. His original name was Jean Baptiste Jules Bernadotte. He was named Prince of Pontecorvo in 1805. Named Crown Prince of Sweden in 1810 and in 1818 succeeded Charles as King of Sweden and Norway, thereby establishing the Bernadotte line. He allied himself with Czar Alexander of Russia in 1812 and the following year commanded an allied army against Napoleon, aiding in winning the battle of Leipzig. His reign was peaceful and profitable to both kingdoms, although he was criticized at times for ultraconservative views. Since the time of Charles XIII (Bernadotte’s predecessor) each King has been Grand Master or “Protector” of Freemasonry. Bernadotte assumed the grandmastership in 1811.

Charles XV, King of Sweden (1826–1872) King of Sweden and Norway from 1859–72. Son of Oscar I. He instituted legal reforms in 1865, especially of the estates, and promulgated the decree of 1866 by which a two-chamber parliament (one electoral) was established. He was popular in both kingdoms and was a writer, poet and artist of ability. His family name was John Charles Bernadotte. He was grand master of Sweden and a 33° AASR.

Charles Martel (689?–741) Grandfather of Charlemagne, who was the founder of the Carolingian dynasty. Martel governed France from 720–741 as Duke of the Franks, with the nominal kings being only puppets. Legend only, states that he was a patron of the Freemasons and gave them charters from “yeare to yeare” and “sent many workmen and Masters into England.”

William B. Charles (1862–1950) Congressman from 30th N.Y. dist. to 30th Congress (1915–17). b. April 3, 1862 at Glasgow, Scotland and came to U.S. in 1884. Dealer in cotton and mill supplies. Mason. d. Nov. 25, 1950.

Joseph Charless Catholic and Freemason who published the first newspaper west of the Mississippi. Born in Ireland, he was implicated in the Irish Rebellion of 1795 when but 23. He fled to France and then to New York, arriving in 1796. Next he found employment in Philadelphia as a printer on the Aurora, being published by William Duane. In 1800 he moved to Lexington, Ky. where he established a newspaper, and in 1806 he was in Louisville. On July 12, 1808 the first issue of The Missouri Gazette appeared on the streets of St. Louis with Charless as its editor. He changed the name of the paper in November, 1809 to Louisiana Gazette, and back to its original name in 1812. He also printed the first book published in the Territory of Louisiana, The Laws of the Territory of Louisiana. His Masonic history is somewhat obscure. He was a member of Missouri No. 111, and later of Missouri No. 12. He was in the lodge limelight on several occasions, and as a result of one such experience, was indefinitely suspended on Feb. 2, 1824. He was also one of the organizers of the “Erin Benevolent Society” in 1818, which strangely enough met at the home of Brother Jeremiah Connor with Brother Thomas Brady of Missouri No. 12 as chairman. Brothers Arthur Magenis, Hugh O'Neill and Robert Ranken also participated in the organization. b. 1772.

Earle P. Charlton (1863–1930) One of the founders of F. W. Woolworth Co. in 1912, at which time he was operating 54 stores. b. June 19, 1863 at Chester, Conn. Began in 5 & 10 cent business at age of 17. He separated from his partner in 1895, dividing the stores; he then organized the E. P. Charlton Co. He pioneered 5 & 10 stores west of the Rocky Mountains and in Canada. He built Charlton Mills in Fall River, Mass. in 1909 and was its president. He was also vice president of F. W. Woolworth Co. Mason. d. Nov. 20, 1930.

Francis Charteris Sixth Earl of Wemyss. Was grand master of Scotland in 1747. Another Francis Charteris, afterwards Lord Elcho, was deputy grand master of Scotland in 1786–87.

Louis Philippe Joseph, Duc de Chartres (1747–1793) Was Duc de Montpensier from his birth until 1752, when he became Duc de Chartres; in 1785, on the death of his father, he inherited title of Due d'Orleans. A reformer with liberal views, he was a friend of the common people. He advocated the cause of the American colonies and aided French revolutionists in 1789. He incurred the enmity of Louis XVI and the queen and was sent abroad by Louis, but returned in 1790 to work with Mirabeau and Danton against him. He renounced his title and became Citizen PhilippeEgalite (Equality). In 1793 his estates were confiscated by the Jacobins and he was imprisoned at Marseilles and sentenced to death by the Revolutionary tribunal at Paris and guillotined. He was grand master of the Grand Orient of France in 1771, but failed to apply himself to the office. His wife, the Duchess of Chartres q.v., was prominent in French Adoptive Masonry. Their son, Louis Philippe became King of France (1830–48).

Duchess of Chartres (Louise Marie Adelaide de Bourbon-Penthievre) (1753–1821) Wife of Louis Philippe Joseph, Duc de Chartres q.v. who was grand master of the Grand Orient of France in 1771. She was an early member of French Adoptive Freemasonry and was present at the fete d' adoption given by the Lodge of Candour (a regular lodge under the Grand Orient of France) when the Duchess of Bourbon q.v. was installed as first grand mistress of French Adoptive Freemasonry. Her husband presided over the occasion attended by 1,000 of the French elite, as grand master.

Benjamin F. Chase (1869–1925) U.S. Consul. b. Feb. 1, 1869. Graduate of law at Univ. of Michigan in 1891 and practiced in Clearfield, Pa. U.S. Consul at Catania, Italy, 1905–07; Leeds, England, 1909–13; Leghorn, Italy, 1913–14; Fiume, Hungary, 1914–16; San Jose, Costa Rica, 1916–20; Trondhjem, Norway and Messina, Italy. Mason. d. Nov. 23, 1925.

Carlton Chase (1794–1870) Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. Feb. 20, 1794 at Hopkinton, N.H. Graduated from Dartmouth in 1817 and was ordained deacon in 1818, priest in 1820. Served in Bellows Falls, Vt. for 24 years and consecrated first bishop of N.H. in Philadelphia on Oct. 20, 1844, after which he moved to Claremont, N.H. Mason. d. Jan. 18, 1870.

Charles “Charlie” Chase (1893–1940) Movie comedian of the silent films famous for his “Charlie Chase Comedies.” Member of Henry S. Orme Lodge No. 458, Los Angeles, Calif.

Dudley Chase (1771–1846) U.S. Senator from Vermont and Chief Justice of Supreme Court of Vermont b. Dec. 30, 1771 in Cornish, N.H. Graduated from Dartmouth in 1791 and admitted to bar in 1793. Member of state constitutional conventions of 1814 and 1822 and state legislature from 1805–12, serving as speaker his last four years. U.S. senator from Vermont 1813–17 and 1825–31. From 1817–21 he was chief justice of the Vermont supreme court. Retired in 1831 to farm. Served as master of Federal Lodge No. 15, Brookfield, Vt. d. Feb. 23, 1846.

George W. Chase Masonic author who in 1864 published The Freemason’s Pocket Library, composed of a working monitor for the degrees in lodge, chapter, council and commandery; a Masonic dictionary and a manual of Masonic law.

Harrie B. Chase Judge. b. Aug. 9, 1889 at Whitingham, Vt. Admitted to Vermont bar in 1912 and practiced at Brattleboro. Judge of superior court of Vermont 1919–27 and chief judge his last two years. Associate justice supreme court of Vermont from 1927–29 and judge of U.S. circuit court of appeals since 1929. Mason.

Norman S. Chase Former Governor of Rhode Island. Received his degrees in Corinthian Lodge No. 27 at Providence, R.I. in 1917.

Philander Chase (1775–1852) Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Ohio and later Illinois. b. Dec. 14, 1775 at Cornish, N.H., he graduated from Dartmouth in 1795. Ordained deacon in 1798 and priest in 1799, he first served in western New York and then in New Orleans, La. He returned to Hartford, Conn. in 1811, and feeling the urge to establish his church in the west, he moved to Ohio in 1817. On a trip to England he raised $30,000 with which he purchased 8,000 acres of land and laid the foundations of a college and theological seminary, naming them after two English contributors—Kenyon and Gambier. He was ordained bishop of Ohio Feb. 11, 1819. When difficulties arose over the handling of the funds, he resigned and moved to Michigan, doing missionary duty. He again visited England and obtained $10,000 for educational work and he founded Jubilee college in 1838 at Robin's Nest, Ill. He was chosen bishop of Illinois in 1835 and served until his death. He received his third degree at the hands of Thomas Smith Webb q.v. in Temple Lodge No. 14, Albany, N.Y. Webb also exalted him to the Royal Arch in Worthington, Ohio on Oct. 26, 1818. His name appears in the proceedings of the Grand Chapter of Ohio in 1818 as a member of Horeb Chapter No. 3. d. Sept. 20, 1852.

Benedict Chastanier French surgeon, who introduced a modification of the Rite of Pernetty, in nine degrees, into England in 1767. He established a London lodge called Illuminated Theosophis. It soon abandoned its Masonic form and became a theosophic sect intended to propagate the religious system of Swedenborg.

Fennimore Chatterton Former Governor of Wyoming. Member of Rawlins Lodge No. 5, Rawlins, Wyo. and past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Wyoming.

Louis W. Chaudet Movie director and actor. He organized the "233 Club" a Masonic ritualistic group composed of Hollywood actors that sought to bring out character delineations in the ritual. Organized in 1926, many famous movie stars were on the teams. Chaudet directed more than 150 feature films and was raised in Kaskaska Lodge No. 86, Evansville, Ill.

Isaac Chauncey (1772–1840) American naval hero of War of 1812. b. Feb. 20, 1772 at Black Rock, Conn. He entered merchant service at an early age and commanded a ship at 19, making several voyages to the East Indies in the ships of John Jacob Astor q.v. On the organization of the navy he was made a lieutenant in 1798 and distinguished himself in several actions off Tripoli. He became captain in 1806. When the War of 1812 broke out he was in command of the Navy yard at New York and was given command of all the lakes except Champlain. He built and equipped with unequalled rapidity a number of ships including the Mohawk, a 42-gun frigate which was launched in 34 days after her keel was laid and the corvette Madison, launched in nine weeks after the first tree of her frame was cut from the forest. He aided in the capture of York (now Toronto) and Fort George, and put to flight the British fleet under Sir James Yeo. He later served on the board of navy commissioners at Washington from 1833 until his death. He was a member of Independent Royal Arch Lodge No. 2, New York City in 1796 and was later suspended. d. Jan. 27, 1840.

Robert S. Cheek Corporation executive. b. Jan. 14, 1878 at Burkesville, Ky. With father, in 1900, he engaged in coffee business which was sold to Postum Co. and later was absorbed by General Foods Corp. Member of board of directors of General Foods; director of National Life and Accident Insurance Co., Nashville Trust Co.; trustee of Vanderbilt Univ. Mason and 32° AASR (SJ).

Frank L. Chelf Congressman 79th and 80th Congresses (1945–49) from 4th Kentucky dist. b. Sept. 22, 1907 at Elizabethtown, Ky. Admitted to bar in 1931 and since practiced at Lebanon. Served with Navy and Air Corps as major in WW2. Raised in Lebanon Lodge No. 87, Lebanon, Ky. in 1937. Member of chapter, council and commandery at Lebanon, serving as commander of Marion Commandery No. 24, K.T. in 1945. Chelf states that he believes he is the only former member of a “Masonic Home” (orphanage) that was ever elected to Congress.

1st Viscount of Chelmsford (Frederic John Napier) (1868–1933) Governor of Queensland from 1905–09 and of New South Wales 1909–13 at which time he was also grand master of the United Grand Lodge of New South Wales. As Viceroy of India from 1916–21, he formulated a system of reforms which were rejected by the followers of Gandhi. He was first lord of admiralty in the Labor ministry of 1924 and agent-general for New South Wales from 1926–28.

Edward S. Chenette Composer and director. Has composed over 300 pieces for band, orchestra and voice. Was band and orchestra director at age of 17. He enlisted with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces in 1916 and conducted the “American Band,” also known as the “Concert Band,” of the Canadian Army. Later was director of music at Iowa State College; led Chicago Regimental Band and Illinois State Legion Band. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

Jerome L. Cheney (1863–1932) Justice Supreme Court of New York, 1921–32. b. June 18, 1863 at Baldwinsville, N.Y. Admitted to N.Y. bar in 1884. Raised in Central City Lodge No. 305, Syracuse, in 1900 and served as master in 1906. Knighted in Central City Commandery No. 25, K.T. in 1902, Syracuse. Received 33° AASR in 1911 and in 1915 became active member of Supreme Council (NJ). Exalted in Central City Chapter No. 70, R.A.M. in 1901. d. Nov. 29, 1932.

Person C. Cheney Governor of New Hampshire 1875–77. Raised in Altemont Lodge, No. 26, Peterborough, N.H., March 19, 1853 and served as master in 1862.

Claire L. Chennault Air Force Major General famous for his “Flying Tigers” in WW2. b. Sept. 6, 1890 at Commerce, Texas. Commissioned 1st lieutenant of Infantry in 1917 and transferred to aviation section of Signal Corps. Retired from Army in 1937 to become advisor to Chiang Kai-shek q.v. until 1941 when he was recalled to active duty and promoted to brigadier general in 1942. He activated the 14th Air Force and commanded it from 1943–45. Was made major general in 1943 and retired again in 1945 to organize the CNRRA Air Transport, now Civil Air Transport, of which he became president in 1948. Bro. Chennault writes "You will note that my Masonic affiliations are widely scattered—Texas to China to California. This is particularly unfortunate since I now divide my time between Louisiana and Formosa—Free China." Member of League City Lodge No. 1053, League City, Texas. 32° AASR Orient of China at Shanghi (in exile) and member of Islam Shrine Temple, San Francisco, Calif. d. July 27, 1958.

J. Edgar Chenoweth Congressman from 3rd Colorado dist. to 77th to 80th Congresses (1941–49). b. Aug. 17, 1897 at Trinidad, Colo. Admitted to Colorado bar in 1925, and began practice at Trinidad. Member of Trinidad Lodge No. 89, Trinidad, Colo., being raised in 1922. 32° AASR (SJ).

Ernest H. Cherrington (1877–1950) Editor and temperance leader. b. Nov. 24, 1877 at Hamden, Ohio. Edited Kingston (Ohio) Tribune in 1900 and became active in Ohio Anti-Saloon League in 1902. Edited The Pacific Issue (Washington), The Citizen (Seattle) and The American Issue from 1909; The American Patriot and The Voice from 1936 as well as others. He was general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism; U.S. delegate to 13th, 14th, 16th, 17th International Congresses on Alcoholism, meeting throughout the world, and secretary of the 15th congress that met in Washington, D.C. A lay delegate to the general conference of the Methodist church eight times. Mason, 33° AASR, Knight Templar. d. Mar. 13, 1950.

Francis A. Cherry Governor of Arkansas, 1953–55. b. Sept. 5, 1908 at Fort Smith, Ark. Admitted to Arkansas bar in 1936 and practiced law at Jonesboro until 1942 when elected district judge of the 12th circuit. Raised in Jonesboro Lodge No. 129, Jonesboro, Ark. in 1944. Member of Union Chapter No. 2, R.A.M.; Occidental Council No. 1 and Hugh de Payens Commandery No. 1, all of Little Rock. 32° AASR in Valley of Little Rock; Sahara Shrine Temple at Pine Bluff, Ark. and member of O.E.S. and Amaranth.

James W. Cherry (1872–1949) Justice, Supreme Court of Utah 1923–32 and grand master of the Grand Lodge of Utah in 1914. b. Apr. 5, 1872 in Hancock Co., Ill. Admitted to Utah bar in 1893 and practiced successively at Salt Lake City, Manti, La Grande, Oreg., and Mt. Pleasant, Utah. He was a member of Damascus Lodge No. 10, Mt. Pleasant, serving as master in 1909. Received his Scottish Rite degrees in Valley of Salt Lake in April, 1918. d. March 23, 1949.

Robert Gregg Cherry Governor of North Carolina 1945–49. b. Oct. 17, 1891 in York Co., N.C. Graduate of Duke Univ. in 1914, and admitted to bar same year. Has engaged in practice at Gastonia, serving as mayor from 1919–23. Served as state representative, speaker of the house and state senator. Served in 30th Div. overseas in WW1. State commander of American Legion in 1928. Mason and Knight Templar. Raised in Gastonia Lodge No. 369 on July 23, 1915.

Philip, 4th Earl of Chesterfield (Philip Dormer Stanhope) (1694–1733) English statesman and man of letters who was intimate with the great men of his day such as Voltaire q.v., Pope, Swift and Dr. Johnson q.v. Effective orator in House of Lords, he was a Whig M.P., ambassador to the Hague (twice); lord high steward. As lord lieutenant of Ireland (1745–46) he established schools, encouraged manufacturers and conciliated Orangemen and Catholics. He was raised in Lodge No. 4, one of the “old lodges” established in 1717, that met in Horn Tavern. He was active in Masonic work and was once asked to preside in the Grand East, but was unable to do so because of an impending foreign assignment.

Augustus L. Chetlain (1824–?) Major General, Union army, Civil War. b. Dec. 26, 1824 at St. Louis, Mo. of French Huguenot stock. He became a merchant in Galena, Ill. and early volunteered for service in the Civil War. He was chosen captain of a company which General Grant (then captain) and declined. In December, 1863 he was promoted brig. general. Participated in Smith’s campaign on Tennessee river to Fort Henry, and led his regiment at Fort Donelson, Shiloh and Corinth. Brevetted major general in 1864 for raising a force of 17,000 men. He commanded the post of Memphis and then Talladega, Ala., and was mustered out on Feb. 5, 1866. In 1867–69 he was assessor of internal revenue for Utah and U.S. consul at Brussels, Belgium until 1872 when he established himself in Chicago as a banker and stockbroker. Lodge is not known but he was exalted in Washington Chapter No. 43, R.A.M. Chicago, Ill. on Sept. 11, 1885.

Ng Poon Chew (1866–1931) Established the first Chinese daily paper in America in 1899. b. Mar. 14, 1866 at Sun Ning, Canton Province, China. Educated in Occidental School, San Francisco and San Francisco Theological Seminary. Was placed in training for Taoist priesthood, but was converted to Christianity and entered ministry in San Francisco. He resigned from ministry in 1899 and established the Chung Sai Yat Po daily newspaper, of which he was managing editor until his death on Mar. 13, 1931. He was vice consul of China at San Francisco from 1913. Mason.

Chiang Kai-shek Although some sources state that this famous Chinese Nationalist leader is a member of “Pagoda Lodge” under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Mass., the grand secretary of Massachusetts does not have any record of his membership.

Henry Chicheley Archbishop of Canterbury (1364–1443) English prelate and diplomat, who according to William Preston in his Illustrations of Masonry, gave permission for a lodge to be held in the year 1429 at Canterbury under his patronage with Thomas Stapylton as master. Tradition states that Chicheley was grand master of English Masons until 1443.

Jonas Chickering (1797–1853) Piano inventor and manufacturer. b. April 5, 1797 at New Ipswich, N.H. Son of a blacksmith, he learned the trade of cabinet making, and became a workman in a Boston piano manufactory. He went into business for himself in 1823 and later in partnership with John Mackay in 1830. Mackay was a shipmaster and they imported fine woods for piano cases. When Mackay was drowned at sea in 1841, Chickering carried on alone. He received a number of patents on piano construction and improvements. He was initiated in St. Andrews Lodge, Boston, Mass. in 1821; was a member of St. Andrews Chapter, R.A.M. and DeMolay Commandery, K.T. as well as 32° AASR. d. Dec. 8, 1853.

Merrill Chilcote Managing editor and director of St. Joseph News-Press (Mo.). b. Feb. 23, 1905 at Conway, Iowa. After some time with newspapers in Bedford, Iowa, he came to the News-Press in 1926 and has been editor since 1949. Member of Brotherhood Lodge No. 269, St. Joseph, Mo.

George M. Chilcott (1828–1891) U.S. Senator from Colorado in 1882.

George W. Childs b. Jan. 2, 1828 at Trough Creek, Pa. Moved to Iowa with his family in 1844, serving as sheriff of Jefferson Co. in 1853. Moved to Nebraska in 1856; elected to state legislature in that year. In 1859 he went to Denver, Colo., and in 1860 settled in southern Colorado. He was a member of the constitutional convention of that state and served in the territorial legislature during the first two sessions (1861–62). Served in U.S. congress in 1867–69. He was a member of Pueblo Lodge No. 17, Pueblo, Colo. and affiliated with Golden City Lodge No. 1, Golden City, June 19, 1869. He was knighted in Pueblo Commandery No. 3, K.T. on March 24, 1876. d. Mar. 6, 1891.

George W. Childs (1829–?) Pennsylvania publisher and philanthropist. b. May 12, 1829 in Baltimore, Md. Headed book-printing firm of Childs & Peterson and owned the Public Ledger, Philadelphia newspaper, which was quite prosperous. Childs made liberal use of his wealth for benevolent purposes, including a stained glass window in Westminster Abbey in memory of poets Cowper and Herbert and fountain in Stratford-on-Avon in honor of Shakespeare. Mason. Member of Industry Lodge No. 141, Philadelphia.

Thomas Childs (1796–1853) Brigadier General in Mexican War. b. in Pittsfield, Mass. Graduated from West Point in 1814. Distinguished himself at Fort Erie and Niagara in 1814. Took part in the Seminole Indian War in Florida in 1840–42. In the Mexican War he was at Palo Alto, Resaca de la Palma, Monterey, Vera Cruz, Cerro Gordo, La Hoya and Puebla. Brevetted brigadier general on Oct. 12, 1847 for gallantry at Puebla. He commanded eastern Florida sectors from 1852 until his death Oct. 8, 1853. Member of Alexandria–Washington Lodge No. 22, Alexandria, Va.

William E. Chilton (1858–1939) U.S. Senator from West Virginia, 1911–17. b. March 17, 1858 at St. Albans, W. Va. Began practice of law at Charleston, W. Va. in 1880. Served as secretary of state for West Virginia 1893–97. Mason. d. Nov. 7, 1939.

William P. Chilton (?–1871) Chief Justice of Supreme Court of Alabama. b. in Kentucky, he was at times a member of each house of the Alabama legislature. In 1848 he was elected to the supreme court of Alabama, serving for ten years. Part of this time he was chief justice. During the existence of the Confederate government (1861–65) he was a member of its congress. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Alabama in 1869–70.

Carl R. Chindblom Congressman, 66th to 72nd Congresses (1919–33) from 10th Illinois dist. b. Dec. 21, 1879 at Chicago, Ill. Admitted to Illinois bar in 1900. Master in chancery, circuit court of Cook Co. (Chicago) from 1916–19. Referee in bankruptcy, U.S. district court, northern dist. of Ill., 1934–42. Mason.

Daniel Chipman (1765–1850) Lawyer and author. b. Oct. 22, 1765 at Salisbury, Conn. Graduated at Dartmouth in 1788 and studied law with his brother Nathaniel q.v. at Rutland, Vt. Made a member of the American Academy in 1812. Was in state constitutional conventions of 1793, 1816, 1850, and was often a member of the legislature. U.S. congressman from 1815–17. Published a volume on Seth Warner q.v. and Gen. Thomas Chittenden q.v. and another on his brother, Nathaniel q.v. Mason. d. April 23, 1850.

John Chipman (1744–1829) Revolutionary soldier. b. Oct. 22, 1744 at Salisbury, Conn. He was present at the capture of Fort Ticonderoga, Montreal and St. John. He was captain in the Revolution, participating in the battles of Hubbardton, Bennington and Saratoga. Raised in Union Lodge, Albany, N.Y. prior to Oct., 1779, he was passed and raised in Maters Lodge, Albany on Oct. 19, 1799 and was a charter member of Dorchester Lodge, Vergennes, Vt. and Union Lodge, Middlebury, Vt. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Vermont from 1797–1814 and grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Vermont from 1813–15. d. Aug. 28, 1829.

Nathaniel Chipman (1752–1843) U.S. Senator from Vermont, 1797–1803, 1806–1811. b. Nov. 15, 1752 at Salisbury, Conn., he was a brother of Daniel Chipman q.v. Served as a lieutenant in the Revolutionary War and was at Valley Forge in the winter of 1777; present at battles of Monmouth and White Plains. Served in Vermont legislature; judge of state supreme court in 1786 and chief justice in 1789. In the latter year he was one of the commissioners in behalf of Vermont to adjust differences with New York, and in 1791 to negotiate the admission of Vermont into the Union. George Washington appointed him judge of the U.S. district court of Vermont in 1791; he resigned in 1793, but was appointed chief justice of the supreme court in 1796, and again from 1813–15. In 1826 he revised the laws of Vermont. He was probably raised in a military lodge, but in 1795 he was a member of Center Lodge No. 6, Rutland, Vt. and its first master. He affiliated with Rainbow Lodge in Middletown, Vt. d. Feb. 15, 1843.

Martin Chittenden (1769–1841) Governor of Vermont 1813–14, and son of Thomas Chittenden q.v. first governor of Vermont. b. March 12, 1769 in Salisbury, Conn. Graduate of Dartmouth in 1789. He engaged in farming and was a member of the con-vention that adopted the U.S. Constitution. From 1803–1813 he was a member of congress and judge of probate from 1821–22. As governor, he refused to comply with the request of General Macomb for the state militia and this prevented his reelection. Member of Washington Lodge No. 7, Burlington, Vt.; and was one of the petitioners for a new lodge to be named “Chittenden” at Williston, Vt. in honor of his father. d. Sept. 5, 1841.

Thomas Chittenden (1730–1797) First Governor of Vermont, 1778–1797 and father of Martin Chittenden q.v. a later governor. b. Jan. 6, 1730 in East ‘Guilford, Conn., Chittenden, together with two fellow members of Vermont Lodge (now 18, Windsor) . . . Ira Allen q.v. and Dr. Jonas Fay q.v., led the fight for statehood in the face of considerable opposition from New York. Statehood was granted to Vermont as the 14th state by congress on March 4, 1791. Previous to this, he had been president of the council of safety in which were invested the powers of government. About this time he became charter master of Dorchester Lodge of Vergennes, chartered in 1791 by the Grand Lodge of Canada, and now No. 1 under the Grand Lodge of Vermont. d. Aug. 24, 1797.

John M. Chivington (?–1895) Minister, missionary and soldier. He was, paradoxically, both a Methodist missionary to the Indians and an Indian fighter. Born in Ohio, he came to Kansas City, Kansas, in 1854 as a missionary to the Indians. While there he became the first master of the first lodge in Kansas—Wyandotte Lodge No. 3, established Aug. 11, 1854. From Kansas he went to Omaha, Nebr. and served as grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Nebraska. In 1860 he accepted the assignment as presiding elder of the Methodist church in the new gold mining district of Colorado. In 1861 he became the first grand master of the Grand Lodge of Colorado. Later Chivington Lodge No. 6 (now extinct) was named for him and the lodge at Central City now has the old bible of this lodge. When the 1st Colorado cavalry was organized in 1862, he resigned as presiding elder of the church and was commissioned major in the regiment. He distinguished himself in the Apache Canyon fight, known as the Battle of Glorieta, when he led 500 men in a rear attack on the Confederate troops who were attempting to invade Colorado from New Mexico. His attack saved Colorado and her gold deposits for the Union. For this he was made colonel. Indian massacres were troubling Colorado and Governor John Evans called for volunteers who, under Chivington engaged the Indians at Sand Creek near Ft. Lyon on Nov. 29, 1864 and killed several hundred of them, including women and children. For this he was “defrocked” by the Methodist church. This action, plus attacks by the “eastern press” forced him to leave Colorado for several years. He was potentially a national hero, but fell into near disgrace. He moved to Oregon where he lived for many years, returning to Denver where he was once more identified with the church and fraternity. More than 500 brethren attended his funeral.

Isaac W. Choate (1882–1953) Justice, Supreme Court of Montana, 1947–49. b. Sept. 12, 1882 near Peacham, Vt. Graduate of Univ. of Minnesota, 1904. Practiced at Bozeman, Helena and Miles City, Mont. Member of Helena Lodge No. 3. d. Oct. 23, 1953.

Rufus Choate (1799–1859) U.S. Senator from Massachusetts, 1841–45, succeeding Daniel Webster. b. Oct. 1, 1799 in Essex, Mass. Valedictory graduate of Dartmouth in 1819, he was an outstanding scholar and known for his command of language. At the age of six he could repeat large portions of Pilgrim's Progress from memory. In the Senate he delivered many brilliant orations on such subjects as the Oregon boundary, the tariff, the fiscal bank bill, the Smithsonian Institution and the annexation of Texas, the latter of which he opposed. After his term in the senate he returned to Boston and continued the practice of law. Following his graduation from Dartmouth, he entered the law office of William Wirt, q.v. then attorney general of the U.S. and later the Anti-Masonic Party's candidate for president. Choate was a member of Jordan Lodge, Peabody, Mass. d. July 13, 1859.

Countess of Choiseul-Gouffier An early member of French Adoptive Freemasonry, a female organization which received quasi-Masonic recognition from the Grand Orient of France. Other famous names who were her contemporaries were the Duchess of Chartres q.v., Countess of Polignac and Marchioness of Conte-bonne.

Pierre Choteau, Jr. (1789–1865) One of the founders of the American Fur Company and grandson of Laclede, founder of St. Louis. b. Jan. 19, 1789 in St. Louis. Entered fur trade as young man following Indians from point to point—St. Joseph, Kansas City, Council Bluffs, Fort Pierre, Fort Berthold, Fort Union and Fort Benton. He also established trading posts along the Mississippi from Keokuk to St. Paul. With two other Freemasons, Bernard Pratte and Bartholomew Berthold q.v., he purchased the American Fur Co. from John Jacob Astor q.v. another partner in 1839. The trading area of the new company (P. Choteau, Jr. & Co.) extended from Texas to the Blackfeet country on the north and also the trade of Santa Fe. He was a member of the first constitutional convention of Missouri, in 1820, together with his partner, Bernard Pratte. In 1807 he was associate judge of the court of common pleas and in 1808 was captain in a volunteer company of mounted troops in St. Louis. He received his degrees in Lodge L'Amenite No. 73 at Philadelphia, Pa. and in 1808 was one of the organizers of St. Louis Lodge No. 111 in St. Louis. d. Sept. 8, 1865 in St. Louis.

Morgan H. Chrisler Union Brigadier General in Civil War. Member of St. John's Lodge No. 22 of New York. Master of the lodge in Greenfield Center, N.Y. in 1861.

Edward R. Chrisman (1866–1939) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Aug. 13, 1866 at Connersville, Ind. Graduate of West Point in 1888. Retired in 1921. Participated in Sioux Indian Campaign of 1890, Spanish American War, Cuba in 1898, Philippine Insurrection of 1890. Commanded U.S. forces in Puerto Rico during WW1. Mason. d. Jan. 15, 1939.

Christian VII, King of Denmark (1749–1808) King of Denmark and Norway from 1766 to 1808. Neglected in childhood, he was brought up by a cruel tutor. He became depraved and when hopelessly insane relinquished control to Crown Prince Frederick who ruled as regent from 1784–1808 and later as king. He was a stepbrother to Christian VIII q.v. In 1780 newspaper accounts carried the story that lodges in Denmark and Holstein were subordinate to the Grand Lodge of Sweden, whereupon Christian VII directed notice to be sent that lodges in Denmark did not recognize a foreign prince as grand master, and after the passing of Ferdinand of Brunswick q.v. then general grand master, that no foreigner could rule the Danish craft except with the consent of the king. After the Masonic congress of Wilhelmsbad in 1872, when the Rectified Rite was developed, the Landgrave of Hesse q.v. was inducted and in 1786 he became provincial grand master of Denmark, though Ferdinand of Brunswick was recognized as general grand master until his death in 1792. In that year Christian VII named the Landgrave of Hesse as general grand master, who held the office until his death in 1836 and was succeeded by the crown prince who was later Christian VIII q.v.

Christian VIII, King of Denmark (1786–1848) He was appointed viceroy of Norway in 1813 and when he refused to consent to the union of Norway and Sweden, was driven out of Norway in 1814 with his second wife, living in retirement from 1815 to 1831. From 1831–39 he was a member of the council of state. He was king of Denmark and Norway from 1839–48. He opposed liberal projects and in trying to appease the Germans in Schleswig and Holstein, he helped bring about the war of 1848. He became the protector of Danish Freemasonry in 1836, taking over from the Landgrave of Hesse on the latter's death and becoming grand master. His son, King Frederick VII q.v. succeeded him on the throne and also as grand master.

Christian IX, King of Denmark (1818–1906) Was King of Denmark and Norway from 1863–1906. A direct descendent of King Christian III, he was brought up by King Frederick VI as guardian. Succeeded to throne on death of Frederick VII q.v. in 1863. He was the father of Frederick VIII q.v. of Denmark. He received the title of Protector of Danish Freemasonry.

Christian X, King of Denmark (1870–1947) Son of Frederick VIII q.v. He was King of Denmark from 1912–47 and of Iceland from 1918–44. He studied for a military career and during WW1 established closer relations with other Scandinavian countries. Under him, a new constitution was enacted in 1915, enfranchising women. Christian X became grand master of the National Grand Lodge of Denmark upon the death of his father, Frederick VIII, who had served in that capacity since 1872. King Christian was made an honorary past grand master of the Grand Lodge of England in 1946.

Christian Ludwig, Prince of Hesse–Darmstadt (1763–1834) He was initiated in 1778 and was one of the founders of the Darmstadt Lodge “Johannes der Evangelist zue Eintracht.”

George B. Christian Private secretary to President Harding. Was a member of Marion Lodge No. 70, Marion Chapter No. 62, Marion Council No. 22, Marion Commandery—all of Marion, Ohio and Aladdin Temple at Columbus, Ohio.

Hugh C. Christian British Naval Admiral. Became member of Phoenix Lodge No. 257, Portsmouth, England on Nov. 5, 1788.

James G. Christiansen Major General, U.S. Army. b. Sept. 23, 1897 at Portland, Oreg. Graduated from West Point in 1918. Made brigadier general in 1943 and major general in 1944. He is former chief of staff of Army Ground Forces, commanding general 2nd Armored Division and Camp Hood, Texas. He also commanded the 6th Armored Division and Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He retired in 1954 and is now with the Hoover commission in Washington. Mason.

Adolph M. Christianson (1877-?) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of North Dakota. b. Aug. 11, 1877 at Brummundalen, Norway. He was brought to the U.S. in 1882. Served as justice of North Dakota Supreme Court from 1915-45 and as chief justice 1945-49. He was a member of the national council, Boy Scouts of America and president of the Missouri Valley Area Council. From 1933-34 he was administrator of the Federal Civil Works Administration. Raised Feb. 20, 1902 in Mouse River Lodge No. 43; exalted in Mystic Chapter No. 13 April 24, 1902; greeted in council of R. & S.M. on Nov. 14, 1911—all of Towner, N.D. He was knighted in Cyrene Commandery No. 7, K.T. at Devils Lake on June 23, 1902. He later affiliated with Fargo Council No. 1, R. & S.M. then Lebanon No. 2 at Rugby and finally Twin City Council at Bismarck. He was grand master of the Grand Council of S.D. in 1922 and grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. in 1919. The 4th to 32 degrees AASR (SJ) were communicated to him by Walter R. Reed in Jan., 1929 and he demitted on June 26, 1929. Deceased.

Theodore Christianson (1883-1948) Governor of Minnesota three terms (1925–31). b. Sept. 12, 1883 in Lac qui Parle Co., Minn., he graduated from the Univ. of Minnesota with A.B. and LL.B. Admitted to bar in 1909 he began practice at Dawson. From 1909–25 he was the publisher of the Dawson Sentinel. He served in the state house of representatives from 1915–25 and was a member of the 73rd and 74th Congresses (1933–37). He is the author of Minnesota, A History of the State and Its People. Member of Atelier Lodge No. 202 at Dawson, Minn., he received his 32° AASR in Minneapolis on Dec. 19, 1925.

W. W. Christman (1865–1937) Poet and farmer. b. May 30, 1865 at Delanson, N.Y. He spent his entire life farming. In 1934 he was awarded the Burroughs medal by John Burroughs Memorial Assn. for the best nature book published that year. He is the author of Songs of the Helderhills, Songs of the Western Gateway and Wild Pasture Pine. Mason. d. Feb. 26, 1937.

George H. Christopher U.S. Congressman from Missouri. b. Dec. 9, 1888 at Butler, Mo. Member of 81st Congress (1949–51). Elected a second term in 1956. Engaged in farming. Raised Feb. 22, 1938 in Amsterdam Lodge No. 141, Amsterdam, Mo. 32° AASR (SJ) in Kansas City and member of Ararat Shrine Temple, Kansas City. O.E.S. in Columbia Chapter No. 15, Washington, D.C. d. Jan. 23, 1959.

Charles A. Christopherson (1871–1951) U.S. Congressman to 66th to 72nd Congresses (1919–33) from 1st South Dakota dist. b. July 23, 1871 in Fillmore Co., Minn. Admitted to bar in 1893 and practiced at Sioux Falls, S.D. Member of state house of representatives 1912–16 and speaker in 1914. Served as grand commander of the Grand Commandery, K.T. of South Dakota in 1917. Past potentate of Shrine. d. Nov. 2, 1951.

Morgan H. Chrysler, (1826–?) Union Major General in Civil War. b. Sept. 30, 1826 in Ghent, N.Y. Farmed most of his life. Enlisted as a private in the 30th N.Y. volunteers in 1861 and was promoted to major general in March, 1865. Served in the Army of the Potomac and later in the Army of the Gulf, commanding all the troops in northern Alabama. He was present at the capture of Mobile. Member of St. John's Lodge No. 22, Greenfield Center, N.Y. and served as master.

Walter P. Chrysler (1875–1940) Motor car manufacturer. b. April 2, 1875 at Wamego, Kansas, he was a descendant of Tuenis Van Dolsen, the first male child born in Manhattan, N.Y. He started as a machinist's apprentice on the railroad. In 1910 he was assistant manager of the Pitts-burgh works of the American Locomotive Co., and was manager in 1911. From 1912–16 he was works manager of Buick Motor Co. and president and general manager from 1916–19. He was vice president in charge of operations of General Motors Corp. from 1919–20 and executive vice president of Willys-Overland Co. 1920–22. He was later chairman of the board of Chrysler Corp. Mason. d. Aug. 18, 1940.

Conrad N. Church Newspaper editor. b. Feb. 1, 1894 at St. Louis, Mo. Graduated from Univ. of Michigan in 1917. Began with Ann Arbor News in 1919 as a reporter; was city editor in 1920 and managing editor from 1921–23. Began with the Pontiac Daily Press as a reporter in 1924; was managing editor from 1926 and editor since 1945. Mason.

Earl F. Church Photogrammetrist, astronomer, civil engineer. b. Aug. 11, 1890 at Parish, N.Y. Was topographer and astronomer on Alexander Hamilton Rice expedition up Amazon and Negro rivers, Brazil, 1916–17. Field officer in northwestern states and Alaskan coast, U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, 1911–13; mathematician, U.S. Boundary Commissions, 1913–15. Served in AEF during WW1 in charge of geodetic computations for intelligence section of 2nd Army. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Edward B. Church (1844–1904) Founder of Irving Institute (for higher education of young ladies) at San Francisco, Calif. in 1881. b. Sept. 7, 1844 in Greenville, Miss. Made deacon of Protestant Episcopal church in 1868; priest, 1874. He served as grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of California from 1896–1902. d. 1904.

Ralph E. Church (1883–1950) U.S. Congressman to 74th to 76th Congresses (1935–40), 78th to 80th Congresses (1943–48) and 81st Congress (1948) from Illinois. b. May 5, 1883 in Vermilion Co., Ill. Graduate of Univ. of Michigan and Northeastern. Admitted to bar in 1909 and practiced at Chicago. Served as state representative from 1917–32. Mason, 32° AASR (NJ) and Shriner. d. March 21, 1950.

Lord Randolph Henry Churchill (1849–1895) British statesman, third son of 7th Duke of Marlborough and father of Winston L. Churchill q.v. Married Jennie Jerome of New York in 1874. As an M.P. from 1874 he led the Tory front, assailing Gladstone and the conservatives. He was secretary of state for India from 1885–86 and was chancellor of exchequer and leader of the House of Commons in 1886, resigning due to ill health. He returned to parliament in 1892. He is recorded as having visited Harmony Lodge No. 17, Washington, D.C. on Oct. 15, 1873.

Sir Winston L. Churchill British statesman and author, son of Lord Randolph Henry Churchill q.v. b. in 1874. One of the most outstanding leaders of the 20th century in both national and international levels. Sir Sidney White q.v. grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of England states that “Sir Winston Churchill was initiated into Freemasonry as a young man, but he never progressed in the Order, and has taken no part for many years.” He was initiated in Studholme Lodge No. 1591, London and raised March 25, 1902 in Rosemary Lodge No. 2851.

Joseph Cilley (1735–1799) Revolutionary soldier and first Major General of New Hampshire militia. b. in Nottingham, N.H. where his father was one of the first settlers. He was one of the party in Dec. 1774 that dismantled the fort at Portsmouth; and immediately after the Battle of Lexington, he raised a company of volunteers and led them into Boston. In May 1775, he was a major in Poor’s regiment and was commissioned colonel in April, 1777 in the 1st New Hampshire regiment, succeeding General Stark. He served at Ticonderoga, Battle of Monmouth, with Wayne in the storming of Stony Point and in Sullivan's expedition against the Indians in New York. After the war he was appointed major general of militia in 1786. He was successively treasurer, vice president and president of the Society of the Cincinnati in N.H. His grandson, Joseph Cilley q.v. became U.S. Senator from N.H. He was raised in St. John's Lodge No. 1, Portsmouth, N.H. on June 15, 1775 and his fees were waived due to his service to his country. d. Aug. 25, 1799.

Joseph Cilley (1791–1887) U.S. Senator from New Hampshire and grandson of Joseph Cilley q.v. Revolutionary soldier. b. Jan. 4, 1791 at Nottingham, N.H. Fought as a lieutenant in the Infantry in the War of 1812. He participated in the battles of Chippewa, Lundy's Lane and Chrysler's Field. At Lundy's Lane, his company led the famous charge of Col. Miller's regiment on the British battery, where nearly half of his men were either killed, wounded or missing. Every officer in Cilley's company was either killed or wounded. Subsequent to the war, he held appointments in the New Hampshire militia. He was elected to the senate in June, 1846 to fill a vacancy and served until March, 1847, when he retired to his farm in Nottingham. At the time of his death, Sept. 16, 1887, he was the oldest living U.S. senator. Cilley was a member of Sullivan Lodge No. 19, Lee, New Hampshire, and was deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of New Hampshire in 1848–49.

Giovanni Battista Cipriani (1727–1785) Italian historical painter, designer and engraver who came to England in 1755 and cooperated with the production of the frontispiece of the 1784 edition of the Book of Constitutions. He was an early member of the Lodge of the Nine Muses No. 325 in London and painted the officers' jewels of the lodge that are still worn today. He was one of the four members of this lodge to become original members of the exclusive Royal Academy at its foundation in 1768.

Jean Civiale (1792–1857) French surgeon, famous for his method of crushing the stone in the bladder (lithotritry). Member of the lodge La Bonne Union at Paris, being initiated in 1825.

Nathaniel H. Claiborne (1777–1859) U.S. Congressman from Virginia from 1825–1837. b. Nov. 14, 1777 in Franklin Co., Va. a brother of William C. C. Claiborne q.v. first governor of Louisiana. He served for many years in both branches of the state legislature where he achieved a reputation as reformer of extravagance and abuses of government. He was the author of Notes on the War in the South. Claiborne was a member of Abingdon Lodge No. 48, Washington Co., Va. d. Aug. 15, 1859.

William C. C. Claiborne (1775–1817) First Governor of Louisiana. b. in Sussex Co., Va., he was the older brother of Nathaniel H. Claiborne q.v. congressman and author. Following his admission to the bar, he settled in Nashville, Tenn., and soon received the appointment of territorial judge, assisting in the framing of the state constitution in 1796. He was elected to the U.S. congress and served from 1797–1801. In 1802 he was appointed governor of Mississippi, and in 1803 became commissioner, with General James Wilkinson q.v. to take possession of Louisiana when it was purchased from France. After the establishment of the new government in 1804, he was made governor, and when it became a state, he was elected by the people to the same office. He was elected to the U.S. senate, but died before taking his seat. His name was on the 1810 roster of Perfect Union Lodge No. 1, New Orleans, La. d. Nov. 23, 1817.

Matthew W. Clair (1865–1943) Methodist bishop. b. Oct. 21, 1865 at Union, W. Va. Ordained to Methodist Episcopal ministry in 1889, subsequently serving in Harpers Ferry, W. Va., Staunton, Va., Washington, D.C. In 1920 he was elected bishop and assigned to Monrovia, Liberia. Mason. d. June 28, 1943.

Moses E. Clapp (1851–1929) U.S. Senator from Minnesota, 1901–17. b. May 21, 1851 at Delphi, Ind. Graduated in law at Univ. of Wisconsin in 1873 and admitted to bar same year, practicing subsequently at Hudson, Wis., Fergus Falls, Minn. and St. Paul, Minn. Was attorney general of Minnesota from 1887–93. In 1917 he resumed law practice in Washington, D.C. He was raised in Hudson Lodge, Wis. in 1872; past commander of Palestine Commandery, K.T., and received AASR degrees in St. Paul in 1897. d. March 6, 1929.

Martin Clare (?–1751) An English schoolmaster who wrote A Defence of Masonry in 1730 which was later reproduced in Anderson's Constitutions of 1738. It was written as a reply to Prichard's expose, Masonry Dissected. He was grand steward in 1734, grand junior warden in 1735 and deputy grand master in 1741. He was authorized by the grand lodge to prepare a system of lectures. It is believed that he was initiated in the Old King's Arms Lodge (now No. 28). He was master of what is now Lodge of Friendship No. 6. d. May 19, 1751.

Clare de Gilbert (1243–1295) Marquis of Pembroke, 9th Earl of Clare, 7th Earl of Hertford, 8th Earl of Gloucester. Married niece of Henry III in 1253. Joined Monfort in 1263 and with Prince Edward in repelling de Montfort in 1265. He took London in 1267, but became reconciled to Henry III. He later married Joan, daughter of Edward I (1290). Tradition states that he, with Ralph Lord Monthermer, and Walter Gifford, Archbishop of New York, was given charge of the operative masons in 1272.

William, Duke of Clarence (See William IV, King of England) Duke of Clarence and Avondale (H.R.H. Albert Victor Christian Edward) (1864–1892) He was the eldest son of King Edward VII q.v. and brother of King George V. He entered naval training on the ship Britania in 1877 and was aide-de-camp to Queen Victoria in 1889. He was betrothed to Princess Mary of Teck in 1891 but died before the marriage. Mary later became Queen Mary, consort of his brother, King George V. He was initiated on March 17, 1885 in Royal Alpha Lodge No. 16 by his father, Edward VII, while the latter was grand master of England. In 1890 he was installed provincial grand master for Berkshire, by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales.

Jules Claretie (1840–1913) French novelist, journalist and director of the Comedie Francaise in 1885. Wrote many novels including Une Drolesse, Un Assassin, Monsieur le Ministre, La Cigarette. His historical works included Les Derniers Mcrntagnards, Historie de la. Revolution de 1870–71, Le Drapeau. The Bulletin of the International Masonic Congress of 1917 lists him as a Freemason.

Albert M. Clark (1879–1950) Judge of Supreme Court of Missouri. b. March 4, 1879 at Lawson, Mo. Admitted to bar in 1900 and began practice at Richmond. He was a member of the state legislature from 1917–20 and of the state senate from 1931–38. He was judge of the supreme court of Missouri from Jan. 1, 1939 until his death on Jan. 9, 1950. A Mason, he wrote a paper on “Judges of the Supreme Court (Mo.) who have been Masons” which was read at the 1949 communication of the Grand Lodge of Missouri. He was a member of Richmond Lodge No. 57, Cyrus Chapter No. 36, and Richmond Commandery No. 47, K.T., all of Richmond, Mo.

Arthur H. Clark (1868–1951) Publisher, author, manufacturer. b. Dec. 20, 1868 in London, England, coming to U.S. in 1888 and naturalized in 1895. Founder and president of the Arthur H. Clark Co., publishers in 1902. President of the Cleveland Worm & Gear Co. 1920–28; president of the Cleveland Laboratory Co. 1922–37. Founder and president of the Cleveland Institute of Aviation, 1928–34. Author of Bibliography of Books on History of States, Counties, Etc. of U.S. in 1928. Mason. d. May 15, 1951.

Bennett Champ Clark (1890–1954) U.S. Senator from Missouri. b. Jan. 8, 1890, son of Champ Clark q.v. Graduate of Univ. of Missouri and George Washington Univ. He was parliamentarian for U.S. house of representatives from 1913–17. Admitted to Missouri bar in 1914, he practiced in St. Louis from 1919. Served in WW1 as a colonel on the General Staff. Elected senator from Missouri 1933–1945. Was associate justice of the U.S. court of appeals, District of Columbia from 1945 until his death on July 13, 1954. He was initiated in Phoenix Lodge No. 136, Bowling Green, Mo. on July 5, 1912 and was suspended NPD on June 1, 1950.

Champ Clark (1850–1921) U.S. Congressman from Missouri. b. March 7, 1850 in Anderson Co., Ky., his full name was James Beauchamp. Educated in Kentucky Univ., Bethany College and Cincinnati Law School, he was president of Marshall College (W. Va.) in 1873–74. He served as congressman from Missouri from 1893–95 and 1897–1921, being speaker from 1911–19. He was a prominent candidate for Democratic presidential nomination in 1912 and led on 27 ballots, having a clear majority on eight, but lost when Wm. J. Bryan turned his influence to support Woodrow Wilson. His son, Bennett Champ q.v. was a U.S. senator. He was a member of Perseverance Lodge No. 92 at Louisiana, Mo.

Clarence D. Clark (1851–1930) U.S. Senator from Wyoming, 1895–1917. b. April 16, 1851 at Sandy Creek, N.Y. Attended Iowa State Univ. and admitted to the bar in 1874. He practiced in Delaware Co., Iowa from 1874–81 and then moved to Evanston, Wyoming, where he resumed practice. He was appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Wyoming in 1889, but declined. He was U.S. congressman to 51st and 52nd congresses from Wyoming in 1889–93. He was raised in Evanston Lodge No. 4, March 21, 1883; member of Evanston Chapter No. 2, R.A.M.; Albert Pike Commandery, K.T. all of Evanston. He received his 32° AASR (SJ) on Aug. 6, 1885 and 33° on Oct. 22, 1897. d. Nov. 18, 1930.

Edgar E. Clark (1856–1930) Labor leader and Interstate Commerce Commissioner. b. Feb. 18, 1856 at Lima, N.Y. Entered railroad service in 1873 and remained until 1889 when he went with the Order of Railway Conductors of America; was grand chief conductor from 1890–1906. Member of Interstate Commerce Commission from 1906–1921, and afterward member of the firm of Clark & La Roe. Mason. d. Dec. 1, 1930.

Edward Clark Former Governor of Texas. Member of Austin Lodge No. 12, Austin, Texas.

Frank S. Clark General manager of Portland Cement Co. b. Mar. 7, 1868 at Middletown, Conn. He was captured by the Sioux Indians when his parents crossed the plains in 1872 and was not found by his father until four years later. However, he spent most of his time until manhood with the Indians. Started as an electrical engineer with a railroad. He was assistant to president and assistant general manager of U.S. Cement Co., Bedford, Ind. in 1908–09. In 1910 he was general manager of Continental Portland Cement Co., President of Frank S. Clark & Co., and treasurer of U.S. Mail Box Co. Mason, 32° AASR.

George Rogers Clark (1752–1818) Brigadier General in American Revolution. b. Nov. 19, 1752 near Monticello, Va. Became a surveyor in Kentucky where he organized and led the frontiersmen in defense against Indian attacks in 1776–77. He gained the approval of Patrick Henry, governor of Virginia for an expedition to conquer territory in what is now Illinois, and he captured the key points of Kaskaskia in 1778 and Vincennes in 1779, saving the Illinois and Kentucky region for the colonies. He was engaged in fighting the British and Indians in that territory until 1783. He died in poverty. Dr. Richard Ferguson, master of Abraham Lodge No. 8, Louisville, Ky. was the surgeon who amputated General Clark's leg, with music from a drum and fife furnishing the only anesthetic. His lodge is unknown, but he was buried Masonically by Abraham Lodge No. 8, Louisville. d. Feb. 13, 1818. He was the older brother of the explorer William Clark q.v.

Henry T. Clark Former Governor of North Carolina. Member of Concord Lodge No. 58, Tarboro, N.C., serving as its master in 1852 and 1865. He represented the lodge at grand lodge in 1852, 1853 and 1865. Member of Concord Chapter No. 5, R.A.M. and active in the Grand Chapter of N.C. He was a trustee of St. John's Masonic College.

James Clark Territorial Governor of Iowa. Initiated in Des Moines Lodge No. 1 at Burlington, Iowa on March 1, 1841.

James Clark (1779–1839) Governor of Kentucky. b. in Bedford Co., Va., he moved with family to Kentucky when a child. Practiced law at Winchester and was a member of the state legislature several times. Was judge of court of appeals in 1810, and served in U.S. congress from 1813–16 and 1825–30. In 1832 he was elected to the state senate, becoming its speaker; and in 1836 was elected governor, serving until his death on Aug. 27, 1839. Mason.

James W. Clark (1877–1939) Justice, Supreme Court of Oklahoma. b. Dec. 8, 1877 at Allisona, Tenn. He began law practice in Atoka Co., Okla. in 1909. He was justice of the supreme court of Oklahoma from 1925–33 and vice chief justice from 1931–33. Mason. d. Feb. 24, 1939.

Jerome B. Clark U.S. Congressman from North Carolina to 71st and 72nd Congresses (1929–33) and 73rd to 80th Congresses (1939–49). b. April —5T–1882 at Elizabethtown, N.C. Began practice in Elizabethtown in 1906. Mason.

Joel Clark (1730–1776) Colonel in Revolutionary War and founder of famous American Union Lodge (military). He was a farmer and trader of Farmington, Conn. and when a boy of 15 served on the expedition against Louisbourg in 1745 and later in the French and Indian Wars. In the Revolution he served in the siege of Boston and the defense of New York. He was wounded at the Battle of Long Island and taken prisoner. Confined to a filthy prison, he died in December of his wounds. He had been made a Mason during his frequent business trips to New Haven in old Hiram Lodge No. 1 on Feb. 20, 1763. Two years later he was named junior warden in the charter granted a lodge at Waterbury (present King Solomons No. 7 of Woodbury). There is also reason to believe that he was later active in the lodge at Wallingford, now Compass No. 9. In February 1776, he was commissioned by the grand master of St. John's Provincial Grand Lodge at Boston to organize American Union Lodge among the Freemasons holding military commissions in the Connecticut line regiments. This famous military lodge numbered many American patriots among its members. Clark was founding master. It traveled with the Continental Army throughout the war, working in New Jersey and New York. After the war the charter was carried west and it was established in Marietta, Ohio, where it is No. 1 on the Ohio register and one of the most famous lodges of the country.

John Clark Governor of Delaware in 1817. Member of Lodge No. 14 at Christiana Ferry, Del., being initiated March 20, 1783.

John M. Clark Brigadier General U.S. Air Force. b. Nov. 1, 1893 at Lockhart, Tex. Commissioned lieutenant in 1917 and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1942. Retired in 1946. Mason.

John R. Clark (1888-?) Justice Supreme Court of Colorado. b. Dec. 19, 1888 at Louisville, Colo. Admitted to bar in 1911. Appointed to supreme court in 1951 and elected to ten year term in 1952. Grand master of the Grand Lodge of Colorado in 1944-45 and 33° AASR (SJ). Member of Rio Blanco Lodge No. 80 at Meeker, Colo.; Meeker Chapter No. 37, R.A.M.; Meeker Commandery No. 33, K.T. and 33° AASR (SJ). Deceased.

Joseph J. Clark Vice Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Nov. 12, 1893 of Cherokee Indian blood. He graduated from the Naval Academy in 1917, advancing through the grades to vice admiral and commander of the 7th Fleet. Now retired, he is vice president of Radio Receptor Co. He was raised on December 6, 1945 in Chelsea Lodge No. 84, Chelsea, Okla. with many old time Cherokee leaders present. Clark was treated like just plain Joe Clark, Indian boy in his fifties, come home to be a Master Mason in his home lodge.

Mark Wayne Clark General, U.S. Army. b. May 1, 1896 at Madison Barracks, N.Y. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1917, he later graduated from many service schools and has received honorary degrees from a dozen universities both here and abroad. He was commissioned 2nd lieutenant in April, 1917 and advanced to full general in 1945. Led a battalion in WW1 and was wounded. Participated in St. Mihiel and Meuse–Argonne offensives. In WW2 he became deputy chief of staff, then chief of staff of the Army Ground Forces in 1942. He was one of the officers landed in Africa by submarine to confer with representatives of General Giraud on the forthcoming invasion by Allied forces. He subsequently was commander of the 5th Army (first active in the ETO) in 1943, commanded the 15th Army group, (U.S. and British armies) in Italy, 1944–45; commander-in-chief of U.S. occupation forces in Austria. In 1952 he was commander in chief of the United Nation Command in Korea and commanding general of all U.S. forces in the Far East. He retired in 1953 to accept the presidency of The Citadel, a military college in Charleston, S. Car. Clark was raised in Mystic Tie Lodge

No. 398 at Indianapolis on Dec. 30, 1929, later affiliating with Hancock Lodge No. 11 at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas. He received his 32° AASR in Indianapolis in 1930 and affiliated with the Scottish Rite in Leavenworth in 1934, removing his membership back to Indianapolis and receiving his 33° in 1946. In 1954 the Supreme Council AASR (NJ) presented him the Gourgas Medal, their highest decoration, which has been given only to six others. It is "in recognition of notably distinguished service in the cause of Freemasonry, humanity or country."

Melville Clark Harpist, inventor. b. Sept. 12, 1883 at Syracuse, N.Y. Has been in music business since 1899 and is president of Clark Music Co. His harp inventions have included a perfect portable harp, the Clark nylon harp string; a plastic and nylon harp impervious to weather. He has given more than 4,000 harp concerts in U.S., Canada and England. He perfected plan for aero-stations to distribute literature, used by England in WW1. Mason, Scottish Rite member.

Stephen C. Clark President of Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y. b. Aug. 29, 1882 at Cooperstown, N.Y. Graduate of Columbia and Yale Universities. He is vice president of the Safe Deposit Co. of New York and director of Singer Manufacturing Co. Served in 80th division during WW1 with rank of lieutenant colonel. Member of Otsego Lodge No. 138, Cooperstown, N.Y.

Thomas C. Clark U.S. Attorney General and Associate Justice of U.S. Supreme Court. b. Sept. 23, 1899 at Dallas, Texas. Attended Virginia Military Institute and graduated from Univ. of Texas in 1921, being admitted to bar the following year. With Department of Justice from 1937–45, serving as Attorney General of the U.S. from 1945–49 at which date he was appointed associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court in August. Served in 153rd Inf. during WW1. Member of Washington Lodge No. 1117 at Dallas, Texas, and received his 32° AASR (SJ) at Dallas in 1930.

Thomas D. Clark Historian. b. July 14, 1903 at Louisville, Miss. Graduate of Mississippi, Kentucky and Duke Universities. History professor in turn at Western State Teachers College (Tenn.), Univ. of Tenn., Univ. of Rochester, Duke Univ., Univ. of North Carolina, Univ. of Chicago and with the Univ. of Kentucky since 1931. Among his many books are: History of Kentucky, The Rampaging Frontier, Exploring Kentucky, The Kentucky (Rivers of America Series) Pills, Petticoats and Plows. Mason.

William Clark (1770–1838) Famed partner of the Lewis and Clark Expedition to the Northwest, brigadier general, U.S. Army and territorial governor of Missouri. b. Aug. 1, 1770 in Virginia, he was a brother of the famous George Rogers Clark q.v. of Revolutionary fame. He early became acquainted with Indian warfare when his family moved to site of present city of Louisville and his brother, George Rogers, built a fort. He migrated to St. Louis and in March, 1804 Jefferson appointed him a lieutenant of artillery with orders to join Capt. Merriwether Lewis' expedition from St. Louis across the Rocky mountains to the mouth of the Columbia River. Clark was really the principal military director of the expedition, materially assisting Lewis in the arrangements and kept a journal, which was afterward published. His intimate knowledge of Indian habits and character had much to do with the success of the expedition. He resigned from the army in 1807 and officiated as Indian agent until appointed by Congress as brigadier general for territory of Upper Louisiana. President Madison appointed him governor of Missouri Territory in 1813 and he held the office until Missouri became a state in 1822. He ran, against his will, for the governorship at that time, but was defeated. President Monroe then made him superintendent of Indian affairs at St. Louis, and he held the office until his death on Sept. 1, 1838 in St. Louis. He was a member of St. Louis Lodge No. 111 (under Pennsylvania charter) and was buried in Bellefontaine Cemetery, St. Louis, with Masonic honors. A large monument with the square and compasses is over his grave.

William A. Clark (1839–1925) U.S. Senator from Montana, 1901–07. b. Jan. 8, 1839 at Connellsville, Pa. Although he studied law, he did not enter the profession, but taught school in Missouri, Colorado and then Montana. In Montana he became a banker, mine owner and president and director of many enterprises including railroads, sugar production and realty. He led the Butte battalion in the Nez Perce campaign of 1878 and was president of the constitutional convention of 1884 and 1889. He claimed election to U.S. Senate as Democrat in 1890 but was denied seat. Elected again in 1898, a contest ensued at Washington, but before the investigation was concluded, he resigned. He was variously a member of Virginia

City Lodge No. 1, Morning Star Lodge No. 5, Helena, and Deer Lodge No. 14, Deer City, Mont., serving as master of the latter. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Montana in 1877. d. Mar. 2, 1925.

Bascom B. Clarke (1851–1929) Editor and president of Clarke Publishing Co., Madison, Wis. b. June 24, 1851 in Lexington, Va. Started in publishing business in 1898. Editor of American Thresherman and founder of Brotherhood of Threshermen. Mason and author of Uncle Silas' Gospel of Freemasonry, 1920, and The Gospel of DeMolay, 1924. d. March 17, 1929.

Bruce C. Clarke Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. April 20, 1901 at Adams, N.Y. Graduate of West Point in 1925, advancing through grades to brigadier general in 1944. Member of General Staff in 1942–43; combat commander of armored division 1943–45; staff member of Army Ground Forces, 1945–48 and assistant commandant of The Armored School since 1948. Mason.

Sir Casper P. Clarke (1846–1911) Director of Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City. b. Dec. 21, 1846 at London, England and educated in England and France. He was director of the Victoria and Albert Museum of London until 1905 when he came to America to be director of the Metropolitan Museum. He was created a knight in 1902 and received the Chevalier Legion d'Honneur from France in 1878; Companion of the Order of the Indian Empire in 1883; Commander Victorian Order in 1905; and Commander's Cross Order of the Crown (German). He was a member of Quatuor Coronati Lodge No. 2076 of London. d. 1911.

Hopewell Clarke (1854–1931) One of the developers of the Mesabi Iron Range in Northern Minnesota. b. March 10, 1854 at Williamsport, Pa., he studied civil and mining engineering. Was with various Minnesota railroads in the early day as a surveyor and an early settler of far northern Minnesota. During controversy over the source of the Mississippi River, he made a survey of its headwaters. Mason. d. Feb. 3, 1931.

James P. Clarke (1854–1916) U.S. Senator and Governor of Arkansas. b. Aug. 18, 1854 at Yazoo City, Miss. Graduated from Univ. of Virginia in 1878 and admitted to bar in that year, moving to Helena, Ark. in 1879, where he practiced until 1897 and then removed to Little Rock. Served in both houses of state legislature and was attorney general of Arkansas. He was governor from 1895–97, and U.S. senator from Arkansas for three terms, 1903–21, dying on Oct. 1, 1916 before completing his last term. Member of Western Star Lodge No. 2, Little Rock, Ark.

John H. Clarke (1857–1945) Justice of U.S. Supreme Court and pacifist. b. Sept. 18, 1857 at Lisbon, Ohio. Graduate of Western Reserve Univ. Admitted to Ohio bar in 1878 and practiced at Lisbon, Youngstown and Cleveland. Was U.S. district judge for Northern Ohio, 1914–16, and associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme court from July 14, 1916 to Sept. 1922. He resigned in order to give his entire time to cultivating public opinion favorable to world peace. He was president of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association of the U.S. from 1922-30, trustee of World Peace Foundation. Member of Western Star Lodge No. 21, Youngstown, Ohio. d. March 22, 1945.

Robert Clarke Architect of the U.S. Capitol at Washington, D.C. Served as high priest of Washington Chapter No. 16. Was later suspended.

Angelo R. Clas Architect. b. Feb. 13, 1887 at Milwaukee, Wis. Graduated from Harvard in 1909. Began in manufacturing business and later partner with D. H. Burnham & Co. in Chicago. In 1935-36 was director of housing for Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works. He is now an architect and consultant. Recent works include Federal Loan Agency, Maritime buildings, Statler Hotel, Y.M.C.A. addition, all of Washington, D.C. and large scale private housing developments in Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and Tennessee. Mason.

Charles R. Clason Congressman to 75th to 80th Congresses (1937-49) from 2nd Mass. district. b. Sept. 3, 1890 at Gardiner, Maine. Graduate of Bates College, and Rhodes scholar from Maine in 1917. Admitted to Mass. bar in 1917, practicing in Boston and later Springfield. Served in WW1. Mason.

David G. Classon (1870-1930) U.S. Congressman 65th to 67th Congresses (1917-23) from 9th Wisconsin dist. b. Sept. 27, 1870 at Oconto, Wis. Admitted to bar in 1891 and practiced at Oconto. Judge of the 20th judicial circuit of Wisconsin from 1928 until his death Sept. 6, 1930. Mason.

Carl H. Claudy (1879–1957) Writer. b. Jan. 13, 1879 in Washington, D.C. In 1898 he was a prospector and pioneer in Alaska. He was editor of American Inventor from 1900–04; Prism, 1908–09; Cathedral Calendar, 1921–27, and The Master Mason, 1924–30. He was later a free-lance writer and aviation correspondent for New York Herald at Washington. He was director of publicity for National Highways Association from 1911 and executive secretary of the Masonic Service Association since 1929. He was raised in Harmony Lodge No. 17, Washington, D.C. in 1908, serving as master in 1932 and grand master of Grand Lodge of District of Columbia in 1943. A member of chapter, council and commandery he was a 33° AASR (SJ) and holder of many grand lodge medals and honorary memberships. He is the author of many books, plays and short stories including Press Photography, Battle of Baseball, First Book of Photography, Tell Me Why Stories, About Mother Nature, Making Pictures of Children, Partners of the Forest Trail, Pirates by Force, The Gold He Found, Dangerous Waters, The Girl Reporter, Beginner's Book of Model Airplanes, Mystery Men of Mars, Thousand Years a Minute, Land of No Shadow, Treasures of Darkness, and many others. His Masonic writings include hundreds of short talk bulletins and digests for the Masonic Service Association representing some of the best Masonic writing and research available. Masonic books are The Lion's Paw, The Master's Book, Washington's Home and Fraternal Life, The Unknown Mason, and Introduction to Freemasonry (2 volumes). His best known Masonic plays are: Greatest of These, He That Believeth, Greater Love Hath No Man, A Rose Upon the Altar, Judge Not and Hearts of the Fathers. d. May 27, 1957.

Henry C. Clausen Lawyer. In charge of the investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster of WW2. Admitted to California bar and practiced in San Francisco since 1927. Served in WW2 in Judge Advocate General's dept. Member of Ingleside Lodge No. 630, San Francisco, he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of California in 1954–55. 33° AASR (SJ), he is sovereign grand inspector general of Calif. Member of Islam Shrine Temple.

George Claussen (1882–1948) Chief Justice. Supreme Court of Iowa, 1934–35. b. Aug. 6, 1882 at Clinton, Ia. He graduated from Univ. of Iowa and practiced in Clinton. Mason. d. Dec. 18, 1948.

F. T. Begue Clavel A French abbe and Masonic writer who in 1842 published Picturesque History of Freemasonry and of Ancient and Modern Secret Societies. Because he published the work without the consent of the Grand Orient of France, he was suspended for two months and condemned to pay a fine. In 1844 he began the publication of a Masonic journal called Grand Orient, later changing it to Orient. Again he failed to receive the approval of the grand lodge and was sentenced by it to perpetual exclusion in spite of his popularity within the Craft.

Brooke Claxton Canadian Minister of Health and National Welfare 1944–46 and Minister of National Defense 1946–54. Presently president and general manager of Canadian Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. b. Aug. 23, 1898 at Montreal, P.Q. Canadian representative at UNRRA in 1943–44; International Labor Organization, 1945, International Health Conference, 1946, and head of the Canadian delegation to Conference of Nations of British Commonwealth in 1947. Mason.

Cassius M. Clay (1810–1903) American abolitionist, politician and U.S. Minister to Russia. b. Oct. 19, 1810 in Madison Co., Ky., son of Green Clay q.v. General of the War of 1812. Graduated from Yale in 1832. Practiced law in Kentucky and was elected to legislature in 1835, 1837, 1839, 1840. In 1845 he issued an antislavery paper in Lexington called The True American and was almost lynched for it. He was continually involved in quarrels and bloody encounters and was constantly armed. Taken prisoner in Mexican War and later exchanged. Was made major general of volunteers in 1862. He was minister to Russia in 1861–62 and again in 1863–69. He was a member of Davies Lodge No. 22, Ky.

Clement C. Clay (1789–1866) U.S. Senator and Governor of Alabama. b. Dec. 17, 1789 in Halifax Co., Va. Son of a Revolutionary officer; his family moved to Tennessee after the war. Clay was admitted to the bar in 1809 and began practice in Huntsville, Ala. in 1811. Served in Creek War of 1813 and elected to territorial council in 1817. Delegate to state constitutional convention in 1819 and chosen circuit judge by first legislature in 1820. Served as chief justice from 1820–23. Served in U.S. Congress from 1829–35 and elected governor of Alabama in 1835 and again in 1837, resigning before the expiration of term to fill U.S. Senate vacancy. Member of Alabama Lodge No. 21.

Green Clay (1757–1826) General in War of 1812. b. Aug. 14, 1757 in Powhatan Co., Va. he was the father of Cassius M. Clay q.v. American abolitionist and a cousin of Henry Clay q.v. He emigrated to Kentucky before he was 21 and acquired a fortune as a surveyor. He was a representative of the Kentucky district in the Virginia legislature and a member of the convention that ratified the Federal constitution and a leading member of the Kentucky constitutional convention of 1799. He served many years in both branches of the state legislature, and was at one time speaker of the senate. In 1813 when General Harrison was besieged by the British at Fort Meigs, he came to his relief with 3,000 volunteers and forced the enemy to withdraw. He was left in command of the fort and defended it with skill against the British and Indians under Proctor and Tecumseh. He was a member of Lexington Lodge No. 1, Lexington, Ky. Suspended in 1805 and reinstated in 1808. d. Oct. 31, 1826.

Henry Clay (1777–1852) U.S. Senator, Congressman, and Secretary of State. b. April 12, 1777 in Hanover Co., Va. Self educated, he studied law under Robert Brooke q.v. of Virginia and moved to Lexington, Ky. in 1797, where he practiced law. A successful lawyer, he once defended Aaron Burr q.v. He was U.S. senator from Kentucky from 1806–07, 1831–42, 1849–52. Served in U.S. congress from 1811–21 and 1823–25 and was speaker of the house. From 1825–29 he was Secretary of State. He was raised in Lexington Lodge No. 1, Lexington, Ky., sometime between 1798 and 1801, served as its master and was grand master of Kentucky in 1820. He was one of the proponents of a general grand lodge, and offered a resolution to that effect at a Masonic conference held in the senate chambers on March 9, 1822 in Washington, D.C. After the defeat of the idea he demitted from his lodge on Nov. 18, 1824, but seemingly reinstated, as he was present at the grand lodge sessions in 1829. He was an honorary member of St. John's Lodge No. 1, New York City. During the anti-Masonic period he flirted politically with members of that party. When questioned as to his views on Masonry he answered, "But it must not be said that I concur in the denunciation of Masonry. Nor must it be expected that I will make any formal renunciation of it. I believe it does more good than harm, although it does not practically effect all that it theoretically promises. I would not denounce and formally renounce it to be made President of the United States." He was grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky in 1806, 1807 and 1809. He was buried with Masonic honors and his monument was Masonically dedicated on July 4, 1858. d. June 29, 1852.

John G. Claybourn Dredging engineer. b. May 23, 1886 at Albert Lea, Minn. Was employed as rodman, levelman and transitman on the Isthmian Canal from 1910-14 and with the Panama Canal from 1914 to 1948. Now retired, he is a consultant on rivers, harbors, and canals. He has invented and collaborated on many new designs of dredges, compressors and motors. With Columbia and Venezuela harbor development in 1948; construction engineer of Dique canal, Colombia, 1917, Costa Rica, 1925-46 and Trans-Florida ship canal, 1933. He has written Dredging on the Panama Canal, Evolution of the Panama Canal and other works. Raised in Western Star Lodge No. 26, Albert Lea, Minn. about 1907. Member of Canal Zone Chapter No. 1, R.A.M.; Canal Zone Council No. 1, R. & S.M.; Canal Zone Commandery No. 1, K.T. and San Lorenzo Conclave No. 70, Red Cross of Constantine at Ancon, Canal Zone.

Moses Cleaveland (1754–1806) Founded Cleveland, Ohio in 1796, which was first called “Cleaveland.” b. at Canterbury, Conn., he was at Yale when the Revolution broke out. He rushed to Boston to volunteer, but was persuaded to return and finish his education. In 1777 he was commissioned in Col. Blatchley Webb’s Continentals (sometimes called the “Yale” regiment). After the war he practiced law in Connecticut and rose to a position of influence in the state. He represented his town in the general assembly for 18 sessions and commanded the 5th Militia Brigade for ten years. He led the exploration and survey party as an official of the Connecticut Land Company which had purchased land in the Northwest Territory (later Ohio) and laid out several million acres into townships. The venture was far from successful for the immediate investors. He was made a Mason in American Union Lodge (military) in September 1779 while the army was stationed in the Hudson Highlands. At Litchfield, Conn. he affiliated with St. Paul’s Lodge in 1781, and in 1791 was named master of Moriah Lodge—the first to be chartered by the new Grand Lodge of Connecticut. He also appears in the grand lodge minutes as grand junior warden pro-term at one communication, and was the first appointed grand marshal. As deputy for the grand master, he instituted Putnam Lodge at Pomfret in 1801.

Patrick R. Cleburne (1828–1864) Confederate Major General in Civil War. b. March 17, 1828 in County Cork, Ireland. He came to the U.S. and settled at Helena, Ark. where he studied law and later engaged in a successful practice. He joined the Confederate army as a private, planned the capture of the U.S. arsenal in Arkansas in 1861, and received various promotions to major general in Dec. 1862. He commanded the 2nd brigade of the 3rd corps at Shiloh, was wounded in the battle of Perryville, and commanded a division of the right wing at Murfreesboro and Chickamauga. He distinguished himself in the rear guard action at Missionary Ridge and defended Ringgold Gap. At Jonesboro he covered the retreat of Hood and commanded a corps at Franklin, where he was killed on Nov. 30, 1864. He was a favorite with the Irish brigade and was called the “Stonewall of the West.” He instituted the Order of the Southern Cross and was among the first to advise the use of colored troops in the armies of the Confederacy. Cleburne was a member of Lafayette Lodge No. 16 at Helena, Ark. and treasurer of the same.

Hugh H. Clegg Former Assistant Director of F.B.I. b. July 17, 1898 at Mathiston, Miss. Professor of history, Latin, chemistry and science before entering the F.B.I. as a special agent in 1926. He later served as special agent of field divisions at Atlanta, Washington and Chicago. From 1932–54 he was assistant director in charge of training and inspection division. He was in charge of the F.B.I. National Academy from 1935 and in charge of special mission making wartime studies in intelligence, defense and enforcement in England, 1940–41. Retired. Raised Mathiston Lodge No. 491, Mathiston, Miss. in Sept., 1923.

Robert I. Clegg (1866–1931) Mechanical engineer. b. May 13, 1866 in Lancashire, England. Became U.S. citizen in 1891. Held several important positions in professional societies and edited technical journals. He wrote extensively for Masonic periodicals and made complete revisions of Mac-key's History of Freemasonry, Encyclopedia of Freemasonry, Jurisprudence of Freemasonry, and Symbolism of Freemasonry. He was 12th president of the National League of Masonic Clubs and at one time president of the Masonic History Co. of Chicago. He was raised in Tyrian Lodge No. 370, Cleveland, Ohio on Oct. 25, 1905, 33° AASR (NJ) and member of practically every Masonic body. d. Dec. 3, 1931.

Samuel L. Clemens (1835–1910) American author and humorist. b. Nov. 30, 1835 at Florida, Mo. He was apprenticed to a printer at 12 and was Mississippi River pilot for a short time. He went west as secretary to his brother who had been appointed territorial secretary of Nevada. Was city editor of the Virginia City (Nev.) Enterprise in 1862, and alternated between mining and newspaper work, until, becoming noted as a humorist, he began lecturing and writing books. He founded the publishing house of C. L. Webster & Co. in 1884 and its failure nearly ruined him financially. Among his many famous books are The Innocents Abroad, Roughing It, Adventures of Tom Sawyer, The Prince and the Pauper, The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, A Yankee at the Court of King Arthur, etc. He was a member of Polar Star Lodge No. 79, St. Louis, Mo. (EA May 22, 1861, FC, June 12, 1861, MM July 10, 1861). He was later suspended and reinstated on April 24, 1867. He dimitted Oct. 8, 1868 and presumably never again affiliated with any lodge. He is recorded as having visited Carson City Lodge, U.D. in Feb. and March of 1862. During his trip to Palestine, he sent his lodge a gavel with this note: "This mallet is a cedar, cut in the forest of Lebanon, whence Solomon obtained the timbers for the temple." Clemens cut the handle himself from a cedar just outside the walls of Jerusalem. He had it made in Alexandria, Egypt and it was presented to the lodge on April 8, 1868. d. 1910.

William M. Clemens (1876–1932) Newspaper editor. b. April 30, 1876 at Louisville, Ky. He edited the following papers: Memphis News–Scimitar, 1906, Birmingham News, 1912, Mobile Item, 1915, Atlanta Georgian, 1920, Knoxville Journal, 1922, Flushing Journal (L.I.), 1929–31. Served in Spanish American War. Mason. d. Nov. 23, 1932.

Augustus Clement (1770—1766) Duke of Bavaria and Elector of Cologne, who was a Freemason until 1738, when at the publication of Pope Clement XII's Bull against Freemasonry, he withdrew from the Craft at least openly, although it is said he privately maintained his affiliation and founded the Society of Mopses.

Clement V (1264–1314) The 195th Pope. Originally Bertrand de Got. He was Archbishop of Bordeaux. As a friend of King Philip the Fair, he moved the papal residence from Rome to Avignon, France in 1309 and thus created a schism in the church with Popes and Antipopes. As the price of his papal crown, he is said to have made an agreement with Philippe le Bel for the destruction of the Knights Templar (1312). It is also recorded that either Jacques de Molay, or Guy, the Dauphin d'Auvergne, when at the stake, summoned Clement V before God in forty days. A few days after the execution (March 11, 1314), an illness began for Clement, ending in his death on April 20, 1314.

Clement XII The 248th Pope, he issued the first Papal Bull against Freemasonry on April 24, 1738. Entitled In Eminenti Apostolatus Specula, it stated in part: "For which reason the temporal and spiritual communities are enjoined, in the name of holy obedience, neither to enter the society of Freemasons, to disseminate its principles, to defend it, nor to admit nor conceal it within their houses or places, or elsewhere, under the pain of excommunication ipso facto, for all acting in contradiction to this, and from which the pope only can absolve the dying." He served as Pope from 1730–40 and was a bitter persecutor of the Craft. He caused his secretary of state, Cardinal Firrao q.v. to issue a more stringent order on Jan. 14, 1739 that pertained to the Papal states in which death was the penalty for membership.

Charles M. Clement (1855–1934) Major General, U.S. Army. b. Oct. 28, 1855 at Sunbury, Pa. Served in Spanish American War, Mexican border conflict and WW1. Enlisted as private in Pennsylvania National Guard in 1877, advancing through grades to major general in 1915, retiring in 1919. He commanded the 28th Division at Camp Hancock, Ga., in 1917. Mason and 33° AASR (NJ). d. Sept. 9, 1934.

Frank G. Clement Governor of Tennessee. b. June 2,

1920 at Dickson, Tenn. Graduated from Vanderbilt Univ. in 1942. Admitted to bar in 1941, he practiced in Nashville and Dickson from 1946–50. He was with the F.B.I. from 1941–43. He has served as governor of Tennessee since 1953. Served as lieutenant in Army in WW1. In 1948 was named outstanding young man by Tennessee Junior Chamber of Commerce and as one of the nation's 10 outstanding young men by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1953. Was state commander of the American Legion in 1948. Mason, 32° AASR (SJ) and Shriner. A member of Dickson Lodge No. 468 at Dickson, Term., he attended the Grand Lodge of Tennessee at its sessions in 1954 and 1956.

John P. Clement Officer, British forces, War of 1812. Member of Niagara Lodge No. 2, G.R.C. of Ontario. Served as captain in the 8th Foot and during a skirmish on July 5, 1814, he saw an Indian in the act of killing an American prisoner, who gave him a Masonic sign. Clement rescued the brother and took him to a farm house and cared for him until well enough to be sent home. Some months after, Clement was taken prisoner and his jailor turned out to be the very man he had succored. His jailor informed him that a conveyance would return him to Canada the next morning. Clement died in 1845.

Earle C. Clements U.S. Senator and Governor of Kentucky. b. Oct. 22, 1896 at Morganfield, Ky. Served as official in Kentucky for 28 years, successively as sheriff, county clerk, judge and state senator. Congressman to 79th and 80th congresses (1945–49). Governor of Kentucky, 1947–50 and U.S.

senator from Kentucky since 1950. Member of Morgan-field Lodge No. 66, Morganfield, Ky.

Chauncey F. Cleveland (1799–1887) Governor of Connecticut in 1842. b. Feb. 16, 1799 at Hampton, Conn. Admitted to bar in 1819. First elected to state legislature in 1826, and reelected eleven times. Served as U.S. Congressman for terms starting in 1849 and 1851. Member of the peace congress of 1861. Member of Eastern Star Lodge No. 44, Windham. Initiated in 1821 and later served as junior warden. d. June 6, 1887.

Chester W. Cleveland Magazine editor. b. Aug. 11, 1898 at Plymouth, Ind. Editor of The Magazine of Sigma Chi, also The Sigma Chi Bulletin since 1921. Edited The Quill, official publication of Sigma Delta Chi professional journalistic fraternity, 1922–25. Author of History of Sigma Chi (7 volumes), Saga of a Hoosier Boy, The Norman Shield, George Ade: The Great American Humorist, Indiana Is So Rich. (lyrics), Fielding H. Yost: Football Immortal, Booth Tarkington, The Great American Novel–ist and others. Mason, Knight Templar, 32° AASR (NJ) and Shriner.

Grover Cleveland (1837–1908) Twenty-second and twenty-fourth President of the United States (1885–89, 1893–97). Not a Freemason, but favorable to the fraternity. At the banquet following the dedication by the Grand Lodge of Virginia of the monument erected to Mary, the mother of Washington, he said he “regarded it as his misfortune that he had never been made a Mason.” At one time there was talk of making him a Mason “at sight” in the Grand Lodge of New Jersey, but it was never accomplished.

Cliff Clevenger Congressman, 76th to 81st Congresses (1939–51) from 5th Ohio dist. b. Aug. 20, 1885 at Long Pine, Nebr. Entered dry goods business at Marengo, Iowa in 1901. President of The Clevenger Stores, Bowling Green, Ohio 1915–26, and manager of F. W. Uhlman Stores, Bryan, Ohio, 1927–38. Raised in Waverly Lodge No. 51, Appleton, Wis. in 1913 and presently a member of Bryan Lodge No. 215, Bryan, Ohio. Dimitted from chapter, council and commandery at Appleton, Wis. and life member, 32° AASR (SJ) at Toledo. Member of Zenobia Shrine Temple, Toledo.

Edgar L. Clewell Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. July 22, 1896 at Bethesda, Minn. Commissioned in 1917 and advanced to brigadier general in 1942. Executive officer of Ft. Monmouth, N.J. 1940–42. Director of Signal Supply, E.T.O., 1944. Chief of Procurement & Distribution Service, 1945–46. Retired, Nov. 30, 1946. Raised in St. Johns Lodge No. 9, Seattle, Wash. in 1918, 32° AASR in Caldwell Consistory at Bloomsburg, Pa., Aloha Shrine Temple at Honolulu, T.H. and National Sojourners at Harrisburg, Pa.

Walter D. Cline Oil producer and Imperial Potentate of Shrine, 1939–40. b. March 26, 1883 at St. Helena Parish, La. Was successively teacher, mule driver, carpenter, time-keeper. Moved to Texas in 1905 and brought in Fowler Well No. 1, the discovery well of the Burkburnett Pool. A pioneer operator in the Panhandle field of West Texas, he brought in the first well north of the Canadian River in 1922.

Charles Clingman Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. Jan. 19, 1883 at Covington, Ky. Graduate of Kenyon College in 1905. Made deacon in 1907, priest in 1908. Served as rector in churches at Newport, Ky., Dallas Texas, Birmingham, Ala., 1908–36. Elected bishop diocese of Kentucky on Jan. 24, 1936. Initiated in Fort Thomas Lodge No. 808, Ft. Thomas, Ky. in April, 1910. Charter member, life member and first chaplain of Washington Lodge No. 1117, Dallas, Texas. 32° AASR (SJ) at Dallas, Texas and member of Arabia Shrine Temple at Houston, Texas.

DeWitt Clinton (1769–1828) Governor of New York, U.S. Senator from New York, Mayor of New York City, and instigator of the Erie Canal. b. March 2, 1769 in New Windsor, Conn. Graduated from Columbia in 1786, studied law, but practiced very little, devoting most of his time to politics. He became private secretary to his uncle, George, q.v. in 1790, then governor of New York. Served in the lower house in 1797 and state senate from 1798–1802. While in the latter, he worked to secure public defense, passage of sanitary laws, abolition of slavery and promotion of steam in navigation. Elected to the U.S. senate in 1802, he resigned to take the office of mayor of New York City, to which his uncle George, then governor for the second time, had appointed him. He continued as mayor until 1815 with the exception of the years 1807–09 and 1810–11. During this time he was again state senator from 1805–11 and lieutenant governor from 1811–13. He was a promising candidate for the presidency on the Peace Party ticket in 1812 but was defeated by Madison. As mayor of New York he promoted the establishment of public schools, founded institutions of literature and art and helped to give the city a metropolitan character. As early as 1809 he had been appointed one of the seven commissioners to examine and survey a route for canal from the Hudson to the great lakes. He was sent by the legislature in 1812 to congress to urge the adoption of the project. In 1815, he petitioned the state legislature for immediate construction of the Erie and Champlain canals and the motion was carried in 1817. He was elected governor in 1817, again in 1819 and the third time in 1826, holding that office at his death on Feb. 11, 1828. It was during the last term that the Morgan q.v. incident took place in New York. In Oct., 1825 the Erie canal was opened with great ceremony and Clinton was carried on a barge in a triumphal procession from Lake Erie to New York. He was raised in Holland Lodge No. 16 (now No. 8) Sept. 3, 1790, serving as its master in 1793 and grand master of the Grand Lodge of New York from 1806–19. He was grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of New York in 1798 and general grand high priest of the General Grand Chapter of the U.S. from 1816–26. He was knighted in “Holland Lodge” May 17, 1792, served as grand commander of the Grand Commandery, K.T. of New York from 1814–28 and was grand master of the Grand Encampment of the U.S. from 1818–28. d. Feb. 11, 1828.

George Clinton (1739–1812) Member of Continental Congress (1775–1776); Governor of New York (1777–95 and 1801–04); Vice-President of the United States (1805–12),

Brigadier General in American Revolution (1777). b. July 26, 1739 in Little Britain, N.Y. He was an uncle of DeWitt Clinton q.v. He missed signing the Declaration of Independence as Washington asked him to take a post in the highlands as a general of militia. In 1758, he participated in the expedition against Fort Frontenac with his father and brother James. In 1780 he thwarted an expedition led by Sir John Johnson q.v. and Joseph Brant q.v. into the Mohawk Valley. As governor, he took a great interest in education and initiated the movement for the organization of a common school system in his address to the legislature in 1795. His Masonic membership is hazy, but he appears to have been a member of Warren Lodge No. 17, N.Y.C., serving as master in 1800 and representing the lodge at the Grand Steward's Lodge on May 28, 1800. The following year he is referred to as a past master and also an honorary member of Courtland Lodge No. 34. There is also record of a George Clinton, Jr., who in 1799 was secretary of Howard Lodge No. 35, N.Y.C. and senior warden in 1800. From 1806 to 1819 there was a rash of five lodges named "Clinton" chartered in New York and they were undoubtedly named for George rather than his nephew DeWitt, for the latter had not reached his peak of fame by that time. The numbers of these lodges were 143 (present in the 1818 proceedings); 151 at Plattsburg (warranted in 1806); 183 (in Clinton) warranted in 1809; 202 (Watervliet) warranted in 1812; and a 278 represented in the proceedings of 1819. d. April 20, 1812 in Washington, D.C.

Arthur R. Clippinger Bishop, United Brethren Church. b. Sept. 3, 1878 in Franklin Co., Pa. Ordained U.B. minister in 1905, serving pastorates in New Cumberland, Pa. and Dayton, Ohio until 1918 when elected bishop in May, 1921. He has been senior bishop of the Evangelical United Brethren Church since Nov. 1946. Raised June 7, 1920 in Miami Valley Lodge No. 660, exalted to Royal Arch in Unity Chapter No. 16, R.A.M., Feb. 24, 1921 and knighted in Reed Cornmandery No. 6, K.T. April 5, 1921. 32° AASR in Valley of Dayton and 33° at Philadelphia, Pa. on Sept. 27, 1950. d. July 18, 1958.

Roy Clippinger U.S. Congressman, 79th and 80th Congresses (1945–49) from 24th Illinois Dist. b. Jan. 13, 1886 at Fairfield, Ill. With the Norris City Record (Ill.) from 1896–1909 and publisher of the Carmi Democrat Tribune since 1909. Past president of Illinois Press Association. Mason, 32° AASR (NJ) and Shriner.

Henry R. Cloud (1886–1950) Superintendent of Haskell Institute. b. Dec. 28, 1886 in Thurston Co., Nebr. of Indian parents and married Elizabeth Bender, Chippewa. Received A.B. and A.M. from Yale; B.D. from Auburn Theol. Seminary and D.D. from Emporia (Kansas) College. He was an ordained Presbyterian minister, teacher, edited The Indian 'Outlook and president of the American Indian Institute from 1915. He was chairman of the official delegation of Winnebagoes to the President in 1912–13, and member of the Committee of 100 appointed by secretary of Interior in 1925. Appointed superintendent of Haskell Institute in Aug., 1933 by executive order of President Roosevelt. Received Indian achievement award in 1935. Mason. d. Feb. 9, 1950.

J. W. Clous Brigadier General, U.S. Army. Member of Normal Lodge No. 523, New York City.

Leo Cluesmann Secretary, American Federation of Musicians. b. Dec. 17, 1885 at Newark, N.J. Graduate of National Conservatory of Music in 1904, and L.B. from New Jersey Law School. Admitted to bar in 1927. Was assistant to president of American Federation of Musicians from 1939–42 and secretary since 1942. Editor and publisher of International Musician since 1942. Mason and Shriner.

William G. Clyde (1868—1931) President of Carnegie Steel Co. b. July 29, 1868 at Chester, Pa. Began as a civil engineer. Was vice president and general manager from 1918–25 and president from 1925. Also president of Clairton Steel Co., Carnegie Land Co., Clairton By-Products Coke, Co., Carnegie Land Co., Girard Land Co., Conneaut Land Co., Sharon Land Co., Sharon Coke Co., and Bessemer Electric Power Co. d. March 23, 1931. Mason, received 33° AASR from Northern Supreme Council on Sept. 19, 1929.

Andrew J. Cobb (1857–1925) Presiding Justice, Supreme Court of Georgia. b. April 12, 1857 at Athens, Ga. Practiced law in Athens, professor of law and dean of Atlanta Law School. Associate justice of supreme court of Georgia from 1896–1907, serving as presiding justice from 1905–07. Judge of superior court for Western Georgia from 1917–21. Mason. d. March 27, 1925.

Cully A. Cobb Editor of Progressive Farmer and Southern Ruralist since 1930. b. Feb. 25, 1884 at Prospect, Tenn. Teacher, high school superintendent, state agricultural agent and in charge of boy's agricultural club work from 1910–19. Member of Battle Hill Lodge No. 523, and 32° AASR (SJ) at Atlanta, Ga.

Ernest Cobb Author of children's books. b. Dec. 3, 1877 at Newton Upper Falls, Mass. Studied at Harvard, Sorbonne. In early life was a newspaper reporter, high school principal, music teacher and school superintendent. Among his many works are Garden Steps; The Hen at Work; Around the World With Father Time; Metcalf Readers; Busy Builders' Books; Europe Today and Yesterday; Arlo; Anita; Allspice; Dan's Boy; Pennie; Andre; Picore and Robin. Mason.

Howell Cobb (1815–1868) Secretary of Treasury, Governor of Georgia and Confederate General. b. Sept. 7, 1815 in Cherry Hill, Ga. Entered congress as a Democrat in 1843 and served by reelections until 1851, serving as speaker in 1849. Elected governor of Georgia in 1851 by the Union party. Returned to congress in 1855 and supported Buchanan. On his election, Buchanan named Cobb as secretary of the Treasury in 1857. He resigned in 1860 to return to Georgia where he urged secession. He presided over the sessions of the provisional congress which adopted the constitution of the Confederacy. He was made a brigadier general and later a major general, but took very little part in military movements. He was a member of Mt. Vernon Lodge No. 22, Athens, Ga., serving as master in 1843. He acted as grand junior warden of the Grand Lodge of Georgia on Nov. 13, 1843. He became an active member of the Southern Supreme Council AASR on March 31, 1860. d. Oct. 9, 1868.

John B. Cobb (1857–1923) Capitalist. b. Oct. 5, 1857 in Caswell Co., N. Car. He borrowed $500 at age of 19 and entered leaf tobacco business, becoming associated with American Tobacco Co. in 1890 as leaf buyer and serving as vice president of same from 1896–1908. Also director and officer of affiliated companies, retiring in 1908. Mason. d. April 9, 1923.

Rufus W. Cobb Former Governor of Alabama and grand master of the Grand Lodge of Alabama in 1882.

Sylvanus Cobb, Jr. (1823–1887) Author of fiction. b. in Waterville, Maine, the son of Rev. Sylvanus Cobb, noted Universalist, who was leader in anti-slavery and temperance movements. His most noted work is The Caliph of Bagdad. Others include The King's Talisman; The Patriot Cruiser; Ben Mimed, etc. He was a member of Oxford Lodge No. 18, Norway, Maine, serving as master for five years (1858–61 and 1866). He served as high priest of Norfolk Chapter, R.A.M., master of Hyde Park Council R. & S.M. and commander of Cyprus Commandery, K.T. all of Hyde Park, N.Y. Also member of Scottish Rite. d. July 20, 1887.

Tyrus R. "Ty" Cobb Member of Baseball Hall of Fame. b. Dec. 18, 1886 in Narrows, Banks Co., Ga. Played with the Detroit American League team from 1905 until 1926 and with Philadelphia from 1927–28. He led the American League in batting 12 times and created or equalled more major league records than any other ball player. He retired with 419 major league hits. His all-time high batting average for lifetime is .369. He was one of the first four elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame. He is a member of Royston Lodge No. 426 (now No. 52), joining in 1907 at the age of 21. He received his 32° AASR (NJ) in Detroit on Jan. 25, 1912. He was elected honorary life member of City of Straights Lodge No. 452, Detroit, on May 7, 1921. Joined Moslem Shrine Temple, Detroit, in 1912. A Shrine class was named for him in Newark, N.J. in Dec. 1955. His father, Wm. H. Cobb, was master of Royston Lodge No. 426 from 1899 to 1903 and organized a fine fellowcraft team that traveled over Georgia.

Charles D. Coburn Stage and screen actor. b. June 19, 1877 in Savannah, Ga. Became manager of Savannah Theatre at 18 and took up the stage as a profession at 22. He served in stock companies through the South and Middle West and became a leading man. He starred as John Storm in The Christian. In 1906 he organized the Coburn Players and he and Mrs. Coburn played the principal parts in Electra of Euripedes, Iphigenia in Tanis, The Canterbury Pilgrims, Jeanne d'Arc, The Rivals and 16 Shakespearean plays from 1906–17. He then moved to the legitimate stage in New York and for 20 years was one of the most famous actors of that period. He made the monocle famous. He was closely associated with the greatest writers and producers of the time, and for a while was under the management of George M. Cohan q.v. In 1935 with Mrs. Coburn and Dixon Ryan Fox, he founded the Mohawk Drama Festival Institute of Theatre at Union College. He made his first appearance in moving pictures in 1937, appearing in Of Human Hearts and 41 other pictures including Idiot's Delight, The Story of Alexander Graham Bell, Stanley and Livingstone, Kings Row, George Washington Slept Here, The Constant Nymph, Princess O'Rourke, Heaven Can Wait, Knickerbocker Holiday, Rhapsody in Blue, The Impatient Years, Shady Lady, The Green Years. He was raised in Prince of Orange Lodge No. 16, New York City on Feb. 6, 1913. He was exalted in Constitution Chapter No. 230, R.A.M. and knighted in Palestine Commandery No. 18, K.T. in 1913 and created a noble in the Mecca Shrine Temple in Jan. 1914. He is a life member of lodge, chapter, commandery and Shrine. On May 19, 1957 he received the gold medal for distinguished service from the General Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons.

Frank S. Cocheu (1871–1940) Major General, U.S. Army. b. Nov. 22, 1871. Graduate of West Point in 1894, advancing through grades to major general in 1934. He participated in the Santiago Campaign in 1898, the Philippine Insurrection, 1899–1902, in France 1918–19. Member of General Staff 1907–11, 1914–17 and 1921–25. Retired in 1935. Mason, Knight Templar and member of National Sojourners. d. July 11, 1940.

Robert L. Cochran Governor of Nebraska, 1934–41. b. Jan. 28, 1886 at Avoca, Nebr. Graduate of Univ. of Nebraska in 1910. Employed as a country surveyor, railroad surveyor, state bridge inspector, district engineer, and state engineer from 1923–34. He served three terms as governor, starting in 1934. He was with the UNRRA in the Mediterranean Theater from 1944–45 and chief of civil works branch, Bureau of Budget, since 1945. He served in WW1 as an army officer. Member of Gothenberg Lodge No. 249, Gothenberg, Nebr. 32° AASR (SJ) at Lincoln, Tangier Shrine Temple, Omaha and member of Royal Arch chapter and commandery, K.T.

Thomas C. Cochran Congressman, 70th to 73rd Congresses (1927–35) from 20th Pa. dist. b. Nov. 30, 1877 in Mercer Co., Pa. Studied law and admitted to bar in 1903. Congressional delegate to Interparliamentary Union at Paris, 1927, Berlin, 1928, Geneva, 1929 and London, 1930. Mason.

Gordon S. “Mickey” Cochrane Member of Baseball Hall of Fame. b. April 6, 1903 at Bridgewater, Mass. He played for the Philadelphia Athletics as catcher from 1925 to 1933 and for the Detroit American League team from 1934–37. He was later manager at Detroit and at present is a Yankee scout, doubling as a coach. A fiery catcher, he compiled a notable record both as a player and manager. He was the spark of the Athletic’s championship teams of 1929, 1930, 1931 and had an average batting mark of .346 for those three years. He led Detroit to two league championships and a world series title in 1935. He was raised in Fellowship Lodge of Bridgewater, Mass. about 1925 and member of Al Bedoo Shrine Temple of Billings, Mont. in 1952.

Sir George Cockburn (1772–1853) British Naval Admiral who burned the White House in 1814. b. April 22, 1772 in London. He entered the navy when 9. He became a rear admiral in 1812 and took a conspicuous part in the war with the United States. In 1813 he posted his squadron in Lynn Haven Bay and sent off marauding expeditions in all directions. He burned towns, carried off property and slaves and took the fortified works at Hampton on June 26. In August, 1814 he accompanied the expedition against the city of Washington, and in conjunction with General Ross, defeated a small force of Americans at Bladensburg, Md., four miles from the capitol on Aug. 24. They then entered Washington accompanied by a guard of 200 men and burned the public buildings. They were unsuccessful in their attempt to capture Baltimore the next month. In 1815 he received the Order of the Bath and in the autumn of that year carried Napoleon q.v. to St. Helena. He served repeatedly as a member of parliament and lord of the admiralty, being made admiral of the fleet in 1851. In 1852 he inherited a baronetcy from his brother. He was made a member of Royal Somerset House and Inverness Lodge No. 4, London on Nov. 25, 1811, and in 1812 was admitted to the Lodge of Antiquity No. 2, London. d. Aug. 19, 1853.

John Cocke (1772–1854) Major General in War of 1812. b. in Brunswick, Va. and migrated early with his father to Tennessee. He was admitted to the bar and was a member of the first legislature in 1796 and speaker of the house for many years. Afterwards he was a state senator. Was made major general of the East Tennessee Volunteers in Sept., 1813 and commanded them in the Creek War. He served under Jackson at New Orleans in 1814. Was U.S. congressman from 1819–27. Member of Rising Star Lodge No. 44, Rutledge, Tenn.

John H. Cocke (1780–1866) Brigadier General in War of 1812. b. Sept. 19, 1780 in Surry Co., Va. Graduate of William and Mary in 1798 and was general commanding the Virginia troops at Camp Carter and Camp Holly in 1812–13 and in the defense of the city of Richmond. He was vice-president of the American Temperance Society and a member of the board of visitors of the University of Virginia. An extract from his diary gives an account of the Masonic cornerstone laying of the University of Virginia at Charlottesville in 1817 which was attended by presidents Monroe, Jefferson and Madison. He received his E.A. degree in Jefferson Lodge No. 65 at Surry Court Court House, Va. according to the proceedings of the grand lodge in 1804. Later he seems to have become a member of Philanthropic Lodge No. 127 for he was suspended from it on May 18, 1827 for “gross unmasonic conduct.”

John A. Cockerill Author, journalist, and editor of New York World. Member of Republic Lodge No. 690 and served as trustee of same for three years.

Sir James Cockle (1819–1895) English lawyer and mathematician. First chief justice of Queensland, Australia from 1863–79. He made important contributions to theory of differential equations. Member of Lodge of Nine Muses No. 325, London, England.

David F. Cocks Vice President and Treasurer of Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky since 1948. b. Sept. 17, 1897 in New York City. Started as office boy with Standard Oil in 1917. Raised in Louisville Lodge No. 400, Louisville, Ky. about 1920.

Knighted in DeMolay Commandery No. 12, K.T., 32° AASR and past potentate of Kos-air Shrine Temple, all of Louisville.

George P. Codd (1869–1927) U.S. Congressman, 67th Congress (1921–23) from 1st Michigan dist. and circuit judge from 1924–27. b. Dec. 7, 1869. Lawyer in practice in Detroit from 1892. Mason. d. Feb. 16, 1927.

William F. Cody (1846–1917) Better known as “Buffalo Bill,” the famous pony express rider, Indian fighter, scout, plainsman and showman. b. Feb. 26, 1846 in Scott Co., Iowa. His father was killed in the Kansas border war. He was a pony express rider from 1860–61 with the famous “Russell, Majors & Waddell” q.v. From 1861–65 he was a government scout and guide with the 7th Kansas Cavalry. He contracted to furnish the Kansas Pacific Railroad with all the buffalo meat required to feed the laborers engaged in road construction and in 18 months (1867–68) killed 4,280 buffalo, earning the name “Buffalo Bill” by which he is best known. From 1868–72 he was again a government scout and guide, operating against the Sioux and Cheyenne. He killed Yellow Hand, the Cheyenne chief, in a hand-to-hand fight. He served as a general in the Nebraska national guard during the Sioux outbreak in 1890–91. In 1872 he was a member of the Nebraska legislature. He was in the Battle of Wounded Knee. From 1883 on he headed the famous “Wild West Show” that toured America and Europe. He was president of the Shoshone Irrigation Co. and co-author of The Great Salt Lake Trail. He was raised in Platte Valley Lodge No. 32, North Platte, Nebr. on Jan. 10, 1871. Member of Euphrates Chapter No. 15 at North Platte, and when he received his mark master degree, appropriately selected a buffalo's head as his mark. d. Jan. 10, 1917 and was buried with Masonic honors on Lookout Mountain near Golden, Colo.

Charles F. Coe Author and lawyer. Outstanding penologist and criminologist and writer of special articles on crime. b. Nov. 25, 1890 at Buffalo, N.Y. Practicing attorney in Palm Beach, Fla. Author of Me . . . Gangster, The River Pirate, Swag, Hooch, Triumph, Votes, In This Corner (with Jack Dempsey) q.v., Pay Off, The Other Half, Show Down, Vigilanti, Ransom, G-Man, Lifer, Knockout, Law and the Profits and many others. Mason.

John A. Coe (1868–1948) President of Anaconda American Brass Co. With American Brass Co. from 1903. Mason. d. Aug. 4, 1948.

John A. Coe, Jr. President of American Brass Co. b. Nov. 14, 1897 at Shelton, Conn., Æ Joined American Brass in 1920 and president since 1950; director since 1941. Also president and director of Anaconda American Brass. Served in army in WW1. Mason.

Louis A. Coerne (1870–1922) Composer. b. Feb. 27, 1870 at Newark, N.J. Composer of 182 works of vocal and instrumental music. Ph.D. from Harvard in music. Taught music in Olivet College, Univ. of Wisconsin, Buffalo, N.Y., Harvard. Served as organist and choirmaster in many churches. Mason. d. 1922.

John M. Coffee Congressman 75th to 79th Congresses (1937–47) from 6th Washington dist. b. Jan. 23, 1897 at Tacoma, Wash. Graduate of Univ. of Washington and Yale. Lawyer, practicing at Tacoma from 1922. Raised in Tacoma Lodge No. 22, Tacoma, Washington in Nov., 1936.

Leslie Coffelt Secret Service man who was killed on Nov. 1, 1950 by a Puerto Rican who was attempting to force his way into the Blair House and kill President Truman q.v. Truman was at this time living at the Blair House while the White House was being remodeled. Coffelt was a member of Potomac Lodge No. 5, Washington, D.C., being raised on Sept. 28, 1945. The lodge gave Masonic burial in Arlington Cemetery with President and Mrs. Truman present. Seven Freemasons of the White House Police were active pallbearers and six other Masonic White House guards were honorary pallbearers.

Walter C. Coffey President of University of Minnesota. b. Feb. 1, 1876 at Hartsville, Ind. Taught animal husbandry and related subjects in public schools of Indiana and later Univ. of Minn. President of the university from 1941–45 and emeritus since 1945. Mason.

Thomas C. Coffin (1887–1934) Congressman, 73rd Congress (1933–35) from Idaho. Lawyer practicing at Pocatello, Idaho. Assistant attorney general of Idaho from 1913–15. Mason. d. June 8, 1934.

William C. Coffin (1862–1944) Architect who designed and built some of the largest blast furnaces, steel plants and oil refineries in the United States and Canada, Ireland, Scotland and England. b. Sept. 7, 1862 at Pittsburgh, Pa. Mason and 32° AASR. d. Dec. 4, 1944.

John D. Coffman Chief Forester, Department of Interior, 1933–52. b. May 10, 1882 at Allentown, Pa. Graduate of Yale. With Forestry Service from 1909 as forester at Inyo National Forest, Shasta National Forest, Trinity National Forest. Awarded Department of Interior Distinguished Service medal in 1952. Raised in Easton Lodge No. 152, Easton, Pa. on Feb. 5, 1904 and received his 50-year pin Jan. 7, 1954. Was senior deacon of the lodge in 1903 when he left for Cornell Univ. Charter member (1907) of Cornell chapter of Acacia fraternity. Dimitted from chapter and cornmandery at Easton, Pa. and also Islam Shrine Temple of San Francisco, Calif.

Chandler C. Cohagen Architect. b. April 24, 1889 near Pierson, Iowa. Graduate of Univ. of Michigan. President of McIver, Cohagen & Marshall, architects of Billings and Great Falls, Mont. 1915–20 and of McIver & Cohagen, 1920–36. Independent practice since 1936. Member of executive board, grand council, Order of DeMolay since 1929. Grand master of Order of DeMolay, 1938. 33° and inspector general of AASR (SJ) since 1937. Raised in Billings Lodge No. 113, Billings, Mont., July 9, 1917 and past master of same. Grand master Grand Lodge of Montana in 1951. Member of Billings Chapter No. 6, R.A.M., Adoniram Council No. 8, R. & S.M. and Aldemar Commandery all of Billings. Grand treasurer of DeMolay since 1955. Founder of Rocky Mountain Masonic Conference in 1952.

George M. Cohan (1878–1942) Actor, playwright, comedian, composer and producer. Both a Roman Catholic and a Freemason. b. July 4, 1878 at Providence, R.I. He made his first professional appearance at 9 years in Daniel Boone at Haverstraw, N.Y. Later in vaudeville, he appeared in Peck's Bad Boy, The Four Cohans, Little Johnny Jones and George Washington, Jr. He authored the following plays: The Wise Guy, The Governor's Son, Running for Office, Fifty Miles From Boston, The Man Who Owns Broadway, The Yankee Prince, The Little Millionaire, Seven Keys to Baldpate, Hit-the-Trail Holiday, The Song and Dance Man, American Born, The Merry Malones and many others. He also wrote many popular songs and starred in I'd Rather Be Right in 1937–38. He was a life member of Pacific Lodge No. 233, New York City, being raised on Nov. 16, 1905. He received his 32° AASR (NJ) on Feb. 3, 1906 and was a life member. He was also a life member of Mecca Shrine Temple, New York City. At his death on Nov. 5, 1942, he was buried with Catholic services.

William W. Cohen (1874–1940) Congressman, 70th Congress (1927–29). b. Sept. 6, 1874 at Brooklyn, N.Y. Brokerage business in New York City from 1902. Mason. d. Oct. 12, 1940.

Arthur C. Coit (1869–1929) Lyceum manager. b. April 8, 1869 at Shalersville, Ohio. Began in lyceum and chautauqua business in 1895 and was president of Coit Lyceum Bureau, Coit-Alber Chautauquas, Coit-Alber Independent Chautauqua Co., Dominion Chautauqua (T or on t o). Served as YMCA secretary overseas in 1918. Retired in 1924. Mason. d. Aug. 3, 1929.

James L. Coke Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Hawaii. b. Aug. 31, 1875 in Marshfield, Oreg. Lawyer.

Richard Coke Territorial senator of Hawaii in 1912. President Wilson appointed him circuit judge in 1916 and associate justice of supreme court of Hawaii in 1917 and chief justice following year for four year term. He retired in 1922 to private practice and was appointed by Pres. Roosevelt as chief justice in 1934 and reappointed in 1939. Mason 32° AASR (SJ), Shriner and Jester.

Richard Coke (1829-?) U.S. Senator and Governor of Texas. b. March 13, 1829 at Williamsburg, Va. Removed to Waco, Texas and practiced law. Served in the Confederate army first as a private and later as captain. In 1866 he was elected judge of the supreme court and was removed a year later by General Sheridan on the grounds that he was an impediment to reconstruction. In 1873 he was elected governor and in 1876 was reelected. He resigned as governor on March 4, 1877 to take his seat in the U.S. senate, being reelected to that body in 1883. Member of Waco Lodge No. 92, Waco, Texas.

Bainbridge Colby (1869-1950) Secretary of State under President Wilson. b. Dec. 22, 1869 at St. Louis, Mo. A lawyer, he practiced in New York from 1892. He represented Samuel L. Clemens q.v. in settlement of his bankrupt publishing house. He was active in pushing Theodore Roosevelt for the presidency and was one of the founders of the Progressive National Party in 1912. Appointed commissioner of U.S.

Shipping Board in 1917. He was named secretary of state by Wilson in 1920, serving a year. He then became the law partner of Wilson from 1921–23. He was raised in Kane Lodge No. 454, New York City on Nov. 18, 1902. In May, 1931 he addressed the Grand Lodge of New York.

Leonard W. Colby (1846–1925) Soldier and lawyer. b. Aug. 5, 1846 at Ashtabula Co., Ohio. Earned four degrees from Univ. of Wisconsin. Served as Nebraska district judge, assistant attorney general of U.S., and state Nebraska senator for two terms. With Nebraska troops in Sioux Indian campaign of 1890, commanding a brigade. Rose from lieutenant to brigadier general in Nebraska national guard. Was brigadier general of U.S. Volunteers in 1898–99 during Spanish American War and adjutant general of Nebraska 1901–03. In 1897 he organized the Cuban–American Volunteer Legion. Mason. d. Nov. 15, 1925.

Charles F. Colcord (1859–1934) Capitalist. b. Aug. 18, 1859 at Bourbon Co., Ky. and was self educated. He was a range rider in Texas when 12, and making the run into Oklahoma in 1889, he staked lots in present Oklahoma City. He was organizer and first president of the Commercial Natl. Bank in that city. He entered the oil business in 1903, drilling first wells at Red Fork and discovered the Glen Pool, the great oil field of Oklahoma in 1906. In 1917 he discovered and developed the South Bend, Texas oil field. He was first sheriff of Oklahoma County in 1889, deputy U.S. marshal in 1893 and first chief of police of Oklahoma City in 1889. Mason. d. in Dec., 1934.

Lincoln Colcord (1883–1947) Author. b. Aug. 14, 1883 at sea off Cape Horn. Spent his boyhood days to age of 14 with his father at sea, mostly on voyages to China. He began writing short stories in 1909, and was editor of American Neptune from 1941. Among his writings are The Drifting Diamond, The Game of Life and Death, Vision of War, Instrument of the Gods and others. Mason. d. Nov. 16, 1947.

R. K. Colcord Former Governor of Nevada. Member of Silver Star Lodge No. 5 at Goldhill, Nev. and of Carson Lodge No. 1, Carson City, Nevada. Fullname was Russell K. Past master of Carson Lodge; Royal Arch Mason and oldest living Mason in Nevada at death on Oct. 20, 1939.

Cadwallader D. Colden (1769–1834) Soldier, politician who succeeded DeWitt Clinton q.v. as mayor of New York. b. April 4, 1769 in Springhill, N.Y. Practicing lawyer in New York City most of his life. Served in a volunteer regiment in 1812 and one term in congress. In 1824–27 he was a state senator. He is variously listed as a member of Clinton Lodge No. 453, Brooklyn (dimitted Dec. 9, 1817) and Albion Lodge No. 31, New York City. He was senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of New York for five years. In the anti-Masonic period he denounced Freemasonry for political gain, but failed to be elected governor of New York. d. Feb. 7, 1834.

Charles S. Colden Justice, Supreme Court of New York. b. June 3, 1885 at Whitestone, N.Y. Worked as a teacher, newspaper reporter, lawyer and banker. Justice of supreme court since 1943. Charter member of Whitestone Lodge No. 973,

New York City and in 1955 was named grand representative for the Netherlands near New York.

Benjamin Cole English engraver, who in 1728 and again in 1731 published the old constitutions engraved on 30 copper plates under the title of A Book of The Ancient Constitutions of the Free and Accepted Masons. He printed a third edition in 1751 changing the title, and subsequent editions were published up to 1794.

Ernest E. Cole (1871–1949) President of University of State of New York, 1940–42 and lawyer. b. Nov. 18, 1871 at Savona, N.Y. Admitted to bar in 1895. Was principal of public schools in several New York cities and in private law practice in Bath, N.Y. from 1916. Served in both state legislative branches. Mason, 32° AASR (NJ). d. Nov. 19, 1949.

Frank L. Cole Brigadier General U.S. Medical Corps. b. June 11, 1890 at Paris, Idaho. M.D. degree from Univ. of Illinois in 1914. Entered army in 1917 and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1948. Served in Honolulu, Letterman, Walter Reed and Hot Springs general hospitals. Commanding general of Letterman General Hospital since 1948. Raised in Eagle Rock Lodge No. 19, Idaho Falls, Idaho in spring of 1920.

George M. Cole Major General, U.S. Army. Mason and member of Hartford Chapter No. 56 of National Sojourners.

George W. Cole (1858–1923) Justice, Supreme Court of New York, 1916–23. b. Dec. 31, 1858 at Humphrey, N.Y. Mason. d. Mar. 30, 1923.

Russell D. Cole President of Cornell College since 1943. b. March 4, 1900 at Northwood, Iowa. Vice president and secretary of the college from 1939–43. Raised in Crescent Lodge No. 25, Cedar Rapids, Iowa and present membership in Mt. Vernon Lodge No. 112, Mt. Vernon, Iowa. 32° AASR at Cedar Rapids and member of Za–Ga–Zig Shrine Temple, Des Moines.

Thomas Cole (1801–1848) American painter who was one of the first landscape artists of this country. b. Feb. 1, 1801 at Bolton–le–Moor, England, he came to the U.S. with his father in 1819, settling in Ohio, where Cole took lessons from a mediocre portrait–painter named Stein. In 1825 he settled in New York and did much painting of Hudson River scenes. Later he made professional visits to England and Europe. His most popular paintings were Course of Empire and Voyage of Life. Others were The Tomb of General Brock; A View of the United States; Garden of Eden; Expulsion From Paradise; Catskill Creek; Conway Peak; Mount Etna. He was raised in Amity Lodge No. 5, Zanesville, Ohio in 1822. d. Feb. 11, 1848.

William C. Cole Congressman from Missouri to 78th to 80th and 83rd Congresses from third and sixth districts. b. Aug. 29, 1897 at Filmore, Mo. Admitted to bar in 1928 and practiced at St. Joseph, Mo. since. Served as mounted scout in Mexican Border and on U.S.S. Machias 14 months in WW1. Member of Charity Lodge No. 331, St. Joseph, Mo.; 32° AASR and Moila Temple at St. Joseph. Honorary Legion of Honor, DeMolay.

W. Sterling Cole Congressman from New York (39th dist.) to 74th to 84th Congresses (1935–55). b. April 18, 1904 at Painted Post, N.Y. Graduate of Colgate and Albany Law School. Taught school and began law practice at Bath, N.Y. in 1936. Trustee of Colgate Univ. since 1945. Member of Steuben Lodge No. 112, Almas Shrine Temple, Washington, D.C., DeMolay Commandery No. 22, K.T. in Hornell, N.Y.

Holmes Colebert, Sr. Chickasaw Indian chief who received the 32° AASR from Albert Pike in the spring of 1860.

Benjamin W. Coleman (1869–1939) Chief Justice of Supreme Court of Nevada. b. July 1, 1869 at Ballsville, Va. Graduate of Richmond College and began practice of law in Denver, Colo. in 1893 and at Cripple Creek in 1897. Moved to Nevada in 1906 and practiced in Ely. Member of the supreme court from 1915 until death and chief justice from 1919–20, 1925–26, 1931–33, 1937–38. Mason.

Frederick W. Coleman (1878–1945) Major General, U.S. Army. b. July 16, 1878 at Baltimore, Md. Appointed Infantry lieutenant in 1898 and advanced through grades to major general and chief of finance, U.S. Army from 1932–36. Retired Sept. 30, 1936. Served in Spanish–American War, Philippine Insurrection, Mexican border and with 91st Division in WW1. Mason. d. Jan. 5, 1945.

John S. Coleman President of Burroughs Adding Machine

Co. since 1946. b. Oct. 12, 1897 at Charlestown, W. Va. Graduate of Georgetown Univ. in 1924. Started as salesman with Burroughs in 1920. Director of Standard Accident Ins. Co., Fruehauf Trailer Co. Served overseas in 1917–18. Mason.

J. Winston Coleman, Jr. Author and tobacco planter. b. Nov. 5, 1898 at Lexington, Ky. Holds degrees from Univ. of Kentucky, Lincoln Memorial Univ. Engaged as an engineer from 1920–23 and president of Coleman & Davis Inc., general contractors from 1924–36. Owner and operator of Win-burn Farm, specializing in tobacco and hemp at Lexington, Ky. since 1936. Author of Masonry in the Bluegrass, Stage-Coach Days in the Bluegrass, The Court Houses of Lexington, Lexington During the Civil War Slavery Times in Kentucky, A Bibliography of Kentucky History, 150 Years of Freemasonry in Lexington and Historical Sketch of Lexington Lodge No. I. Raised in Lexington Lodge No. 1, Lexington, Ky. in 1920. Member of Lexington Chapter No. 1, R.A.M.; Washington Council No. 1, R. & S.M. and Webb Commandery No. 1, K.T. all of Lexington and 32° AASR at Covington, Kentucky. Member of Oleika Shrine Temple, American Lodge of Research, The Philalethes Society, Quatuor Coronati Lodge No. 2076 (England) and Societas Rosicruciana, Virginia College, VII*.

Leighton Coleman (1837–?) Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Delaware. b. May 3, 1837 in Philadelphia, Pa. and graduated from the General Theological Seminary, N.Y. in 1861. After holding pastorates in Philadelphia, Wilmington, Del. and Mauch Chunk, Pa., he became rector of Trinity church, Toledo, Ohio in 1874. In 1875 he was elected bishop of Fond du Lac, Wis., but declined. He resided abroad for several years, and on June 6, 1888 was chosen bishop of Delaware. He served as grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania and was a Knight Templar.

Sydney H. Coleman President of American Humane Association from 1927–46 and editor of the Humane Review since 1934. b. Aug. 31, 1886 at Bellona, N.Y. Began in social service work as general manager of the Erie County Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in 1910. Mason.

William T. Coleman (1824– ?) California pioneer and vigilantes leader. b. Feb. 29, 1824 in Cythiana, Ky., he migrated to San Francisco in 1849 and became a wealthy shipping and commission merchant. He became nationally famous as a vigilante leader when he organized the citizens of San Francisco in 1851 and again in 1856 to restore law and order from gangs of hoodlums. His business took him to New York in 1856 and in 1863 when the disastrous “draft riots” swept New York City, Governor Horatio Seymour called upon Coleman to organize the law-abiding elements, which he did with great success and became known as “The Lion of the Vigilantes.” On his return to California in 1877 and when hoodlums were committing depredations in the Chinese quarter, he again organized the citizens into an army wielding hickory clubs. He was made a Mason in Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City in 1863 and was past commander of California Commandery No. 1, San Francisco.

Henry, 3rd Lord of Coleraine Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of England (Moderns) in 1727.

Schuyler Colfax (1823–1835) Vice President of the United States, 1869–73. b. March 23, 1823 in New York City. Settled with family in Indiana in 1836. Became owner and editor of St. Joseph Valley Register of South Bend. He was a member of congress from Indiana from 1855–69 and was speaker of the house from 1863–69. He declined the offer to be secretary of state from Grant in 1871 and was prominently mentioned as a presidential candidate in 1872. He declined the editorship of the New York Tribune in 1872. In 1873 he was implicated in charges of corruption brought against members of congress who had received shares of stock in the credit mobilier of America, and although they were never proved, it ruined him politically. He was initiated in Lebanon Lodge No. 7, Washington, D.C. on Aug. 15, 1856, and the other two degrees given him by St. Joseph Lodge No. 45, South Bend, Ind. He was dropped from the roll of Lebanon Lodge on Dec. 16, 1864. d. Jan. 13, 1885.

Frederic R. Colie Justice, Supreme Court of New Jersey. b. May 4, 1895 at East Orange, N.J. Practiced law in New Jersey from 1922. Appointed to supreme court in 1941 and again in 1948. Mason.

Vincente Mejia Colindres President of Honduras from 1929–33. A Freemason.

Raymond S. Coll Editor of Honolulu Advertiser since 1922.

b. Jan. 22, 1875 at Pittsburgh, Pa. Began in newspaper work in 1893. Was managing editor of Bisbee (Ariz.) Review; editor of Douglas (Ariz.) Dispatch and managing editor of Pittsburgh Dispatch from 1916–21. Member of Lodge le Progres de l'Oceania No. 371; Honolulu Chapter No. 1, R.A.M.; Honolulu Commandery No. 1, K.T.; Honolulu Chapter No. 11, National Sojourners; Aloha Shrine Temple, all of Honolulu Hawaii.

Edgar B. Colladay Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Jan. 8, 1885 at Madison, Wis. Graduate of Univ. of Wisconsin in 1909. Commissioned in 1910 and advanced to brigadier general in 1940. Mason.

Jacob Collamer (1791–1865) U.S. Senator from Vermont and Postmaster General under President Taylor. b. Jan. 8, 1791 at Troy, N.Y. Graduated from Univ. of Vermont in 1810 and served in the militia in the frontier campaign of War of 1812. Practiced law in Vermont and was elected associate justice of supreme court of Vermont from 1833–42. U.S. congressman from 2nd dist. in 1844 and 1846, declining to be a candidate in next election. Named as postmaster general in March, 1849, he resigned with the rest of the cabinet on the death of Taylor. He was again elected to supreme court of Vermont, and held the office until 1854 when he was chosen U.S. senator, an office he held until his death on Nov. 9, 1865. He was a member of Rising Sun Lodge No. 7, Royalton, Vt.

John Caskie Collett (1898–1955) Judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals, 8th Judicial Circuit from 1947. b. May 25, 1898 at Keytesville, Mo. Admitted to Missouri bar in 1902. He was appointed to Missouri supreme court in 1935 and elected for 10 year term in 1936. In 1937 he was appointed judge of U.S. district court for Western Mo. Member of Salisbury Lodge No. 208, Salisbury, Mo. and exalted to Royal Arch in Salisbury Chapter No. 133 on March 22, 1923. d. Dec. 5, 1955.

George R. Collett (1872 – 1942) President of the Kansas City Stock Yards Co. from 1921. b. Jan. 6, 1872 at Hartford, Mich. Began as a railroader and after six years turned to the cattle industry, being associated with Armour & Co., and the stockyards in Milwaukee, St. Louis and Kansas City. Was vice president of Morris & Co. of Chicago from 1918–21. Mason, Knight Templar, 32° AASR and Shriner. d. July 4, 1942.

Edward Trowbridge Collins (1888–1953) Member of the Baseball Hall of Fame. b. May 2, 1888 at Millerton, N.Y. He was known as “Cocky” and also played under the name of “Edward T. Sullivan.” He played with the American league from 1906 to 1930, a very long time for a professional ball player. During this time he was either with Philadelphia or Chicago. He was the greatest 2nd baseman ever to play ball. Famed as a batsman and base runner and field captain, he was second only to Ty Cobb q.v. in base stealing. His batting average was .333 and he made 3313 hits in 2826 games. He was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1939. He was initiated in Solomons Lodge No. 466 at Tarrytown, N.Y. at the age of 22 on Jan. 19, 1911, passed Feb. 2, 1911 and raised Feb. 16, 1911. He demitted March 17, 1921.

John B. Collins (1850–1917) Commodore, U.S. Navy. b. Jan.

20, 1850 at New Orleans, La., he graduated from U.S. Naval Academy in 1870. From a midshipman in 1866 he became captain in 1906 and commodore in 1909 when he retired. He served in the Behring Sea, Atlantic, Pacific and Indian oceans. He commanded the Princeton, Rainbow, Brooklyn, and Indiana. d. April 12, 1917. Mason.

Ross A. Collins Congressman from Mississippi to 67th to 73rd Congresses (1921–35) and 75th to 77th Congresses (1937–43) from 5th dist. b. April 25, 1880 at Collinsville, Miss. Graduate of Kentucky, Mississippi and Transylvania universities. A lawyer, he was attorney general of Mississippi in 1911–15. In the U.S. congress as chairman of the military appropriation committee he fought for mechanized weapons during the early 30's, and is credited with bringing the "Flying Fortress" into being. Mason.

William M. Colmer Congressman from Mississippi to 73rd to 80th Congresses (1933–49) from 6th dist. b. Feb. 11, 1890 at Moss Point, Miss. Admitted to bar in 1917. Served in WW1. Member of Pascagoula Lodge No. 419, Pascagoula, Miss. and 32° AASR (SJ) at Gulfport, Miss.

Sir Ian Colquhoun (1887–1948) Chief of the clan of Colquhoun of Scotland, he was 89th Grand Master Mason of Scotland in 1935 and as such installed King George VI q.v., who was then duke of York, as grand master mason. He was a member of Dumbarton Kilwinning Lodge No. 18. He held the DSO for gallantry in action in 1916. He was an amateur boxer and lightweight champion of the British army.

He held the rank of lieutenant colonel and was a fisherman and hunter of renown. He was lord high commissioner to the general assembly of the church; scout commissioner; chairman of Scotland's National Trust; Knight of the Thistle and holder of many titles and official positions. b. June 20, 1887; d. Nov. 18, 1948.

Samuel Colt (1814–1862) Inventor of the Colt firearms. b. July 19, 1814 at Hartford, Conn. Apprenticed in his father's factory, but ran away in 1827 for an East India voyage, returning to his father's factory in the dyeing department. He again left home to seek his fortune at age of 17 and toured the continent under the name of "Dr. Coult," giving lectures on chemistry and making a considerable profit from them. The first model of his pistol was made of wood in 1829. In 1835, when but 21, he took out his first patent for revolving firearms. He established the Patent Arms Company and supplied the government with revolvers for the Seminole War and for the Texas and Indian frontiers. Colt was a member of St. John's Lodge No. 4; Pythagoras Chapter No. 17 and Washington Commandery No. 1, all of Hartford, Conn. d. Jan. 10, 1862.

Lord Alexander Colville (1710–1770) English Vice Admiral. He was the 8th Baron Colville in the peerage of Scotland; entering the navy at an early age, he commanded the North American station before the revolution. He was present at the capture of Louisburg in 1758 and served in the expedition against Quebec in 1759, and in command of the fleet at the recapture of Newfoundland in 1762, for which he was promoted to rear admiral a short time later. In 1770 he received the rank of vice admiral. Colville was the first initiate of St. Andrews Lodge No. 1 at Halifax, Nova Scotia in July, 1749, receiving his degrees at the hands of General Edward Cornwallis q.v., founder and first governor of Nova Scotia. The following year Colville became master of the "2nd lodge at Boston," which he represented at every meeting of the provincial grand lodge until his appointment as deputy grand master of North America in 1752. d. May 21, 1770.

Sir Stapleton Cotton Combermere (1773–1865) English Field Marshal. Born in Wales, he served at Cape of Good Hope in 1796; against Tipu Sahib in 1799; in Ireland in 1800. He commanded the cavalry in the Peninsular War of 1803–12; fought at Salamanca in 1812; was commander-in-chief in Ireland in 1822–25; in India 1825–30 and named field marshal in 1855. He was provincial grand master of Chester from 1830 until his death.

Gilbert R. Combs (1863–1934) Musician. b. Jan. 5, 1863 at Philadelphia. He studied under the best American and foreign masters. He founded Combs Broad St. Conservatory of Music, and was one of the founders and president of Sinfonia, national music fraternity. A founder and vice president of National Association of Schools of Music. Was composer for orchestra, piano, voice and violin. Mason. d. June 14, 1934.

Lewis B. Combs Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. April 7, 1895 at Manchester Centre, Vt. Commissioned in U.S. Navy in 1917 and advanced through grades to rear admiral in 1942. Deputy chief of Bureau of Yards and Docks, Washington, D.C. 1938–46, and director of Atlantic division of the bureau in 1946. Retired in 1947. Appointed head of department of civil engineering of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Raised in Greenbush Lodge No. 337, Rensselaer, N.Y. about 1917. 32° AASR at Portsmouth and Dover, N.H. Member of National Sojourners.

Braxton B. Corner Former Governor of Alabama. His original lodge is not known, but he affiliated with Anniston Lodge No. 443 at Anniston, Ala. on May 8, 1888 and demitted from same in 1889. On Nov. 6, 1888 he was one of the petitioners for the establishment of Anniston Chapter No. 105, and was designated as its first high priest, but later reports show no record of him.

Hugh M. Corner President and Treasurer of Avondale Mills, cotton manufacturers since 1945. b. June 9, 1892 at Birmingham, Ala. Also president and director of Comer-Avondale Mills, N.Y. City and director of several other companies. Mason.

Henry S. Commager (1825–1867) Union Brigadier General in Civil war. A prominent Democratic politician in Toledo, Ohio, who in 1864 was unsuccessful candidate for congress. A colonel in the 67th Ohio regiment in war, he was brevetted brigadier general of volunteers on Feb. 27, 1865. Member of Northern Light Lodge No. 40, Toledo. d. Sept. 5, 1867.

Ignacio Comonfort (1812–1863) President of Mexico and soldier. b. March 12, 1812 in Pueblo, he entered the Jesuit college in his native city in 1826; became a captain of cavalry in 1832 and allied himself to the liberal party. A member of congress in 1842 and took part in the revolution of 1846. He became third alcalde of the capital and prefect of western Mexico, but left to engage in the war with the United States. After the American victory he organized guerrillas in the West for another campaign, and was a member of the Queretero congress which made peace with the U.S. and was then chosen senator by his native state, serving until 1851. He joined Alvarez in an insurrection against Santa Anna, and after a trip to New York for financial aid, forced Santa Anna to abdicate in 1855. Alvarez assumed the government, but retired on Dec. 11 and made Comonfort provisional president. He was vigorously opposed by the clergy, the army and the conservatives, and on Dec. 19 the junta of Zacapoastla declared their opposition. They massed a force against him, but he forced their surrender on March 20, 1857. On March 31 he issued a decree confiscating church property, followed by another on June 28, forbidding the clergy to hold landed estate. On March 11, 1857, congress promulgated a new constitution, vesting in itself all control over religious and military affairs. Comonfort was proclaimed constitutional president with extraordinary powers. When the army deserted him, Comonfort appointed Benito Juarez q.v. provisional president and fled first to the U.S. and then to France. When his friend Juarez won over the church party in 1859, and the French invaded Mexico, Comonfort returned, was appointed commander-in-chief of the troops and showed great skill and bravery. On his way from Mexico to San Luis Potosi, on Nov. 13, 1863, he was murdered by bandits. He was grand commander, 33°, of the Supreme Council AASR of Mexico at Vera Cruz.

F. Ray Comstock (1880–1949) Theatrical producer. b. in Buffalo, N.Y., he began as a theatrical producer in 1900. He was the producer of Very Good Eddie, Oh Boy, Oh, Lady, Lady, Oh My Dear, Nobody Home, Rose of China, Leave It to Jane, Sitting Pretty, Let Us Be Gay, Polly Preferred, Adam and Eva, Chu Chin Chow, Mecca and The Miracle. He brought Balieff's Chauve-Souris to the U.S. as well as the Moscow Art Theatre and The Moscow Art Theatre Musical Studio, and presented Mme. Eleanora Duse for her last tour of America. Mason and Shriner. d. Oct. 15, 1949.

William A. Comstock (1877–1949) Governor of Michigan 1933–34. b. July 2, 1877 at Alpena, Mich. he graduated from Univ. of Michigan in 1899 and engaged in the construction and operation of electrical railroads until 1922. Was vice president of Gale Mfg. Co. from 1926, and had several other manufacturing and real estate interests. Served as private during 1917. Member of Alpena Lodge No. 199, Alpena, Mich. d. June 16, 1949.

Samuel S. Conant (1831–1885?) Editor of Harper's Weekly from 1869 until January 1885, when he mysteriously disappeared. b. Dec. 11, 1831 at Waterville, Maine, he studied at Madison Univ., Hamilton, N.Y. and went abroad in 1858, studying in Berlin, Heidelberg and Munich. He contributed to many periodicals and translated from the Russian, through the German, Lermontoff's Circassian Boy. He was a member of Commonwealth Lodge No. 409, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Frederick P. Cone (1871–1948) Governor of Florida, 1937–41. b. Sept. 28, 1871 at Benton, Fla. Admitted to Florida bar in 1892, he served in state senate from 1907–13 and was president of that body in 1911. Member of Lake City Lodge No. 27, Lake City, Fla. d. July 28, 1948.

S. H. Cone A Seneca Indian chief who received the three degrees in Manhattan Lodge No. 370 of New York City on June 5, 1840.

Abraham B. Conger (1887–1953) U.S. District Judge of Georgia from 1949. b. July 14, 1887 near Ty Ty, Ga. Practiced law at Bainbridge, Ga. from 1912. Served in Georgia lower house and was mayor of Bainbridge. For his work in both WW1 and WW2 he was cited by Presidents Wilson and Truman. Mason and Shriner. d. Dec. 9, 1953.

Edwin H. Conger (1843–1907) Diplomat. b. March 7, 1843 in Knox Co., Ill. Served in Civil War and was brevetted a major. Practiced law in Galesburg, Ill. from 1866–68, when he moved to Iowa and became a farmer, banker and stockman. Was state treasurer of Iowa from 1882–85 and member of U.S. congress from 1885–91. He was named minister to Brazil from 1891–93 and again in 1898. He was transferred to China in 1898 and was in Peking during the Boxer siege, where he conducted negotiations on the part of the U.S. He was head of the commission which negotiated a new commercial treaty with China in 1902. Was appointed ambassador to Mexico in 1905 but resigned the same year. Mason.

Omar D. Conger (1818–?) U.S. Senator from Michigan. b. in Cooperstown, N.Y., he removed to Huron Co., Ohio with his family in 1824 and was graduated at Western Reserve in 1842. He was engaged in the geological survey of the Lake Superior iron and copper region from 1845–47, and in 1848 became a lawyer in Port Huron, Mich. A state senator from 1855–61, he served as president of that body in 1859. A member of the state constitutional convention in 1866, he was U.S. congressman from 1869–81, at which time he was elected U.S. senator. Member of Pine Grove Lodge No. 11, Port Huron, Mich.

Roscoe P. Conkling (1889–1954) Justice, Supreme Court of Missouri from 1947, Chief Justice, 1953. b. May 3, 1889 at Carrollton, Mo. Attended Univ. of Missouri and admitted to bar in 1912, practicing at Kansas City and later St. Joseph. Member of board of curators of Stephens College, Mo. He was a member of Zeredatha Lodge No. 189, 32° AASR (SJ) and Moila Shrine Temple, all of St. Joseph, Mo. d. Oct. 28, 1954.

William G. Conley (1866–1940) Governor of West Virginia, 1929–33. b. Jan. 8, 1866 at Kingwood, W. Va. Graduate of West Virginia Univ. in 1893, he first taught school and in 1893 began practice of law at Parsons. He was editor and part owner of the Parsons Advocate from 1896–1903. He was assistant secretary of the Republican national convention of 1896. Was raised in Preston Lodge No. 90, Kingwood, W. Va.

on Dec. 7, 1903, affiliating with Charleston Lodge No. 153 upon removal to Charleston on Nov. 13, 1919. He was 32° and KCCH in the AASR (SJ). d. Oct. 21, 1940. Only W.V. governor at that time to have received 33°.

G. C. Conn Manufacturer of musical instruments. Raised in Kane Lodge No. 183, Elkhart, Ind. in 1870 and master of the lodge in 1873. He was also a member of Elkhart Chapter No. 81, R.A.M. in 1873; joined Bashar Council R. & S.M. at Goshen, Ind. in 1875 and South Bend Corn-mandery No. 13, K.T. at South Bend in 1877, serving as commander of same in 1881. At formation of Elkhart Commandery, he was commander of it from 1884–86.

Tom Connally U.S. Senator from Texas from 1929–1953. b. Aug. 19, 1877 in McLennan Co., Texas. Graduate of Baylor and Univ. of Texas. Admitted to Texas bar in 1898, he served in state house of representatives from 1901–04 and was U.S. congressman from the 11th dist. to the 65th–70th congresses (1917–29). As chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee from 1941–51 he had great power on the international scene during these crucial years. He was a delegate to the Inter-Parliamentary Union in meetings at Geneva, London, Constantinople and Rome from 1924–48. He was vice chairman of the United States delegation to United Nations Conference on International Organization at San Francisco in 1945, and served as U.S. delegate to the 1st General Assembly of the United Nations in London in 1946. He was advisor to the Secretary of State at the following meetings: Council of Foreign Ministers, Paris, 3rd Council of Foreign Ministers in

New York. He served with the 2nd Texas Inf. Volunteers in the Spanish American War in 1898, and was captain and adjutant of the 22nd Infantry of 11th Division in WW1. He is a member of Marlin Lodge No. 152, Marlin, Texas, being raised July 24, 1904. He received his 32° AASR (SJ) on May 7, 1931 and is a 33° H.R.H. Prince Arthur, Duke of Connaught (and Strathearn) (1850–1942) His full name was Arthur William Patrick Albert. He was the third son and 7th child of Queen Victoria. He married Princess Louise Marguerite of Prussia. He joined the Royal Engineers in 1868 and held a command in India from 1886–90. Was made general in 1893 and was commander-in-chief in Ireland in 1900, and in the Mediterranean from 1907–09. In 1911–16 he was governor general of Canada. He served as grand master of the Grand Lodge of England longer than any other grand master—38 years from 1901–1939. He was raised in Prince of Wales Lodge, March 24, 1874 by his elder brother, the Prince of Wales, who was later King Edward VII q.v. When he became king, Edward relinquished the office of grand master which he held for 27 years to Prince Arthur. Arthur was installed as provincial grand master for Sussex in 1886 and two years later district grand master for Bombay. He ruled over the Irish Knights Templar as grand prior from 1878 to 1895 when the Convent General was dissolved. He was sovereign grand inspector general of the Supreme Council 33° for England and Wales and was the originator of the Masonic Million Dollar Memorial Fund for the erection of the present London temple as a tribute to the Masons who lost their lives in WW1. He was succeeded as grand master by H.R.H. Prince George q.v. When Prince Albert invested Prince George as senior grand warden, Albert's two brothers—both to become kings—were present. They were H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, later Edward VIII and now Duke of Windsor q.v. and H.R.H. the Duke of York, later King George VI q.v.

William E. Connelley (1855–1930) Author. b. March 15, 1855 in Johnson Co., Ky. Connected with banking interests in Kansas City, Kans., he wrote call for the first meeting of oil men in Kansas in 1905, which resulted in organization of Kansas Oil Producers' Assn. and began the crusade against Standard Oil Co., which resulted in the dissolution of that corporation by the supreme court. Author of The Provisional Government of Nebraska Territory, Quantrill and the Border Wars, Eastern Kentucky Papers, History of Kansas (5 volumes), History of Kentucky (5 volumes). He prepared the only vocabulary ever written of Wyandot Indian language, and made extensive investigations in language and history of Delawares, Shawnees and other tribes. d. July 15, 1930. Mason.

James Conner (1829–1883) Confederate General, Civil War. b. Sept. 1, 1829 at Charleston, S. Car. Admitted to bar in 1852 and appointed—— U.S. district attorney for S. Car. in 1856. Entered Confederate army as captain in 1861, serving in many campaigns and rising to the rank of brigadier general, commanding a division in the latter part of the war. d. June 26, 1883. He was a member and past master of Landmark Lodge No. 76, Charleston, and in 1868 served as grand master of the Grand Lodge of South Carolina.

Martin S. “Mike” Conner Governor of Mississippi from 1932–36. b. Aug. 31, 1891 at Hattiesburg, Miss. he graduated from Univ. of Miss. in 1910, and law degree cum laude from Yale in 1913. Began practice at Seminary, Miss. in 1913. Was speaker of the state lower house from 1916–24. Now member of Conner & Nobles. Mason and Shriner, received his KCCH in Scottish Rite (SJ).

Donald H. Connolly Major General, U.S. Army. b. Feb. 11, 1886 at Fort Mojave, Ariz. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1910 and in Corps of Engineers since that time. Saw foreign service in Canal Zone, Philippines and France. Member of general staff from 1918–22. With headquarters, Army Air Forces in Washington in 1942, and commanded the Persian Gulf Command from 1942–44. Retired in 1948, and since that time has been director of department of aviation, City of Baltimore. Life member of Lebanon Lodge No. 7, Washington, D.C.

Frank L. Conrad (1886–1949) Utilities executive. b. Sept. 15, 1886 at Cincinnati, Ohio. Was president and director of the following companies: United Light & Railways Co.; American Light & Traction Co.; Continental Gas & Electric Corp; United Light & Railways Service Co. Was director of half a dozen other corporations. Mason. d. Oct. 22, 1949.

Marchioness of Contebonne An early member of French Adoptive Freemasonry, a female organization which received quasi-Masonic recognition from the Grand Orient of France. Other famous contemporaries in the order were the Duchess of Chartres q.v., Duchess of Bourbon q.v., Princess Lambelle q.v., Countess of Polignac q.v. and Countess of Choiseul-Gouffier q.v.

Julius Converse Governor of Vermont in 1872–74. His lodge membership is not known, but on Sept. 21, 1831 he was a visitor at Rising Sun Lodge No. 7 of Royalton, Vt.

Edmond E. Cook (1874—1931) Newspaper editor. b. Jan. 21, 1874 at Dalton, Ohio. Began as reporter on Columbus Press-Post in 1895. Became editor in chief of central group (Ohio) of Scripps-Howard newspapers with headquarters in Cleveland, 1922, returning to Columbus in 1922 to head a similar group. Mason. d. May 3, 1931.

H. Earl Cook Chairman of the Board, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Director of same since 1947. Retired, Nov. 1, 1957. b. June 19, 1886 at Bucyrus, Ohio. With 2nd National Bank of Bucyrus from 1907–46, being president of same from 1929–46. Was superintendent of banks of Ohio from 1943–47. Raised in Bucyrus Lodge No. 139 in June, 1908, serving as master and was treasurer of lodge for 30 years. Member of Bucyrus Chapter No. 160, R.A.M., Bucyrus Council No. 83, R. & S.M. (past master and secretary for three years) and Marion Commandery No. 36, K.T. Received 33° AASR (NJ) in 1937 and is life member of Toledo Consistory. Member of Aladdin Shrine Temple, Columbus, Ohio; Red Cross of Constantine, Toledo and Royal Order of Scotland in Washington, D.C.

James Cook (1728–1779) English explorer, mariner and circumnavigator. b. Oct. 28, 1728 in Martin, Yorkshire. He entered the British navy as a common seaman in 1755 and by 1759 was master of a vessel. He surveyed the St. Lawrence channel in 1759, coast of Newfoundland and Labrador from 1763–67. Explored the South Pacific in the Endeavour in 1768, charting the coasts of New Zealand, Australia and New Guinea and returning by way of Cape of Good Hope in 1771. With the Resolution and the Adventure he conducted an expedition in search of the great southern continent then believed to exist in 1772–75. On this trip he skirted the Antarctic ice fields, visited Tahiti, New Hebrides and discovered New Caledonia. His last trip was with the Resolution and the Discovery, starting in 1776 to discover a passage around North America from the Pacific. He rediscovered the Sandwich Islands (Hawaii) and charted the Pacific coast of North America as far as the Bering Strait. He was killed on Feb. 14, 1779 in Hawaii in a scuffle with natives over a stolen boat. Although no proof of his membership is available, he is constantly referred to as a member of the Craft.

Lawrence F. Cook Chief Forester of National Park Service. b. May 21, 1900 at Newton Center, Mass. B.S. in forestry from Syracuse Univ. in 1923. Served as park ranger, chief ranger and forester in charge of Western division of National Parks until 1937 when he became assistant chief forester of the service at Washington, and chief forester since June 1952. Mason.

Robert C. Cook President of Mississippi Southern College since 1945. b. July 6, 1903 at Fayette, Ala. Teacher and principal of high schools until 1937 when he became professor of education at his alma mater, the Univ. of Mississippi. Served as dean of the school of education until 1943. Mason.

William L. Cook (1869–1942) Justice, Supreme Court of Tennessee from 1926–42. b. Dec. 6, 1869 at Bon Aqua, Tenn. Admitted to bar in 1892 and practiced at Charlotte. Member of state general assembly, circuit court judge from 1908–23. Mason. d. March 5, 1942.

George Cooke An impostor. It is not often that the Grand Lodge of England allows itself to be hoodwinked, but it so happened in 1847 when a visiting American, who styled himself Major General George Cooke, LL.D., and said that he was a chancellor of the University of Ripley, joined the Prince of Wales Lodge No. 259. A generous supporter of the Masonic charities, he became vice president of the Girls' School and a life governor of the Boys' School and of the Benevolent Institution. Before he left England, the grand master conferred on him the rank of past grand warden and appointed him his representative at the Grand Lodge of New York. A fund was even raised for the purpose of putting his bust in Freemasons' Hall. It was not until Cooke was safely back in the states that it came to light he was a mere medical quack who advertised his wares. He was accordingly stripped of his grand rank, expelled from the grand lodge and reimbursed the sums he had subscribed to charity.

George A. Cooke (1869–1938) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Illinois, 1913–14. b. July 3, 1869 at New Athens, Ohio. Graduate of Knox College in 1892. Served in Illinois lower house for four years and elected to supreme court of Illinois in 1900, serving until he resigned in 1918. He resumed private practice in Chicago in 1919. Mason. d. Dec. 6, 1938.

Harold G. Cooke President of Mc-Murry College, Abilene, Texas since 1942. b. June 12, 1890 at Scatterwood, S.D. Admitted to Texas bar in 1912 and ordained to Methodist ministry in 1913. He served as a pastor from 1913–38 and was professor of homiletics at Southern Methodist Univ. from 1928–30. Member of Abilene Lodge No. 559 of Abilene, Texas.

L. Perry Cookingham City Manager of Kansas City, Mo. since 1940. b. Oct. 23, 1896 at Chicago, Ill. He first served as city manager of Clawson, Mich. from 1927–31, then Plymouth, Mich. from 1931–36 and Saginaw, Mich. from 1936–40. Served as president of the International City Managers' Assn. in 1940 and received the LaGuardia q.v. Memorial Award for achievement in municipal administration. Member of Anchor Lodge No. 980 of Danville, Ill. since 1920. Shriner and member of DeMolay Legion of Honor.

Calvin Coolidge (1872–1933) Thirtieth President of the United States. A non-Mason, his wife was a member of the Order of Eastern Star and his son, John, became a member of Wyllys Lodge No. 99, West Hartford, Conn. on Oct. 18, 1944. While governor of Mass. Coolidge addressed the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, having this to say: "It has not been my fortune to know very much of Freemasonry, but I have had the great fortune to know many Freemasons, and I have been able in that way to judge the tree by its fruits. I know of your high ideals. I have seen that you hold your meetings in the presence of the open Bible, and I know that men who observe that formality have high sentiments of citizenship, of worth, and of character. That is the strength of our Commonwealth and Nation.”

Samuel H. Coon U.S. Congressman from Oregon to 83rd and 84th Congresses. b. April 15, 1903 at Boise, Idaho. Graduate of Univ. of Idaho in 1925. A cattle rancher since 1929. Was state senator in 1951–52. Raised in Baker Lodge No. 47 in 1948 and 32° AASR (SJ), both in Baker, Oreg.

Robert E. Coontz (1864–1935) Admiral, U.S. Navy and Commander-in Chief of the U.S. Fleet. b. June 11, 1864 at Hannibal, Mo. Graduated U.S. Naval Academy in 1885. Was commissioned ensign in 1887 and promoted through grades to rear admiral in 1917 and full admiral on Oct. 24, 1919. He was in Alaska six years as a pilot, and in 1908 was executive officer of the Nebraska on a trip around the world. In 1910–11 he was commandant of midshipmen at the Naval Academy, and governor of Guam in 1912–13. From 1913–15 he commanded the Georgia. In WW1 he commanded the 7th Division, U.S. Atlantic Fleet in 1918 and commanded U.S.S. Wyoming, flagship of the Pacific Fleet. He was confirmed by the senate as chief of naval operations in 1919 and commanded the U.S. Fleet from Aug. 4, 1923 to Oct. 3, 1925. He retired in 1928, but was recalled in 1930 to investigate Alaskan railroads. He was raised in Naval and Military Lodge No. 206 at Bremerton, Wash. on Oct. 23, 1915 and served as master of same (now William H. Upton Lodge). He was grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Washington in 1925. He was a member of Olympia Chapter No. 27, R.A.M. of Bremerton and Albert Pike Consistory, AASR (SJ), Washington, D.C. receiving 33° on Oct. 23, 1931. On June 14, 1930 he was elected president of the National Sojourners in convention at Atlantic City, N.J. d. Jan. 26, 1935.

Sir Ernest Cooper British industrialist. b. June 10, 1877 in Clinton, Huron Co., Ontario, Canada, of British parents. He graduated from Toronto Univ. in 1900 and left Canada for England in 1908. During WW1 he served with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces from 1916–19, retiring with rank of captain. Cooper is chairman of Gillette Industries, Ltd., the European counterpart of the Gillette Safety Razor Co. in the United States, of which American company he is vice president and director. In 1941–43 he served as industrial adviser to the government of Northern Ireland, and in 1943–46 was director of Information Services in London. In 1940–41 he was England's minister of aircraft production. In 1944 he was created a knight at the hands of late George VI q.v. in recognition of his services in industry and production. He was initiated July 25, 1911 in Canada Lodge No. 3527, London, serving as its master in 1917. He has served on the Grand Lodge of England's board of general purposes since 1939 and has been chairman of the board since appointed as such by the late Earl of Harewood in 1946. He has received many Masonic honors. In 1951 the late Duke of Devonshire q.v. then grand master, conferred on him the rank of past grand warden. He is also a senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, past deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia, past grand registrar of the Grand Lodge of Canada (Ontario), and past grand warden of the National Grand Lodge of France. In May, 1956 the Grand Lodge of New York bestowed its exclusive award for distinguished achievement on him.

Henry Cooper (1827–?) U.S. Senator from Tennessee from 1871–77. b. Aug. 22, 1827 in Columbia, Tenn., he graduated at West Tennessee Univ. in 1847. Admitted to bar in 1849, he practiced at Shelbyville. He was elected to the state's legislature in 1853 and again in 1857. He served in the state senate in 1869–70. He was raised in Shelbyville Benevolent Lodge No. 122 on Jan. 6, 1849 and later demitted to Euphemia Lodge No. 195 of Columbia. He was exalted in Tannehill Chapter No. 40, R.A.M. in Jan. 1852, and knighted in Nashville Commandery No. 1, K.T. on Oct. 13, 1853.

Jere Cooper U.S. Congressman 71st to 84th Congresses from Tennessee (1929–56). b. July 20, 1893 in Dyer Co., Tenn. Admitted to bar in 1915 and practiced at Dyersburg. Served with A.E.F. in WW1 as captain. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner. Member of Hess Lodge No. 93, Dyersburg, Tenn.

Robert A. Cooper (1874–1953) Twice Governor of South Carolina (1919–22) and federal judge. b. June 12, 1874 at Laurens Co., S. Car. Admitted to bar in 1898 and began practice at Laurens. Member of the Federal Farm Loan Board 1922–27. Was U.S. district judge of Puerto Rico from 1934–47. He was raised in Ornan Lodge No. 69, Fork Shoals, S. Car., afterwards demitting to Princeton Lodge No. 129 and then to Palmetto Lodge No. 19. He was the first elected master of Laurens Lodge No. 260, Laurens, and was grand master of the Grand Lodge of South Carolina from 1915–17. He also served as potentate of Omar Shrine Temple at Charleston. d. Aug. 7, 1953.

Samuel I. Cooper Architect. b. Feb. 14, 1894 at Atlanta, Ga. Graduate of Univ. of Pennsylvania in architecture, he was president of Cooper & Cooper from 1925–42; vice president of Cooper, Bond & Cooper, Inc. 1945–52, and president of same since 1952. Architect on many public and residential buildings, schools, colleges, libraries, dormitories, gymnasium, office buildings and public housing. Mason.

Thomas A. Cooper (1776–1849) Actor. b. in London, England. His first stage appearance was in Stephen Kemble's company in Edinburgh and later at Covent Garden, London, with great success as Hamlet and Macbeth. In Dec., 1796 he made his first appearance in Philadelphia as Macbeth at the Chestnut Street Theatre and in August of the following year played in the Greenwich Street Theatre in New York as Pierre in Venice Preserved. He returned to England in 1802, and for several years held a foremost rank on the English stage. He returned to New York in 1804, and for a long time was lessee of the Park Theatre. He made one more trip to England, but returned to America and continued to play until advanced years. His daughter, having married the son of President Tyler, he held several public offices, including surveyor to ports of New York and Philadelphia. He was a member of Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City. d. April 21, 1849.

Wyllis Cooper Radio writer and producer. b. Jan. 26, 1899 at Pekin, Ill., he has been a radio writer since 1929 and motion picture writer from 1936–39. He was continuity editor of Columbia Broadcasting System, central division from 1930–32. He originated the radio dramatic series Lights Out, in 1933, directing it until 1936. He directed a number of other series including Empire Builders, Immortal Dramas, Hollywood Hotel, Good Neighbors, Spirit of '41, Quiet Please, and was writer and producer of The Army Hour by the War Department in 1943. Mason.

Robert W. Copelan Managing Editor of Cincinnati Times–Star since 1952. b. Dec. 22, 1894 at Cincinnati. He began as a reporter for the Cincinnati Enquirer in 1914, turning to advertising and insurance business from 1920–24, and back to newspaper work with the Times–Star in 1924, successively as reporter, rewrite, make up editor, assistant city editor, news editor and associate managing editor. Served as an officer in both WW1 and WW2. Member of Chevoit Lodge No. 140, Cincinnati, Ohio, being raised in 1915; McMillan Chapter No. 19 and Trinity Commandery No. 44, K.T.; Syrian Shrine Temple—all of Cincinnati. Served as commander of his commandery in 1932.

Royal S. Copeland (1868–1938) U.S. Senator from N.Y. and physician. b. Nov. 7, 1868. Received M.D. degree from Univ. of Michigan in 1889, and took postgraduate work in England, France, Germany, Switzerland and Belgium. He practiced in Bay City, Mich. from 1890–95, and was professor of ophthalmology at the Univ. of Michigan from 1895–1908. He moved to New York and held the same position in the Flower Hospital Medical College from 1908–18. He was commissioner of health and president of the New York City board of health from 1918–23, and then served three terms as U.S. senator from New York (1923–41), dying on June 17, 1938 before his third term was completed. He was a member of Bay City Lodge No. 129, Bay City, Mich., and Ann Arbor Commandery No. 13, K.T. at Ann Arbor as well as Moslem Shrine Temple. On Dec. 4, 1920 he delivered an address before Stuyvesant Lodge No. 745, N.Y. There was a Knight Templar guard of honor at his funeral.

William D. Copeland College President. b. Jan. 9, 1897 at Denver, Colo. Degrees from Colorado College, James Millikin Univ. and Lincoln Memorial Univ. After teaching in Colorado College and Harvard, he became president of Lincoln (Ill.) College from 1935–44, then vice president of Lake Forest (Ill.) College from 1944–46, and president of Rocky Mountain College (Mont.). Presently pastor of 1st Presbyterian Church in Poison, Mont. Raised in Tejon Lodge No. 104, Colorado Springs, Colo. in 1920 and member of chapter and council in Colorado Springs. 32° AASR (ST) in Denver.

Charles H. Copestake (?–1956) Masonic historian. Known for his research work on Masonic subjects, he was raised in Column Lodge No. 120, Trenton, N.J., but demitted to Christopher Yates Lodge No. 971, Schenectady, N.Y. when he moved there and served as master in 1939. He was active in almost all Masonic fields, especially the American Lodge of Research, which he had served as master. He was a 33° AASR (NJ) and a member of the special committee on history and a consultant archivist of the Supreme Council in New York City. d. Feb. 25, 1956.

Ira C. Copley (1864–1947) Publisher, U.S. Congressman and philanthropist. b. Oct. 25, 1864 in Knox Co., Ill. Became associated with public utilities early in life, and was president of Western United Corp. until 1926. Among the various newspapers he published at one time or another were The Aurora Beacon News, Elgin Courier, Joliet Herald News, Illinois State Journal, Illinois State Register and chairman and president of The Copley Press, Inc., Aurora—all of Illinois. He was also the owner of the San Diego Union and Tribune, San Diego Sun and papers now comprising the Southern California Associated Newspapers, Los Angeles. He served as congressman from 62nd to 67th Congresses (1911–23) from 11th Illinois dist. He gave site and building fund as well as a million dollar endowment to a hospital at Aurora which was renamed Copley Memorial Hospital. Mason. d. Nov. 2, 1947.

George H. Coppers President of the National Biscuit Co. since 1945. b. Nov. 29, 1902 in New York City. Graduated LL.B. cum laude from Fordham Univ. in 1929. He entered the employ of National Biscuit in New York City as an office boy in 1920, rising as clerk, accountant, law clerk, assistant secretary, general counsel and finally director and president. His record also includes directorships and trusteeships of many important corporations. Member of Charter Oak Lodge No. 249 of New York City.

Pompeo Coppini Sculptor and painter. b. May 19, 1870 in Moglia, Mantua, Italy, he came to America in 1896 and was naturalized in 1902. He has executed 45 public monuments in various cities, including such notable ones as the equestrian statue of Gen. J. H. Morgan, Lexington, Ky.; George Washington, Mexico City; Senator John H. Reagan, Palestine, Tex.; Terry's Ranger, Austin, Tex.; Falkenberg monument, Denver, Colo.; Gen. J. C. Root monument, Memphis, Tenn.; Stephen F. Austin statue, Austin, Tex.; Gen. Sam Houston memorial, Huntsville, Texas; U.S. Senator James P. Clarke of Ark. for Statuary Hall in national capitol; Confederate Memorial at Corpus Christi, Tex.; allegorical bronze doors of Scottish Rite Cathedral, San Antonio, Tex.; centotaph "Heroes of the Alamo" at Waco; and many others. He was raised in Italia Lodge, Pitrasanta, Italy and is an honorary member of Mazzini Lodge No. 824, New York City, a 32° AASR, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Robert L. Copsey Major General, U.S. Air Force. b. Feb. 15, 1896 at Broken Bow, Nebr., he attended Univ. of Nebraska until 1918 when he was commissioned 2nd lieut. in U.S. Army and rose to major general in 1953. From 1928–31 he was president of the Metropolitan Airways, Inc., Newark Air Service, Inc., and from 1931–49 was commissioner of aviation, State of N.J. From 1947–50 he commanded the 91st Air Division and 63rd Troop Carrier Air Wing USAF Reserve. Was recalled to active duty in 1950 in the Office of Chief of Staff, USAF. Since 1953 he has been director of Joint Air Transportation Board, Dept. of the Air Force. Mason and Shriner.

George Copway (1818–1863) Chippewa Indian chief. b. near mouth of Trent river in Ontario, his Indian name was Kah-ge-ga-gah-bowh and his father was a tribal medicine man. Copway became a Methodist missionary among his people, converted many of them including his father. He married a white woman (Elizabeth Howell), who accompanied him on many dangerous trips among hostile tribes. He received his degrees in Federal Lodge No. 1, Washington, D.C. sometime prior to 1848 as he is listed as a member in that year. He appealed to Masonic lodges on several occasions to help support educational institutions for Indian children. In his writings he frequently referred to Freemasonry. A man of pronounced likes and dislikes, he wrote on them at length. He loved his family, his tribe, nature, the Christian religion, fellow Methodists and missionaries. He abhorred whisky, tobacco, the Sioux and cash payments to the Indians by the government.

Harvey W. Corbett (1873–1954) Architect who designed the Rockefeller Center and the George Washington Masonic National Memorial. b. Jan. 8, 1873 at San Francisco. He graduated from Univ. of California and also studied abroad. He lectured in architecture at Columbia Univ., and was member of advisory board of school of architecture, Princeton Univ. Among the many buildings of his design are the Holy Innocents Church, Brooklyn; Bush Terminal Office Building, N.Y.; Bush House, London; Metropolitan Life Ins. Building, N.Y.; Roerich Museum, N.Y. His wife, Gail Sherman Corbett, is a sculptress who executed a portrait of Washington for the Masonic Memorial at Alexandria, Va. which her husband designed. Corbett was a member of Sagamore Lodge No. 371, being raised on Feb. 15, 1922. d. April, 1954.

William W. Corcoran (1798–1888) American financier and philanthropist. b. Dec. 27, 1798 in Georgetown, D.C. Amassed great wealth first in dry goods (which was lost) and later in real estate and banking. At one time he held 12 million in U.S. 6% loans. When the interest fell he went to England and enlisted the aid of the great banking houses of that nation to such an extent that there was a premium on the money and it laid the basis for his great wealth. He retired from the banking business in 1854 to manage his own estate. The art gallery in Washington, D.C., bearing his name was his gift to the nation in 1869. He was a member of Potomac Lodge No. 5, Georgetown, D.C. from July 26, 1827. d. Feb. 24, 1888.

Oscar L. Cordell President of Bareco Oil Co. since 1939. b. May 26, 1887 at Helenwood, Tenn. In petroleum refining and marketing since 1907. Member of Siloam Lodge No. 276, Oklahoma City, Okla. and past master of same. 32° AASR (SJ) in McAlester and India Shrine Temple, Oklahoma City.

Abbe Cordier French Catholic clergyman, who in spite of threats from the Roman hierarchy, was a prominent member of the Lodge of the Nine Sisters in Paris, France. It was Cordier and Benjamin Franklin q.v., who supported the author Voltaire q.v. during his initiation into that famous lodge.

Ralph J. Cordiner Vice President of General Electric Co. since 1945. b. March 20, 1900 at Walla Walla, Wash. With power and appliance companies since 1922. President of Schick, Inc., Stamford, Conn., 1939–42. Served with U.S. Navy in WW1. Mason.

Guy Cordon U.S. Senator from Oregon. Raised April 10, 1912 in Laurel Lodge No. 13, Roseburg, Oregon and master of the lodge in 1919.

George C. S. Corea Ambassador of Ceylon to U.S.A. since 1948. b. Sept. 5, 1895 near Colombo, Ceylon. Admitted to bar of Ceylon in 1916 and practiced in Chilaw from 1916–31. President of Ceylon National Congress, 1934–36 and minister of Labour Industry and Commerce of Ceylon from 1936–46. High commissioner for Ceylon in United Kingdom 1946–48. President of Boy Scouts of Ceylon from 1942–46. He is a member of Orion Lodge No. 5130 and founding member of Ceylon Lodge No. 6436 of London, England. He is credited with winning independence for Ceylon.

Herbert F. Corn Newspaper editor. b. Jan. 23, 1897 at Metropolis, Ill. With the Washington Herald in 1920 and Washington Evening Star since 1921, being managing editor since 1942. President of Associated Press Managing Editors Assn. in 1952 and member of White House Correspondents Assn. Member of Temple–Noyes Lodge No. 32, Washington, D.C. and Mount Pleasant Chapter No. 13, R.A.M., Washington.

Duke of Cornwall (see Edward VII)

Lord Charles Cornwallis (1738–1805) British General

of American Revolution who surrendered to Washington at Yorktown and thus ended the war. b. Dec. 31, 1738 in Suffolk. He was 2nd Earl and first Marquis of Cornwallis. A major general in the American Revolution, he was created full general in 1793. He fought in Germany in 1761–62 and defeated Greene at Guilford Court House in 1781, but was besieged at Yorktown and forced to capitulate. He was governor general and commander-in-chief of India in 1786, and viceroy of Ireland from 1798–1801, resigning because of the king's refusal to grant Roman Catholic emancipation. He negotiated the treaty of Amiens in 1802, and was again governor general of India in 1805. He performed the grand honors of Masonry at the funeral of Major General DeKalb q.v. who had been wounded and taken prisoner on Aug. 17, 1780 at the battle of Camden. d. Oct. 5, 1805.

Edward Cornwallis English Lieutenant General; founder and first governor of Nova Scotia. He sailed to North America in 1749 with 1,140 settlers and landed safely in Nova Scotia on June 21. Almost as soon as there was a house erected, he established a lodge under provincial dispensation from Major E. J. Phillips, P.G.M. of Annapolis Royal, N.S., representing Henry Price of Boston, who was grand master for North America. This lodge is the oldest Canadian lodge and is now St. Andrews Lodge No. 1, Halifax. The dispensation was received in July, 1749 “and on the same evening Captain Lord Colville q.v. and a number of the Navy gentlemen, were entered Apprentices in this Lodge.” Previously, while fighting in Germany, Cornwallis was one of the three founders of another lodge in the 20th Foot under Irish constitution. The warrent for same was received in Dec. 1748, and after the regiment's glorious action in the battle of Minden in August 1759, the lodge was named Minden Lodge No. 63. In 1768 while governor of Gibraltar, he founded a third lodge—No. 426 of the 24th Foot under the Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia.

Lord Fiennes Stanley Wykeham Cornwallis (1864–1935) b. at Chalcombe Priory near Banbury on May 27, 1864 and educated at Eton. He served as a colonel of the West Kent Queen's Own Imperial Yeomanry. He was prominent in various sports including hunting, cricket and shooting. He was Master of the Linton Beagles from 1888 until a few years before his death. In public life, he had a distinguished career, representing Maidstone in the House of Commons from 1888–1895 and again from 1898 to 1900. He was president of the Royal Agricultural Society of England in 1906. He was deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of England from 1926–35. He was raised in Douglas Lodge No. 1725, Maidstone, and served as master. He subsequently joined Crane Lodge No. 2660, Cranbrook and served twice as master. He was also the founder of East Kent Masters' Lodge No. 3931, in 1919, and was its first master. He attained grand rank in 1901 as junior grand warden and in 1905 was appointed provincial grand master for Kent. He was exalted in Montreal Chapter No. 2046 and served it as first principal and later as grand superintendent for Kent. In 1926 he was appointed as 2nd grand principal for the Supreme Grand Chapter in succession to his uncle, the third Earl Amherst. He was chairman of the annual festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution in 1920 and the Royal Masonic Girls' Institution in 1930. The peerage was reestablished in his name in 1927, thus restoring the Cornwallis name to the House of Lords after a long absence. In 1931 he visited the United States, attending the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania and dedicating a statue of his ancestor Lord Charles Cornwallis at Yorktown, where he had surrendered to Washington. d. Sept. 27, 1935, he was succeeded in title and Masonic offices by his son Wykeham Stanley Cornwallis q.v.

Lord Wykeham Stanley Cornwallis 2nd Baron Cornwallis, succeeding his father Lord F. S. W. Cornwallis on the latter's death q.v. in 1935. Educated at Eaton, he entered the Royal Military Academy at Sandhurst and saw service with the Royal Scots Greys during WW1, in which he was wounded and earned the Military Cross. He was on the General Staff, both in France and Flanders. He is now a colonel of the Thames and Medway Heavy Regiment, Royal Artillery. Since 1944 he has been Her Majesty's Lord Lieutenant of Kent and also one of Her Majesty's lieutenants for the City of London. He entered Douglas Lodge No. 1725 and was its master in 1928. His father had served as master 34 years earlier. He was appointed as junior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England in 1935 and ruler of the Masonic province of Kent—a position held by his father for 30 years.

John J. Cornwell Governor of West Virginia 1917–21. b. July 11, 1867 in Ritchie Co., W. Va. He has been principal owner of The Hampshire Review since 1890. He financed and built the Hampshire Southern Railroad (40 miles long) and is president of the Bank of Romney. Was five times a delegate to Democratic National Convention. Mason.

Buenaventura Correoso President of the extinct state of Panama; minister of Colombia to Costa Rica, president of the Colombian Congress; judge, prefect, deputy, secretary of government and member of Supreme Council AASR of Central America.

Fred P. Corson Methodist bishop. b. April 11, 1896 at Millville, N.J. A graduate of Dickinson (1917), and Drew Univ. (1920), holding honorary degrees from nine other colleges and universities. Ordained in 1920, he served as pastor in Jackson Heights, N.Y., New Haven, Conn., Port Washington, N.W. until 1929 when made superintendent of the Brooklyn Southern Dist., N.Y. He has been president of Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa. since 1934. Elected bishop in 1944. A Mason, he was grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania in 1947 and grand prelate of the Grand Commandery, K.T. of Pennsylvania in 1942.

Publio Cortini Italian industrialist and grand master of the Grand Orient of Italy in 1956. When Marconi was studying the problem of radio-telephone transmission by the Fleming tube, Cortini worked with him as an officer of the Wireless Signal Section of the Italian Army, and under his guidance did the first transmission, beginning from a distance of 300 yards, and finishing, after three months of experimentation, with the transmission of over 1,000 miles. The latter transmission was from Rome to Tripoli. At the conclusion of WW1 Cortini began his work with manufacturing electrical machinery. During the Mussolini regime, Cortini hid the documents of the Grand Orient of France in his factory notwithstanding the danger to his life that such an act represented. A member of Coli di Firenze Lodge in Rome, he is a member of Trenton Chapter No. 66, Royal Arch Masons and Trenton Council No. 37, R. & S.M., both of Trenton, Mo. He has also received the honorary Order of High Priesthood from the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Missouri and honorary member of Order of Silver Trowel, Grand Council, R. & S.M. of Missouri. Cortini has visited in the United States several times since WW2.

Thomas Corwin (1794–1865) Ohio Congressman, Senator, Secretary of the Treasury and Minister to Mexico. b. July 29, 1794 in Bourbon Co., Ky. His family moved to Lebanon, Ohio when he was four. Admitted to the bar in 1818 and developed an extensive practice. He was elected to the state legislature in 1822, serving until 1829. Next elected to the U.S. congress, he served from 1830–40, resigning to become candidate for governor and was elected to serve 1840–42. In 1844 he was elected to the U.S. senate, where in 1847 he made a notable speech against the war in Mexico. He served in the senate until 1850, when President Fillmore named him as secretary of the treasury. He served two more terms in congress; starting in 1858, and when Lincoln became president, Corwin was named as minister to Mexico. He became a member of Lebanon Lodge No. 26, Lebanon, Ohio in 1819, serving as master; and grand master of the Grand Lodge of Ohio in 1828. He had also served as grand orator and deputy grand master. He was a member of Lebanon Chapter

No. 5, R.A.M. and knighted in Mount Vernon Commandery, K.T. on Jan. 13, 1826. d. Dec. 18, 1865.

George Cosgrave (1870–1945) Federal Judge, Southern district of California from 1930. b. Feb. 20, 1870 at Calaveras Co., Calif. Admitted to bar in 1895 and practiced at Fresno. Mason. d. Aug. 4, 1945.

Edward B. Cosgrove Industrialist. b. July 7, 1888 at Le Sueur, Minn. Graduate of Univ. of Minnesota, 1910. Began as secretary of Minn. Valley Canning Co. at Le Sueur in 1913 and president since 1929. President of Minnesota Valley Corp. and chair-man of the board of Fine Foods of Canada, Ltd. A director of Pillsbury Mills, Inc., First Nat. Bank of St. Paul and other corporations. Mason and Shriner.

Samuel G. Cosgrove Eighth Governor of Washington. Member of Evening Star Lodge No. 30, Pomeroy, Washington.

Oliver P. Coshov (1863–?) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Oregon. b. Aug. 14, 1863 at Brownsville, Oreg. Admitted to bar in 1890 and practiced at McMinnville and Roseburg. Member of state senate from 1905–09. Associate justice of supreme court from 1924 and chief justice from 1929–30. Mason. Deceased.

Sir Michael Andrew Agnus Costa (1808–1884) Italian composer and conductor who resided in England from 1829 and was knighted. He conducted opera at Her Majesty's Theatre, London from 1832–46, and at Covent Garden from 1846. He was the composer of oratorios, operas and ballets and served as grand organist of the Grand Lodge of England. Costa was initiated May 3, 1848 in the Bank of England Lodge No. 263, London, and served as its master in 1852–53.

William C. Costello Vice president and director of R.F.C. Mortgage Co. and director of Federal Nat. Mortgage Assn. b. April 6, 1894, Columbus, O. Mason.

Charles de Coster (1827–1879) Belgian author. His chief work was La Legende de Thy/ Ulenspiegel et de Lamme Goedzak, written in old Flemish in 1868. It was a romance of the 16th century which stressed Belgian patriotism. In his late years he taught general history and French literature at a military school. He was born in Munich and died in Brussels. Also author of Legendes Flamandes in 1858. According to Maurice Cock's Dictionnaire Maconique, published in Brussels, Coster was a Freemason.

S. Kent Costikyan (1867–1949) Merchant and importer. b. Jan. 23, 1867 in Marsovan, Asia Minor. Came to U.S. in 1884 and naturalized in 1891. Organized firm of Costikyan Feres, importers, at Rochester in 1886 and reorganized as Kent–Costikyan, Inc., New York City in 1900. He maintained a school for orphans and needy children at Marsovan, Asia Minor from 1900–1915. Decorated by Shah of Persia for promoting commercial relations between Persia and the U.S. in 1907. Mason. d. July 3, 1949.

Miguel Hidalgo y Costilla (1753–1811) Catholic priest who led the first revolt against the Spaniards in Mexico and started the Mexican revolution that resulted in their freedom five years later. In an attempt to improve the condition of the natives, he proclaimed a revolt on Sept. 16, 1810 against the Spanish government. He seized Guanajuato and Guadalajara and was joined by Allende and Aidama. With an army of 80,000 he marched on Mexico City in October, 1810, winning the first battle, but was forced to fall back when defeated by Spanish forces under Felix Calleja on Nov. 6. He was overwhelmed by Calleja in January, 1811 near Guadalajara and was forced to flee north. He was betrayed to the Spaniards, and after being degraded from the priesthood, was executed at Chihuahua on July 30, 1811. He joined Arquitechtura Moral Lodge of Mexico City in 1806.

Norman D. Cota Major General, U.S. Army. b. May 30, 1893 at Chelsea, Mass. Graduated U.S. Military Academy in 1917 and advanced through grades to major general. In WW2 he commanded the 28th Infantry of the 1st Division. Now executive director of Philadelphia Civil Defense Council. Raised in Robert Lash Lodge of Chelsea, Mass. on Oct. 24, 1917.

Thomas P. Cothran (1857–1934) Associate Justice Supreme Court of S. Carolina, 1921–34. b. Oct. 24, 1857 at Abbeville, S. Car. Admitted to bar in 1878 and practiced at Abbeville. Member of S. Car. lower house, 1904–10 and 1914–21, being speaker of the house from 1918–21. Mason. d. April 11, 1934.

Capt. John Cotton Naval officer of the Revolutionary War. He was one of the early initiates of St. John's Mark Lodge of Middletown, Conn. (1st in the U.S.). By resolution of congress, it was directed that two frigates of 36 and 28 guns be built in Connecticut. Gov. Trumbull and his council voted on Feb. 17, 1777 that one of these vessels "should be built at Chatham (across from Middletown) on the Connecticut River, under the supervision of Capt. John Cotton of Middletown." The records of the mark lodge contain this interesting item: "On a motion made by Bro. John Cotton that his Mark he purchased from this Wor. Mark Master Lodge, which was Inker and Pen, should be altered to the mark of Hope and Anchor, which last mark he purchased of Bro. John DeKoven, who is now absent, and never likely to return. Accordingly, was voted to be altered, and ordered to be recorded as such, and there to remain as such until honestly redeemed."

Norris Cotton U.S. Senator from New Hampshire, 1954–56. b. May 11, 1900 at Warren, N.H. Editor of the Granite Monthly, Concord, N.H. 1923–24; admitted to bar in 1928 and practiced in Concord and later Lebanon. Served in 80th–83rd congresses from 2nd N.H. dist. and elected to senate to fill unexpired term of Charles Tobey q.v. Director of Lebanon Woolen Mills, Inc. and Lebandale Mills, Inc. Grand master of Odd Fellows in 1943. Raised in Moosehillock Lodge No. 63, Warren, N.H. in 1924 and presently a member of Franklin Lodge No. 6, Lebanon, N.H. Also member of St. Andrews Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. and Washington Council No. 10, R. & SM., both of Lebanon; 32° AASR (NJ) at Nashua and member of Bektash Shrine Temple, Concord, N.H.

Charles P. Couch Utilities and railroad executive. b. Aug.

16, 1890 at Magnolia, Ark. Began as a railroad fireman. From 1923–27 was vice president and general manager of Mississippi Power & Light Co. Was vice pres. of Louisiana & Arkansas Railroad in 1929–32 and president from 1932–41, becoming chairman of the board from 1941–44. From 1939–41 he was president of Kansas City Southern Railroad and chairman of the board from 1941–44. Mason and Shriner.

Harvey C. Couch (1877–1941) Utilities executive. b. Aug. 21, 1877 at Calhoun, Ark. Began as drug store clerk. Organized and operated North Louisiana Telephone Co. from 1904–12. In 1913 he organized and was president of the Arkansas Power & Light Co.; in 1925 organized and was president of Mississippi Power & Light Co. and in the same year organized and was president of the Louisiana Power & Light Co. He was president of the Louisiana & Arkansas Railway from 1928–32; chairman of the board of Kansas City Southern Railway and president from 1939. In 1933 he was selected by citizens as Arkansas' most outstanding citizen and presented with a plaque in recognition of services to nation and state in fields of industry. Mason. d. July 30, 1941.

Joseph B. Coghlan (1844–1908) Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy and hero of Manila Bay. b. Dec. 9, 1844 at Frankfort, Ky. Graduated from Naval Academy in 1863. He was advanced six numbers in rank for eminent and conspicuous conduct in battle of Manila Bay where he commanded the Raleigh under Dewey. He later commanded the Naval War College, North Atlantic Fleet and New York Navy Yard. Retired in 1906. He gained wide publicity by reciting the poem "Me and Gott,” ridiculing the Kaiser. He was a member and past master of Solano Lodge No. 229, past high priest of Naval Chapter No. 35, and member of Naval Commandery, K.T. all of Vallejo, Calif.

James A. Coulter Vice president of Colgate–Palmolive 1933–45. b. May 27, 1882 at Oxford, Ohio. Graduate of Miami and Oxford Universities. He was a chemist and plant superintendent for Procter & Gamble from 1905–23, and in foreign service of Palmolive Co. from 1923–28. Now retired as vice president, he continues as director of Colgate–Palmolive, Co. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

Antoine Court de Gebelin (1725–1784) French scholar and author. Son of Antoine Court, a French Protestant clergyman. He wrote Le Monde Primitif (1773–84) Affaires de l’Angleterre et de l’Amerique (1776) and others. He is named a Freemason by the Bulletin of the International Masonic Congress in 1917.

Raphael Courteville English Organist at St. James Church, Westminster, in Picadilly, London and composer of the song named for this church. He was a member of a lodge meeting at The George, Charing Cross, circa 1723.

Wirt Courtney U.S. Congressman 76th to 80th Congresses (1939–49) from 7th Tennessee dist. b. Sept. 7, 1889 at Franklin, Tenn. Admitted to bar in 1911 and engaged in private practice. Served as lieutenant of Infantry in WW1 and was wounded. Became adjutant general of Tennessee in 1932; brigadier general in Tennessee National Guard. Served as circuit judge from 1933–39. Raised in Hiram Lodge No. 7, Franklin, Tenn. in 1912. Also member of chapter, council and commandery in that city; Al Menah Shrine Temple in Nashville.

James R. N. Stopford, Earl of Courtown Succeeded his father in 1933 as the seventh Earl of Courtown, the earldom dating back to 1762 with a barony in the Peerage of Ireland and also a barony of Saltersford in the Peerage of England. He attended Eton and served in the South African War, 1900–01, for which he holds the Queens Medal. He was in active service throughout WW1, being mentioned in dispatches and created O.B.E. in 1919. During WW2 he was deputy assistant adjutant general at the British War Office. He was grand senior warden of the Grand Lodge of England in 1938, and is ruler of both the Craft and Royal Arch provinces of Bedfordshire. Since 1935 has been supreme grand ruler of the Order of the Secret Monitor, and was appointed first grand constable in the Order of Knights Templar in 1940.

John P. Courtright President of Marion Steam Shovel Co. since 1952. b. Dec. 25, 1896 at Ashville, Ohio. Graduate of Ohio State, 1918. Began as salesman for Marion Steam Shovel Co. in 1927. Member of Marion Lodge No. 70, Marion, Ohio and 32° AASR at Columbus, Ohio.

John Coustos A Freemason who was a victim of the Inquisition. Born in Berne, Switzerland, the son of a naturalized Englishman, he moved to England in 1716 and was initiated in Britannia Lodge No. 33, London. In 1740 he moved to Lisbon, Portugal where he founded a lodge and served as its master. He was a dealer in precious stones. In 1738 Pope Clement XII q.v. issued his Bull condemning Freemasonry, and in 1743, Coustos was seized by the Inquisition, and after imprisonment and torture, condemned to the galley for refusing to divulge the secrets of the craft. Falling ill, he was sent to the infirmary, and was able to contact his brother-in-law, the Duke of Newcastle. Admiral Matthews was ordered to anchor his fleet in the Tagas for 24 hours, thus causing the release of Coustos, who was returned to England where he was welcomed by the fraternity and wrote his narrative entitled The Sufferings of John Coustos for Freemasonry, and for Refusing to Turn Roman Catholic, in the Inquisition at Lisbon.

William E. R. Covell Major General, U.S. Army. b. Nov. 29, 1892 at Washington, D.C. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1915. Commissioned in Corps of Engineers in 1915. Retired from army in 1940 as lieutenant colonel, and became general manager and director of Crossett-Ark. Co. Was recalled to duty in 1941, made brigadier general in 1943, and major general later the same year, retiring from service again in 1946 to become civilian engineer. Director general of Damon, Dinerman & Cia, S.A., Buenos Aires since 1948. Mason.

Edgar Cowan (1815–1885) U.S. Senator from Pennsylvania, 1861–67. b. Sept 19, 1815 at Sewickley, Pa. Graduate of Franklin College, Ohio in 1839. Admitted to bar in 1842 and practiced at Greenburg, Pa. Was appointed as minister to Austria in 1867, but the senate failed to confirm the appointment. Returned to private practice after his second senatorial term. Mason.

Roy T. Cowdrey Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Feb. 4, 1898 at Milwaukee, Wis. Graduated, cum laude from U.S. Naval Academy in 1920 and also M.S. cum laude from Mass. Inst. Tech., 1923. Commissioned ensign in 1919, advancing through grades to rear admiral in 1948. Raised March 31, 1932 in Darien Lodge, Balboa, C.Z. Honorary member of Lodge of United Services No. 1118, New York City. Received 32° AASR in Honolulu, Hawaii Dec. 9, 1948 and dimitted to Brooklyn, N.Y. on March 5, 1956. Member of Aloha Temple AAONMS of Honolulu and ambassador at large of same. Member of Court No. 30, Royal Order of Jesters, Past president of Sinclair Inlet Chapter No. 80 and N.Y. Chapter No. 13 of National Sojourners. Honorary member of Karem Shrine Temple and Masonic Square Club of the N.Y. Naval Shipyard.

Myron M. Cowen U.S. Ambassador. b. Jan. 25, 1898 at Logan, Iowa. Admitted to bar in 1919 and practiced at Des Moines, Ia. until 1933 when he moved to Washington, practicing there until 1948. He was ambassador to Australia in 1948–49, ambassador to Philippines, 1949–51; and ambassador to Belgium 1952–53. He addressed the Grand Lodge of the Philippines in 1951. Raised in Home Lodge No. 370, Des Moines, Iowa about 1920. 32° AASR (SJ).

Thomas J. Cowie (1857—1936) Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Feb. 15, 1857 at Montezuma, Ia. He was appointed assistant postmaster of the Navy in 1880 and promoted through various grades to postmaster general with rank of rear admiral in 1910. He was also chief of Bureau of Supplies and Accounts. Mason. d. July 16, 1936.

John H. Cowles (1863–1954) Sovereign Grand Commander of the Supreme Council of the Scottish Rite(SJ) from 1921 to 1953. b. Aug. 22, 1863 at Dripping Springs, Ky. He held honorary degrees from Cumberland and George Washington Universities and William Jewell College. He was in the whole-sale mercantile business at Louisville at one time and head of the John H. Cowles & Co., brass founders. He served as a captain in the 1st Kentucky Volunteer Infantry in the Spanish–American War in 1898. He was raised in Louisville Lodge No. 400, Louisville, Ky. on Oct. 16, 1888 and served as master four years. Organized Kentucky Army Lodge No. 1, U.D. and was first master during Spanish–American War. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky in 1909, and was president of the Masonic Relief Association of the United States and Canada 1907–09. Cowles was a Royal Arch Mason and Knight Templar 63 years and a Royal and Select Master for 60 years. He was a 33° Mason for 54 years. d. June 18, 1954 and is buried in the House of the Temple at Washington, D.C.

Hereford T. Cowling Photographer and explorer. b. Aug. 20, 1890 in Nansemond Co., Va. Was chief photographer for U.S. Reclamation Service in 1906–16 traveling extensively in U.S., Canada and Mexico. Headed cinematographic expedition to Formosa, Philippines, Indo–China, Siam, Tasmania, and South Sea islands, producing semi-educational movies in 1917. Was chief cinematographer for Paramount (Burton Holmes Travel Films). He has also been technical advisor for Eastman Kodak, official photographer of Century of Progress in Chicago, technical director for U.S. National Archives, Washington, chief of photographic services, Dept. of Labor. In 1922 was on expedition to East Africa, Uganda, Congo and The Sudan. Made movies in Tibet and was China war correspondent in 1924. Member of Benjamin B. French Lodge No. 15, Columbia Chapter No. 1, R.A.M.; Columbia Commandery No. 3, K.T. all of Washington, D.C. Kena Shrine Temple at Alexandria, Va. and National Sojourners at Dayton, Ohio.

Allyn Cox Mural painter. b. June 5, 1896 in New York City. Studied at National Academy of Design, Art Students' League, American Academy in Rome from 1911-20. Has been mural painter since 1921. In 1952 he was chosen by a congressional committee to finish the uncompleted frieze in the U.S. Capitol rotunda and he completed it in 1953. In 1954 he painted the 18 x 47 foot murals for the George Washington National Masonic Memorial, representing Washington laying the cornerstone of the U.S. Capitol and Washington celebrating St. John's Day in Philadelphia. In 1955 he painted the murals for the Royal Arch room of the Washington Memorial, and in 1957 the murals for the Cryptic room of the same memorial. Other works consist of ceilings of the W. A. Clark, Jr. Library of Los Angeles; panels of the law building of the Univ. of Virginia; Continental Bank and Cosmopolitan Club of New York City; S.S. America; Guaranty Trust Co., N.Y. He has served as president of the National Society of Mural Painters; a fellow of the American Academy in Rome; an associate of the National Academy of Design; member of Fine Arts Federation of New York and trustee of the Abbey Fund. He served with the American Red Cross in Italy in 1918. He is a member of Holland Lodge No. 8 and Phoenix Chapter No. 2 of New York City and Trenton Council No. 37, R. & S.M. Trenton, Mo.

Channing H. Cox Governor of Massachusetts, 1921–24. b. Feb. 28, 1879 at Manchester, N.H. Member of lower house of Mass. from 1910–15 and speaker of same from 1915–18. Lieut. governor of state, 1919–20. Has been president of Mass. Committee on Public Safety since 1940. He is president of the Old Colony Trust Co., and a director of a dozen or more corporations including United Fruit, Revere Sugar, First National Bank of Boston, U.S. Smelting & Refining. His Masonic memberships in Boston include St. John's Lodge, St. Andrew's Chapter, R.A.M., St. Bernard Commandery, K.T., 33° AASR (NJ) , and Aleppo Shrine Temple.

Edward E. Cox (1880–1952) Congressman, 69th to 81st Congresses (1925–51) from 2nd Georgia dist. b. April 3, 1880 at Mitchell Co., Ga. Began law practice in Camilla, Ga. in 1902. Mason. d. Dec. 24, 1952.

James M. Cox (1870–1957) Served three terms as Governor of Ohio (1913–15, 1917–19, 1919–21) . b. March 31, 1870, he was raised on a farm, worked in a printer's office and became a newspaper reporter. His newspaper chain included the Dayton Daily News, Dayton Journal Herald, Springfield

Sun, Springfield News, Miami (Fla.) Daily News, Atlanta (Ga.) Journal and Atlanta Constitution. He also operated stations WHIO and WHIO-TV in Dayton, WSB and WSB-TV in Atlanta and WCKT and WCKR radio and TV stations in Miami, Fla. In 1920 he was the Democratic presidential nominee with F. D. Roosevelt q.v. as his running mate. He was, however, defeated by another Ohio newspaper publisher, Warren G. Harding q.v. He was a member of the 61–63rd congresses from 3rd Ohio dist. in 1909–13. He was a member of Jefferson Lodge No. 90, Middletown, Ohio, being raised June 1, 1891. d. July 15, 1957.

Palmer Cox (1840–?) Artist. b. April 28, 1840 in Granby, Quebec, Canada. From 1863–75 he made San Francisco his home. In 1875 he settled in New York where he followed his artistic pursuits. He distinguished himself chiefly by illustrating his own writings with characteristic drawings as shown in The Brownie Stories. He published Squibs of California, Hans von Pelter's Trip to Gotham, How Columbus Found America and That Stanley. He was past master of Mission Lodge No. 169, San Francisco, Calif.

Richard F. Cox Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Feb. 26, 1886 at Graceville, Minn. Graduated from Coast Artillery School in 1915 and was commissioned in 1910, advancing through grades to brigadier general in 1940, retiring in 1944. Mason.

Richard G. Cox President of Gulf Park College, Gulfport, Miss. since 1919. b. Jan. 1, 1881 at Ebensburg, Pa. Taught in several colleges and was at one time dean of Ward–Belmont in Nashville and president of Nashville College for Young Women. He was president of the American Association of Junior Colleges in 1931, and president of the Mississippi Association of Colleges in 1948. Mason and 32° AASR.

William R. Cox (1832–1919) Soldier, Congressman and cotton planter. b. March 11, 1832 in Halifax Co., N. Car. Brigadier general, C.S.A. in Civil War, he was wounded 11 times. He served in the 47th to 49th Congresses (1881–87) and was secretary of the U.S. senate from 1893–99. He was president of the Chatham Coal Field Railroad in 1866, and judge of the 6th district of N. Car. in 1877–80. He served as grand master of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina for four years. He was a member of William G. Hill Lodge No. 218. d. Dec. 26, 1919.

Daniel Coxe (1673–1739) First provincial grand master in America. b. Aug. 31. 1673 in London, he was a member of Lodge No. 8 on the rollof the Grand Lodge of England. An American landed–proprietor, he was appointed first provincial grand master for New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania in 1730 by the Duke of Norfolk. The following year he attended a meeting of the Grand Lodge of England and his health was drunk as “a provincial grand master for North America.” There is unfortunately no record of any Masonic activity by Coxe in his province and it is unusual that his memoir in the Pennsylvania Gazette which was edited by Benjamin Franklin q.v. made no mention of his membership. d. April 25, 1739.

William B. Coxe (1869–1927) Shipbuilder. b. Feb. 25, 1869

at Reading, Pa., he served apprenticeship as marine engineer in Scotland and Bremerhaven, Germany. As assistant general superintendent of Wm. Cramp & Sons Shipbuilding Co., Philadelphia, he delivered the battleship Retvizan and cruiser Variag to Russia and the cruiser Kasagi to Japan. Was president of Harlan & Hollingsworth Corp., Wilmington for 13½ years and president of Reading Paper Mills Co. Served in U.S. Navy in Spanish–American War. Mason. d. July 4, 1927.

John G. Crabbe (1865–1924) College president. b. Nov. 29, 1865 at Mt. Sterling Ohio. Served as supt. of schools in Kentucky and as state supt. of public instruction for that state. President of Eastern Kentucky State Normal at Richmond, 1910–16, and president of Colorado State Teachers College, Greeley from 1916. Mason and 32° AASR (SJ). d. Jan. 20, 1924.

Samuel C. Crafts Former Governor and U.S. Senator from Vermont. Member of Harmony Lodge No. 14, St. Johnsbury, Vt. and also given as member of Meridian Sun Lodge No. 17 at Hardwick, Vt.

Aaron H. Cragin (1821–?) U.S. Senator from New Hampshire, 1865–77. b. Feb. 3, 1821 at Weston, Vt. Admitted to New York bar in 1847, removing to Lebanon, N.H. where he took up practice. Elected to N.H. state legislature, 1855–65. Was one of the commissioners appointed for the sale of the Hot Springs of Arkansas. Member of Franklin Lodge No. 6, Lebanon, N.H.

Thomas S. Crago (1866–1925) U.S. Congressman to 62nd

(1911–13) and 64th to 67th Congresses (1915–23). Served in Spanish–American War in Pennsylvania Volunteers. Mason, 33° AASR (NJ). d. Sept. 12, 1925.

Burt J. Craig Vice President and Treasurer of Ford Motor Co. b. Aug. 7, 1885 at Detroit, Mich. Was accountant with Ford from 1907–08; secretary, 1918–43; vice president and treasurer, 1943–46; and secretary, treasurer and trustee of Ford Foundation from 1946. A director in several other corporations. Mason. Deceased.

Cornelius A. Craig Former president of National Life and Accident Ins. Co. of Nashville (1902–32). b June 15, 1868 at Pulaski, Tenn. Started as clerk and druggist and entered insurance business in 1896. Chairman of Board of National Life 1932–43, and chairman of executive committee from 1943. Son, Edwin W. Craig q.v. now president. Mason.

Edwin W. Craig President of National Life and Accident Ins. Co., Nashville since 1943. Son of Edwin W. Craig q.v. former president. b. March 8, 1893 at Pulaski, Tenn. With National Life since 1913. Mason and Shriner.

Frank Craig (1870–1926) President and founder of City National Bank, McAlester, Okla. b. April 29, 1870 at Ghent, Ky. Admitted to bar in 1891 and practiced first at Wichita, Kansas and later at McAlester until 1901, when he entered banking business. President of Oklahoma Bankers' Ass'n in 1904. Regent of Univ. of Oklahoma 1924–28. Initiated in Albert Pike Lodge No. 303, Wichita, Kans. Dec. 30, 1896. Received 33° AASR (SJ) on Oct. 25, 1907, and made sovereign grand inspector general for Oklahoma. d. July 14, 1926.

Isaac Craig Revolutionary Naval officer who served as a captain under John Paul Jones. Member of Military Lodge No. 19 (now Montgomery No. 19 of Philadelphia, Pa.) and was master of the lodge.

James E. Craig Editor. b. Oct. 8, 1881 at Norborne, Mo. Served as a reporter successively in Kansas City and St. Louis, editorial writer for St. Louis Post–Dispatch and then city editor for St. Louis Globe–Democrat. After a stay as editor of Brownsville (Tex.) Herald in 1920, he went to New York where he became first, city editor of New York Evening Mail, editorial writer for New York Sun, and chief editorial writer for that paper from 1940 until 1951 when it closed publication. He then became managing editor of the Protestant World, a new weekly tabloid. He has written the correspondence report for the Grand Lodge of New York, and with H. L. Haywood was co–author of History of Freemasonry. Craig served as master of Mosaic Lodge No. 418, New York in 1927, and was a charter member of the American Lodge of Research (N.Y.).

Locke Craig (1860–1925) Governor of North Carolina, 1913–17. b. Aug. 16, 1860 in Bertie Co., N.C. Graduate of Univ. of N.C. and admitted to bar in 1883, practicing at Asheville. Member of N.C. lower house in 1899 and 1901. Raised in Mt. Hermon Lodge No. 118 at Asheville on July 2, 1891; suspended in 1895; reinstated in 1897; suspended in 1905 and 1909 but reinstated in a short time. At one time served as grand orator of Grand Lodge of North Carolina. d. June 9, 1925.

Malin Craig (1875–1945) Full General, U.S. Army. b. Aug. 5, 1875 at St. Joseph, Mo. Commissioned an Infantry lieutenant in 1898, advancing through grades to brigadier general in 1924, major general, 1924, and full general in 1935. Retired in 1939. He served as chief-of-staff of the U.S. Army from 1935–39. A member of Union Lodge No. 7, Junction City, Kans., he was made 32° AASR (SJ) in Albert Pike Consistory, Washington, D.C. on May 25, 1936 and received his KCCH on Oct. 19, 1937, but demitted on Nov. 19, 1940. d. July 25, 1945.

William Craig (1807–1869) Plainsman, fur trader, Indian fighter and first homesteader of Idaho; was thought to have given the state its name. He was born in Greenbrier Co., Va. and was first settler in Idaho, being Nez Perce Indian agent in 1848, and interpreter at Walla Walla, Flathead and Blackfoot councils in 1855. He was a lieutenant colonel in the Washington Territory Volunteers and fought in the Indian Wars of 1861. He was first postmaster of Walla Walla in 1858. He married an Indian woman. Craig is thought to have been a member of Multnomah Lodge No. 1 of Oregon City, Oreg.

George Washington Craik Son of Dr. James Craik, q.v. who was personal physician of George Washington and present at Washington's death. Dr. Craik named his son for Washington and Washington educated him. He later served as private secretary to Washington. Member of Alexandria Lodge No. 22, Alexandria, Va.

Dr. James Craik (1731–1814) Close friend and personal physician of George Washington, and attended him in his last illness. He named his son George Washington Craik q.v. b. in Scotland, he was educated to be a surgeon in the British army, but came to Virginia early in life and accompanied Washington in the expedition against the French and Indians in 1754, attending Braddock in 1755 after his defeat and dressing his wounds. In the Revolution he rose to surgeon general of the Continental Army and was first U.S. surgeon general. He was active in disclosing the conspiracy of 1777 to remove Washington as commander-in-chief, and in 1781, as director-general of the hospital at Yorktown, was present at the surrender of Cornwallis. After the war he removed to the neighborhood of Mount Vernon at Washington's request, and was one of the three physicians who attended him in his last illness. He was also present at the death of Martha Washington. A member of Alexandria Lodge No. 22 at Alexandria, he was initiated when it was No. 39 under Pennsylvania charter. d. Feb. 6, 1814. Washington referred to him as "My compatriot in arms, my old and intimate friend."

Kenneth F. Cramer (1894–1954) Major General, U.S. Army. b. Oct. 3, 1894 at Gloversville, N.Y. Graduate of Princeton Univ. in 1916 and 1917. He first taught school and later went into wholesale coal business, being president of the K. F. Cramer Coal Co., Inc. from 1927–52. Entered WW1 as a lieutenant in reserve corps and was discharged in 1919. Continuing his reserve status, he was inducted into army in 1941 and promoted to brigadier general in 1942 and major general commanding 43rd Infantry Division in 1946. He was again recalled to active duty in 1950 to command that division, and was commanding general of the Southern Area Command from 1952 until his death. Mason, 32° AASR, Shriner and National Sojourner. d. Feb. 20, 1954.

William C. Cramer U.S. Congressman 84th Congress from 1st Florida dist. b. Aug. 4. 1922. Graduate of Univ. of North Carolina and Harvard. Admitted to Florida and Massachusetts bars in 1948 and practiced at St. Petersburg. Member of Florida lower house 1950–52 and minority leader in 1951. Served as naval lieutenant in WW2. Charter member of Sunshine Lodge No. 288, St. Petersburg, Fla. and Sunshine Commandery No. 20, K.T. of the same city; 32° AASR (SJ) at Tampa; Selama Grotto, National Sojourners, DeMolay, Eastern Star, Amaranth.

Louis C. Cramton U.S. Congressman, 63rd to 71st Congresses (1913–31) from 7th Michigan dist. b. Dec. 2, 1875 in Lapeer Co., Mich. Practiced law and published newspaper in Lapeer from 1899–1923. Served as clerk of state senate for three sessions and one term as state representative in 1909. Decorated by Serbia and Greece. Mason.

Earl of Cranbrook Fourth earl on the earldom that dates back to 1892, succeeding in 1915 on the death of his father. He was only 15 at that time and was a student at Eton. He served as junior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England in 1939.

Charles H. Crandon Wholesale druggist. b. Nov. 9, 1886 at Acushnet, Mass. Organizer and president of The Crandon-Hunter Co., 1916-25 and president of Crandon Wholesale Drug Co. 1935-43. Vice president and director of 1st National Bank of Miami; president and director of The Cranter Corp.; president of Fairchild Tropical Garden. Active in Dade Co. (Fla.) civic improvement associations, and had a six million dollar park on Biscayne Key named in his honor. Mason and Knight Templar.

Arthur G. Crane Governor of Wyoming, 1949-51, and president of Univ. of Wyoming, 1922-41. b. Sept. 1, 1877 at Davenport Center, N.Y. Was supt. of schools in Minto, N. Dak.; principal of High School in Lewistown, Mont.; supt. of schools, Jamestown, N. Dak. and president of State Normal School, Minot, N. Dak., having built and organized the latter in 1912. He was later principal of the State Normal School at Edinboro, Pa. Mason.

Frank Crane (1861-1928) Journalist and minister. b. May 12, 1861 at Urbana, Ill. Ordained a Methodist minister in 1882 and served as pastor at Trinity and Hyde Park churches in Chicago 1896-1903 and then at Union Congregational Church in Worcester, Mass. He entered journalism in 1909 and was editorial writer for syndicate of 100 newspapers and edited Current Opinion. He is best known for his short common sense essays published in ten volumes (1920). Other writings were The Religion of Tomorrow, Vision, The Song of the Infinite, Human Confessions, God and Democracy, Lame and Lovely, Foot Notes to Life, War and World Government, Just Human, Adventures in Common Sense, The Crane Classics (10 volumes) and others. He was a member of Home Lodge No. 508, Chicago, and served as grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Illinois. d. Nov. 6, 1928.

John Crane Member of the Boston Tea Party, served as a general in the Revolution and was made a Mason in American Union Lodge (Military) while encamped at West Point in 1781.

Robert C. Crane Editor and publisher of Elizabeth (N.J.) Daily Journal since 1948. b. Sept. 25, 1920 at Pittsburgh, Pa., he graduated from Dartmouth in 1941. Became associated with the Daily Journal in 1946. He is also director, president and treasurer of station WPOE. Served overseas with Quartermaster Corps in WW2, advancing from private to captain. Mason and Shriner.

R. Newton Crane (1848–1927) Diplomat, journalist and lawyer. b. April 1, 1848 at Long Branch, N.J. Graduate of Wesleyan Univ. (Conn.), he started on the editorial staff of Newark Daily Advertiser, in 1867, and in 1869 founded with R. W. Gilder the Newark Morning Register. In 1873 he became managing editor of the St. Louis Globe–Democrat. From 1874–80 he was U.S. consul at Manchester, England. Admitted to Missouri bar in 1880 and called to English bar in 1894. He was representative of the U.S. in the South African deportation claims commission in 1901; chancellor of the Episcopal Diocese of Missouri in 1894; grand deacon of the Grand Lodge of England in 1908 and grand herald of the Great Priory of K.T. of England in 1907. d. May 6, 1927.

David M. Crawford Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Oct. 10, 1889 at Flanders, N.J. Graduated from U.S. Military Academy in 1912 and rose to brigadier general in 1942. Was instructor in chemistry at West Point from 1916–21 and again from 1927–28. With the Signal Corps of army, serving as signal officer in Panama Canal Zone, II Corps Area, VII Corps, and communications chief coordinator of U.S. Joint Army–Navy Communications Board and Inter–Allied Combined Communications Board, 1942–46, retiring in 1946. Member of Hancock Lodge No. 311, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans. but was raised in summer of 1924 by Washington Lodge No. 9, Freehold, N.J. Member of Albert Pike Consistory AASR (SJ), Washington, D.C. and Almas Shrine Temple of Washington.

Earl of Crawford (John Lindsay, 20th Earl) Was grand master of the Grand Lodge of England (Moderns) in 1734. He was raised in the Lodge of Edinburgh in 1733, and five months afterwards was introduced to the English fraternity by the Earl of Strathmore, a captain in Barrel's Foot. Crawford succeeded Strathmore as grand master in 1734. He served as a colonel in the 3rd Regiment of Foot Guards and later in the 42nd Foot. Served with the Germans against France and with the Russians against the Turks. Afterwards he greatly distinguished himself at the battles of Dettigen and Fontenoy. He later commanded the 2nd Troop of Horse Grenadier Guards (1740) and was colonel of the Royal Regiment of North British Dragoons.

Harry J. Crawford (1867–1953) Oil executive and banker. b. Jan. 19, 1867 at Emlenton, Pa., he began as foreman for South Penn. Oil Co. in 1888. Became president of 1st National Bank of Emlenton and Oil City National Bank. He was chairman of the board of nine corporations, including Quaker State Oil Refining Corp. and director of five others. Mason and 33° AASR (NJ). He presented a high school building to Emlenton, an administration building to Grove City College, and a home for the blind in Venango Co., Pa. d. in Nov., 1953.

John Crawford (1746–1813) An M.D. who held a chair in the Medical College in Baltimore, Md. and was the first physician to introduce vaccination in Baltimore. b. May 13, 1746 in Ireland. He was the founder of the Baltimore General Dispensary, Bible Association of Baltimore and Maryland Society of Useful Knowledge. He was the first grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of Maryland. A member of Amicable Lodge No. 25, Baltimore, he served as master in 1799. From 1801–13 he served as both grand master of the Grand Lodge of Maryland and grand commander of Knights Templar in the state. d. May 9, 1813.

Nelson A. Crawford Editor and author. b. May 4, 1888 at Miller, S. Dak. Graduate of Iowa and Kansas Universities. Engaged in newspaper work in 1906, and then taught English and journalism in a number of colleges and universities. Managing editor of Kansas Industrialist 1914–26; editor Kansas Churchman, 1916–18; was director of information for U.S. Department of Agriculture from 1925–28. Has been editor in chief of Household magazine since 1928. As an author he has written a number of novels, fiction, poems and textbooks, and has edited a dozen other volumes. He has contributed to Encyclopedia Britannica, Columbia Encyclopedia, Reader's Digest, Coronet, American and others. Member of Lafayette Lodge No. 16, Manhattan, Kansas. Demitted from chapter, council, commandery and consistory.

Samuel J. Crawford (1835–1913) Governor of Kansas, 1865–69. b. April 15, 1835 in Lawrence Co., Ind. Admitted to bar in Indiana in 1856 and removed to Garnett, Kansas in 1859. Served as captain in 2nd Kansas Cavalry in 1861 and made colonel of 83rd U.S.C.T. in 1863, resigning in 1864. Was breveted brigadier general of volunteers in 1865 for “meritorious services.” Farmed in Kansas from 1869. Member of Orient Lodge No. 51, Topeka, Kansas. d. Oct. 21, 1913.

William J. C. Crawley (1884–1916) Irish Masonic historian best known for his work Caementaria Hibernica. He was a member of Scientific Lodge No. 250, Dublin, being raised in 1872. The lodge later merged with Trinity College No. 357. He served as master in 1876 and was secretary for seven years. He was grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Instruction (Ireland) and was grand treasurer of the Grand Lodge of Ireland from 1904 until his death.

William M. Creasy Major General, U.S. Army. b. April 26, 1905 at Wilmington, N.C. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1926. Advanced through grades to major general in 1950. Was chief of strategic planning staff of China–Burma–India Theater, 1944–45 and department commander of Service of Supply in China Theater, 1945. Chief chemical officer, Department of Army since 1954. Raised in St. John's Lodge,

No. 1, Wilmington, N.C. June 27, 1939. 32° AASR (SJ) in Army Consistory No. 1, Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas. Member of Sahara Shrine Temple, Pine Bluff, Ark., National Sojourners and Court No. 38, Royal Order of Jesters.

Cecil W. Creel Agriculture expert. b. Oct. 22, 1889 at Angola, Ind. Began career at Agricultural Experiment Station, Purdue Univ. in 1911, and in 1912 went with the Indian Service, Dept. of Interior. In charge of campaign to stimulate food production in N.W. during WW1. Dean of Agriculture, Univ. of Nevada 1945–49. Went with the Foreign Service dept. of Dept. of Agriculture in 1953, being sent to Israel. In 1954 became consultant to Foreign Operations Administration. Republican nominee for U.S. senate from Nevada in 1942. President of Association of Land Grant Colleges in 1938. Raised Feb. 22, 1912 in Reno Lodge No. 13, Reno, Nev. Member of Reno Chapter No. 7, R.A.M.; Reno Council No. 4, R. & S.M., DeWitt Clinton Commandery No. 1, K.T.; 32° AASR (SJ) and Kerak Shrine Temple, all of Reno. Past master of his council and past grand master of Grand Council R. & S.M. of Nevada. Past potentate of Kerak Shrine Temple; past director of Reno Court No. 33, Royal Order of Jesters, and past sovereign, Joan of Ark Conclave No. 38, Red Cross of Constantine.

Joseph P. Creesey Commander of world-renowned clipper “Flying Cloud.” Member of Philanthropic Lodge at Marblehead, Mass.

Andrew E. Creesy Brigadier General, U.S. Marine Corps. b. Nov. 7, 1893 at Beverly, Mass. Graduate of U.S. Naval Academy in 1917, advancing through grades to brigadier general in 1944. Commanding general Office Q.M.C., Marine Corps Headquarters, Washington. Mason.

Adolphe Cremieux (1796–1880) French lawyer and politician. His real name was Isaac Moise. Was a member of the Chamber of Deputies 1842–48; 1849–51; 1869–70; 1871–75. He was minister of justice in 1848; 1870–71 and in 1875 was appointed senator for life. Member of Lodge Alsace Lorraine.

John Crerar (1827–1889) American businessman and philanthropist. b. in New York City, he endowed John Crerar Library in Chicago. He was a member of Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City (1857).

Joaquin Crespo (1845–1898) Venezuelan General and twice President of Venezuela. b. in San Francisco, Cuba, he was a supporter of Guzman Blanco and served as figure-head president under Blanco's dominance from 1884–86. He led the revolution deposing President Andueza Palacio in 1892 and set up a dictatorship in 1892–94. Served again as president from 1894–98, this time being elected. He was killed in the unsuccessful defense of his successor, Ignacio Andrade q.v. Crespo was the 20th sovereign grand commander of the Supreme Council 33° AASR for Venezuela from 1894–98.

Herbert A. Cresswell Vice President of Canadian Steamship Lines, Ltd. since 1948. b. May 6, 1901 in Nottingham, England. Became associated with the steamship line in 1916, and has been a director since 1951. Also director of several allied corporations. Mason.

Leslie F. Crews Managment Consultant and Vice President of Montgomery Ward & Co. 1945–47. b. Nov. 19, 1896 at New Canton, Ill. Graduate of LaSalle Univ. in 1922. Began as a buyer for Marshall Field & Co. and later entered C.P.A. firm, going to Montgomery Ward in 1928. Has been management consultant since 1949. Member of New Canton Lodge No. 821, New Canton, Illinois, AASR at Minneapolis and Zuhrah Shrine Temple.

Douglas Henry Crick Bishop, Church of England. Studied at Winchester College and later New College, Oxford, England. After his ordination, he served as chaplain to the Mersey Mission for Seamen for four years, followed by another four year period at the Maltby Main Colliery Village until 1916 when he became assistant master at Winchester College, leaving in 1918 as housemaster at Bradfield College. Known as England's tallest bishop (6 ft. 4 in.). He succeeded the present Archbishop of Canterbury, Geoffrey Fisher q.v., as Bishop of Chester in 1939. He followed Fisher as grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of England, holding the position for two years.

Lloyd K. Crippen Vice president of Acacia Mutual Life Insurance Co. since 1937. b. Jan. 4, 1895 at Jackson, Mich. Graduate of Univ. of Michigan in 1921. Joined Acacia Mutual in 1921. Raised March 3, 1923 in Osiris Lodge No. 26, Washington, D.C.

Donald Crisp Movie Actor. Member of Henry S. Orme Lodge No. 548, Los Angeles, Calif.

Francisco Crispi (1819–1901) Italian statesman and Premier of Italy in 1887–91 and 1893–96. b. at Ribera, Sicily. He aided Garibaldi q.v. in expedition to Sicily in 1860 and was first representative from Palermo to the Italian parliament in 1861. He was the leader of the radical Left and president of the Chamber of Deputies in 1876. In 1877–78 he was minister of interior. He advocated the Triple Alliance of Germany, Italy and Austria and sought Italian protectorate over Abyssinia. He was deposed after Italian defeat at Aduwa in 1896. According to Bulletin of International Masonic Congress, 1917, he was a Freemason.

Daniel H. Crissinger (1860–1942) Governor of Federal Reserve Board, 1923–27. b. Dec. 10, 1860 in Marion Co., Ohio and began practice of law in Marion in 1886. Owner of several farms, he had supervision of National City Bank & Trust of Marion, becoming president in 1920. From 1921–23 he was U.S. comptroller of currency. After resigning as governor of the Federal Reserve, he was chairman of the executive committee of the F. H. Smith Co., Washington from 1927 until his death. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner. d. July 12, 1942.

William E. Crist Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Aug. 10, 1898 at Harrisburg, Pa. Graduated U.S. Military Academy in 1920 and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1951. He served on the War Dept. General Staff in Military Intelligence from 1939–43 and then became assistant division commander of the 91st Infantry division. He served on the U.S. Military Mission to Moscow in 1944 and with the military government of Okinawa in 1945. Later with First Army staff in Nanking, China and Tokyo, Japan. Has been assistant chief of staff of the Allied Land Forces (G-2), Central Europe since 1954. Mason and National Sojourner.

Arthur S. Crites (1879–1957) Banker. b. Feb. 4, 1879 on Bear Mountain, Kern Co., Calif. A self-made man of considerable wealth, during his youth he rode the ranges as a cowboy, pulled the jerk line over an eight-horse plow, freighted on the Mojave Desert, worked in the hayfields on a hay baler and cut and hauled wood until 1898 when he rode 30 miles out of the mountains to volunteer for the war with Spain. Following the war he worked as a messenger for the Kern Valley Bank. He advanced in the California banking world to become president of several banks, which by merger, later became part of the Bank of America system. He served the Bank of America as executive vice president until 1932 when he retired to look after his extensive business and oil interests. Active in Republican politics, he was a delegate to several national conventions and took an active part in the work of the Republican central committee. He was a close personal friend of Chief Justice Earl Warren q.v. and Senator William Knowland q.v. In 1956 he attended the White House Conference on Education, serving as chairman of one of the panels. Crites was grand master of the grand lodge of California in 1923, grand commander of the Grand Commandery, K.T. of California in 1932. He served the grand lodge on the finance committee for 27 years and was treasurer of his blue lodge for 45 years. He died April 28, 1957, only a few days before he was scheduled to preside over the Red Cross of Constantine meeting as its national grand sovereign.

John J. Crittenden (1787–1863) U.S. Senator from Kentucky, Governor of Kentucky and Attorney General of the United States. b. Sept. 10, 1787 in Woodford Co., Ky. He served four terms as U.S. senator—1817–19; 1835–41; 1842–48; 1855–61. He was U.S. attorney general in 1841 and again from 1850–53. He served as governor of Kentucky from 1848–50. In 1860 he introduced the “Crittenden Compromise” in the U.S. senate as a measure of conciliation between the North and South, but it was defeated in committee. He was a member of Lexington Lodge No. 1, Lexington, Ky. and later of Russellville Lodge No. 17, Russellville. His nephew, Thomas T. Crittenden q.v. became governor of Missouri. d. July 26, 1863.

Robert Crittenden First Secretary of Arkansas Territory. When congress defined the Arkansas Territory in 1819, Robert Crittenden, a Kentucky Mason and charter secretary of Arkansas Post Lodge No. 59, was selected as territorial secretary. He was also a member of Webb Royal Arch Chapter No. 6, Versailles, Ky.

Thomas L. Crittenden Union General of Civil War. Mason. Visited Ward Lodge, an army lodge, during the war.

Thomas T. Crittenden (1832–1909) Governor of Missouri, 1881–85. b. Nov. 21, 1832 at Shelby Co., Ky. Served as lieutenant colonel in 7th Missouri Cay. from 1862 until close of Civil War, practicing law after the war. He filled an unexpired term as attorney general of Missouri, and was a member of congress in 1877–81 from the 7th Missouri dist. He was U.S. consul at Mexico City, Mexico, 1893–97. Belonged to Masonic bodies in Kentucky.

Marcellus M. Crocker (1830–1865) Union Brigadier General of Civil War. b. Feb. 6, 1830 in Franklin, Ind. He entered the U.S. Military Academy in 1847, but left at the end of his second year, studied law and practiced in Des Moines, Iowa. He entered the service as a major of the 2nd Iowa Infantry in 1861. He fought at Shiloh, Vicksburg and was with Sherman in his Georgia campaign, commanding a division part of the time. He was suffering from consumption during the whole of his military duty. d. Aug. 26, 1865 in Washington, D.C. Member of Pioneer Lodge No. 22, Des Moines, Iowa.

David Crockett (1786–1836) American frontiersman. b. Aug. 17, 1786 in Limestone, Tenn. His father was a veteran of the American Revolution and was of Irish birth. Unable to read or write, he was nevertheless a shrewd man. His ability to tell humorous stories and shoot a rifle enabled him to be elected to the U.S. congress from Tennessee for two terms, 1827–31 and 1833–35. He served under Jackson in the Creek War in 1813–14, but later opposed Jackson q.v. politically. Jackson had a strong following in western Tennessee, and Crockett eventually fell from popular favor and joined the Texans in their struggle for Independence. His life ended at the Alamo, where as one of the six survivors of a band of 140 Texans, he surrendered to Santa Anna q.v., only to be shot by order of that Mexican general on March 6, 1836. Crockett is often referred to as a Mason, but no proof of his membership has been found. In 1897 it was claimed that a Mr. E. M. Taylor of Paducah; Ky. was in possession of his Masonic apron. On April 21, 1936 the Grand Lodge of Texas dedicated a Masonic memorial on the San Jacinto (Tex.) battlefield. The plaque on the monument carried a list of 48 names, including that of Crockett, stating "A tribute to the fidelity of pioneer Masons under whose outstanding leadership was laid the cornerstone of the Republic of Texas."

Edward Croft (1875–1938) Major General, U.S. Army and Chief of Infantry, U.S.A. 1933–38. b. July 11, 1875 at Greenville, S.C. Commissioned in 1898, advancing through grades to major general in 1933. Mason. d. Jan. 28, 1938.

Frederick S. Crofts (1883–1951) Book publisher. b. Jan. 10, 1883 at Hudson, N.Y. Managed the educational department of Harper & Brothers from 1919–24, and founded the F. S. Crofts & Co. in Oct. of the latter year, being president and director. He was also vice president and director of Appleton–Century Crofts, Inc., and a director of Cornell Univ. Press and Comstock Publishing Co. Mason. d. Sept. 16, 1951.

William M. Croll (1866–1929) U.S. Congressman to 68th Congress (1923–25) from 14th Pennsylvania dist b. April 9, 1866 in Upper Macungie, Pa. Engaged in general merchandise and clothing business. Mason, 32° AASR (NJ). d. Oct. 22, 1929.

George, Earl of Cromarty Scottish nobleman who succeeded William St. Clair as the 2nd Grand Master Mason of Scotland in 1737. He afterwards engaged in the rebellion of 1745, and, with 400 of his clan, took part in the Battle of Falkirk. He and his son, Lord Macleod, were taken prisoners. Both pleaded guilty, but were pardoned.

Harry F. C. Crookshank British politician. b. May 27, 1893. Attended Eton as King's Scholar and later Magdalen College, Oxford. He served throughout WW1, first with the Hampshire regiment and from 1915 with the Grenadier Guards. Was twice wounded. He entered the diplomatic service after the war and was third secretary in the foreign office and in 1921 was 2nd secretary at Constantinople. In 1924 he was stationed at the British Embassy in Washington, D.C. His mother was of American birth. He has served as a member of Parliament from Lincolnshire for over 30 years, and at one time was leader of the House of Commons and Lord Privy Seal. In 1934 he was appointed Parliamentary Undersecretary to the Home Office and became successively Secretary for Mines, Financial Secretary to the Treasury and Postmaster General. He served the Grand Lodge of England as senior grand deacon in 1935 and junior grand warden in 1947. In the Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons of England he was past grand sojourner in 1935, and grand superintendent for Lincolnshire in 1946, He served the Mark Grand Lodge of England as grand senior warden in 1943. A Knight Templar, he was first grand constable in 1941. He is a member of the supreme council 33° AASR.

Marshall F. Cropley (1882–1957) Vice President of Matson Navigation Co. from 1947. b. May 26, 1882 in San Jose, Calif.

Worked as a stenographer for Rock Island Railroad, cashier of Alaska Pacific Steamship Co., general agent for Pacific Steamship Co. and later became manager. Went with Matson as assistant freight traffic manager in 1925. Mason and Shriner. d. Aug. 28, 1957.

Harley N. Crosby (1873–1955) Presiding Justice, Supreme Court of New York, 1940–43. Retired. b. June 25, 1873 at Parish, N.Y. Graduate of Cornell and Syracuse universities. Justice of supreme court from 1922–28 and associate justice appellate division, 1929–39. Member of Republican Lodge No. 325, Parish, N.Y.

William G. Crosby (1806–1881) Governor of Maine for two terms beginning in 1853. Graduate of Bowdoin and practiced law in Belfast. He was prominent in promoting the public school system of Maine. Member of Timothy Chase Lodge No. 126, Belfast and master of his lodge twice.

Bert S. Cross Vice president of Minnesota Mining and Mfg. Co. since 1948. b. Oct. 16, 1905 in Superior, Wis. Began as office boy for General Mills in Minneapolis, going with Minn. Mining and Mfg. Co. in 1926 where he was successively manager of the abrasive division, new products manager, and general manager of scotchlite division. He holds several patents in the field of abrasives, paper, printing, coating and scotchlite reflectors. Member of Ancient Landmark Lodge No. 5, St. Paul, Minn.; Minnesota Chapter No. 1, R.A.M.; Damascus Commandery No. 1, K.T. and Osman Shrine Temple, all of St. Paul, Minn.

Burton M. Cross Governor of Maine in 1953. b. Nov. 15, 1902 in Augusta, Maine. He began as a florist in Augusta and now president of Cross Flowers, Inc. in Farmingdale. Member of the Maine lower house in 1940–43 and state senate from 1944–52, serving as majority floor leader in 1946–49 and president of the senate 1948–52. Mason, 32° AASR (NJ) and Shriner.

Edward E. Cross (1832–1863) Journalist and soldier. b. April 22, 1832 in Lancaster, N.H. He began as a journeyman printer, going to Cincinnati in 1852 and becoming editor of the Cincinnati Times in 1854. He was employed as an agent of the St. Louis and Arizona Mining Co. and subsequently became a large stockholder. In 1860 he held a lieutenant colonel's commission in the Mexican army, and when the news of the attack on Fort Sumter reached him, he resigned and hastened to Concord, N.H. where he recruited a regiment and was made its colonel. The regiment distinguished itself in many battles and was known as the "Fighting Fifth." He was mortally wounded at the battle of Gettysburg, and died July 2, 1863. A member of North Star Lodge No. 8, Lancaster, N.H.

Jeremy L. Cross (1783–1861) Masonic ritualist and organizer. b. in Haverhill, N.H. on June 27, 1783, he was made a Mason in St. John's Lodge No. 1, Portsmouth, N.H. in 1808 and affiliated with Hiram Lodge No. 1, New Haven, Conn. in 1818. He received the Mark Master degree in Aurora Mark Master Lodge No. 7, Bradford, Vt. and the Royal Arch degree in Champlain Chapter No. 2, St. Albans, Vt., in July, 1815. Admitted to Harmony Council No. 8, New Haven, Conn. on Oct 16, 1818, serving as master in 1822 and 1827. He was knighted in St. John's Commandery, K.T. No. 1, Providence, R.I. in 1819. Received 33° AASR. He organized a number of councils of royal and select masters throughout the country. His education was poor, but his memorizing of the work enabled him to teach in all the recognized divisions of Masonry. His True Masonic Chart or Hieroglyphic Monitor, which went through at least two dozen editions, is his greatest contribution. He worked with another famous ritualist, Thomas Smith Webb q.v. for a time.

Sir Ronald Cross Governor of Tasmania. Initiated in Fidelity Lodge No. 63, Tasmania, in 1953 while serving as governor.

Wilbur L. Cross (1862–1948) Four times Governor of Connecticut, 1931–39. b. April 10, 1862 at Mansfield, Conn. A.B. and Ph.D. degrees from Yale, and honorary degrees from 12 universities and colleges. Was a professor of English, author and editor. Dean of Yale graduate school from 1916–30. Wrote eight books on biography and edited a score of classics. Raised in Trumbull Lodge No. 22, New Haven, Conn. on April 21, 1932. d. Oct 5, 1948.

Horace Crotty (1886–1951) Bishop of Church of England. b. Oct. 8, 1886 at Bleasby, near Nottingham. Educated in Australia, graduating from Melbourne Univ. with honors. He entered the holy orders in 1909, being appointed vicar of Ivanhoe, Melbourne and later rector of St. Thomas in North Sydney. Served in WW1 in France with the Australian expeditionary forces and on his return was appointed dean of Newcastle (N.S.W.). He was consecrated bishop of Bathhurst (N.S.W.) in 1928 and served until his resignation in 1936. He served as grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of New South Wales and provincial grand chaplain in England. d. Jan. 16, 1951.

William E. Crow (1870–1922) U.S. Senator from Pennsylvania, 1921–23. b. March 10, 1870 at Fayette Co., Pa. Admitted to bar in 1895. Member of state senate three terms. Member of Fayette Lodge No. 228, Uniontown, Pa. d. Aug. 2, 1922.

Benjamin W. Crowninshield (1772–1851) Secretary of the Navy under Madison and Monroe. b. Dec. 27, 1772 in Boston, Mass. He engaged in business in Salem, Mass. and during the War of 1812, commanded several ships. He was state senator in 1811 and appointed secretary of Navy in 1814 by Madison, resigning in 1818. He returned to the state senate in 1822–23 and was elected to U.S. congress from 1823–31. Member of Essex Lodge, Salem, Mass. d. Feb. 3, 1851.

Frank Crowther (1870–1955) Congressman to 66th to 77th Congresses (1919–43) from 30th New York dist. b. July 10, 1870 at Liverpool, England. Graduate of Harvard Dental School in 1898. Mason. d. July 20, 1955.

John T. Croxton (1837–1874) Union Major General in Civil War and U.S. Minister to Bolivia. b. Nov. 20, 1837 in Bourbon Co., Ky. He graduated from Yale in 1857 and was admitted to bar in 1858, practicing in Paris, Ky. from 1859. In 1861 he began raising Union troops and was made an officer, rising to major general. He participated in the battles of Sherman's army, and at the close of the war was put in command of the military district of southwest Georgia. He resigned from the army in 1865 and returned to Kentucky where he resumed the practice of law. He was named minister to Bolivia in 1873 and accepted the office in the expectation that it would be beneficial to his health, but it was too late and died in La Paz, Bolivia April 16, 1874. He was given Masonic burial.

Lee Cruce (1863–1933) Governor of Oklahoma, 1911–15. b. July 8, 1863 in Crittenden Co., Ky. Began law practice in Ardmore, Indian Territory in 1891, and went with the Ardmore National Bank in 1901, becoming president of it in 1903. Mason and 32° AASR (SJ). d. Jan. 16, 1933.

Robert T. Crucefix (1797–1850) The doctor was both an M.D. and LL.D. and founded what is now the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution in England. He started The Freemasons' Quarterly Review in 1843 to promote the cause of the home for aged and decrepit Freemasons, and on his motion in 1837, the Grand Lodge of England recommended the home. However the Duke of Sussex was opposed to the idea, favoring an annuity fund. Dr. Crucefix used some intemperate words at a meeting and in 1839 was suspended for six months. He then wrote a strong letter to the grand master and was ordered to appear at a special meeting of the grand lodge and apologize or be expelled—he apologized. d. Feb. 25, 1850.

Charles Craft (?–1883) Union Major General in Civil War. He was commissioned an officer of volunteers from Indiana in 1862, and became major general in 1865. He served with distinction in the battles fought near Richmond, Ky. on Aug. 29–30, 1862, commanding a brigade. His Masonic memberships were in Terre Haute, hid. Lodge No. 19; Chapter, R.A.M. No. 11; Council R. & S.M. No. 8; and Commandery No. 16, K.T. of which he was past commander. He also was grand commander of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Indiana in 1873. d. March 23, 1883.

Thomas Cruse (1857–1943) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Dec. 29, 1857 at Owensboro, Ky. He graduated from U.S. Military Academy in 1879. Commissioned in that year, he advanced through the grades to brigadier general in 1917. He was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for “distinguished gallantry in action with hostile Indians” in 1882. Mason. d. June 8, 1943.

Walter B. Cruttenden (1873–1949) Insurance executive. b. Jan. 27, 1873 at Madison, Conn. Graduate of Yale and engaged in practice of law from 1896–1900. Vice president and director of Fire & Marine Ins. Co. from 1924; same for Sentinel Fire Ins. Co. from 1926; New England Fire Ins. Co. from 1927; Michigan Fire & Marine Ins. Co. since 1927; N.E. Casualty Ins. Co. from 1939. Mason, 32° AASR. d. Sept. 5, 1949.

Samuel H. Cuff Writer and news analyst. b. Oct. 17, 1901 in American colony at Jerusalem. He was taken as a hostage by the Turks in the evacuation of Jerusalem in 1917, and acted as hostage-interpreter for them. In 1927 he organized the Travel Institute of Bible Research in New York, London and Jerusalem. From 1932–35 he assisted the Greek government in cooperation with Princeton Univ. and Brooklyn Museum in reviving interest in classic monuments and study. He has served as a public relations consultant for various Balkan and European countries. In 1939 he visited Panama at the invitation of the governor to write a historic guide of that country (This Is Panama). He has been a news analyst for National Broadcasting Co. since 1951. Mason.

Charles A. Culberson (1855–1925) U.S. Senator and Governor of Texas. b. June 10, 1855 at Dadeville, Ala. He settled in Texas in 1856 and practiced law at Dallas from 1887. Served two terms as governor of Texas, 1894–98 and four terms as U.S. senator from Texas, 1899–1923. Member of Jefferson Lodge No. 36, Jefferson, Texas and Ben Hur Shrine Temple of Austin. d. March 19, 1925.

Frank P. Culver, Jr. Justice, Supreme Court of Texas since 1953. b. Sept. 25, 1889 at Birmingham, Ala. Graduate of Vanderbilt and Texas universities. Began practice of law at Ft. Worth in 1914. From 1928 he served as district judge, associate justice of court of civil appeals. Served in both WW1 and WW2. Raised in Julian Field Lodge No. 908, Fort Worth, Texas in 1914, serving as master in 1922 and district deputy grand master in 1936. Member of Texas Chapter, R.A.M. and Worth Commandery, K.T. as well as Moslah Shrine Temple, all of Fort Worth.

Ernest Augustus, Duke of Cumberland (1771–1851)

First King of Hanover serving from 1837–51. He was a son of King George III of England. Was created Duke of Cumberland in 1799, the title previously being held by his uncle Henry Frederick q.v. who was grand master of England. He became King of Hanover on the separation of the English and Hanoverian crowns in 1837 upon the accession of Victoria as queen of England. He was succeeded on the throne by his son George V q.v., who ruled until 1866 when Hanover was annexed to Prussia. He was initiated at a special meeting held in the house of the Earl of Moira q.v., the acting grand master, on May 11, 1796. He was elected grand master of the Grand Lodge of Hanover on Nov. 1, 1828.

Henry Frederick H.R.H., Duke of Cumberland (1745– 1790) Brother of King George III of England. He was initiated in Royal Lodge No. 313 (later Royal Alpha No. 16) on Feb. 10, 1767. He was the first grand master of the Grand Lodge of England of royal blood, serving from 1782–90. At that time (April, 1782) the grand lodge resolved “that whenever a prince of the blood did the society the honour to accept the office of grand master, he should be at liberty to nominate any peer of the realm to be acting grand master.” Thus was created the office of pro-grand master.

William Augustus, Duke of Cumberland (1721–1765)

Third son of George II, King of England and Queen Caroline. Educated for the navy, he was privy councilor in 1742. He was commander-in-chief of the British, Hanoverian, Austrian and Dutch forces that unsuccessfully engaged Marshal Saxe at Fontenoy in 1745. He quelled the Jacobite uprising headed by Prince Charles Edward, and suppressed Jacobitism with utmost severity, thus acquiring the nickname of "The Butcher." He was again defeated by Saxe at Lauffeld in 1747 and defeated by d'Estress at Hastenbeck in 1757, thus capitulating Hanover. After this he retired to private life. He was initiated in 1743. b. April 26, 1721. d. Oct. 31, 1765.

Thayer Cumings Vice president and director of the advertising firm of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn since 1951. b. March 16, 1904 in New York City. He graduated from Harvard in 1926. Served as officer in Navy during WW2. Mason., Homer S. Cummings (1870–1956) Attorney General of U.S. under Franklin Roosevelt, 1933–39. b. April 30, 1870 at Chicago, Ill. Graduate of Yale, he practiced at Stamford, Conn. from 1893 until 1923 and since 1939. Delegate to National Democratic Convention seven times, delivering keynote speech in 1920. He was floor leader for F. D. Roosevelt in 1932. As attorney general he was the author and sponsor of many reforms in the Department of Justice and Federal judicial system, including new rules of civil procedure, creation of administrative office for federal courts, juvenile delinquency act; he extended and improved prison system, established Alcatraz; called national conference on crime; widened scope of Federal power in matter of kidnapping and inter-state crime. He was raised in Hiram Lodge No. 1, New Haven, Conn. Aug. 5, 1892. d. Sept. 10, 1956.

0. Sam Cummings Organizer of Kiwanis, International. b. July 9, 1893 in Evanston, Ill. Owner of 0. Sam Cummings Agency (ins.), and state agent for Kansas City Life Ins. Co. in Texas. He is recognized internationally for development of Kiwanis organization in the U.S. and Canada. He was first international executive secretary of the Kiwanis clubs of the U.S. and Canada from 1918–21, and international president in 1928. Mason.

Albert B. Cummins (1850–1926) U.S. Senator and Governor of Iowa. b. Feb. 15, 1850 at Carmichaels, Pa. Admitted to Illinois bar in 1874 and practiced in Chicago until 1878, when he removed to Des Moines, Iowa. He served in the Iowa lower house in 1888, and was governor of Iowa three terms (1902 – 08, and U.S. senator from Iowa from 1908–27. He succeeded Calvin Coolidge as president of the senate in 1923. Member of Capitol Lodge No. 110, Des Moines and Za–Ga–Zig Shrine Temple of Des Moines. d. July 30, 1926., Robert R. Cummins Railroad executive. b. Sept. 30, 1884 at Marion, Ala. Began with Central of Georgia Railroad in 1909. Presently president and director of Sylvania Central Railway, Albany Terminal Co., Macon Terminal Co., Chatham Terminal Co., and Central of Georgia Motor Transport Co. Vice president and director of three other terminal companies. Mason.

Albert B. Cunningham Author and educator (pen name of Garth Hale). b. June 22, 1888 at Linden, W. Va. Served as dean of Lebanon Univ. and College of Puget Sound, and has taught English at Washington State, State Teachers College, Shippensburg, Pa. and has been professor of English at Texas Technical College since 1929. He has written 23 fiction books such as Singing Mountains, Old Black Bass, Murder at Deer Lick, Murder at the Schoolhouse, The Strange Death of Manny Square, Murder Before Midnight, After The Storm, The Victory of Paul Kent, and others. Member of Village Lodge No. 274, Burton, Ohio, but now demitted.

Edward H. Cunningham (1869–1930) Member of Federal Reserve Board, 1923–30. b. Dec. 14, 1869 at Burlington, Wis. Farmed in Iowa from 1889. He was a member of the lower house of Iowa three terms, 1909–13 and speaker of house in 1913. Mason. d. Nov. 28, 1930.

Paul H. Cunningham U.S. Congressman to 77th to 81st Congresses (1941–51) from Iowa. b. June 15, 1890 in Indiana Co., Pa. Admitted to Michigan bar in 1915 and Iowa bar in 1920. First practiced at Grand Rapids and Grand Haven, Mich. and in Des Moines since 1920. Served as first lieutenant in WW1. Mason.

William Cunningham (?–1791) English Captain and Provost Marshal of the American Revolution who was notorious for his treatment of American prisoners. He arrived in New York in 1774, where he broke horses and gave riding lessons. His conduct was obnoxious to the Whigs in New York and he fled to Boston where he attracted the attention of General Thomas Gage, who appointed him provost marshal. In 1778 he had charge of the prisons in Philadelphia and later of those in New York. In both places his cruelties to the prisoners became notorious. More than 250 were hanged without trial and 2,000 starved to death. His only known virtue was in the recovery of the stolen jewels, books and records of Lodges

No. 2 and 3 in Philadelphia. His own lodge is not known, but he was a visitor to Lodge No. 3 on Oct. 10, 1777. Later he resided in London where he became dissipated, and for forging a draft was convicted and executed on Aug. 10, 1791.

George R. Currie Justice of Supreme Court of Wisconsin since 1951. b. Jan. 16, 1900 at Princeton, Wis. Graduate of Univ. of Wisconsin in 1925. Practiced law in Sheboygan from 1925–51. Mason.

Charles F. Curry (1858–1930) U.S. Congressman, 63rd to 71st Congresses (1913–31) from 3rd California dist. b. March 14, 1858. Member of the California Assembly in 1887 and superintendent of Station B. postoffice in San Francisco from 1890–94. Secretary of State of California in 1899–1911. Mason. d. Oct. 10, 1930.

Andrew G. Curtin (1815–?) Governor of Pennsylvania, 1860–65. b. April 22, in Bellefonte, Pa. He was admitted to the bar in 1839. Was appointed secretary of the commonwealth and ex-officio superintendent of common schools in 1854, and did much toward reforming the public school system of Pennsylvania. As governor he instituted a system of caring for the children of men killed in the Civil War, and thus became known in the ranks as “the soldiers friend.” President Grant appointed him minister to Russia in 1869. He served in the U.S. congress three consecutive terms from 1881–1887. Member of Bellefonte Lodge No. 268, Bellefonte, Pa.

Carl T. Curtis U.S. Congressman 76th to 80th Congresses

(1939–49) from Nebraska. b. March 15, 1905 at Minden, Nebr. Began law practice in Minden in 1930. Raised in Minden Lodge No. 127, Minden, Nebr. and 32°, KCCH in AASR (SJ) at Hastings. Member of Tehama Shrine Temple at Hastings and Royal Order of Jesters. Elected U.S. senator in 1955.

Jesse W. Curtis Justice, Supreme Court of California for terms 1926–50, retiring in 1945. b. July 18, 1865 in San Bernardino, Calif. Began practice of law at San Bernardino in 1891, serving as judge and district attorney of several courts. Mason and Knight Templar.

John J. Curtis (1857–1931) Publisher. b. Jan. 21, 1857 at Indianapolis, Ind. Became vice president of Bowen, Stewart & Co. (now Bobbs–Merrill Co.) book publishers. Was known as “dean of modern book advertising” and originator of colored pictorial book jackets. Mason. d. July 22, 1931.

Sir Lucius Curtis Admiral of English Navy. Initiated in Phoenix Lodge No. 257, Portsmouth, Eng. June 13, 1827, serving as master in 1833 and provincial grand master from 1840–57.

Merritt B. Curtis Brigadier General, U.S. Marine Corps. b. Aug. 31, 1892 at San Bernardino, Calif. Graduate of Univ. of California and George Washington Univ. Commissioned 2nd lieutenant in 1917 and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1944. Chief disbursing officer of supply department U.S. Marine Corps at Washington from 1946. Member of the bar in California and District of Columbia, and admitted to practice in supreme court. Dual membership in Sojourners

Lodge No. 51, Washington, D.C. (1941) and life member of International Lodge (Mass.) of Peking, China (1928). 32° AASR, Peking, China in 1929. Member of Almas Shrine Temple, Washington, D.C. National president of National Sojourners, 1948–49 and national secretary–treasurer–editor of same, 1949–53.

Newton M. Curtis (1835–?) Union Major General in Civil War. b. May 21, 1835 in DePeyster, N.Y. On April 14, 1861 he enrolled a company of volunteers from New York and was made their captain. During the progress of the war he was advanced through the ranks to major general of volunteers in Oct., 1864. He served in the Army of the Potomac, commanded a brigade in the Battle of Cold Harbor, and was known as the “hero of Ft. Fisher.” In 1865 he was given command of southwest Virginia with headquarters at Lynchburg, and was mustered out of service on Jan. 15, 1866. He later served as a member of the New York legislature, special agent of the U.S. Treasury and collector of customs. He received his degrees in Ogdensburg, N.Y., and his chapter degrees there on St. John’s Day, Dec., 1858. He became a member of DeMolay Cornmandery No. 4, Lynchburg, Va. about the close of the Civil War.

Oakley C. Curtis (1865–1924) Governor of Maine, 1915–16. b. March 29, 1865 at Portland, Me. He was manager of Randall & McAllister, wholesale coal from 1894; served in the state house of representatives 1903–04; state senator, 1905–08 and was mayor of Portland from 1911–14. Mason, 32° AASR (NJ). d. Feb. 22, 1924.

Sir Roger Curtis Admiral in British Navy. Made a Mason in Phoenix Lodge No. 257, Portsmouth, Eng. on Aug. 1, 1787.

Samuel R. Curtis (1807–1866) Union Major General in Civil War. b. Feb. 3, 1807 in New York state, he graduated from U.S. Military Academy in 1831, but resigned from army in 1832 and became a civil engineer. He then studied law and practiced in Ohio from 1841–46. Active in the state militia, he was adjutant general of Ohio, and organized volunteers for the Mexican War. He served as colonel in that war, and was governor of Saltillo, Mexico in 1847–48. Elected to congress for three terms beginning in 1857, he resigned in 1861 to become colonel of the 2nd Iowa regiment. He was in charge of a large camp of instruction near St. Louis in 1861 and commanded the southwestern district of Mo. He gained a decisive victory at Pea Ridge, Ark. against Generals Price and McCulloch, and was promoted to major general in 1862. He later commanded Fort Leavenworth and defeated General Price's army, and at close of war was commander of the department of the Northwest. A Mason, he was buried by the Knights Templar. d. Dec. 26, 1866.

Caleb Cushing (1800–1879) Brigadier General of Mexican War and Attorney General of U.S. (1853–57). b. Jan. 17, 1800 at Salisbury, Mass., he graduated from Harvard in 1817, studied law and practiced at Newburyport, Mass. He served several terms in the state senate and house of representatives and was elected four terms to U.S. congress. He was nominated as secretary of the Treasury by President Tyler, but the senate refused to seat him. He was subsequently confirmed as commissioner to China and made the first treaty between that country and the U.S. In 1847 he raised a regiment for the Mexican War at his own expense, and eventually became brigadier general. In 1853 President Pierce appointed him U.S. attorney general, and he held that office until he retired in 1857. Later he was sent to Bogota on a special diplomatic mission, and served as minister to Spain. He was a member of St. John's Lodge, Newburyport, Mass. d. Jan. 2, 1879.

Nathaniel Cushing (1753–1814) Major of the American Revolution who was first master of Farmers Lodge No. 20, Belpre, Ohio. b. April 8, 1753 in Pembroke, Mass. Fought with Massachusetts troops from 1775–1782 and at close of war moved to Belpre, Ohio. d. Aug. 1814.

William Cushing (1732–1810) First appointed Justice of U.S. Supreme Court (1789). In 1796 Washington named him chief justice, but he declined. b. March 1, 1732 in Scituate, Mass., he graduated from Harvard in 1751, studied law with Jeremy Gridley q.v. and became attorney general for Mass. In 1772 he became judge of the Massachusetts superior court and chief justice in 1777. In 1780 he was chosen the first chief justice—of the state under the state constitution. He was one of the founders of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences in 1780 and was vice president of the Mass. convention that ratified the federal constitution. Member of St. Andrew's Lodge, Boston, Mass. d. Sept. 13, 1810.

Nathan Cutler Former Governor of Vt. Member of Maine Lodge No. 20, Farmington, Maine. Was delegate to the grand lodge in 1919.

Richard R. Czerwonky (1886–1949) Violin virtuoso. b. May 23, 1886 at Birnbaum, Posen, Germany. He made his debut with the Philharmonic orchestra in Berlin in 1910 and played throughout Europe. He was assistant concertmaster of the Boston Symphony in 1907–08 and concertmaster and soloist for Minneapolis Symphony 1909–18. From 1918–32 he was head of the violin dept. of the Bush Conservatory of Music in Chicago and was vice president of the Chicago Conservatory from 1932–35. He founded the Women's Symphony Orchestra of Chicago and was conductor of the Chicago Philharmonic from 1925–45. Composed extensively for violin, piano, voice and orchestra. Czerwonky became a citizen in 1915. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner. d. April 16, 1949.

D

Hippolyte J. DaCosta (?–1823) Masonic victim of the Inquisition. A native of Colonia-do-Sacramento on the River La Plata, he was made a Freemason in Philadelphia, Pa. He settled in Lisbon and came to England in 1802 to negotiate a treaty between the grand lodges of England and Portugal, whereby the brethren under each jurisdiction also enjoyed the privileges of the other. On his return he was arrested by the Inquisition and kept in solitary confinement for six months and after three years imprisonment, was able to effect his release through some English Freemasons. He then dwelt in England the rest of his life. Sources do not agree on his lodge affiliations in England. Some say it was the Lodge of the Nine Muses No. 325 while others say he joined Antiquity Lodge in 1808, and Inverness Lodge (now Royal Somerset House and Inverness No. 4) on Feb. 2, 1815. In 1813 he was appointed provincial grand master for Rutlandshire—a curious appointment, for at that time there were no Masonic lodges in the county. In 1819 he was one of a notable trio, which included the Duke of Sussex q.v. and the Duke of Leinster q.v., grandmasters of England and Ireland, respectively, to whom a patent was issued by the French Supreme Council of the Ancient and Accepted Rite, constituting them a supreme council for the British Isles and possessions. The project, however, came to nothing at that time. In 1811, he published an account of his sufferings at the hands of the Inquisition.

Manuel Deodoro da Fonseca (1827–1892) First president of Brazil (1889–1891). A Brazilian general, he was active in the war with Paraguay in 1868–70; served as governor of Rio Grande do Sul, 1887–89 and leader in the movement against Emperor Dom Pedro which dethroned him in 1889 and placed da Fonseca in as provisional president. He was sovereign grand commander of the Grand Orient.

David Daggett (1764–1851) U.S. Senator and Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Connecticut. b. Dec. 31, 1764 at Attleborough, Mass. He graduated from Yale in 1783 and practiced law in New Haven, Conn. Was member of state legislature from 1791–1813; elected U.S. senator in 1813, serving until 1819. From 1826–32 he was judge of the Connecticut supreme court, and chief judge until 1834. He was initiated in Hiram Lodge No. 1, New Haven on June .21, 1891, serving as master from 1796–99 and deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Connecticut from 1798–1810. d. April 12, 1851.

Benjamin D. Dagwell Episcopal Bishop. b. July 21, 1890 at Susquehanna, Pa. Ordained deacon in 1916 and priest in 1917, and bishop of the diocese of Oregon since 1936. He served churches in Keyport, N.J., Pueblo, Colo. and Denver. Raised in Caesarea Lodge No. 64, Keyport, N.J. about 1918 and presently a member of Imperial Lodge No. 159, Portland, Oreg. Served as grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Oregon. 32° AASR (SJ) and KCCH at Portland, Oregon. Member of Al Kader Shrine Temple, Portland and served as chaplain.

John A. Dahlgren (1809–1870) Union Rear Admiral in Civil War. b. Nov. 13, 1809 in Philadelphia, where his father was Swedish consul until his death in 1824. He entered the U.S. Navy as a midshipman in 1826, and with the exception of a few years when he retired to a farm for his health, he remained the rest of his life in the navy. He had a scientific mind and invented many improvements for the navy, particularly in guns and gunnery, serving as chief of Naval Ordnance. During the Civil War he secured the Potomac River; commanded the Southern Atlantic blockade squadron; attacked Charleston and silenced Fort Sumter. He led a force up the St. John's river and cooperated with Sherman in the capture of Savannah. In 1866 he was given command of the South Pacific squadron. Mason. d. July 12, 1870.

John E. Dahlquist Major General, U.S. Army. b. March 12, 1896 at Minneapolis, Minn. Commissioned in 1917 and advanced through grades to major general in 1943. He was on the War Department General Staff from 1937–41 and commanded a division overseas from July, 1944. Mason.

Joseph E. Daily Justice, Supreme Court of Illinois since 1948. b. Jan. 22, 1888 at Manito, Ill. Graduate of Univ. of Illinois and Yale, he was an attorney at Peoria from 1911–15, and later circuit court judge of 10th circuit. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

J. Dodson Daintree British Naval Captain who was co-founder of Daintree Lodge No. 2938 in Wei-hai-Wei, Shantung, China in September, 1902. The lodge was named for him. In 1939 the charter and lodge effects were smuggled out of China on a submarine by the senior warden, Mohammed Nemazee, an Indian brother, and taken to Hong Kong. In June, 1947, the lodge was reconstituted at Fareham, England, and Capt. Daintree, in his 87th year, was present again at its rebirth. Daintree was past grand deacon of the Grand Lodge of England.

Frederick Dalcho (1770–1836) b. in London, England of Prussian parents, his father, also a Freemason, had served under Frederick the Great and retired to England. At the death of his father, he came to Baltimore, Md. to live with an uncle. There he studied medicine and practiced as an army doctor. He later became an Episcopal priest, serving as assistant rector of St. Michael's P. E. Church in Charleston in 1819 in his 50th year. He was mainly responsible for bringing about the union of the two rival English grand lodges (Ancients and Moderns) in South Carolina in 1817. He affiliated with Union Kilwinning Lodge No. 4, Charleston, and served as master. In 1801 Dr. Dalcho received the 33°, and on May 31 of that year was instrumental in the establishment of the Supreme Council, Southern Jurisdiction at Charleston and was appointed grand secretary and later served as the second grand master, holding it until 1823, when he became involved in a controversy with his associates and resigned, never again participating actively in Freemasonry. d. Nov. 24, 1836.

Albert E. Dale (1890–1954) Newspaper editor. b. Nov. 4, 1890 at Whitehall, N.Y. Began as a reporter in Albany, N.Y. Managing editor of Albany Evening News, 1922–29; Detroit Times, 1929–30; Wisconsin News (Milwaukee) 1931–32; news editor of New York Evening Journal, 1932; editor of Detroit Times, 1932–36; Pittsburgh Sun.–Telegraph, 1936–38; Chicago American, 1938–39 and Times Herald, Washington, 1940. Served as public relations director for N.B.C., New York City from 1941–45 and editor of the Sun–Telegraph, Pittsburgh from 1951. Mason. d. Nov. 21, 1954.

Charles M. Dale Governor of New Hampshire, 1944–48. b. March 8, 1893 at Brown's Valley, Minn. Graduate of Univ. of Minn. and engaged in law practice since 1920 at Portsmouth.

State senator for three terms and president of the senate 1935–36. President of WHEB, Inc. (radio) and director of the New Hampshire National Bank. Served in WW1. Raised in Cataract Lodge No. 2, Minneapolis, he affiliated with Saint Andrew's Lodge No. 56, Portsmouth. He was exalted in Washington Chapter No. 3, R.A.M., Portsmouth, Dec. 10, 1924; greeted in Davenport Council R. & S.M. April 6, 1925; knighted in DeWitt Clinton Commandery June 12, 1925 and received the AASR degrees in bodies at Dover and Portsmouth. He was high priest of his chapter in 1932, and when elected governor was grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of New Hampshire.

Charles Dale The “Charlie Dale” of the Smith and Dale vaudeville team. They have been together for 59 years in their act. When Variety magazine polled the veteran stars on the best acts of the vaudeville era a few years ago, the Smith and Dale team won the top spot with their “Dr. Kronkite” sketch. Both Dale and Joe Smith are Masons.

Fox–Maule Dalhousie (1801–1874) 11th Earl of Dalhousie and 2nd Baron of Panmure. He was grandson of 8th Earl (George) q.v. He was grand master Mason of Scotland in 1867–69, his grandfather having also served in that capacity. He served in the army from 1820–32 and was a member of parliament in 1835. From 1835–41 he was undersecretary for home affairs, and secretary for war from 1846–52 and 1855–58. He was censured for the management of the Crimean War. In 1861 he assumed his surname of Ramsay.

George, Earl of Dalhousie (8th Earl of) He served as the 26th Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1767–68.

George, Earl of Dalhousie (1770–1838) (9th Earl of) The 45th Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1804–05. He was one of Wellington's generals. Served as governor-in-chief of the Canadian colonies from 1819–28 and was commander-in-chief in India. His third son, James Andrew Broun q.v. also served as grand master Mason of Scotland in 1836–37.

James Andrew Broun Dalhousie (1812–1860) 10th Earl and 1st Marquis of Dalhousie; third son of George, 9th Earl of Dalhousie q.v. He served as grand master Mason of Scotland, 1836–37, as his father had before him. He graduated at Oxon in 1833 and entered the House of the Lords in 1838. He succeeded Gladstone as president of the board of trade in 1845 and was the youngest governor general of India ever appointed (1847–56). Under his administration of India, he acquired territory, developed resources, reformed the administration and annexed Junjab, Pego, Lower Burma, Jaitpur, Sambalpur, Jhansi, and Nagpur. He established public works, engineering colleges, built railways, bridges, telegraph system and post offices. b. April 22, 1812. d. Dec. 19, 1860.

Charles William, Earl of Dalkeith The 43rd Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1800–01. He was later the 4th Duke of Buccleuch.

Francis, Earl of Dalkeith Grand Master of the. Grand Lodge of England (Moderns) in 1723. He was afterwards the 2nd Duke of Buccleuch.

Charles D. Dallas President of Revere Copper & Brass Co. b. Oct. 24, 1881 in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada. Began as office boy for American Brass Co. in Chicago in 1902. Became associated with his father in 1906 in organizing the Dallas Brass & Copper Co. of which he was president, treasurer and director until the merger of five large brass and copper companies into the Revere Copper & Brass, Inc. of which he was president until 1947, being chairman of the board since that date. He is also a director of several other large corporations including General Cable Co., American Smelting and Gov. Copper and Brass Research Assn. Mason.

George Mifflin Dallas (1792–1864) 11th Vice President of the United States. b. July 10, 1792 at Philadelphia. His father, Alexander James, was secretary of the U.S. treasury in 1814–16. Dallas was mayor of Philadelphia in 1828, and U.S. senator from Pennsylvania in 1831–33. From 1837–39 he was minister to Russia, and vice president of the United States from 1845–49. He was appointed minister to Great Britain in 1856–61. He was initiated March 21, 1818 in Franklin Lodge No. 134, Philadelphia and became senior warden the following year and elected master in 1820 and again in 1821. He started in the grand lodge line as junior grand warden in December, 1828 and was elected grand master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania in December, 1834 at the height of the anti-Masonic period. In 1821 he delivered three different lectures on the origin, benefits, science and principles of Masonry before his lodge. In January 18, 1822, he was appointed on a committee from his lodge to form a grand committee with representatives of other lodges to consider the grievances of the subordinate lodges in Pa. In Feb., 1825 he was chosen proxy of Perseverance Lodge No. 21 of Harrisburg to the grand lodge and for many years held this position. His lodge (Franklin) ceased its labors in 1832, probably due to the anti-Masonic crusade, but he remained with it until the last. On its reorganization in Oct, 1846, he did not rejoin it. At that time he was vice president. On June 24, 1834 he delivered an oration at the celebration of St. John's Day by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, and it was on this date that he prepared for the grand lodge the resolutions of condolence for the death of the Marquis de Lafayette. In January, 1836, during the anti-Masonic fever, some members of the state legislature had carried through a proposition to appoint a committee on an act to suppress secret societies, with power to send for persons and papers. He was summoned among others to testify against the order. But in a staunch and masterly argument, he refused to be sworn and the investigation failed. On May 1, 1847 he was at the Masonic cornerstone laying of the Smithsonian Institution. On Sept. 14, 1847, he visited St. John's Lodge No. 219, Pittsburgh, on which occasion were also present the members of lodges No. 45 and 221. After being welcomed, he replied in kind, after which the lodge was called off for 15 minutes for personal introductions and social conversation. On July 4, 1848, he was present at the Masonic cornerstone laying of the Washington Monument by the Grand Lodge of the District of Columbia. d. Dec.

31, 1864. The Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania held memorial services for him in 1865.

S. P. Dalton Judge, Supreme Court of Missouri (1950–64). b. Nov. 16, 1892 near Nevada, Mo. Graduate of Westminster College and Univ. of Missouri. Admitted to bar in 1917 and practiced at Cape Girardeau. Member of Elvins Lodge No. 599, Flat River, Mo.; exalted in Wilson Chapter No. 75, R.A.M., Cape Girardeau in May 1927; received in Cape Council No. 20, R. & S.M. and Knighted in Cape Girardeau Commandery No. 55, K.T.

Count Goblet d'Aviella (?–1925) Belgian nobleman and member of parliament who was sovereign grand commander of the Supreme Council of Belgium. d. Sept. 9, 1925 in Brussels.

Sir Charles Dalrymple 74th Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1894–96.

Sir David Dalrymple 30th Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1774–75. Later Lord Westhall.

Ralph S. Damon (1897–1956) Aviation executive. b. July 6, 1897 at Franklin, N.H. Graduate (cum laude) of Harvard in 1918. Began as millwright's assistant and employed by Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Co. in 1922, ending as president in 1935. He developed the Curtiss–Wright “Condor,” a commercial transport, in 1933. He was vice president in charge of American Airlines operation from 1936–41, vice president and general manager, 1943–45, and president, 1945–49. He was president of Republic Aviation Corp, 1941–43 and president and director of TWA, Inc. from 1949. Mason. d. Jan. 6, 1956.

James F. Dana (1793–1827) Early chemist. b. Sept. 23, 1793 at Amherst, N.H., he graduated from Harvard in 1813 and in the medical dept. in 1817. He was selected by Harvard to procure a new chemical laboratory for the school, and spent six months in England under leading chemists, training and securing equipment. He practiced medicine in Camden, taught chemistry at Dartmouth, and became professor of chemistry in the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York in 1825, serving until his death on April 14, 1827. His lodge and chapter membership is not known, but he was knighted in Vermont Commandery at Windsor, Vt. and became a member of Trinity Commandery No. 1, Manchester, N.H. in 1822.

Judah Dana (1772–1845) U.S. Senator from Maine, 1836–37. b. April 25, 1772 at Pomfret, Conn., his mother was the eldest daughter of General Israel Putnam q.v. Graduated at Dartmouth in 1795, studied law and began practice in Fryeburg, Maine and later in Massachusetts. Served as judge of court of common pleas and circuit court. He was a delegate to the convention that framed the state constitution of Maine in 1819. He was a member of Pythagorean Lodge No. 11, Fryeburg, was delegate to the grand lodge and served as deputy grand master in 1819. d. Dec. 27, 1845.

Lynn B. Dana (1875–1941) Musician. b. Oct. 15, 1875 at Middleport, N.Y. He was a concert pianist and accompanist from 1896 and director of Dana's Symphony Orchestra from 1906. He was president of Dana's Musical Instruments, and was actively connected with the music department of the Chautauqua institution for 15 years. He was director of the National Music Convention and Chautauqua at Lockport, N.Y. and founder of Tau Delta Beta, national musical fraternity. He served with the 2nd Ohio Infantry in the Spanish-American War. Mason and 32° AASR. d. Sept. 22, 1941.

Robert M. Danford Major General, U.S. Army. b. July 7, 1878 at New Boston, Ill. Graduated from U.S. Military Academy in 1904 and commissioned that year, rising through grades to major general in 1938.

John W. Daniel Served in Philippines, 1907-08 and with field artillery assignments in colleges and camps until WW1, when he commanded the 129th F.A. at Camp Doniphan, Okla. and F.A. replacement depot in Camp Jackson, S.C. From 1919-23 he was commandant of cadets at the U.S. Military Academy. With the office of chief of field artillery in Washington, chief of staff of 6th Corps Area at Chicago, and from 1938 until retirement in 1942 was chief of field artillery, U.S. Army. Mason.

John W. Daniel (1842-1910) U.S. Senator from Virginia five terms, 1887-1917, dying before entering his last term. b. Sept 5, 1842 at Lynchburg, Va., he fought with the Confederate Army in the Civil War and was wounded four times. He became adjutant general on General Early's staff. He studied law at the Univ. of Virginia after the war and was admitted to bar in 1866. He was a member of both houses of the Virginia legislature and member of the 49th U.S. congress. Member of Marshall Lodge No. 39, Lynchburg, Va.

Price Daniel U.S. Senator and Governor of Texas. b. Oct. 10, 1910 in Dayton, Texas. A.B. and LL.B. from Baylor Univ. Before graduating from college, he was a reporter for the Fort Worth Star Telegram (1927–29) and Waco News Tribune (1929–31). He was admitted to the bar in 1932 and practiced at Liberty, Texas. He was speaker of the house of representatives in 1943, and attorney general of Texas from 1946–53. In 1953 he was elected U.S. senator from Texas and governor of the state in 1956. Co-publisher of Liberty Vindicator and Anahuac Progress since 1939. Served with U.S. Army as an officer in WW2, 1942–46 in Pacific area. Past master of Liberty Lodge No. 48, Liberty, Texas; member of chapter, council and commandery and KCCH in AASR.

Clarence H. Danielson (1889–1952) Major General, U.S. Army. b. Aug. 7, 1889 at Lead, S. Dak. Graduated from U.S. Military Academy in 1913, advancing through grades to major general in 1944. Saw Mexican border service from 1913–17 and with Mexican punitive expedition in 1916, and during WW1 was with the Hawaiian Department and Inspector General's Dept. in the U.S. He later served with the Adjutant General's Dept. in the Philippines, Hawaii, U.S. Military Academy, and Governors Island, N.Y. At his retirement in 1946 he was commanding general of 7th Service Command. Mason. d. May 22, 1952.

Harris L. Danner (1888–1941) Justice, Supreme Court of Oklahoma, 1938–41. b. Feb. 13, 1888 near Astoria, Ill. Taught in rural Illinois schools before being admitted to Oklahoma bar in 1909, practicing in Oklahoma City. Served in WW1 as a private. Mason. d. Jan. 7, 1941.

Georges Jacques Danton (1759–1794) French revolutionary leader. A founder of the Cordelier in 1790, he advocated extreme action. Was forced to flee to England in 1791 but returned and incited the Tuileries riots of 1792. He assumed the leadership of the revolutionaries and was minister of justice. When elected to the National Convention in 1792 he voted for the death of the king. In 1793 he was elected president of the Jacobin Club, whose aim was the unity of the country and a stable republican government. When his followers were overcome by the more radical Robespierre, he was seized, imprisoned, given a farcial trial, and guillotined on April 5, 1794. He was a member of the famous Lodge of the Nine Sisters at Paris.

Harry Darby U.S. Senator and owner and chairman of board of The Darby Co., manufacturers of steel, aluminum, corrosion resistant products, railroad cars and ships, at Kansas City, Kansas. b. Jan 23, 1895 in Kansas City, Kansas. Began with the Missouri Boiler Works, Co. in 1911 as a helper, rising to vice president in 1919. He established the Darby Corp. in 1920. Director of a dozen corporations, banks and railroads. U.S. Senator from Kansas 1949–50. Raised in Westgate Lodge No. 438, Kansas City, Kansas, Jan. 23, 1931. Member of Wyandotte Chapter, R.A.M. No. 6 and Ivanhoe Commandery No. 21, K.T.

both of Kansas City, Kans. 32° AASR in Orient of Kansas. Abdallah Shrine Temple, DeMolay Legion of Honor, Royal Order of Jesters Court 93.

John S. Darcey (1788–1863) Physician and fast president of what is now the Pennsylvania Railroad. b. Feb. 24, 1788 in Hanover, N.J. He studied with his father who was also a physician. When the Asiatic cholera broke out in the U.S. in 1832 he moved to Newark, N.J., and by his skill in the treatment of that disease, attained a practice more extensive than any other in the state. However it impaired his health. In 1835–41 he was U.S. marshal for New Jersey. On the incorporation of the New Jersey Railroad Co. he was elected president and held that office for thirty years until his death. He was initiated in Cincinnati Lodge No. 17 in Oct., 1808 and served as master in 1819. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey in 1826–27. On May 28, 1851 he affiliated with St. John's Lodge No. 1 of Newark.

Colegate W. Darden, Jr. Congressman, Governor of Virginia and president of the University of Virginia. b. Feb. 11, 1897 in Southampton Co., Va. Graduate of Univ. of Virginia and Columbia Univ. Studied on Carnegie Fellowship at Oxford, England. Entered legal profession. Member of the state general assembly for two terms (1930–33) and served in the 73rd, 74th and 75th U.S. congresses. Governor of Virginia for term ending 1946, and president of the University of Virginia since 1947. Served in Marine Corps and with French Army in WW1. He was initiated in Franklin Lodge No. 151, Franklin, Va. on May 25, 1920 and raised on Dec. 21 same year. He affiliated with Corinthian Lodge No. 266, Norfolk on April 12, 1938 and holds joint membership in both lodges. Received AASR degrees in Norfolk in 1941.

Miles Darden (1798–1857) A giant seven feet, six inches in height and at his death weighed more than one thousand pounds. Until 1853 he was active, energetic, and able to labor, but from that time on he was obliged to remain at home, or be moved about in a wagon. In 1850 it required thirteen and a half yards of cloth one yard wide to make him a coat. He was six feet four inches around the waist. He died in Henderson Co., Tenn. on Jan. 23, 1857 and The Lexington Progress stated: “The funeral sermon of Mr. Miles Darden, who died at his residence in Henderson Co. will be preached on the fourth Sunday in this month, five miles southwest from Lexington, Tenn. The Masonic fraternity will be in attendance in full regalia on this occasion. The deceased was, beyond all question, the largest man in the world. His height was seven feet six inches—two inches higher than Porter, the Kentucky giant. It required seventeen to put him in his coffin, which took over 100 feet of lumber to make.” Mrs. Darden, wife of the large man, weighed only 90 pounds.

William H. V. Darell (1878–1954) English Brigadier General. He retired from the army in 1929 after fighting gallantly in the South African and First World Wars, having been Adjutant-General and commanded both the Coldstream and Irish Guards. He was the first assistant grand master of England, 1937–54 and was grand master of the Mark Grand Lodge of England, 1948–54, and grand treasurer of the Knights Templar to 1948. He was lieutenant grand commander of the Supreme Council AAR; past grand scribe of the Grand Chapter R.A.M. of England, and past grand principal conductor of the work in the Grand Council Royal and Select Masters.

Herbert A. Dargue (1886–1942) Major General, U.S. Army. b. Nov; 17, 1886 at Brooklyn, N.Y. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1911 and advanced through grades to major general in 1941. Formerly commanded the Observers School of the Air Corps, and then the 1st Air Force at Mitchell Field, New York from 1941. Mason and Shriner. d. Dec. 8, 1942.

James H. Darlington (1856–1930) Episcopal Bishop. b. June 9, 1856 at Brooklyn, N.Y. Graduate of Princeton, 1880, 1885. Ordained deacon and priest in Protestant Episcopal church, 1882. Consecrated first bishop of Harrisburg in 1905, and was archdeacon of Brooklyn, 1896–98. Honorary orders conferred on him by France, Greece, Serbia, Spain, Italy and Belgium. He was chairman of commission to confer with Eastern Orthodox Churches and the Old Catholics from Episcopal Church of U.S. in 1910–25, and arranged and signed the concordat between Eastern and Western churches. Mason. d. Aug. 14, 1930.

Edward, 2nd Earl of Darnley Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of England (Moderns) in 1737.

Leslie R. Darr U.S. Judge of eastern and middle districts of Tennessee since 1939. b. Nov. 8, 1886 in Jasper, Tenn. Graduate of Cumberland Univ. He was admitted to Tennessee bar in 1910, and practiced at Jasper until 1926 when he became a circuit judge. Raised in Olive Branch Lodge No. 297, Jasper, Tenn. serving as master three terms and also as secretary several times. 32° AASR (SJ) in Nashville, Tenn. and member of Alhambra Shrine Temple, Chattanooga since 1922.

Delmar D. Darrah (1868–1945) Masonic editor and author. b. July 15, 1868 at Tolono, Ill. Graduate of Univ. of Illinois and instructed at Wesleyan Univ. for 20 years. Editor of the Illinois Freemason for 33 years, he is best known for his Evolution of Freemasonry. Grand master of the Grand Lodge of Illinois in 1911–12. Active 33° AASR (NJ) in 1911 and deputy for Illinois from 1932. Raised in Bloomington Lodge No. 43, and served twice as master. First master of Arts and Crafts Lodge No. 1017. d. March 5, 1945.

Whitney Darrow Vice President of Charles Scribner's Sons, publishers since 1931. b. May 16, 1881 at Geneva, N.Y. Graduate of Princeton in 1903. Manager and secretary of the Princeton Univ. Press 1905–17 and president since 1948. Mason.

Thomas C. Darst (1875–1948) Episcopal Bishop. b. Nov. 10, 1875 in Pulaski, Va. Ordained priest of Protestant Episcopal Church in 1903, serving churches at Fairmount, W. Va., Meade and John's parishes, Va., Richmond and Newport News. Consecrated bishop of Eastern Carolina in 1915. Retired in 1945. Mason. d. Sept. 1, 1948.

Raymond O. Dart Physician and Brigadier General, U.S.

Army. b. July 5, 1890 in Kansas City, Kans. Graduated from Univ. of Kansas and Rush Medical College. Commissioned 1st lieutenant in Medical Corps of U.S. Army in 1917 and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1948. Commanding officer of 105th General Hospital in S.W. Pacific, 1942–43. Director of Army Institute of Pathology, Washington from 1946. Raised in Acacia Lodge No. 18, Washington, D.C. about 1916.

William Legge, 7th Earl of Dartmouth English nobleman. b. Feb. 22, 1881, he was educated at Eton and Oxford. Elected to parliament from West Bromwich in 1910, retaining the seat until 1918. From 1928 to 1936 he was lord great chamberlain of England, succeeding his father the 6th Earl in 1936 to the title. He also served many years as high bailiff of Westminster. In 1941 he became ruler of the Craft in the province of Staffordshire, a position his father had held for 44 years. In 1952 he was appointed as grand superintendent of the Royal Arch in Staffordshire, an appointment his father had held for 33 years.

Erasmus Darwin (1731–1802) English physiologist and poet who was the grandfather of Charles Robert Darwin, the great naturalist and author of Darwin's Origin of Species. In addition to being an eminent physician, poet and scientist, Dr. Darwin was the first man in England to suggest those ideas which were later to be embodied in the Darwinian Theory by his grandson and to be brought into the stream of popular discussion by Tennyson and Herbert Spencer. He was a practicing physician at Litchfield from 1757 where he cultivated an 8-acre botanical garden. He moved to Derby in 1781 where he founded the Philosophical Society in 1784, which was the fountainhead for the ideas developed by his grandson, Charles. Among his books were The Loves of the Plants, Economy of Vegetation, Botanic Garden, The Temple of Nature. He was made a Mason in the famous Canon-gate Kilwinning Lodge No. 2 of Edinburgh, Scotland.

George Dasch Musician. b. May 14, 1877 in Cincinnati, Ohio. Member of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra from 1895–98, joining Theodore Thomas Orchestra in Chicago in 1898 and continuing with same and its successor, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra until 1923. He was assistant conductor of the Chicago Civic Orchestra under Frederick A. Stock for four years, and conductor of the Little Symphony Orchestra since 1921. Taught at Northwestern, and since 1945 has been faculty member of Evanston College. Mason.

Fifield d'Assigny (1707–1744) A physician of Dublin, Ireland, who in 1744 wrote A Serious and Impartial Inquiry Into the Cause of the Present Decay of Freemasonry in the Kingdom of Ireland. An exceedingly rare pamphlet of 400 copies, which had among the subscribers the names of Laurence Dermott q.v. and Elizabeth St. Leger q.v., the Lady Freemason. It is important inasmuch as it is the first written reference to Royal Arch Masonry, i.e. "I am informed in that city (York) is held an assembly of master masons, who in their qualifications and excellencies are superior to others; they receive a larger pay than working Masons." It was reprinted in 1893.

Harry M. Daugherty (1860–1941) Attorney General of the U.S. under Harding and Coolidge, 1921–24. b. Jan. 26, 1860 in Washington Courthouse, Ohio. Graduate of Univ. of Michigan in 1881, and began practice of law at Washington Courthouse, moving to Columbus, Ohio in 1893. Resigned from attorney-generalship, and was indicted on charges of conspiracy to defraud the U.S. government, but was acquitted of the charge. Member of Fayette Lodge No. 107, Washington C.H., Ohio and LaFayette Lodge No. 19, Washington, D.C. Wrote The Inside Story of the Harding Tragedy. d. Oct. 12, 1941.

Erie V. Daveler Mining engineer and executive. b. Dec. 31, 1885 in Denver, Colo. Graduate of Univ. of Calif. Variouslly with Utah Copper Co., Ray Consolidated Copper Co., Alaska Gold Mines, Butte & Superior Co. He is vice president, treasurer and director of Nevada Consolidated Copper Corp, Utah Copper Co., Bingham & Garfield Railway, Ray & Gila Valley Railway and others. Also vice president and director of American Zinc, Lead & Smelting Co. in 1943, and vice president and director of Mesabi Iron Co. Trustee or director in a dozen other corporations. Mason.

George W. Davenport Episcopal Bishop. b. Aug. 14, 1870 at Brandon, Vt. Ordained deacon in 1893 and priest in 1896, serving churches in Baltimore, Md., New York City, Richmond Hill, L.I., N.Y., Astoria, N.Y., Danbury and Burlington, Vt. Consecrated bishop in 1920, retiring in 1938. Mason.

Thomas Davenport (1802–1851) Inventor in field of electro-magnetism. b. July 9, 1802 in Williamstown, Vt.

Apprenticed at age of 14 to a blacksmith and in 1832 began study of electro-magnetism, exhibiting in 1835 a rotary engine driven by electricity at Rensselaer and Franklin institutes. Set up a company to manufacture the engines and it went broke through the dishonesty of an agent. His experiments were numerous and costly and exhausted his resources, forcing him to return with his family to his home in Brandon, Vt. in 1842. Member of Washington Lodge No. 21, Brandon. d. July 6, 1851.

Martin L. Davey (1884–1946) Governor of Ohio, member of Congress and President of The Davey Tree Expert Co., Inc. b. July 25, 1884 at Kent, Ohio. Served from Ohio to the 65th, 66th, and 68th to 70th Congresses (1918–29). Elected twice as governor of Ohio–1934 and 1936. Initiated in Rockton Lodge No. 316, Kent, Ohio on May 25, 1910. Exalted in Tyrian Chapter No. 91, R.A.M., Ravenna, Ohio on Oct. 24, 1911. Also Knight Templar and Shriner. d. March 31, 1946.

David I (1084–1153) King of Scotland, who, tradition states, was the protector of Freemasons (operative) and patron of the building art. He was called the “Scotch Justinian.” Gained the earldom of Huntingdon by marriage, and on the death of King Edgar in 1107 received southern Scotland and in 1124, on the death of brother Alexander, became ruler of all Scotland. He unsuccessfully invaded England in 1149. He founded bishoprics and monasteries and furthered the process of feudalizing Scotland.

Howard C. Davidson Major General, U.S. Air Force. b.

Sept. 15, 1890 at Wharton, Texas. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1913, advancing through grades to major general in 1944. Appointed commander of 10th Air Force, India, in 1942. Raised in Mystic Lodge No. 405, Dayton, Ohio, in 1920. 32° AASR (NJ) and Antioch Shrine Temple, all of Dayton.

James E. Davidson (1865–1947) Shipbuilder and banker. b. Dec. 7, 1865 at Buffalo, N.Y. Was president of the Inter–Ocean Steamship Co., Continental Steamship Co., Duluth Steamship Co., Globe Steamship Corp. (Ind.), United Steamship Co., Triton Steamship Co., Sumatra Steamship Co., Consolidated Steamship Co. (Del.). He was also vice president, Count Goblet d’Aviella treasurer and director of the American Ship Building Co. at Cleveland and director of many corporations. Was chairman of board of Hillsdale County Natl. Bank and Bay Trust Co. and president of Peoples Commercial and Savings Bank. Former director of Detroit branch of Chicago Federal Reserve Bank and served as president of Michigan Bankers Assn. in 1934. 33° AASR (NJ), he served as grand commander of the Grand Cornmandery, K.T. of Michigan in 1923, having previously served as commander of Bay City Commandery No. 26, K.T. He was past potentate of his Shrine temple and member of the board of control of the Michigan Masonic Home. d. July 25, 1947.

James E. Davidson (1879–1949) Public utilities executive. b. Nov. 10, 1879 at Flint, Mich. President of Consolidated Lighting Co. at Montpelier, Vt. until 1910 when he became general manager of Pacific Power & Light Co., Portland, Oreg. until 1917, moving to the Nebraska Power Co. at Omaha in that year and becoming president of same in 1928, serving until 1946. Was also vice president and general manager of the Citizens Power & Light Co. of Council Bluffs, Ia. from 1917–36. Was director of many corporations including Chicago Great Western Railway, Union Stock Yards Co. of Omaha and a trustee of Father Flanagan's Boys' Home. Elected as Omaha's first citizen in 1929 and cited for outstanding civic service by Veterans of Foreign Wars in 1942. Member of National Sojourners, Joseph Warren Camp of Heroes of '76 and past potentate of Tangier Shrine Temple. d. Nov. 12, 1949.

James O. Davidson (1854–1922) Governor of Wisconsin 1907–11. b. Feb. 10, 1854 in Norway, coming to U.S. in 1872 where he engaged in the milling and mercantile business at Soldier's Grove, Wis. from 1877. Member of state legislature from 1893–99; state treasurer, 1899–1903; lieutenant governor, 1903–06. Mason. d. Dec. 16, 1922.

William R. Davie (1756–1820) Governor of North Carolina, Revolutionary War officer and member of the Constitutional Convention. b. June 20, 1756 in Egremont, England, coming to U.S. with father in 1763. He graduated from Princeton in 1776 and entered the war. He fought with distinction at battles of Stone Ferry, Hanging Rock, Rocky Mount and Charlotte (N.C.). He later became major general of militia. Although he was active in the framing of the Federal constitution, he was not a signer, being sick at home at that time. He drew up the act to establish the Univ. of North Carolina. He was elected governor of North Carolina in 1799. He was raised in Occasional Lodge No. 1791 and served as grand master of North Carolina from 1792–98 although he had never served as master of a lodge. d. Nov. 8, 1820.

Count Goblet d'Aviella (1846–1925) Belgian nobleman, and statesman. A learned man, he held several honorary doctorates and was professor of history of religion at Brussels Univ. From 1878–84 he sat in the Belgian chamber as deputy for Brussels. In 1900 he was elected to the senate, of which he became vice president in 1912. At the outbreak of WW1, he was made minister of state and from January, 1917 until peace was declared, he was a member of the de Broqueville cabinet. A member of the lodge Les Amis Philanthropes No. 2 of Brussels, he served it as master and was past grand master of Belgium. During the war he fled to England and became associated with an English lodge and did considerable writing for the Lodge Quatuor Coronati including The Quatuor Coronati in Belgium; Mithraic Rites; A Belgian Daughter of the Grand Lodge of Scotland; The English Provincial Grand Lodge of the Austrian Netherlands; and The Papal Bulls and Freemasonry in Belgium. d. Sept. 7, 1925.

Elmer D. Davies U.S. District Judge of Tennessee. b. Jan. 12, 1899 at Magnolia, Ark. Graduate of Vanderbilt and admitted to bar in 1921. Member of state senate from 1935–39 and U.S. district judge since 1939. Mason. 32° AASR (SJ) and Shriner.

Fred A. Davies Oil executive. b. April 17, 1894 at Aberdeen, S. Dak. Began as metallurgist and oil geologist becoming president of California Arabian Standard Oil Co. (now Arabian American Oil Co.) in 1940. Has been chairman of board and chief executive officer since 1952. Member of Cascade Lodge No. 34, Great Falls, Mont.

Joseph H. Daviess (1744–1811) Hero of Battle of Tippecanoe and grand master of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky at the time. b. March 4, 1774 in Bedford Co., Va., he moved with parents to Kentucky in 1779. He served in the Indian campaign of 1793 and then studied law, practicing in Danville, Ky. His eccentricities made him famous. Instead of “riding the circuit” he would shoulder his rifle and range the woods from town to town, usually appearing in court in a hunting costume. In 1799 he acted as a second to John Rowan q.v. for a duel in which Rowan’s antagonist was killed. All associated with the duel fled to avoid prosecution and Daviess was for some time a fugitive. Both Rowan and Daviess were members of Lexington Lodge No. 1. Later, hearing that Rowan had been arrested, Daviess returned and appeared in court as his counsel and secured his acquittal. It is said that he is the first western lawyer to appear before the U.S. supreme court. He came to Washington in a dilapidated hunting uniform, gained an important decision and returned home in the same peculiar costume. About this time he married a sister of Chief Justice Marshall q.v. and afterward became attorney general for Kentucky. In this capacity, he ordered Aaron Burr q.v. to appear in 1806 to answer a charge of levying war against a nation with which the U.S. was at peace. Burr hired Henry Clay for a lawyer and won the case. In 1811 Daviess joined the army of General William H. Harrison as a major and served in the campaign against the northwestern Indians. In the Battle of Tippecanoe, seeing that an exposed angle of the line was likely to give way, he led a cavalry charge at that point and was killed. The date was Nov. 7, 1811. He was grand master of Kentucky at the time. In September he had visited Vincennes Lodge No. 1 Vincennes, Ind. and presided at meetings of the lodge on the 18th, 19th and 21st of that month. It was probably the last Masonic work he conducted. His sword and camp knife were later presented to the Grand Lodge of Kentucky.

Charles K. Davis President of Remington Arms, Inc., Bridgeport, Conn. 1933–54. b. Jan. 7, 1889 at Lebanon, Pa. Began as a chemist with Aluminum Co. of America in 1905 and later with American Steel Foundries, American Smelting & Refining and E. I. du Pont de Nemours. He was president and director of DuPont Viscoloid Co. from 1919–31 and president, general manager and director of Roessler & Hasslacher Chemical Co. 1932–33. He is founder and trustee of the American Wildlife Foundation. Chairman of the board of Remington since 1954. Received E.A. degree in 1911 in Santiago, Chile; F.C. degree in 1916 in DuPont Lodge of Hopewell, Va. and M.M. degree in Mountain Lodge No. 214, 1920 at Upper Montclair, N.J. A 32° AASR (N.J.) in 1921 in Jersey City, N.J. He is a life member of Salaam Shrine Temple of Newark, N.J.

Charles S. Davis (1877–1954) President and Chairman of Board of Borg-Warner Corp., Chicago. b. Feb. 2, 1877 at Terre Haute, Ind. Began with the New York Times editorial staff in 1899 and became a coal miner and jobber in 1901. From 1907–18 he was an officer and general manager of Glascock Bros. Mfg. Co., Muncie, Ind. and president of Borg-Warner from 1929–50 and chairman of board from 1950 to death on July 2, 1954. Officer and director of several corporations. Mason, 32° AASR and Knight Templar.

Clifford Davis U.S. Congressman, 76th to 80th Congresses (1939–49) from 10th Tenn. district. b. Nov. 18, 1897 at Hazelhurst, Miss. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner. Member of Stonewall Lodge No. 723 and Memphis Chapter No. 95, Memphis, Tenn.

David Davis (1815–1866) Judge of U.S. Supreme Court from 1862. Friend of Abraham Lincoln who administered the latter's estate. He died June 26, 1866 and was buried with Masonic ceremonies in Bloomington, Ill.

David J. Davis (1878–1938) U.S. District Judge of Alabama from 1935–38. b. Oct. 15, 1878 at Weedowee, Ala. Graduate of Yale in 1906 and admitted to Alabama bar in 1906, practicing in Birmingham. At one time he was a law partner of Hugo L. Black, q.v. supreme court justice. Mason. d. Dec. 7, 1938.

David W. Davis Governor of Idaho, 1919–23. b. April 23, 1873 in Wales, being brought to U.S. in infancy. When 12 years old he was a coal miner and at 16 a clerk at Dawson, Iowa. Entering the banking business he became organizer and president of the First National Bank at American Falls, Idaho in 1907 and later joint owner of the American Falls Press. He was a member of the state senate in 1912–14 and in 1923 was special assistant secretary of the Interior. From 1923–24 he was U.S. commissioner of reclamation and the following two years was director of finance for the Reclamation Bureau. Mason, 32° AASR (SJ) and KCCH. Now resides in Orlando, Fla.

Edmond J. Davis Former Governor of Texas. Member of Rio Grande Lodge No. 81, Brownsville, Texas. Edwin L. Davis (1876–1949) Former Chairman of Federal Trade Commission and U.S. Congressman, 66th to 72nd Congresses (1919–33) from 5th Tennessee dist. b. Feb. 5, 1876 in Bedford Co., Tenn. A lawyer, practicing at Tullahoma from 1899. Member of Federal trade commission from 1933–46 and chairman in 1935–40–45. Mason and 32° AASR (SJ) . d. Oct. 23, 1949. Member of Tullahoma Lodge No. 262 and Tullahoma Chapter No. 193 (Tenn.) . Fred H. Davis (1894–1937) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Florida. b. May 18, 1894 in Greenville, S.C. Admitted to Florida bar in 1914 and practiced at Tallahassee. Served as county attorney, county prosecutor and assistant U.S. attorney. Served in WW1 as private and later 2nd lieutenant of Infantry. Was attorney general of Florida in 1927 and elected again in 1928. A judge of Florida supreme court from 1931 and chief justice, 1933–35. Mason. d. June 20, 1937. Garrett Davis (1801–1872) U.S. Senator from Kentucky, 1861–67. b. Sept. 10, 1801 in Mount Sterling, Ky. Admitted to the bar in 1823 and three times elected to state legislature, beginning in 1823. Was member of state constitutional convention from 1838–47, when he served one term in the U.S. congress. In 1864 he was appointed regent of the Smithsonian Institution. He was elected to a second term in the senate in 1867–73. Early in life he became the friend of Henry Clay q.v. and his speeches were characterized by sarcasm and fierce invective. He served the Grand Lodge of Kentucky as grand orator at one time. d. Sept. 22, 1872.

George H. Davis (1876–1955) President of U.S. Chamber of Commerce, 1937–38. b. April 7, 1876 in Amboy, Ill. Began as a clerk in 1891 and entered grain business with own firm from 1898. He was chairman of the Missouri State Highway Commission from 1942–46, president of the Kansas City Board of Trade in 1912; president of American Royal live stock show, 1938–40, and chairman of the code authority, grain exchange, United States N.R.A. 1934–35. Mason and Shriner. d. May 5, 1955.

Glenn R. Davis U.S. Congressman, 80th to 84th Congresses from 2nd Wisconsin dist. b. Oct. 28, 1914 in Vernon, Wis. He instructed in public high schools of Wisconsin and began law practice in Waukesha in 1940. Was member of state assembly in 1941–42. In 1948 he was named as one of the 10 outstanding young men in America by United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. Mason.

Harry L. Davis Former Governor of Ohio. Mason and member of Al Sirat Shrine Temple.

Harry O. Davis Editor. b. July 15, 1877 at Cadiz, Ohio. He built and operated the Panama California Exposition in San Diego in 1913. He was vice president and general manager of Universal Film Mfg. Co. from 1915–17 and same for Triangle Film Corp. 1917–18. In 1920 he was editor of Ladies' Home Journal and was in general management of Hearst Corporations from 1922. In 1933 he was a member of the executive council of the Olympic games. Raised in Momence Lodge No. 481 of Momence, Ill. about 1899. Member of Coachella Valley (Calif.) High Twelve Club.

Henry G. Davis (1823–1916) U.S. Senator from West Virginia, 1871–83, declining renomination. Was Democratic nominee for vice president of the U.S. in 1904. b. Nov. 16, 1823 in Baltimore, Md. Being left fatherless, he went to work at an early age. Became manager of a plantation then brakeman, conductor and agent of the B. & O. Railroad. He promoted and built the West Virginia Central & Pittsburgh Railroad (sold to Wabash) and then the Coal & Coke Railroad of which he was president. Member of Elkins Lodge No. 108, Elkins, W. Va. d. March 11, 1916.

Jacob E. Davis Vice President of The Kroger Co. since 1945 and U.S. Congressman to 77th Congress (1941–43) from 6th Ohio dist. b. Oct. 31, 1905 at Beaver Pike Co., Ohio. Graduate of Ohio State and Harvard Universities. Admitted to bar in 1930 and practiced at Waverly, Ohio. Served in Ohio general assembly and was speaker pro tern and majority floor leader. Served as judge of common pleas court and special assistant to the under secretary of the Navy in 1943–44. Mason.

James J. Davis (1873–1947) Secretary of Labor under three presidents and U.S. Senator from Pennsylvania. b. Oct. 27, 1873 in South Wales, coming to U.S. with parents in 1881. He began as a puddler's assistant in an iron works at Sharon. Pa. at the age of 11 and at 16 was a puddler. Moving to Elwood, Ind. in 1893, he worked in steel mills until he became city clerk in 1898 and county recorder in 1903. In 1906 he became director general of Loyal Order of Moose and under his supervision they increased from 247 members to over 600,000. President Harding appointed him secretary of labor on March 5, 1921, and he was continued under Presidents Coolidge and Hoover until Dec. 9, 1930. He was appointed U.S. senator from Pennsylvania in 1933 and reelected for the next two terms (1933–45). He was the founder of Mooseheart Home and School and chairman of Mooseheart governors as well as Home for Old Folks, Moosehaven, Fla. He was a member of Quincy Lodge No. 23, Elwood, Ind. Received 32° in Albert Pike Consistory No. 1, Washington, D.C. on Dec. 15, 1925 and 33° on Sept. 19, 1929. Also member of Tall Cedars of Lebanon and Syria Shrine Temple of Pittsburgh. d. Nov. 22, 1947.

Jefferson Davis (1808–1889) President of the Confederate States of America. He was not a Mason although his father, Samuel and brother, Joseph E., were members of the craft. He was, however, friendly to the fraternity. Following the war this statement was made in a magazine article against Davis: “Jefferson Davis, a Free and Accepted Mason, headed the great rebellion, and the fact did not even taint his Masonic standing, but did have much to do in receiving his pardon.” In answering this to an inquirer, Davis wrote, in part: “(I) regard the fraternity with respect and have never felt any disapproval of it other than that which pertains to every secret society. Viewing Freemasonry from a distance, and judging the tree by its fruits, I have believed it to be in itself good.”

Jefferson Davis (1862–1913) U.S. Senator and Governor of Arkansas. b. May 6, 1862 in Little River Co., Ark. Graduate of Vanderbilt Univ. in 1884, he was admitted to bar in that year. Was governor of Arkansas from 1900–1907 and U.S. senator from Arkansas from 1907–13. Member of Russellville Lodge No. 274. d. Jan. 3, 1913.

John W. Davis (1799–1859) Governor of Oregon, 1853–54. b. July 17, 1799 in Cumberland Co., Pa. Was a member of the Indiana house of representatives for several years, being speaker in 1832. In 1834 he was named as commissioner to negotiate a treaty with the Indians. He served in the U.S. congress from 1835–41 and 1843–47 and during his last term was speaker of the house. He was U.S. commissioner to China in 1848–50. He presided over the convention in Baltimore in 1852 that nominated Franklin Pierce for the presidency. Mason. d. Aug. 22, 1859.

John W. Davis (1873–1955) Democratic presidential candidate in 1924 and Ambassador to England, 1918–21. b. April 13, 1873 at Clarksburg, W. Va. A graduate of Washington and Lee Univ. (A.B. and LL.B.) , he held honorary degrees from 14 universities and colleges including Yale, Dartmouth, Princeton and Oxford. He was admitted to the bar in 1895 and practiced at Clarksburg. He was elected to 62nd and 63rd congresses (1911–15) but resigned to become solicitor general of U.S. on Aug. 30, 1913, serving in that capacity until 1918. He became a member of Herman Lodge No. 6, Clarksburg, W. Va. in 1898 and member of the AASR bodies at Wheeling. In July, 1919, he was the first non-British Freemason to be made senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England. The honor was conferred on him by the Duke of Connaught q.v. the grand master in a ceremony attended by 10,000 persons. In 1952 he received the New York grand lodge award for his work in humanities. d. March 24, 1955. Received 33° in 1953.

Jonathan M. Davis (1871–1943) Governor of Kansas 1923–25. b. April 26, 1871 in Bourbon Co., Kansas. He was a member of the Kansas lower house for four terms (until 1913) and of the senate from 1913–17. He was endorsed by the Kansas Democrats for president in 1924 and received 55 votes on the ballot. Mason and member of Mirza Shrine Temple at Pittsburg, Kansas. d. June 27, 1943.

Leonard M. Davis (1864–1938) Artist. b. May 8, 1864 at Winchendon, Mass. Studied art in New York and Paris. Began as wood finisher, printer, lithographic artist in 1884. He was portrait painter, art teacher, gold miner in Alaska and landscape painter and lectured on art for the board of education in New York for nine years. His permanent representations are in the American Museum of Natural History Planetarium (27 views of the aurora borealis); children's ward of Los Angeles Co. General Hospital (mural, Involution and Evolution) and also in State Museum of New Mexico and Seattle Public Library. Mason. d. May 5, 1938.

Merle H. Davis Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Dec. 5, 1893 at Cambridge, Vt. Commissioned in 1917, he rose through grades to brigadier general in 1950. He is a specialist in ammunition. Retired in 1953. Raised in Waterman Lodge No.

83, at Johnson, Vt. in 1916. During his 37 years of army service he was president of three Masonic clubs. Member of National Sojourners. Has given many lectures before Blue Lodges and Masonic clubs on "Masonry's Two Great Poets" (Burns and Kipling).

Monnett B. Davis (1893–1953) U.S. Diplomat. b. Aug. 13, 1893 in Greencastle, Ind. and graduated from Univ. of Colorado in 1917. Served as American consul in South Africa and Mexico and with State Department in Washington as chief of visa office and foreign service inspector. In 1933–34 he was consul general at Stockholm, Buenos Aires in 1938–41 and chief of division of foreign service, 1941–43. In 1945 he was minister to Denmark and to China in 1946. In 1948 he was named as ambassador to Panama. Member of Ben Hur Lodge No. 322, Kansas City, Kansas. d. Dec. 26, 1953.

Thomas Davis A chaplain of the 1st Continental Dragoons in Revolutionary War. Rev. Davis was a member of Alexandria Lodge No. 22, Alexandria, Va. and officiated at the burial of George Washington.

Thomas J. Davis Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Oct. 19, 1893 at West Union, S.C. Entered WW1 as an enlisted man and rose through grades to brigadier general in 1942. With army of occupation in Germany after WW1 until 1923. In WW2 he was adjutant general of Allied Forces, North Africa in 1942–43 and same with Supreme Headquarters, A.E.F., 1944–45. Has been assistant to the Adjutant General, War Dept., Washington since 1946. Mason and 32° AASR.

Westmoreland Davis (1859–1942) Governor of Virginia 1918–22. b. Aug. 21, 1859 of American parents at sea. Admitted to New York bar in 1885 and practiced in New York City, but moved to Loudoun Co., Va. in 1901 where he began farming. Was president and publisher of the Southern Planter. Member of Olive Branch Lodge No. 114, Leesburg, Va. d. Sept. 2, 1942.

F. Trubee Davison President of American Museum of Natural History. b. Feb. 7, 1896 in New York City. Graduate of Yale and Columbia universities. Admitted to New York bar in 1922, practicing in New York City. In 1926–32 he was assistant secretary of War (Air) and has been president of the Museum of Natural History since 1933. Rose to brigadier general in the Air Force in 1945, having served as assistant chief of staff for Air Force Combat Command. Mason.

Peter W. Davison (1869–1920) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. May 15, 1869 at Waupun, Wis. and graduated from U.S. Military Academy in 1892. Advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1918. Served in China, Spanish–American War, Cuba, Philippines, Texas border, Alaska. Raised in Beaver Dam Lodge No. 72, on Dec. 30, 1902 and exalted in Beaver Dam Chapter No. 26, Dec. 30, 1906—both of Beaver Dam, Wis. d. Feb. 12, 1920.

Henry L. Dawes (1816–1903) U.S. Senator from Massachusetts, 1875–93. b. Oct. 30, 1816 at Cummington, Mass. A graduate of Yale, he edited the Greenfield Gazette and later the Adams Transcript. He was admitted to the bar in 1842 and was a member of the state legislature from 1848–50 and state senate, 1850–52. From 1857–73 he served in the U.S. congress. In 1893 he was chairman of the commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, Indian Territory. A member of Lafayette Lodge, North Adams, Mass. he was marshal in January, 1853 and in Dec., 1853 was one of the stewards.

William Dawes Revolutionary patriot of Lexington. He was dispatched to Lexington with Paul Revere on April 18, 1775 and rode through Roxbury—Revere going by way of Charlestown. In the morning of the 19th, the message from Warren reached Adams and Hancock. Revere and Dawes, joined by Samuel Prescott, from Concord, rode forward calling the inhabitants. At Lincoln they were surprised by a party of British officers, and both taken to Lexington, Prescott making his escape to Concord.

Cecil F. Dawson President of Dixie Cup Co. since 1948. b. Feb. 13, 1893 at Hardin, Mo. Began as a salesman in 1914 and later in manufacture of paper products, chiefly drinking cups and containers. Was vice president of Dixie Cup Co., Easton, Pa. from 1926–47, and is also president and director of the Canadian Dixie Cup Co. Raised in Excelsior Lodge No. 195, New York City in 1916. Member of Easton Chapter No. 173, R.A.M., Easton, Pa. and Hugh de Payens Commandery No. 19 of Easton. Member of Rajah Shrine Temple, Reading, Pa.

Donald S. Dawson Administrative assistant to President Truman from 1947. b. Aug. 3, 1908 at Eldorado Springs, Mo. Graduate of Univ. of Missouri and George Washington Univ.

A lawyer, he was with the R.F.C. in Washington and also the Federal Loan Administration. His second marriage was to Ilona Massey, Hungarian screen actress and singer. Raised in Clintonville Lodge No. 482, El Dorado Springs, Mo. Oct. 23, 1942. DeMolay Legion of Honor.

John Dawson (1762–1814) U.S. Congressman from Virginia for nine consecutive terms (1797–1814). He was a Harvard graduate, studied law and was admitted to the bar. He was a presidential elector on the Washington ticket in 1793 and a member of the Virginia legislature. He was bearer of dispatches from President Adams to France in 1801 and in the War of 1812 was one of General Jackson's aides. Member of Fredericksburg Lodge No. 4, Virginia. d. March 30, 1814.

William C. Dawson (1798–1856) U.S. Senator from Georgia, 1849–55. b. Jan. 4, 1798 in Green Co., Ga. Was admitted to bar in 1818 and settled in Greensboro. He was a member of U.S. congress from 1836–42, being chairman of the military committee and committee on claims. He published Laws of Georgia in 1831. A member of St. Marino Lodge No. 28 of Greensboro, he became grand master of the Grand Lodge of Georgia. He was a member of Columbia Chapter No. 15, R.A.M. and Washington Commandery No. 1, K.T. both of Washington, D.C. d. May 5, 1856.

Arthur H. Day Judge. b. Feb. 1, 1890 in Pandora, Ohio. Graduate of Ohio Wesleyan and Baldwin universities. Admitted to bar in 1916 and since practiced at Cleveland. He was judge of the supreme court of Ohio from 1935–41 and is now judge of court of common pleas of Cuyahoga Co. Served in state senate in 1921–22. Served overseas as captain in WW1. Raised in Hiram Lodge No. 18, Delaware, Ohio in Feb., 1912 and demitted to become charter member of Service Lodge No. 658 of Cleveland in 1920. 32° AASR (NJ) in Columbus, Ohio. He served as first marshal of Service Lodge. Member of Al Sirat Grotto and past chairman of its legal committee and current chairman of jurisprudence committee. Honorary member of Police Fellowcraft Club, Post Office Fellowcraft Club and Firemen's Square Club.

Edward Day Served under George Washington in the Pennsylvania "Whiskey Insurrection" as commissary general. He was a member of Lodge No. 35 at Joppa, Md., and was its first junior warden and master in 1784. He was present in Cincinnati, Ohio at the organization of Nova Cesarea Lodge and was appointed its first master.

James E. Day President of Chicago Stock Exchange. b. May 31, 1905 at Cuba, Ill. Graduate of Univ. of Arizona in 1930. Was vice president of E. S. Wooley, New York City and Banning & Co., Chicago. Going to Ryan Nichols & Co., Chicago in 1939 as vice president, he became president. From 1944–46 he was vice president of the Chicago Stock Exchange and president of same since May, 1946. Mason and 32° AASR.

Karl S. Day Lieutenant General, U.S. Marine Corps and airline executive. b. May 30, 1896 in Ripley Co., Ind. Operations manager of Curtiss–Wright Flying Service, 1929–32 and with American Airlines since 1932 successively as pilot, check pilot and flight superintendent. Served with Marine Corps in both WW1 and WW2, advancing from lieutenant to lieutenant general. Retired. Now director, American Airlines. Received third degree on Dec. 3, 1917 in Norwood Lodge No. 576 at Norwood, Ohio and 32° AASR (SJ) in Miami, Fla.

Ralph E. Day (1885–1946) President of Bridgeport Brass Co. b. in Peckville, Pa. President and general manager of the brass company from 1930–42 and director of several corporations. Mason and Shriner. d. May 2, 1946.

Gilbert W. Daynes (1886–1931) English Masonic writer. A solicitor by profession. Served in WW1 as colonel with distinction, being mentioned in dispatches. He was initiated in Union Lodge No. 52 in 1920 and at the time of his death was senior warden. In 1927 he was master of Norfolk Lodge No. 2852. Was installed as master of the Quatuor Coronati Lodge in Nov., 1930. Among his writings are Growth of Speculative Masonry; The Untrodden Paths of Masonic Research; Two Hundred Years of Freemasonry in Norfolk, and The Birth and Growth of the Grand Lodge of England. He was associate editor for England of the American Masonic magazine The Builder. d. Jan. 9, 1931.

Elias Dayton (1737–1807) Brigadier General of American Revolution. b. in Elizabethtown, N.J., he began his military career by joining the British forces and fought under Wolfe at Quebec as well as the campaigns against the northern Indians. At the beginning of the Revolutionary war, he was a member of the Committee of Safety and served as a colonel of the 3rd New Jersey regiment, being made brigadier general in 1783. His son Jonathan q.v. was paymaster of the regiment and later U.S. senator from New Jersey. Elias took a prominent part in the battles of Springfield, Monmouth, Brandywine and Yorktown. He was a member of the Continental Congress from 1787–88. Upon the founding of the New Jersey Society of the Cincinnati, he was elected president and held the office until his death. He was a member of Military Lodge No. 19 of Pennsylvania registry and is recorded as a visitor to American Union Lodge. d. July 17, 1807.

Jonathan Dayton (1760–1824) U.S. Senator from New Jersey, officer of American Revolution and speaker of U.S. House of Representatives. b. Oct. 16, 1760 at Elizabethtown, N.J., son of Elias Dayton q.v. a general in the Revolution in whose regiment Jonathan served as paymaster (3rd New Jersey). He graduated from Princeton in 1776 and then studied law. He was in many battles, including Yorktown, and had a command under Lafayette q.v. He served in the New Jersey legislature and a delegate to the convention that framed the Federal Constitution in 1787. He was elected to U.S. congress from N.J. in 1791 and re-elected three consecutive terms, serving until 1799. He served as U.S. senator from 1799–1805. He was arrested for alleged conspiracy with Aaron Burr q.v. but was not tried. Probably a member of Temple Lodge No. 1 at Elizabethtown and was present at the Grand Lodge of New Jersey on Dec. 30, 1788. d. Oct. 9, 1824.

Michael F. Dazard (1781–?) French Masonic student who was op–posed to the Supreme Council AASR and wrote a 48–page brochure against it in 1812.

Joseph T. Deal (1860–1942) U.S. Congressman, 67th to 70th Congresses (1921–29) from 2nd Virginia dist. b. Nov. 19, 1860 in Va. Was a lumberman, acquiring large holdings in South Carolina and Virginia. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner. d. March 7, 1942.

Edward M. (Ted) Dealey Publisher. b. Oct. 5, 1892. Graduate of Univ. of Texas and Harvard. Began as a reporter on the Dallas News in 1915. Since 1940 has been president of the A. H. Belco Corp. which publishes the Dallas Morning News and Texas Almanac. Member of the editorial board of This Week magazine. Mason and 32° AASR.

George B. Dealey (1859–1946) Publisher. b. Sept. 18, 1859 in Manchester, England, coming to the U.S. in 1870 where in 1874 he became office boy of the Galveston News. He became vice president and general manager of the paper in 1906, as well as others owned by the A. H. Belo & Co. and in 1926 purchased controlling interest of the firm and reorganized it. He served as president from 1926–40, when he turned the reins over to his son, Edward M. q.v. and became chairman of the board. Other newspapers and periodicals included the Texas Almanac; ,State Industrial Guide and radio stations WFAA and KGKO. Mason, 33° AASR (SJ) Knight Templar and Shriner. He was a director of the Dallas Scottish Rite Temple Assn. d. Feb. 26, 1946.

James R. Dean (1862–1936) Judge, Supreme Court of Nebraska, 1909–35. b. Sept. 15, 1862 in St. Louis, Mo. Graduate of Univ. of Michigan in 1885 and began law practice in Chicago, moving to Broken Bow, Nebr. in 1890. Mason. d. Jan. 5, 1936.

Jefferson DeAngelis (1859–1933) Dramatic actor, comedian, light opera star. b. Nov. 30, 1859 in San Francisco. He entered the theatrical profession as a child, appearing in vaudeville in 1874. In 1880–84 he toured Australia, China, Japan, Burma, India and South Africa with his own company. He was with the McCaull Opera Co. from 1887–90 and leading comedian at the Casino in New York City from 1890–93. He starred in Fantana in 1904; The Great White Way, 1907; The Beauty Spot, 1908; and played the role of Ko-Ko in 12 productions of the Mikado. He sang in more than 100 operas. His dramatic performances included Revelry; School for Scandal; The Royal Family and Apron Strings. He was a member of Carnarvon Lodge No. 1735 at Cape-town, South Africa and an honorary member of St. Cecile Lodge No. 568 in New York City. He also belonged to the Scottish Rite. d. March 20, 1933.

Henry Dearborn (1751–1829) Major General, U.S. Army. Secretary of War (1801–09) under Jefferson. b. Feb. 23, 1751 in North Hampton, N.H. He fought in both the Revolutionary War and War of 1812. He was a practicing physician in Nottingham, N.H. when the word came of the stand made by the Americans against the British at Lexington on April 4, 1775. He hastily gathered 60 men together and arrived there the next day. He took part in the Battle of Bunker Hill where he covered the retreat of the American forces. He accompanied Benedict Arnold's q.v. expedition to Canada and was taken prisoner at Quebec on Dec. 31, being released in May, 1776 and exchanged in March, 1777. He was made major in Scammell's regiment and took part in the battles of Stillwater, Saratoga, Monmouth and Newton. In 1781 he joined Washington's staff as a colonel and was at the siege of Yorktown. After the war he was made major general of N.H. militia in 1795. He served in the 3rd and 4th congresses (1793-97). In Jan., 1812 he was named senior major general of the U.S. Army and given command of the Northern Department. He captured York (now Toronto) and Fort George and was recalled in July, 1813 for political reasons and given command of New York City. He served as minister to Portugal from 1822-24. He was initiated in St. John's Lodge No. 1, Portsmouth, N.H. on March 3, 1774, and also passed that night, but it was not until April 18, 1777 that he was raised a Master Mason. He is recorded as a visitor to American Union Lodge of Conn. on April 7, 1779. He had three wives and his several sons were named for his brother Masons who were his comrades in the army. Fort Dearborn, present site of Chicago, was named for him. d. June 6, 1829.

Russell L. Dearmont President of the Missouri Pacific Railroad from May 15, 1957. b. Feb. 22, 1891 at Mound City, Mo. Graduate of State Teachers College at Cape Girardeau and Univ. of Missouri. Admitted to bar in 1914 and began practice at Cape Girardeau. He was general counsel for the trustee of the Missouri Pacific from 1936. He is chairman of the board of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis. He was a member of the state senate in 1929–32. Member of St. Marks Lodge No. 93, Wilson Chapter No. 75, R.A.M. and Cape Commandery No. 55, K.T. all of Cape Girardeau, Mo. He is past high priest of his chapter and past grand sentinel of the Grand Chapter of Missouri.

Luere B. Deasy (1859–1940) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Maine, 1929–30. b. Feb. 8, 1859 in Gouldsboro, Maine. Admitted to bar in 1884 and practiced at Bar Harbor. Was president of the Maine senate. A justice of the supreme court until 1930 when he resigned to practice law. Mason. d. March 13, 1940.

Bascom S. Deaver (1882–1934) U.S. District Judge of Georgia, 1928–44. b. Nov. 26, 1882 at Union Co., Ga. Admitted to bar in 1910. Mason. d. Oct. 13, 1944.

Dan DeBaugh (?–1946) Treasurer of Ringling Brothers Circus. Served as grand master of the Grand Lodge of Illinois. Honorary 33° AASR (NJ). He died in 1946.

William DeBeck (1890–1942) Cartoonist who created Barney Google. b. April 16, 1890 in Chicago. Educated in Chicago Academy of Fine Arts. Began as a contributor to the Chicago Daily News in 1908 and became a political cartoonist for the Pittsburgh. Gazette Times and Chronicle Telegraph from 1912–16. He was with the Hearst publications from 1918. He created the series “Married Life” and also created “Barney Google” in 1918; “Spark Plug” and “Bunky” in 1922; “Snuffy Smith” in 1934; “Feather Merchants” in 1938; U.S. Army “Yard Bird” in 1940. Member of North Shore Lodge No. 936, Chicago. d. Nov. 11, 1942.

Xavier B. DeBray Confederate General in Civil War. Member of Austin Lodge No. 12, Texas, serving as secretary of same from 1859–61. Became a member of Holland Lodge No. 1, Texas in 1866.

Stephen Decatur, Sr. (1751–1808) Naval officer of the American Revolution and father of Stephen, Jr. q.v. another famous American naval officer. b. in Newport, R.I., his father was a French naval officer who had emigrated to the U.S. and married an American woman. Stephen was captain of a merchantman at an early age, and during the Revolution commanded the privateers, Royal Louis; and Fair American. He was appointed post-captain in the Navy in 1798 at the beginning of hostilities with France and commanding the Delaware, 21-gun sloop of war, he captured several French vessels off the coast of New England and in the West Indies. He commanded a squadron of 13 vessels on the Guadeloupe station in 1800. He retired from the sea in 1801 and engaged in business in Philadelphia. He was a member of Lodge No. 16 in Baltimore, Md. being initiated in Aug. 1777. He received his master’s degree in Lodge No. 3 of Pennsylvania charter on April 18, 1780, paying $100.00. d. Nov. 14, 1808.

Stephen Decatur, Jr. (1779–1820) Son of Stephen, Sr., q.v. also an American naval officer. b. Jan. 5. 1779 at Sinnepuxent, Md., he made a voyage with his father when but eight years old. He commanded the schooner Enterprise in Tripolitan waters in 1803 and performed the daring exploit of burning a frigate captured and held by the Tripolitians in 1804. He was promoted to captain for this and commanded a division of gunboats in attacks on Tripoli in 1804. In the War of 1812 he commanded the United States in victory over the British ship Macedonian in 1812 and the President in victory over the Endymion in 1815. He commanded a squadron which sailed to Algeria and forced a peace on American terms in 1815. In a banquet on his return, he gave the famous toast: "Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong!" He was killed by James Barron, a naval officer, in a duel on March 22, 1820. He was thought to have been a member of Saint Johns Lodge, either of Maryland or Rhode Island on Oct. 12, 1799. If it was of Maryland, then it was the same lodge in which his father had been initiated for No. 16 of Baltimore under Pennsylvania constitution later became Saint Johns No. 20 (1785) of Fells Point, Baltimore, and later went out of existence.

Elie, Duke of Decazes (1780–1860) Premier of France, and barrister. Served as minister of police in 1815 and minister of the interior and premier of France in 1819–20. He was created Duc Decazes and peer of France in 1820, serving as ambassador to Great Britain in that year. The Bulletin of the International Masonic Congress of 1917 lists him as a Freemason.

John L. Decell (1887–1945) Bishop of Methodist Church.

b. Aug. 12, 1887 at Brookhaven, Miss. Licensed to preach in Methodist Episcopal Church, South in 1906 and admitted to Mississippi Annual Conference in 1910. He held pastorates in Osyka, Mt. Olive, Waynesboro, McComb, Meridian and Jackson—all of Miss. and at Fresno, Calif. Elected bishop in 1938. Mason. d. Jan. 10, 1945.

George H. Decker Lieutenant General, U.S. Army. b. Feb. 16, 1902 in Catskill, N.Y. Commissioned in 1924, advancing through the grades to lieutenant general in 1952. During his career, he has served with the following Infantry divisions: 26th, 35th, 29th, 7th, 10th, 39th and 9th. On War Department General Staff 1941–42 and deputy chief of staff of Third Army, 1943–44. Chief of staff of Sixth Army 1944–46; deputy commander and chief of staff of U.S. Army in Pacific, 1946–48, commanding general of 5th Infantry 1948–50 and at present commanding general of VII Corps. On June 28, 1949, Col. James F. Risher, grand master of the Grand Lodge of South Carolina made Decker a Mason “at sight” in Theatre No. 3 at Fort Jackson, S.C. It was the sixth time in the 213 years of existence of the grand lodge that such a ceremony was conducted.

Charles de Coster (see Coster)

Edward A. Deeds Chairman of Board of National Cash Register Co. b. March 12, 1874 at Granville, Ohio. Graduate of Denison Univ. in 1897. Mason and 33° AASR (NJ).

Harry J. DeFoe Shipbuilder. b. Sept. 2, 1875 in Bay City, Mich. Began as a schoolteacher and has been engaged in shipbuilding since 1905. Managing partner of DeFoe Shipbuilding Co. He began boat building by construction of wooden boats to 80 feet in length, shipped chiefly in knock-down form. During WW1 he established a steel shipyard and in 1940 when tremendous expansion of U.S. shipbuilding required conservation of both manpower and space, he devised the “bottom up and roll over” method of construction by which steel hulls of ships between 300–400 feet were built bottom up on building forms, then rolled over to upright position by means of two wheels which encircled the hull and rested on heavy steel tracks. This made possible vast savings in man-hours. Mason.

J. M. DeFrenne (1767–1848) First grand master of the symbolic rite in Belgium.

Edwin B. De Golia Financier and hotel owner. b. March 17, 1869 at Placerville, Calif. Began in insurance business in 1888 and became president of the Central Eureka Mining Co. and Atolia Mining Co. Builder and owner of Maurice Hotel. Owner of President Hotel, Palo Alto; Sir Francis Drake Hotel, San Francisco and part owner of St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco; Eureka Inn, Eureka; Shasta Springs Resort, Shasta Springs. He is the owner of several gold dredging companies operating in California. Mason and 32° AASR (SJ).

Lawrence De Graff (1871–1934) Justice, Supreme Court of Iowa, 1921–23. b. June 24, 1871 at Apple River, Ill. Practiced law in Chicago, but moved to Des Moines in 1898. Mason. d. July 7, 1934.

Joseph De Grasse Movie actor and director. Member of Mount Olive Lodge No. 506, Los Angeles, Calif.

Count Alexandre Francois Auguste de Grasse-Tilly (1776-?) One of the two Catholics who were founders of the Mother Supreme Council AASR (SJ), the other being his son-in-law, J. B. N. M. Delahogue q.v. The count was the most famous of all the early members. The son of French Admiral Francois J. P. Marquis de Grasse-Tilly, who began his naval career at 15 in the service of the Knights of Malta, and whose fleet cooperated with Washington's army and made possible the victory at Yorktown. The children moved to America after the family fortune was ruined by the French Revolution and the count seems to have settled in Charleston, S.C. He was a member of the Lodge Contrat Social of Paris, and in 1796 became one of the founders and in 1798 the master of Lodge La Candeur of Charleston. On Aug. 4, 1799 he demitted and six days later became a founder of Lodge La Reunion Francaise, of which he also was master. In 1801 he became grand master of the South Carolina (Ancient) Grand Lodge. On Dec. 12, 1796 he received a patent from Hyman I. Long naming him, and others, as "Deputy Grand Inspector General, etc." Early in the following year, he helped to found the first Council of Princes of the Royal Secret in the U.S. On Feb. 21, 1802 he was named "Grand Commander, for life, in the French West India Islands." Going to the West Indies with Napoleon's forces in 1802, he was one of the founders of Lodge Sept Freres Reunis on June 24, 1802 at Cap Francais, Ste. Dominique and the following year he established the Supreme Council for the Windward and Leeward

West Indian Islands at Port-au-Prince. When the French met disaster in the West Indies, de Grasse-Tilly returned to France, where on Sept. 22, 1804, together with others, he established a Supreme Council, 33° AASR for France at Paris. He became grand commander and served as such until Sept. 8, 1818 when he resigned. On Sept. 17, 1818, he was charged before a self-constituted tribunal with usurpation of power, and in his absence was “deposed and degraded from all Masonic rank and his functions declared to devolve on the Lt. Gr. Commander Delahogue.” He was also instrumental in establishing the Supreme Council for Italy at Milan on March 5, 1805; the Supreme Council for Spain at Madrid in October, 1809; and the Supreme Council for Belgium on May 11, 1817.

Earl de Grey (1827–1909) Full name was George Frederick Samuel Robinson. Succeeded his uncle as Earl de Grey in 1852 and his father as Earl of Ripon. He was grand master of the United Grand Lodge of England in 1870–74, resigning the title when he became converted to Roman Catholicism in the latter year. He was liberal M.P. in 1852. Joining the Christian Socialist movement, he pleaded for democracy in tract The Duty of the Age. He was secretary for war in 1863 and secretary for India in 1866. In Gladstone’s administration (1863–73) he was lord president of the council. He was governor general of India from 1880–84; first lord of admiralty in 1886; colonial secretary in 1892–95; lord of privy seal and liberal leader of house of lords from 1905–08.

Richard E. S. Deichler Vice president of American Airlines, Inc. in charge of customer service. b. April 21, 1910 in Lancaster, Pa. Graduate of Univ. of Pennsylvania. He was a hotel manager before becoming vice president of the airline in charge of sales, 1946–54, and of customer service since 1954. Also director of Air Cargo, Inc. and Sky Chefs, Inc. Served in Air Force in WW1 and was discharged with rank of colonel. Raised April 11, 1939 in Jephtha Lodge No. 494, Huntington, L.I., N.Y. 32° AASR (SJ) in San Antonio, Texas. Was a DeMolay in Harrisburg, Pa. in 1927. Member of National Chapter of National Sojourners.

Baron Johann de Kalb (1721–1780) Major General in Continental Army. b. June 29, 1721 at Hattendorf, Germany. He served in the French army from 1743–64 and was sent on a confidential mission to America in 1768. In 1777 he was commissioned major general in the American army and served with valour in the cause of the colonies. He was mortally wounded in action near Camden, S.C. on Aug. 16, 1780 and was buried there on Aug. 19 with the British general, Lord Cornwallis q.v. giving the grand honors of Masonry. It is not known where he held his Masonic membership although it may have been in Army Lodge No. 29, chartered by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania in the Maryland Line (which DeKalb commanded). His biographer, Frederick Kapp, stated him to be a Freemason. The lodge at Camden erected a monument over his grave in 1825 with Masonic emblems. Lafayette laid the cornerstone of the monument and deposited within it a Masonic apron and the constitution of the lodge at Camden. The grand lodge remitted the dues of this lodge in 1824 to help them pay for the monument. The De Kalb statue at Annapolis, Md. was unveiled by the Grand Lodge of Maryland.

Sir Polydore De Keyser Lord Mayor of London in 1887–88. Member of Lodge of Emulation No. 21, London.

Reginald De Koven (1859–1920) American composer. Born in Middletown, Conn., he organized and led the Washington Philharmonic Orchestra in 1902–05. Among his light operas are The Begum; Robin Hood; The Fencing Master; Rob Roy; The Highwayman; The Three Dragoons; Happy Land and Student King. He wrote The Canterbury Pilgrims and is probably best known for his song O Promise Me. The proceedings of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts in 1913 state he was made a Mason while at Oxford University in England.

Sir Rupert de la Sere Lord Mayor of London in 1951. b. in 1893, he has been alderman of Tower ward since 1943 and was sheriff of London in 1941. Served as a member of parliament in 1952. He was initiated in Felix Lodge No. 1494 of Middlesex and served as master of Pelipar Lodge No. 2693 (attached to the Worshipful Company of Skinners, one of the Great Twelve of the City Guilds) in 1951. When he became lord mayor he affiliated with Guildhall Lodge No. 3116 of the City Corporation and was its master as is the custom of Masonic lord mayors in the year of their capacity.

Baron de la Brede (see Charles-Louis de Secondat)

William Delafield (1792–1853) New York merchant, who with his twin brother, Henry, established the firm of H. & W. Delafield, dealing first with England, then with China, India and South America. Later they dealt almost entirely with the West Indies. Held many responsible positions in corporations. Member of Holland Lodge No. 8, New York. b. July 19, 1792. d. Nov. 20, 1853.

Jean Baptiste Noel Marie Delahogue (often de la Hogue) (1744–?) One of the two Catholics who were founders of the Supreme Council AASR (SJ), the other being his father-in-law, Count de Grasse-Tilly q.v. Born in Paris, he was a member of the Lodge de la Constance of the Orient of France. He was also a founder and first master of Lodge La Candeur. He received a demit from the same on Nov. 2, 1799, but was later reinstated. On Dec. 12, 1796 he received the 33°. He seems to have continued as a member of the Mother Supreme Council as late as 1804, for on July 29 of that year a patent was issued to him signed by the grand and lieutenant grand commander and the treasurer, authorizing him to establish bodies under its authority in New Orleans. He is there described as a “Sovereign Grand Inspector General of the 33rd Degree and lieutenant grand commander in the French West Indies.”

Joseph Jerome Delalande (1732–1807) Distinguished French astronomer of the 18th century who organized the Lodge of the Nine Sisters (or Muses) in Paris to unite Freemasons in the study of sciences. It became one of the most famous lodges in the world; Benjamin Franklin became its master and Voltaire was a member. b. at Bourg-en-Bresse, France, July 11, 1732, his name was Joseph Jerome Lefrancais, but when a young man, he was received at the Court of King Frederic II, he called himself Lefrancais de la Lande, which has since become Delalande. He was also one of the founders of the Grand Orient of France and in 1774 published the History of Freemasonry. d. April 4. 1807.

Walter A. DeLamater Major General of New York National Guard, business executive and 38th Grand Master of the Grand Encampment, Knights Templar, U.S.A. b. April 18, 1880 in New York City. Began as manufacturers agent in textile business. President and director of Ex-pansible Vehicles, Inc.; vice president, secretary and director of Hub Industries, Inc.; director of Rygold Trailer Co.; vice president and director of Phoenix Machine Tool Corp.; vice president of Synchronies, Inc.; vice president of Ozonator Corp., Electroaire Corp. Administrator of Federal Works Administration of New York in 1934 and member of executive board of N.Y. City Tunnel Authority in 1936. Enlisted as a private in the N.Y. National Guard and advanced to major general. Served on Mexican border and WW1 through the major campaigns. With national guard as commander of 87th Brigade from 1936 until retirement in 1940. He is a past master of Kane Lodge No. 454 of New York City. Coronetted 33° AASR (NJ) in 1947. Past potentate of Mecca Shrine Temple, N Y.C.; grand commander of Grand Commandery, K.T. of New York in 1934; past prior of Knickerbocker Priory No. 5, K.Y.C.H. and member of Knights of the York Grand Cross since 1949. Sovereign of St. Paul's Conclave No. 12, Red Cross of Constantine in 1940 and grand high prelate of Grand Imperial Council in 1946. d. Aug. 25, 1973.

Emanuel de la Motta (1761–1821) One of the founders of the Mother Supreme Council, Scottish Rite at Charleston, S.C.

b. Jan. 5, 1751, his birthplace is variously given as St. Croix and Spain. He was a commission merchant and auctioneer. Like Abraham Alexander q.v. another founding member, he was of Jewish faith and took Alexander's place as chazan, or reader, of Congregation Bayh Elohim in Charleston. He was a member of Lodge La Candeur No. 12 and his signature appears on the minutes of July 8, 1798. He was also a charter member and senior warden of American Eagle Mark Lodge No. 1, organized in 1802. Sometime afterward he affiliated with Friendship Lodge No. 9 and became its master. De la Motta was the first treasurer-general of the Supreme Council and continued as such until as late as 1813.

Paul S. Deland Managing editor and member of editorial council of The Christian Science Monitor since 1945. b. at North Brookfield, Mass., he was first a real estate dealer before turning to journalism in 1905. He served as a reporter and feature writer on papers in Worcester, Mass., New Haven, Conn. and Boston. Has been with The Christian Science Monitor since 1908. Mason and 32° AASR (NJ).

Columbus Delano (1809–1896) Secretary of the Interior from 1870–75. b. June 5, 1809 at Shoreham, Vt., moving to Mt. Vernon, Ohio in 1817 where he was admitted to the bar in 1831. Member of the Ohio lower house in 1863 and elected to congress in 1844, 1864 and 1866. He was appointed by President Grant as commissioner of internal revenue. A trustee of Kenyon College, Ohio, he endowed a grammar school called Delano Hall. While secretary of the Interior, charges of fraud in the Bureau of Indian Affairs brought congressional investigation and findings of neglect and incompetence. He resigned in 1875. He served as junior deacon of Mt. Zion Lodge No. 9 at one time.

Princess de Latour French Grand Mistress of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem—an early emanation of Freemasonry in the 18th century. Other grand mistresses were Countess of Maille (France); Princess of Rochelle (Italy) and Duchess of Wissembourg (Germany).

Francois H. Stanislaus Delaunay A French historian and author. His most important Masonic book was Handbook of the Thirty-three Degrees of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite.

Francisco A. Delgado Former Resident Commissioner for the Philippines at Washington. Made 33° AASR (SJ) in October, 1935. From 1954–55 he was a member of the Philippine Economic Mission on duty in Washington, D.C.

Israel de Lieben (1740–1807) One of the founders of the Mother Supreme Council AASR (SJ) at Charleston, S.C. Born in Prague, Bohemia, he emigrated to America and located at Charleston in 1770. A prosperous merchant, he was known as “the liberal-handed Jew” who was “tolerant in his religious opinions.” He became a member of Orange Lodge No. 14 at Charleston on Jan. 9, 1797. A patent dated Feb. 21, 1802 names him as grand inspector general, 33rd and grand treasurer of the empire. d. Jan. 28, 1807 and is buried in the old Jewish cemetery in Charleston.

Jacques Delille (1738–1813) French abbe and poet. He was the author of a verse translation of Virgil's Georgics and Aeneid as well as Milton's Paradise Lost. The Bulletin of the International Masonic Congress (1917) gives him as a Freemason.

Philip Deloria (1854–1931) Sioux Indian chief who became an Episcopal priest. Known to his own people as Tipi Sapa (black lodge), there is a statue of him in the marble reredos of the Jerusalem High Altar of the National Cathedral in Washington, D.C. Converted to Christianity in the early 1870's, he was sent to Nebraska City to school and later to Shattuck Military School at Faribault, Minn. He became a lay reader and missionary teacher at St. Paul's School for Indian Boys and studied for the ministry under William H. Hare, the first bishop of South Dakota. In 1890 he became superintending presbyter of all the Episcopal church's work at Standing Rock Reservation and labored there with his people for 40 years. He was given the coveted Cross of Sangrael in 1925 for his service. He became a Freemason in Aberdeen Lodge No. 38 at Aberdeen, S.D. in 1911, being raised on June 27. Subsequently he received the 32° AASR (SJ). d. May 8, 1931.

Charles de Lorraine (1712–1780) Served as governor of the Austrian Netherlands for 40 years. He had been appointed to the position by his sister-in-law, Maria Theresa of Austria. A Mason, he not only attended the lodge, but helped to found at least two: the first, in 1762 at Brussels, was named "La Loge de St. Charles" in his honor, and the second in 1765 at Tournai was named "L'Unanimite." Charles was protector of the regular lodges in the Austrian Netherlands until his death.

Marcelo H. del Pilar (1850–1896) Known as the “father of Filipino Masonry.” b. Aug. 29, 1850 at Bulacan, Philippines. He served as master of the famous Solidaridad Lodge of Madrid, to which many Filipino patriots belonged. He secured the necessary authority for organizing Filipino lodges on the islands from Grand Master Miguel Morayta of Spain, thereby meriting the name “father of Filipino Masonry.” d. July 4, 1896 at Barcelona, Spain.

Rafael del Riego y Nunez (1785–1823) Spanish Marshal and patriot who was grand master of the National Grand Orient of Spain. He was active in the Peninsular War against Napoleonic domination and military leader of the Revolution of 1820. He was president of the Cortes from 1822–23, but was captured in the latter year while resisting intervention of the Holy Alliance at Malaga and executed as a traitor. Executed Nov. 7, 1823.

Daniel DeLuce Foreign correspondent. b. June 8, 1911 at Yuma, Ariz. and graduate of Univ. of California at Los Angeles in 1934. Has been with the Associated Press since 1929, with the exception of one year as a reporter with the Los Angeles Examiner. He was assigned to the Balkan bureau in 1939, covered war in Poland, Albanian front, AngloSoviet occupation of Iran, AngloChinese defeat in Burma, allied campaign in Tunisia. He entered Italy on D-Day in 1943, obtained first interviews with Tito's partisan forces on Yugoslav soil, entered Rome with American Army, entered Warsaw with first press party from Moscow and covered Palestine War in 1948. Member of Southland Lodge No. 618, Los Angeles, Calif., receiving degrees in 1934.

Earl B. Delzell Librarian of Iowa Masonic Library and Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Iowa. b. Aug. 17, 1883 at Idaville, Ind. A Masonic historian, he heads one of the foremost Masonic libraries in the world. Past master of Mt. Hermon Lodge No. 263 (1937) of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, he has been grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Iowa since 1945. Served as high priest of Trowel Chapter No. 49, R.A.M. in 1947 and grand treasurer of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Iowa in 1950. He is past master of Palestine Council (1936) and past commander of Apollo Commandery, K.T. (1940), all of Cedar Rapids. He served as grand commander of the Grand Commandery, K.T. of Iowa in 1948, sovereign of the Red Cross of Constantine (St. Ignatius Conclave) in 1954; was sovereign grand master of the Grand Council, A.M.D. in 1955 and in 1956 was grand preceptor of the Holy Royal Arch Knight Templar Priests. In 1955 he was president of the Conference of Grand Lodge Secretaries, and is president of the Masonic Relief Association of the United States and Canada. He is a member of the board of publication of the Royal Arch Mason magazine.

Enrique de Marchena Lawyer and diplomat of the Dominican Republic. b. Oct. 13, 1908 in Trujillo City. Graduate of Univ. of Santo Domingo and studied at Tulane and Institute of International Education in the— U.S. Practiced law and has been professor of international and American law at Univ. of Santo Domingo since 1945. Was undersecretary of state for external affairs 1947–48, minister counselor to Dominican U.N. delegation; alternate delegate to U.N.; delegate plenipotentiary to 2nd, 3rd U.N. Assemblies and M.P. and E.E. to U.N., 1948. His biography in Who's Who lists him both as a Catholic and a Mason.

H. Armand de Masi Newspaper editor. b. Nov. 6, 1890 at Joliet, Ill. Served in various editorial capacities with Minneapolis Tribune, Milwaukee Sentinel, Evening Wisconsin. News editor of Chicago Journal; managing editor of Havana American; makeup editor of New York Press; Paris correspondent for New York Sun. With New York Evening Journal and Journal-American since 1933 as chief copy editor. Served in WW1 as ordnance captain U.S. Army and assistant military attache of U.S. legation in Portugal in 1918–19. During WW2 he was with Allied military government in North Africa and Italy and member of military intelligence reserve from 1946–51. Mason, Shriner and 33° AASR.

Cecil B. de Mille Motion picture producer. b. Aug. 12, 1881. Educated in Pennsylvania Military College and American Academy of Dramatic Art, N.Y.C. Was organizer and president of the Mercury Aviation Co., Hollywood, Calif. (1918–23), the first commercial aviation company to carry passengers on regular flights. He has been identified with the motion picture industry since 1913 as a playwright, actor and producer. He produced the Lux Theater radio programs from 1936–45. As president of Cecil B. de Mille Productions, Inc., he gave the world the greatest spectacular movies ever produced, including Ten Commandments; The Volga Boatman; The Kings of Kings; The Sign of the Cross; Cleopatra; The Crusades; The Plainsman; The Buccaneer; Union Pacific; North West Mounted Police; Reap the Wild Wind; Unconquered; Samson and Delilah, etc. Member of Prince of Orange Lodge No. 16, N.Y.C. and Al Malaikah Shrine Temple, Los Angeles.

Henry C. Deming (1815–1872) U.S. Congressman and orator. b. in Middle Haddam, Conn., he graduated from Yale and Harvard and entered law practice in New York City, but devoted himself chiefly to literature, editing the New World, a literary monthly. Moving to Hartford, Conn. in 1847, he served in both houses of the state legislature and was twice mayor of Hartford. Reluctant to support the Union cause in the Civil War, he finally entered the army and became a colonel. Was at the capture of New Orleans and acting mayor of that city. Elected to congress for two terms starting in 1863. He was a member of St. John's Lodge No. 4, Hartford and a Knight Templar. d. Oct. 9, 1872.

William C. Deming (1869–1949) Editor and publisher. b. Dec. 6, 1869 at Mt. Olivet, Ky. He was editor and manager of Warren (O.) Tribune from 1894–1901, when he moved to Wyoming in the latter year and was editor and publisher of the Wyoming State Tribune–Leader and Wyoming Stockman–Farmer until 1937 when he sold his interest and retired. From 1923–30 he was president of the U.S. Civil Service Commission. He served in the Wyoming lower house, was receiver of public moneys at U.S. Land Office in Cheyenne, president of board of trustees of Univ. of Wyoming. Mason and 32° AASR. d. April 9, 1949.

Francisco de Miranda (1750?–1816) Venezuelan patriot and revolutionist. b. in Caracas, he served in the Spanish army from 1773–82. In 1792–93 he was a general of a division in the French revolutionary armies. He led the Venezuelan army in the revolt under Simon Bolivar q.v. in 1810 and was dictator of Venezuela in April, 1812. The liberation of the South American republics was planned by Freemasons in Spanish lodges meeting in London. The initial credit must be given to De Miranda, who in December, 1807, constituted a “Gran Oriente” composed of three lodges Lautaro, Caballeros Racionales and Gran Reunion Americana. This “Oriente” today would be considered irregular, but a century and a half ago, Masonic rules were less strict. There is no question of the regularity of the Masonry of Miranda, for he was initiated in 1796 and proposed by no less a personage than General Lafayette q.v. He fought vainly against the Royalists and was finally forced to sign a treaty on July 25, 1812, yielding the country to them. He was arrested, sent to Spain and died in prison.

Jacques de Molay (1243?–1314) Last Grand Master of the Knights Templar. b. in Besancon, Burgundy, he was the descendant of an old noble family. He received the Order of Knights Templar in 1265 and was elected grand master while in the Holy Land about 1298. Philip IV (Philip the Fair), King of France and Pope Clement V had him imprisoned in 1307. On March 11, 1314 he was burned at the stake in a public ceremony before Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris. The Order of DeMolay for boys is named after this famous martyr as well as many commanderies of Knights Templar.

Baron de Montesquieu (see Charles-Louis de Secondat)

William Harrison “Jack” Dempsey Former world’s heavy-weight boxing champion. b. in 1895 in Manassa, Colorado. He won the heavyweight championship by defeating Jess Willard at Toledo, Ohio on July 4, 1919 and lost the title to Gene Tunney at Philadelphia on Sept. 23, 1926. Member of Kenwood Lodge No. 800, Chicago, Ill.

Edwin Denby (1870–1929) U.S. Secretary of the Navy under Harding (1921–24). b. Feb. 18, 1870 at Evansville, Ind. He was a member of congress from 1905–11. As secretary of the Navy he was criticized for allowing the transfer of administration of naval oil reserves from the navy department to the department of interior. His signature on leases of Teapot Dome oil lands involved him in the scandal, but he was not accused of corruption. He resigned on March 10, 1924 to lessen the embarrassment to President Coolidge. He was raised in Oriental Lodge No. 240, Detroit, Mich. on June 11, 1912 and received the 33° AASR (NJ) on Sept. 16, 1924 in Boston, Mass. d. Feb. 8, 1929. Received 32° Oct. 24, 1919 in Detroit.

Charles S. Deneen (1863–1940) U.S. Senator and Governor of Illinois. b. May 4, 1863 at Edwardsville, Ill. He practiced law at Chicago from 1890 with sporadic retirements to serve in public offices. He was a member of the Illinois lower house, state’s attorney, and governor of Illinois, 1905–09. Appointed U.S. senator in 1925 and elected to same office for term 1925–31. He served as the grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Illinois, was member of Oriental Consistory AASR (NJ), Chicago and received the 33° on Sept. 19, 1922. Also member of Medinah Shrine Temple of Chicago. d. Feb. 5, 1940.

DuPont de Nemours (see DuPont)

William D. Denney Former Governor of Delaware and past master of Union Lodge No. 7, Dover, Del.

Emery B. Denny Justice of Supreme Court of North Carolina. b. Nov. 23, 1892 at Pilot Mountain, N.C. Graduate of Univ. of North Carolina and began practice of law in 1919. Appointed associate justice in 1942. Served as enlisted man in Signal Corps of WW1. Raised in Gastonia Lodge No. 369, Gastonia, N.C. on July 30, 1920 and demitting on July 15, 1930 to become charter member of Holland Memorial Lodge No. 668, same city. Member of Gastonia Chapter No. 66, R.A.M. and Gastonia Cornmandery No. 28, K.T. He is a past master of Holland Memorial Lodge; past high priest of Gastonia Chapter and past grand marshal of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina. Also member of St. Titus Conclave No. 72, Red Cross of Constantine; N.C. College B.R.I.C.F.; St. John of Damascus Council No. 8, A.M.D.

Ray V. Denslow Masonic author. b. March 6, 1885 at Spickard, Mo. Graduated from Univ. of Missouri in 1907. With father in photographic and newspaper business until 1909, publishing Trenton (Mo.) Daily News. Entered postal service and was assistant postmaster of Trenton, resigning in 1921. Raised in Twilight Lodge No. 114, Macon, Mo. on April 24, 1906, he served as master of Trenton Lodge No. 111, Trenton, Mo. in 1912 and 1937. Was grand master of Grand Lodge of Missouri in 1931. A member of Trenton Chapter No. 66, R.A.M.; Trenton Council No. 37, R. & S.M. and Godfrey de Bouillon Commandery No. 24, K.T. all of Trenton, Mo. and past head of each. He is the oldest living past grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Missouri, serving in 1919. He served as general grand high priest of the General Grand Chapter from 1942–45. A 33° AASR (SJ), he holds active and honorary memberships in practically every Masonic organization known both in the United States and abroad. He has served as grand secretary and recorder of the Grand Chapter, Grand Council and Grand Commandery of Missouri since 1923. As chairman of the foreign relief committee of the Masonic Service Association, he was sent to Europe in 1945 and again to Germany in 1949 to investigate postwar conditions. He has been editor of the Royal Arch Mason magazine since 1942; editor of the Missouri Lodge of Research transactions since 1943; and The Masonic World since 1933 (25 volumes). Among his best known books are Territorial Masonry; A Missouri Frontier Lodge; The Masonic Conservators; History of Royal Arch Masonry in Missouri (2 volumes); York Rite Encyclopedia; Freemasonry and the Presidency; Freemasonry in the Eastern Hemisphere; Freemasonry in the Western Hemisphere; Masonic Rites and Degrees; History of the Cryptic Rite (with Hinman and Hunt in 2 volumes); History of Royal Arch Masonry (with Turnbull in three volumes), etc. d. Sept. 10, 1960.

Eley P. Denson Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Aug. 29, 1884 at Trinity, N.C. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1909, he advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1942, retiring in 1946. Raised, 1921 in Numa F. Reid Lodge No. 344, High Point, N.C. Member of Army Consistory No. 1, AASR (SJ) at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas. Member of Puget Sound post of National Sojourners and Heros of '76.

Simon D. Den Uyl President of the Bohn Aluminum and Brass Co. b. April 21, 1896 in Holland, Mich. Began as a clerk in the accounting department of the company in 1919 and has been director since 1938 and president since 1949. Served in army in WW1. Mason and Shriner.

Charles d'Eon de Beaumont (see under Beaumont)

Martinez de Pasqually About 1754 he organized groups of French lodges into what he termed Elect Cohenism, or Rite des Elus Cohens. He was somewhat of an obscure character, but his rite eventually dominated the Rite of Strict Observance. He was evidently Hebrew by birth, though it appears that he embraced Christianity and Catholicism later in life. His teachings were a curious mixture of the Jewish cabala and the mystical teachings of Jacob Bohme q.v. along with a smattering of ceremonial magic. De Pasqually's rite would probably have passed into oblivion had it not been for the fact that one of his disciples, Louis Claude de Saint-Martin, carried it on.

Chauncey M. Depew (1834–1928) U.S. Senator from New York, 1899–1911, lawyer and railroad president. b. April 23, 1834 at Peekskill, N.Y. Graduate of Yale in 1856 and admitted to bar in 1858. Secretary of state of New York in 1863. He was appointed and confirmed U.S. minister to Japan but declined and also declined appointment as secretary of state under Harrison. Was president of the New York City and Harlem Railroad and the West Shore Railroad. He received 99 votes for presidential nomination at the Republican convention of 1888. He was the orator at the unveiling of the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor. He was raised in Courtland Lodge No. 34, Peekskill, N.Y. on July 25; 1861 and demitted to Kane Lodge No. 454, NYC on Oct. 20, 1885. Received 33° AASR (NJ) and was made a Shriner in New York's Mecca Temple in June, 1911. d. April 5, 1928.

Ned E. Depinet President of RKO Radio Pictures, Inc. from 1942 and president of Radio–Keith Orpheum Corp. from 1948. b. Sept. 9, 1890 in Erie, Pa. Began as a film salesman in New Orleans in 1907, becoming district sales manager for Universal Film Co. in Dallas until he became general sales manager in New York in 1924. He was vice president of First National Pictures, Inc., 1925–31; vice president of RKO Radio Pictures from 1931–42 when he became president. Mason, 32° AASR, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Thomas De Quincey (1785–1859) Famous for his Confessions of an English Opium Eater, published in 1821. Wrote anti-Masonic book based on unfounded assumptions.

Pierre A. C. B. Derbigny (?–1829) Fifth Governor of Louisiana. Born in France, he was compelled to leave during the Revolution and went first to Santo Domingo and then to the U.S., locating successively in Pittsburgh, Missouri, Florida and Louisiana. Active in politics he served the territory as clerk of court of common pleas, secretary of the legislative council, member of the lower house of the first state legislature and judge of the supreme court. He delivered the first Fourth of July oration made in the state and was appointed in 1820 to revise the laws of Louisiana with Livingston and Moreau. As a personal friend of General Lafayette q.v. he was his legal representative in Louisiana. He was governor in 1828. He was killed soon after the expiration of his first year as governor when he was thrown from his carriage. Mentioned as a Mason in the Louisiana proceedings of 1828. d. Oct. 6, 1829.

Edward John Stanley, Earl of Derby 18th Earl of Derby and deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of England. Initiated in 1946, serving as master of Social Lodge No. 62 in 1948. Member of Social Chapter, No. 62, R.A.M., and served as first principal. His father (Lord Stanley) and grandfather (Earl of Derby) both served as grand wardens of the Grand Lodge of England.

George H. Derby (1823–1861) Army officer, wit and humorist. Wrote under the pen name of “John Phoenix.” b. April 3, 1823 in Dedham, Mass., graduating from West Point in 1846. Assigned to the corps of topographical engineers, he surveyed the harbor of New Bedford, Mass., was wounded in battle of Cerro Gordo and was at siege of Vera Cruz. Serving for a time in the topographical bureau in Washington he conducted various surveys from 1847–48 and explorations in Minnesota territory in 1848–49. Later he was sent to Texas and California, being on the staff of the commanding general, Department of the Pacific. Attained rank of captain and constructed lighthouses on the Florida and Alabama coasts. His lodge memberships changed as rapidly as his government orders, but he seemed to be constantly active in Masonry. He was either raised or affiliated with Federal Lodge No. 1, Washington, D.C. on Aug. 8, 1848, serving as junior warden in 1849, demitting the same year. Next he appears as a member of Benecia Lodge No. 5, Benecia, Calif. and was master of Temple Lodge No. 14, Sonoma, Calif. in 1851. On April 23, 1853 he was first master of San Diego Lodge No. 35 and afterwards secretary. He was also a member of Columbia Chapter No. 15, R.A.M. and Washington Commandery No. 1, K.T. both of Washington, D.C. d. May 15, 1861.

Laurence Dermott (1720–1791) The first grand secretary and moving spirit of the English Grand Lodge of the Ancients, set up in opposition to the Grand Lodge of the Moderns in 1751. A highly controversial character of that period. He has been variously described as “sarcastic, bitter, uncompromising, and not altogether sincere or veracious” on one hand and as “the most remarkable Mason that ever existed” on the other. Born in Ireland, he was initiated in 1740 and installed as master of Lodge No. 26 at Dublin in 1746. Coming to England shortly afterwards, he was elected grand secretary of the newly established grand committee of the “ancients” in 1752, holding that office until 1771 when he was appointed deputy grand master, serving for six years and again from 1783–87. He wrote their book of constitutions calling it Ahiman Rezon which went through several editions, the last of which was edited in 1813 by Thomas Harper, then deputy grand master. When he came to England as a journeyman painter he first affiliated with a lodge under the “Moderns,” but later transferred his membership to Lodges No. 9 and 10 of the “Ancients” (they are now Kent Lodge No. 15 and Royal Athelstan Lodge No. 19). He was always enthusiastic about the Royal Arch, which he held to be “the root, heart and marrow of Masonry,” and although he greatly influenced its progress, he cannot be considered responsible for its introduction as some have asserted. He died in 1791.

George H. Dern (1872–1936) U.S. Secretary of War under F. D. Roosevelt q.v. 1933–36; Governor of Utah, 1925–32; Grand Master of Grand Lodge of Utah, 1913. b. Sept. 8, 1872 in Dodge Co., Nebr. Began mining in Utah in 1894 and was treasurer of the Mercur Gold Mining and Milling Co. 1894–1900. In 1900 he became general manager of Consolidated Mercur Gold Mines. Was member of Utah state senate from 1915–23. He was raised May 7, 1897 in Wasatch Lodge No. 1, Salt Lake City. A Royal Arch Mason and Knight Templar, he received the 33° AASR (SJ) Oct. 21, 1927. Was also Shriner and honorary member of Tall Cedars of Lebanon. d. Aug. 27, 1936. Received 32° at Salt Lake City, Nov. 17, 1904.

Andree Joseph Etienne Derouge (1766–1834) A French Freemason who edited Masonic journals and whose valuable collection of printed and manuscript Masonic degrees was sold at auction Jan. 7, 1935.

Santiago Derqui (1809–1867) President of Argentina, 1860–62. After the battle of Pavon, Derqui resigned and retired to private life. He was a member of Union Del Plata Lodge at the same time as Urquiza, Mitre and Sarmiento q.v.—all presidents of the Republic. The lodge is the oldest one in the register of the Grand Lodge of Argentina, the first—Lautare—ceased to exist during Rosas' tyranny.

Charles Radcliffe, 5th Earl of Derwentwater (1693–1746) A brother of James, 3rd Earl and Jacobite hero who was beheaded in London in 1716. Charles, who had been arrested with his brother for his part in the effort to restore the house of Stuart to the throne, escaped to France and thence to Rome. He later returned to Paris where he assumed the title of 5th Earl on the death of his brother's son. Tradition credits him with having established the Lodge Au Louis d'Argent in Paris (1725, 1729 or 1732, accounts differing). It was at this lodge that Chevalier Ramsey q.v. is said to have delivered his celebrated oration in 1937. On the establishment of several other lodges, Radcliffe be-came the first grand master of the Grand Lodge of France. When the house of Stuart made another attempt to excite a rebellion in 1745, Radcliffe sailed from France to join them, but was captured by an English cruiser, carried to London and beheaded on Dec. 8, 1746.

Marc Antoine Desaugiers (1772–1827) French singer, ballad-maker and vaudeville actor, son of composer of same name. He was director of the Theatre du Vaudeville in Paris in 1815 and wrote many songs and vaudeville sketches. The Bulletin of the International Masonic Congress (1917) states that he was a Freemason.

John Theophilus Desaguliers (1683–1744) Distinguished scientist, educator, minister, lecturer, writer and friend of Sir Isaac Newton. He is known as “the father of modern speculative Freemasonry.” b. March 12, 1683 in Rochelle, France, the son of a French Protestant clergyman. When his father was forced to flee to England as a refugee on the revocation of the Edict of Nantes, young John entered Christ Church, Oxford where he studied under the celebrated Keill in experimental philosophy. Received the degree of Master of Arts in 1712 and succeeded Keill as lecturer on experimental philosophy. His reputation as a philosopher obtained for him a fellowship in the Royal Society. He was the inventor of heating by steam for various manufacturing purposes. He became the third grand master of England in 1719 and through his influence many men of learning and position flocked to the fraternity. His lodge membership has been attributed to several London lodges, but his original membership is not known. History mentions him as a member of Antiquity No. 2; Royal Somerset House and Inverness No. 4; “The Horn” meeting at Westminster; and St. Georges and Corner Stone Lodge No. 5. He probably did more than any other man to perfect the ritual and organize the Craft. He was deputy grand master in 1722, 1723 and 1725. As deputy to the Earl of Wharton in 1723 he wrote the preface to Anderson’s Book of Constitutions q.v. in which he also figures in a black gown in the frontispiece. His last appearance in grand lodge was in 1742.

William F. Desaussure U.S. Senator from South Carolina. Member of Richland Lodge No. 39, Columbia, S.C.

Wihnot G. Desaussure (1822–1886) Confederate Brigadier General of Civil War. b. July 23, 1822 at Charleston, S.C. Admitted to bar in 1843 and was a member of the state legislature for 10 years. As a lieutenant colonel he commanded the artillery on Morris Island during the bombardment of Fort Sumter in April, 1861. He was state president of the Society of the Cincinnati. He served as state treasurer of S.C. and later as adjutant general. He was grand master of the Grand Council, R. & S.M. in 1873–78; grand master of the Grand Lodge of S.C. in 1875–77; grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of S.C. in 1878–79. He also served as grand master of the Oddfellows. d. Feb. 1, 1886.

Nicholas C. Des Etangs (1766–1847) French Masonic reformer who set up his own rite of Freemasonry with five degrees. After being initiated in the Lodge l'Heureuse Rencontre, he moved to Paris where in 1822 he became master of the Lodge of Trinosophs, holding the chair for nine years. He thought that the French Masonic ceremonies did not uphold the dignity of Freemasonry so established his own series of degrees.

Joseph Desha (1768–1842) Major General and Governor of Kentucky from 1824–28. b. Dec. 9, 1768 in Pennsylvania, moving to Kentucky in 1781 where he served in the Indian Wars under Generals Wayne and Harrison, fighting at the Battle of the Thames in 1813 as a major general. He served his own state legislature and was U.S. congressman from 1807–1819. He was a member of Lodge No. 74 in Kentucky and Maysville Chapter No. 9, R.A.M., and of Cynthiana Chapter, U.D. in 1832. d. Oct. 13, 1842. His original lodge membership seems to have been in St. John's Lodge No. 11, Flemingsburgh, Ky., being raised March 20, 1806, demitting Nov. 7, 1812.

Frederic Desmons (1832–1910) French Protestant clergyman who was a senator and vice president of the French Senate. He was president of the Grand Orient of France nine times.

Camille Desmoulins (1760 – 1794) French Revolutionist. His full name was Lucie Simplicie Camille Benoit

Charles Louis de Secondat (1689–1755) Also Baron de la Brede et de Montesquieu. Born near Bordeaux, France. He was lawyer, author and political philosopher. He was counselor of the Bordeaux parliament in 1714 and its president in 1716. He withdrew from the practice of law to devote himself to study writing. His book Spirit of the Laws, is a study of three forms of government—republican, monarchy and despotism— regarded as one of the most important political studies of all time. His Lettres Persanes was a clever criticism of French society of the day by representing it as seen through the eyes of two Persians traveling in Europe.

De Secondat was made a Mason in 1720 while on a visit to London. In 1725, he helped to set up the first lodge in Paris.. He studied law, but was not successful in practice. On July 12 he harangued crowds urging revolt. This was the actual beginning of the Revolution and the Bastille was taken two days later. He wrote many revolutionary pamphlets including La France Libre. He won the friendship of Mirabeau and later joined Denton in calling for more moderation. He was arrested by Robespierre, given a mock trial and executed with Dan-ton on April 5, 1794. His wife was guillotined a few days later. He was a member of Loge des Maitres, Amiens, France.

John Despard British Major General who was commandant in Cape Breton, N.S. about 1800. He was on the rolls of the craft in Nova Scotia.

Count Jean Baptiste Charles Henri Hector d'Estaing (1729–1794) French admiral who commanded a squadron aiding the Americans during American Revolution. He was appointed admiral of France in 1792 and guillotined in Paris on April 28, 1794. A member of the Lodge of Nine Sisters, Paris, France, he once visited Williamsburg Lodge No. 6, Williamsburg, Va.

John R. Dethmers Justice, Supreme Court of Michigan since 1946. b. Oct. 15, 1903 at Plessis, Ia. Graduate of Univ. of Michigan, 1927, and practiced law at Holland, Mich. until 1945. Attorney general of Michigan 1945–46. Member of East Lansing Lodge No. 480, Capital Chapter No. 9, R.A.M. and Lansing Commandery No. 25, K.T., all of Lansing, Michigan.

Alexander Deuchar (1777–1844) Brought about the formation of a supreme Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons and supreme Court of Knights Templar by his own exertions heading each group and becoming grand master ad vitam in 1811. A descendant of the old Forfarshire family of Leuchar, Scotland, he was initiated in Lodge St. David's No. 36, Edinburgh, in May, 1801, and passed and raised in Edinburgh Mary's Chapel Lodge in Nov., 1802. He served the latter as master three times. He was a seal-engraver; eminent genealogist and authority on heraldry.

Sir Thomas DeVeil English noble who was represented by the artist William Hogarth q.v. as the drunken master of a lodge in his famous caricature entitled Night. Hogarth was a member of the same lodge as DeVeil. It met at the Hand and Apple Tree Tavern on Little Queen St. in London, being constituted in 1725 and erased in 1737.

Joseph M. Devine Former governor of North Dakota. Member of Mackey Lodge No. 18, Larimore, N.D.

Edward Wm. Spencer, 10th Duke of Devonshire (?–1950) Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of England, 1947–50. His widow, Mary, duchess of Devonshire became mistress of the robes to Queen Elizabeth in 1952. His mother held the same title to Queen Mary. The duke died Dec. 6, 1950 shortly after a visit to Malta where he had performed some of his Masonic duties.

Harry S. DeVore (1891–1947) President of Central College,

Fayette, Mo. from 1942. b. July 27, 1891 at Johnstown, Pa. Graduate of Southern Methodist Univ. in 1918. He was a Methodist minister in Oklahoma from 1920 serving churches in Oklahoma City, Elk City, Miami, Sapulpa and Ardmore. He was later minister at Texarkana, Ark. Mason and 32° AASR. d. Oct. 14, 1947.

Arthur G. Dewalt (1854–1931) U.S. Congressman to 64th to 66th Congresses (1915–21) from 13th Pa. dist. b. Oct. 11, 1854 at Bath, Pa. Admitted to bar, served in state senate from 1902–10. Mason. d. Oct. 26, 1931. Wesley A. D'Ewart U.S. Congressman to 79th to 81st Congresses (1945–51) from Mont. b. Oct. 1, 1889 at Worcester, Mass. He has been a rancher in Park Co., Montana since 1918 and served eight years in the state legislature. Mason, 32° AASR (SJ) and Shriner.

Charles A. Dewey U.S. Judge, southern district of Iowa from 1928 (retired). b. Sept. 11, 1877 at Washington, Ia. Graduate of Oberlin (Ohio) Academy and Univ. of Iowa in 1901. He practiced law at Washington, Iowa. He served in the Iowa National Guard during the Spanish–American War and again entered the guard service in WW1. He served as city attorney, county attorney and district judge of Iowa from 1918–28. He was made a Freemason in Washington Lodge No. 26, April 23, 1903, serving as master in 1908. He became a member of the chapter, council and commandery, serving as head of each local body. In 1915 he was grand master of the Grand Council, R. & S.M. of Iowa; grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Iowa in 1916 and grand master of the Grand Lodge of Iowa in 1929. He holds membership in the K.Y.C.H. and the Red Cross of Constantine, serving the latter as sovereign in 1934. He was one of the first three individuals to receive the gold award of the General Grand Chapter, R.A.M. d. March 2, 1958.

Godfrey Dewey President and Treasurer of Dewey Shorthand Corp. since 1937; executive officer of Lake Placid Co. and allied corporations, 1908–32; president of Emerson College since 1949 and president of the 3rd Olympic Winter Games, 1929–32. b. Sept. 3, 1887 in New York City. Graduate of Harvard. He is the author of numerous articles chiefly on shorthand, simplified spelling and winter sports. Received his degrees in Harvard Lodge, Cambridge, Mass. in 1923–24 and at present, member of Lake Placid Lodge No. 834, Lake Placid, N.Y.

Thomas E. Dewey Governor of New York three terms (1942, 1946, 1950) and twice Republican nominee for President of the United States (1944, 1948). b. March 24, 1902, at Owosso, Mich. Graduate of Univ. of Michigan and holds honorary degrees from more than a dozen other institutions. He was admitted to the N.Y. bar in 1926. Did outstanding work as chief assistant U.S. attorney and special assistant to U.S. attorney general and special prosecutor of Investigation of Organized Crime in New York, 1935–37. Was elected district attorney for New York County in 1937. Member of Kane Lodge No. 454, New York City; received 33° AASR (NJ) in 1948 and member of Kismet Shrine Temple, Brooklyn, N.Y. In 1940 Dewey stated “I believe that, if there were fifty million Masons in the United States instead of three million, there ‘would be no fear of any invasion of foreign ideas contrary to the spirit of religious and personal freedom of America.’

Maharaja Dhuleep Singh (1837–1893) His father founded the Sikh kingdom and he succeeded him under the regency of his mother. He was deposed in 1849 as a result of two anti-British outbreaks and was pensioned, living in Suffolk, England. He was initiated in Eastern Star Lodge at Calcutta on March 13, 1861.

Jose de la Cruz Porfirio Diaz (1830–1915) President and Dictator of Mexico. b. Sept. 15, 1830 in Oaxaca, Mexico. He distinguished himself as a soldier in the war with the U.S. (1846–48); in the War of the Reform (1858–60); in support of Juarez, and the struggle against the French in 1863–67. He was an unsuccessful candidate for president in 1867 and 1871. He finally overthrew Lerdo de Tejada, the provisional president in 1877 and was elected that year, serving until 1880. He served again as president from 1884–1911, a total of seven terms, by having the constitution amended to allow for his continuance in office. His administrations were marked by peace, material prosperity, and foreign investments, but also by dictatorial methods with little improvement in the condition of the masses. He was forced to abdicate in May, 1911 and leave Mexico. He died in Paris, in exile, July 2, 1915. He was a member of Toltecas Lodge No. 8 and grand commander of the Supreme Council, 33° of Mexico. He was also an honorary member of the Southern Supreme Council, U.S.A. and the first Mexican president to join the Shrine. There is an unverified story of his life being saved by Alex.

K. Coney, member of Loge la Parafite Union No. 17 of San Francisco, Calif., the purser of a ship bound for Vera Cruz in 1870 on which Diaz was a passenger. Diaz had told him that he was a Mason and that there was also a $50,000 reward for his capture. Nevertheless, Coney attempted to land him on a secret Mexican beach and saved his life when the ship was boarded by Mexican soldiers.

Charles Dibdin (1745–1814) English actor and composer, known particularly for his sea songs. He produced The Waterman and The Quaker and satirized Garrick in The Comic Mirror. He is said to have written upwards of 1400 songs and 30 dramatic pieces. His first sea song was Blow High, Blow Low. His grandson stated that he was a Freemason. His son Thomas q.v. was a playwright.

Thomas John Dibdin (1771–1841) English playwright and son of composer Charles Dibdin q.v. His Jew and the Doctor was produced at Convent Garden in 1798. In 1797 he wrote The British Raft and in 1801 produced his best opera, The Cabinet. He is said to have written 2,000 songs and 200 operas and plays. He was initiated into Freemasonry in the “Kent Circuit” and became a Royal Arch Mason and Knight Templar.

Elisha Cullen Dick (1762–?) One of the three doctors who attended George Washington in his last illness. b. near Marcus Hook, Pa. on March 15, 1762, he was made a Mason in Lodge No. 2, Philadelphia in 1779. He was one of the organizers of Alexandria (Va.) Lodge No. 39, later known as Alexandria–Washington Lodge No. 22. As senior warden of the lodge in 1783, he was one of those greeting Washington in a letter upon his return to private life. He served as master of the lodge in 1788 and from 1789 to 1795 and again in 1799. He was master of the lodge when Washington was buried Masonically by the lodge; also laid the cornerstone marking the Southeast corner of the District of Columbia at Jones Point at the mouth of Great Hunting Creek, April 15, 1791. Was present as master of Alexandria Lodge No. 22 at the laying of the cornerstone of the U.S. Capitol on Sept. 18, 1793. He received the degree of Secret Master of the Lodge of Perfection at Philadelphia in 1785. A diploma issued to him by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, dated Sept. 24, 1779 is one of the valued relics in possession of Alexandria Lodge. Questionable birth date.

Charles T. Dickeman Commodore, U.S. Navy. b. Aug. 11, 1894 in New York City. Appointed Lt. (j.g.) in Civil Engr. Corps, U.S. Navy in 1921, retiring in 1947 as commodore. Has served in naval construction throughout the world. Was in charge of construction of battleship dry dock at Pearl Harbor in 1939–41; member of Maxwell Mission to Middle East in 1941; director of several advance bases during WW2. Now vice president of Michigan–Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. and Michigan Consol. Gas Co. Mason (life member).

Charles Dickens (1812–1870) English novelist and anti-Mason. One of the greatest writers of all times. His childhood was filled with poverty and hardship. Among his many famous books are Oliver Twist, A Christmas Carol, David Copperfield, A Tale of Two Cities, Pickwick Papers and Old Curiosity Shop. Early publications often referred to him as a “brother” and there was at one time a lodge called “Charles Dickens” at Chigwell, Essex, England. Far from being a Mason, his writings ridicule the ceremonies of the fraternity and he pictures the work in a satyric manner even to the extent of writing “Freemasonry” with a small “f.”

Denver S. Dickerson (1872–1925) Governor of Nevada, 1908–11. b. Jan. 24, 1872 at Millville, Calif. Served in Spanish–American War with Troop D. 2nd U.S. Vol. Cay. Served as county clerk and recorder of White Pine Co. and as lieutenant governor, 1906–08. Owner and editor of White Pine News and later of Ely Mining Expositor. President of Blaine Gold Mining & Milling Co., Robinson Mining Co., White Pine Co., Abstract Co. Mason. d. Nov. 28, 1925.

Joe T. Dickerson, Jr. Vice President Shell Oil Co. since 1951. b. Oct. 7, 1898 at Marion, Kans. Graduate of Univ. of Oklahoma. Began law practice in 1921 and started in legal department of Skelly Oil Co. in 1923. With Shell Oil since 1933, first in legal dept. of Tulsa and later St. Louis and Houston. He was area manager from 1947–51 and vice president in charge of Midland area since 1951. Mason.

Mahlon Dickerson (1770–1853) U.S. Secretary of the Navy under Jackson, Governor and U.S. Senator from New Jersey. b. April 17, 1770 in Hanover, N.J. He graduated from Princeton in 1789, studied law and admitted to bar in 1793, practicing in Philadelphia. From 1805–08 he was quartermaster general of Pennsylvania and from 1808–10 recorder of city court of Philadelphia. He returned to New Jersey to become a judge of the supreme court and served in the state legislature from 1811–13. In 1815 he was elected governor of New Jersey, and at the close of his term was sent to the U.S. senate where he was repeatedly reelected, serving from 1817–1833. President Jackson appointed him secretary of the Navy in 1834 and Van Buren continued him until 1838. He was a brother of Philemon Dickerson q.v. He was made a Mason in Cincinnati Lodge No. 17, Morristown, N.J. on June 17, 1816 (now No. 3). He demitted and affiliated with St. Tammany Lodge No. 28 of Morristown, N.J. and served as senior warden of the same in 1916–17. d. Oct. 5, 1853.

Philemon Dickerson (1788–1862) Governor of New Jersey, 1836–38. b. in Morris Co., N.J., he studied law and practiced at Paterson. He was a brother of Mahlon Dickerson q.v. He served in the U.S. congress in 1833–35 and 1840–41. He was later judge of the U.S. district court in New Jersey. He was made a Mason in St. Tammany Lodge No. 28, Morristown, N.J. on March 9, 1814. In 1816 he affiliated with Paterson–Orange Lodge No. 13 (now No. 43) at Paterson and served as its master. On May 7, 1827 he affiliated with Trenton Lodge No. 5, Trenton, N.J. and served as its master. He was grand steward of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey in 1829 and in 1831–32 was deputy grand secretary of the grand lodge. d. Dec. 10. 1862.

William Dickey Early English Mason who was a member of Lodge No. 14 of the “Antients.” In 1765 he was “remade” in a “Moderns” lodge. Three years later, however, he was elected as deputy grand secretary to the Antients’ grand lodge, but as such had frequent disputes with the grand secretary, Laurence Dermott q.v. whom he succeeded in 1771 both as grand secretary and deputy grand master to the 4th Duke of Atholl q.v. He was president of the grand committee in 1872 and again deputy grand master from 1794 until his death in 1800.

Daniel S. Dickinson (1800–1866) U.S. Senator from New York. b. Sept. 11, 1800 in Goshen, Conn., he became a clothiers’ apprentice, later taught, did surveying, studied law and admitted to bar in 1828, settling in Binghamton, N.Y. which was thenceforth his home. He was elected state senator in 1836 and elected lieutenant governor of New York in 1842. He was appointed to a U.S. senate vacancy in 1844 and was subsequently elected to a full term. At one time he was a strong contender for the presidential nomination. He was a member of Binghamton Lodge No. 177, Binghamton, N.Y.

Jacob M. Dickinson (1851–1928) Secretary of War under Taft, 1909–11. b. Jan. 30, 1851 at Columbus, Miss. Studied law at New York Univ., Leipzig, Paris. Admitted to bar in 1874 and practiced at Nashville until 1899 when he moved to Chicago. Served as assistant attorney general of the U.S. and was counsel for the U.S. in the Alaskan Boundary Tribunal in 1903. Was solicitor general for the Illinois Central R.R. and receiver for the Rock Island Lines from 1915–17. A member of Cumberland Lodge No. 8, Nashville, Tenn., he received his 32° AASR (SJ) in Trinity Consistory, Nashville on Oct 11, 1909. He was present at the raising of Lawrence Washington q.v.

the last male of the George Washington line in Alexandria, Va. on Feb. 22, 1910. d. Dec. 13, 1928.

John Dickinson (1732–1808) Known as the “Penman of the Revolution.” He was president of both Delaware and Pennsylvania and was a signer of the Constitution. b. Nov. 13, 1732 in Maryland, he studied law in Philadelphia and later England. Returning to America he practiced law in Philadelphia. He was a member of the Pennsylvania assembly in 1764 and of the Colonial Congress convened in New York to oppose the stamp act in 1765. He was a member of the first Continental Congress. In 1776 he opposed the adoption of the Declaration of Independence and refused to sign, deeming it premature. During the Revolution he served as a private and in 1777 was commissioned brigadier general of Delaware militia. On Nov. 13, 1781 he became the fifth president of Delaware, serving until Nov. 4, 1782 when he resigned to accept the presidency of Pennsylvania, serving until 1785. He founded Dickinson College at Carlisle, Pa. He was raised in Lodge No. 18, Dover, Delaware (under Pennsylvania charter). d. Feb. 14, 1808. Raised Jan. 11, 1780.

Samuel Dickstein Justice, Supreme Court of New York for term 1946–55. b. Feb. 5, 1885 in Russia, being brought to the U.S. at the age of three. Admitted to New York bar in 1908. He served in the lower house of New York and then as U.S. congressman to 68th to 79th congresses (1923–47) from 12th N.Y. dist. He has been chairman of the Immigration and Naturalization Com. since 1931. Mason and Shriner.

Denis Diderot (1713–1784) French encyclopedist and philosopher. Educated by the Jesuits. Was thrown into prison when his first philosophic work was published in 1749. Labored 20 years on the Encyclopedie (1751–72) and was at times aided by Voltaire, Montesquieu, Rousseau, Buffon, Turgot and others. The work was published in 28 volumes and later increased by eight volumes of supplements. His work was an active force during the period of enlightenment. Sources differ as to whether he was a Freemason. He is credited with an address at Paris in 1778 before the famous Lodge of the Nine Sisters, but a history of French Masonry published in 1925 says he was not.

Christopher Diehl (1831–1912) Established first public Masonic library in the United States. b. March 22, 1831 at Butzbach, Germany, he came to the United States when 22. He was raised in Mt. Moriah Lodge No. 70 (now 2) in Salt Lake City on Jan. 17, 1872. He served as grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Utah from 1872–1912, signing charters of the first 15 lodges in Utah as well as three organized before the grand lodge was established. He wrote the Utah correspondence reports for 40 years. He established the first Masonic public library and was its librarian for 20 years. When 10,000 volumes were accumulated, they were transferred to Salt Lake City to become the nucleus of the present public library. d. Sept. 17, 1912.

George W. Diemer (1885–1956) President of Central Missouri State Teachers College. b. Dec. 11, 1885 in Arkansas City, Kans. Graduate of state teachers colleges at Kirksville and Warrensburg, Mo. and AM. degree from Columbia Univ. Taught and served as principal and superintendent of rural and town schools in Missouri from 1905–21. Was principal of Henry C. Kumpf School in Kansas City until 1923 when he became president of the Teachers College of Kansas City. He became president of the Central Missouri State Teachers College at Warrensburg, Mo. in 1937. Retired July 1, 1956. Member of Eureka Lodge No. 73 at Brunswick, Mo.; exalted in Houston Chapter No. 37, R.A.M. at Brunswick in 1913 and suspended in 1933; knighted in Amand Commandery No. 64, K.T. in Excelsior Springs in 1914 and suspended in 1929. d. Aug. 13, 1956.

Ludwig August Dieskau (1701–1767) French General who commanded troops against the British in Canada in 1755, but was defeated in an assault on the British camp at Lake George. His opponent and victor was General William Johnson q.v., provincial grand master of New York. Although his membership has never been proven, he is often referred to as a Mason. d. Sept. 8, 1767 as a result of wounds suffered at Lake George.

Charles H. Dietrich (1853–1924) Governor and U.S. Senator from Nebraska. b. Nov. 26, 1853 at Aurora, Ill. Early in life he worked on farms and plantations in the South; stores in St. Joseph, Mo. and Chicago. Tried mining in the Black Hills and moved to Hastings, Nebr. in 1878 where he engaged in business. In 1900 he received Republican nomination for governor by acclamation and was elected, but resigned and was elected U.S. senator, serving from 1901–05. Mason, 32° AASR (SJ) and Shriner. d. April 10, 1924.

Richard P. Dietzman (1883–1943) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Kentucky, 1931–35. b. Aug. 13, 1883 at Louisville, Ky. Graduate of Harvard and practiced law at Louisville from 1907. He was a justice of the high Kentucky court from 1924 to 1935, returning to private practice after that date. Mason. d. Dec. 22, 1943.

Roland Diggle (1885–1954) Composer and organist. b. Jan. 1, 1885 in London, England, coming to America in 1904 and being naturalized in 1914. He was organist and choirmaster at St. John's Episcopal Church, Wichita, Kans. from 1907–11; St. John's Cathedral, Quincy, Ill., 1911–14; St. John's Church, Los Angeles, Calif. from 1914. He was recitalist at San Diego and San Francisco expositions and has made several organ recital tours of the U.S. His orchestral compositions have been performed by the Los Angeles Symphony. He was raised in Henry S. Orme Lodge No. 458, Los Angeles, Calif. on June 16, 1921. He served his lodge as organist for many years, dying on Jan. 13, 1954 only four days after his installation as organist for the 31st time.

Norman S. Dike (1862–1953) Justice, Supreme Court of New York, 1920–33. b. Oct. 22, 1862 in Brooklyn, N.Y. Graduate of Brown and Columbia Law School. Mason. d. April 15, 1953.

James Dill U.S. General of American Indian Wars. Member of Lawrenceburg Lodge No. 4, Lawrenceburg, Ind. and junior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of Indiana in 1819.

Julien Dillens (1849–1904) Belgian sculptor. The Bulletin of the International Masonic Congress published in 1917 states that he was a “distinguished” Freemason.

Charles, 11th Viscount Dillon (1745–1813) Raised a Roman Catholic, he renounced his family faith in 1767 and in that year became grand steward of the Grand Lodge of England and deputy grand master the following year. While serving in this capacity, it was his suggestion that the first Freemasons’ Hall be built on Great Queen Street and suggested the means by which it could be financed. The hall was opened in 1776. From 1770 to 1774 he was a member of parliament and was made a privy councillor in 1774. He became the 11th Viscount in 1788.

Richard C. Dillon Governor of New Mexico, 1927–31. b. June 24, 1877 in St. Louis, Mo. He began as a railroad laborer in 1892. Since 1900 he has been in the mercantile and stock business. Served two years in New Mexico state senate. Raised in Vaughn Lodge No. 43, Vaughn, N.M. in 1919, and life member of same. 32° AASR (SJ) at Santa Fe and life member of Ballut Abyad Shrine Temple of Albuquerque.

LaVern R. Dilweg Athlete, lawyer and U.S. Congressman to 78th Congress (1943–45) from 8th Wis. dist. b. Nov. 1, 1903, he graduated from Marquette Univ. in 1927 where he was All-American end in 1925. From 1927–34 he played professional football as end on the Green Bay Packers team. Admitted to Wis. bar in 1927. He was All-American end three years. He was a founder and director of the Bluejay Baseball Team of Green Bay. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Everett M. Dirksen U.S. Senator from Illinois since 1950. b. Jan. 4, 1896 at Pekin, Ill. Student at Univ. of Minnesota, 1913–17. He served in the U.S. Army as a private during WW1 and later as a lieutenant in the A.E.F. He served as U.S. congressman from 73rd to 80th congresses from 16th Ill. dist. A member of Pekin Lodge No. 29, Pekin, Ill., he was grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Illinois in 1954. Received 33° AASR (NJ) at Boston on Sept. 29, 1954.

Wesley E. Disney U.S. Congressman, 72nd to 78th Congresses (1931–45) from 1st Oklahoma dist. b. Oct. 31, 1883 in Shawnee Co., Kans. Graduate of Univ. of Kansas. Began law practice in Muskogee, Okla. in 1908. Member of Oklahoma lower house from 1919–24. Was chairman of board in impeachment of Governor Walton in 1923. Mason and 32° AASR (SJ).

Benjamin Disraeli (1804–1881) Prime Minister of England under Queen Victoria and author. He was titled the 1st Earl of Beaconsfield. Although he was not a Freemason, Beaconsfield Lodge No. 1662 of London was named for him and consecrated Feb. 24, 1877 with his permission to use his title as Earl of Beaconsfield and his armorial bearings. Of Jewish descent, his father, Isaac D'Israeli had his children baptized into the Anglican Church.

J. William Ditter (1888–1943) U.S. Congressman to 73rd to 78th Congresses (1933–45) from 17th Pennsylvania dist. b. Sept. 5, 1888 at Philadelphia, Pa. Mason. d. Nov. 21, 1943.

John A. Dix (1860–1928) Governor of New York, 1910–12. b. Dec. 25, 1860 in Glens Falls, N.Y. Graduate of Cornell. In stone and lumber business. Trustee of Cornell Univ. Mason. d. April 9, 1928.

Richard Dix (1895–1949) Movie actor and idol of the silent films. Member of Henry S. Orme Lodge No. 458, Los Angeles, Calif.

Archibald Dixon (1802–1876) U.S. Senator from Kentucky. b. April 2, 1802 in Caswell Co., N.C. Admitted to Kentucky bar in 1824. Served in state legislature in 1836, state senate in 1841 and was lieutenant governor in 1843–47. Served in U.S. senate 1852–55. Buried Masonically with Henderson Commandery No. 14 of Kentucky present at the ceremonies. d. April 23, 1876.

Frank M. Dixon Governor of Alabama, 1939–43. b. July, 1892 at Oakland, Calif. Admitted to Alabama bar in 1917, practicing in Birmingham. Was chairman of the Southern Governors' Conference in 1941–42. Served as lieutenant in Coast Artillery during WW1 and was attached to French Army as aerial observer. Member of Birmingham Lodge No. 757.

James Dixon (1814–1873) U.S. Senator from Connecticut. b. Aug. 5, 1814 at Enfield, Conn. He studied law and practiced at Enfield, removing to Hartford to enter partnership with Judge W. W. Ellsworth. Elected to lower house of legislature in 1837, 1838 and 1844. He served in the U.S. house of representatives from 1845–49, retiring that year but being elected to his own state senate and reelected in 1854. He was elected to the U.S. senate in 1857 and again in 1863. He was one of the few Republicans who refused to vote for the impeachment of President Johnson q.v. thus sounding his death knell politically. He then withdrew from politics, refused a mission to Russia and devoted his time to literature. He was a member of St. John's Lodge No. 4, Hartford, Conn. being made a Mason on Feb. 27, 1856. d. March 27, 1873.

Joseph M. Dixon (1867–1934) Governor and U.S. Senator from Montana. b. July 31, 1867 at Snow Camp, N.C. Graduate of Guilford College, N.C. in 1889. Admitted to Montana bar in 1892 and member of state legislature in 1901. Served in 58th through 59th congresses (1903–07) from Montana at large and was U.S. senator from 1907–13. He was governor of Montana 1921–25, and first assistant secretary of the Interior 1929–33. He served as master of Missoula Lodge No. 13, Missoula, Mont. and was a member of Algeria Shrine Temple at Helena. d. May 22, 1934.

Nathan F. Dixon U.S. Senator from Rhode Island, 1889–92. Not to be confused with his father and grandfather of same name. Member of Franklin Lodge No. 20, Westerly, R.I.

Wesley M. Dixon President of Container Corp. of America. b. May 16, 1896 at Chicago, Ill. Vice president and director of the Container Corp. 1920–25 and president since 1946. Served in WW1 as lieutenant in Field Artillery. Raised in Lake Forest Lodge No. 1026, Lake Forest, Ill. in 1921. Member of Siloam Commandery No. 54, K.T. at Oak Park, Ill.

William N. Doak (1882–1933) Secretary of Labor in Hoover cabinet, 1930–33. b. Dec. 12, 1882 at Rural Retreat, Va. Was general chairman of Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Norfolk & Western System, 1908–16 and vice president of Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen 1916–28. He was editor and manager of The Railroad Trainman from 1928, and member of the U.S. Railway Board of Adjustment during WW1. His blue lodge is not known, but he received the 32° AASR (SJ) at Alexandria, Va. April 25, 1919 and was elected to receive the 33°, but died before the honor could be conferred. d. Oct 23, 1933.

Leland I. Doan President of Dow Chemical Co. b. Nov. 4, 1894 at North Bend, Nebr. Has been with Dow Chemical Co. since 1917 beginning in sales dept., and successively as assistant sales manager, general sales manager, vice president and secretary, 1938–49 and president since 1949. He is also secretary of Dow Chemical of Canada, Ltd.; vice president of Dowell, Inc.; treasurer of Dow Magnesium Corp. and director of U.S. Alkali Export Association. Raised in Centre Lodge No. 273, Midland, Mich. on May 12, 1921. 32° AASR (NJ) on May 19, 1921 at Bay City, Mich. and 33° on Sept. 20, 1953. Member of Elf Khurafeh Shrine Temple, Saginaw, Mich.

Hoyt McW. Dobbs (1878–1954) Methodist Bishop. b.

Nov. 16, 1878 at Antioch, Ala. Licensed to preach in M.E. Church, South in 1901; deacon in 1904 and elder in 1908. Served several churches in Birmingham, Ala. from 1904–09, then churches in Kansas City, Mo. and Fort Worth, Texas until 1916. He was then a professor of theology in Southern Methodist Univ. and was elected bishop May 16, 1922, being first assigned to Brazil with residence at Sao Paulo (1922–26). From 1926–30 he served the district of Louisiana and Arkansas and 1930–34 to Louisiana and Mississippi. Retired in 1944. Mason, Knight Ternplar, K.C.C.H., Red Cross of Constantine and Shriner. 33° AASR (SJ). d. Dec. 9, 1954.

R. Howard Dobbs, Jr. President of the Life Insurance Co. of Georgia. b. May 16, 1906 at Atlanta, Ga. He joined the company in 1925, became assistant treasurer, treasurer, 1st vice president and has been president since 1948. Served as captain in A.A.F. 1942–45. Mason and Shriner.

Alexander M. Dockery (1845–1926) Governor of Missouri, U.S. Congressman and Assistant Postmaster General. b. Feb. 11, 1845 in Daviess Co., Mo. Received M.D. degree from St. Louis Medical College in 1865, and LL.D., Univ. of Missouri in 1906. Practiced medicine in Chillicothe, Mo. 1866–74, removing to Gallatin, Mo. where he organized the Farmers' Exchange Bank of which he was cashier until 1882. He served 16 years as U.S. congressman (1882–98) from the Missouri 3rd dist. (48th to 55th congresses) and was governor of Missouri from 1901–05. He was 3rd assistant postmaster general of the U.S. from 1913–21. He was raised in Jackson Lodge No. 82, Linneus, Mo. on Aug. 20, 1866; exalted in Lone Star Chapter

No. 30, R.A.M. of Chillicothe, Mo. Jan. 9, 1868; received as member of Solomon Council No. 26 R. & S.M. Jan. 25, 1909 and knighted in Kadosh Commandery No. 21, K.T. Cameron, Mo. May 6, 1879. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Missouri in 1887 and grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Missouri in 1883. He was also grand master of Oddfellows in Missouri. d. Dec. 26, 1926.

John Doctoroff Portrait painter. b. July 19, 1893 in New York City. Studied at Cooper Union and Chicago Art Institutes. Was an illustrator, 1912–24 and has engaged in portrait painting since that time. His portraits commissioned include Herbert Hoover, Wendell Winkle, General Pershing, Governor Henry Horner, Julius Rosenwald, Dr. Louis L. Mann, Edwin Markham and many other famous men. Mason and Shriner.

William Dodd (1729–1777) English preacher, who was the first grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of England (1775–77) and who was hanged on June 27, 1777 for forgery. b. in Lincolnshire, he graduated from Cambridge in 1750 and achieved almost immediate popularity as a preacher, author and editor. He became chaplain to King George III in 1764. He was the author of The Beauties of Shakespeare and Reflections on Death, together with many others. He was forced to flee England because of his wife's attempt to bribe the wife of the lord chancellor to gain preferment for him in 1774. He forged a bond for ~£4,200 in the name of his patron and pupil, the 5th Earl of Chesterfield. Arrested, he returned ~£3,000 and offered security for the rest. He was nevertheless tried and convicted. The sentence for forgery at that time was death, and despite the efforts of Dr. Samuel Johnson and others, who appealed to the king, he was hanged. Dodd was initiated in St. Alban's Lodge No. 29 in 1775. He was admitted to the Lodge of Antiquity No. 2 in the same year and was its junior warden as well as grand chaplain of the grand lodge at the date of his expulsion—Jan. 15, 1777. His eloquent oration on Masonry at the dedication of the first Freemasons' Hall in 1776 was published and recommended by the grand lodge. He also advertised a history of Freemasonry, but did not live to finish it.

Alexander Dodds (1874–1920) Editor. b. April 5, 1874 at Allegheny, Pa. and was a newspaper writer and editor from 1890. He was associate publisher of The Builder, Pittsburgh from 1894–96 and was later with the Pittsburgh Dispatch and Gazette Times, both of Pittsburgh and managing editor of the Christian Science Monitor from 1908–14. From 1914–16 he was managing editor of the Los Angeles Herald and vice president of the United Press Assn. 1909–12. Mason. d. Nov. 30, 1920.

Henry Dodge (1782–1867) General and Indian fighter; U.S. Senator from Wisconsin and Governor of Wisconsin. b. Oct. 12, 1782 at Vincennes, Ind. He fought as an officer in the War of 1812 and in the Black Hawk War of 1832. Was commissioned in the U.S. Rangers in that year and was successful in making peace with the frontier Indians in 1834. In 1835 he commanded an important expedition to the Rocky mountains. Congress voted him a sword for his services. He resigned from military service in 1836, having been appointed by President Jackson as governor of Wisconsin territory and superintendent of Indian affairs. He held this office untill 1841 when he was elected U.S. congressman, serving two terms. In 1846 he was again made governor of Wisconsin and at the admission of that state to the union, was one of its first U.S. senators, serving from 1848 to 1857. He was initiated Dec. 6, 1806 in Western Star Lodge No. 107, Kaskaskia, Ill. (then Indian Territory). He later affiliated with Louisiana Lodge No. 109 (Missouri's first lodge) at St. Genevieve, Mo. and served as its master for three years. He was the installing officer at the institution of Unity Lodge No. 6, Jackson, Mo. Fort Dodge was named for him. d. June 19, 1867.

Ossian E. Dodge (1820–1876) Vocalist. b. Oct. 22, 1820 in Cayuga, N.Y. Was a professional singer of moral comic songs, which he composed himself. In 1845, together with Bernard Covert, composer of the song The Sword of Bunker Hill, he organized a concert group and gave entertainments throughout the U.S. He was the first to take a company overland from New York to California and was the first manager to give a program in the Mormon tabernacle at Salt Lake City. Became wealthy through real estate investments, mainly in St. Paul, Minn. Said to have been a Mason but no lodge affiliations given. d. Nov. 4, 1876.

Robert Dollar (1844–1932) Pioneer shipping magnate and organizer of “The Dollar Line.” b. March 20, 1844 in Falkirk, Scotland, he came to the U.S. in 1856 and was naturalized in 1888. He settled in San Francisco, Calif. and became founder and president of the Dollar Steamship Co., Robert Dollar Co.,

Dollar Portland Lumber Co. and Canadian Robert Dollar Co. He was one of the largest operators of ocean vessels in the world. He was a charter member of Bracebridge Lodge No. 360, Brace-bridge, Ont., Canada. d. May 16, 1932.

James I. Dolliver U.S. Congressman, 79th and 80th Congresses (1945– 49) from 6th Iowa dist. b. Aug. 31, 1894 at Park Ridge, Ill. Admitted to Iowa bar in 1922 and practiced at Fort Dodge. Served with Signal Corps, U.S. Army in WW1. Mason.

Jonathan P. Dolliver (1858–1910) U.S. Senator from Iowa. b. Feb. 6, 1858 near Kingwood, W. Va. Graduate of West Virginia Univ. 1875. Admitted to bar in 1878 and established practice at Fort Dodge, Iowa. Elected to 51st through 56th congresses (1889–1901) from 10th Iowa dist. Appointed U.S. senator in 1900 and elected two more terms, serving from 1900 to 1913. Member of Ashlar Lodge No. 111, Fort Dodge, Iowa. In 1910 he delivered an address before the Grand Lodge of Delaware.

Tancrede Dolomieu (1750–1802) French geologist and mineralogist for whom the mineral “dolomite” is named. Full name was Deodat Guy Silvain Tancrede Gratet de Dolomieu. Was professor in the French School of Mines and scientist on Bonaparte’s expedition to Egypt in 1798. On return trip he was captured and imprisoned at Messina for 21 months. While in prison he made pen of wood and using soot from a lamp wrote two books on the margins of his Bible. Stated to be a Mason by the Bulletin of the International Masonic Congress in 1917.

Joseph N. Dolph (1835–?) U.S. Senator from Oregon in 1883. b. Oct. 19, 1835 in Hector, N.Y. Admitted to bar in 1861 and practiced in Schuyler Co., N.Y. until 1862 when he enlisted and joined the “Oregon Escort” which was raised under an act of congress for the purpose of protecting emigration to the Pacific coast against hostile Indians. He settled in Portland, served in the Oregon senate in 1866, 1872 and 1874. He was a member of Portland Lodge No. 55, Portland, served as its master and was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Oregon in 1882.

John O. Dominis (?–1891) Consort of Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii. His petition was received April 30, 1858 in Lodge le Progres de l’Oceanie while King Kamehama IV was master of the lodge and he was raised August 15, 1858. He served as master of the lodge in 1863, 1864 and 1868 and was one of the first two Scottish Rite Masons in Hawaii to receive the 33° AASR (SJ) on July 14, 1878. d. Aug. 27, 1891.

George W. Donaghey (1856–1937) Governor of Arkansas, 1909–11, 1911–13. b. July 1, 1856 at Oakland, La. Began as a carpenter and contractor. Built state capitol building of Arkansas. President of board of control, State Eleemosynary Instns. 1922–26, and president of board that built two bridges across Arkansas River at Little Rock. Mason. d. Dec. 15, 1937.

Lloyd Francis Donald Vice President of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad. b. April 4, 1894 at Savanna, Ill. Joined the railroad in 1912. Was general manager of western lines, at Seattle 1942–46, and eastern lines at Chicago 1946–50. Vice president in charge of operations since 1950. Mason.

Jesse M. Donaldson Postmaster General of the U.S. under President Truman. b. Aug. 17, 1885 in Shelby Co., Ill. Was postal employee and supervisor in Illinois and Oklahoma from 1908–15 and inspector in charge of division at Chattanooga, Tenn. and Kansas City 1915–33. Was deputy 2nd assistant postmaster general at Washington, 1933–36 and deputy 1st assistant postmaster general 1936–43. From 1943–45 was chief post office inspector and first assistant postmaster general from 1945–47. Truman named him postmaster general on Nov. 27, 1947 and reappointed him in 1949. Raised in Oconee Lodge No. 392, Oconee, El. on April 24, 1907.

George A. Dondero U.S. Congressman, 73rd to 81st Congresses (1933–49) from 17th Michigan dist. b. Dec. 16, 1883 at Detroit, Mich. Graduate of Detroit College of Law in 1910, practicing since 1910. Raised in Royal Oak Lodge No. 464, Royal Oak, Mich. about 1916. 32° AASR (NJ) at Detroit; High Twelve Club of Royal Oak and honorary member of same at Pontiac.

Arthur, 3rd Viscount of Doneraile Grand master of Grand Lodge of Ireland in 1740.

Carl G. Doney (1867–1955) President of West Virginia Wesleyan Univ. (1907–15) and Willamette Univ. 1915–34. Born near Columbus, Ohio, he earned his way through Ohio State as a truck farmer and thresher. Between 1893 and 1907 he held Methodist pastorates in several Ohio cities and Washington, D.C. He retired in 1934. Was the author of numerous books. d. Nov. 5, 1955. Mason.

Brian Donlevy Movie actor. Member of Mount Olive Lodge No. 506, Los Angeles, Calif.

Edward W. Donn, Jr. Architect. b. April 2, 1868 at Washington, D.C. He was the architect for the restoration of "Wakefield," birthplace of George Washington and for "Kenmore," home of Betty Washington at Fredericksburg, Va.; also Woodlawn Mansion, Virginia and terminal buildings at Mt. Vernon gate. He was chief designer in office of architect of the Treasury, Washington, 1900-03. Mason.

Forrest C. Donnell Governor and U.S. Senator from Missouri. b. Aug. 20, 1884 at Quitman, Mo. Received A.B. and LL.B. from Univ. of Missouri and admitted to bar in 1907, practicing in St. Louis. He was governor of Missouri from 1941-45 and U.S. senator, 1945-51. Member of Tuscan Lodge No. 360, St. Louis, he was the only man to preside over the Grand Lodge of Missouri as grand master while governor of the state (Sept., 1943). He succeeded Harry S. Truman as grand master. A 33° AASR (SJ), he served as master of the Missouri Lodge of Research in 1951, succeeding Truman in that station.

Otto D. Donnell President of Ohio Oil Company, 1927-48 and director, 1910-48. b. Sept. 26, 1883 at Allentown, N.Y. Began with the Ohio Oil Co. as a mechanical engineer in 1906. Director of Erie Railroad. He is the donor of the J. C. Donnell Memorial Stadium at Findlay, Ohio (1928) in honor of his father. Mason, 33° AASR (NJ).

Phil M. Donnelly Governor of Missouri two terms, 1944–48 and 1952–56. b. March 6, 1891 at Lebanon, Mo. Graduate of St. Louis Univ. and admitted to bar in 1912, practicing at Lebanon since that time. Served as prosecuting attorney of Laclede Co. and city attorney for Lebanon. He was elected to house of representatives in 1922 and the senate in 1924, being reelected in 1928, 1932, 1936 and 1940. He was twice president pro tern and twice Democratic floor leader of the senate. In 1929 and again in 1939 he was chairman of the Statute Revision Commission. A member of Laclede Lodge No. 83, he was exalted in Lebanon Chapter No. 64, R.A.M. on June 25, 1921, received into Zabud Council No. 25, R. & S.M. (Springfield) Nov. 16, 1921 and knighted in Lebanon Commandery No. 33, K.T. Nov. 29, 1921. He served as commander of his commandery in 1925 and was awarded the Distinguished Service citation by the Grand Commandery of Mo. in 1949. He is a Scottish Rite Mason and served as grand master of the Order of Odd Fellows of Mo.

John, 7th Earl of Donoughmore Succeeded his father the 6th Earl q.v. to the title on the latter's death in Oct., 1948. Resided at Knocklofty, near Clommel Co., Tipperary, the family seat. In 1952 he was installed master of Erin Lodge No. 2895, London. His father was the founder and second master of this lodge.

Richard, 2nd Baron and 1st Earl of Donoughmore (?–1813) Grand master of the Grand Lodge of Ireland from 1789 to 1813. This period was known as the “Donoughmore period” in Irish Masonic history due to the fine administration of the 1st Earl. He served as grand master for 24 years and it was through his efforts that the difficulties which beset the grand lodge were smoothed over.

Richard, 6th Earl of Donoughmore (?–1948) Grand master of the Grand Lodge of Ireland, 1913–48, a term of 35 years, which was the longest ever served by an Irish grand master. He was initiated in United Lodge No. 1629 in London at the age of 21. Later he joined Donoughmore Lodge, Clommel, in Ireland, became master and by the time he was 38 was chosen grand master of Ireland. The earldom was created in 1800 in favor of the holder of the barony of Donoughmore, dating back to 1783. Richard, 1st Earl q.v. became grand master of Ireland in 1789, serving until 1813. The earldom is of the Irish peerage with a contingent viscounty of Suirdale, held as courtesy by the heir to the earldom. To it was added in 1821 a viscounty of Hutchinson in the United Kingdom. d. Oct., 1948 and was succeeded in title by his son, John, 7th Earl q.v.

Herman L. Donovan President of University of Kentucky since 1941. b. March 17, 1887 at Maysville, Ky Degrees from Univ. of Kentucky, Columbia, Univ. of Chicago and George Peabody College. Honorary degrees from Georgetown College and Berea College. Was teacher, principal and superintendent of schools in various Kentucky cities. Is director of Kentucky Home Mutual Life Co. and served as Army psychologist in WW1. Mason.

Henry C. Dooling Brigadier General, U.S. Army Medical Corps. b. June 23, 1887 at Clayton, N.J. Received M.D. degrees from MedicoChirurgical College, Philadelphia in 1908. Practiced in Norwood, Pa. until 1917 when he entered Medical Corps and advanced through grades to brigadier general. Served as chief health officer of Panama Canal; in France during WW1; later assignments at Walter Reed, Gorgas and William Beaumont General Hospitals. Retired in 1947 and now medical director of state sanatorium, South Mountain, Pa. Mason.

Amos Doolittle (1754–1832) Early American engraver. b. in Cheshire, Conn., he was entirely self-taught, and after serving an apprenticeship with a silversmith, began business as an engraver in 1775. While a volunteer at Cambridge, he visited the battleground at Lexington and on his return to New Haven made an engraving of the action, his first attempt in that art. This is believed to have been the first historical engraving made in America. He engraved and designed many Masonic jewels and executed the engravings in Jeremy Cross' True Masonic Chart. He was raised July 20, 1792 in Hiram Lodge No. 1, New Haven, Conn. and was junior deacon in 1793. A member of Franklin Chapter No. 2, R.A.M., he was king in 1811; was principal conductor of Harmony Council No. 8 in 1819 and charter member of New Haven Commandery No. 2, K.T. in 1825. d. Jan. 31, 1832.

James H. Doolittle Famous aviator and Lieutenant General U.S. Air Force. He led the first bombing force on Japan proper in 1942. b. Dec. 14, 1896 at Alameda, Calif. Graduate of Univ. of California and Mass. Institute of Technology. Was U.S. Army aviator from 1917–30 when he resigned to manage aviation department of Shell Petroleum Corp. until 1940. In 1940 he accepted rank of major in Army Air Corps and rose to lieutenant general in 1944. Commanded 12th Air Force in North Africa; also commanded Strategic Air Force, 15th, 8th Air Forces. On inactive duty since 1946, he is at present vice president and director of Shell Oil Co. Awarded Congressional Medal of Honor. As a speed pilot he won the Schneider, Mackay, Harmon, Bendix and Thompson trophies. He received all three degrees in Hollenbeck Lodge No. 319, Los Angeles, Calif. on Aug. 16, 1918; 32° AASR (SJ) in San Diego Consistory on Dec. 14, 1918 and 33° on Oct. 19, 1945.

Dr. Karl Doppler Former grand master of the Grand Lodge of Austria. Doppler said he was approached by Himmler, chief- of Hitler's Gestapo who suggested that "I should draft a scheme for the foundation of a sort of Freemasonry exclusively confined to members of the elite only of Hitler's Storm Troop officers."

James D. Doty (1799–1865) Territorial Governor of Wisconsin and Utah. Accompanied General Lewis Cass q.v. on 4,000 mile canoe trip making treaties with Indians. As member of Michigan legislature he introduced a bill that led to the division of Michigan and creation of Wisconsin and Iowa territories. One of founders of present city of Madison, Wis. Governor of Wisconsin Territory 1841–44 and member of constitutional convention of 1846. Served three terms in U.S. congress. Named governor of Utah Territory by President Lincoln in 1864. It is stated that he was a Mason, but no record of his membership is available.

Stephen A. Douglas (1813–1861) U.S. Senator and Congressman from Illinois who gained fame by his debates with Abraham Lincoln. b. April 23, 1813 in Brandon, Vt. He was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1834 and practiced at Jacksonville. He was a judge of the Illinois supreme court in 1841 and a member of the U.S. house of representatives from 1843–47. As a U.S. senator (1847–61), he drafted the Kansas–Nebraska Bill in 1854 which left decision as to slavery to the territories themselves and thus caused bitter struggles. Defeated by Buchanan for Democratic nomination to presidency in 1856, he withdrew support from Buchanan in 1868 when he learned he would approve a pro-slavery constitution for Kansas. In campaign of 1858 he engaged with Abraham Lincoln in a series of platform debates on slavery, from which Lincoln emerged as a figure of national importance. Nominated for president by Democratic party in 1860 he was defeated by Lincoln. He loyally supported Lincoln's administration. A member of Springfield Lodge No. 4, Springfield, Ill., he was initiated June 11, 1840; passed June 24 and raised June 26, 1840. In October of the same year he was elected grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Illinois. In December of 1840 he was junior warden of his lodge, but resigned by letter. He was exalted in Quincy Chapter No. 3, R.A.M., Quincy, Ill. He had previously received the Mark Master degree in Springfield Chapter No. 1 on Aug. 22, 1842. In 1849 he attended each day of the grand lodge sessions. He was buried Masonically by request. A monument was dedicated to him Masonically at Chicago on Sept. 6, 1866 and Andrew Johnson q.v. attended as president. d. June 3, 1861.

Thomas C. Douglas Prime Minister of Saskatchewan. b. Oct. 20, 1904 in Falkirk, Scotland. Graduate of Brandon College (Manitoba) and McMaster Univ. (Ontario). Ordained to ministry of the Baptist church in 1930, he served in Weyburn, Sask. until 1935. He was a member of the Dominion house of commons from 1935–44, representing the constituency of Weyburn. He was premier of Saskatchewan in 1944; minister of public health of Sask., 1944–49; minister of cooperatives since 1949. Member of Weyburn Lodge No. 20, Weyburn.

William Alexander, Marquis of Douglas 60th Grand Master Mason of Scotland from 1833–34. He was later 11th Duke of Hamilton.

William O. Douglas Associate Justice, U.S. Supreme Court since 1939. b. Oct. 16, 1898 at Maine, Minn. Graduate of Whitman College (Wash.) and Columbia Univ. Admitted to New York bar in 1926 and practiced law in New York City until 1927. Member of law faculty at Columbia, 1925–28 and at Yale, 1928–34. Later with Yale Institute of Human Relations and U.S. dept. of commerce. Nominated to supreme court by President Roosevelt March 20, 1939. Served as a private in WW1. Member of Mt. Adams Lodge No. 227, Yakima, Wash.

Paul Doumer (1857–1932) 13th President of the Republic of France. b. in Aurillac, he was a deputy from 1888–95; minister of finance 1895–96; governor general of French Indo-China, 1897–1902; again deputy in 1902–12; president of the chamber of deputies, 1905–06; senator representing Corsica in 1912; cabinet member in 1917, 1921–22, 1925–26; president of the senate, 1927–31 and president of France, 1931–32. He was assassinated May 7, 1932 by Paul Gorgoulov, a Russian. He was initiated in Lodge L'Union Fraternelle of Paris on Dec. 1, 1897. He was one of the founders of Voltaire Lodge, also of Paris. It was reported in 1906 and again in 1931 that Doumer had severed his connections with Freemasonry, but each time he denied the rumor.

Lord Francis Doune 41st Grand Master Mason of Scotland 1796–97. Later 9th Earl of Moray.

John Dove (1792–1876) Early Virginia Masonic author and ritualist. b. Sept. 2, 1792 at Richmond, he received an extensive education in medicine but gave up his practice to devote himself to Freemasonry. He was raised in St. John's Lodge No. 36 at Richmond. He was exalted in Richmond Chapter No. 3, R.A.M. in 1814 and was knighted in 1818. In 1818 he was elected grand secretary of the Grand Chapter of Virginia and served as such 58 years. In 1846, he resigned as grand junior warden of the grand lodge to become its grand secretary and served until his death—42 years. He also served the Grand Commandery, K.T. of Virginia as grand recorder for 31 years. He received the 32° but declined the 33°. In May, 1843 he was chosen chairman of the Baltimore convention. This gathering was composed of representatives of grand lodges who had assembled to produce a more uniform ritual. He was Virginia's greatest authority on Masonic history and ritual and wrote much concerning both. d. Nov. 16, 1876 while the grand commandery was in session at Alexandria.

Howard M. Dow (1837–1912) Musician and composer. b. March 11, 1837 at Boston, Mass. Began music studies at age of seven under distinguished teachers. He was a church organist at 16 and continued for 52 years serving at South Congregational Church, Arlington St. Church, Unity Church and Second Unitarian Church. He could interpret the most difficult scores at sight and gained wide recognition as an accompanist for leading artists. He won national reputation in Masonic circles as an organist, composer and choir leader, his works being used in lodges throughout the country and Canada. He retired in 1905. Mason and author of The Masonic Orpheus. d. June 12, 1912.

Lorenzo Dow (1777–1834) Famous eccentric, itinerant preacher, who probably preached to more people than any other person of his time. b. Oct. 16, 1777 in Coventry, Conn. He was disturbed by religious speculations in his youth. Made an unsuccessful attempt for admission into Connecticut conference of Methodist church in 1796; was accepted two years later and in 1799 appointed to the Cambridge circuit, N.Y. He was later transferred to Pittsfield, Mass. and afterward to Essex, Vt., but remained there only briefly as he believed he had a driving call to preach to the Catholics of Ireland. He made two visits to Ireland and England in 1799 and 1805. His eccentric manners and eloquence drew large crowds. He introduced camp meetings into England, and the controversy about them resulted in the organization of the Primitive Methodists. In 1802 he preached in the Albany, N.Y. district against "atheism, deism, Calvinism and Universalism." He passed the years 1803 and 1804 in Alabama, delivering the first Protestant sermon in that state. In 1807 he extended his labors into Louisiana and followed the settlers to the extreme borders of civilization. After 1799 he had no official connection with the church, but continued to adhere to the Methodist doctrines. During his later years his efforts were more specially directed against the Jesuits, whom he regarded as dangerous enemies to religion and democracy. His mannerisms and mode of dress caused him to be called "Crazy Dow." His Masonic record was also unusual. He was initiated in St. Albans Lodge, Bristol, R.I. on Dec. 25, 1824. On the day following, which was Sunday, he preached in the Methodist Church; when the proposal was made to him to receive the Fellowcraft and Masters degree on the same day, he readily assented, saying there was nothing in the Masonic doctrine or practice that would forbid a God-loving creature from engaging in it on the Lord's Day—so he received the remainder of the lodge degrees that afternoon in time for him to hold evening church services. He was exalted in Washington Chapter No. 3, Portsmouth, N.H., Feb. 9, 1825. On June 11, 1827 he was present in Vincennes Chapter No. 7 (Ind.) as a visitor. His petition for affiliation was received, the by-laws were dispensed with and he was elected to membership, dues remitted and he was elected high priest of the chapter. On March 5, 1827 he was knighted in Lebanon

Commandery No. 2, Lebanon, Ohio. In his travels he was a constant visitor to lodges, chapters and commanderies. He died in Georgetown, D.C. Feb. 2, 1834 at the house of past master George W. Haller. Potomac Lodge interred his remains with Masonic honors in the Holmead's Burying Ground, North Washington.

Williard H. Dow (1897–1949) President of Dow Chemical Co. b. Jan. 4, 1897 at Midland, Mich. Began as a chemical engineer with Dow in 1919; director from 1922; assistant general manager, 1926–30; president from 1930; chairman of board 1941–47. Was also director of several other Dow corporations. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner. d. March 31, 1949.

Cassius C. Dowell (1864–1940) U.S. Congressman, 64th to 72nd Congresses (1915–33) and 73rd and 75th Congresses from Iowa. b. Feb. 29, 1864 near Summerset, Iowa. Degrees from Drake Univ. Admitted to bar in 1888 and practiced in Des Moines. Served three terms in Iowa's lower house and one term in senate. Mason. d. Feb. 4, 1940.

John Downes (1786–1855) Commodore, U.S. Navy in War of 1812. b. in Canton, Mass. he entered navy as a midshipman in 1802 and fought in the naval war with Tripoli. His first command in War of 1812 was captured ship Essex Junior. He served under Decatur q.v. who took him on his own ship the Guerriere. He commanded ships in the Pacific and Mediterranean and the Pacific Squadron from 1832–34. Afterwards he commanded the navy yard at Boston. A member of Rising Star Lodge at Stoughton, Mass. he was initiated

Oct. 23, passed, Nov. 20 and raised Dec. 4, all in 1806. d. Aug. 11, 1855.

John G. Downey (1827–?) Governor of California, 1860–62. b. June 24, 1827 in Castle Sampson, Roscommon, Ireland. He was a Roman Catholic whose ancestors included chiefs, bishops and abbots. Although a prominent member of the Catholic community in California his charities were not limited to that particular faith. Among other gifts, he donated land to the University of Southern California, a Methodist institution. He was educated in the national schools of Ireland and attended a Latin school in Maryland where he lived with his two sisters who desired that he become a priest. He was apprenticed to learn the drug business in Washington, D.C. and later operated drug stores in Vicksburg and Cincinnati, coming to California in 1849 by way of Panama. He landed in San Francisco with 10 dollars and a gold watch. He pawned the watch and went to Sacramento and Marysville where he tried his hand at mining. In 1850 he opened the first pharmacy in Los Angeles. Selling the drug store at a profit, he invested in land and accumulated about 75,000 acres, mostly city property, but also engaged in cattle and sheep business. He was a member of Los Angeles Lodge No. 42 and Los Angeles Chapter No. 33, R.A.M. Downey, Calif. is named for him. When Downey Lodge No. 220 was named in his honor, he presented it with a set of jewels still being worn by the officers. On May 15, 1861, he assisted in the Masonic laying of the cornerstone of the state capitol at Sacramento while governor.

Wall Doxey U.S. Senator and Congressman from Mississippi. b. Aug. 8, 1892 at Holly Springs, Miss. Degrees from Univ. of Mississippi. Admitted to bar in 1914 and practiced at Holly Springs. Served in 71st through 73rd congresses (1929–35) and later as U.S. senator. Raised in Holly Springs Lodge No. 35 October 25, 1920. Shrine.

Austin K. Doyle Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Nov. 7, 1898 at Staten Island, N.Y. Graduate of Naval Academy in 1919 and advanced through grades to rear admiral. He commanded Fighting Squadron Three, 1938–39; air group, U.S.S. Saratoga, 1939–40; U.S.S. Nassau, 1942–43; U.S.S. Hornet, 1944–45; commandant of naval base at Bermuda, 1943–44, and now chief of Naval air reserve training. Mason.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle (1859–1930) English physician, novelist and detective story writer who created the character of Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson. b. at Edinburgh, Scotland, he practiced medicine at South-sea from 1882–90 and then turned to writing. His novels include Micah Clarke, The White Company, The Refugees, The Great Shadow, Rodney Stone and Sir Negel. He is best known for his Sherlock Holmes stories which include: The Sign of the Four, Adventures of Sherlock Holmes, The Memoirs of Sherlock Holmes, The Hound of the Baskervilles and Return of Sherlock Holmes. He wrote several historical works including: The Great Boer War and History of The British Campaign in France and Flanders(in 6 volumes). In later years he became interested in spiritualism and wrote History of Spiritualism. He was raised in Phoenix Lodge No. 257, Portsmouth, in 1893.

Sir John Doyle (1756–1834) British General who served in American Revolution. b. In Dublin, Ireland, he graduated at Trinity College and entered the army. Was a lieutenant of light infantry at Boston in 1775. He served as adjutant at the battles of Long Island and Germantown and as captain of the volunteers of Ireland and later as major of a brigade at the capture of Charleston and in the battles of Camden and Hobkirk's Hill. Commanding a corps of light cavalry, he operated against General Marion in spring of 1781, destroying his camp on Snow Island, but was pursued by Marion and escaped with the loss of his baggage. He served in Holland in 1794 and in 1796 was made a colonel and soon afterward appointed secretary of war in Ireland. He served as brigadier general with Abercrombie in Egypt in 1800 and was made a baronet in 1805, and a full general in 1819. He was appointed as deputy grand master of the United Grand Lodge in 1822 by H.R.H. the Duke of Sussex q.v. He was initiated May 2, 1792 as a major in the Prince of Wales Lodge No. 259. This lodge had been formed five years earlier by George, Prince of Wales (afterwards George IV q.v.) for the use of his personal entourage. d. Aug. 8, 1834.

John P. Doyle Brigadier General, U.S. Air Force. b. Oct. 1, 1904 at Washington, D.C. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1926, advancing through grades to brigadier general in 1944. He commanded the Far East Air Material Command and is now director of transportation, Hdqrs., U.S.A.F. Raised in Pythagoras Lodge No. 123, Baltimore, Md. in July, 1926. 32° AASR (SJ) in San Jose, Calif.

James C. Dozier Soldier and Congressional Medal of Honor winner in WW1. b. Feb. 17, 1885 at Galivants Ferry, S.C. Employed by Butler Brothers in New York City in 1908 and later with National Union Bank, Rock Hill, S.C. He served as secretary of State Board of Public Welfare and adjutant general of South Carolina. He served on Mexican border in 1916 and as a lieutenant won the Medal of Honor being cited "for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty." He single-handedly wiped out a machine gun nest with hand grenades and a pistol and took a number of prisoners. The motion picture The Price of Peace shows Lt. Dozier in the act of charging the machine gun nest. It was made under the auspices of the U.S. government. Mason.

George L. Draffan President of Ohio Brass Co. since 1946. b. March 1, 1898 at Buffalo, N.Y. With Ohio Brass since 1916, first as a copywriter, sales, general sales manager, vice president. Also president of Canadian Ohio Brass Co. Vice president, director of Richland Hotel Co. and director and officer in several other corporations. Mason.

Francis Drake (1695–1770) English antiquary, historian and grand master of the Grand Lodge of All England in 1761. He was historian of "The City and Cathedral Church of York" published in 1736 and was elected a fellow of the Royal Society in June, 1736. On Sept. 6, 1725 he was admitted into the "Antient Society of Free-Masons" at the Star Inn, Stone-gate, York and the following Dec. 27th was appointed junior grand warden. In that year he delivered an important speech containing early references to the three craft degrees of Entered Apprentice, Fellow Craft and Master Mason.

Francis M. Drake (1830–1903) Governor of Iowa, 1896–98. b. Dec. 30, 1830 at Rushville, Ill. Moved with family to Ft. Madison, Ia. and from there to Davis Co. where they founded the village of Drakeville. Crossed the western plains twice, the first time had a severe encounter with Pawnee Indians and on the second decided to return by water and was wrecked on the steamer Yankee Blade and lost in the Pacific. Served in Civil War from private to brvt. brigadier general. After war practiced law and engaged in railroad and banking enterprises at Centerville and Albia. He liberally endowed Drake Univ. at Des Moines and was president of board of trustees. He was a member of Unionville Lodge No. 119, Unionville, Iowa where his name appears as secretary and junior warden in the early sixties. He was admitted a member of Jackson Lodge No. 42, Centerville on March 30, 1866.

Herbert J. Drane (1863–1947) U.S. Congressman, 65th to 72nd Congresses (1917–33) from 1st Florida dist.; founder of city of Lakeland, Fla. b. June 20, 1863 in Franklin, Ky. Went to Florida in 1883 as a railroad builder and later engaged in fire insurance, real estate and orange growing. Served in both houses of the Florida legislature. Drane Field, U.S. Army air base at Lakeland is named in his honor. Mason and 32° AASR (SJ). d. Aug. 12, 1947.

William F. Draper (1842–1910) Union Brigadier General in Civil War and U.S. Ambassador to Italy, 1897–1900. b. April 9, 1842 at Lowell, Mass. Enlisted in the 25th Mass. in 1861 and served through war. Following war he engaged in manufacture of cotton machinery. Served as U.S. congressman 1892–97. Member of Montgomery Lodge at Milford, Mass.

John Drayton (1766–1822) Governor of South Carolina, 1800–02 and 1808–10. Educated at Princeton and in England, he was admitted to the bar and practiced at Charleston. Elected lieutenant governor in 1798. While governor in 1801, he used his influence for the establishment of South Carolina College. Was appointed by President Madison as U.S. judge for the district of S.C., serving until his death. A past master of Lodge No. 8 at Charleston, he was elected grand master of the Grand Lodge of South Carolina on Dec. 14, 1799 and had the distinction of serving as governor and grand master at the same time. d. Nov. 22, 1822.

Louis Dreller Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. March 6, 1897 at Portsmouth, N.H. Degrees from Univ. of New Hampshire and attended postgraduate school at U.S. Naval Academy. M.A. from Columbia. Commissioned ensign in 1918 and served in WW1, advancing through grades to rear admiral in 1946. Service included sea duty on battleships, destroyers, aircraft carriers. Engineering specialist. In WW2 he was attached to Scouting Force Staff and production of Philadelphia Navy Yard. He commanded Pearl Harbor Naval Shipyard in 1946–48 and has been chief of industrial survey for secretary of Navy since 1948. Mason. Member of Faith Lodge, Charleston, Mass. AASR membership in Washington, D.C.

Frank G. Drew (1872–1928) President of Winchester Repeating Arms Co. from 1924. b. Dec. 1, 1872 at Philadelphia, Pa. Was in wholesale hardware business at Philadelphia from 1887–1903 at which time he went with the Winchester Co. Served in Spanish–American War as captain. Mason. d. Oct., 1928.

John Drew (1825–1862) Actor. b. Sept. 3, 1825 in Dublin, Ireland. He made his first appearance on the stage at the Bowery Theatre in New York in 1845 as Dr. O'Toole in The Irish Tutor. After acting for several seasons in Albany, N.Y. he went to Philadelphia where he was a favorite, appearing there for the first time at the Chestnut Street Theatre on Aug. 28, 1852 as Trapanti in She Would and She Would Not. Became manager of Arch Street Theatre in Philadelphia in 1853. After acting throughout the U.S. he visited England in 1855 and Australia in 1859. Returning to this country in 1862 he made his last appearance on May 9, 1862, dying 12 days later. He was considered the best Irish comedian on the American stage. He was a member of Phoenix Lodge No. 130 of Philadelphia (May 18, 1853) and was buried Masonically.

Richard C. Drum (1825–?) Brigadier General in Civil War. b. May 28, 1825 in Pennsylvania, he entered the army as a private in the 1st Pa. Volunteers in 1846. He was at the siege of Vera Cruz and the Battle of Chapultepec. Following the Mexican War he transferred to artillery and fought in various Indian encounters of the western plains. From 1856–58 he was acting assistant adjutant general of the Department of the West and at the beginning of the Civil War was named assistant adjutant-general of the U.S. Army. After the war he continued in army service and was adjutant general of the army from 1880. Member of Oriental Lodge No. 144, San Francisco, Calif.

Josiah Hayden Drummond (1827–1902) Lawyer, politician, Masonic writer. b. Aug. 30, 1827 at Winslow, Maine. He was admitted to the bar and practiced at Portland. He was a member of the Maine lower house and speaker of same in 1858 and 1869; state senator in 1859 and attorney general of Maine from 1860–64. He was a director of the Maine Central Railroad from 1865 as well as a director of the Union Mutual Life Insurance Co. Raised in Waterville Lodge No. 33, Jan. 1, 1849, he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Maine in 1860; grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Maine in 1866 and grand commander of the Grand Commandery, K.T. of Maine in 1878. He went on to head three national Masonic bodies, being general grand high priest of the General Grand Chapter, general grand master of the General Grand Council R. & S.M. and served for 12 years (1867–79) as sovereign grand commander of the Northern Scottish Rite. He was chairman of the Maine committee on correspondence for 35 years. The Grand Lodge of Maine presents the Josiah Hayden Drummond medal in his honor. Wrote Masonic Text Book for Use in Lodges and History of Masonic Jurisprudence. d. Oct. 25, 1902.

William J. Duane (1780–1865) Secretary of the Treasury in 1833 but removed by Jackson when he refused to withdraw government deposits from United States Bank. Was on staff of his father's newspaper Aurora in Philadelphia and became a well known lawyer. Initiated in St. John's Lodge No. 115 of Philadelphia on Dec. 3, 1811 and withdrew Dec. 7, 1814.

Fernard Dubief (1850–1916) French Minister of Commerce and also Minister of Interior. Said by bulletin of International Masonic Congress (1917) to be a Freemason.

Fred T. Dubois (1851–1930) First U.S. Senator from Idaho, 1891–97 and 1901–07. b. May 29, 1851 in Crawford Co., Ill. Graduate of Yale in 1872. He went to Idaho in 1880 and was U.S. marshal from 1882–86. He was active in the anti-Mormon agitation. Served in 50th and 51st congresses (1887–91) and was instrumental in securing admission of Idaho to statehood in 1890. A delegate to three Republican national conventions, he withdrew from party when they adopted gold-standard platform. Became a Democrat and was in charge of Champ Clark's q.v. presidential campaign in 1912. Member of Portneuf Lodge No. 18, Pocatello, Idaho. d. Feb. 14, 1930.

P. Francois Duburg First grand master of the Grand Lodge of Louisiana at the same time his brother was Abbe Duburg, Catholic Archbishop, stationed at the St. Louis Cathedral and in charge of the New Orleans diocese. The abbe welcomed General Andrew Jackson q.v. at the door of the cathedral and conducted him into the edifice to attend the Mass that was said in honor of the victory of the Battle of New Orleans.

Edward A. Ducker (1870–1946) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Nevada. b. Feb. 26, 1870 at Visalia, Calif. Admitted to Nevada bar in 1902 and practiced at Winnemucca. He served as a supreme court justice from 1918, being chief justice in 1923, 1924, 1929, 1930, 1935, 1936, 1941 and 1942. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Nevada in 1925; grand high priest, Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Nevada, 1927–28; grand commander, Grand Commandery, K.T. of Nevada in 1941. Member of Red Cross of Constantine. d. Aug. 14, 1946.

William H. Duckworth Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Georgia since 1948. b. Oct. 21, 1894 at Blairsville, Ga. Admitted to bar in 1919 and practiced at Cairo. Mason.

Elie Ducommun (1833–1906) Swiss founder of International Bureau of Peace at Bern, 1891. Received the Nobel peace prize in 1902. He was grand master of the Swiss grand lodge from 1890–95.

Benjamin W. Dudley (1785–1870) Noted surgeon. b. April 12, 1785 in Spottsylvania Co., Va., he studied at Transylvania Univ. and was graduated in the medical department of the Univ. of Pennsylvania in 1806. From 1810–14 he studied in Europe under several famous physicians and settled in Lexington, Ky. on his return to this country. He achieved the reputation of being the most successful surgeon west of the Alleghenies. He operated for gall stones 225 times, losing but six patients. In England he was declared to be “the lithotomist of the 19th century.” He was active in the organization of the medical department of Transylvania Univ. and for many years held professorships in anatomy and surgery. Member of Lexington Lodge No. 1. d. Jan. 20, 1870.

Charles E. Dudley (1780–1841) U.S. Senator from New York, 1829–33. The Anti-Masonic Enquirer of Rochester, N.Y. on Jan. 20, 1829 stated that he was a Mason and master of a lodge. No other verification can be found.

James H. Duff Governor of Pennsylvania, term starting 1946. b. Jan. 21, 1883 at Mansfield, Pa. Graduate of Princeton and Univ. of Pittsburgh. Practiced law from 1907–43 when he became attorney general of Pennsylvania on the latter date. Member of Lodge No. 652.

Sir Robert William Duff Governor of New South Wales from 1893–95, serving as grand master of the United Grand Lodge of New South Wales at the same time.

Benjamin L. Dulaney (1857–1930) Financier who developed the Black Mountain Coal Field in Virginia and Kentucky (1890–1914) and was a founder of the Boy Scouts of America and its vice president for 14 years from its origin in America. b. Sept. 11, 1857 in Blountville, Tenn. Taught school for two years. Built Bristol (Tenn.) Iron Furnace and Bristol, Elizabethton & Carolina R.R., 1880–90; organized Va. & S.W. Railroad and Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Co. Succeeded in making Charleston, S.C. a coal loading port for all southeastern coal mines. Mason. d. March 4, 1930.

George W. Dulany, Jr. Organizer in 1916 of the Society for Prevention of Calling Sleeping Car Porters “George.” It grew to 40,000 members! Graduate of Phillips Academy and Yale. A civil engineer, he organized the Eclipse Lumber Co. in Minneapolis and moved it to Clinton, Iowa in 1910. Also president of Fullerton Minerals Co. and Gulf Lumber Co. A director of 13 other corporations. Served as a seaman in the Spanish American War and with U.S. Army in WW1 with 34th Division. Raised in Winona Lodge No. 18, Winona, Minn. about 1900 and is 50-year-member. Between 1912–15, he was a member of chapter, council and commandeer in Clinton, Iowa. Received 32° AASR in Winona and later demitted to DeMolay Consistory in Clinton. Member of Kaaba Shrine Temple at Davenport, Ia.

Walter A. Dumas (1893–1952) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Nov. 25, 1893 at Sherman, Texas. Graduate B.S. and M.A. from Davidson (N.C.) College and several Army service schools. Commissioned in 1917 and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1943. With Siberian A.E.F. in 1919–20 and Philippines 1920–22. Later instructor at Fort Benning, Ga. and U.S. Military Academy. Commanded 317th Infantry and in 1942–43 commanded Tank Destroyer Replacement Training Center. Was with general staff overseas in 1943 in South Pacific. With MacArthur's general staff Far East Command from 1945–47 and retired for disability in 1947. Mason, Knight Templar, Shriner and National Sojourner. d. Sept. 11, 1952.

Patrick, 5th Earl of Dumfries 28th Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1771–72.

Jean Henri Dunant (1828–1910) Swiss philanthropist and founder of the Red Cross. Inspired by compassion of witnessing the Battle of Solferino in Northern Italy (1859) in which casualties totaled 50,000, he labored for the creation of an organization to aid wounded soldiers and succeeded in bringing about a conference at Geneva in 1863 from which came the Geneva Convention of 1864 and the establishment of the International Red Cross. With Frederick Passy, he shared the first Nobel peace prize in 1901. He devoted his entire fortune to charity. A Mason.

Clarence M. Dunbar (1871–?) Imperial Potentate of Shrine. b. Oct. 29, 1871 in Wakefield, Mass. Raised in Bristol Lodge, Attleboro, Mass., Nov. 19, 1896; Royal Arch in King Hiram Chapter Oct. 13, 1898; knighted in Bristol Commandery No. 29, Feb. 1, 1902, all of Attleboro. 32° AASR (NJ) in Rhode Island Consistory June 23, 1908; member of Palestine Shrine Temple at Providence, R.I., March 3, 1903 and elected imperial potentate of Shrine June 15, 1927. Deceased.

James W. Dunbar (1860–1943) U.S. Congressman, 66th, 67th and 71st Congresses from 3rd Indiana dist. b. Oct. 17, 1860 at New Albany, Ind. Began with New Albany Gas Co. as a street gas lamp lighter in 1872 and became vice president of same, resigning in 1918. He was secretary of the American Gas Institute, 1906–08 and president of the Indiana Gas Association, 1908–10. Served as grand master of the Grand Lodge of Indiana, 1902–03. d. May 18, 1943.

Ulric S. J. Dunbar (1862–1927) Sculptor. b. Jan. 31, 1862 at London, Ont., Canada. Professionally engaged as a sculptor from 1880. Did figures for Atlanta, Buffalo, St. Louis, San Diego and San Francisco expositions for which he received medals and di-plomas. He executed over 150 portrait busts, principally of prominent men for U.S. Capitol, Corcoran Gallery of Art, Washington state capitol, St. Paul Union Club, American Museum of Natural History, etc. Mason. d. May 7, 1927.

James Duncan (1857–1928) Labor leader. b. May 5, 1857 in Kincardine Co., Scotland. Was a granite cutter from 1873. President of the Granite Cutters' International Assn. from 1895 he successfully struck for 8-hour workday in 1900. In 1894 he was elected vice president of the American Federation of Labor and 1st vice president from 1902. Represented the American labor movement to British Trades Congress in England, 1898; represented A.F. of L. at International Secretariat Conference at Budapest in 1911; appointed diplomatic envoy extraordinary to Russia in 1917 and member of American Labor Mission to Peace Conference, Paris, 1919. Mason. d. Sept. 14, 1928.

Thomas Dunckerley (1724–1795) The most famous English Freemason of the 18th century. b. Oct. 23, 1724 the natural son of King George II and Mary Dunckerley. His birth was kept secret from George II, but he was recognized by George III and pensioned. At the age of 10 he ran away to sea and served with distinction in the Royal Navy for 36 years, attaining the rank of warrant officer–gunner. In 1774 he was admitted to the bar. He was initiated on Jan. 10, 1754 at Three Tuns Lodge No. 31 of Portsmouth. Four years before leaving the naval service he obtained a warrant for a lodge to be held aboard the Vanguard, the ship on which he was serving. In 1761 he was assigned to the Prince, and as a lodge was warranted to be held aboard that ship in 1762, there can be no doubt that Dunckerley was responsible. In 1764 the lodge is recorded as being held on the HMS Guadeloupe, in which vessel Dunckerley sailed for the Mediterranean. Later the lodge was brought by him to London and was recorded as meeting at Somerset House in the Strand, which was then used as a home for pensioners of the Crown. The following year it is described as Somerset House Lodge meeting at the "Kings Arms" in New Bond Street. In 1768 the lodge which had been held aboard the Vanguard was revived in London with Dunckerley as first master. Today it is known as the London Lodge No. 108, meeting in Prince's Restaurant, Piccadilly. Dunckerley's attention to business is attested to by the minutes of No. 108 in March, 1769 when the minutes recorded "It was unanimously agreed, that the Company would be better entertained with a few promiscuous songs from the Brethren than by any lecture or further proceedings of Masonry." In 1767 he was a joining member of the present Lodge of Friendship No. 6, where he frequently presided at the meetings and in 1785 was responsible for forming a lodge at Hampton Court, now Lodge of Harmony No. 255. In 1787 he was elected a member of the Prince of Wales Lodge No. 259. While serving aboard the Vanguard Dunckerley held a commission from the grand lodge to inquire into the state of the Craft wherever he might be, and while at Quebec in 1760, he installed Col. Simon Frasier q.v. as provincial grand master of Canada. In 1767 Dunckerley was appointed provincial grand master of Hampshire. In 1776 he was named provincial grand master of Essex and at different times had charge of the provinces of Bristol, Dorsetshire, Gloucestershire, Somersetshire and Herefordshire. In the Royal Arch he had even wider authority, supervising as many as 18 different counties. He did more to extend Royal Arch Masonry than any other man of his time. In 1791 he was the first grand master of the Knights Templar in England. Although his pension had been increased from ~£100 a year to ~£800, he died in poverty at Portsmouth in 1795.

Thomas Dundas (see Earl of Zetland)

Frank C. Dunham Rear Admiral, U.S.A. Navy. b. Sept. 8, 1891 at North Bennington, Vt. Graduate of Norwich and Harvard Universities and various service schools. Commissioned in 1917, he advanced through grades to rear admiral in 1949. Mason and National Sojourner.

George C. Dunham Major General, U.S. Army Medical Corps. b. July 27, 1887 at Mitchell, S.D. Medical degrees from Univ. of Oregon and Johns Hopkins. Began practice of medicine in 1914 and entered Army Medical Corps in 1916, advancing to major general in 1944 and retiring in 1945. Commanded Army hospitals in WW1 and later taught in Army Medical School and was chief of preventive medicine of Medical Field Service School. From 1931–35 was advisor on public health to governor general of Philippines. Director of Army Medical School in 1939–40 and president of Institute of Inter-American Affairs 1943–45. Mason.

Daniel Dunklin (1790–1844) Fifth Governor of Missouri. b.

Jan. 14, 1790 in Greenville, S.C. His family moved to Caldwell Co., Ky. in 1806. When the father died in 1810 the family removed to Ste. Genevieve, Mo., remaining there but two months and then purchasing a farm near Potosi. Here Dunklin enlisted under General Dodge q.v. and served through three campaigns against the British and Indians. At conclusion of war, in 1815, he was appointed sheriff of Washington Co. by his friend, General William Clark q.v. He established the Potosi Academy and donated 500 books to start a library. From 1822–23 he represented the county in the state legislature, served as lieutenant governor and in 1832 was elected governor. He is often called the father of Missouri's public school system and labored tirelessly to establish the system on a sound basis. He forced the issue before the legislature in 1834 and bluntly told them that public schools must be established. The legislature passed it and President Jackson q.v. wrote him: "This is your bid for eternal fame." He resigned from governorship three months before the end of his term and was appointed surveyor general for Missouri and Illinois. Among other things he recommended on Nov. 18, 1834, that a site for the state university be established. Even after his retirement he urged support of the school system. In 1840 he moved to Herculaneum where he purchased a large tract of land and established his home. He farmed for three years and in 1843 was named commissioner representing Missouri to adjust the boundary line between that state and Arkansas. It is not known where he received his degrees, but undoubtedly in Missouri—probably at Potosi where a lodge had been established in 1816 by the Grand Lodge of Kentucky. On April 7, 1825 a lodge was chartered at Caledonia, Mo. and his name appears in the minutes of Tyro Lodge even before he was reported as affiliated. He attended grand lodge in 1825 and 1826 and was a steward of Tyro Lodge No. 12 in 1826 and junior warden in 1828. He attended grand lodge in 1831 and was again listed as junior warden. Lodge records indicate he served as master pro tern on many occasions. d. Aug. 25, 1844.

John Dunlap (1747–1812) American printer and patriot who first printed the Declaration of Independence. b. in Strabane, Ireland and when a boy went to live with an uncle, William Dunlap, a printer and publisher in Philadelphia. In 1771 he began the publication of the Pennsylvania Packet. This paper was changed into a daily in 1784, the first in the United States. It afterwards became the North American and United States Gazette. He was appointed printer to congress and in this capacity first printed the Declaration of Independence. He was an officer in the first troop of Philadelphia cavalry which became the bodyguard of Washington at Trenton and Princeton. In 1780 he gave £4,000 to supply provisions to the Revolutionary Army. Member of Lodge No. 2, Philadelphia. d. Nov. 27, 1812.

Robert P. Dunlap (1796–1859) Governor of Maine, 1834–38 and U.S. Congressman 1842–47. b. Aug. 15, 1796 in Brunswick, Maine. Graduated at Bowdoin in 1815 and admitted to bar in 1818. When he inherited a fortune, he gave up his law practice. He was a member of the lower house of Maine in 1821–22 and of the state senate in 1823 and its president in 1827–29 and again in 1831–33. He was made a Mason in United Lodge of Topsham, now No. 8 of Brunswick on Jan. 9, 1816 and was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Maine in 1830. In 1820 he was corresponding grand secretary. Received his capitular degrees in Newburyport, Mass. in Feb., 1816 and on Dec. 7, 1819 became charter member and first high priest of Montgomery Chapter No. 2 at Bath, Me. He was grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Maine in 1823 and president of the Council of High Priesthood. He served as general grand high priest of the General Grand Chapter of the United States for nine years (1847–56). He was the first grand master of the Grand Council, R. & S.M. of Maine and the first resident of Maine to receive the degrees of the Scottish Rite. He organized Scottish Rite Masonry in Maine, bringing a charter to Brunswick in 1851. In 1851 he was first active member of the Supreme Council from Maine. He was knighted in Maine Commandery No. 1, Feb. 9, 1824 and was prelate of the commandery in 1847–49. d. Oct. 20, 1859.

William Dunlap (1766–1839) American painter, playwright and historian. b. in Perth Amboy, N.J. Studied under Benjamin West in London. Began portrait painting in 1777. In 1783 he finished portrait of Washington. In 1789 The Father, one of his best plays were produced on the stage. He wrote, translated or adopted 63 plays and is sometimes called “father of American Drama.” Bankruptcy ended his management of a New York theatre in 1805 and he returned to painting. He is a founder of the National Academy of Design in 1826. He wrote History of the American Theatre and History of the Rise and Progress of the Arts of Design in the United States. Member of Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City. d. Sept. 28, 1839.

Harvey Dunn Artist. b. March 8, 1884 at Manchester, S.D. Has been magazine illustrator since 1906 for leading publications. Also painted murals and portraits. Was official artist with A.E.F. in WW1. Mason.

James E. C. Dunne Publisher. b. Aug. 31, 1891 at Louisville, Ky. Practiced law and served as a judge in 1907–11. Founded American Insurance Digest, Chicago in 1920. Purchased The Insurance Index of London and New York in 1930. Publisher of Dunne's Reports since 1931. Cited by Knights of Columbus for defense of that order in Massachusetts, 1949. Raised in Parkland Lodge No. 638, Louisville, Ky. in Feb., 1913. Member of King Solomon Chapter No. 5, R.A.M. and DeMolay Commandery No. 12, K.T., both of Louisville. 32° AASR (SJ) in Louisville and founder of High Twelve Club No. 1 in Louisville.

John W. Dunsmore (1856–1945) Artist. b. Feb. 29, 1856 near Oxford, Ohio. Studied art in U.S. and Paris. Director of Detroit Museum of Art, 1888–90, Detroit School of Arts, 1890–94. Specialized in historical subjects. Exhibited in U.S., England and France. Is represented in National Academy of Design, New York Historical Society, Cincinnati Museum of Art and others. Member of Puritan Lodge No. 185, Hoboken, N.J. d. Sept. 30, 1945.

Louis E. C. M. Duparty (?–1851) Author of a number of Masonic songs in the Annales Maconniques. In 1810 he collaborated in a comic opera entitled Cagliostro ou les Illumines. In 1818 he published a Masonic tale entitled l'Harmonie.

Became a member of the French Academy in 1835.

Peter Stephen (Etienne) Du Ponceau (1760–1844)

Lawyer and writer. b. at St. Martain, Ille de Re, France and accompanied Baron von Steuben q.v. to America as his secretary in 1777. He served in the American Revolution as aide-de-camp to Steuben from 1777–79. He became a naturalized citizen in Pennsylvania in 1781 and was admitted to the bar in 1785. He practiced in Philadelphia. His writings include legal and historical works and treatises on philology, including original studies of various North American Indian languages. He petitioned Lodge No. 2, Philadelphia on Feb. 14, 1782, was elected April 9, 1782 and probably received the first two degrees on August 14, 1782. On that date reference is made “paid the remainder of his fees,” but no reference of Master Mason degree.

Victor Marie DuPont (1767–1827) Diplomat and industrialist. b. in Paris, France, he was in the U.S. as attache of the French legation from 1787 to 1789. From that year until 1792 he was aide-de-camp to Lafayette. He was second secretary of the French legation from 1791–92 and first secretary 1795–96. In 1800 he became naturalized and settled in the U.S. His mercantile business V. du Pont de Nemours & Co. in New York failed as did a land development project in 1809. He then became manager of his brother Irenee’s woolen mills near Wilmington, Del., but was unsuccessful. He became a director of the Bank of the United States at Philadelphia. He was one of the original petitioners for Lafayette Lodge No. 14, Wilmington, whose charter was granted Jan. 17, 1825.

Although his original membership is not known, he signed a petition for the establishment of a lodge at Angelica, N.Y. Jan. 9, 1808. He was admitted into Washington Lodge No. 1 of Del. on April 1, 1813 and demitted Sept. 4, 1817 and elected to membership in Temple Lodge No. 11 on Feb. 11, 1819. In 1819 he was grand marshal of the Grand Lodge of Delaware and in 1825 was grand treasurer. d. Jan. 30, 1827.

Henry Fowle Durant (1822–1881) Founder of Wellesley College in Mass. His original name was Henry Welles Smith, which he changed because it was too common. b. at Hanover, N.H., he practiced law at Lowell from 1843–48 and at Boston, Mass. 1848–63. Affected by the death of his young son, he gave up law and became a lay preacher and conducted revival meetings in Mass. and N.H. In 1870 he founded Wellesley College and served as treasurer until 1881. His lodge is not known, but he was exalted in St. Andrew's Royal Arch Chapter of Boston on June 1, 1852.

Winfield T. Durbin (1847–1928) Governor of Indiana 1901–05. b. May 4, 1847 at Lawrenceburg, Ind. Served as colonel in 161st Indiana Regiment in Spanish–American War. Banker and interested in public utilities (gas) company. Became a member of Ancient Landmark Lodge No. 319, Indianapolis on Feb. 21, 1871. Made a Royal Arch Mason in 1875; Knight Templar in 1877 and became grand commander of the Grand Commandery of Indiana. Received 33° AASR (NJ) in 1899 and made emeritus member of Supreme Council in Sept., 1928. d. Dec. 18, 1928.

Albrecht Durer (1471–1528) German painter and engraver who is regarded as the leader of the German renaissance school of painting. He studied under Wohlgrmuth and was court painter for emperors Maximilian I and Charles V. He is regarded as the inventor of etching. One of his copper plate engravings entitled Melancholy has been suggested as Masonic in origin and indicates that Durer was familiar with the fraternity at the time, and possibly a member of the Nuremberg lodge. It was at this time that Emperor Maximilian was patron and honorary member of the lodge and Durer being court painter would likely to have been associated with that lodge.

Carl T. Durham U.S. Congressman, 76 to 80th Congresses (1939–49). b. Aug. 28, 1892 at Chapel Hill, N.C. He is a pharmacist at Chapel Hill from 1912. Raised in University Lodge No. 408 in 1919. Served as junior warden and was treasurer of lodge for 20 years.

Earl E. Dusenbery General Grand High Priest, General Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons. b. March 20, 1888 near Oskaloosa, Iowa, his family being Iowa pioneers. He served for three years as deputy clerk of Mahaska Co., Iowa and then entered the flour business, being a flour salesman for thirteen years before organizing a flour brokerage company under his own name. His company confines its sales to direct carload shipments. Raised May 17, 1912 in Tri Luminar Lodge, Oskaloosa, Ia. he demitted as a charter member of New Century Lodge No. 656 at Des Moines in 1945 and served as master in 1947. Exalted in Corinthian Chapter No. 14, R.A.M. of Des Moines in 1923 he served as grand high priest of Iowa, 1934–36. He served as general grand high priest from 1948–51. He is a member of Alpha Council No. 11, R.S.M. and Temple Commandery No. 4, K.T., both of Des Moines and has served all bodies as presiding officer. In 1956 he served as national head of the Knights of the York Cross of Honour. He is a 32° AASR (SJ), member of Za–Ga–Zig Shrine Temple, Red Cross of Constantine (past sovereign), Royal Order of Scotland, Knight Templar Priests, Allied Masonic Degrees, and Knights Beneficent of the Holy City. Holds many honorary grand chapter memberships.

John P. Duval (1790–1855) Secretary of the Territory of Florida. b. June 3, 1790 in Richmond, Va. he was a brother of William P. Duval q.v. governor of Florida. Admitted to Virginia bar in 1811, serving in War of 1812 as captain. He migrated to Florida Territory where his brother was governor, but as the climate was detrimental to his health he moved to Bardstown, Ky. where he remained until 1836 when he organized volunteer forces during the war between Texas and Mexico. Held rank of brigadier general with Texas militia. He returned to Florida as secretary of the territory and gained a high reputation there as a lawyer, writing a digest of the laws of Florida in 1840. He was for a time acting governor of the state. A member of Jackson Lodge No. 1 at Tallahassee, he was first grand master of the Grand Lodge of Florida in 1830. A member of Fayette Chapter No. 26, Middleburg, Va. he later became member of Florida Chapter No. 32 chartered by Virginia in 1827 and served as grand high priest of Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Florida.

William P. Duval (1784–1854) Governor of Territory of Florida from 1822–1834. Admitted to Kentucky bar, he practiced at Bardstown until 1822 when he was named territorial governor by President Monroe. He was continued by presidents Adams and Jackson. He served in the War of 1812 against the Indians and was elected to U.S. congress from Kentucky from 1813–15. His life and character has been portrayed in history by James K. Paulding as “Nimrod Wildfire” and Washington Irving, who drew from him the character of “Ralph Ringwood.” His brother, John Pope Duval q.v. was at one time secretary of the territory of Florida. Duval was a member of Jackson Lodge No. 1 (then No. 23), Tallahassee in 1829 and assisted in the formation of the Grand Lodge of Florida in 1830 (his brother was first grand master). He was raised Aug. 13, 1804 in Washington Lodge No. 6, Bardstown, Ky. and served as senior warden of the same in 1816. He was an honorary member of Florida Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. at Tallahassee. Duval signed the treaty with James Gadsden q.v. for the United States with the Indians which defined certain areas into which the Indians were to remove. d. March 19, 1854.

Henry C. Dworshak U.S. Senator from Idaho. Elected 1946, 50, 54. b. Aug. 29, 1894 at Duluth, Minn. Learned printing trade at Duluth and became manager of printer's supply business in Duluth from 1920–24 and later worked in the mechanical and editorial departments of several newspapers. From 1924–44 he published the Burley (Idaho) Bulletin. He was U.S. congressman to 76th to 79th U.S. congresses (1939–47) from Idaho 2nd dist. Served overseas with U.S. Army in WW1. Received his degrees in Lakeside Lodge No. 281, Duluth, Minn. in 1923. Now member of Burley Lodge No. 68, Burley, Idaho. 33° AASR (SJ) at Boise and member of El Korah Shrine Temple, Boise, Idaho.

Elisha Dyer (1839–1906) 41st Governor of Rhode Island, 1897–1900, serving three terms. b. Nov. 28, 1839 at Providence, R.I. Served in Marine Corps during Civil War. He served in both houses of Rhode Island and was made adjutant general of the state in 1882, retiring as brigadier general in 1895. There was also an Elisha Dyer who was the 22nd governor of Rhode Island. Member of St. John's Lodge No. 1 of Providence, Providence Chapter No. 1, R.A.M., St. John's Commandery, Aleppo Shrine Temple and 33° AASR (NJ).

10,000 FAMOUS FREEMASONS

By

WH.LIAM R. DENSLOW

Volume II

E-J

Foreword by

HARRY S. TRUMAN, P.G.M.

Past Master, Missouri Lodge of Research

Published by Macoy Publishing
& Masonic Supply Co., Inc.
Richmond, Virginia

Copyright, 1957,
William R. Denslow

E

Henry P. Eames (1872–1950) Pianist and lecturer. b. Sept. 12, 1872 in Chicago, Ill. Studied in U.S. and abroad under private teachers including Madam Clara Schumann and Ignace Paderewski. Graduate of Northwestern U. in 1894. He established the Omaha School of Music and was connected with the musical departments of several schools including U. of Nebr., Illinois Wesleyan U.; U. of Calif.; U. of Hawaii; U. of N. Mex. Published over 30 songs and choruses. Made 14 annual concert–lecture tours of America and several abroad. Member of Lancaster Lodge No. 54, Lincoln, Nebr., receiving degrees on March 13, April 17 and May 29, 1903; suspended April 7, 1916. d. Nov. 25, 1950.

Harry B. Earhart (1870–1954) Shipowner, manufacturer and oil executive. b. Dec. 21, 1870 at Worthington, Pa. From 1888–1904 he was owner of vessels on the Great Lakes; from 1904–10 was engaged in the manufacture of machinery and from 1910–32 was president and chairman of the board of the White Star Refining Co., and during the same period was director of Vacuum Oil Co. He was director of the National Safety Council at one time. Raised Nov. 13, 1893 in Ionic Lodge No. 186, Duluth, Mimi. and affiliated with Palestine Lodge No. 357, Detroit on April 13, 1913, becoming a life member of same Jan. 7, 1937. Member of Scottish Rite. d. Oct. 21, 1954.

R. E. W. Earl American artist. Painted numerous portraits of Andrew Jackson, q.v., member of Cumberland Lodge No. 8, Nashville, Tenn.

Clarence E. Earle (1893–1953) Chemical engineer. b. Aug. 27, 1893 at Bengies, Md. He graduated from George Washington U. in 1923. Employed by U.S. government and many private firms as a chemical engineer and was president of Breco Mfg. Co. and director of Medical Chemicals, Inc., as well as Insl-X Co. He discovered and developed lithium soap lubricating greases used in aircraft manufacture. Also originated and developed all-purpose hydraulic oil and chemical polar compounds for thin film preservation of metallic surfaces against corrosion. He developed an aircraft carbon monoxide detector and pioneered the discovery of a series of chemical compounds known as phenyl-ammonio salts used as a mycotic drug in South Pacific. Raised in Delnorta Lodge No. 105, Delnorta, Colo. and affiliated with Jephthah Lodge No. 222 (Md.) on June 17, 1952. d. Nov. 15, 1953.

George H. Earle Governor of Pennsylvania, 1935–39. b. Dec. 5, 1890 in Devon, Pa. Holds honorary degrees from several universities. Associated with father in sugar industry at Philadelphia and later in Chicago. He founded Flamingo Sugar Mills in Philadelphia and was active in various business activities until appointed envoy and minister (E.E. and M.P.) to Austria in 1933–34. In 1940–41 he was minister to Bulgaria and in 1943 assistant naval attache at Istanbul, Turkey. Served in army on Mexican Border and in WWI entered navy and was commander of U.S.S. Victor, submarine chaser. Received Navy Cross. Member of Lodge No. 9 in Philadelphia, Pa. and Shriner.

Roy B. Earling Vice president of U. S. Smelting, Refining & Mining Co. and in charge of Alaska operations since 1935. b. May 29, 1887 at Milwaukee, Wis. With U. S. Smelting since 1925. Mason.

Claudius M. Easley (1891–1945) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. July 11, 1891 at Thorp Spring, Tex. Graduated from Texas A. & M. Coll. in 1916 and graduate of several Army service schools. Commissioned in 1917 and advanced through grades to brigadier general. Mason. d. June 19, 1945 and buried in 96th Infantry Div. Cemetery in Okinawa.

Edmund P. Easterbrook (1865–1933) Chief of chaplains, U.S. Army, 1928–30. b. Dec. 22, 1865 in Torquay, England. He was ordained as a Methodist minister in 1889. He served as a chaplain in the Spanish–American War and in Cuba with the Army of Occupation. He was commissioned a chaplain in the Army by President McKinley in 1900 and served as such in the Philippine Insurrection from 1900–05. He was in WWI with U.S. forces in Germany from 1919–23. On return to U.S. was stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Tex. and Fort Monroe, Va. Mason. d. Jan. 18, 1933.

Rufus Easton (1774–1834) First postmaster West of the Mississippi River (St. Louis) and first attorney general of Missouri. b. May 4, 1774 at Litchfield, Conn. He studied law in the office of Ephraim Kirby, q.v., and was admitted to the bar in 1795. In 1803 he went to Washington, D.C. where he met a number of prominent statesmen. Following his death, letters were found in his effects from Col. Aaron Burr, Postmaster General Gideon Granger, Governor DeWitt Clinton and others. It was his intention to locate in New Orleans, but upon reaching Vincennes, Ind. in 1804 he decided to remain there and practice in the courts of the territory. He accompanied General Harrison to St. Louis and took up residence there. In 1815 President Jefferson gave him a commission as judge of the Territory of Louisiana. Following Missouri's admission as a state, President Monroe appointed him U.S. attorney general for the state, an office which he held until his retirement in 1826. He also served Missouri in the U.S. Congress. As postmaster of St. Louis he had difficulties with General James Wilkinson, q.v., who was one of the conspirators with Aaron Burr. Easton supported the policies of Jefferson and complained of "spies and informers" of the Wilkinson camp. He entered Freemasonry through Roman Lodge No. 82 of New York and assisted in the organization of Western Star Lodge No. 107, Kaskaskia, Ill. When St. Louis Lodge No. 111 was organized, he became a charter member and officer. Easton was one of the incorporators of the first territorial bank of St. Louis in 1813, being elected a director in 1814. He also was land agent from 1808–18. In 1822 he moved to St. Charles, Mo., where he died July 5, 1834. He left a large family, one daughter marrying Henry S. Geyer, later U.S. senator; another married Governor Hamilton Gamble. His daughter, Mary, married George C. Sibley and together they founded Lindenwood College at St. Charles in 1831.

Stanley A. Easton President of Bunker Hill & Sullivan Mining and Concentrating Co.—one of the largest lead and silver mines in the world. b. April 7, 1873 at Santa Cruz, Calif.

Graduate of U. of Calif. Coll. of Mines in 1894. He is also president of Sullivan Mining Co. and Caledonia Mining Co. Mason.

Barney E. Eaton (1878–1944) President of Mississippi Power Co. from 1924. b. Dec. 5, 1878 at Taylorsville, Miss. Graduate of Millsaps Coll., Jackson. Admitted to the bar in 1903 and practiced at Hattiesburg. He affiliated with Gulfport Lodge No. 422 on May 1, 1919, Gulfport, Miss. and dimitted Aug. 3, 1933. d. July 18, 1944.

Hubert Eaton Originator of the “memorial-park” plan for cemeteries, substituting tablets set level with the lawn for tombstones, providing art collections, historical buildings, etc., thereby revolutionizing cemeteries throughout the U.S. He is known as “the builder” of Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale, Calif., which is noted for its collection of stained glass works of American sculptors and recreations of Last Supper and Calvary. b. June 3, 1881 at Liberty, Mo., he graduated from William Jewell Coll. in Liberty in 1902. A chemist, he has been associated with many of the main mining companies of America including Anaconda, Teziutlan Copper (Mexico), Adaven Mining (Nev.). Raised in Euclid Lodge No. 58, Great Falls, Mont. in 1905 and presently member of Southern California Lodge No. 278, Los Angeles. Member of Liberty Chapter No. 3, R.A.M., Liberty, Mo., Los Angeles Commandery No. 9, K.T., Al Malaikah Shrine of Los Angeles and of Shrine Patrol. Served as junior deacon of his lodge.

James M. Eaton Vice President of American Overseas Airlines. b. Feb. 15, 1888 at Palatka, Fla. Graduated from

U. of Maine in 1910. Eaton became interested in airplanes when he made his first flight with Ed Wiggins in 1913. In 1914 he assisted in establishing service between Tampa and St. Petersburg, Fla. (21 miles), which is now credited as the world's first scheduled airline. In 1920 he went to Europe to investigate the possibility of using wartime aircraft for commercial operation, but concluded they were not adequate. He was later with Pan American Airways and president of Ludington Airlines (New York to Washington every hour). Mason.

John H. Eaton (1790–1856) U.S. Secretary of War under Jackson, 1829–31; U.S. Senator from Tennessee; Governor of Territory of Florida, 1834–36; U.S. Minister to Spain, 1836–40. b. in Tenn. He studied law and after admission to the bar, practiced in Nashville. He is the author of Life of Andrew Jackson (1824), and was a personal friend of the president. Eaton was a member of Cumberland Lodge No. 8, Nashville; was elected an honorary member of Federal Lodge No. 1 at Washington, D.C. on Jan. 4, 1830; was an honorary member of the Grand Lodge of Florida. He was present at the communication of the Grand Lodge of Tenn. in 1825 and participated in the meeting at the U.S. Capitol in 1822 for the purpose of forming a general grand lodge. He is also recorded as a visitor at Nashville Lodge No. 37 (Tenn.) on June 2, 1825. d. Nov. 17, 1856.

William Eaton (1764–1811) Soldier and early political figure. b. Feb. 23, 1764 at Woodstock, Conn. He entered the Revolutionary army at age of 16 and served 19 years. He graduated at Dartmouth in 1790 and in 1797 was appointed consul to Tunis and for several years was engaged in altercations with the bey in regard to the annual "blackmail" payments this country made to Tunis to prevent them from molesting American ships. He returned to the U.S. in 1803 and was appointed U.S. naval agent to the Barbary states. In this capacity he embarked on a romantic attempt to restore the exiled pasha, Hamet, to the throne, carrying out a small war with 500 men on his own initiative and utilizing two ships of the U.S. fleet. His attempt failed, but Mass. granted him 10,000 acres of land for his "heroic enterprise." In 1806 Aaron Burr, q.v., attempted to enlist Eaton in his conspiracy and at Burr's trial in Richmond, Eaton was one of his accusers. He was made a Mason in North Star Lodge, Manchester, Vt. in 1792. At one time he wrote a eulogy for George Washington, "composed for the celebration of St. George at Monson, 22nd inst." The last verses conclude: "Approving Heaven, with fostering hand, Gave Masons triumph through this land; And firmly to secure our craft, From bigot rage and envy's shaft, Sent a Grand Master, Freedom's son, The God-like patriot, Washington!" d. June 1, 1811.

William R. Eaton (1877–1943) U.S. Congressman, 71st and 72nd Congresses (1929–33) from 1st Colorado dist. b. Dec. 17, 1877 at Pugwash, N.S., Canada and brought to U.S. by parents the following year. Graduate of U. of Denver in 1909, he was admitted to the bar that year. He served two terms in the state senate. Raised March 22, 1902 in Union Lodge No. 7, Denver, Colo.; exalted Feb. 14, 1912 in Colorado Chapter No. 29, R.A.M. and knighted March 14, 1922 in Denver Commandery

No. 25, K.T., all of Denver. Received 32° AASR (SJ) on Oct. 22, 1921 in Colorado Consistory No. 1, Denver and was KCCH. d. Dec. 16, 1942.

Charles H. Ebbets (1859–1925) Owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers (National League) and non-playing manager for the team in 1898. b. Oct. 29, 1859 in New York City. He was president of the National League from 1898–1925 and is a member of Baseball's National Hall of Fame as an owner. Ebbets Field is named for him. Member of Greenwood Lodge No. 569, New York City. d. April 18, 1925.

George A. Eberly Associate Justice, Supreme Court of Nebraska, 1925–43. b. Feb. 9, 1871 at Ft. Wayne, Ind. Received LL.B. and LL.M. from U. of Mich. Resident of Nebraska from 1873 and admitted to the bar in 1893. He served in the Spanish–American War in 1898 and Mexican border service in 1916. He was a colonel in WWI. In 1949 he was commander-in-chief of the Spanish–American War Veterans. Member and past master of Northern Light Lodge No. 41, Stanton, Nebr. He holds membership in the York Rite bodies of Omaha and is 32° AASR (SJ) in the Valley of Omaha; National Sojourner, and member of Tangier Shrine Temple, Omaha.

Frederick H. Ecker President of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. 1929–36. b. Aug. 30, 1867 in Phoenicia, N.Y. With Metropolitan since 1883; comptroller in 1905; treasurer in 1906; director in 1909, vice president in 1919, and chairman of board of directors after retirement as president in 1936. Also vice-president and trustee of Union Dime Saving Bank; trustee of Consolidated Edison Co. and director of Chase National Bank and Western Union Telegraph Co. Member of Kane Lodge No. 454, New York City, receiving degrees on May 20, June 3 and June 17, 1902; received 50-year membership award in 1953; served a number of years on the Kane-Pearry Room committee of his lodge.

Henry Eckford (1775–1832) Early American naval architect. b. March 12, 1775 in Irvine, Scotland. At 16 he was placed with a naval constructor at Quebec and in 1796 moved to New York, where he introduced important changes in the art of shipbuilding. His vessels were superior in strength and speed to all others and in the War of 1812 he was employed by the U.S. government to build ships. Following the war he built the steamer Robert Fulton. In 1820 he was appointed naval constructor at Brooklyn and he built six ships of the line including the famous Ohio which was claimed to be the finest in the world. Disagreeing with the naval commissioners, he left government service and built a sloop-of-war for Sultan Mahmoud of the Ottoman empire and was solicited to enter his service. This led him to a visit to Turkey where he established a navy yard and died at Constantinople on Nov. 12, 1832. He was a member of Fortitude Lodge No. 48 (now No. 19) of Brooklyn, N.Y. and was first junior warden of the lodge.

Karl F. Eckleff (1723–1789) German physician who was active in the propagation of the high grades of Freemasonry in Sweden between 1752 and 1759. It was in the latter year that the “secret constitutions” were adopted. In 1766 he sold to Berlin Masons such rights and rituals as he held and tried to do the same insofar as Sweden was concerned. However, he finally relinquished all rights to the Duke of Sudermania, q.v. in 1774 and the duke (later King Charles XIII, q.v.), who gained control of the symbolic degrees through the resignation of Count Scheffer, became the head of all forms of Freemasonry in Sweden.

Zales N. Ecton U.S. Senator from Montana, 1948. b. April 1, 1898 at Weldon, Ia. He was state representative from 1933–37 and state senator, 1937–46. He is secretary and director of the Flying D, Inc., a ranch and cattle company at Gallatin Gateway, Mont. Mason, 32° AASR (SJ) and Shriner. At one time he was in the line of the Grand Lodge of Montana and at the annual communication in 1952 addressed the grand lodge.

Paul D. Eddy President of Adelphi College, Garden City, N.Y. since 1937. b. Feb. 18, 1895 in Montgomery, Ala. Graduate of U. of Pennsylvania and ordained to ministry of Methodist Church, serving several Pennsylvania churches. He was director of the Wesley Foundation in the Philippines in 1929–30 and executive director of the Religious Educational Foundation, 1931–37. Served in U.S. Navy in WWI. Member of Garden City Lodge No. 1083, Garden City, L.I., N.Y. and chaplain of same several years.

Samuel Eddy (1769–1839) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Rhode Island, 1827–35 and U.S. Congressman, 1819–25. b. March 31, 1769 in Johnston, R.I., he graduated at Brown U. in 1787 and studied law. He was clerk of the R.I. supreme court in 1790–93 and secretary of state from 1798–1819. Member of St. John's Lodge No. 1 at Providence, being initiated Feb. 1, 1792. d. Feb. 2, 1839.

William H. Eddy (1817–1859) Hero of the Donner Party trapped in the Sierra Nevada mountains in winter of 1846–47. b. in Providence, R.I. in 1817. In 1845 he was working as a wheelwright in Belleville, Ill. He joined the Donner Party for the trip to California and with James Frazier Reed, q.v., and William McCutchen, q.v., is referred to as one of the “big three” of that ill-fated group. Eddy's privations and experiences were particularly harrowing, for his wife and two children perished of cold and starvation. He led the “Forlorn Hope” group—ten men and five women, who made a desperate attempt to escape from their snowy prison and obtain relief for the rest of the party. It took them 32 days to get out and all the men except Eddy and a William Foster died on the way. They left bloody footprints on the snow as their shoes wore out and their shredded clothing was frozen to their bodies. His exertions led to his early death on Dec. 24, 1859 of angina pectoris. On July 11, 1850 he was one of the 15 brethren at San Jose who petitioned the grand lodge for a dispensation to open a lodge in that city. His name later appears on the records of San Jose Lodge No. 10 as a charter member. This shows he was a Mason before coming to San Jose, but there is no available record of his original membership. Unfortunately he was suspended NPD in 1857.

William Eden (1744–1814) (Lord Auckland) English barrister who served at different times as Secretary of State for Ireland, privy councillor and ambassador to France, Spain and Holland. Was made an Irish peer in 1789 with the title Baron Auckland, receiving the same title in the English peerage in 1793. He was one of the three commissioners sent by Lord North in 1788 to treat with the Americans. In 1770 he was grand steward of the Grand Lodge of England. d. May 28, 1814.

Arthur H. Edens President of Duke University since 1949. b. Feb. 14, 1901 at Willow Grove, Tenn. Degrees from Emory and Harvard U. Was dean at Emory Jr. Coll. and Emory U. until 1948. Mason.

Walter E. Edge (1873–1956) U.S. Senator from New Jersey, 1919–29; Governor of New Jersey during WWI and also WWII (1917–19 and 1943–46) and ambassador to France 1929–33. b. Nov. 20, 1873 in Philadelphia. He began as a printer's "devil" on the Atlantic Review, Atlantic City, N.J., and during his lifetime made a fortune in the advertising and publishing business. He is credited with helping to promote Atlantic City into prominence as a vacation spot. He was one of the first prominent men to back Eisenhower for the presidency in 1951. As ambassador to France, he won the admiration and respect of the French people and was instrumental in negotiating important trade treaties. He was raised Feb. 4, 1896 in Trinity Lodge No. 79, Atlantic City and affiliated with Belcher Lodge No. 180, Atlantic City on April 9, 1904. He was a visitor to the grand lodge sessions in 1917. Member of Evergreen Forest No. 49, Tall Cedars of Lebanon at Milford, Del. on June 9, 1923 and member of Crescent Shrine Temple, Trenton, N.J. d. Oct. 29, 1956.

Alonzo Jay Edgerton (1827–1896) U.S. Senator from Minnesota, March–Oct., 1881. b. June 7, 1827 in Rome, N.Y. Graduate of Wesleyan U. at Middletown, Conn. and settled in Mantorville, Minn. in 1855 where he practiced law. Was brigadier general in Civil War. Served terms in state senate. Moved to Kasson, Minn. in 1878. He was appointed chief justice of the territorial supreme court of Dakota and when South Dakota was admitted as a state, he was made U.S. judge of that district. He served as president of the constitutional convention of South Dakota. Made a Mason in 1851 in Grenada Lodge No. 31 of Miss. and later a member of Mantorville Lodge No. 11, Mantorville, Minn. He was grand scribe of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Minn. in 1875 and also served as senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of Minnesota. d. Aug. 9, 1896.

Harold E. Edgerton Electrical engineer and inventor of stroboscopic high-speed motion and still photography apparatus. b. April 6, 1903 in Fremont, Nebr. Graduate of U. of Nebr. and Mass. Institute of Tech. Employed as electrical engineer by Nebr. Light & Power Co., and General Electric Co. and professor at M.I.T. Member of Acacia fraternity. Raised in Aurora Lodge No. 68, Aurora, Nebr. and presently a member of Richard C. Maclaurin Lodge, Cambridge, Mass.

H.R.H. Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh Consort of Queen Elizabeth, q.v. b. June 10, 1921. Although a prince of the royal house of Greece, Philip is a descendant of the English royal house and of Queen Victoria. Victoria's third child, H.R.H. Princess Alice, who married Prince Louis, grand duke of Hesse, was the mother of Victoria Alberta, who married the Marquess of Milford Haven. Their eldest child, Alice, married Prince Andrew of Greece. They, in turn had five children, Philip being the youngest. He married H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth in November, 1947. Philip was initiated in Navy Lodge No. 2612 of London on Dec. 5, 1952. Present at the initiation were the Earl of Scarbrough, grand master, q.v., and Geoffrey Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury. The lodge has many ties with the royal family as King Edward VII served as its first master in 1896 when he was Prince of Wales, q.v., King George VI, q.v., served as master when he was Duke of York. In 1928 H.R.H. Duke of Kent, q.v., was master and later became grand master of the Grand Lodge of England.

William Henry, Duke of Edinburgh (see Duke of Gloucester)

Douglas L. Edmonds Justice, Supreme Court of California, 1936–56. b. in Chicago, Ill. Admitted to California bar in 1910 and practiced in Los Angeles until 1926 when he became municipal court judge and later superior court judge. Mason.

George W. Edmonds (1864–1939) U.S. Congressman, 63rd to 68th and 73rd Congresses (1913–25 and 1933–35) from 4th Pa. dist. b. Feb. 22, 1864 (and thus named George Washington). Was in retail drug business until 1887, when he became an organizer of the Black Diamond Coal Co. He continued throughout his life in the wholesale coal business. Received his degrees in Washington Lodge No. 59, Philadelphia on Jan. 10, March 14 and Oct. 9, 1906; affiliated with Olivet Lodge No. 607, Philadelphia on Sept. 24, 1907. d. Sept. 28, 1939.

Ed Edmondson U.S. Congressman to 83rd through 85th Congresses from 2nd Okla. dist. b. April 7, 1919 in Muskogee, Okla. Brother of J. Howard Edmondson, q.v., governor of Okla. Graduate of U. of Oklahoma and Georgetown U. Was a newspaperman with the Muskogee Daily and United Press, 1936–40 and a special F.B.I. agent, 1941–43. In 1946–47 while studying law at Georgetown U., he was Washington correspondent for four Okla. newspapers. Admitted to the bar in 1947 and practiced in Muskogee with his brother. Served as a Naval lieutenant in WWII. Member of Muskogee Lodge No. 28; 32° AASR (SJ) in Indian Consistory at McAlester and member of Bedouin Shrine Temple of Muskogee.

J. Howard Edmondson Elected Governor of Oklahoma in 1958. b. Sept. 27, 1925 in Muskogee, a brother of Congressman Ed Edmondson, q.v. Graduated in law from U. of Oklahoma and served four years as county attorney of Tulsa Co., Okla. Served in Air Force in WWII and was flight commander. Member of Oriental Lodge No. 430, Muskogee, Okla. and 32° AASR (SJ) in Indian Consistory of McAlester, Okla.

George F. Edmunds (1828–1919) U.S. Senator from Vermont, 1866–91, resigning in the latter year. b. Feb. 1, 1828 at Richmond, Vt. Graduate of U. of Vt. in 1855. Member of Vermont lower house, 1854–59 and upper house, 1861–62. He authored the act in 1882 for suppression of polygamy in Utah and disfranchisement of those practicing it. It was known as the "Edmunds Act." He was president protem of the U.S. Senate during Arthur's presidency. Received 34 votes for Republican presidential nomination in 1880 and 93 in 1884. Member of Washington Lodge No. 3, Burlington, Vt. d. Feb. 27, 1919.

William R. Edrington (1872–1932) Capitalist. b. Feb. 22, 1872 in Madison Parish, La. He began in the investment business at Fort Worth, Texas in 1897, and became president of the Edrington–Minot Corp., Edrington Investment Co., and vice president of Minot Holding Corp. Member of Fort Worth Lodge No. 148, Fort Worth, Texas, receiving degrees on Dec. 27, 1897, May 13, 1898 and Feb. 13, 1899. d. Nov. 6, 1932.

Samuel C. Edsall (1860–1917) Episcopal Bishop. b. March 4, 1860 in Dixon, Ill. Was ordained deacon in 1888; priest in 1889. He founded St. Peter's Mission of Chicago in 1887. From 1889–99 he was rector of St. Peter's Church, Chicago and became missionary bishop of N.D. in 1899. In 1901 he was elected coadjutor bishop of Minn. d. Feb. 17, 1917. He was a member of Minneapolis Lodge No. 19, Minneapolis, Minn.

Merritt A. Edson (1897–1955) Major General, U.S. Marine Corps. b. April 25, 1897 in Rutland, Vt. Advanced to brigadier general in 1943, retiring as major general in 1947. Awarded Congressional Medal of Honor. Was with Marines in France in WWI and later served as a Marine aviator in the Pacific and Central America. A small arms expert, he taught and served in ordnance depots. From 1937–39 he was with 4th Marines in China and as commander of 1st Raider bn. participated in the Tarawa operations. He was assistant division commander of 2nd Marines in Saipan–Tinian operations and later commanding general of the service command of the Fleet Marine Force, Pacific. From 1946–47 he was member of staff of Chief of Naval Operations. After his retirement he became Vermont's first public safety commissioner. Raised in Olive Branch Lodge No. 64, Chester, Vt. on Feb. 24, 1926. d. Aug. 14, 1955.

Edward VII (1841–1910) King of England, 1901–10. Of the house of Saxe–Coburg, he was called The Peacemaker. Eldest son of Queen Victoria, he was created Prince of Wales in 1841. Studied at Edinburgh, Oxford, and Cambridge and served as a colonel in the army in 1858. He was the first British royal prince to visit a colony, visiting Canada in 1860, where on Sept. 1, he laid the cornerstone of the Canadian Parliament building at Ottawa. It is interesting to note that the government would not allow the Freemasons to take part in the ceremonies, but told them that they were welcome to appear in their regalia. It was on this trip that he visited the St. Louis, Mo. agricultural and mechanical fair on Sept. 26, arriving from Canada by way of Detroit and Chicago, and by steamer from Alton. He bought a fast trotting horse at the fair and dined on buffalo tongue, quail, prairie chicken and Missouri wine, departing the next day for Cincinnati. In 1863 he took a seat in the house of lords as Duke of Cornwall. His mother, Queen Victoria, would not allow him to take part in foreign negotiations until Gladstone's last ministry in 1892–94. He was chancellor of the U. of Wales, arranged the queen's jubilees, assisted in promoting the Royal College of Music, and won the Derby three times with his horses. As king, he promoted international amity by visits to European capitals. He brought the crown into active participation in public life and with all sections of the empire. He was initiated into Freemasonry in 1868 at Stockholm, Sweden by King Adolphus Frederick, q.v., who was also grand master of Sweden. He was master of Apollo University Lodge at Oxford in 1873; master of Prince of Wales Lodge No. 250, London and also of Royal Alpha Lodge, London. He was patron of the Grand Lodge of Scotland and Ireland and was honorary member of Edinburgh Lodge No. 1. He was patron of the Supreme Council of the 33° of England. Edward was elected grand master of the Grand Lodge of England on April 28, 1875 and installed that date in a ceremony at Albert Hall conducted by the Earl of Carnarvon, q.v., in the presence of 10,000 brethren. It was probably the most brilliant Masonic function ever held. He served as grand master until 1901 when he ascended the throne and took the title of "protector of the craft." Queen Alexandria Lodge No. 2932 of London was named for his queen with her permission and good wishes.

Edward VIII King of England, Jan. 20–Dec.11, 1936, abdicating to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson, an American. Eldest son of George V. and Queen Mary, his full name is Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David. Before ascending to the throne, he was Prince of Wales, and after abdication, Duke of Windsor. He was prepared for the Navy at Osborne and Dartmouth and created Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester in 1911. At his investiture in Carnarvon Castle, he was the first English prince to address the Welsh in their own tongue. He served as a midshipman on the H.M.S. Hindostan and in WWI was with the B.E.F. in Flanders, France and on the Italian front. He was on the staff of the commander of the Mediterranean Force in Egypt and also with the Canadian Corps. Taking up his public duties in 1919, he toured Canada, U.S., Africa, and South America as England's favorite "Ambassador of the Empire." When he succeeded his father in 1936, he was the first bachelor king in 176 years. When he proposed to marry Mrs. Simpson nee Warfield and elevate her as queen, it raised a storm of protest resulting in his abdication. He later visited Germany to study social and housing conditions, and in 1939 was a major general attached to the B.E.F. staff in liaison work in France. From 1940–45 he was governor of the Bahama Islands. Edward was initiated by H.R.H. Arthur, Duke of Connaught and Strathearn, q.v., on May 2, 1919 in the Household Brigade Lodge No. 2614—one of the lodges of which the grand master is permanent master. He was appointed senior warden of the lodge in 1920 and elected deputy master in 1921. On Oct. 25, 1922 he was installed as senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England in Royal Albert Hall in the presence of nearly 9,000 brethren. He was named provincial grand master for Surrey on July 22, 1924 and grand master of the Grand Lodge of England in 1936. He also served as grand superintendent of Royal Arch Masonry for Surrey. He was an honorary 33° of the Supreme Council, Scottish Rite of England.

Edward Augustus (Duke of Kent) (1767–1820) Fourth son of George III of England and father of Queen Victoria. A soldier, he became major general in 1793; lieutenant general in 1796, and full general in 1799. He was commander-in-chief of the forces in British North America in 1799–1800. From 1802–03 he was governor of Gibraltar and in 1805 was created field marshal. He was initiated in 1790 in Union Lodge of Geneva. In 1813 he was elected grand master of the Athol Grand Lodge, accepting the office in order to unite the two rival grand lodges. When his purpose had been accomplished, he resigned the grand-mastership and suggested his younger brother, Augustus Frederick, q.v., Duke of Sussex as grand master. This was accomplished, and Augustus Frederick became the first grand master of the United Grand Lodge of England, serving from 1813–43. While serving in the British military establishment in North America, Edward Augustus was on the rolls of the Craft in Nova Scotia.

Clarence R. Edwards (1860–1931) Major General U.S. Army. b. Jan. 1, 1860 at Cleveland, Ohio and graduated U.S. Military Academy in 1883. Commissioned in the latter year, he advanced through grades to major general in 1917. He organized the 26th Infantry Division and commanded it for 10 months on the front lines in France. Held numerous commands on his return to the U.S. He retired in 1922. Member of Euclid Lodge in Boston, Mass. d. Feb. 14, 1931.

Edward I. Edwards (1863–1931) U.S. Senator from New Jersey, 1923–29 and Governor of New Jersey, 1920–23. b. Dec. 1, 1863 at Jersey City, N.J. He was connected with the First National Bank of Jersey City from 1882. He was a state senator from Hudson Co. in 1919, resigning to become governor.

Member of Bergen Lodge No. 47, Jersey Ctiy, being initiated on Feb. 6, 1891. 32° AASR and Shriner. d. Jan. 26, 1931.

Gus Edwards (1879–1945) Theatrical producer, composer and vaudeville star. Raised Jan. 16, 1904 in Independent Lodge No. 185, New York City. Dimitted May 4, same year and reaffiliated May 19, 1906.

Henry W. Edwards (1779–1847) U.S. Senator from Connecticut, 1823–27 and Governor of Connecticut, 1833–38. b. in New Haven, Conn., the son of Pierpont Edwards, q.v., first grand master of Connecticut. He studied at the Litchfield law school and settled in New Haven where he was twice elected to congress as a Democrat, serving from 1819–1823. He also served in the two state legislative bodies. He was initiated in Hiram Lodge No. 1 of New Haven on Feb. 2, 1809 and elected secretary of the lodge the same year. He was exalted in Franklin Chapter No. 2, R.A.M. of New Haven on June 14, 1810 and greeted in Harmony Council, R. & S.M. on Oct. 16, 1818. d. July 22, 1847.

John Edwards (1748–1837) One of the first two U.S. Senators from Kentucky, 1791–1795. Born in Virginia, he moved to that portion of the state now comprising Kentucky in 1780, where he owned some 23,000 acres of land. He was a member of the state legislature from 1781–85 and again from 1795–1800. He was elected to the convention that ratified the Federal constitution as well as his own state conventions of 1785–88. Member of Abraham Lodge No. 8, Louisville, Ky.

Morton Edwards English sculptor. Made a Mark Master in Thistle Lodge No. 8, London, England on Oct. 1, 1869.

Ninian Edwards (1775–1833) U.S. Senator from Illinois, 1818–24; Governor of Illinois Territory, 1809–18 and Governor of Illinois, 1826–30. Born in Maryland, he was educated at Dickinson College in Pennsylvania and moved to Kentucky at age of 20. At one time his education was directed by William Wirt, q.v., the presidential candidate on the anti-Masonic ticket. A lawyer, he became chief justice of the supreme court of Kentucky at the age of 32. He moved to Illinois when President Madison appointed him governor of the territory and remained there until his death. He was one of the first two U.S. Senators from Illinois just as his uncle, John Edwards, q.v., had been in Kentucky. He was a member of Lexington Lodge No. 1, Lexington, Ky. d. July 20, 1833.

Pierpont Edwards (1750–1826) Member of the Continental Congress of 1787–88. b. April 8, 1750 in Northampton, Mass., his father was a missionary to the Stockbridge (Mass.) Indians and young Pierpont became so proficient in the Indian language that he said he “often thought in Indian.” He graduated from Princeton in 1768 and began practice of law in New Haven, Conn. in 1771. He was appointed administrator of the estate of Benedict Arnold, q.v., at the time of his treason. He took an early stand in favor of independence and served in the Revolutionary Army, taking part in two battles. At the time of his death he was a judge of the U.S. district court. He was initiated in Hiram Lodge No. 1, New Haven, Dec. 28, 1775, serving as master of the lodge in 1777–78, and was the first grand master of the Grand Lodge of Connecticut, 1789–90. His son, Henry W., q.v., became U.S. senator and governor of Connecticut. d. April 5, 1826.

Willard E. Edwards Originator of The Perpetual Calendar. b. Dec. 11, 1903 at Chatham, Mass. He was educated at Mass. Inst. of Tech.; B.S., U. of Oklahoma and graduate work at U. of Southern Calif. He originated The Perpetual Calendar in 1919, which was officially endorsed by Hawaiian legislature in 1943 and by Mass. in 1952. The calendar has been proposed by congressional resolution in 1943, 45, 47, 49, 51, and 53. A writer and lecturer since 1922, he has been a research engineer with Radio Corp. of America, Alexander Aircraft Co., American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and others. In WWII he served as a lieutenant commander in the U.S. Navy. Raised in Wollaston Lodge, Quincy, Mass. on March 17, 1925. He later affiliated with Norman Lodge No. 38, Norman, Okla. (1929–33); Silveyville Lodge No. 201, Dixon, Calif. (1933–35); Fullerton Lodge No. 339, Fullerton, Calif. (1936–46) and Honolulu Lodge No. 409, Honolulu, Hawaii since 1947. Received AASR (SJ) degrees in 1958. Life member of Square and Compass Club of Midway Island.

Edwin Early Masonic tradition claims him as the son of Athelstan (895–940), King of England, who was the son of King Edward the Elder and grandson of King Alfred. Practically all of the Old Charges, after the first two, refer to Athelstan as having a son called Edwin, “and hee loued masons much more than his father . . . and a Comifision to hould euer yeare and Afsembly.” By tradition, the first was held at York in 926. Whether Athelstan had a son named Edwin is doubtful. Historians have agreed that he had a brother of that name, but the brother was drowned in his youth (933). A theory has been advanced that the “Edwin” referred to in the Old Charges may have been Edwin, King of Northumberland (585?–633).

David Edwin (1776–1841) American engraver. b. Dec., 1776 in Bath, England. His father, John, was a comedian. David was apprenticed to Jossi, a Dutch engraver residing in England, who soon returned to Holland, taking David with him. Disagreeing with his master, he left before his apprenticeship was over and shipped as a sailor on an American vessel bound for Philadelphia, hoping eventually to reach London. He arrived in Philadelphia in December of 1797, and obtained employment from an English publisher, and later worked for Edward Savage, the painter. His specialty was engraving portraits and his work was credited with being the best produced in America up to that time. His copies of Gilbert Stuart’s paintings were especially good. He made copies of portraits by the artists Peale, Waldo, Wood, Jarvis, Sully and Neagle. After 20 years of application, his eyesight failed and he was compelled to resort to other work to earn a living. He was initiated in Columbia Lodge No. 91, Philadelphia on March 1, 1806 and later served as master of the lodge. d. Feb. 22, 1841.

Stillman W. Eells (1873–1937) American foreign service officer and businessman. b. April 24, 1873 at Cleveland, Ohio. Graduated from Yale in 1895. Became president of the Wheeler Mfg. Co. and the Alignum Co., retiring from active business in 1904. From 1918–35 he served as U.S. consul in British East Africa, Bermuda, Kenya, Madeira, Leeds, England, Ceylon, Cardiff, Wales, and Valencia, Spain. Member of Albion Lodge No. 26, New York City, receiving degrees on Jan. 9, Jan. 23 and Feb. 13, 1899. He was junior warden of his lodge in 1901–02. d. May 12, 1937.

Charles Howard, 2nd Baron of Effingham (1536–1624)

Of the English house of Howard, he was also the 1st Earl of Nottingham. Ambassador to France in 1559; lord chamberlain from 1574–85, and as lord high admiral from 1585–1618, he held the chief command against the Spanish Armada in 1588, which he defeated. He was the commissioner for the trial of Mary, Queen of Scots in 1586. According to William Preston, q.v., he was grand master of England from 1579–88.

Thomas, 3rd Earl of Effingham Served the Grand Lodge of England as pro grand master from 1782–90 in place of the Duke of Cumberland, who was of royal blood.

Philippe Egalite (see Due de Chartres)

W. Grant Egbert (1869–1928) Musician. b. Dec. 28, 1869 at Danby, N.Y. Received M.A. in music from Syracuse U. in 1904 and studied in Europe under several masters. He made his debut at age of eight as a violinist, touring the U.S. and the capitals of Europe. He was concert-meister and assistant conductor of the Sevcik Orchestra at Prague for three years, and in 1892 founded and directed the Ithaca Conservatory of Music, bringing Cesar Thomson and O. Sevcik to the U.S. as instructors. Member of Fidelity Lodge No. 51, Ithaca, N.Y., receiving degrees on April 15, May 6 and May 20, 1902. d. Dec. 18, 1928.

Edward Eggleston (1837–1902) American author. b. Dec. 10, 1837 in Vevay, Ind. He was a Methodist pastor and Bible agent in Minnesota from 1858–66, but his poor health forced him to turn to other occupations for a living, which as he stated were “always honest, but sometimes undignified.” In 1866 he moved to Evanston, Ill., where he was associate editor of the Little Corporal, a children’s paper, to which he had previously contributed. Within a year he became the editor of Sunday School Teacher and gained a reputation as a speaker. During this time he was a contributor to the New York Independent, and in 1870 moved to New York and became its literary editor, and later the editor. In 1871 he became editor of Hearth and Home, but resigned in a year due to ill health, and spent the remainder of his life writing. Among his novels depicting early life in Indiana are The Hoosier Schoolmaster; The End of the World; The Circuit Rider; Roxy; The Hoosier Schoolboy; The Graysons, and The Faith Doctor. He received his degrees in Ancient Landmark Lodge No. 5, St. Paul, Minn., in 1863.

William H. Egle (1830–1901) Historian and physician. b. Sept. 17, 1830 in Harrisburg, Pa. He spent three years as a printer on the Pennsylvania Telegraph and later became editor of Literary Companion and also Daily Times. He graduated in medicine from U. of Pennsylvania in 1859 and served during the Civil War as a surgeon, being chief medical officer of General Birney's division. From 1871, he turned his attention to historical research, and, in 1887 was appointed state librarian of Pennsylvania. Most of his writings are on Pennsylvania history including Notes and Queries Relating to Interior Pennsylvania; History of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; Pennsylvania in the Revolution, and many others. He was a member of Perseverance Lodge No. 21 of Harrisburg, Pa., receiving degrees on Oct. 9, Nov. 9, 1854, serving as master in 1866 and resigning in 1870. d. in 1901.

Alexander, 10th Earl of Eglinton Grand Master Mason (15th) of Scotland in 1750. House of Montgomerie.

Archibald, 16th Earl of Eglinton Grand Master Mason (82nd) of Scotland in 1920. Also Earl of Winton.

Archibald William, 17th Earl of Eglinton House of Montgomerie, Scottish peer of the realm. Initiated in Apollo University Lodge No. 357 in 1936. Affiliated with Lodge No. 0 in 1947 and master of same in 1953. Substitute grand master in 1955.

Fausto Ehluller, with the Arago brothers, is said to have established the first Masonic lodge in Mexico City; he enlisted the support of the most distinguished men of Mexico, including the Mexican national hero, Miguel Hidalgo, curate of the village of Hidalgo, state of Guanajuato; he later was known as the father of Mexican Independence. He was initiated in 1808. He was defeated at the River Santiago, 1811, and betrayed into the hands of the Spaniards, q.v.

John C. B. Ehringhaus (1882–1949) Governor of North Carolina, 1933–37. b. Feb. 5, 1882 at Elizabeth City, N.C. Graduate of U. of N.C., and admitted to bar in 1903, practicing at Elizabeth City. After a term as governor, he practiced at Raleigh. Member of Eureka Lodge No. 317 of Elizabeth City (EA Nov. 13, 1917; FC Feb. 18, 1918; MM Feb. 26, 1918). Exalted in Cherokee Chapter No. 14, R.A.M. on Oct. 14, 1920 and knighted in Griggs Commandery No. 14, K.T. on Feb. 1, 1921—all of Elizabeth City, N.C. d. July 29, 1949.

Robert L. Eichelberger Lieutenant General, U.S. Army. b. March 9, 1886 at Urbana, Ohio. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1909 and advanced through grades to major general in 1941 and lieutenant general in 1942. He served on Mexican border in 1911, Canal Zone, 1911–15, and major of infantry in 1918–19. He was with the Siberian Expeditionary Forces in 1918; Philippines, 1920; China and Japan, 1920–21; General Staff, 1921–24; adjutant general of U.S. Military Academy, 1931–35; sec. General Staff at Washington, 1935–38; commander of the Presidio, San Francisco and 30th Infantry, 1938–40; superintendent of U.S. Military Academy, 1940–42. In WWII he commanded the 77th Infantry div., 1st Corps, and participated in Philippines reoccupation, New Guinea and New Britain campaigns. He commanded the 8th Army from 1944–48 and the allied and U.S. occupation forces of Japan from 1946–48 when he retired. Author of Our Bloody Jungle Road to Tokyo. Member of Pike Lodge No. 36, Washington, D.C., 32° AASR in Army Consistory, Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

on Nov. 28, 1925. d. Sept. 26, 1961.

Rudolph Eickemeyer (1831–1895) American inventor. b. in Altenbamberg, Bavaria, coming to the U.S. in 1850. He patented about 150 inventions including a hat-manufacturing machine that helped revolutionize that industry; a differential gear for mowing and reaping machine in 1870; many electrical machines and devices, including the first symmetrical drum armature iron-clad dynamo, direct-connected railway motor and others. He was the discoverer and first employer of Charles P. Steinmetz. Member of Rising Star Lodge No. 450, Yonkers, N.Y.

Carl Ben Eielson (1897–1929) Aviator and Arctic explorer. b. July 20, 1897 at Hatton, N.D. Early Arctic aviator who taught others about Arctic flying and flew Sir Hubert Wilkins over the North Pole. The plane in which they made the trip is in the North Dakota state historical building at Bismarck, where it is deposited as a memorial to Eielson. A member of Garfield Lodge No. 105 at Hatton, N.D., his degrees were conferred March 31, June 3, Sept. 16, 1921. He was lost while on a rescue mission in the Siberian Arctic on Nov. 9, 1929.

Arthur B. Eisenhower (1886–1958) Executive Vice President of Commerce Trust Co., Kansas City, Mo., and brother of President Eisenhower. b. Nov. 11, 1886 at Hope, Kans. With the Commerce Trust since 1905. Was a director of several banks and corporations including TWA airlines. Member of Rural Lodge No. 316 of Kansas City. Member of Orient Chapter No. 102, R.A.M. and Oriental Commandery

No. 35, K.T., but withdrew from each in 1937. Also withdrew from Ararat Shrine Temple in 1938. d. Feb., 1958.

Dwight D. Eisenhower President of the United States. He is not a Freemason, but holds the fraternity in high regard. On February 24, 1955 he addressed 1,100 Freemasons at a breakfast given by Frank S. Land in the Statler Hotel in Washington, D.C. At this time he stated: "I feel a distinct sense of pride in appearing before this group which takes on its own shoulders the care and welfare of the unfortunate. This group, by action, recognizes the responsibilities of brotherhood by helping one another . . . you are setting an example to all of us that we must do our duty if we are to prove the Communists to be in error—to be liars."

Milton S. Eisenhower President of Pennsylvania State University since 1950. b. Sept. 15, 1899 at Abilene, Kans. Graduate of Kansas State Coll. in 1924. Honorary degrees from 17 colleges and universities. City editor of the Abilene Daily Reflector in 1918 and 1920–21. From 1924–26 he was U.S. vice consul at Edinburgh, Scotland. From 1926–40 he was with the U.S. department of agriculture as assistant to the secretary and director of information. He was director of the War Relocation Authority in 1942 and associate director of the Office of War Information 1942–43. From 1943–50 he was president of Kansas State Coll. He has served on many national and international committees on education, relief, etc., including membership on the executive board of UNESCO special ambassador and personal representative of the President on Latin American affairs, and director of Freedoms Foundation. Made a Mason “at sight” by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania on Nov. 5, 1951 by William E. Yeager, grand master; petitioned State College Lodge No. 700 at State College, Pa., on May 13, 1952 and was admitted June 10, 1952.

Walter E. Ekblaw (1882–1949) Geographer. Geologist and botanist on Crocker Land Arctic Expedition of 1913–17. b. March 10, 1882 at Rantoul, Ill. Graduate of U. of Illinois including Ph.D. He was research associate of American Museum of Natural History, 1917–22, consultant geologist until 1924 and editor of Economic Geography from 1924. Member of Rantoul Lodge No. 470, Rantoul, Ill., receiving degrees on June 5, June 21 and Aug. 30, 1906. d. June 5, 1949.

Samuel Elbert (1743–1788) Revolutionary Brigadier General; Governor of Georgia, and last grand master of Georgia to be appointed by the United Grand Lodge of England. b. in Prince William parish, S.C., he was orphaned at an early age and went to Savannah. In 1774, he was elected captain of a grenadier company and entered the Continental army with rank of lieutenant colonel in 1776. He participated in an expedition against the British in East Florida and later captured Fort Oglethorpe. At the action of Brier Creek, where he commanded 60 continentals and 160 militia, he was surrounded on three sides and made a valiant stand. He was captured and wounded in this action and according to accounts was saved by a British officer who drew him out of the line of fire when he had given a Masonic sign. He was a member of Solomon Lodge No. 1, Savannah. He resigned as grand master of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Georgia (under English constitution) on Dec. 16, 1786 in order that the new Grand Lodge of Georgia might be organized. He was made brigadier general in 1783 and subsequently held the rank of major general of Georgia militia. Elbert county, Ga., was named in his honor. d. Nov. 2, 1788.

Samuel H. Elbert (1833–1899) Governor of Colorado Territory in 1873. b. in Logan Co., Ohio. Following his term as governor, he was justice of the supreme court of Colorado. He was initiated in Plattsmouth Lodge No. 6 of Nebraska and was a charter member and first master of Union Lodge No. 7, Denver, Colo. in 1863, serving again in 1869. He was also a charter member of Denver Chapter No. 2, R.A.M. and member of Colorado Commandery No. 1, K.T., Denver. d. Nov. 27, 1899.

Francis, Lord Elcho Grand Master Mason (57th) of Scotland in 1827–29. He was later the 8th Earl of Wemyss.

Francis Charteris, Lord Elcho Grand Master Mason (36th) of Scotland in 1786–87.

Bowman Elder (1888–1954) President of Southern Indiana Railway and veterans' organization executive. b. March 4, 1888 at Indianapolis, Ind. Entered real estate business with father in 1912. Vice president of Circle Agencies, Inc., and consular agent for France at Indianapolis, 1934–40. Served in France during WWI. In 1927 he was chairman of the France Convention Committee of the American Legion when 20,000 legionnaires, known as the "2nd A.E.F." went to France. It was the largest peace time movement in history. He was national treasurer of the American Legion, 1928–33. Received his degrees in Oriental Lodge No. 500, Indianapolis, Ind., on Oct. 21, Oct. 28, Nov. 4, 1919. d. June 10, 1954.

Harry S. Eldred Executive Vice President of Armour & Co., since 1950. b. Jan. 21, 1889 at Colfax, Ind. He was an auditor from 1909 until 1919 when he became plant manager of Morris & Co., Kansas City. In 1923 he went with Armour as plant accountant, becoming general auditor in 1925, assistant to vice president in charge of operations in 1930, general manager of plants in 1934, vice president in charge of operations in 1936 and executive vice president and member of executive committee since 1950. Mason.

Charles, 5th Earl of Elgin Grand Master Mason (23rd) of Scotland, 1761–62. Also the 7th Earl of Kincardine.

Edward James Bruce, 10th Earl of Elgin Grand Master Mason (83rd) of Scotland, 1921–22. Also 14th Earl of Kincardine. Initiated in Lord Elgin and Bruce Lodge No. 1077 in 1912 and served as master in 1913 and 1922. He affiliated with Lodge No. 77 and was master in 1914. Also member of Old Etonian Lodge No. 4500 (English) and master of it in 1928. Founding member of Librarius Lodge No. 6966 (English); member of Royal Altha Lodge No. 16 (English) and master of same in 1948. Honorary past master of Elgin Lodge No. 7 (Quebec) in 1923. He is past senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England and an active Royal Arch Mason. He is the head of the Royal Order of Scotland, an organization traditionally founded by his ancestor, Robert le Bruce. The earl lives at Broomhall, Dunfermline, and in the entrance hall is displayed the famous sword of Robert le Bruce, q.v., that has been handed down through the family.

John Eliot (1604–1690) “Apostle of the Indians,” minister and author. b. in Widford, Hertfordshire, England on Aug. 5, 1604. He graduated from Cambridge in 1622, and after teaching school, he entered the holy orders of the Church of England. On Nov. 4, 1631 he landed in Boston, Mass. He first preached in a Boston church and then moved to Roxbury where he taught the Indians for 60 years. He saw much of his work with the Indians destroyed by King Philip’s War. He was the author of A Primer or Catechism, in the Massachusetts Indian Language (1654); Up-Bookum Psalmes (1663) and many others. His Indian translation of the Bible in 1663 was the first Bible printed in North America. Although he is thought to have been a Freemason, no record has been found. Mackey’s Encyclopedia shows a facsimile of a shipping mark with Masonic emblems sent to Eliot from England.

Elizabeth I (1533–1603) Queen of England and Ireland from 1558–1603. Anderson referred to her in his first Book of Constitutions of the Grand Lodge of England. After stating that no woman should be admitted as a member of a Masonic lodge, he said: “The learned and magnanimous Queen Elizabeth, who encourag’d other Arts, discourag’d this; because, being a Woman, she could not be made a Mason, tho’, as other great Women, she might have much employ’d Masons like Semiramis and Artemisia.” He continued, “Elizabeth being jealous of any Assemblies of her Subjects, whose Business she was not duly appris’d of, attempted to break up the Annual Communication of Masons, as dangerous to her Government. But as old Masons have transmitted it by Tradition, when the noble Persons her Majesty had commissioned, and brought a sufficient Posse with them at York, on St. John’s Day, were once admitted into the Lodge, they made no use of Arms, and returned the Queen a most honorable Account of the ancient Fraternity, whereby her political fears and doubts were dispell’d, and she let them alone as a People much respected by the Noble and Wise of all the polite Nations, but neglected the Art all her Reign.” In his edition of 1738, Anderson added the following: “Now Learning of all Sorts revived, and the good old Augustan Style began to peep from under its rubbish. And it would have soon made great progress if the Queen had affected Architecture. But hearing the Masons had certain secrets that could not be reveal’d to her (for that she could not be Grand Master) and being jealous of all Secret Assemblies, she sent an armed force to break up their annual Grand Lodge at York on St. John’s Day, 27th December, 1561. But Sir Thomas Sackville, Grand Master, took care to make some of the chief men sent Free-Masons, who then joining in that Communication, made a very honourable report to the Queen, and she never more attempted to dislodge or distrust them, but esteem’d them as a peculiar sort of men that cultivated peace and friendship, arts and science, without meddling in the affairs of Church and State.” This is undoubtedly pure fiction.

Elizabeth II Queen of England. She is grand patroness of each of the three Royal Masonic Benevolent Institutions conducted by the Grand Lodge of England—one for old people and one each for boys and girls. When she married Lord Mountbatten, now Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, q.v., the United Grand Lodge of England presented her with a gift costing $2,500 in appreciation of the services her father, King George VI, q.v.; rendered to the Craft.

Stephen B. Elkins (1841–1911) U.S. Secretary of War, 1891–93, and U.S. Senator from West Virginia, 1895–1911. b. Sept. 26, 1841 in Perry Co., Ohio, moving to Missouri in his youth and attending the U. of Missouri in 1860. He served as a captain of the 77th Missouri regiment in the Civil War and later went to New Mexico, where he was admitted to the bar in 1864. He accumulated a fortune in stock raising and mining and was a member of the territorial legislature in 1865–66 and U.S. district attorney in 1870–72. He was then elected a delegate to congress and served two terms, 1873–77. In 1875 he became interested in West Virginia railroads, founding the town of Elkins, W.Va. and moving there about 1890. He was a member of Montezuma Lodge No. 109, New Mexico. At one time he was captured by Quantrill's band, tied up and ready to be shot, when, it is claimed, he gave a Masonic sign and was enabled to make his escape.

William L. Elkins Founder of the Pennsylvania Masonic Home for Girls. He became a member of Harmony Lodge No. 52 of Philadelphia on June 4, 1864.

Henry Ellenbogen U.S. Congressman, 73rd to 75th

Congresses (1933–38) from 33rd Pa. dist. b. April 3, 1900. Graduate of Duquesne U. He has been judge of the court of common pleas of Allegheny Co. since 1938. Active in labor arbitration, he is a member of the national panel of arbitrators of American Arbitration Assn. Member of Oakland Lodge No. 535, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mizpeh Chapter No. 288, R.A.M. and Allegheny Council No. 18, R. & S.M. of Pittsburgh and Islam Grotto.

William Ellery (1727–1820) Signer of the Declaration of Independence. b. Dec. 22, 1727 at Newport, RI., where his father was a successful merchant and politician. Like his father, he attended Harvard, graduating in 1747. He later engaged in business in Newport and began the practice of law there in 1770. He took his seat in the Continental Congress in May, 1776 and was an influential member. In 1785 he was an active supporter of Rufus King, q.v., in his effort to abolish slavery throughout the country. He served in congress until 1786 with the exception of the years 1780 and 1782. d. Feb. 15, 1820. It cannot be said for certain that Ellery was a Freemason. There is record of a “William Ellery” being made a Mason in St. John’s Lodge of Boston on Oct. 12 and also Oct. 25 of 1748. Ellery had graduated from Harvard in Boston the year before. The same Ellery was present at the celebration of St. John the Evangelist Day by the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts on Dec. 27, 1753 and also attended a sermon with the grand lodge at Boston’s Trinity church on Oct. 1, 1755. His name on the list of members of St. John’s gives the date of reception, but under the column for withdrawal or death, no entry was made, indicating they had no knowledge of what became of him. There was also such a name on the rolls of St. John's Lodge No. 4, Hartford, Conn., showing he was admitted Feb. 8, 1763 and was treasurer of the lodge later in the year.

Aaron Elliott (?–1811) First American physician west of the Mississippi and first master of the first lodge west of that river. He came to Missouri from Connecticut, settling near Ste. Genevieve. Land records of 1798 show that he purchased a tract from Maxwell, the Cure, that year. He probably received his degrees in the East, for he is found as a visitor at Kaskaskia No. 107 (across the river in Illinois) on Dec. 27, 1806 at the feast of St. John the Evangelist. He next appears as one of the signers of the application for a dispensation for Louisiana Lodge No. 109, being recommended in the petition (to the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania) as master of the lodge. The first returns of the lodge (1808) gives his name as master and charter member. When St. Louis Lodge No. 111 applied for a dispensation on Aug. 2, 1808, it had to have the approval of the nearest lodge—which was No. 109 at Ste. Genevieve. Their action was prompt, for six days later, on Aug. 8, Elliott as master signed the request directed to the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, stating . . . “we do further recommend Brother Meriwether Lewis, q.v., a Past Master Mason, Thomas Fiveash Riddick, q.v., a Master Mason, and Brother Rufus Easton, q.v., a Master Mason, as proper persons to fill the respective offices to which they have been nominated in a new Lodge to be constituted in the town of St. Louis. . . .” His family was closely allied with the old established families of Ste. Genevieve, one daughter marrying William C. Carr and another Leon Delassus. d. July, 1811.

Byron K. Elliott President of John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. b. May 5, 1899 at Indianapolis, Ind. Degrees from Indiana and Harvard universities. Admitted to Indiana bar in 1921, practicing at Indianapolis. Was judge of the superior court of Indiana from 1926–29, resigning in the latter year. President of the Curtis–Wright Flying Service of Ind. 1927–29. Went with John Hancock in 1934 as a solicitor, becoming general counsel, director, executive vice president and president. Served as lieutenant in WWI. Mason, receiving 33° AASR (NJ) in Sept., 1957.

Erroll T. Elliott College president, editor and executive of Friends of America. b. Nov. 10, 1894 at Carthage, Mo. Degrees from Friends U. (Wichita, Kans.) and U. of Colorado. A pastor of the Friends church from 1926–30 and secretary of Five Years Meeting of Friends in America, 1930–36. President of William Penn Coll. at Oskaloosa, Ia., 1942–44. Since 1944 he has been executive secretary of Five Years Meeting of Friends and editor of The American Friend at Richmond, Ind. Mason.

Francis P. Elliott (1861–1924) Editor. b. July 29, 1861 at Nashville, Tenn. Taught and supervised schools in early years. With Harper & Bros., New York, 1898–1900; managing editor of Home Magazine, New York, 1900–03; The New Age, Washington, 1903–04; The Great Southwest, Denver, 1906–08. Author of Pals First; Lend Me Your Name; and The Shadow Girl. Mason. d. Aug. 13, 1924.

I. H. Elliott Union Brigadier General, Civil War. Brevetted March 13, 1865 in Volunteers. Member of Bureau Lodge No. 112, Princeton, Ill.

James D. Elliott (1859–1933) U.S. District Judge, District of South Dakota, 1911–33. b. Oct. 7, 1859 at Mt. Sterling, Ill. Admitted to S.D. bar in 1884 and practiced at Tyndall, and later, Aberdeen. Raised in Mount Zion Lodge No. 6, Springfield, S.D. on March 27, 1887, affiliating with Bon Homme Lodge No. 101 at Tyndall as a charter member on June 18, 1888; was senior deacon of the latter in 1889–90. d. Jan. 30, 1933.

Kenneth B. Elliott Vice President of the Studebaker Corp. from 1941. b. Jan. 22, 1896 at Lebanon, Mo. Graduate of Drury Coll., Springfield, Mo. in 1916. Began as an accountant and auditor. Went with the Studebaker Corp. in 1928 as assistant treasurer and was later assistant comptroller and assistant to president. Member of Laclede Lodge No. 83 and Lebanon Chapter No. 64, both of Lebanon, Mo.

Clyde T. Ellis U.S. Congressman, 76th and 77th Congresses (1939–43) from 3rd Ark. dist. b. Dec. 21, 1908 near Garfield, Ark. Admitted to bar in 1933 and practiced at Garfield and Bentonville. Served terms in both bodies of the state legislature. Member of Bentonville Lodge No. 48, Bentonville, Ark.

Crawford H. Ellis President of Pan American Life Insurance Co. from 1912 and Vice President of United Fruit Co. from 1909. b. Aug. 26, 1875 at Selma, Ala. He began as an accountant in 1893 and in 1899 was manager of the United Fruit Co., serving in that capacity until 1909 when he became vice president. Mason and Knight Templar.

Griffith O. Ellis (1869–1948) Editor, publisher and Boy Scout founder. b. Nov. 19, 1869 at Urbana, Ohio. Graduate of U. of Michigan. Became connected with the Sprague Publishing Co., Detroit in 1891 and was president of it from 1908–39. He was editor of the American Boy published by the above house from 1908–40. Also president of the Wm. A. Scripps Co. He participated in the organization of the Boy Scouts of America in 1910 and has served on the national council since that time. Received the award of Silver Buffalo in 1931 from Boy Scouts. Was an officer of two banks and president of the Detroit Street Railway Commission from 1920–30 which municipalized Detroit's system. Raised April 11, 1911 in Oriental Lodge No. 240; 32° AASR (NJ). d. Feb. 4, 1948.

John W. Ellis (1820–1861) Governor of North Carolina, 1858–61, dying in office. b. Nov. 25, 1820 in Rowan Co., N.C. Graduate of U. of North Carolina in 1841 and admitted to bar following year. A member of the state house of commons from 1844–48 when he was elected judge of the superior court of N.C. As governor he took possession of the U.S. arsenal at Fayetteville and the U.S. mint at Charlotte in 1861. He was a member of Fulton Lodge No. 99, Salisbury, N.C. and master of same in 1853. In 1850 he represented Wm. R. Davie Lodge No. 119 at the grand lodge sessions. Also member of Salisbury Chapter No. 20, R.A.M.

Thomas Q. Ellis General Grand High Priest of the General Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, 1954–57. b. Dec. 11, 1890 near Bolling Green, Miss. Educated in public schools and business college. For 20 years he was a train dispatcher for the Illinois Central Railroad, but turning to politics in 1931, he was elected clerk of the supreme court of Mississippi over five opponents in the largest vote ever given a statewide candidate, and took office in Jan., 1932. Since that time he has been reelected five times without opposition. He is a life member of Valley City Lodge No. 402, Water Valley, Miss., and past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Mississippi; life member of McConico Chapter No. 96, R.A:M., Water Valley, and grand high priest of the state in 1941; life member and past master of J. J. Melton Council No. 50, R. & S.M.; life member and past commander of St. Cyr Commandery No. 6 and past grand commander of the Grand Commandery, K.T. of Mississippi. He is past sovereign of St. Leonard Conclave, Red Cross of Constantine; member of Delta Consistory, AASR (SJ) and KCCH. Ellis is much in demand as a public speaker.

William H. Ellis (1867–1948) Justice, Supreme Court of Florida, 1911–38. b. Sept. 17, 1867 in Pensacola, Fla. Admitted to bar in 1889. Served Florida as state auditor and attorney general. Mason. d. April 14, 1948.

George R. Ellison (1881–1957) Judge, Supreme Court of Missouri, 1931–1955. b. July 22, 1881 at Canton, Mo. Graduate of Harvard U. in 1903, he studied law at U. of Missouri and was admitted to bar in 1904, practicing at Maryville. He was a commissioner of the state supreme court from 1927–30.

Member of Nodaway Lodge No. 470, Maryville, Mo., receiving degrees on Jan. 13, June 13, Aug. 1, 1912. d. July 17, 1957.

Lee Ellmaker (1896–1951) Publisher. b. Aug. 7, 1896 at Lancaster, Pa. Began as a newspaper reporter in 1913; vice president of the National City Bureau in Washington, D.C. 1918–25; correspondent for International News Service, 1919–23. In 1926 he organized the Philadelphia Daily News, and has since been its publisher. While with the Macfadden Publications from 1927–31, he published Liberty and other publications for them. From 1931–33 he published Pictorial Review and from 1932–40, Woman's World. Served with U.S. Navy in WWI. Member of Keystone Lodge No. 271, Philadelphia, receiving degrees on Dec. 8, 1919, Nov. 29, 1920 and April 18, 1921. d. March 27, 1951.

Oliver Ellsworth (1745–1807) Third Chief Justice of U.S. Supreme Court; first U.S. Senator from Connecticut. b. April 29, 1745 in Windsor, Conn. He entered Yale U. in 1762, but afterward went to Princeton U. where he was graduated in 1766 with high honors. It was while a student at Princeton that he became a charter member of St. John's Lodge at Princeton, N.J. on Dec. 27, 1765. He studied theology for a year and abandoned it for law, being admitted to the bar in 1771. In 1778 he took his seat as a delegate to the Continental congress, serving until 1783. In 1784 he accepted the assignment of judge of the Connecticut superior court and held it until he became a member of the Constitutional convention of 1787. It was through his insistence that the words "national government" were removed from the draft and "government of the United States” substituted. He was an advocate of state’s rights at the convention, but did not have an opportunity to sign the Constitution as he was called home at that time. He was U.S. senator from Connecticut from 1789 to 1796 and was on the committee for organizing the U.S. judiciary, the bill being in his own handwriting. He was the Federalist leader in the senate. The mission of John Jay to England in 1794 was at his suggestion; and in 1799 he was named with Patrick Henry and William R. Davie for a special mission to France to negotiate with that country at a time of strained relations. He later served as chief justice of the supreme court of Connecticut, but ill health forced his resignation after serving a short term. d. Nov. 26, 1807.

Dave Elman Actor, radio writer and director. b. May 6, 1900, in Park River, N.D. From 1914–22 he was an actor and from 1922–24 a song writer. In the latter year he became a radio writer, director and producer. He originated and produced the radio feature Hobby Lobby in 1938. He is a lecturer on the value of hobbies and in 1939 wrote Hobbies on Parade. Mason.

Charles H. Elston U.S. Congressman to 78th through 81st Congresses (1939–51) from 1st Ohio dist. b. Aug. 1, 1891 at Marietta, Ohio. Admitted to Ohio bar in 1914 and practiced at Cincinnati. In aviation service during WWI. Member of Walnut Hills Lodge No. 483, Cincinnati, receiving degrees on March 16, April 27 and May 25, 1915; 32° AASR (NJ), Shriner, member of Royal Order of Jesters and Grotto.

Julian Eltinge (1883–1941) Actor. b. May 14, 1883 at Boston, Mass. He began his professional career at Keith's Theatre, Boston. He was famous for his female impersonations. Eltinge was a member of Pacific Lodge No. 233 of New York City and a charter member of the "233 Masonic Club" of Hollywood, Calif. d. March 7, 1941.

Ford Q. Elvidge Governor of Guam, 1953–56. b. Nov. 30, 1892 at Oakland, Calif. Admitted to Washington bar in 1918 and practiced at Seattle. Active in many civic enterprises and organizations. Served as a lieutenant in WWI with 13th Infantry. Governor of Washington State Bar Assn., 1943–46; past president of English Speaking Union. A past master of Arcane Lodge No. 87, Seattle, he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Washington for 16 months (1944–45). He served on the grand lodge jurisprudence committee from 1945–53. A member of both York and Scottish Rites, he received his 33° AASR (SJ) on Dec. 11, 1943. In 1956 he was vice president of the American Baptist convention. Grand Sovereign of the national Red Cross of Constantine (1957).

John W. Elwood Business executive. b. July 17, 1895 at Illion, N.Y. He was assistant to vice president of General Electric Co. in 1947–48 and assistant secretary of same in 1918–22. Later he was secretary of Radio Corp. of America and vice president of Federal Telegraph Co. of Delaware. In 1927–29 he was assistant to the president of National Broadcasting Co., program manager of the same from 1928–29 and vice president, 1929–34. For a time he was a public relations consultant. He was manager of the international division of NBC and since 1942 has been general manager of NBC-KNBC at San Francisco. Mason.

Philip H. Elwood, Jr. Landscape architect and regional planner. b. Dec. 7, 1884 at Fort Plain, N.Y. Graduate of Cornell U. Organized department of landscape architecture at Ohio State U. in 1915 and head of same department at Iowa State Coll. since 1923. Landscape engineer for Argonne cemetery (France) in 1919. At various times he has been consultant or advisor to Columbus, Ohio; Iowa Conservation plan, Iowa Planning Board, National Resources Commission, Missouri Valley Regional Planning Commission, Ames, Iowa; Iowa Roadside Improvement Council, American Association of Highway Officials, U.S. Army Engineers, Boys Town, Nebr.; Pi Beta Phi settlement school (Tenn.), and National Park Service. Mason, 32° AASR.

Frank C. Emerson (1882–1931) Governor of Wyoming, 1927–30. b. May 26, 1882 at Saginaw, Mich. Graduate of U. of Michigan in 1904. Entered general engineering practice in Wyoming in 1904 and was chief engineer of the Wyoming Land & Irrigation Co. and Wyoming Irrigation Co., 1907–15. From 1915–19 he was superintendent of the Big Horn Canal Association and Lower Hanover Canal Association and also state engineer of Wyoming from 1919–27. He was made a Mason Feb. 5, 1807 in Cheyenne Lodge No. 1 at Cheyenne and affiliated with Greybull Lodge No. 34, Greybull on June 5, 1914. On Jan. 25, 1919 he affiliated with Cloud Peak Lodge No. 27 at Worland. He was made a Knight Templar in Wyoming Commandery No. 1 and received 32° AASR (SJ) on Dec. 13, 1907. d. Feb. 18, 1931.

Nehemiah Emerson A captain in the Revolutionary War who was one of the guards at the execution of Major Andre, q.v. Received his degrees in Washington Lodge No. 10 (military) and was later a member of Merrimack Lodge at Haverhill, Mass.

DeWitt McKinley Emery (1896–1955) Founder of National Small Business Men's Association in 1937 and president of same. b. Dec. 12, 1896 at Grove City, Pa. President and treasurer of Monroe Letterhead Co. since 1929. Mason. d. July 23, 1955.

Louis L. Emmerson (1863–1941) Governor of Illinois, 1929–33. b. Dec. 27, 1863 at Albion, Ill. He entered the mercantile business in Mt. Vernon, Ill. in 1883 and in 1901 organized and was president of the Third National Bank, Mt. Vernon. Active in Republican politics, he was chairman of the state central committee, served on state board of equalization and was elected secretary of state in 1916, 1920 and 1924. He was initiated on Dec. 8, 1890 in Mt. Vernon Lodge No. 31 and was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Illinois in 1929. 33° AASR (NJ). He was also grand commander of the Grand Commandery, K.T. of Illinois and in 1929 was appointed grand treasurer of the Grand Encampment, K.T. In 1913 he was grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Illinois. d. Feb. 4, 1941.

Raoul Engel Belgian Masonic martyr. A past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Belgium. He was one of 112 Freemasons murdered during the Nazi occupation of this country. Others included Georges Petre, grand commander of the Scottish Rite in Belgium, the lieutenant grand commander, General Emile Lartigue and eleven of the twelve members of the supreme council. Broadcasts over the Nazi radio stations in 1941 accused Freemasonry thusly: "To sabotage everything, to befoul everything, to lead the people to ruin, to sow hatred and despair everywhere, sums up the whole activity of the Freemasons."

Fred Englehardt (1885–1944) President of the University of New Hampshire from 1937. b. April 15, 1885 at Naugatuck, Conn. Graduate of Yale, Columbia and Harvard universities. Taught and administered schools until 1919. Was director of administration in Pennsylvania state department of education and professor and dean at U. of Pittsburgh and U. of Minnesota. Member of No. Constellation Lodge No. 291, Malone, N.Y. d. Feb. 3, 1944.

Elbert H. English (1816–1884) Chief Justice of Supreme Court of Arkansas, 1854–1884. b. March 6, 1816 in Madison Co., Ala. He studied law and practiced at Athens, Ala. until 1844 when he moved to Little Rock, Ark. He was general grand high priest of the General Grand Chapter from 1874–77. Raised in Athens Lodge No. 16, Athens, Ala. In 1843 he affiliated with Western Star Lodge No. 2 in Little Rock and was master in 1845 and served as grand master of Arkansas in 1849. In 1859 he was again elected grand master and served continuously for ten years. He was exalted in Union Chapter No. 2, Little Rock, in 1846 and was a member of the convention that formed the Grand Chapter of Arkansas in 1851, being elected first grand high priest in 1851, 1857, 1858, 1869 and 1870. The cryptic degrees were communicated to him by Albert Pike, q.v., in 1853 for the purpose of organizing Occidental Council No. 1. When the Grand Council of Arkansas was organized in 1860, he was elected grand recorder. In 1865, 1866, 1871 and 1872 he was grand master of the same. English was knighted in Hugh de Payens Commandery No. 1, Little Rock, on its organization in 1853 and assisted in organizing the Grand Commandery of Arkansas in 1872. He was grand commander in 1876–77. Received 33° AASR (SJ) in 1859 and made grand inspector general and honorary member of the Supreme Council. d. Sept. 1, 1884.

James E. English (1812–1890) U.S. Senator and Governor of Connecticut. b. March 13, 1812 in New Haven, Conn. He was apprenticed in a carpenter's shop and by the time he reached his majority was a master builder. He engaged in the lumber business, real estate, banking and manufacturing and became one of the richest men in the state. He served in both legislative bodies of the state in the 1850's and was U.S. congressman from 1861–65. Served as governor of Connecticut from 1867–70 and elected U.S. senator in 1875. Member of Trumbull Lodge No. 22, New Haven. d. March 2, 1890.

William E. English (1854–1926) U.S. Congressman to 48th Congress (1883–85), from Indiana. He declined reelection. b. Nov. 3, 1854 at English-ton Park, Ind. He practiced law at Indianapolis until 1882. Served in both state legislative houses and was in the Spanish–American War under General Joseph Wheeler, being seriously wounded in the battle of Santiago. Raised in Centre Lodge No. 23, Indianapolis on March 17, 1890 and was master of same in 1893, 1894 and 1898, serving as grand master of the Grand Lodge of Indiana in 1904. A member of Indianapolis Chapter No. 5, R.A.M. he was high priest in 1900; greeted in Indianapolis Council No. 3, R. & A.M., he was master in 1900; knighted in Raper Commandery No. 1, K.T. and member of AASR (NJ) at Indianapolis. He is the author of History of Masonry in Indianapolis (190.). d. April 29, 1926.

William H. English (1822–1896) U.S. Congressman from Indiana, 1853–61. b. Aug. 27, 1822 in Lexington, Ind. A lawyer, he was secretary of the state convention that framed the constitution for Indiana, and was a member and first speaker of the house of representatives. From 1853–61 he was one of the regents of the Smithsonian Institution. He was nominated for vice president in 1880 on the Democratic ticket with General Hancock. Author of Conquest of the Northwest and other works. He became a member of Center Lodge No. 23, Indianapolis, when past 71 years of age (1893). d. Feb. 7, 1896.

John Entick (1703–1773) Church of England clergyman and schoolmaster. He is chiefly remembered in Freemasonry for his edition of the Book of Constitutions, published in 1756. It omitted some additions to the ancient charges which had marred Anderson's second edition of 1738. He was grand steward in 1755 and junior grand warden in 1758. His name appears on the title page of the next Book of Constitutions (1767), but it is improbable that he had much to do with its preparation as at that time he was in ill repute Masonically, as a complaint had been lodged against him regarding his administration of accounts of his lodge. His Latin dictionary was in use for many years by schools.

Eugene C. Eppley President of Eppley Hotels Co. since 1915, operating 20 hotels. b. April 8, 1884 at Akron, Ohio. Began with McKinley Hotel at Canton, Ohio in 1903. He is a director of the Sheraton Corp. of America, Mid-Continent Airlines, and served as national food administrator for hotels in WWI. In WWII he was food consultant to the secretary of war. He is a director of the Mt. Rushmore National Memorial Society of the Black Hills (S.D.) and was King Ak-Sar-Ben of the legendary Nebraskan Empire of Quivera at Omaha in 1933. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

Jean Jacques Duval Epremesnil (1746–1794) Sometimes spelled Epremenu and Espremesnil. French jurist and politician. b. Dec. 5, 1745 at Pondicherry, India. He was educated in Paris and became a member of the French parliament, where, in 1788, he vigorously defended its rights against the royalty. For this he was imprisoned for four months. On his return to Paris, he was hailed as a hero and was chosen first deputy by the nobility. When he defended the royal cause as a member of the national assembly in 1791, and protested against the new constitution, he was attacked by a mob, wounded and rescued by the state troops. He escaped to his property near Havre, but was arrested there and condemned to death by a revolutionary tribunal at Paris and was guillotined on April 22, 1794. His wife, Francoise Augustine, who was called Mere des Pauvres, because of her many charities, was guillotined at the same time. Epremesnil was a member of the famous Lodge of the Nine Sisters at Paris, his name being on the calendar for 1788 as a “deputy” of the lodge.

George B. Erath (1813–1891) Indian fighter, soldier, surveyor. b. Jan. 1, 1813. He was a major in the battle of San Jacinto, Texas and later surveyed the site on which the city of Waco is located. Erath County, Texas is named for him. His original lodge is not known, but he was a charter member and first treasurer of Bosque Lodge No. 92, Waco (now Waco No. 92) in 1852. He served as secretary through 1855, was suspended NPD on Aug. 1, 1889, but reinstated in Dec. of that year. d. May 13, 1891.

Otto Linne Erdmann (1804–1869) German chemist who was known for his research on nickel, indigo, illuminating gas, and for determinations of atomic weights. Bulletin of International Masonic Congress (1917) states he was a Freemason.

John E. Erickson (1863–1946) U.S. Senator and Governor of Montana. b. March 14, 1863 at Stoughton, Wis. Admitted to Kansas bar in 1891 and moved to Montana in 1894 where he practiced at Kalispell; was county attorney and district judge. He was governor of Montana two terms, 1925–33, and on March 14, 1933 was appointed U.S. senator to fill a vacancy, serving until Nov. 6, 1934. He was a member of Chateau Lodge No. 44, later dimitting to Kalispell Lodge No. 42, which he served as master. Member of Cyrene Commandery No. 10, K.T. at Kalispell; 32° AASR (SJ) at Helena and Algeria Shrine Temple at Helena. d. May 25, 1946.

Leif Erickson Justice, Supreme Court of Montana. b. July 29, 1906 at Cashton, Wis. Graduate of U. of Chicago, he was admitted to Montana bar in 1934, serving as justice on supreme court from 1939–45. He received Democratic nomination for governor in 1944 and U.S. senator in 1946. Mason.

Milton S. Erlanger President of B.V.D. Co., 1929–48 and chairman of board of directors since 1948. b. Feb. 28, 1888 in Baltimore, Md. Graduate of Johns Hopkins U. in 1907. Joined B.V.D. Co. in 1907 and was elected vice president in 1909. Also director of N.C. Finishing Co., Salisbury–Erlanger Mills, Inc., Alexander Mfg. Co., and Lynchburg Garment Co. Member of Mount Nebo Lodge No. 257, New York City and Mecca Shrine Temple, New York City.

Mitchell L. Erlanger (1857–1940) Justice, Supreme Court of New York. He received a public school education and was self-educated in the classics. As sheriff of New York Co. in 1904–05 he effected many reforms and secured the release of many prisoners. Served on supreme court bench from 1907–1927 when he retired and was appointed official court referee for life. Received his degrees in True Craftsmen's Lodge No. 651, New York City on Jan. 23, Feb. 13 and Feb. 27, 1889; affiliated with Munn Lodge No. 190, New York City on April 13, 1893; affiliated with Pacific Lodge No. 233, New York City on Oct. 1, 1903. Member of the grand lodge committee on Hall and Asylum, 1905–06. d. Aug. 30, 1940.

Ernest Augustus (see Duke of Cumberland)

Ernest II, Duke of Saxony–Coburg (1818–1893) Full name was August Karl Leopold Alexander Eduard. The older son of Ernest I, he became duke on his death in 1844. Born in Coburg, he was educated at Bonn and traveled extensively. He fought successfully in the war against Denmark in 1849. His liberal policies prevented disturbances in his duchy during the revolutionary crisis of 1848–49. A nationalist, he favored Austrian leadership and long opposed Bismarck, later siding with Prussia in the Seven Weeks' War, and took part in Franco–Prussian War of 1870. He was known as an excellent musician and wrote several operas. He was a cousin of Queen Victoria of England and a brother of the Prince fl,Ä¢ Samuel J. Ervin, Jr. consort, Albert, and nephew of Leopold I of Belgium. He founded the Lodge Ernst zum Compass at Gotha in 1857 and was master of the same.

Ernest Ludwig II. Duke of SaxeGotha–Altenburg (1745–1804) Initiated in Lodge Kosmopolit at Altenburg in July, 1774. In 1775 he accepted grandmastership of the National Grand Lodge of Berlin, but was obliged to resign the office a year later.

Ernst Gottlob Albert, Prince of Mecklemburg–Strelitz (1742–1785) Brother of Duke Karl Ludwig Friedrich. He became a major general in the English Army. Member of Lodge Irene zu den drei Sternen at Rostock from 1773 until his death.

Richard P. Ernst (1858–1934) U.S. Senator from Kentucky, 1921–27. b. Feb. 28, 1858 in Covington, Ky. B.A. at Centre Coll. in 1878 and LL.D. from same college. LL.B. from U. of Cincinnati in 1880. Admitted to bar in 1880, entering practice at Covington. Long active in educational and church (Presbyterian) work. Raised in Temple Noyes Lodge No. 32, Washington, D.C., and became member of Col. Clay Lodge No. 159 at Covington. d. April 13, 1934.

Leon Errol (1881–1951) Movie comedian. Member of Pacific Lodge No. 233, New York City.

Lord Henry Erskine (1746–1817) Scottish orator and wit. He was lord advocate of Scotland in 1783, and again in 1806, and dean of the faculty of advocates from 1785–95. He failed at reelection because of his condemnation of the government's sedition and treason bills as unconstitutional. He was an eloquent and witty orator at the Scottish bar and was the author of The Emigrant, an Eclogue, and several poems. He was master of Canon-gate Kilwinning Lodge at Edinburgh in 1780.

Robert Erskine (1735–1795) Surveyor General and Geographer to the Army of the United States during the Revolutionary War. b. Sept. 7, 1735 in Scotland, the son of a Presbyterian minister, he graduated at the U. of Edinburgh and became a renowned mathematician and hydraulic engineer. He was honored with membership in the Royal Society at the same time as Benjamin Franklin. He invented a hydraulic pump used in draining coal, mines and wrote on bridge design, water flow in navigation, canal improvement and tidal influences. In 1770 he came to America as a representative of a London syndicate to salvage some of their investment in the New Jersey iron mines at Ringwood. At the outbreak of the Revolution, he espoused the colonial cause and turned the iron production over to the American army. It was Erskine's iron that formed the chain boom across the Hudson at West Point. His many field survey parties ran their lines all the way from Philadelphia to Boston, and up the Hudson and into the Mohawk Valley. More than 200 maps, the results of his cartographic skill, may be seen among the collections of the New York Historical Society. He is on record as one of the visitors to American Union Lodge at Morristown on Dec. 27, 1779, when the famous military traveling lodge entertained a distinguished assemblage, headed by General Washington. Erskine is supposed to have been made a Mason in Edinburgh or London. d. March 9, 1795.

Lord Thomas Erskine The 14th Grand Master Mason of Scotland in 1749.

Samuel J. Ervin, Jr. Justice of Supreme Court of North Carolina since 1948. Congressman from N.C. in 1946–47. b. Sept. 27, 1896 at Morganton, N.C. Degrees from U. of North Carolina and Harvard. Admitted to bar in 1919, he served as judge of criminal and superior courts. Served with First Infantry division (28th regiment) in WWI and was twice wounded in action. Member of Catawba Valley Lodge No. 217, Morganton, N.C.; Catawba Chapter No. 60, R.A.M., Hickory, N.C.; Lenoir Cornmandery No. 33, K.T., Lenoir, N.C. and 32° AASR (SJ) at Charlotte, N.C.

James B. Erwin (1856–1924) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. July 11, 1856 at Savannah, Ga., he graduated from U.S. Military Academy in 1880. He advanced through the grades to brigadier general in 1917. He participated in the Indian campaigns of 1885–86 and in 1897–98 he was superintendent of Yellowstone National Park. In WWI he commanded the 6th and 92nd divisions in France and took part in two major offensives as commander of the 12th brigade. Mason. d. July 10, 1924.

Marion C. Erwin Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. March 15, 1893 at Hartsville, Tenn. He enlisted in the Navy as an apprentice seaman in 1910; was commissioned ensign in 1917 and advanced through grades to rear admiral in 1946, retiring from active duty that year. In WWI he was with the armed guard and British grand fleet. In WWII he was with the amphibious forces in Africa, Solomons, Guam, Iwo Jima, Philippines and Japan landings (1941–45). Mason.

Von Steinbach Erwin (1244?–1318) A distinguished German architect, who, as his name implies, was born at Steinbach, near Buhl. He was master of the works at the Cathedral of Strasburg. He was the head of the German fraternity of stonemasons, who were the precursors of the modern Freemasons. He began the cathedral tower in 1275 and finished it and the doorway before his death in 1318. His son, namesake, and successor worked with him on the Strasburg cathedral.

Mariano Escobedo (1827–1902) Mexican General, who as commander-in-chief of the Mexican army defeated, captured and executed Maximilian, q.v., at Queretaro in 1867. Born in Galeana, state of Nuevo Leon, of humble parentage, he first tasted the military life when he fought against General Zachary Taylor in the war with the United States. From that time on he was almost constantly fighting for political causes. He aligned himself with Juarez, q.v., and the liberal party and fought against the Roman Catholic church parties. When Juarez established his government in Mexico City, in January, 1861, he made Escobedo a brigadier general. He was twice taken prisoner and escaped. At the intervention of Napoleon III in Mexican affairs, he began his long fight against the foreign rule. When the empire was established in June, 1864, with Maximilian as emperor of Mexico, he was obliged to give up the struggle and escaped into Texas where he set up a resistance headquarters at San Antonio. By November, 1865, he was ready to return to Mexico with a recruited force of American Negroes, ex-confederate soldiers and Mexican refugees. With the capture of the garrison at Monterrey, his good fortune continued until he had control of all the northern states and an army of 15,000 men. In 1867 Juarez made him commander-in-chief of all the Mexican republican armies, and he rapidly pushed into the interior and broke the French rule with the capture of Emperor Maximilian himself. He then retired, but was called back to put down a revolution of the church party in 1874. He led forces against General Diaz's, q.v., revolution in 1876 and was named secretary of war. When it became apparent that the revolution was a success, he organized a body of troops and made possible the escape of President Lerdo de Tejada and his cabinet to the Pacific coast where the entire party sailed to New York. He again found his way to San Antonio and issued a manifesto against Diaz. Later Diaz allowed him to retire to his estate in San Luis Potosi and eventually he even held a government position under Diaz' government. Escobedo was a member of the Supreme Council of the Scottish Rite of Mexico.

Joseph B. Esenwein (1867–1946) Editor and author. b. May 15, 1867 in Philadelphia, Pa. Editor and manager of Lippincott's Magazine, Philadelphia, 1905–14 and editor of The Writer's Monthly from 1915. He was an instructor in public speaking and a lecturer on educational, ethical and popular topics. Among his many writings are Writing the Short Story; Lessons in the Short Story; Writing the Photoplay; The Art of Story Writing; Writing for Magazines; The Art of Public Speaking (with Dale Carnegie). He also published many songs and hymns. Member of Franklin Lodge No. 134, Philadelphia, receiving degrees on Jan. 31, Feb. 28 and March 30, 1907. He was master of his lodge in 1912. d. Nov. 7, 1946.

Ascension Esquivel President of the Republic of Costa Rica, 1902–06. He was also secretary of state; a diplomat and jurist. Member of Esperanza Lodge No. 2 and Union Fraternal No. 19.

Jesse F. Essary (1881–1942) Journalist. b. Aug. 22, 1881 at Washburn, Tenn. Began on a Virginia paper as a reporter in 1903. In 1908 he became financial editor of the Baltimore Star, and, in the period 1910–12, he was Washington correspondent for the Baltimore News, New Orleans Item and Boston Journal. He served the Baltimore Sun in that capacity from 1912. In 1926 he was London correspondent for the Sun. Mason. d. March 11, 1942.

Count Estaing (see D'Estaing)

Joe E. Estes U.S. District Judge at Dallas, Texas since 1955. b. Oct. 24, 1903 at Commerce, Tex. Graduate of U. of Texas and admitted to bar in 1923. Member of John Peavy Lodge No. 1162, Fort Worth, Texas; 32' AASR (SJ) at Dallas and member of Hella Shrine Temple, Dallas.

Alvin C. Eurich University president and vice president and director of the Ford Fund for Advancement of Education since 1951. b. June 14, 1902 at Bay City, Mich. Degrees from North Central Coll., U. of Maine and U. of Minnesota, with honorary degrees from a number of other institutions. He was acting president of Stanford U. in 1948 and first president of State U. of New York, 1949–51. He was raised in Justice Lodge No. 753, New York City.

William Eustis (1753–1825) Governor of Massachusetts 1823–25; Secretary of War, 1807–13; U.S. Congressman from Mass., 1801–05 and 1820–23. b. June 10, 1753 at Cambridge, Mass., he graduated from Harvard in 1772, studied medicine under Dr. Joseph Warren, q.v., and entered the Revolutionary army as a regimental surgeon, serving throughout the war. For some years he was stationed opposite West Point, at the house of Col. Beverly Robinson, where Arnold had his headquarters. He was U.S. minister to Holland from 1814–18. Eustis was raised in St. Andrew's Lodge of Boston on Feb. 6, 1795. d. Feb. 6, 1825.

Edward A. Evans Brigadier General in Officers Reserve Corps and executive director of the Reserve Officers Association of the U.S. b. Sept. 17, 1895 in Muskogee, Okla. He was commissioned in the reserve in 1919 and advanced through grades to brigadier general. He saw active duty in both World Wars. Member of Monrovia Lodge No. 308; Foothill Chapter No. 129, R.A.M.; Foothill Commandery No. 63, K.T., all of Monrovia, Calif. He served as senior warden of his lodge and is past commander of his commandery. Member of Mahi Shrine Temple and Miami Court No. 88, Royal Order of Jesters, both of Miami, Fla.

Henry R. Evans (1861–1949) Author, student of psychical research and Masonic antiquities. b. Nov. 7, 1861 at Baltimore, Md. Graduate of U. of Maryland in 1884. Among his Masonic writings are History of the York and Scottish Rites, and Cagliostro and His Egyptian Rite of Freemasonry. Other writings include: The Napoleon Myth; The Spirit World Unmasked; The Old and the New Magic; The House of the Sphinx; Adventures in Magic; Life and Adventures of Robert Houdin, etc. He was raised May 16, 1894 in Benjamin B. French Lodge No. 15, Washington, D.C., receiving 32° AASR (SJ) in Washington, D.C. in 1902 and 33° on Oct., 1907. d. March 29, 1949.

Sir Horace Evans English doctor who was physician in ordinary to Queen Mary and was in attendance at her death in March, 1953. He enjoyed the personal confidence of the queen. A Freemason, he was consultant physician at the Royal Masonic Hospital.

John Evans (1814–1897) Second Territorial Governor of Colorado in 1862–65. He helped establish the Chicago public school system and was a planner of Northwestern University. Evanston, Ill., where the University is located, is named for him, as is Evans Lodge No. 524, which was established there in 1866, while he was yet alive. b. March 9, 1814 in Waynesville, Ohio, he studied medicine. In 1842 he campaigned for a state mental institution for Indiana and was later made superintendent of it. He came to Chicago as a lecturer at Rush Medical Coll. President Lincoln named him territorial governor of Colorado in order to save that territory for the Union cause. When he arrived there, he found that many of the Freemasons in Denver Lodge No. 5 were outspoken against the Union, so he and others organized Union Lodge No. 7 in 1863. He was raised July 6, 1844 in Attica Lodge No. 18, Attica, Ind., and was first master of Marion Lodge No. 35 at Indianapolis. He became a Royal Arch Mason in Indianapolis Chapter No. 5 in 1846. He was a charter member of Colorado Commandery No. 1, K.T. in Denver. As president of the Denver Pacific Railway, he drove the last spike to complete its entry into Denver in 1870. He was also an incorporator of the Denver Street Car System. He was buried by Union Lodge No. 7 and Colorado Commandery No. 1, K.T. on July 6, 1897. d. July 3, 1897.

John Gary Evans (1863–1942) Governor of South Carolina, 1894–97. b. Oct. 15, 1863 at Cokesbury, S.C. Admitted to bar in 1886 and served terms in both state legislative bodies. In 1895 he was president of the S.C. constitutional convention. Served in Spanish–American War as a major and assisted in organizing the civil government of Havana after the war. Member of Spartan Lodge No. 70, Spartanburg, S.C. d. June 27, 1942.

John W. Evans (1855–1943) Artist, engraver, philosopher and idealist. b. March 27, 1855 at Brooklyn, N.Y. He exhibited at the Chicago Exposition of 1893, Paris Exposition of 1900, and also in London, Berlin, Vienna, Munich and New York. He won the bronze medal at the Buffalo Exposition in 1901, St. Louis Exposition in 1915, and silver medal at Panama Exposition of 1915. He was a member of Commonwealth Lodge No. 409, New York City and master of same in 1886. d. March 10, 1943.

Lewis A. Evans President and General Manager of The Belt Railway Co. of Chicago since 1953. b. June 22, 1907 at Brownsville, Pa., he graduated from Carnegie Inst. of Tech. in 1928 and began his railroad career as engineer assistant with the Pennsylvania Railroad in 1928. He became superintendent of the Indianapolis division in 1948 and resigned in 1951 to become vice president and general manager of the C. & W.I. as well as the Belt in Chicago. Mason.

Ray O. Evans (1887–1954) Cartoonist. b. Dec. 1, 1887 at Columbus, Ohio. Graduate of Ohio State U. in 1910, began as an advertising artist for the Columbus Dispatch in 1910. He later was a cartoonist for the Dayton News, Baltimore American, and member of Puck art staff. He returned to the Columbus Dispatch in 1922 and has remained there since. He has created several special features including Maryland Movies; Snapshots at Annapolis; Pertinent Portraits; Kindly Karicatures and Uncle Funny Bunny for children. Member of Humboldt Lodge No. 476, Columbus, Ohio, receiving degrees on Jan. 10, Feb. 9, and Mar. 1, 1948; 32° AASR (NJ) in Columbus and member of Aladdin Shrine Temple, Columbus. d. Jan. 18, 1954.

Hal G. Evarts (1887–1934) Author. b. Aug. 24, 1887 at Topeka, Kans. In his early life he was a surveyor in the Indian Territory, rancher, trapper and guide. Among his writings are Passing of the Old West; The Yellow Horde; The Settling of the Sage; Fur Sign; Tumbleweed; Spanish Acres; The Painted Stallion; The Moccasin Telegraph; Fur Brigade; Tomahawk Rights; The Shaggy Legion and Short-grass. Mason. d. Oct. 18, 1934.

Sir Richard Everard (?–1733) Last proprietary governor of North Carolina (1725–1729) and first governor under the Crown (1728–1731). He took the place of George Burrington, q.v. in July, 1725 and was succeeded by him on Feb. 25, 1731. His administration was disturbed by frequent disagreements with the council. He is recorded as a member of the Ross Tavern Without Temple Bar, London, England in the returns of 1730. This lodge was founded in 1730, and erased in 1736.

d. Feb. 17, 1733 in London.

David C. Everest (1883–1955) President and General Manager of the Marathon Corp. b. Oct. 13, 1883 in Pine Grove, Mich. He began as office boy for Bryant Paper Co. in Kalamazoo, Mich. and has been with the Marathon Corp. paper and food package manufacturers at Rothschild, Wis. since 1909, and president of same since 1939. He is also president of the Wausau Paper Mills Co. and vice president of Masonite Corp. and Longview Fibre Co. Received his degrees in Forest Lodge No. 130, Wausau, Wis. March, 1906, Nov., 1912 and Jan., 1913. Member of Wausau Chapter No. 51, R.A.M. (1914); Wausau Council No. 22, R. & S.M. (1918) and St. Omer Commandery No. 19, K.T. (1914) all of Wausau; 32° AASR (NJ), Tripoli Shrine Temple, Royal Order of Jesters. d. Oct. 28, 1955.

Frank F. Everest Major General, U.S. Air Force. b. Nov. 13, 1904 at Council Bluffs, Ia. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1928 and Air Corps Technical School in 1933. He transferred to the Air Corps in 1928, having previously held a commission in the Field Artillery. In WWII he was commanding officer of the 11th Heavy Bomb Group and Army air commander of the South Pacific from 1942–43. In 1944–45 he was a member of the joint war plans commission of Joint Chiefs of Staff and later commanded the Yukon Sector of Alaska Air Command. In 1948 he was assigned to headquarters of the Air Force as assistant deputy chief of staff. Member of Bluff City Lodge No. 71, Council Bluffs, Iowa, receiving degrees on Nov. 16, Dec. 26 and Dec. 29, 1928.

Edward Everett (1794–1865) Anti-Mason; Governor of Massachusetts, 1836–40; U.S. Congressman, 1825–35; U.S. Minister to Great Britain, 1841–45; President of Harvard, 1846–49; U.S. Secretary of State, 1852. b. April 11, 1794 in Dorchester, Mass. He was a Unitarian clergyman and orator of great ability. He took sides in the politics maintained by the friends of John Quincy Adams, q.v., another anti-Mason. In 1860 he ran on the Constitutional-Union ticket for vice-president with John Bell, q.v., a Tennessee Mason, as the presidential candidate. They received 39 electoral votes. In his famous orations on Washington, q.v., and General Warren, q.v., he failed to mention either of their Masonic connections. He wrote a letter to the secretary of the Anti-Masonic Committee of Middlesex Co., Mass. on June 29, 1833, stating among other things “The supremacy of the laws is the fundamental principle of civil society. The allegiance due to the country is the highest human obligation of all men who enter into civil society; and I conceive the institution of Freemasonry to be at war with both these principles.” d. Jan. 15, 1865.

Sir Raymond Evershed English Baron and Lord Justice of Appeal. Knighted in 1944 and baroneted in 1955. He was appointed lord justice in 1947, and two years later made master of the rolls. b. Aug. 1889 at Burton-on-Trent, he was educated in Clifton Coll., Bristol, afterwards attending Oxford. Served as an officer of the Royal Engineers in WWI. He was initiated in Chancery Bar Lodge No. 2456 in April, 1947 by Edward, Prince of Wales, afterwards King Edward VII, q.v. He is a past grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England.

William G. Everson (1879–1954) Baptist clergyman and Major General of National Guard. b. July 1, 1879 in Wooster, Ohio, he was ordained in the Baptist ministry in 1901 and served churches in Ind., Mass., Ky., Ohio, Colo., and Oregon. He was president of Linfield Coll., McMinnville, Oreg. from 1939–43. From 1919 he was a chautauqua and lyceum lecturer. He served in the Spanish–American War and in WWI in France, Italy, Austria, Dalmatia, Serbia and Montenegro, commanding the only American sector in Italy and all the U.S. troops east of Adriatic Sea. He represented the U.S. at Fiume and supervised investigations of food distribution in Austria and Serbia after armistice. He was discharged in 1919 with rank of colonel. In 1922 he was promoted to brigadier general in the reserves and commanded the 76th Inf. Brigade. In 1929 he was made major general, U.S. Army and chief of the National Guard Bureau until 1931; retired in 1945 with rank of major general. A member of Willamette Lodge No. 2, Portland, Oreg., he affiliated with it on Jan. 3, 1944 from Delaware Lodge No. 46 of Muncie, Ind. Was 32° AASR, Knight Templar, Shriner and member of Red Cross of Constantine. He was chairman of the advisory committee of the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children at Portland, Oreg. from 1944–47. d. Sept. 3, 1954.

Frank L. Eversull Educator. b. April 19, 1892 at Cincinnati, Ohio. A.M. and Ph.B. from U. of Chicago; Ph.D. from Yale; D.D. from Marietta Coll. He was ordained to the Presbyterian ministry in 1917, serving several pastorates in Illinois. He was school principal in St. Louis and East St. Louis, and then an instructor in education at Yale. From 1934–38 he was president of Huron Coll. (S. Dak.), and president of the North Dakota Agricultural Coll., 1938–46. In 1946–47 he was associated with higher education in Korea as advisor to Ewah College, Seoul, and member of the board of regents of Seoul National U. Since 1950 he has been a professor at Washington U., St. Louis, and pastor of the Belleville (Ill.) Presbyterian church. He is founder of the Korean Association for Advancement of Science and Korean Academy of Science. In 1946 he was selected as the distinguished graduate of the U. of Chicago and has been an elector of New York U. Hall of Fame since 1938. He has been decorated by King Christian of Denmark with the Medal of Liberation (1946). Made a Mason in Belleville Lodge No. 24 in 1918. Also member of Belleville Chapter No. 106, R.A.M. and Tancred Commandery No. 50, K.T. all of Belleville, Ill.; AASR (NJ) membership at East St. Louis and is 33°. He is past sovereign of the Red Cross of Constantine at St. Louis. In 1937 he was grand orator of the Grand Lodge of South Dakota. Member of Ainad Shrine Temple, East St. Louis, Ill.

Harry K. Eversull (1893–1953) Clergyman and educator. b. Sept. 20, 1893 at Cincinnati, Ohio, a brother of Frank L. Eversull, q.v. He was a graduate of Wabash Coll. and Yale and was ordained to the Congregational ministry in 1922, serving pastorates in East Haven, Conn., and Cincinnati, Ohio until 1937 when he became president of Marietta Coll., serving until 1942. In 1946 he became a Presbyterian and was pastor at Walnut Hills Presbyterian Church (Cincinnati) from 1946. He received his degrees in Gothic Lodge No. 582, East St. Louis, Ill. on Jan. 15, Feb. 9 and Feb. 20, 1915 and affiliated with Hyde Park Lodge No. 589, Cincinnati, Ohio on June 3, 1930. He was master of Hyde Park Lodge in 1951. Harry K. Eversull Lodge No. 573, Cincinnati, has been named for him. He served as grand chaplain for both the Grand Lodge of Ohio and Grand Council, R. & S.M. of Ohio; was 33° AASR (NJ) and wrote the 17th degree of that Rite (NJ) as now used. He was also a member of chapter, council, commandery, shrine and jesters. d. Sept. 13, 1953.

Joseph L. Evins U.S. Congressman, 80th to 84th Congresses (1947–55) from 4th and 5th Tenn. districts. b. Oct. 24, 1910 in DeKalb Co. Tenn. Graduate of Vanderbilt U. and Cumberland U. and admitted to bar in 1934, engaging in general law practice at Smithville, Tenn. Assistant secretary of Federal Trade Commission 1938–40. Served in WWII, European Theatre from 1943–45 and discharged as a major in 1946. Member of Liberty Lodge No. 77, Smithville, Tenn. and 32° AASR (NJ) in Chicago.

Ezra P. Ewers (1837–1912) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. April 13, 1837 in Wayneport, N.Y. Entered the army as a private of Co. E, 1st Battalion, 19th Infantry in 1862 and commissioned the following year. Later served with 37th Infantry and 5th and 9th Infantry divisions, becoming brigadier general of volunteers in 1898. He retired from the volunteers in 1899 and became a colonel with the 10th Infantry (regulars). Was retired by operation of law in 1904 as a brigadier general. Member of Sackets Harbor Lodge No. 135, Sackets Harbor, N.Y. d. Jan. 16, 1912.

Arnold H. Exo Christian Science Church official. b. in Muscatine, Iowa. He was a district advertising manager for Household Finance Corp. from 1931–41, and in 1942 became a Christian Science practitioner and later a reader. He has been 1st reader of the First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston since 1956. Mason.

F

Eberhard Faber (1859–1946) Head of the Eberhard Faber Pencil Co. at Brooklyn, N.Y. and Eberhard Faber Rubber Co. at Newark, N.J. b. March 14, 1859 in New York City, he was educated in the Columbia School of Mines. In 1879 he entered the office of his father, the well-known lead-pencil manufacturer, and took charge of the business. He was a life member of Chancellor Walworth Lodge No. 271, New York City. d. May 16, 1946.

Bernard R. Fabre-Palaprat (?– 1838) The restorer, or organizer, of the Order of the Temple at Paris, of which he was elected grand master in 1804. He died at Pau, in the lower Pyrenees, Feb. 18, 1838.

James G. Fair (1831–?) Wealthy gold and silver miner of Comstock bonanza fame and U.S. Senator from Nevada from 1881–87. b. Dec. 3, 1831 near Belfast, Ireland, coming to the U.S. with his parents in 1843. The family settled in Illinois where he attended public schools and completed his education in Chicago, where he gave much attention to scientific studies. He went to Calif. in 1849, and engaged in mining until he moved to Nevada and amassed a fortune of 50 million dollars. He was successful in the construction of quartz mills, water works, and chlorinizing furnaces. In 1865 he became superintendent of the Ophir mine, and in 1867 of the Hale and Norcross mine. In the latter year he formed a partnership with John W. Mackay, James C. Flood and Wm. T. O'Brien and purchased control of several well-known mines. He was raised in Bear Mountain Lodge No. 76 at Angels Camp, Calif. in 1858, serving as secretary in 1861 and treasurer in 1862-64.

Alfred Fairbank (1887-1945) President of Central States Life Insurance Co., St. Louis, from 1938. b. Aug. 3, 1887 at DeSoto, Mo. Taught school in Cleveland and St. Louis from 1905-11. Admitted to Missouri bar in 1909. He entered investment banking in 1920 and was vice president and trust officer of Boatmen's National Bank in St. Louis from 1930-38. Member of Tuscan Lodge No. 360, St. Louis, Mo., receiving degrees on March 3, March 17 and May 15, 1914. d. March 6, 1945.

Charles W. Fairbanks (1852-1918) Twenty-sixth Vice President of the United States. b. May 11, 1852 on a farm near Unionville Center, Ohio. Received A.B. and A.M. from Ohio Wesleyan U. He was agent for the Associated Press at Pittsburgh and Cleveland from 1872-74. He was admitted to the Ohio bar in 1874, and established practice at Indianapolis, Ind. Prominent in Republican politics, he was chairman of the Indiana Republican conventions of 1892, 1898, 1914 and delegate to national conventions of 1896, 1900, 1904, 1912. He was U.S. senator from Indiana for term 1897–1903, but resigned in 1905 to become vice president under Theodore Roosevelt for term, 1905–09. He was again selected as vice presidential nominee with Charles E. Hughes by the national convention of 1916 and defeated by a narrow margin. Was made a Mason “at sight” in Oriental Lodge No. 500, Indianapolis, Ind. on Dec. 27, 1904. He became a Royal Arch Mason in Keystone Chapter No. 6 at Indianapolis on March 20, 1905 and was knighted in Raper Commandery No. 1, K.T. at Indianapolis on June 26, 1905. He received his 32° AASR (NJ) in Indiana Consistory at Indianapolis on Nov. 8, 1905 and became a member of Murat Shrine Temple, Indianapolis on April 12, 1907, being a life member of the same. On June 7, 1905 he was the orator of the day at the laying of the cornerstone of the Federal building at Flint, Mich. On Oct. 29, 1906 he was elected an honorary member of American Union Lodge No. 1 at Marietta, Ohio. During his life, he is recorded as a visitor of lodges from coast to coast. At one time he said: “I am a firm believer in the virtue of Masonry. The foundation principles of the organization are everlastingly sound.” d. June 4, 1918.

Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. (1883–1939) Movie star of the silent film era. b. May 23, 1883 in Denver, Colo. He attended Jarvis Military Academy at Denver, East Denver High School and the Colorado School of Mines. He had three marriages. He made his first stage appearance in New York City in 1901. On the stage he appeared in Hawthorne of the U.S.A.; Frenzied Finance; All for a Girl; A Gentleman from Mississippi; The Cub; Gentleman of Leisure; Comes Up Smiling; Henrietta; Show Shop. He entered motion pictures and was head of his own producing company in 1916. His later productions were His Majesty the American; When the Clouds Roll By; The Mollycoddle; The Mark of Zorro; The Nut; The Three Musketeers; Robin Hood; The Thief of Bagdad; Don Q, Son of Zorro; The Black Pirate; The Gaucho; The Iron Mask; and The Taming of the Shrew. He was raised in Beverly Hills Lodge No. 528 on Aug. 11, 1925 and was a member of the "233 Club"—whose members were Freemasons of the movie colony. d. Dec. 11, 1939.

Lucius Fairchild (1831–1896) Governor of Wisconsin for six terms. b. Dec. 27, 1831, in Kent, Ohio. His family moved to Wisconsin in 1846 when it was still a territory. When gold was discovered in Calif., he left for that state, although only 18 years old. After several years of fruitless labor, he returned to Wis. in 1885. He entered the Union service early in the Civil War, and distinguished himself at Bull Run, Antietam, Gettysburg, losing his left arm in the latter battle at Seminary Hill. While recovering from his wounds he was commissioned brigadier general. In 1863 he was elected secretary of state in Wisconsin, serving until 1865 when he was elected for the first of his six consecutive terms as governor. He was consul general in Paris in 1878–80 and U.S. minister to Spain, 1880–82. In 1886 he was elected national commander-in-chief of the G.A.R. A member of Hiram Lodge No. 50, Madison, Wis., he received his degrees on March 19, April 16 and May 21, 1860. He was exalted in Madison Chapter No. 4, R.A.M., Madison, Wis. in Dec. 1863 and was knighted in Robert Macoy Commandery No. 3, K.T. at Madison on July 19, 1864. He also received 95 degrees in the “Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis.” d. May 21, 1896.

Louis W. Fairfield (1858–1930) U.S. Congressman, 65th to 68th Congresses (1917–25) from 12th Ind. dist. b. Oct. 15, 1858 near Wapakoneta, Ohio. A teacher, he was professor of physics and philosophy at Tri-State College from 1885–1917. Member of Angola Lodge No. 236, Angola, Ind. receiving degrees on June 23, June 30 and July 21, 1913. d. Feb. 20, 1930.

Guy L. Fake (1879–1957) Judge of U.S. District Court of New Jersey since 1929 and chief Federal judge since 1948. Retired in 1951, but assigned to continue in service. b. Nov. 15, 1879 at Cobleskill, N.Y. Admitted to N.J. bar in 1903 and practiced at Rutherford. He had served as a member of the state general assembly and district judge. Served in the Spanish–American War. Raised in Boiling Spring Lodge No. 152, Rutherford, N.J. on Nov. 26, 1907. d. Sept. 23, 1957.

Juan C. Falcon (1820–1870) President of Venezuela from June 15, 1863 to 1868. His regime was overthrown by revolution in the latter year. b. in Paraguana. He was a political leader and Venezuelan general. Falcon was the 7th sovereign grand commander of the Supreme Council, 33°, AASR in 1864–65. During his administration as president of Venezuela, he frequently delegated his charge, and among those Masons who served as president by his delegation were General Antonio Guzman Blanco, 33° (who was later to be elected to three terms himself); General Jose Desiderio Trias, 18°; Rafael Arvelo, 18°; General Miguel Gil, 30°; and General Manuel E. Bruzual, 33°.

James W. Fannin (1800–1836) Texas patriot and pioneer. b. in North Carolina about 1800, he was executed by the Mexican general, Santa Anna, q.v., with 357 others on March 27, 1836. Fannin was a captain in the Texas service in 1835. On Oct. 28th of that year, with Capt. Bowie and 90 men, he defeated a superior Mexican force near Bexar. General Houston, q.v., soon afterward made him a colonel and inspector-general. In January of 1836 he set out to reinforce Dr. James Grant who was in command of an unauthorized expedition to Matamoras. When he learned that Grant's force had been destroyed, he fell back to Goliad, but by Houston's order, he marched toward Victoria, and on March 19 was attacked on the Coleta River by a Mexican force under General Urrea. When the Mexicans were reinforced by 500 men on the 20th, the American force capitulated and it was agreed that the Texans should be treated as prisoners of war and sent back to the U.S. as soon as possible. After surrendering their arms, they were taken to Toliad, where, on the 26th, a dispatch was received from Santa Anna ordering their execution. At daybreak the next morning all of the 357 prisoners but four physicians and their helpers were marched out under various pretexts "and shot in groups. Fannin was last to be killed. When Holland Lodge No. 36 of La. (later No. 1 of Texas) was organized at Brazoria, Texas, Fannin was present and acted as senior deacon, but it does not appear he became a member of that lodge. He is believed to have been a Mason before he left Georgia.

John C. Fant (1870–1929) President of Mississippi State College, 1920–29. b. Jan. 15, 1870 near Macon, Miss. Was superintendent of schools at Water Valley and Meridian, Miss., from 1895–1910 and then professor of secondary education for the state until 1920. Received his degrees in Meridian Lodge No. 308, Meridian, Miss. on Aug. 7, 1903, June 3 and June 10, 1904. Dimitted, March 1, 1927. d. Nov. 8, 1929.

Charles B. Faris (1864–1938) Judge Supreme Court of Missouri and Federal Judge, Eastern District of Missouri. b. Oct. 3, 1864 near Charleston, Mo. Graduate of U. of Missouri and admitted to bar in 1891. Practiced in Caruthersville, serving as city and prosecuting attorney. Served in lower house, judge of 28th judicial circuit and judge of the supreme court for term 1912–22, resigning in 1919 to become judge of the Eastern district. He was a member of the board of curators of the U. of Missouri and member of control board of Cottey Coll. for women at Nevada, Mo. Member of Caruthersville Lodge No. 461, Caruthersville, Mo., receiving degrees on Sept. 4, Dec. 18, 1900 and Jan. 21, 1901. Suspended, NPD, June 7, 1927. d. Dec. 18, 1938.

James I. Farley (1871–1948) U.S. Congressman to 73rd to 75th Congresses (1933–39) from 4th Ind. dist. b. Feb. 24, 1871 at Hamilton, Ind. Began as a teacher in public schools in 1889, and then as a salesman for Studebaker Corp. in 1906. In 1908 he joined the Auburn Automobile Co. as a salesman, rising to presidency and retiring in 1926. He affiliated with

De-Kalb Lodge No. 214, Auburn, Ind. on Dec. 3, 1907 from Spartan Lodge No. 226 at Millersburg, Ohio. d. June 16, 1948.

James T. Farley (1829–?) U.S. Senator from California 1879–1885. b. Aug. 6, 1829 in Virginia. He moved first to Missouri and then to California where he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1854. He served two terms in the state assembly and eight years in the state senate. He was recognized as the leader of the Democratic party in California for many years. He was a member of Volcano Lodge No. 56, Volcano and Amador Lodge No. 65 at Jackson as well as Sutter Chapter No. 11, R.A.M. at Sutter Creek, Calif.

Theodore Farley Vice president of Caterpillar Tractor Co. since 1940. b. Nov. 22, 1894 at Ipswich, Mass. He was with the Holt Mfg. Co. of Peoria, Ill. from 1919–25 as export manager. When the company merged with the C. L. Best Tractor Co. in 1925 to form the Caterpillar Co., he became assistant export manager, rising to assistant to president in 1935. Served in WWI as a captain. Mason, Shriner and Jester.

Lord Farnham (?–1957) Irish Peer. In 1908 he was elected to a seat in the house of lords as an Irish representative peer. He served in the South African War in 1901–02 with the 10th Hussars and was mentioned in dispatches. He joined the newly raised North Irish Horse and went to France in WWI in command of a battalion of the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers in the Ulster division. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Order. In the spring of 1918 he was taken prisoner, but escaped and made his way through Germany to Holland.

He was a member of the General Synod of the Church of Ireland and a member of the representative church body. He was president of the Hibernian Church missionary society and the Adelaide hospital. He was initiated in Lodge No. 90 at Cavan in 1901, and served as master in 1910. He was also a member of Meridian Lodge No. 12 of Dublin from 1903, and served as master in 1911. From 1928 until his death on Feb. 5, 1957, he was provincial grand master of the province of Meath and was senior grand warden of the grand lodge of Ireland at the time of his death.

David G. Farragut (1801–1870) First Admiral of the U.S. Navy. b. July 5, 1801 at Campbell's Station, near Knoxville, Tenn., son of George Farragut, naval and army officer of the American Revolution. He was adopted in 1808 by Commander Porter who educated him at Washington, D.C. and Chester, Pa. He was a midshipman at 9½ years of age and was placed in command of a prize ship when only 12. He was on routine naval duty from 1810–47 and commanded the ship Saratoga during the Mexican War. He was on duty on the ship that carried Ambassador Joel Poinsett, q.v., to Mexico, and also in the convoy that escorted Lafayette, q.v., back to France in 1825. He was detailed to establish the Mare Island Naval Base in San Francisco Bay. He was the outstanding naval officer of the Civil War. He was in command of the West Gulf blockading squadron with orders to take New Orleans, which he did in 1862 without bloodshed, bombarding Fort Jackson and running his ships past Fort Jackson and Fort St. Philip. In 1863 he ran his flagship, Hartford, and one other vessel past Port Hudson and thereby controlled the Mississippi between Port Hudson and Vicksburg. Back into the Gulf, he silenced Fort Morgan, ran a blockade of mines, dispersed the Confederate fleet and captured Forts Morgan and Gaines. In Dec., 1864, Congress created the rank of vice admiral for him and in 1866 created the rank of admiral. He is a member of the American Hall of Fame. His lodge is not known, but he is thought to have been made a Mason on the island of Malta in 1818, when he was 17 years of age, serving in the Mediterranean under Bainbridge. He died Aug. 14, 1870, and was buried with Masonic honors by the grand master of New Hampshire and St. Johns Lodge No. 1 of Portsmouth. Admiral George W. Baird, q.v., wrote the following of him: "While Farragut's Masonic connection is beyond doubt, the writer has been unable to identify his lodge. Naval Lodge No. 87 was instituted at Vallejo, opposite the Navy Yard at Mare Island, and there are members of that lodge still living (1920) who greeted the admiral when he visited there. Surgeon General John Mills Brown, q.v., of the Navy, who was grand master of California as well as master of Naval Lodge and also an active 33rd, was intimate with the admiral in California and remembered him as a Mason and a promotor of Masonry. He did not, however, remember the name of his lodge." Admiral Baird wrote another interesting incident in connection with Farragut: "After the unveiling of the statue (of Farragut in Washington, D.C., Bartholomew Dig-gins, a member of Brightwood Lodge No. 24 in the District of Columbia, who had been in Farragut's gig crew all during the war, asked for his old flag and offered a new one for it. The secretary of the Navy granted his request. Many years afterwards, when Dewey returned from the Philippines, Diggins asked the writer, who was about to go to New York to make arrangements for Dewey's reception, to present the flag to Dewey. The flag was duly presented and it was the only admiral's pennant ever flown by Farragut or Dewey."

Bernard G. Farrar (1785–1849) Pioneer Missouri physician. b. July 4, 1785, he was the first physician of the St. Louis area. He arrived in St. Louis in 1807. Originally a Virginian, he came from the same county as did Edward and Frederick Bates, q.v., settling first in Kentucky, near Frankfort, where he practiced medicine for a time. A brother-in-law, Judge Coburn, having received the appointment as judge of the Louisiana Territory, he was encouraged to move farther west. In St. Louis, he formed a partnership with Dr. David V. Walker. In 1815 he was one of a group who started the newspaper Western Journal in St. Louis. Farrar fought the first duel recorded west of the Mississippi in 1810. It was with James A. Graham. Farrar was hardly to be blamed for his participation, for at first, he was merely the bearer of the challenge to Graham. Graham declined to accept the challenge, giving as his plea that the challenger "was not a gentleman." Under the code that prevailed, Farrar became the principal. It was fought on Bloody Island, scene of many later encounters and Graham received severe wounds from which he never recovered, dying on his way East about a year later. Farrar was also the surgeon in the Benton–Lucas duel.

Frank G. Farrington (1872–1933) Justice, Supreme Court of Maine, 1929–33. b. Sept. 11, 1872 at Augusta, Me. Admitted to bar in 1902 and practiced at Augusta. Served in both branches of Maine legislature. Raised March 31, 1903 in Augusta Lodge No. 141, and exalted Feb. 24, 1921 in Cushnoc Chapter No. 43, both of Augusta, Maine. d. Sept. 3, 1933.

Wallace R. Farrington (1871–1933) Governor of Hawaii, 1921–29. b. May 3, 1871 at Orono, Me. Graduate of U. of Maine in 1891, he began newspaper work that year with the Bangor Daily News. Worked on newspapers in Kennebec, Augusta, and was managing editor and one of the founders of the Rockland Daily Star—all of Maine. Moving to Hawaii in 1894, he became editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser and president of the Hawaiian Gazette Co. in Honolulu. He later became president of the Honolulu Star Bulletin. Active in many activities of the territory, particularly in the educational field, and a regent of the College of Hawaii. Mason and past master of Lodge Progress d L'Oceania No. 37. Member of AASR in Hawaii. d. Oct. 6, 1933.

Charles B. Farwell (1823–1903) U.S. Senator from Illinois 1887–91. b. July 1, 1823 at Painted Post, N.Y. In 1838 he removed to Ogle Co., Ill. and worked at farming and on government surveys until 1844 when he went to Chicago on a load of wheat with ten dollars in his pocket. Worked first as a bank teller and later county clerk of Cook Co. Formed the firm of John V. Farwell with his brother in 1891 and became president of the same. He and his brother built the Texas state capitol in 1887 and received in turn three million acres of land for it on which they stocked 150,000 head of cattle. Was a member of U.S. congress from 1871–76. Listed in Who Was Who as a Mason, but grand lodge records of Illinois do not show membership. d. 1903.

Orval E. Faubus Governor of Arkansas from 1955. b. Jan. 7, 1910 at Combs, Ark., he was educated in the public schools of that state. His first ten years (1928–38) were spent as a rural school teacher; in 1939 he became circuit clerk and county recorder at Huntsville. In 1946–47 he was acting postmaster of Huntsville, and from 1953–54, postmaster. He is the editor, owner and publisher of Madison County Record at Huntsville since 1947. From 1949–53 he held the positions of highway commissioner, administrative assistant to the governor and directory of highways for Arkansas. He served as rural scout commissioner for Northwest Ark. for 14 years and was an Infantry major in WWII. In September, 1957 he became the most controversial figure in the United States when he refused to allow integration of white and Negro students in the Little Rock high schools. Integration was later enforced by Federal troops and the episode rocked the Southern states and focused the international spotlight on Faubus. He is a member of Huntsville Lodge No. 367, Huntsville, Ark., receiving his degrees on April 8, May 27 and June 24, 1947. Received the 32° AASR (SJ) on Oct. 28, 1953 at Fort Smith, Ark.; belongs to Sahara Shrine Temple at Pine Bluff and the Grotto at Fort Smith, and is a member of the Northwest Arkansas Scottish Rite Club.

Charles J. Faulkner, Jr. (1847–1929) U.S. Senator from West Virginia, 1887–99. b. Sept. 21, 1847 in Martinsburg, W. Va. He received an early education in France and Switzerland and entered Virginia Military Inst. in 1862. He served with the cadets of the school at the battle of New Market and afterwards as aide to generals Breckenridge and Wise in the C.S.A. Graduated from U. of Virginia in 1868 and admitted to bar same year. He served seven years as a circuit judge and was a member of the British–American Joint High Commission in 1898. He was the 8th grand master of the Grand Lodge of West Virginia, serving in 1880. He was a member of Equality Lodge No. 136 (Va. charter), now No. 44 of West Virginia charter, receiving the degrees on Dec. 12, Dec. 26, 1868 and Jan. 9, 1869. He served as master of the same from 1876 to 1878. At the time of his death on Jan. 13, 1929 he was the oldest past grand master of West Virginia.

Charles J. Faulkner, Sr. (1806–1884) U.S. Minister to France in period preceding the Civil War. b. in 1806, Martinsburg, Va., he graduated at Georgetown U. and was admitted to the bar in 1829. As a member of the Virginia lower house, he introduced a bill for the gradual abolition of slavery in Virginia. He was elected to the U.S. congress four successive terms from 1851–59, accepting the ministry to France in the latter year. While in France, he encouraged Louis Napoleon to sympathize with the southern cause, and as a result was recalled by Lincoln, arrested and confined in Fort Warren as a disloyal citizen, but released on a prisoner exchange. He was disbarred from citizenship until 1872. He served another term in the U.S. congress from 1875–77. A Mason, he delivered a Masonic address on Nov. 13, 1852 at Martinsburg. His son, Charles J. Jr., q.v. became U.S. senator and grand master of the Grand Lodge of West Virginia. He received his degrees in old Equality Lodge No. 136 (Va. charter) in 1867 and affiliated with the same lodge under West Va. charter in 1879. The lodge was then Equality No. 44. His son was a member of the same lodge. d. Nov. 1, 1884.

Edwin J. Faulkner President and director of Woodmen Accident & Life Co. and Woodmen Central Life Ins. Co. since 1954. b. July 5, 1911 at Lincoln, Nebr. Graduate of U. of Nebraska and Pennsylvania. He became treasurer of the Woodmen Central Assurance Co. in 1932, and vice president of the Woodmen Central Life Ins. Co. in 1938. Member of Lancaster Lodge No. 54, Lincoln, Nebr., receiving all three degrees in 1940.

Roy H. Faulkner Automobile executive. b. Feb. 11, 1886 at Allegheny, Pa. Automobile salesman from 1916 until he became sales manager of Oakland-Pittsburgh Co., and later general manager of Nash-Cincinnati Motor Co. He joined Auburn Automobile Co. as sales manager in 1922, advancing to vice president in 1931, resigning that year to become vice president of Studebaker Sales Corp. and Pierce-Arrow Motor Co. He returned to Auburn Co. as president in 1934. He is now owner of Roy H. Faulkner & Associates in Auburn, Ind. Mason.

Francois Felix Faure (1841-1899) Sixth President of the Republic of France. He was a cabinet officer in the department of commerce and colonies in the 1880's, and later minister of marine under President Casimir Perier whom he succeeded as president in 1895, serving until his death in 1899. The bulletin of the International Masonic Congress of 1917 states that he was a Freemason.

George D. Fawcett (1861–1939) Actor. b. Aug. 25, 1861 in Virginia. He attended the U. of Virginia for four years and made his debut in the Manhattan Theatre in New York City in 1886. He supported Tomasso Salvini in 1890, and Alexander Salvini in 1894. In 1895–96 he was in repertoire with Nat Goodwin and with Maude Adams from 1897–99. He appeared in many productions of his own company, the Fawcett Stock Co., and in 1917 played the title role in Great John Ganton at Aldwych Theater in London. Later he was in vaudeville and motion pictures. He was a member of Pacific Lodge No. 233, New York City and of the “233 Club” in Hollywood. d. June 6, 1939.

Novice G. Fawcett President of Ohio State University. b. March 29, 1909 at Gambier, Ohio. Graduate of Ohio State in 1937. Taught and was superintendent of schools in Gambier, Defiance, Bexley, Akron and Columbus. He was named president of Ohio RR Robert Fechner State in 1956, assuming his duties on Aug. 1. He is a member of Ohio Lodge No. 199 at Bladensburg, Ohio, and received the Scottish Rite degrees in November, 1955 in the Valley of Columbus.

Bernard Fay Author, professor and anti-Mason. b. in 1893, this French historian specialized in books on American history. His writings included: Revolutionary Spirit in France and America (1927) ; Franklin, the Apostle of Modern Times (1929); George Washington, Republican Aristocrat (1931) and Revolution and Freemasonry, 1680–1800 (1935). The latter book, published by Little Brown was definitely unfriendly to Freemasonry though purporting to be “factual” and “objective.” The Masonic world, therefore, could not be expected to grieve when the following was published in the New York Times on Dec. 5, 1946: “Bernard Fay, former professor of American civilization at the College de France and writer on Franco–American relations, was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor today after his conviction on a charge of intelligence with the enemy. M. Fay has been charged with publishing documents and lists of the Freemasons for the Vichy (Nazi dominated) government. This had resulted, according to the prosecution, in deportation or death for thousands of them.”

Jonas Fay (1737–1818) American patriot, who with two other members of Vermont Lodge No. 18 (Ira Allen, q.v., and Thomas Chittenden, q.v.) led the fight that established Vermont as the 14th state. b. Jan. 17, 1737 in Hardwick, Mass. He received a good education and became a physician. He moved to Bennington, Vt. in 1766 and became prominent among the settlers on the New Hampshire grants, going as their agent to New York with Seth Warner in 1772 to lay their grievances before English Governor Tryon. It was on this trip that Fay and Warner spent some time in Albany where they were made Masons in Masters’ Lodge No. 5. He was clerk of the convention of March, 1774, that resolved to defend by force Ethan Allan and the others who were outlawed by the legislature of N.Y. Dr. Fay was surgeon under Allen at Ticonderoga, and, afterward in Col. Warner’s regiment. He was a member of the convention of Jan., 1777, which declared Vermont an independent state. For all practical purposes it was an independent republic from this date until 1791 when it was admitted to the Union and Dr. Fay"learned, sagacious and well versed in political economy"—was mainspring and balance wheel of the movements. He was accredited to the Continental Congress year after year, but was not officially recognized as a delegate. He was secretary to the council of safety, helped draft the first constitution for Vermont and served as a member of the governor's council from 1778–85. He was probate judge at Bennington for five years and judge of the supreme court in 1782. Dr. Fay was admitted to Vermont Lodge at Springfield in 1782 and in 1793 was a charter member of Temple Lodge at Bennington. d. March 6, 1818.

Louis H. Fead (1877–1943) Justice, Supreme Court of Michigan, 1928–37. b. May 2, 1877 at Lexington, Mich. and graduated U. of Michigan in 1900. He practiced law at Newberry and served as prosecuting attorney and circuit judge. Raised in Lexington Lodge No. 61, Lexington, Mich. on July 12, 1902 and affiliated with McMillen Lodge No. 400, Newberry, Mich. on Sept. 2, 1905; was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Michigan in 1917; 33° AASR (NJ). d. Feb. 4, 1943.

Robert Fechner (1876–1939) First director of the Civilian Conservation Corps in 1933. President F. D. Roosevelt, by executive order, set aside 72,000 acres of public land on Massanutten Mountain in Virginia as the "Robert Fechner Memorial Forest” in his honor. b. March 22, 1876 in Chattanooga, Tenn., he was a machinist, foreman and master mechanic from 1896–1912. He then became executive officer of the International Association of Machinists until 1933 when he became director of the C.C.C. He was a member of Clinton Lodge No. 56, Savannah, Ga. and Mt. Pleasant Chapter No. 13, R.A.M. of Washington, D.C. d. Dec. 31, 1939.

Ladislav Feierabend Czechoslovakian cabinet officer under President Benes, q.v. He was one of the organizers of the Grand Lodge “Comenius” in exile in England. Others who helped form the grand lodge were Dr. Vladimir Klecanda, grand master, q.v.; Dr. P. R. Korbel, grand secretary, q.v.; and Jan Masaryk, q.v., son of the first president of Czechoslovakia.

Lorenza Feliciano Also known as Madam Cagliostro, wife of the Masonic charlatan, Count Alessandro di Cagliostro, q.v. When Cagliostro set up his “Egyptian Rite,” his wife became grand mistress of the Lodge of Isis, which, in 1784, counted among its adepts some of the most prominent of the French titled women. It is said that she and her husband assumed the leading roles in the initiation. She delivered an oration advocating the emancipation of woman which was followed by the appearance of her husband as the “Grand Copt” in the nude. He then commanded the initiates to disrobe, for if they were to receive the truth, they must be “naked as truth.” It is recorded that when Cagliostro was tried by the Inquisition, she was the chief witness against him.

Grant Fellows (1865–1929) Justice, Supreme Court of Michigan, 1917–29.b. April 13, 1865 in Hudson, Mich. Admitted to bar in 1886 and practiced in Hudson, Mich. He was attorney general of Michigan from 1913–17. Raised in Lebanon Lodge No. 26. d. July 16, 1929.

John Quincy Adams Fellows (1825–1897) Louisiana Freemason who headed all York Rite bodies of that state. b. April 3, 1825 at Topham, Vt., moving to New Orleans shortly after 1850. He was raised in Rising Sun Lodge No. 7 in Vermont in 1850 and affiliated with Marion Lodge No. 283 in New Orleans. He was elected grand master of the Grand Lodge of Louisiana in 1860 and served during the stormy six years of the Civil War. By his skill and ability, he was able to keep the passions of war outside the doors of the lodges, and the Blue and the Grey met in Louisiana lodges and forgot for the moment that they were sworn enemies. It is said that he facilitated the passage of many Union Masons out of Confederate camps when they revealed to him they were brethren. Exalted in Orleans Chapter No. 1 in 1852 he was grand high priest in 1859. Greeted in Louisiana Council No. 2 R. & S.M. he was grand master in 1868. Knighted in Indivisible Friends Commandery No. 1, he was grand commander in 1865 and grand master of the Grand Encampment, U.S.A. in 1871. He also rose to grand scribe in the General Grand Chapter. He was a 33° AASR (SJ). d. Nov. 28, 1897.

Christian Fenger (1840–1902) Surgeon and pathologist. b. in Copenhagen, Denmark and graduated as a doctor from the U. of Copenhagen in 1867. For the next ten years he served in a Copenhagen hospital; was a surgeon in the International Ambulance Assn. during Franco–German War; lectured at U. of Copenhagen; and went to Egypt where he was appointed medical officer in the Khalifa quarter of Cairo. He came to Chicago in 1877 and was chief pathologist of the Cook County Hospital from 1879–93; professor of surgery at College of Physicians & Surgeons in New York City, 1884, returning to Northwestern U. in 1893 in the same capacity; and with Rush Medical College in 1899. He was raised in a Copenhagen lodge and affiliated with Ashlar Lodge No. 308 of Chicago. d. March 2, 1902.

Hart E. Fenn (1856–1939) U.S. Congressman to 67th to 71st Congresses (1921–31) from first Conn. dist. b. Sept. 12, 1856 in Hartford, Conn. He was city editor of the Hartford Post for many years and served in both legislative bodies of Conn. From 1909–14 he headed the fisheries and game department of Conn. Mason. d. Feb. 23, 1939.

Ivor D. Fenton U.S. Congressman since the 76th Congress (1939) from 12th Pa. dist. b. Aug. 3, 1889 at Mahanoy City, Pa. A physician by profession, he received his M.D. degree from Jefferson Medical Coll. in 1912 and began practice in Mahanoy City in 1914. He served in WWI as a captain in the Medical Corps with the 79th Division, A.E.F. A member of Mahanoy City Lodge No. 357, he received his degrees on March 23, April 27 and May 25, 1914. He was exalted in Mizpah Chapter No. 252, R.A.M. on June 10, 1915 and knighted in Ivanhoe Commandery No. 31, K.T. on March 23, 1916; both being in Mahanoy City. He is a member of the Scottish Rite at Bloomsburg, Rajah Shrine Temple at Reading, and Tall Cedars of Lebanon Forest No. 50 at Pottsville.

Ferdinand (see Duke of Brunswick)

Ferdinand IV (1751–1825) Anti-Mason. King of the Two Sicilies. Also known as Ferdinand I, and Ferdinand III. He was the son of Don Carlos of Bourbon (later Charles III of Spain). He was King of Naples from 1759–1806 and again from 1815–25 as Ferdinand IV. He expelled the Jesuits in 1767, and married Maria Carolina of Austria in 1768. Under her influence, he joined the coalition against France in 1793. At Napoleon's victory he fled to Palermo and then to Sicily, where in 1806 he ruled as Ferdinand III while Naples was ruled by Joseph Bonaparte, q.v., and Murat, q.v. He was restored to Naples in 1815, and made king of the two Sicilies as Ferdinand I. He ruthlessly repressed liberal opinion and his tyranny brought on the revolution of 1820. His last years were an era of cruel vengeance and persecution. On Sept. 12, 1775, he issued an edict forbidding the meeting of Freemasons in lodges in his dominions under the penalty of death. He revoked the edict in 1777 at the solicitation of his queen, Caroline, but in 1781 the decree was renewed.

Ferdinand VI (1713–1759) Anti-Mason. King of Spain, 1746–59. He was the second son of Philip V and Maria Louisa of Savoy. He kept Spain neutral during the first part of the Seven Years' War. He suffered from extreme melancholy which developed into insanity. His government was generally administered by ministers Jose de Carvajal and Ensenada. At the solicitation of Joseph Torrubia, visitor of the Holy Inquisition, he enforced the Bull of Excommunication of Pope Benedict XIV, q.v., and forbade the congregation of Freemasons under the highest penalties of law (1751).

Ferdinand VII (1784–1833) Anti-Mason. King of Spain, 1814–20 and 1823–33. Son of Charles IV, he was proclaimed king after the forced abdication of his father in 1808, but Napoleon captured him on a ruse and held him prisoner until 1814, when he reinstated him. He had no sooner ascended the throne than he reestablished the Inquisition, which had been abolished by his predecessor. He ordered the closing of all lodges under the heaviest penalties. In Sept following, 25 persons, among whom were several distinguished noblemen, were arrested as “suspected of Freemasonry.” On March 30, 1818, a still more rigorous edict was issued, by which those convicted of being Freemasons were subjected to severe punishment, exile or death. His rule was cruel and tyrannical and was overthrown in 1820, but the Holy Alliance, using French troops, restored him in 1823. His further reign lost Spain all its colonies in North and South America and relegated the country to a second rate power.

Roger H. Ferger Publisher of Cincinnati Enquirer (Ohio) since 1944. b. Jan. 5, 1894 in Cincinnati. He graduated from U. of Pennsylvania in 1916. Until 1920 he was an advertising agency executive, and in that year became advertising manager for the Enquirer. He returned to the advertising field on the Pacific coast until 1933 when he became business manager of the Milwaukee Sentinel (Wis.), and in 1936, of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette (Pa.). He returned to the Enquirer in 1940 as assistant publisher. Director of several companies and active in city and state service organizations. Member of Hyde Park Lodge No. 584, Cincinnati, since 1922; 32° AASR, (NJ) at Cincinnati, and Syrian Shrine Temple.

Homer Ferguson U.S. Senator from Michigan, 1943–54 and U.S. Ambassador to Philippines since 1955. b. Feb. 25 in Harrison City, Pa. Graduate of U. of Michigan in 1913. He was admitted to the bar in 1913 and practiced until 1929, when he became a circuit judge. He was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1943, following his investigation of rackets in Detroit in 1939. City and county officials including the mayor, chief of detectives, prosecuting attorney, and sheriff were indicted as a result of his fact-finding. He also served as a professor at the Detroit College of Law. His appointment as ambassador to the Philippines was approved March 11, 1955. He is a member of Golden Rule Lodge No. 159, in Ann Arbor; Palestine Chapter No. 159, R.A.M. and Detroit Cornmandery No. 1, K.T., both of Detroit. He received his 32° AASR (NJ) in Detroit Consistory and 33° in 1952.

Homer L. Ferguson (1873–1953) Shipbuilder and President of Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co. (Va.) from 1915–46 and chairman of board, 1940–53. b. March 6, 1873 at Waynesville, N.C. He was with the Newport News company from 1905. Previously he had been in naval construction for private firms and the U.S. Navy from one coast to the other. Mason. d. March 14, 1953.

James E. Ferguson (1871–1944) Governor of Texas 1915–16. b. Aug. 31, 1871 in Bell Co., Texas. He spent two years on Pacific coast and in the Rocky Mountains as a laborer, teamster, miner and became a foreman on bridge-building crews on various Texas railways. He next engaged in farming in Bell Co. and became an extensive landowner. He was admitted to the Texas bar in 1897, and practiced at Belton, and later in Temple. He was a member of Knob Creek Lodge No. 401 at Temple and 32° AASR (SJ). d. Sept. 21, 1944.

Malcolm P. Ferguson President and Director of Bendix Products of Bendix Aviation Corp. since 1946. b. June 20, 1896, at Elmira Heights, N.Y. Graduate of Syracuse U. in 1918. He was with the Eclipse Machine Co. of Elmira, N.Y., before coming to Bendix as assistant general manager in 1936. Mason and Knight Templar.

Sterling P. Fergusson Meteorologist who conducted the first experiment of elevating a recording instrument by kites in 1894. b. Nov. 8, 1868 at Dixon's Springs, Tenn. He has been with the Blue Hills Observatory (Harvard), U.S. Weather Bureau, and with the Hobbs Greenland expedition in 1926–27, as meteorologist. He has devised many instruments and methods for use in his field. Mason.

Bert M. Fernald (1858–1926) Governor and U.S. Senator from Maine 1916–19. b. April 3, 1858 at West Poland, Maine. He was a packer of canned goods from 1888 and president of the National Cannery Assn. in 1910. He was state senator two terms and governor of Maine from 1909–11. Raised in Tyrian Lodge No. 73 on June 25, 1896 and exalted May 27, 1910 in St. Andrews Chapter No. 51, R.A.M., both of Mechanic Falls, Maine. d. Aug. 23, 1926.

Karl Ludwig Fernow (1763–1808) German writer on art. A painter himself, he was a member of Goethe's circle. b. Nov. 19, 1763 at Pomerania, Germany. He was in Rome from 1795–1802 lecturing on archaeology. When he returned to Germany he became a professor of Italian literature at Jena. In 1804 he was librarian for the Duchess Amalia at Weimar. He was a member of the lodge Amalia, which honored his memory by a special assembly in 1809. d. Dec. 4, 1808.

Francisco Guardia Ferrer (1859–1909) Spanish free-thinker, revolutionary, educator and martyr. He was bequeathed a legacy by a Catholic woman for the purpose of founding a school. Upon learning of this, the French ecclesiastical authorities unsuccessfully sought to utilize the legacy for a church school, but Ferrer founded the Escuela Moderna at Barcelona in 1901, where he refused to teach a religious curriculum and spoke against the existing Spanish regime. In 1907 he was acquitted on charges of complicity in an attempt to assassinate the king and queen of Spain the preceding year. He went to England in 1909, but returned when he learned of an uprising in Barcelona. He was arrested on charges of aiding the uprising, convicted, and executed on Oct. 13, 1909. His trial caused the downfall of the Maura ministry and created violent antagonism abroad against Spain and Catholicism. Although his lodge is not known, he is referred to by the Bulletin of the International Masonic Congress in 1917 as a Freemason.

Robert, 5th Earl of Ferrers Real name was Robert Shirley. Grand Master of Grand Lodge of England (Moderns), 1762–63. He sheltered the famous Chevalier D'Eon de Beaumont, q.v., at his home, Staunton Harold near Ashby-de-la-Zouch at one time when it appeared that the latter might be kidnapped.

David L. Ferris (1864–1947) Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. Dec. 31, 1864 at Peekskill, N.Y. A deacon in 1893 and priest in 1894, he served churches in New York, Conn. and Pa. from 1893 until 1920 when he was named bishop suffragan, diocese of Western New York. He was bishop coadjutor in 1924–29 and bishop, 1929–32. From 1932–38 he was bishop of diocese of Rochester, N.Y., and resigned in 1938. Raised May 19, 1908 in Hail-man Lodge No. 321, Pittsburgh, Pa.; grand chaplain of Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania from 1908–12; affiliated with Frank R. Lawrence Lodge No. 979, Rochester, N.Y. on Feb. 10, 1913; was grand chaplain of Grand Lodge of New York from 1916–17, 1920–23; exalted in Pittsburgh Chapter No. 268, R.A.M. on Dec. 20, 1909; greeted in Doric Council No. 19, R. & S.M. in May, 1916; knighted in Monroe Commandery No. 12, K.T. in March, 1914; joined Damascus Shrine Temple in 1912; received 32° AASR (NJ) in Pittsburgh in 1909; affiliated with Rochester (N.Y.) Consistory Feb. 6, 1915; crowned 33° AASR Sept. 18, 1919. d. June 9, 1947.

Woodbridge N. Ferris (1853–1928) Governor and U.S. Senator from Michigan. b. Jan. 6, 1853 at Spencer, N.Y. In the educational field, he served as a teacher in a business college at Freeport, Ill.; a professor at Rock River U. at Dixon, Ill.; principal of the Dixon and Pittsfield, Ill., schools; and in 1885 founded, and was president, of the Ferris Institute. He was elected governor of Michigan two terms, 1913–16 and was U.S. Senator from 1923–29. He was raised in Big Rapids Lodge No. 171, Big Rapids, Mich., on Feb. 12, 1891. d. March 23, 1928.

Elisha P. Ferry Governor of Washington, 1872–80. Member of Harmony Lodge No. 13 at Olympia, Wash., and past master of same. Grand master of the Grand Lodge of Washington and 32° AASR (SJ) at Olympia. Deceased.

Jules F. C. Ferry (1832–1893) French lawyer, statesman and Premier of France, 1880–81, 1883–85. Born at Saint Die, in the Vosges in 1832, he was admitted to the bar in 1851. Active in the establishment of the Republic of France, he turned to politics and opposed the party of Louis Napoleon. He gained fame for himself while serving as minister of public instruction. Through his efforts, the rule of the Jesuits was broken in 1879, and in 1882, he was instrumental in the passage of a law which made primary education free, compulsory and non-clerical. While prime minister, he directed the acquisition of colonies in Africa and Asia. At the siege of Paris during the Franco-Prussian War (1870–71), he was prefect of the besieged city and conceived the novel idea of getting the mail out by balloons, thus founding the world's first "air mail." He was a member of the Lodge Alsace-Lorraine which was constituted at Paris in Sept. 1872 under the jurisdiction of the Grand Ori- Simeon D. Fess (1861–1936) U.S. Senator from Ohio, 1923–35. b. Dec. 11, 1861 in Allen Co., Ohio. Three degrees from Ohio Northern U. at Ada, Ohio. A professor of law from 1896–1900, he then served two years as vice president of his alma mater, and later was a lecturer at the U. of Chicago. From 1907–17 he was president of Antioch Col., Yellow Springs, Ohio. He was a member of the 63rd to 67th U.S. congresses (1915–23) before becoming a member of the U.S. Senate for two terms. A member of Yellow Springs Lodge No. 421, he was a 33° AASR (NJ) and member of Antioch Shrine Temple at Dayton. d. Dec. 23, 1936.

Samuel Fessenden (1784–1869) Lawyer and Major General of Massachusetts militia. b. July 16, 1784 in Fryeburg, Maine. Graduate of Dartmouth in 1806. In 1828 he declined the presidency of that institution. He was admitted to the bar in 1809, and began practice at New Gloucester. He was on the general court of Mass. (of which Maine was then a part) for two years and represented his district in the state senate and legislature. He served 14 years as a major general of the 12th Mass. militia. Raised Sept. 25, 1805 in Pythagorean Lodge No. 11, Fryeburg, he affiliated with Cumberland Lodge No. 12, New Gloucester on Oct. 16, 1809 and with Portland Lodge No. 1 (Portland) on March 24, 1823. He served in the grand lodge line from 1822 until 1828, when he was elected grand master. He was exalted in Mt. Vernon Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. of Portland on July 11, 1823, elected an honorary member in 1849, and served as deputy grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of Maine in 1826–27; knighted in Maine Encampment No. 1, Portland on Nov. 24, 1823, he was commander in 1825, 1845 and 1846. In 1845 he was grand captain general of the Grand Encampment of Mass. and R.I. d. March 13, 1869.

Ignaz Aurelius Fessler (1756–1839) Hungarian ecclesiastic, historian and Masonic reformer. b. May 18, 1756 at Czarendorf, Hungary. He was educated in the Jesuit school of Raab, and took the orders in 1772. He was sent to the Capuchin monastery in Vienna. When he exposed the monastic abuses to Emperor Joseph II, he was dismissed from the order in 1781, and was converted to Lutheranism in 1791. He then taught oriental languages at the U. of Lemberg and served as private tutor to the son of Prince of Crolath. From 1791 to 1806, he was a superintendent of schools in Berlin. It was during this period that he made the attempted revision of the Royal York Lodge in Germany and documented the Rite of Fessler. He was initiated at Lemberg in 1783. He studied Freemasonry and thought it incapable of producing the moral reforms he wished. He therefore established a secret order called the Evergreen in 1788 while in Breslau. It bore a resemblance to Freemasonry, but it later failed. In June, 1796, while in Berlin, he affiliated with the Lodge Royal York, zur Freundschaft, became one of its officers, and eventually saw it grow into a grand lodge, of which he became deputy grand master. He was charged with revising the ritual, which was based on the French system of advanced degrees. Fessler, himself, did not believe in any degrees beyond that of “Master.” He worked on its revision for many years and incorporated parts of the Swedish system. When the brethren would not accept his revisions, he wearied of his opposition and renounced all the offices he had filled, resigning in 1802. His revised rite, which was soon abandoned by the grand lodge in favor of the English system, contained nine degrees—Entered Apprentice, Fellowcraft, Master Mason, The Holy of Holies, Justification, Celebration, True Light, The Country, and Perfection. He later received relief from the German lodges. In 1808 he became a professor in the U. of St. Petersburg, Russia; ecclesiastical president of the Consistory at Saratow, and in 1827 on the invitation of Emperor Alexander, he was made ecclesiastical counselor. In Russia he became master of The Polar Star Lodge which was organized about 1809 and met in the private apartments of Baron Rosenkampf. They were called "Illuminati" or "hateful revolutionaries" by the Russian Rosicrucians. Fessler's early renunciation of the priesthood followed him all his life and forced him from one position to another as he was constantly attacked for his liberal views.

John E. Fetzer Radio executive. Co-owner Detroit Tigers Baseball Club, Am. League, since 1956. b. March 25, 1901 in Decatur, Ind. Graduate of Purdue U. in 1921. After doing experimental work on spark and vacuum tube transmitters, he built and operated the pioneer Southwest Michigan radio station KFGZ in 1923. He then did research in England, Holland, France, Germany and Switzerland. Returning to the U.S. he became president and owner of WKZO at Kalamazoo, Mich. (1939). He then established station WJEF at Grand Rapids and became vice president of KXEL at Waterloo, Ia. From 1944-46 he was assistant director of U.S. censorship in charge of radio and as such supervised 900 domestic radio stations and all short-wave overseas broadcasts, all wire services and network news rooms. Visited Europe in 1945 at invitation of General Eisenhower to study problems of use of radio in postwar Europe. Member of Anchor Lodge No. 87; Kalamazoo Chapter No. 13, R.A.M.; Peninsular Commandery No. 8, K.T., all of Kalamazoo, Mich. 32° AASR (NJ) at Grand Rapids, Mich., and Saladin Shrine Temple of same city.

Wade Fetzer President of The Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York. b. Nov. 22, 1879 at Ottumwa, Ia. Has been in the insurance business at Chicago, Ill., since 1897. He has been president of the W. A. Alexander & Co. since 1927 and now chairman; president of Fidelity of New York since 1930, now director. He is also director of the Continental Insurance Co. of N.Y.; La Salle National Bank of Chicago and First National Bank of Hinsdale, Ill. He was the first president of the Insurance Federation of America in 1913, and again in 1920. Mason.

Anthony Fiala (1869–1950) Explorer. b. Sept. 19, 1869 in Jersey City Heights, N.J. Began as a designer of lithography, and later a newspaper artist and cartoonist with Grit publications. He studied photo-engraving, and installed the plant for the Brooklyn Daily Eagle in 1894, and was in charge of the same. While serving in the Spanish–American War, he acted as war correspondent for that paper. He later established and was president of Fiala Outfits, Inc. He was photographer for the Baldwin–Ziegler Polar Expedition of 1901–02, and commanding officer of the Ziegler Polar Expedition of 1903–05, the latter reaching 82° 4' north and discovering and mapping new islands. They also discovered and mapped accurately the greater part of Franz Joseph Archipelago. He accompanied Col. Theodore Roosevelt, q.v., on his trip through the Brazilian wilderness in 1913–14 and explored the Papagio River and descended the Jurnena and Tapajos Rivers of Brazil. Served in the Mexican border affair and as a major in WWI. Member of Kane Lodge No. 454, New York City. d. April 8, 1950.

Johann Gottlieb Fichte (1762–1814) German philosopher. Educated at Jena and Leipzig, Germany. After tutoring in Zurich, Switzerland, he was appointed professor of philosophy at the U. of Jena in 1793 and here wrote some of the books for which he became internationally famous. In 1798, a theological furor arose over an article which appeared in a journal he edited, and he resigned. Taking up residence in Berlin, he drew up a plan for the U. of Berlin and was its first rector (1810–14). He was the exponent of a system of transcendental idealism, emphasizing self-activity of reason, and setting forth a perfected Kantian system, or science of knowledge, in which he connected practical reason with pure reason. He was the author of Versuche einer Kritik aller Offenbarung, which was first attributed to Kant. Fichte was made a Mason in Zurich. There was no lodge in Jena, so he went to Rudolstadt in Thuringia, a duchy where the reigning prince was a patron of Masonry. When he went to Berlin in 1799, he became acquainted with Fessler, q.v., deputy grand master of the Royal York grand lodge and co-operated with him on the philosophical phase of additional degrees. Among his writings was a book entitled The Philosophy of Masonry.

Crosby Field Inventor. b. March 12, 1889 at Jamestown, N.Y. Graduate of New York and Cornell Universities. He has over 100 U.S. patents in his name for electrical, mechanical and chemical processes. His inventions include the Oxide Film

Lightning Arrester (1912) and continuous ice ribbon freezing process (1923). He was first with General Electric and then in private practice as a consulting engineer. From 1919–23 he was with National Aniline & Chemical Co. in charge of all engineering; from 1923–45 he was vice president of Brillo Mfg. Co.; has been president of Flak Ice Corp. since 1923. As an officer of Army Ordnance Dept. since 1917, he served in both World Wars. He received his third degree in Wappingers Lodge No. 671, Wappingers Falls, N.Y., on May 15, 1916 and has been in good standing since that time.

Stephen J. Field (1816–1899) Justice, U.S. Supreme Court, 1863–97. b. Nov. 4, 1816 at Haddam, Conn., he was admitted to the bar in 1841. He was the last justice appointed by Lincoln. His decisions were important in the development of constitutional law. He resigned in 1897. He was a member of Corinthian Lodge No. 9 (formerly Lavelly Lodge) at Marysville, Calif., and in 1866 was made a life member for his liberal donations to the lodge. d. April 9, 1899.

William C. Fields (1880–1946) Comedian of stage, motion picture and radio. b. Jan. 29, 1880 at Philadelphia, Pa. He was in vaudeville for several years and appeared in musical productions on Broadway including the Ziegfield Follies and Earl Carroll's Vanities. Among his motion pictures were: So's Your Old Man, It's the Old Army Game, The Potters, Six of a Kind, One in a Million, It's a Gift, David Copperfield, Mississippi, The Man on a Flying Trapeze, Poppy, The Big Broadcast of 1938, The Bank Dick, Never Give a Sucker an Even Break and My Little Chickadee. In 1937 he starred on the Chase and Sanborn Radio Hour. He was famous for his bulbous nose and his Fieldisms such as “my little chickadee” and “imagine that—a check for a short beer.” He was a member of E. Coppee Mitchell Lodge No. 605, Philadelphia, Pa. d. Dec. 25, 1946.

Willam J. Fields (1874–?) Governor of Kentucky, 1924–27 b. Dec. 29, 1874 in Willard, Ky. Farmer, lawyer and real estate dealer at Olive Hill, Ky., and then a commercial traveler for wholesale groceries and drygoods from 1899–1910. Member of 62nd to 68th Congresses (1911–25). Resigned to become governor. Original lodge not known, but was admitted to Little Sandy Lodge No. 712 on Aug. 21, 1915 from “Ashland” (grand secretary’s records do not locate him in any lodges around Ashland). He was suspended Aug. 20, 1921; reinstated July 21, 1923; suspended June 20, 1925. Deceased.

James, 4th Earl of Fife Fiftieth Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1814–15.

Howard W. Files (1893–1957) Vice President of Pillsbury Mills, Inc. since 1933. b. Feb. 18, 1893 at Sioux Falls, S.D. He has been employed by Pillsbury since 1912, advancing to vice president in 1933, and vice president in charge of sales and advertising since 1940. Served in WWI both as an enlisted man and officer. Member of Khurum Lodge No. 112, Minneapolis, receiving degrees July 23, Aug. 16 and Aug. 20, 1915; 32° AASR (NJ) on Nov. 12, 1921. d. Dec. 7, 1957.

Jose Quirce Filguera Costa Rican architect who reconstructed the Cathedral of San Jose. On a voyage to Guatemala he organized Freemasonry in that country. He was master of Caridad Lodge No. 26.

Vincente Filisola Mexican general, second in command to Santa Anna during the Texas revolution. He was senior warden of La Independencia Lodge.

Millard Fillmore (1800–1874) Thirteenth President of the United States. Was an Anti-Mason. At the beginning of the Anti-Masonic period he was one of the most bitter critics of the fraternity which he characterized as “organized treason.” Later in life his views seemed to mellow, for on July 4, 1851, as President, he was present at the Masonic cornerstone laying of the extension of the Capitol in Washington and took part in the exercises, examined the stone, pronounced it laid, and said, “The Most Worshipful Grand Master of the District of Columbia will now please examine the stone and see that it is well laid.” In Sept., 1872, he attended another Masonic cornerstone laying at the Buffalo State Asylum for the Insane. His uncle, Jesse Millard of Michigan, was a Mason.

William P. Filmer (1866–1942) President of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District from 1929–38. b. March 2, 1866 in New York City and educated in California public schools. Began as a farmer and then went into the printing business, becoming president of the Filmer Bros. Electrotypes Co. from 1900. Initiated in King Solomon’s Lodge No. 260 in July, 1898, he was master in 1903, and held the office of treasurer from 1903 until his death. Member of chapter, council and commandery, he received the Scottish Rite in 1900, and was grand treasurer general, 33° of the AASR (SJ). He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of California in 1911 and grand treasurer of the same from 1913 until his death on Nov. 22, 1942.

John Filson (1747–1788) Explorer and historian. b. in Chester Co., Pa. An early explorer of the western country, he had traveled throughout the central part of North America before he was 37. After spending several years in Kentucky collecting information for a history of the country, he purchased one-third interest in the present site of Cincinnati, Ohio, from Mathias Denman. While exploring the country between his new land and the Great Miami, he disappeared on Oct. 1, 1788 and was presumed to have been killed by hostile Indians. He became a member of Lodge No. 14 at Christina Ferry, Del. on Dec. 16, 1784, on a trip to Wilmington to have his first book printed, i.e., The Discovery, Settlement and Present State of Kentucke. He also published A Map of Kentucky; A Topographical Description of the Western Territory of North America and other works.

Alexander Edward, Viscount of Fincastle Sixty-first Grand Master Mason of Scotland in 1835. He was later the 6th Earl of Dunmore.

William Finch (1772–1818) Controversial character of early English Freemasonry. Claimed by some to be a Masonic charlatan and imposter, he is supported by others as being a genuine student of Freemasonry. He was initiated in what is now the United Industrious Lodge No. 31 of Canterbury. He gave up his trade as a tailor and went to London to write Masonic books, which he published in great number. The first, published in 1801, was A Masonic Treatise, With an Elucidation on the Religious and Moral Beauties of Freemasonry, etc. It was approved by the provincial grand master for Kent. Five years later he was censured by the grand lodge. In 1807 he was again censured by the grand lodge. He set up his own "Independent" lodge in his home in Westminster where he conducted initiations and imparted Masonic instruction and even offered correspondence courses in Freemasonry. His rituals were printed in a cypher or The Master Key which he varied from time to time. The first was one using Z for A, Y for B, etc. He made considerable profit from his lodge and books, but in 1815 an engraver named Smith sued him for money due for printing and Finch instituted a countersuit for money due him for initiating and instructing Smith in Freemasonry. When the grand lodge officers were called into court as witnesses, they denied that Finch had the right to make Freemasons and he lost the suit, later dying in poverty.

William G. H. Finch Inventor and radio executive. The inventor of automatic high speed radio printing system; radio relay, and recorder; high fidelity transmission system (both black and white and color); and radio broadcast facsimile system. b. June 28, 1895 in Birmingham, England, coming to the U.S. in 1906. In early years, he was an electrical engineer and radio specialist with several companies. in 1921 he has been radio engineer and editor of International News Service, and radio editor of New York American and patent advisor for Popular Radio and Wireless Age since 1925. He established the first radio–typewriter press circuit between New York City and Chicago in 1932, and the first international circuit between New York City and Havana in 1933. He is the chief consulting engineer of the Hearst Newspapers, and chief engineer and secretary of Hurst’s American Radio News Corp. In 1931 he was communications aide to the Wilkins–Ellsworth Transarctic Submarine Expedition. He is vice president of WCAE, Pittsburgh, and owner of WGHF. Member of DeMolay Lodge No. 498, Buffalo, N.Y., since 1919; Ancient Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. and Columbia Commandery No. 1, K.T., both of New York City; 32° AASR (SJ) at Alexandria, Va., and Washington, D. C. Chapter of National Sojourners; Mecca Shrine Temple, New York City.

Gottfried Joseph G. Findel (1828–1905) German Masonic writer, noted mainly for his General History of Freemasonry, published in 1861 and translated into English versions in 1865 and 1869. This was the forerunner of Gould’s later work. He was initiated in Lodge Eleusis zur Vershwiegenheit at Bayreuth on Oct. 19, 1856. He founded the Union of German Freemasons in 1860 and was the editor of an interesting Masonic journal at Leipzig in 1858, entitled Craft Lodge. In 1874 he published Genius and Form of Freemasonry. Of interest to Americans is the fact that in 1860 the Prince Hall (Negro) Grand Lodge of Mass. made him honorary past grand master and named him representative of the Prince Hallgroups in Germany. They presented him with a jewel, collar, and gauntlets which were on display in the museum of the grand lodge at Bayreuth before WWII. When the Nazis overran Germany, all items were confiscated except the jewel and it is again on display in the museum. d. in 1905.

William Findlay (1768–1846) Governor of Pennsylvania 1817–20 and U.S. Senator from Pennsylvania, 1821–24. b. June 20, 1768 in Mercersburg, Pa., he became a farmer and active in Democratic politics. He was elected to the state legislature in 1797 and 1803. From 1807–17 he was state treasurer. He was treasurer of the U.S. mint at Philadelphia from 1827–40. Member of a Pennsylvania lodge. d. Nov. 12, 1846.

Benjamin Fine Journalist and Education Editor for The New York Times. In 1943 he won the Pulitzer Award for the New York Times for “the most disinterested and meritorious public service rendered by an American newspaper during the year.” b. Sept. 1, 1905 in New York City, he is a graduate of Rhode Island State Coll., and Columbia U. He was taught and lectured in education in a number of institutions of higher learning. Among his books are A Giant of the Press; Educational Publicity; and Admission to American Colleges. Raised in Justice Lodge No. 753, New York City in 1937, he was master in 1946 and named representative of New Mexico near the Grand Lodge of New York in 1955; 32° AASR (NJ) and member of Mecca Shrine Temple of New York; chairman of education committee of New York Times Square Club.

John S. Fine Governor of Pennsylvania, 1950–54. b. April 10, 1893 near Nanticoke, Pa. Graduate of Trinity Coll. and U. of Dublin. Admitted to bar in 1915, he practiced in Wilkes-Barre until 1927 when he became judge of court of common pleas of Luzerne Co. In 1947 he was named to the bench of the superior court of Pa., serving until elected governor in 1950. Mason.

George K. Finlay (1877–1938) Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. Oct. 1, 1877 at Greenville, S. Car. Ordained deacon in 1902 and priest in 1903. He was missionary in charge of Trinity Chapel at Clemson Coll. (S. Car.) from 1902–07, and rector of Trinity Church at Columbia from 1907–21, when he was consecrated bishop coadjutor of diocese of South Carolina. From 1922 he was bishop for diocese of upper South Carolina. Mason. d. Aug. 27, 1938.

David E. Finley Director, National Gallery of Art at Washington, D.C. since 1938. b. Sept. 13, 1890 at York, S. Car. Graduate of U. of South Carolina and George Washington Law School. He practiced law at Philadelphia from 1915–17, and after service as a lieutenant in WWI, went with the War Finance Corp. and later with the U.S. treasury. From 1933–37 he practiced law in Washington, D.C. He was president of American Association of Museums from 1945–49 and has served on national and international museum commissions. Mason. Member Philanthropic Lodge No. 32, York, S.C.

George Washington Finley (1858–1932) Piankeshaw Indian Chief whose tribal name was Te-Wah-Guah-Keillon-Ga b. b. Oct. 7, 1858 near Paola, Kans. He was raised in Miami Lodge No. 140, Miami, Okla. on Sept. 24, 1913 and served that lodge as tyler for 15 years. He received his 32° AASR (SJ) at McAlester, Okla. on Jan. 25, 1917 and was a member of Akdar Shrine Temple at Tulsa, Okla. d. Nov. 16, 1932.

Woolsey Finnell (1866–1955) Alabama engineer who sponsored the erection of a monument to the memory of Ephriam Kirby, q.v., the first general grand high priest of the Gen-eral Grand Chapter, U.S.A. at Mt. Vernon, Ala. in 1953. b. Oct. 24, 1866 near Tuscaloosa, Ala. He was an engineering graduate of the U. of Alabama. Served in Engineer Corps as a colonel in WWI and was cited for meritorious service by General Pershing, q.v. Was judge of probate in Tuscaloosa Co. following the war and later state director of highways for Ala. Finnell was one of the co-founders of the American Legion. Raised Sept. 26, 1896 and served as head of the grand chapter, grand council and grand commandery of Alabama. Member of Red Cross of Constantine; K.Y.C.H.; 33° AASR (SJ). He was awarded the General Grand Chapter's gold distinguished service award in 1954 for his part in the erection of the Kirby monument. d. Jan. 26, 1955.

Charles G. Finney (1792–1875) Anti-Mason, clergyman, abolitionist and president of Oberlin College (Ohio) from 1851–65. He received his degrees in Meridian Sun Lodge No. 32, Warren, Conn. in 1816, and in June, 1818, made his first visit to Rising Sun Lodge No. 125 at Adams, N.Y. Although not a member of the latter lodge at the time, he was voted to serve as secretary, pro tern at a meeting on Feb. 24, 1820. On Dec. 14, 1820 he was admitted a member of the lodge and named secretary at the same meeting. On May 6, 1824, he was discharged by his own request. It was in this year that he was licensed as a minister by the St. Lawrence Presbytery, and two years later he began conducting religious revivals throughout the Middle and Eastern states. He wrote and preached anti-Masonry wherever he was, and with Jonathan Blanchard, a Presbyterian minister and president of Wheaton College, published an anti-Masonic newspaper called The Christian Cynosure. He was active with Blanchard and Bishop David Edwards in the formation of the National Christian Association in 1868, whose purpose was to oppose all secret societies. This grew into the American Party in 1872, and this short-lived organization ran candidates in the 1876 and 1880 elections. Eventually dissension and petty jealousies in the anti-Masonic ranks caused the movement to die. As one biographer stated: "Were he alive today, how surprised he would be to learn that there are more Masons among the undergraduates and graduates of Oberlin College than existed during the Morgan affair in the entire state of New York."

Joseph Firrao Anti-Mason. Roman Catholic Cardinal and secretary of state to Pope Clement XII, q.v., who after his famous Bull of Excommunication on April 24, 1738 entitled In Eminenti Apostolatus Specula, caused Firrao to issue a still more stringent edict for the Papal states on Jan. 14, 1739 of which subjected Freemasons to death and confiscation of property, without hope of mercy" sotto Pena della morte, e confiscazione de deni da incorressi, irremisstbilmente senz a speranza di grazia."

Leo H. Fischer Sports editor. b. Sept. 20, 1897 at Chicago, Ill. Has been a reporter and sports writer for Chicago Examiner, Chicago Herald-Examiner, Chicago Journal, Chicago American. Has been sports editor for Chicago Herald-American since 1941. He was founder and president of the Amateur Softball Assn. in 1930-38; president of the National Professional Basketball League in 1940-44. Served in the Navy in WWI. Member of Monroe C. Crawford Lodge No. 1042, Chicago, Ill., receiving degrees on May 27, July 1, and Sept. 9, 1921. Served as senior warden at one time. Member of National Sojourners and Heroes of '76.

Bert Fish (1875-1943) U.S. Envoy and Minister. b. Oct. 8, 1875 at Bedford, Ind. Graduate of John B. Stetson U. Admitted to Florida bar in 1902, practiced in De Land, retiring in 1926. He served as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Egypt (1933), Saudi Arabia (1939), and Portugal from 1941. In 1937 he was chairman of the delegation to the Capitulations Conferences at Montreaux, Switzerland. He also was engaged in the citrus industry in Florida. Member of St. Johns Lodge No. 37, De Land, Fla., receiving degrees on Feb. 14, March 14 and March 28, 1899; 32° AASR (SJ). d. July 21, 1943.

Edward L. Fishburne Justice, Supreme Court of North Carolina since 1935. b. Nov. 4, 1883 at Walterboro, S. Car. Graduate of The Citadel (S.C.). Admitted to bar in 1907 and practiced in Walterboro. Served four years in the lower house of his state. Mason.

John W. Fishburne (1868-1937) U.S. Congressman to 72nd Congress (1931-33) from 7th Va. dist. b. March 8, 1868 in Albemarle Co., Va. Law degree from U. of Virginia in 1896, he practiced at Charlottesville. Served in lower state house and was circuit judge from 1913–30. Mason. d. June 26, 1937.

Geoffrey F. Fisher Archbishop of Canterbury. b. May 5, 1887 at Higham Rectory, Numeaton, England. He was a student at Marlborough Coll. from 1901–06 and received a B.A. from Exeter Coll., Oxford, in 1910 and an M.A. in 1913. He was ordained as a deacon in the Church of England in 1912, priested in 1913, and consecrated bishop in 1932, as bishop of Chester; bishop of London in 1939, and archbishop of Canterbury since 1945. He is known for his tolerance and unconventionality. When enthroned in 1945 as archbishop, he became one of the youngest primates of England in modern times. He has been privy councilor since 1939. Initiated in Old Reptonian Lodge No. 3725 in 1916, he later became a member of Tyrian Lodge No. 253 in Derby, and as bishop of Chester, he joined St. Anselms Lodge No. 5166 at Chester in 1935, and served as master in 1936. He has twice been grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of England—1937 and 1939 and served as provincial grand master for Norfolk.

Henry C. Fisher (1867–1936) Brigadier General, U.S. Army Medical Corps. b. May 20, 1867 in Montgomery Co., Md. Received his M.D. degree at Georgetown U. in 1891, and appointed 1st lieutenant and assistant surgeon in the Army in the same year, advancing through grades to brigadier general and assistant surgeon general in 1929, retiring in 1931. He served in the Spanish–American War, Philippine Insurrection and WWI. He commanded hospitals at Hot Springs, Ark., Walter Reed General Hospital, and Army Medical School at Washington, D.C. Mason. d. Dec. 18, 1936.

John S. Fisher (1867–1940) Governor of Pennsylvania, 1927–31. b. May 25, 1867 in South Mahoning Twp., Pa. Graduate of Indiana State Normal School of Pa. in 1886 and honorary degrees from several institutions. Admitted to the bar in 1893, he practiced at Indiana, Pa. He was chairman of the board of National Union Fire Insurance Co. and was chairman of the investigating committee which exposed the frauds in connection with furnishing the state capitol at Harrisburg. In 1919 he was appointed state commissioner of banking. He was made a Mason “at sight” by the grand master of Pennsylvania at a special communication of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania on March 7, 1928, and was elected to membership in Indiana Lodge No. 313 of Indiana, Pa. d. June 25, 1940.

Joshua Fisher (1748–1833) Surgeon on a privateer during the Revolutionary War. b. May 17, 1748, in Dedham, Mass. He graduated from Harvard in 1776, studied medicine and began his practice until the hostilities with Great Britain began in 1775, when he volunteered as a surgeon on a privateer out of Marblehead. He was captured, but escaped to France, again entering the service. After the war, he settled in Beverly, Mass. and attained a high reputation in his profession. He bequeathed $20,000 to found a Harvard professorship in natural history. He was president of the Massachusetts Medical Society and published A Discourse on Narcotics in 1806. He was a member of Unity Lodge at Ipswich, Mass. and served as secretary of the lodge. d. March 15, 1833.

Clark Fisher U.S. Congressman to 78th to 80th Congresses from 21st Texas dist. (1943–51). b. Nov. 22, 1903 near Junction, Texas. Admitted to bar in 1929, he served as county attorney, state representative and district attorney. Member of Concho Lodge No. 1260, San Angelo, Texas since 1922 and past master of same. Member of Acacia Fraternity, Eastern Star and Shrine.

George A. Fitch Secretary of the International Committee on Y.M.C.A. since 1909. b. Jan. 23, 1883 in Soo-chow, China. An ordained Presbyterian pastor, he entered the Y.M.C.A. work in 1909, and has served in Shanghai, Nanking, Chungking, Lan-chow, China, and in Korea since 1947. He was director of the Nanking Safety Zone during the siege and occupation of 1937–38. He has been executive adviser to Chinese Industrial Cooperatives; deputy director of UNRRA; vice president of Chinese–Foreign Famine Relief; trustee of Institution for Chinese Blind, and honorary adviser to Chinese Mission to Lepers. Mason and member of O.E.S.

John Fitch (1743–1798) Inventor of steamboats. b. Jan. 21, 1743 in East Windsor, Conn. His early years were marked by ill-treatment from his father and elder brother, and an unfortunate marriage. After serving an apprenticeship as a watchmaker, he became a wanderer in 1769. First a gunsmith to the American forces of the Revolution, he later joined the New Jersey troops and wintered at Valley Forge, later resuming his watch-making trade in Bucks Co., Pa. As a deputy surveyor for the state of Virginia he also combined the job of selling merchandise in the back country and on one trip was captured and held prisoner by the Indians throughout one winter (1782–83) until he escaped. He first conceived the idea of steam as a motive-power in April, 1785 while in Warminster, Pa. He had been initiated into Bristol Lodge No. 25 of Bristol, Pa., just three months earlier (Jan. 4, 1785). His first thought was to use it for carriages, but then he returned to vessels. He completed his first model of a steamboat that year. Although he besieged the Continental Congress as well as the Pennsylvania legislature for aid in his project, he failed to receive it, and with $800 of his own capital, he formed a company and began a boat of 60 tons. His second boat made its trial trip on the Delaware at Philadelphia on Aug. 22, 1787, in the presence of the members of congress met in convention to frame the Federal constitution. A still larger boat was completed in October, 1788, and another in April, 1790, the latter running the entire summer as a regular passenger boat between Philadelphia and Burlington with a speed of eight miles per hour. In 1791 he received a patent for his inventions from the government. In 1793 he went to France to build a boat, but found the country in revolution and left his plans and specifications with the American consul at L'Orient and went to London. In his absence, his drawings and papers, it is claimed, were lent to Robert Fulton who was then in Paris. He returned to America in 1794 disappointed and penniless. He then constructed one more steamboat and another model, but sometime between June 25 and July 18, 1798, he committed suicide by poison and died in a tavern in Bardstown, Ky. He wrote: "The day will come when some more powerful man will get fame and riches from my invention; but nobody will believe that poor John Fitch can do anything worthy of attention.” In 1817, at the instigation of Governor Ogden of N.J. the original patents, drafts, specifications and models of both Fitch’s and Fulton’s boats were presented before a committee of the New York legislature which reported: “the steamboats built by Livingston and Fulton were in substance the invention patented to John Fitch in 1791, and Fitch during the term of his patent had the exclusive right to use the same in the United States.”

Lord Frederick Fitzclarence. Sixty-Fifth Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1841–42.

A. L. Fitzgerald (1840–1921) President of Pacific Methodist College, 1871–75 and Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Nevada, 1907. b. Oct. 27, 1840 in Ruffin, N. Car. Graduate of U. of N. Car. Serving in the Civil War, he saw action in the battles of the Wilderness, Petersburg, and the siege of Richmond. Went to Calif. after the war and taught Greek and Latin in the Pacific Methodist College. He later became deputy superintendent of Public Instruction of the state and returned to the college in 1871 as president. He read law and was admitted to the bar in 1878, moving in that year to Eureka, Nev. He was elected district judge in 1887, and elevated to the supreme court bench in 1900. Raised in Rockwell Lodge No. 600, Ruffin, N. Car., he received the chapter and commandery degrees in Petersburg, Va. in 1863. In Nevada he affiliated with Eureka Lodge No. 16 and St. Johns Chapter No. 5, heading both bodies and becoming grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of Nevada in 1884 and grand master of the Grand Lodge of Nevada in 1887. He received his AASR (SJ) degrees in Santa Rosa, Calif., in 1870, 33° and sovereign grand inspector general for Nevada. d. Aug. 21, 1921.

Edward Fitzgerald (1809–1883) English poet and translator. Educated at Cambridge, he is best known for his translation in rhymed verse of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam (1859). He was the author of two plays of Sophocles and six dramas of Calderon. Member of Doric Lodge No. 96 at Woodbridge, England.

Frank D. Fitzgerald (1885–1939) Governor of Michigan, 1935–36. b. Jan. 27, 1885 at Grand Ledge, Mich. In the service of his state from 1913, he was variously a proofreader of the lower house, bill clerk, clerk in office of secretary of state, executive secretary of Michigan Federal Food Administration, deputy secretary of state, business manager of state highway department, secretary of state, 1931–34. He was raised in Grand Ledge Lodge No. 179 on Nov. 7, 1920, and was a member of the Scottish Rite (NJ) at Grand Rapids, Mich. d. March 16, 1939.

John Fitzgerald Aide-de-Camp to General Washington in Revolutionary War. A major of the 9th Virginia Regiment, he served as Washington's aide from Nov. 1776 to July 1778. Member of Williamsburg Lodge No. 6 in Virginia.

Roy G. Fitzgerald U.S. Congressman, 67th to 71st Congresses (1921–31) from 3rd Ohio dist. b. Aug. 25, 1875 at Watertown, N.Y. Admitted to bar in 1896. He served in WWI as an infantry captain overseas. He is the author of the cumulative codification system for statutory law of U.S. and District of Columbia, and has been a delegate to the conference of the Interparliamentary Union in 1927, 1928 and 1929. Member of Mystic Lodge No. 405, Dayton, Ohio, receiving degrees on Dec. 23, 1902, Feb. 4 and Feb. 16, 1903; 32° AASR (NJ).

Burton S. Flagg President of Federated Mutual Fire Insurance Co. and Cambridge Mutual Fire Insurance Co. b. Nov. 10, 1873 in Littleton, Mass. Graduate of Brown U. in 1896. Started in insurance business at Fitchburg, Mass. in 1897. Officer and director of many companies. Raised in St. Matthews Lodge, Andover, Mass. on Nov. 2, 1903; knighted in Bethany Cornmandery No. 17, Lawrence, Mass. on May 28, 1907; received 32° AASR (NJ) in Massachusetts Consistory, Boston, April 28, 1911; entered Aleppo Shrine Temple, Boston, on Dec. 30, 1910.

Edmund Flagg (1815–?) Author. b. Nov. 24, 1815 in Wiscasset, Maine. He graduated at Bowdoin in 1835 and taught school in Louisville, Ky. and wrote for the Louisville Journal for 30 years. He read law in St. Louis and was admitted to the Mo. bar in 1837, also editing the St. Louis Commercial Bulletin. In 1840–41 he practiced law in Vicksburg, Miss., and was editor of the Whig at the same time. At this time he was seriously wounded in a duel with the editor of the Vicksburg Sentinel. In 1842 he owned the Gazette at Marietta, Ohio, and in 1844–45 the St. Louis Evening Gazette. He subsequently acted as official reporter of the courts of St. Louis and reported on the debates of the constitutional convention of Mo. In 1849 he was secretary of the U.S. legation at Berlin, and in 1850–51 was U.S. consul at Venice and also correspondent for several New York papers. On his return in 1852 he took charge of a Democratic paper in St. Louis. He was afterward placed in charge of the bureau of statistics in the department of state at Washington, D.C. From 1858–60 he acted as Washington correspondent for the western press. From 1861–70 he was in charge of the U.S. copyright office and then practiced law at Falls Church, Va. Among his writings are The Far West; The Howard Queen; Blanche of Artois; Edmond Dantes (a sequel to Monte Cristo); Venice, the City of the Sea; De Molai, the Last of the Military Grand Masters. Although his lodge is not known, he was a member of Louisville Chapter No. 5, Louisville, Ky. and created a Knight Templar on April 26, 1851 in Louisville Commandery No. 1, K.T. He was a life member of the latter body, but dimitted to affiliate with Washington Commandery No. 1 of Washington, D.C. on March 8, 1854.

Harris Flanagan Former Governor of Arkansas. Member of Arkadelphia Lodge No. 19, Arkadelphia, Ark. In 1859 he was chairman of the committee on education of the Grand Lodge of Arkansas and junior grand deacon in 1862. A member of Whitfield Chapter No. 4, R.A.M., Camden, Ark., he became high priest of Merrick Chapter, U.D. at Arkadelphia and was deputy grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Arkansas in 1860. He served as grand master of the Grand Council, R. & S.M. of Arkansas. Deceased.

John W. Flannagan, Jr. (1885–1955) U.S. Congressman to 72nd to 80th Congresses (1931–49) from 9th Va. dist. b. Feb. 20, 1885 at Trevilians, Va. Began law practice at Appalachia, Va. in 1907 and later settled in Bristol. Mason and Shriner. d. April 27, 1955.

Reuben H. Fleet President of Consolidated Aircraft Corp. b. March 6, 1887 at Montesano, Wash. He began in 1907 as a real estate operator, specializing in timber and in May, 1923, organized the Consolidated Aircraft Corp., of which he was president and general manager until 1941 and senior consultant since 1942. Served as a major in Army Air Force in WWI. Mason.

Samuel S. Fleisher (1872–1944) Wool manufacturer and philanthropist. Particularly active in juvenile fields. b. in Philadelphia, Pa., he was vice president of S. B. & B. W. Fleisher, Inc., manufacturers of worsted yarn, but retired to devote himself to community projects in Philadelphia as well as those on a national scale. Member of Keystone Lodge No. 271, Philadelphia, receiving degrees on April 6, May 9 and June 12, 1914. d. Jan. 20, 1944.

Sir Alexander Fleming (1881–1955) British discoverer of penicillin. Graduate of St. Mary's Hospital Medical School. A professor of bacteriology at the U. of London and lecturer of Royal Coll. of Surgeons. He discovered penicillin in 1928 for which he was awarded the Nobel prize in 1945. Discovered lysozyme in 1929. He was knighted by King George VI, q.v., in 1944. He was awarded the distinguished service citation of the Grand Lodge of New York in 1953. A member of several English lodges, he was master of Misericordia Lodge No. 3286 in 1935, and later served as treasurer. He was master of Santa Maria Lodge No. 2682 in 1925, and later secretary. In 1942 he was elected senior grand deacon of the United Grand Lodge of England and promoted to past grand warden in 1948. He served as high priest of Aesculapius Chapter and in 1942 was past grand sojourner of the Supreme Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of England, and later was named past grand scribe. In the Scottish Rite, he was 30° and was sovereign of Victory Chapter of Rose Croix. He was also a member of the London Scottish Rifles Lodge No. 2310 and took special pride in the fact that he has served as a private in the Scottish Rifles Regiment of London for 14 years. d. March 11, 1955.

Dewey L. Fleming Newspaperman and Pulitzer prize winner. b. July 19, 1898 at Whitmer, W. Va. Was a reporter with Elkins Inter-Mountain (W. Va.) and Baltimore American until 1923, when he went with the Baltimore Sun. Since that time he has been with the Washington Bureau, New York correspondent, Chicago correspondent, London correspondent and chief of the Washington Bureau since 1941. He was awarded the Pulitzer prize for reporting on national affairs in the year 1943. Mason.

Raymond H. Fleming Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. July 5, 1889 at Waxahachie, Texas. Graduate of Trinity U. (Texas) and postgraduate work in economics and labor relations at Tulane. He enlisted as a private in the La. national guard in 1916 and was commissioned in 1917, advancing to brigadier general in the guard in 1928 and in the U.S. Army in 1940.

He served in the Mexican border conflict and with the field artillery overseas in WWI. In WWII he was state director of selective service (La.) and in 1948 was assistant director of selective service at Washington, D.C. Member of Louisiana Lodge No. 102, New Orleans, La. since 1917 and a National Sojourner.

Wallace B. Fleming President of West Virginia Wesleyan College, 1915–22 and president of Baker University, 1922–36, and now president emeritus. b. Nov. 22, 1872 in Cambridge, Ohio, he holds degrees from Muskingum (Ohio), Drew, Columbia, West Virginia, Wesleyan and Baker. Ordained a Methodist Episcopal minister in 1897, he served pastorates in Paterson and Bayonne, N.J. and was later professor of Hebrew and Greek at Drew Theological Seminary (N.J.). Raised in Maple Lodge No. 196, N.J. on June 16, 1911. Later affiliated with Madison Lodge No. 93, N.J. and with Franklin Lodge No. 7, Buckhannon, W.Va. in 1918 dimitting in 1923.

Walter M. Fleming (1838–1913) Cofounder of the Ancient, Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine with William J. Florence, q.v., on June 6, 1876 and was its first imperial potentate, serving for 12 years. b. June 13, 1838 in Portland, Maine. A physician, he was raised in Rochester Lodge No. 660 on Feb. 13, 1869 and affiliated with New York Lodge No. 330 on Dec. 3, 1872. He became a member of Columbian Commandery No. 1, K.T. at New York City on Dec. 2, 1871 and was its commander from 1873–77. d. Sept. 9, 1913.

William Fleming (1734–1824) American patriot and jurist.

A graduate of William and Mary CO11. in 1763, he was a member of the house of burgesses and of the Virginia conventions in 1775–76 and a member of the committee on independence in May, 1776. He became judge of the general court and presiding judge of the court of appeals. He served as a delegate from Virginia to the Continental Congress in 1779–81. His lodge is not known, but he attended the sessions of the Grand Lodge of Virginia in Oct. 1791. d. Feb. 2, 1824.

Hugh J. Flemming Prime Minister of New Brunswick from 1952. b. at Peel, Carleton Co., N.B., Canada. Engaged in potato farming and lumbering early in life. He became a county councilor and was later elected to the New Brunswick legislature and became the leader of the opposition, in which capacity he served until the election of 1952, when the Conservatives came into power and he was called upon to form a new government. His father, John K. Flemming was premier of New Brunswick from 1911–14. He was raised in Carleton Lodge No. 35 in 1925 and took his chapter work in Woodstock Chapter No. 8, R.A.M. and was made a Knight Templar in 1929. As premier of the province, he encouraged legislation to widen the social services and develop the potential hydro resources.

Duncan U. Fletcher (1859–1936) U.S. Senator from Florida 1909–36. b. Jan. 6, 1859 at Sumter Co., Ga. Degrees from Vanderbilt U. and John R. Stetson U. He was admitted to the bar in 1881 and practiced at Jacksonville, Fla. He served as mayor of Jacksonville two terms, was a member of the lower house in Florida, and chairman of the Democratic state committee from 1905–08. He was raised in Solomon Lodge No. 20 of Jacksonville in 1882. d. June 17, 1936.

Esten A. Fletcher (1869–?) Imperial Potentate of the Shrine in 1931–32. b. July 23, 1869 near Toronto, Canada.

Robert C. Fletcher One of the founders of Rotary International. Member of LaGrange Lodge No. 770 at LaGrange, Ill. and recorder of Trinity Commandery No. 80, K.T. of LaGrange.

Thomas C. Fletcher (1827–1899) Governor of Missouri, 1865–69. b. Jan. 22, 1827 at Herculaneum, Mo., his family came from Maryland in 1818. When 22, he was elected circuit clerk of Jefferson Co. He was admitted to the bar in 1855 and became land agent for S.W. branch of the Pacific Railroad. In 1857 he and his brother-in-law, Louis J. Rankin, laid out the town of DeSoto, Mo. In the Civil War he volunteered in April, 1861, and in 1862, recruited the 31st Missouri Infantry and was commissioned as colonel. He was wounded and captured at Chickasaw Bayou. In 1864 he organized state troops to resist the invasion of General Price, and for his successful defense of Pilot Knob under General Ewing, he was brevetted brigadier general by President Lincoln. Elected governor in Nov. 1864, he was the first native-born Missourian and the first Republican to serve as governor of the state. One of his first acts was to issue an emancipation proclamation on Jan. 11, 1865. He created a new and larger public school fund; reorganized and improved the public school system; made the first appropriation from the general revenue for the U.

of Missouri; established an an-migration board and sold railroads owned by the state through failure of the companies to pay interest on state-guaranteed bonds. At the conclusion of his term in 1869, he practiced law in St. Louis and then in Washington, D.C. He was a member of Joachim Lodge No. 164, Hillsboro, Mo. (of which his father was also a member) and of Jefferson City Chapter No. 34, R.A.M., receiving the Mark and Past Master degrees on Dec. 29, 1868 and Royal Arch on Jan. 23, 1871. He dimitted to St. Louis Chapter No. 8 on Feb. 4, 1876. He was knighted in Ivanhoe Commandery No. 8, K.T., St. Louis on May 25, 1871 and served as commander in 1874. When he moved to Washington, he dimitted from both chapter and commandery and it is presumed that he affiliated with those bodies in the east. d. March 25, 1899.

Charles W. Flint Methodist Bishop. b. Nov. 14, 1878 at Stouffville, Ont., Canada. Received degrees from Victoria Coll. (Ont.), Drew Theological Sem.; Columbia U. and Wesleyan U. He entered the Methodist ministry in 1900, and served pastorates in Iowa, New York and Conn. From 1915–22 he was president of Cornell Coll. (Ia.) and chancellor of Syracuse U. from 1922–36. Named as bishop in 1936, he first served the Atlanta area until 1939 and then the Syracuse area until 1944. In 1944 he was moved to the Washington, D.C. area. He is a member of Mt. Vernon Lodge No. 112, Mt. Vernon, Iowa. Received the 32° AASR (SJ) in Iowa on Feb. 1, 1918, withdrawing in 1919, and later affiliating with the northern jurisdiction and receiving 33°.

Frank P. Flint (1862–1929) U.S. Senator from California, 1905–11. b. July 15, 1862 in North Reading, Mass., moving to San Francisco with parents in 1869. Studied law, became clerk in U.S. marshal's office and admitted to the bar. He served as U.S. attorney for Los Angeles and later to Southern District of Calif. Member of Eastgate Chapter No. 103, R.A.M. of Los Angeles. d. Feb. 11, 1929.

Charles T. Floquet (1828–1896) President of the French Chamber of Deputies, 1885–88. A French politician and lawyer, he opposed the second empire, and was active in government of national defense in 1870. He attempted a reconciliation between the revolutionary leaders and Versailles government during the Commune, but was briefly imprisoned at Paris for his radical sentiments (1871). In 1875 he entered the chamber of deputies. From 1888–89 he was president of the council and minister of interior. He was again president of the chamber in 1889–93. Said by the bulletin of the International Masonic Congress (1917) to be a Freemason.

William Jermyn Florence (1831–1891) The stage name for Bernard Conlin, an American actor who is recognized as the founder of the Ancient and Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. b. July 26, 1831 in Albany, N.Y. He excelled in dialect impersonation. During one of his trips abroad, he conceived the idea of the Shrine while in North Africa, and on his return conveyed the idea to his friend, Dr. Walter M. Fleming, q.v., and the two founded the organization in New York City on June 6, 1876 with Fleming as first potentate of Mecca Temple. He received all three degrees by special dispensation in Mt. Moriah Lodge No. 155, Philadelphia, Pa.

on Oct. 12, 1853 and “joined” the lodge on Nov. 22 of that year. He became a member of Zerubbabel Chapter No. 162, R.A.M. on June 12, 1854 and of Pittsburgh Commandery No. 1, K.T. on June 13, 1854. He was a 33° AASR (NJ). d. Nov. 19, 1891. He was buried in a Protestant cemetery with Catholic rites, the latter being arranged by his wife.

Jean P. C. Florian (1755–1794) French author who wrote fables, romances and plays. Member of the Lodge of Nine Sisters, Paris.

Robert L. Flowers (1870–1951) President of Duke University, 1941–48. b. Nov. 6, 1870 in N. Car. He was a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy in 1891. He was professor of mathematics at Duke U. from 1891–1934; vice president from 1925–41; trustee from 1910; treasurer 1928–48 and chancellor from 1948. Mason. d. Aug. 24, 1951.

John B. Floyd (1807–1863) Governor of Virginia, 1850–53; Secretary of War, 1857–60; Brigadier General in Confederate Army. b. June 1, 1807 in Blacksburg, Va. He graduated from Coll. of South Carolina in 1826 and moved to Arkansas for three years, returning to Virginia in 1839 to practice law. He served one term in the lower house of Virginia before becoming governor in 1850. In 1861 he was indicted in Washington as having given aid to secession leaders while he was secretary of war by dispersing the army to remote parts, transferring muskets from northern to southern arsenals and other charges. He demanded an immediate trial and in Jan. 1861, a committee from the house of representatives completely exonerated him. In that same year he was made brigadier general in the Confederate Army. He was a member of St. Johns Lodge No. 36, Richmond, Va. and was present at a special communication of the Grand Lodge of Virginia on Feb. 21, 1850. He delivered the oration at the cornerstone laying of the Washington monument. d. Aug. 26, 1863.

Robert Fludd (1574–1637) An Oxonian philosopher who introduced Rosicrucianism into England. He wrote many works on the “Rosy Cross,” all of which were in Latin. He claimed that the Rose Croix symbolically signified the cross dyed with the blood of the Saviour—a Christian idea which was in advance of the original Rosicrucians. Although he probably was not a member of the craft, his ideas may have had an influence on speculative Freemasonry in England. He was often called “Robertus de Fluctibus.”

John J. Flynt, Jr. U.S. Congressman, 83rd and 84th Congresses from 4th Georgia dist. b. Nov. 8, 1914 at Griffin, Ga. Graduate of U. of Georgia and George Washington U. Admitted to bar in 1938. Served in U.S. Army from 1936–37 and 1941–45. Member of Meridian Sun Lodge No. 26, Griffin, Ga., receiving degrees on Sept. 3, Oct. 1, and Oct. 15, 1946.

Nandor Fodor Psychoanalyst. b. May 13, 1895 in Beregszasz, Hungary. Graduate of Royal Hungarian U. of Science, Budapest, in 1917. From 1934–38 he was director of research for the International Institute of Psychical Research at London, and London editor of the Journal of American Society for Psychical Research from 1935–39. Since 1939

he has been a practicing psychoanalyst in New York City. He is the author of Encyclopedia of Psychic Science; Those Mysterious People; The Search for the Beloved; Freud—Dictionary of Psychoanalysis. Mason.

James W. Foley, Jr. (1874–1939) Author and newspaperman. b. Feb. 4, 1874 in St. Louis, Mo. Student at U. of South Dakota. He began newspaper work on the Tribune at Bismarck in 1892 and was associate editor of the Evening Post at Pasadena, Calif., from 1919–29. He was the author of many poems and stories for children, and in 1924 the state department of public instruction in N. Dak. ordered his birthday to be celebrated by all public schools of that state and to be observed annually. Among his writings are Boys and Girls, Plains and Prairie, Life and Laughter—Completed Verses (1911); Old Friends in Joyous Verses (1912); The Way of Smiles (1913); Tales of the Trail (1914); The Friendship Series (which included 10 subjects in 1915); The Voices of Song (1916). He also produced several outdoor plays including In Old Virginia; With Happiness to You and White Gods and Red. Affiliated with Starr King Lodge No. 344, Calif. on Dec. 4, 1919 from Bismarck Lodge No. 5, S. Dak. d. May 17, 1939.

John H. Folger U.S. Congressman to 72nd and 78th to 80th Congresses (1943–49) from 5th N.Car. dist. b. Dec. 18, 1880 at Rockford, N.Car. Practiced law in N.Car. since 1901. Served in both branches of state legislature and was mayor of Mt. Airy for two terms. Mason and Shriner.

Joseph W. Folk (1869–1923) Governor of Missouri,

1905–09. b. Oct. 28, 1869 at Brownsville, Tenn. Graduated from Vanderbilt U. in 1890 and admitted to bar that year. He practiced in Brownsville, Tenn. for four years, and then moved to St. Louis, Mo. in 1894. While serving as circuit attorney of St. Louis (1900–04), he exposed a vast amount of political and official corruption and prosecuted numerous bribery cases, some involving influential St. Louis citizens. He lost two races for U.S. Senate and at one time was mentioned as a presidential candidate. He made a lecture tour of the U.S. in 1909–10 and was chief counsel for the Interstate Commerce Commission from 1914–18. He was raised in Occidental Lodge No. 163 at St. Louis on June 30, 1903 by the grand master of the state, Dr. William F. Kuhn, q.v. d. May 28, 1923.

Martin Folkes (1690–1754) English scholar and antiquarian. b. Oct. 29, 1690 in Westminster, England. He entered Cambridge U. in 1707 and in 1713 was elected a fellow of the Royal Society and in 1723 was named its vice president. At the death of Sir Isaac Newton in 1727, he became a candidate for its presidency, but was defeated by Sir Hans Sloane. At the resignation of Sloane in 1741 Folkes became president and held the office until 1753, when he resigned due to ill health. He was elected a member of the Royal Academy of Sciences in Paris in 1746, and in the same year received Doctor of Laws degrees from both Oxford and Cambridge. In 1750 he was elected president of the Society of Antiquaries, holding that position until his death. It seems that he was induced to take a part in Freemasonry through his association with Sir Christopher Wren, q.v., and Dr. Desaguliers, q.v. Few records remain of his Masonic life. In 1725 he was appointed deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of England, serving under the Duke of Richmond. He is recorded as having given considerable attention to his duties, and presided over the grand lodge in May of that year. He is supposed to have given an address at that meeting which was preserved as the "Folkes M.S." but since lost. He visited Italy and is said to have established a lodge named Fabius Maximus in Rome. In 1742 the Freemasons of that country struck a medal in his honor with Masonic symbols on one side and his likeness on the obverse. d. June 28, 1754.

A. J. Folley Former Justice, Supreme Court of Texas. b. Nov. 28, 1896 at Oletha, Texas. Graduate of Baylor U. in 1921 and 1925. He first taught in Frederick, Okla., and in 1923, was a teacher in Baylor U. Admitted to bar in 1925, he practiced in Floydada, serving as district attorney, district judge, and associate justice of court of civil appeals. Now in private practice in Amarillo. Received his degrees in Mart Lodge No. 636, Mart, Texas in 1918 and holds dual membership in Floydada Lodge No. 712 and Amarillo Lodge No. 731, being past master of the latter and past district deputy grand master of the 96th dist. He is also a member of the chapter and council at Floydada.

Frederick V. Follmer U.S. District Judge for Eastern, Middle and Western Districts of Pennsylvania since 1946. b. Dec. 13, 1885 at Milton, Pa. Graduate of Bucknell U. and Harvard. Admitted to bar in 1910, he practiced at Milton and later served as district attorney and U.S. attorney. Member and past master of Milton Lodge No. 256, Milton, Pa.; 32° AASR (NJ) at Williamsport, Pa.

James E. Folsom Governor of Alabama since 1947. b. Oct. 9, 1908 in Coffee Co., Ala. He was a district agent of Emergency & Aid Insurance Co. at Elba, Ala., from 1937–40 and became state manager for same in 1940. He is a member of Marshall Lodge No. 209 at Guntersville and belongs to the chapter and commandery at Birmingham. In 1956 he extended his greetings to the Grand Lodge of Alabama at their annual communication. Shriner.

Jellis A. Fonda Revolutionary War officer. Sometimes referred to as “Jules” or “Jelles.” He was a major in Col. Willett’s New York Regiment. Originally initiated in St. Patrick’s Lodge No. 8 at Johnstown. This lodge became famous when the Revolution split its membership between the colonies and the crown. Such famous members as Sir William Johnson, q.v., Sir John Johnson, q.v., Col. Guy Johnson, q.v., and Col. John Butler, q.v., were British leaders while others such as Gen. Nicholas Herkimer, q.v., and Rev. Samuel Kirkland, q.v., fought with the colonies. Fonda later became a member of St. George’s Lodge No. 1 at Schenectady and served as master in 1797, 1799–1803 and in 1805.

Fonseca (see Da Fonseca).

Marquis Louis de Fontanes (1757–1821) French writer and statesman. b. March 6, 1757 at Niort, France. He was president of the Corps Legislatif in 1804, having been a member from 1802. In 1810 he was a senator under Napoleon I, q.v. He was also a member of the privy council and was created a marquis and a peer by Louis XVIII. He was a member of the famous Lodge of the Nine Sisters at Paris, his name appearing on the lists of members between 1783 and 1806. d. March 17, 1821.

Percy W. Foote Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Aug. 13, 1879 at Roaring River, N.Car. Graduated from U.S. Naval Academy in 1901 and served through the grades to that of rear admiral in 1936, when he was retired. He was recalled to active duty in May, 1942 as inspector of Naval material at Houston, Texas. He was again retired in 1945. He commanded the U.S.S. President Lincoln when it was sunk in an engagement with the German submarine U-90 in 1918, and was in command of forces from the U.S.S. Baltimore during the Chinese uprising of 1905. From 1937-39 he was commander of the Pennsylvania motor police. Former member of Harmony Lodge No. 17, Washington, D.C., now dimitted.

Joseph B. Foraker (1846-1917) U.S. Senator from Ohio, 1897-1909 and Governor of Ohio, 1885-89. b. July 5, 1846 near Rainsboro, Ohio. He graduated from Cornell in 1869 after he had served in the Civil War with the 89th Ohio Infantry from 1862 to the end of the war. He was admitted to the bar and began practice at Cincinnati in 1869. He served as judge of the superior court of Cincinnati. Running for governor four times, he was twice elected and twice defeated. A delegate to eight national Republican conventions, he presented the name of William McKinley for nomination in 1896 and 1900. He became a member of Walnut Hills Lodge No. 483 of Cincinnati on May 19, 1885 and was also a member of Walnut Hills Chapter No. 151, R.A.M., Cincinnati Cornmandery No.

3, K.T. and Al Koran Shrine Temple of Cincinnati. d. May 10, 1917.

James, 16th Baron of Forbes Nineteenth Grand Master Mason of Scotland in 1754.

Aaron L. Ford U.S. Congressman, 74th to 77th Congresses (1935–43) from 4th Miss. dist. b. Dec. 21, 1903 at Potts Camp, Miss. Graduate of Cumberland U. Admitted to bar in 1927. From 1943–45 he acted as special attorney for special committee of House of Representatives to investigate acts of bureaus exceeding their authority. Vice president of Burma-Cola Co. and Bantam Beverages, Inc. Former member of Ackerman Lodge No. 1191, Ackerman, Miss. Dates of degrees—Nov. 15, Dec. 6, 1928, Jan. 8, 1929; dimitted Jan. 5, 1954.

Benson Ford Vice president of Ford Motor Co. and general manager of Lincoln–Mercury division as well as vice president and group director of Mercury and special products division of Ford Motor Co. b. July 20, 1919 at Detroit, grandson of Henry Ford, q.v., founder and long-time president of the company. He was educated in the Detroit U. school, Hotchkiss school and Princeton U. From 1940–41 he was assistant purchasing agent for Ford Motor Co. and assistant superintendent, 1941–42. He is a director of the company. He is a member and trustee of The Ford Foundation and trustee and president of the Henry Ford Hospital at Detroit. Served in WWII as a captain in the Air Force. Both Benson and his brother William, q.v., were raised in Corinthian Lodge No. 241 of Detroit on May 1, 1950. On April 28, only a few days earlier, Benson had addressed 1600 Scottish Rite Masons in the Detroit temple on “A Practical Approach to Brotherhood.” He is a 32° AASR (NJ).

Henry Ford (1863–1947) Automobile manufacturer and philanthropist. b. July 30, 1863 in Wayne Co., Mich. His inventive genius helped change the methods of transportation of the world. Early in life he learned the machinist’s trade and was chief engineer for Edison Illuminating Co. In 1903 he organized the Ford Motor Co. and built it into the largest automobile company in the world. In 1914 he made the unprecedented announcement that the company would institute a profit-sharing plan involving the distribution of 10 to 30 million dollars annually to employees. In 1915 he chartered a ship at his own expense to conduct a party to Europe with the object of organizing a conference of peacemakers to influence the belligerent governments to end the war. He returned home after reaching Christiania, Norway, but other members of his party proceeded to Stockholm, Copenhagen and through Germany to The Hague. In 1918 he was an unsuccessful candidate for the U.S. Senate. He was raised in Palestine Lodge No. 357, Detroit, Mich. on Nov. 28, 1894. The degree team was composed of men in overalls with whom he worked at the Edison company. He continued a staunch member of this lodge for almost 53 years. On March 7, 1935 he was made a life member of his lodge and presented with a testimonial plaque commemorating his 75th birthday. Ford made many visitations to lodges near his summer home at Traverse City and his winter residence in Georgia. He also made several visits to Zion Lodge which his brother-in-law, William R. Bryant, served as master in 1932. On Nov. 21, 1928 he was made an honorary member of Zion Lodge No. 1 (Michigan's oldest lodge). When he received the 33° AASR (NJ) in Sept., 1940, he stated: "Masonry is the best balance wheel the United States has, for Masons know what to teach their children." Henry's only son, Edsel, was not a Mason, but two of his grandsons, Benson and William q.v., are. The third grandson, Henry II, became a Roman Catholic. d. April 7, 1947.

Hiram C. Ford U.S. District Judge, Eastern District of Kentucky since March, 1935. b. July 28, 1884 in Scott Co., Ky. Graduate of Georgetown Coll. (Ky.) and Transylvania Coll. of Law. Admitted to bar in 1907 and practiced in Georgetown. He served as county attorney and district judge of 14th state district. Member of Mt. Vernon Lodge No. 14, Georgetown, Ky., since 1915 and past master of same.

Samuel C. Ford Governor of Montana, 1940–48 (two terms). b. Nov. 7, 1882 in Albany, Ky. Began law practice in Helena, Mont. in 1906 and served as the first assistant U.S. Attorney for Montana from 1908–14. He was attorney general of the state from 1917–21 and associate justice of the supreme court from 1929–33. Since that date he has been in private practice. He was raised in Tyrian Lodge No. 246, Garden City, Kans. in 1905 and later affiliated with Helena Lodge No. 3, Helena, Mont. Member of Helena Chapter No. 2, R.A.M.; Helena Council No. 1, R. & SM.; and Helena Commandery No. 2, K.T., and 32° AASR (SJ), all of Helena, Mont.

Stanley H. Ford Major General, U.S. Army. b. Jan. 30, 1877 at Columbus, Ohio. Graduate of Ohio State U. in 1898. Commissioned a lieutenant in 1898 (Infantry), he advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1930 and later to major general. Served in Cuba during Spanish–American War, and in China from 1914–17. Was chief of staff of the 27th Division throughout its operations in Belgium and France in 1918, and was assistant chief of staff in Washington from 1927–30. He received the 2nd and 3rd degrees in George W. Lininger Lodge No. 268 at Omaha, Nebr. by special dispensation of the grand master. Five past grand masters were present for the occasion.

William C. Ford Vice President of Lincoln and Continental divisions of the Ford Motor Co. b. March 14, 1925 at Detroit, he is the grandson of Henry Ford, q.v., the founder of the Ford automotive empire. Graduated from Yale in 1948. He began with the company in 1942 as a laboratory technician, later in labor relations and quality control. He has been a director since 1948 and is president of the Edison Institute and Edsel B. Ford Institute for Medical Research. He is a trustee of the Thomas A. Edison Foundation and Henry Ford Hospital. He was raised in Corinthian Lodge No. 241, Detroit, Mich. on May 1, 1950 at the same time as his brother Benson, q.v. A 32° AASR (NJ) and Knight Templar.

Edwin Forrest (1806–1872) American tragedian. b. March 9, 1806 in Philadelphia, Pa. His first New York success was at Park Theatre as Othello on June 23, 1826, although he had played in small stock companies in the rural areas previous to this. He appeared in London's Drury Lane Theatre as Spartacus in 1834. After years of success, he began a feud with the actor, Macready, over an imagined insult. As a result a mob attacked the Astor Place Opera House in London on May 10, 1849, where Macready was appearing and attempted to wreck the building. When the militia fired on them, 22 persons were killed and 36 wounded. From that time on he was given to brooding and melancholy, although during the period he appeared in some of his most successful performances. His chief roles were Lear, Coriolanus, Richard III, Virginius and Damon. He bequeathed a fortune to establish a home in Philadelphia for aged actors, but the claims of his divorced wife crippled the legacy. His lodge is not known, but in 1860 he donated $500 he received from a libel suit to the Grand Lodge of New York for the widows and orphans home of New York. d. Dec. 12, 1872.

Sir James Forrest (of Comiston) Sixty-third Grand Master Mason of Scotland in 1838. He was provost of Edinburgh.

Nathan B. Forrest (1821–1877) Lieutenant General of the Confederate Army. b. July 13, 1821 in Bedford Co., Tenn. He first farmed in Hernando, Miss. but moved to Memphis, Tenn. in 1852, and became a real estate dealer and broker in slaves. Entering the war in 1861 as a lieutenant colonel of cavalry, he distinguished himself with daring cavalry raids and was promoted to brigadier general after the attack on Murfreesboro in 1862. Following the battle at Chickamauga, he was transferred to northern Miss. and made a major general. His harassment of the Union forces by cavalry raids and his capture of Fort Pillow in April, 1864 lead to his promotion to lieutenant general in Feb., 1865. His actions at Fort Pillow, when he moved his troops to a commanding position under a flag of truce and then gave no quarter to the Negro troops, is questioned. His own report stated: "We busted the port at niner'clock and scattered the niggers. The men is still a cillanem in the woods." He was an entered apprentice in Angerona Lodge No. 168 at Memphis, Tenn. d. Oct. 29, 1877.

Weidman W. Forster Editor of the Pittsburgh Press since 1950. b. Nov. 27, 1899 at Mercersburg, Pa. He did editorial work on the Ladies' Home Journal from 1916-17, and was with the Pittsburgh Leader from 1917-23. Going with the Press in 1923 he was successively reporter, financial editor, sports editor, news editor and managing editor. In WWI he served with the U.S. Navy. Mason.

James M. Forsyth (1842-1915) Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Jan. 1, 1842 in the Bahamas, B.W.I. and was brought to the U.S. in 1853. He went to sea as a sailor before the mast in 1858, when only 16 years old. Although he served throughout the Civil War and was in many engagements including the capture of Forts Clarke and Hatteras, with Farragut on the Mississippi, and Forts Sumter and Moultrie, he was not commissioned until 1868, when he won in a competitive examination. He was promoted through the grades to captain in 1899 and retired in 1901 at his own request, as a rear admiral. He was made a Mason in Peru and later affiliated with Union Lodge No. 121, Philadelphia. He was a member of Shamokin Chapter No. 264 and Shamokin Commandery No.

77, K.T. both of Shamokin, Pa. On Nov. 5, 1909 he addressed Shamokin Lodge No. 255 on "Freemasonry Abroad." d. Aug. 3, 1915.

George F. Fort (1848–1909) Masonic author. b. Nov. 20, 1848 at Absecon, N.J. He edited the Keystone, a Masonic publication at Philadelphia and wrote several Masonic books including: Early History and Antiquities of Freemasonry; A Historical Treatise on Early Builders' Marks; and Medieval Builders. He was initiated in Camden Lodge No. 15, Camden, N.J. and was a founding member and second master (1871) of Trumble Lodge No. 117 of Camden. He was a scholar with an encyclopedic mind. He studied at Heidelberg U. and was noted for his studies of history and archeology. d. March 30, 1909.

John F. Fort (1809–1872) Governor of New Jersey, 1850–54. b. in May, 1809 in Pemberton, N.J. Graduated in medicine at the U. of Pennsylvania in 1830 and became a successful practitioner. In 1844 he was a member of the state constitutional convention, and subsequently elected to the state senate. After his service as governor, he was judge of the court of errors and appeals. He was made a Mason in Kane Lodge No. 55, Newark, N.J. on Sept. 18, 1885 and affiliated with Hope Lodge No. 124, East Orange, N.J. on July 20, 1898. He is sometimes credited with writing Early History and Antiquities of Freemasonry, but this was the work of his nephew, George F. Fort, q.v., who in turn is often mistaken as the former governor of New Jersey. d. April 22, 1872. Death date questioned.

Michael J. Fortier Vice President, Director and General Manager of Sherwin-Williams Co. (paint). b. Dec. 6, 1903 at Jeanerette, La. He began with the company in 1931 as a sales representative, later became division manager and district manager in both St. Louis and Cleveland. He was vice president and director from 1944, and vice president, director and general manager since 1945. He is also vice president and director of the following companies owned by Sherwin-Williams: Acme White Lead and Color Works; John Lucas & Co.; Rogers Paint Products; Martin-Senour; Hemingway & Co.; Texarkana Paint. Mason.

Joseph J. Foss Governor of South Dakota; U.S. Marine flying ace in WWII and holder of Congressional Medal of Honor. b. April 17, 1915 in Sioux Falls, S.Dak. He received an A.B. from the U. of South Dakota in 1940. He has been president of the Foss Motor Co. of Sioux Falls since 1953, and governor of South Dakota since 1955. He served in the lower house of the state from 1949-53. During WWII he served as a major in the U.S. Marine Corps, and as a pilot downed 26 Japanese planes, to become a national hero. He has been a brigadier general in the U.S.A.F. reserve, as well as the S.Dak. Air National Guard, since 1953. Foss was raised in Minnehaha Lodge No. 5 of Sioux Falls, June 29, 1943. He received the 32° AASR (SJ) in Los Angeles and is a member of El Riad Shrine Temple at Sioux Falls. Interested in crippled children, he is president of the South Dakota Society of Crippled Children, and in 1956 was chairman of the Easter Seal campaign for the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Addison G. Foster (1837–1917) U.S. Senator from Washington, 1899–1905. b. Jan. 28, 1837 at Belchertown, Mass. He taught school in Illinois and moved to Wabasha, Minn. in 1859 where he engaged in the grain and real estate business until 1875. He then moved to St. Paul, and eventually to Tacoma, Wash. where he was in the lumber business and active in the development of coal mines and railways, retiring in 1914. He became a member of Wapahasa Lodge No. 14 at Wabasha, Minn. in 1861. When he moved to St. Paul, he affiliated with Ancient Landmark Lodge No. 5, and later with Summit Lodge No. 163 of St. Paul. d. Jan. 16, 1917.

Arthur B. Foster Justice, Supreme Court of Alabama, 1928–53 and now supernumerary justice. b. Oct. 19, 1872 at Clayton, Ala. Graduate of U. of Alabama. He practiced law at Troy, served in the house of representatives, was circuit judge, and then resumed practice in Birmingham until named to the supreme court bench. Mason.

Charles Foster (1828–1904) U.S. Secretary of the Treasury, 1891–93. b. April 12, 1828 near Tiffin, Ohio. His father was the founder of Fostoria, Ohio, said city being named for him. He became a partner in his father's general store at 18, and was in full charge the following year. He served his district in the U.S. Congress from 1871–79. He was governor of Ohio from 1880–84. President Harrison named him as chairman of a commission to negotiate a treaty with the Sioux Indians. He was long identified with the business interests of Fostoria and was a member of Fostoria Lodge No. 288. d. Jan. 9, 1904.

Ellsworth D. Foster (1869–1936) Encyclopedia editor. b. Oct. 2, 1869 at Clayton, Mich. He first taught school; was superintendent at Columa, Mich., until 1898, when he became associated with a textbook publisher. He began his Reference Library in 1907 and in 1914 became editor of The World Book. In 1931 he went to Volume Library as editor, and from 1935 was editor-in-chief of The American Educator. Member of Woodlawn Park Lodge No. 841, Chicago, Ill., receiving degrees on Sept. 25, Oct. 23 and Oct. 30, 1916. He was secretary of the lodge in 1920–21, 1923–25; dimitted Feb. 22, 1932. d. Nov. 7, 1936.

Ephraim H. Foster (1795–1854) U.S. Senator from Tennessee, 1837–39. Studied law and was admitted to the bar and practiced in Nashville. In 1829 he was speaker of the state house of representatives. He was again elected to the senate in 1843. In 1847 he was the unsuccessful Whig candidate for governor. He was a member of Cumberland Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. of Nashville. Inasmuch as the old records of the Grand Lodge of Tenn. were destroyed during the occupation of Nashville in the 1860's, it is difficult to determine exact membership dates. Foster was grand treasurer, pro tem, of the Grand Lodge of Tenn. on Oct. 2, 1820, and was elected grand treasurer at that meeting for the next year. In the proceedings of 1824, he is listed as a member and past grand treasurer. In the proceedings of 1820, he is listed as a past master of Cumberland Lodge No. 8, but in the records of 1825 he is not mentioned. The grand secretary of Tenn. doubts if he was actually a past master of that particular lodge, as he is not in the past master list of that lodge, published in 1951.

In 1825 he was a member of Nashville Lodge No. 37 (existed from 1821–1828). The assumption of the grand secretary is that he was a member of Cumberland Lodge No. 8 in 1820 and became a charter member of Nashville Lodge No. 37 in 1821. d. Sept. 4, 1854.

John Gray Foster (1823–1874) Major General Union Army, Civil War. b. May 27, 1823 at Whitefield, N.H. Graduated from U.S. Military Academy in 1846. Served in Mexican War and was wounded severely. As a lieutenant, he was an assistant professor of engineering at West Point in 1855–57. Early participant in Civil War, he was made brigadier general in 1861, and, in quick succession, lieutenant general and major general. He was in charge of the departments of Virginia and North Carolina at one time, and of Florida at another. His submarine engineering operations in Boston and Portsmouth harbors were very successful and in 1869 he published Submarine Blasting in Boston Harbor. Said to be a Freemason by Freemason's Monthly Magazine (Boston), Oct. 1864. d. Sept. 2, 1874.

Richard C. Foster (1895–1941) President of the University of Alabama from 1937. b. July 12, 1895. A.B. and LL.D. from U. of Alabama and LL.B. from Harvard. Admitted to bar in 1919. Served as captain in Field Artillery in WWI. Mason. d. Nov. 19, 1941.

Robert Foster A captain of the Minute Men in the Revolutionary War who said “hoist the draw.” He was master of Essex Lodge, Salem, Mass. Birth and death dates unknown.

Wilbur F. Foster (1834–1922) Engineer. One of the organizers of the Masonic Veterans' Association (for Civil War veterans). b. April 13, 1834 at Springfield, Mass. Past master of Cumberland Lodge No. 8, Nashville, Tenn., having been raised March 26, 1857. Member and past high priest of Cumberland Chapter No. 1, Nashville. He became grand master of the Grand Lodge of Tennessee and grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of Tennessee. d. March 26, 1922.

William B. Foster Father of Stephen Foster, the songwriter. He was a member of Hamilton Lodge No. 173 of Lawrenceville, Pa. The lodge was organized in 1819 and constituted Feb. 20, 1820 with William B. Foster, Sr. as treasurer. William B. Foster, Jr., a brother of Stephen, was initiated in 1828, but his certificate of membership was not issued until Sept. 19, 1831 at which time he was secretary of the lodge. The warrant of the lodge was vacated in 1837—for non-payment of dues. There is no record of Stephen Foster being a Freemason.

William W. Foster, Jr. (1849–1933) President of Clarke University, Atlanta, Ga., from 1912–18. b. July 27, 1849. Ordained a Methodist minister in 1873, serving churches in Vermont, New York and Mass. Retired in 1921. Trustee of Rust U., Beaver Coll. and Clark U. Mason. d. Feb. 22, 1933.

Roberto Brito Foucher Outstanding Mexican lawyer, known for his work among underprivileged children. A past grand master of the Grand Lodge, Valle de Mexico, he was featured in an article in Reader's Digest in May, 1952 entitled Doctor Ragpicker Finds the Forgotten Ones.

William Foulkes (1690–1754) English scholar who was elected to the Royal Society in 1714 when only 23. He was vice president of the society in 1722–23, and frequently presided in the absence of Sir Isaac Newton, the president. He was elected president in 1741 and served until 1753. In 1742 he was elected a member of the French Academy, and the same year was appointed as deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of England, being the third person to hold this office. His contemporary, the painter William Hogarth, q.v., executed two paintings of him. He was born Oct. 29, 1690 on Queen St., Lincoln's Inn Fields, which almost a century later became the headquarters of Freemasonry. As a youth he attended the U. of Saumur near Tours, France, and was there recorded as "a choice youth of penetrating genius and master of the beauties of the best Roman and Greek writers." He later entered Clare College, Cambridge and was graduated in 1717 as a Master of Arts. He was made a Mason before 1723 at which date his name appears in the list of members of Bedford Lodge, Covent Garden. He is known to have been intimately connected with the Duke of Richmond. When the duke was made grand master in 1724, he appointed Foulkes as his deputy in succession to Dr. Desaguliers, q.v. On May 11 of that year, Foulkes attended the Maid's Head Lodge at Norwich Inn and thus constituted the earliest lodge in Norfolk, which seven years later raised Francis of Lorraine, later emperor of Germany, who was on a visit to England, and who had been initiated earlier at a special lodge held at The Hague by Dr. Desaguliers.

Fernand Foureau (1850–1914) French explorer in Africa who made a special study of the Sahara region. The bulletin of the International Masonic Congress (1917) states he was a Freemason.

John B. Fournet Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Louisiana since 1949. b. July 27, 1895 at St. Martinville, La. Graduate of Louisiana State U. and admitted to bar in 1920. Practiced in St. Martinville, Baton Rouge, and Jennings. He served in the lower house of the legislature and was speaker of the same from 1928–32. In 1932–35 he was lieutenant governor of Louisiana. Named associate justice of the supreme court of Louisiana in 1934, he has been chief justice since Sept., 1949. Received his degrees in Albert Rousseau Lodge No. 301, St. Martinville, La. in 1916–17 and is past master of same; 32° AASR (SJ) at New Orleans and member of Jerusalem Shrine Temple of New Orleans.

Winfred E. Fouse Co-organizer of General Tire and Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio in 1914 and director of same since. b. Dec. 24, 1877 at Akron. Employed by B. F. Goodrich and Diamond Rubber Co. from 1902–05, he was credit manager for Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., 1905–09. Organized the Western Rubber & Supply Co. in Kansas City in 1909 with W. O'Neil and the General Tire Co. at Akron in 1914. Received his degrees in Gate City Lodge No. 522, Kansas City, Mo. on April 23, May 4 and May 21, 1910; admitted to Akron Lodge No. 83, Akron, Ohio, March 7, 1916. Exalted in Orient Chapter No. 102, Kansas City on April 13, 1912 and admitted to Washington Chapter No. 25, R.A.M. of Akron on March 10, 1916. Greeted in Akron Council No. 80, R. & S.M. on Nov. 22, 1946. Knighted in Oriental Commandery No. 35, K.T. Kansas City, Mo. on Dec. 21, 1912 and admitted to Akron Commandery No. 25 March 10, 1916; 32° AASR (NJ) at Canton, Ohio on April 13, 1934 and 33° Sept. 29, 1943. Joined Ararat Shrine Temple, Kansas City, March 21, 1913 and was a charter member of Tadmore Temple of Akron, being potentate of same in 1934.

Daniel G. Fowle (1831–1891) Governor of North Carolina, 1889–91. b. March 3, 1831 at Washington, N.Car. There is no record of his membership prior to 1864, when he was first listed as a member of Hiram Lodge No. 40, Raleigh, N.Car. On Jan. 13, 1891, while governor, he invited the members of the grand lodge to attend an informal reception at the executive mansion that evening. He was a member of Raleigh Chapter No. 10, R.A.M. receiving the degrees on Nov. 12, 1864; Jan. 27–28, 1865. d. April 7, 1891 and his funeral was conducted by Hiram Lodge No. 40, assisted by members of William G. Hill Lodge No. 218 on April 9.

Henry Fowle (1766–1837) Masonic ritualist and lecturer who was one of the organizers of the Grand Encampment, K.T. b. Sept. 1, 1766 at Medford, Mass. He was a pump and block maker. Initiated in Lodge of St. Andrew at Boston on April 10, 1793; he was first master of Mount Lebanon Lodge, Boston from 1801–03 and 1805. He returned to his mother lodge in 1805 and served it as master from 1810–17. In 1807–09 he was senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts. He was the leading spirit in making several important changes in the ritual which were approved by his grand lodge and almost universally adopted by other states.

He became a member of Saint Andrew's Royal Arch Chapter on Feb. 18, 1795 and served as high priest in 1804-08. He became deputy grand high priest of Mass. and was active in the General Grand Chapter. He received the Knight Templar degree in St. Andrew's Chapter on Jan. 28, 1795 and rose to deputy grand master of the Grand Encampment, U.S.A. in 1819. d. March 10, 1837.

Charles H. Fowler (1837-1908) Methodist Episcopal Bishop. b. Aug. 11, 1837 in Burford, Ont., Canada. He was educated in Genesee Coll. and Garrett Biblical Institute; studied law in Chicago, but never practiced. He was a pastor for 11 years in Chicago, and president of Northwestern U. from 1872-76. In 1876 he was appointed by the governor of Ill. to deliver an oration at the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition, and in that same year became editor of the New York Christian Advocate. He was elected bishop in 1884; visited South America in 1885; visited Japan, Korea and China in 1888. He organized Peking U. and Nanking U. in Central China and also, the first Methodist church in St. Petersburg, Russia. Returning to the U.S. after a trip around the world, visiting missions, he worked eight years on the Pacific coast and then established Maclay Coll. of Theology in Southern Calif. and assisted in founding Nebraska Wesleyan U. at Lincoln. He received his first degree in Vitruvius Lodge No. 81 at Wheeling, Ill., in 1862 and soon after moved to Minn. Jurisdiction was waived and he was raised in Minneapolis Lodge No. 19, Minneapolis, Minn. on Jan. 15, 1896. He was a member of Zion Commandery No. 2, K.T. of Minneapolis. When the Fowler Cathedral Church, bearing his name, was erected in Minneapolis, the commandery placed in the front of the church a rose window, 18 feet in diameter, with Knights Templar emblems in its design, as a tribute to him. In 1904 Bishop Fowler was grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of New York and grand chaplain emeritus until his death on March 19, 1908 in New York City.

Edward B. Fowler (?–1896) Union Brigadier General of Civil War. Served with the 84th N.Y. Infantry, first as a lieutenant colonel, promoted to colonel on Dec. 9, 1862, and to brigadier general on March 13, 1865 for gallant and meritorious service. Mustered out June 6, 1864. Member of Lexington Lodge No. 310, Brooklyn, N.Y., receiving degrees on Oct. 23, Oct. 30 and Nov. 20, 1865 at the age of 30. d. Jan. 16, 1896.

H. Robert Fowler (?–1925) U.S. Congressman, 62nd and 63rd Congresses (1911–15) from 24th Ill. Dist. b. in Pope Co., Ill. Practiced law in Elizabethtown, Ill. Served in both legislative branches of the state and was state's attorney in Hardin Co. Received degrees in Eddyville Lodge No. 672, Eddyville, Ill., being raised July 20, 1878; dimitted Dec. 6, 1884 and on May 14, 1892; affiliated with Elizabeth Lodge No. 276, Elizabethtown, Ill.; suspended Aug. 4, 1898; reinstated Sept. 5, 1901; served as a lodge officer from 1903 until master in 1907. d. Jan. 5, 1925.

George L. Fox (1900–1943) Methodist minister who was one of the “four immortal chaplains” who gave up their lifebelts to others when the U.S.S. Dorchester was torpedoed in the North Atlantic on Feb. 23, 1943. b. March 15, 1900, he served in WWI as a first aid man in Ambulance Co. No. 1, 2nd Division and won the Silver Star, Croix de Guerre with palms, Victory Medal with 6 battle bars and Purple Heart. He became a Methodist minister and was serving the Community Church of Gilman, Vt. in 1942 when he entered the Chaplain's Corps. He was a member of Moose River Lodge No. 82, Concord, Vt. He and the three other chaplains, who gave up their life belts to enlisted men and went down with the ship, were posthumously awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

Herbert H. H. Fox (1871–1943) Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. March 11, 1871 in Montclair, N.J. A deacon and priest in 1900, he first served a New York missionary district and then churches at Lockport, N.Y., Pontiac, Mich., and Detroit, Mich. and was consecrated suffragan bishop of Montana in November, 1920. He was elect-ed co-adjutor bishop in May, 1925 and retired in 1939. Member of Ashlar Lodge No. 29; Billings Chapter No. 6, R.A.M.; Aldemar Commandery No. 5, K.T., all of Billings, Mont. He was grand prelate of the Grand Commandery of Montana from 1938–43. d. Nov. 24, 1943.

Philip Fox (1878–1944) Astronomer and director of Adler Planetarium and Museum of Science and Industry at Chicago. b. March 7, 1878 at Manhattan, Kans. Graduate of Kansas State Coll., Dartmouth, and student at U. of Berlin. Taught math and physics from 1899–1903 when he became a Carnegie research assistant at Yerkes Observatory, U. of Chicago and later a professor of astro-physics at that school. From 1909–29 he was professor of astronomy and director of the Dearborn Observatory at Northwestern U. He was director of the Adler

Planetarium from 1929–37 and director of the Museum of Science and Industry from 1937–40. He served as a lieutenant in the Philippine Insurrection of 1898–99 with the 20th Kans. Infantry and in WWI was an Infantry major with the 7th Division. He entered WWII as a colonel and served until his death on July 21, 1944. Mason.

James Emory Foxx Named member of the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y. in 1951. b. Oct. 22, 1907 at Sudlersville, Md. He played first and third bases and also was a catcher. He was noted for his batting —particularly as a home run hitter. He collected 534 home runs in 2,317 games and had a life-time batting average of .325. In three world series he compiled a mark of .344 and in seven all-star games batted .316. Playing from 1925–45, he was with the Philadelphia American League from 1925–35; Boston American League, 1936–42; Chicago National League, 1942–44 and Philadelphia National League in 1945. His nickname was “Beast.” He received his degrees in George W. Bartram Lodge No. 298, Media, Pa. in 1930–31 while residing in Elkins Park, Philadelphia. He visited the lodge only once following his degrees and allowed himself to become suspended NPD on Dec. 9, 1946.

Joseph I. France (1873–1939) U.S. Senator from Maryland, 1917–23. b. Oct. 11, 1873. Graduate of Hamilton Coll. (N.Y.) and received M.D. degree from College of Physicians and Surgeons at Baltimore in 1903. He practiced medicine in Baltimore. He served in the Maryland senate from 1905–09. In 1931 he was a candidate against Herbert Hoover for the Republican presidential nomination. Member of Landmark Lodge No. 127, Baltimore, Md. He received his degrees on Dec. 27, 1922, Feb. 28 and March 14, 1923. d. Jan. 26, 1939.

Francis I (1708–1765) Holy Roman Emperor from 1745–1765. b. Dec. 8, 1708 at Nancy, France, the second son of Leopold Joseph Charles, “The Good,” Duke of Lorraine. Francis Stephen succeeded his father to the duchy of Lorraine as Francis III in 1729. In 1737 he ceded it to Leszczyński, king of Poland. In 1736 he married Maria Theresa of Austria, q.v., with whom he was co-regent of Austria from 1740–45. At one time his wife issued an edict against Freemasonry. He was chosen emperor in 1745. He did not concern himself much with the wars of Frederick II, q.v., against his wife, nor the Seven Years’ War. After his death, his wife associated her son, Joseph II, q.v., with her as ruler. Their daughter was the ill-fated Marie Antoinette. Francis received the first two degrees at a special lodge in The Hague in 1731, and in the same year was raised in an occasional lodge held at Houghton Hall, Norfolk, England, by the grand master, Lord Lovel. The event is mentioned in Anderson’s Book of Constitutions. As grand duke, he refused to permit the promulgation of Pope Clement’s Bull, q.v., against Freemasonry in Austria. He protected Freemasonry as far as he could during his reign, and was grand master when he died Aug. 18, 1765.

Francis II (1768–1835) Last Holy Roman Emperor, 1792–1806: When he was forced to abdicate in 1806 he became Francis .I, emperor of Austria, until his death in 1835. Son of Leopold II, q.v., he followed his father’s course in suppressing Freemasonry. When he ascended the throne, he requested all the German princes under him to extirpate all secret societies, by whatever name they might be called. He insisted that any person officially employed should swear that he was not then, and would never become, a member of secret societies, Freemasons, Rosicrucians, Illuminati, or whatever name they might bear. He closed the lodges in 1789, and in 1794 proposed the suppression of Freemasonry to the Diet of Ratisbon. The diet, however, controlled by the influence of Prussia, Brunswick and Hanover, in which Freemasonry was strong, refused the proposition. In 1801 he renewed his opposition to secret societies, especially the Masonic group. Although he fought against Napoleon, q.v., in four wars, his daughter, Maria Louisa, married the French emperor (and Mason) in 1810.

Francis III, Duke of Lorraine (see Francis I).

David R. Francis (1850–1927) Governor of Missouri, Secretary of the Interior, Ambassador to Russia. b. Oct. 1, 1850 at Richmond, Ky. He moved to St. Louis with his parents in 1866 and graduated from Washington U. in 1870, and U. of Missouri in 1892. He went into the grain commission business and headed his own firm. He was president of the Merchant's Exchange and mayor of St. Louis from 1885–89. From 1889–93 he was governor of Missouri, and in 1896–97 was secretary of the Interior in Cleveland's cabinet. In 1904 he was president of the Louisiana Purchase Centennial Exposition in St. Louis (World's Fair) and U.S. ambassador to Russia during WWI. He was a friend of public education and during his governorship, he increased the endowment of the state university. When the main building of the university at Columbia burned in 1892, he called a special session of legislature and personally visited Columbia to check a threatened exodus of students. He received his degrees in Nov.–Dec., 1891 in George Washington Lodge No. 9 of St. Louis and his caputular degrees in Oriental Chapter No. 78, R.A.M. on Feb. 5, 1892. He was knighted in Ascalon Commandery No. 16, K.T. on April 2, 1892 and was elected as its commander from the floor in 1893. He led his commandery in the official triennial parade in Denver, Colo., that year while governor of Mo. He withdrew from all bodies for political reasons. The dates of withdrawal are interesting for he first withdrew from his lodge. The dates of withdrawal are: lodge, June 14, 1898; chapter Nov. 17, 1898 and commandery Sept. 16, 1899. d. Jan. 15, 1927.

John B. Francisco (1863–1931) Artist and violinist. b. Dec. 14, 1863 at Cincinnati, O. Studied painting and violin abroad. He settled in Los Angeles in 1887 and conducted an art school until 1901. He was a painter of figures and landscapes, especially of Calif. mountain scenes. Mason. d. Jan. 8, 1931.

Henry A. Francken (1720?–1795) The first deputy grand inspector general in the United States of the Scottish Rite and first propagator of these advanced degrees in America. Probably born in Holland, but came to Jamaica in 1754, where he became a naturalized British subject in March, 1758, and rose to considerable prominence in the island. He occupied the posts of appraiser, marshal and sergeant-at-arms in the court of the vice-admiralty. Henry Moore, the lieutenant governor of Jamaica (and later governor of N.Y.), appointed Franck-en as interpreter of English and Dutch languages in the court. With the governor's permission, he came to New York in 1767 and founded the Sublime and Ineffable Lodge at Albany, creating several deputy inspectors general. The minutes of the Albany lodge state: "About the 7th October, 1767 Messrs. Pfister & Gamble were introduced at New York, to Mr. Henry Andrew Francken, who a day or two after, by Authority invested in him, initiated them in the 11 Degrees of Ancient Masonry, from the Secret Master being the 4th to the Perfection, which is the 14th and Known to be the utmost Limits of Symbolik Masonry. About a week after the above date Mr. Francken conferred on them the two first degrees of Modern Masonry or Masonry Revived, and proposed to them that if they chose he would erect a Lodge of Perfection at Albany and appoint William Bamble Master thereof (pro tempore) until Sir William Johnson, q.v., should have the refusal of it." Francken's next act was to establish a grand chapter of Sublime Princes of the Royal Secret at Kingston, Jamaica under warrant from Stephen Morin, q.v. This was done on April 30, 1770. After his return to Jamaica, he lived on government sinecure and became commissioner of the supreme court at Kingston. d. May 20, 1795.

Francisco Franco Spanish Generalissimo and dictator of Spain since 1939. Anti-Mason. Full name is Francisco Paulino Hermenegildo Teodulo Franco-Bahamonde. He served in the army in Morocco and was appointed chief of staff of Spanish army in 1935. At outbreak of the revolution, he organized the transport of foreign legionnaires and Moorish troops in Spain and became commander of the insurgents. He received aid from Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy, and indirectly from Great Britain and the U.S. through their “nonintervention” policy, thus enabling him to buy war supplies, whereas the constitutional government could not. In 1941 he signed a concordat with the Vatican which empowered him to designate Spanish bishops, subject to ratification by the Holy See. This unholy alliance was the beginning of a modern inquisition and since that date Freemasons have been persecuted, imprisoned, and executed in Spain. Franco holds that Freemasonry is as subversive as Communism—if not more so. After winning the civil war, one of his first acts was to set up a special tribunal for the “Repression of Masonry and Communism.” It is a secret court and no reports of its activities appear in print.

Nicolas Louis Francois (1750–1828) French statesman and man of letters. Was called Francois de Neufchateau. He was minister of interior in 1797, member of the directory from 1797–98, president of the senate from 1804–06 and created a comte under the Empire. His works include the comedy Pamela ou la Vertu Recompensee and Fables en Contes en Vers. He was a member of the famous Lodge of the Nine Sisters in Paris and together with Comte Lacepede revived the lodge. He was on the membership list in 1783, 1784 and 1806. d. Jan. 10, 1828.

Christian J. Frank Movie actor who appeared in more than 200 pictures. He was raised in Reagan Lodge No. 1037, Houston, Texas, and was a member of the “233 Club” degree team and took the part of a deacon. This Masonic club was made up of Freemasons in the movies.

Selby H. Frank Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Aug. 15, 1891 at Louisville, Ky. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1913. Advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1945. Mason.

Walter H. Frank Major General, U.S. Air Force and business executive. b. April 23, 1886 at Humphrey, N.Y. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1910. He advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1938, and major general in 1941, retiring in 1945. Assigned to the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps in WWI, he became chief of staff of the Air Force in 1938. Later a wing commander. In 1941–42 he was commanding general of the Third Air Force, and in 1942 commanded the Eighth Air Force Service Command in London, Eng. From 1942–44 he commanded the Army Air Forces Air Service Command and was a member of the Pearl Harbor Board in 1944. Since 1946 he has been president of Sears & Roebuck, S.A. Comercio e Indsl. and in charge of that companys’ foreign expansion. Mason.

Benjamin Franklin (1706–1790) American statesman, scientist, philosopher and author. b. Jan. 17, 1706 in Boston, Mass. Apprenticed to his brother, James, a printer, when only 12, he left him five years later after disagreements, and settled in Philadelphia. First employed as a printer, he became proprietor of a printing business and published The Pennsylvania

Gazette, 1730–48 and gained wide recognition with his Poor Richard's Almanack, 1732–57. In 1727 he organized the “Junto” club which became the American Philosophical Society, and in 1731 laid the foundations for a library which developed into the Philadelphia Public Library. He was instrumental in improving the lighting of city streets, invented a heating stove about 1744 (which is still being made), and, becoming interested in electricity, tried his famous kite experiments in 1752. In 1748 he sold his business to the foreman and retired to devote himself to public life. In 1754 he was Pennsylvania's delegate to the Albany Congress and from 1757–62 was in England representing Pa. in efforts to enforce taxes on proprietary estates. In 1766 he was called before the English House of Commons to explain colonial opposition to the Stamp Tax. He returned to Philadelphia when war became inevitable in 1775. He was a member of the second Continental Congress of 1775 and was on the committee to draft the Declaration of Independence, being one of its signers. In 1776 he was sent as one of a committee of three to negotiate a treaty with France. He became immensely popular during his stay which lasted until 1785, during which time he was U.S. minister. In 1781 he was named with Jay and Adams to negotiate peace with Great Britain and returned to Philadelphia in Sept. 1785. From 1785–87 he was president of the Pa. executive council. In 1727 he organized the “Leathern Apron Club” as a secret society in Philadelphia (non-Masonic); and on Dec. 8, 1730 printed an article in his paper pretending to reveal Masonic mysteries. Two months later (Feb., 1731) he received his degrees in St. John's Lodge of Philadelphia and became active in its work from the very beginning. He was secretary of the lodge from 1735–38; elected junior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania on June 24, 1732 and the grand master on June 24, 1734. He was appointed provincial grand master (first native born) by Thomas Oxnard, q.v., of Boston on June 10, 1749. He was deposed as provincial grand master by William Allen on March 13, 1750, but immediately appointed deputy grand master. On March 12, 1752 he was named to a committee for building “the Free–Mason’s Lodge” in Philadelphia and on June 24, 1755 took a prominent part in the dedication of the same as the first Masonic building in America. In 1760 he was named provincial grand master of Philadelphia. In 1734 he printed Anderson’s Constitutions as Mason Book, which was the first Masonic book printed in America. In 1759 he was a visitor to Lodge Saint David at Edinburgh, Scotland and on Nov. 17, 1760 was present at the Grand Lodge of England, held at Crown & Anchor, London as “provincial grand master.” An April 7, 1778 he assisted at the initiation of Voltaire, q.v., in the Lodge of the Nine Sisters in Paris, and affiliated with that lodge the same year. On Nov. 28, 1778 he officiated at the Masonic funeral services held by that lodge for Voltaire. On May 21, 1779 we find him elected master of the Lodge of Nine Sisters. He served as master for two years. On July 7, 1782 he was a member of the Respectable Lodge de Saint Jean de Jerusalem and on April 24, 1785 was elected honorary master of the same. He was also elected honorary member of the Loge des Bon Amis of Rouen, France in 1785. d. April 17, 1790.

Jesse Franklin (1760–1823) Governor and U.S. Senator from North Carolina. b. March 23, 1760 in Orange Co., Va. His father moved to N. Car. just before the Revolution in which young Jesse served as a major. He served in both the state house of delegates and senate and was a member of the U.S. congress from 1795–97 and U.S. senator from 1799–1805, and again from 1807–13. In 1816 he was appointed by the president to treat with the Chickasaw Indians, and in 1820 he was elected governor of N. Car. Franklin was made an entered apprentice at Fayetteville, N. Car. on Dec. 23, 1793. He later became a member of Liberty Lodge No. 45, Wilkes-borough, N. Car. Although the records of the lodge were lost, he was recorded a member in 1811. d. in Sept., 1823.

William Franklin (1729–1813) Illegitimate son of Benjamin Franklin, q.v., and the last royal governor of New Jersey under the British. b. in Philadelphia. About a year after his birth, his father, who had married on Sept. 1, 1730, took the child into his home and brought him up as a son. He served in the Pa. forces during the French war of 1744–48 and became a captain before he was of age. He was at Ticonderoga. Returning to Philadelphia, where his father had gained both wealth and prestige, he became comptroller of the general postoffice and later clerk of the provincial assembly. At this time he also entered Freemasonry (about 1751) but it is uncertain whether he was a member of his father's lodge St. John's No. 1, or the Tun Tavern Lodge. He was grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania in 1755. He accompanied his father to London in 1757, and was there admitted to the bar the following year. He was also with his father when he visited the Grand Lodge of England on Nov. 17th at the Crown & Anchor in London, and with his father recorded on the books as “provincial grand master,” he was registered as “grand secretary.” It was undoubtedly through his father’s influence that William was appointed royal governor of New Jersey in 1762. He was the first native-born person to receive such an appointment. Originally he had been a Whig, but as the years advanced he became a Tory and an ardent supporter of the British. His father pled with him to join the American cause, both by letter from England and in personal visits. From this point on the two went separate ways. William was eventually placed under guard and sent to England after the war where the government granted him ≈£1,800 remuneration for his losses and ≈£800 yearly pension. Although father and son became partially reconciled in 1784, his father bequeathed him only some land in Nova Scotia and released him from all debts that the executors might find due him stating: “The part he acted against me in the late war, which is of public notoriety, will account for my leaving him no more of an estate he endeavored to deprive me of.” d. Nov. 17, 1813.

Wirt Franklin Oklahoma oil producer and one of the discoverers of the Healdton oil field in 1913. b. March 22, 1883 at Richmond, Mo. He was stenographer of the commission to the Five Civilized Tribes at Muskogee, Indian Territory from 1902–04. Admitted to the bar in 1906 and practiced at Ardmore. He is president of the Franklin Petroleum Corp. From 1929–35 he was president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America. Member of Ardmore Lodge No. 31 and past master of same. Also member of Ardmore Chapter No. 11, R.A.M.; Ardmore Council No. 11, and Ardmore Commandery No. 9, K.T. all of Ardmore, Okla. 32° AASR (S.J.) at South McAlester and member of Indian Shrine Temple of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Frank Frantz (1872–1941) Governor of Oklahoma, 1905–07. b. May 7, 1872 at Roanoke, Ill. He was with Roosevelt's Rough Riders in the Spanish–American War as a captain and participated in the Cuban campaign and the Battle of San Juan Hill. He became postmaster of Enid, Okla. in 1901 and Indian agent for the Osage Indians in 1903. After his term as governor he engaged in the real estate business and the production of oil, being president of the Roanoke Oil Co. and chairman of the board and general manager of Franko Co. Mason. d. March 9, 1941.

Alexander Fraser President of Shell Oil Corp. b. Oct. 11, 1889 at Glasgow, Scotland. Associated with the petroleum industry since 1910, and with the Shell Co. since 1929. President of Shell Petroleum Corp. since 1933; president of Shell Oil Co. 1939–47; president of Shell Union Oil Corp. since 1947. Mason.

Duncan W. Fraser President of American Locomotive Co. 1940–45 and chairman of board since 1945. b. June 2, 1875 at Churchville, N.S., Canada. Was vice president of the company from 1920–40. Director and officer of several other large corporations. Mason.

Harry W. Fraser (1884–1950) President of Order of Railway Conductors of America from 1941. b. June 7, 1884 at Topeka, Kans. Began as a railway clerk in 1900 and was later brakeman and conductor. In 1929 he became secretary to the president of the Order of Railway Conductors, followed by the offices of chief clerk; deputy president, vice president and president. Active in Boy Scout work, he was a member of the national council in 1943. Member of National Management-Labor Policy Committee, War Manpower Commission from 1943-45. Was delegate several times to International Labor Organization. Mason, Knight Templar, 32° AASR, Shriner and High Twelve. d. May 13, 1950.

William A. Fraser (1869-1932) President of Woodmen of the World Life Ins. Assn. from 1913 and Globe Insurance Co. from 1927. b. Jan. 29, 1869 in Woodside, Scotland. Began with the Woodmen company at Dallas, Texas in 1892. Mason. d. Nov. 6, 1932.

Samuel Fraunces (1722?-1795) Revolutionary tavernkeeper and patriot. A West Indian Negro who was the keeper of "Fraunces Tavern," New York City, between 1762-65 and 1770-89. From 1789-94 he was household steward to George Washington. Member of Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City.

Everett W. Frazar (1867-1951) Inventor, business agent, and exporter. b. Aug. 17, 1867 in Shanghai, China, of American parents. He began with the Edison Phonograph Works at West Orange, N. J. in 1890, and later transferred to the laboratory of Thomas A. Edison. He went to Europe to demonstrate an electrically propelled and operated torpedo invented by Edison and Scott, and on returning to the U.S. assisted in the development of a pneumatic dynamite gun invented by Dana Dudley. In 1896 he joined the firm of his father, Frazar & Co. in Japan. He was in charge of the engineering department and also represented Henry Ford, Baldwin Locomotive Works, Victor Talking Machine Co. and many other American manufacturers. On declaration of war on Japan in 1941, all company assets were frozen. He was senior partner of Frazar & Co., New York and partner of Frazar and Hansen, San Francisco. Mason and 33° AASR. d. Oct. 14, 1951.

Harry H. Frazee (1880–1929) Theatrical producer and owner of Boston American League Baseball Club. b. June 29, 1880 in Peoria, Ill. At age of 16 he was on the road as an advance theatrical agent. His first road production was Uncle Josh Perkins in 1902–03. From 1904–07 he launched a number of musical comedy successes. He built and operated several theaters in Chicago and New York and produced shows in London. Among his productions were Madame Sherry; Ready Money; Fine Feathers; A Pair of Sixes; Nothing but the Truth; My Lady Friends; No, No, Nanette; Yes, Yes, Yvette. d. June 4, 1929. Member of Blair Lodge No. 382, Chicago, receiving degrees on Jan. 24, Jan. 31 and Feb. 14, 1906. d. June 4, 1929.

James B. Frazier (1856–1937) Governor and U.S. Senator from Tennessee. b. Oct. 18, 1856 at Pikeville, Tenn. Graduated from U. of Tenn. in 1878 and practiced law at Chattanooga. He was governor of Tennessee two terms, 1902–06, but resigned in 1905 to become U.S. senator from the term 1905–11. Member of McWhirtersville Lodge No. 375, Donelson, Tenn. d. March 28, 1937.

Joseph Frazier (1864–1925) Army officer. b. Dec. 8, 1864 at Rolling Home, Mo. Graduate of U. of Missouri and U.S. Military Academy. Served in the Boxer Rebellion in 1900 and is said to have been the first American to scale the Chinese Wall, July 13, 1900. He was cited for his action and received the D.S.C. He served 30 years in the Army and from 1905–09 was commandant of cadets at Missouri U. where he did more to build up the R.O.T.C. than any of his predecessors. In 1907 he took the entire corps of cadets to the Jamestown Exposition. Member of lodge, chapter and commandery at Columbia, Mo. d. March 13, 1925.

Russell G. Frazier Explorer and surgeon. b. July 5, 1893 at Fraziers Bottom, W. Va. Received medical degree from U. of Louisville in 1919 and in 1921 became mine surgeon of Utah Copper Co., Bingham Canyon, Utah, a position he has held since that time. In 1933 he headed an expedition by boat on the Green River, Utah. In 1934 he headed another expedition from Grand Canyon, Colo., to Boulder Dam. In 1936 and 1937 he was a member of historical and archaeological expeditions in Utah, and in 1938 headed the expedition which discovered the most northern American cliff dwellings near Yampa River, Colo. He was physician and surgeon with Admiral Byrd's, q.v., third U.S. Antarctic Expedition, studying climatology and physiology from 1939–41. Now retired. Raised in Canyon Lodge No. 13, Bingham Canyon, Utah in Sept., 1914. Member of Eureka Chapter No. 101, R.A.M. of Louisville, Ky.; Utah Council No. 1, R. & S.M., Salt Lake City, Utah and Utah Commandery No. 1, K.T. as well as Shrine.

J. Allen Frear, Jr. U.S. Senator from Delaware since 1949. b.

March 7, 1903 at Rising Sun, Del. Graduate of U. of Delaware in 1924. An agriculturist, he has been a director of the Federal Land Bank at Baltimore since 1938. He is a member of Union Lodge No. 7, Dover, and served as grand master of the Grand Lodge of Delaware in 1948–49. He is also a member of Kent Chapter No. 8, R.A.M. of Dover, and St. John's Commandery No. 1, K.T. of Wilmington. He has served as master of the Delaware Consistory of the AASR (NJ) and was coroneted 33° in Philadelphia in 1950.

Frederick I (1754–1816) King of Wurtemberg in 1805. Full name was Frederick William Karl. From 1797–1804 he was Frederick II, duke of Wurtemberg. Made an elector in 1803. He protected the lodges of the rite of Strict Observance and was first master of the lodge Frederica zum Schadel in Luben, Silesia in 1778.

Frederick II (1712–1786) Known as “The Great.” King of Prussia from 1740–1786. Son of King Frederick William I. When 18, he tried to escape from his father's control, but was arrested, tried as a deserter and made to believe that he would receive severe punishment, but pardoned. As the royal prince, he engaged in literary and social pursuits from 1732 until he became king in May, 1740. Shortly thereafter he began warring against Maria Theresa, q.v., over the possession of Silesia. Her husband, Francis I, q.v., had little to do in helping his wife. His alliance with England in 1765 marked the beginning of the Seven Years' War in which he displayed great military genius and perseverance in face of great odds. Prussia emerged from the war a greatly strengthened state.

He joined Russia in the first partition of Poland in 1772. A patron of literature, he invited Voltaire, q.v., to live at his court (1750–53). A skilled administrator of national economy, he encouraged agriculture and industrial improvements and instituted many social reforms. He took a special interest in the improvement of the Prussian army. He was greatly interested in the American Revolution and an admirer of Washington. He wrote much, and his complete works are published in 30 volumes. He was initiated on the night of Aug. 14–15, 1738 in a special lodge called at Brunswick. The degrees started at midnight and ended at 4 a.m. Baron von Bielfeld, q.v., an intimate companion of the prince, was present at the initiation and left a written record of the proceedings. Bielfeld also states that in 1739, Frederick invited the Baron von Oberg and himself to Reinsberg where they founded a lodge into which Keyser-ling, Jordan, Moolendorf, Queis, and Fredersdorf, Frederick's valet, were admitted. Bielfeld also tells us that on June 20, 1740, shortly after he ascended the throne, Frederick held a lodge at Charlottenburg, and serving as master, initiated his brother, Henry Louis Frederick, prince of Prussia, q.v., Frederick William, q.v., duke of Holstein, and Charles, Margrave of Brandenburg. On July 16, 1774 Frederick granted his protection to the National Grand Lodge of Germany and officially approved of the treaty by that grand lodge with the Grand Lodge of England. He wrote the Lodge Royal York of Friendship in Berlin on Feb. 14, 1777 stating " . . . a society which employs itself only in sowing the seed and bringing forth the fruit of every kind of virtue in my dominions may always be assured of my protection. It is the glorious task of every sovereign, and I will never cease to fulfill it. And so I pray God to take you and your Lodge under his holy and deserved protection.” It has been claimed by some that Frederick wrote and set up the Scottish Rite system of 33 degrees, but evidence indicates that it is the brain child of Stephen Morin, q.v., who in an effort to give his rite a royal background had faked Frederick’s signature on the documents while in the West Indies.

Frederick William III (1770–1840) King of Prussia. Not to be confused with William Frederick III (1831–1888) who was emperor of Germany and his grandson, q.v. He was the son of King William Frederick II, q.v., and father of William I, q.v. Although he was not a Freemason, his father, son and grandson were. He was king of Prussia from 1797–1840. Shortly after ascending the throne, he wrote on Dec. 29, 1797 the following to the Lodge Royal York of Friendship at Berlin: “I have never been initiated, as every one knows, but I am far from conceiving the slightest distrust of the intentions of the members of the Lodge. I believe that its design is noble, and founded on the cultivation of virtue; that its methods are legitimate, and that every political tendency is banished from its operations. Hence, I shall take pleasure in manifesting on all occasions my good-will and my affection to the Lodge Royal York of Friendship, as well as to every other Lodge in my dominions.” He wrote three months later to Fessler, q.v., in a similar friendly tone, and when he issued an edict on Oct. 20, 1798 that forbade secret societies, he made a special exemption in favor of the Masonic lodges. He took part in the French campaigns of 1792–94. Napoleon completely subjugated him in 1801–05, and at the insistence of the queen, he opposed the French resulting in disastrous defeats at Jena and Auerstedt in 1806. The kingdom was then dismembered by treaty of Tilsit. The army was reorganized and finally the victory at Leipzig in 1813 liberated Germany. This was followed by Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo and Prussia was reestablished in 1814.

Frederick III (1831–1888) Emperor of Germany for three months (March 9 to June 15, 1888). Son of William I, q.v., and grandson of William Frederick III, q.v. As Frederick William, he was crown prince of Prussia from 1861–88. Educated in Bonn, he engaged in military duties and travel from 1851–58, marrying Victoria Adelaide Mary Louise, the eldest daughter of Queen Victoria, in the latter year. He was strongly opposed to Bismarck's policies for strengthening Prussia, and to the war with Austria in 1866, but took part in the war as a division commander and secured the victory at Koninggratz. He was in command of the armies of the southern states in the Franco–Prussian War in 1870, and took part in the battles of Worth, Sedan, and in the siege of Paris. He was a patron of literature and science. He developed cancer of the throat in the year before he became emperor, and his illness proved fatal in the third month of his reign. He was initiated Nov. 5, 1853 by his father in the royal palace at Berlin. The grand officers of the three Berlin grand lodges had been called together for the occasion and the degrees were given according to the ritual of the Grosse Landesloge. He became grand master of the National Grand Lodge of Germany in 1860.

Frederick VII (1808–1863) King of Denmark from 1848–63.

He was the son of Christian VIII, q.v., and his predecessors since Christian VII (1766) were probably Freemasons. He was initiated in the lodge “Mary at the Three Hearts” in Odense. When he ascended the throne he became grand master of the Grand Lodge of Denmark. In 1855 he adapted the Swedish system to the Danish lodges. His father, Christian VIII, was protector of Freemasonry from 1836–1848. He promulgated a new constitution in 1849 which deprived him of absolute power. During much of his reign he was involved in disputes with Germany and Austria over the duchies of Schleswig and Holstein. He died childless as the last of the Oldenburg line.

Frederick VIII (1843–1912) King of Denmark, 1906–12. He was the son of Christian IX, q.v., whom he succeeded as king, and father of Haakon VII, q.v., King of Norway and of Christian X, who followed him on the Danish throne. He was made a past grand master of the Grand Lodge of England in 1897, while crown prince of Denmark, and was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Denmark from 1872 until May 14, 1912, when succeeded by his son Christian X. As many other of the rulers of Denmark, he carried the title Vicarius Salomonis, which means protector of the order. (Literally, “Vicar of Solomon.”) Frederick Adolf (1750–1803) Duke of Ostogothland (Sweden). The third son of King Adolf Frederick, q.v., who reigned from 1751–71 as the first of the Holstein–Gottorp dynasty. In 1777 he was a member of the “high chapter” and was received in Turin in the German system of Strict Observance. In 1779 he was master of the military lodge in Stockholm.

Frederick Albert, Margrave of Brandenburg-Schwedt (1705–1762) Initiated in Charlottenburg in 1740, he was master of the Scottish lodge “Union” of Berlin in 1742. In 1761 he was elected master of the Scottish lodge “Harmony.”

Augustus Frederick (1773–1843) (See Duke of Sussex.)
Frederick Augustus (1740–1805) (See Prince of Brunswick.)
Frederick Augustus, Duke of York (1763–1827) The title “duke of York” is frequently conferred by the British sovereign on his second son. Frederick was the second son of George III, and brother of George IV, q.v. He was initiated Nov. 21, 1787 in Britannic Lodge No. 29 (now 33) at a special lodge held at the Star and Garter Tavern, London. The lodge was called by the duke of Cumberland, q.v., who was his uncle and grand master of the grand lodge. He was sponsored by his brother, George III, who was Prince of Wales at that time. He succeeded his brother as master of the Prince of Wales Lodge in 1820.

Frederick Christian (?–1769) Margrave of Brandenburg-Bayreuth. An uncle of Frederick, Margrave of Brandenburg-Kulmbach, and succeeded him. He patronized the lodge in Bayreuth.

Frederick, Duke of Saxony-Hildburghausen (1763–?)
Was duke of Saxony from 1780–1826. He was initiated in the lodge Karl zum Rautenkranz at Hildburghausen in 1789. The lodge had been constituted in 1787 by the Grand Lodge of England and became one of the five independent lodges of Germany.

Frederick Eugen (1732–?) Duke of Wurtemberg from 1795–97. He was the author of several Masonic lectures printed in 1784–85.

Frederick Heinrich Eugen (1758–1822) Prince of Wurtemberg. A lieutenant general in the Prussian Army, he was initiated in a military lodge and became an honorary member of two lodges in Stargard.

Henry Frederick (See H.R.H. the Duke of Cumberland.)

Henry Frederick (1709–1788) Mar–grave of Brandenburg–Schwedt. Admitted in the Grand Lodge of The Three Globes in Berlin.

Henry Louis Frederick Prince of Prussia and brother of Frederick the Great, q.v. He was initiated by his brother, who served as master of a special lodge held in Charlottenburg on June 20, 1740.

Frederick, King of Sweden (See under Adolf Frederick.)

Louis Frederick, Prince of Wales (1707–1751) Eldest son of King George II and Queen Caroline. Father of George III. b. in Hanover, Germany, he was the first royal member of the house of Hanover to become a Mason. He was initiated in a special lodge at Kew Palace by Dr. John T. Desaguliers, q.v., on Nov. 5, 1737. Three of his sons became Freemasons—the dukes of York, Gloucester and Cumberland, q.v. He was bitter against his father for vetoing his marriage to Wilhelmina, princess royal of Prussia, and also for refusing him an adequate allowance. For this reason, he either wrote or inspired the Histoire du Prince Titi in 1735, which was a caricature of his parents. His father refused him permission to command a British army against the Jacobites in 1745. He died as a result of a blow from a cricket ball. His son, William Henry, Duke of Gloucester and Edinburg, q.v., and grandson, William Frederick, Prince of Gloucester, q.v. were Freemasons.

Frederick Ludwig (?–1819) Grand Duke of Mecklemburg–Schwerin. Initiated in 1818 in Concordia Lodge in Berlin and became a member of the Grand Lodge “The Three Globes.” d. 1819.

Frederick Ludwig (1751–1820) Landgrave of Hesse–Homburg. He was initiated in 1782 at Wilhelmsbad by Prince Charles of Hesse–Cassel.

Frederick Ludwig Alexander (1756–1823) Duke of Wurtemberg. A brother of Frederick I, king and prince of Wurtemberg, q.v. He served in the Prussian army and became a field marshal. He was initiated in the lodge of The Three Globes at Berlin in 1776.

Frederick, Margrave of Brandenburg–Kulmbach (1711–?) He was initiated by Frederick the Great, q.v., in 1740 and founded a lodge in his palace at Bayreuth which later became the Grand Lodge Zur Sonne. He was succeeded by his nephew, Frederick Christian, q.v.

Frederick, Prince of Hesse-Cassel (1747–1837) A Dutch major general. He entered the rite of Strict Observance at Cassel in 1777. Also a land-grave of Hesse–Cassel.

Frederick Wilhelm Paul (1797–1861) Duke of Wurtemberg. He was initiated in the lodge Zum Verein der Menschenfreunde at Triers in 1817 and later became master of the lodge Zu den drei Cedern in Stuttgart and honorary member of the lodge in Heilbronn.

William Frederick II (1744–1797) (Also Wilhelm) King of Prussia, 1786–97. Grandson of Frederick William I; son of Prince Augustus William and nephew of Frederick the Great, q.v. His lack of administrative ability caused Prussia to decline. He joined Austria in support of French royalty in the French Revolution which involved him in war (1792–95). He was compelled by the Treaty of Basel, in the latter year, to give up Prussian territories west of the Rhine. He was made a Mason in the Lodge Drei Degen at Halle about 1769, and affiliated with the Lodge Drei Goldene &Mussel at Berlin, Oct. 1, 1777.

Frederick William, Duke of Holstein–Beck (also Friedrich Wilhelm) He was initiated on June 20, 1740 in the royal palace of Frederick the Great, q.v., who acted as master of the lodge. In 1741 he affiliated with the Grand Lodge of “The Three Globes” in Berlin, and was appointed fifth grand master of the same in 1747. He was governor of Berlin.

William Frederick, Prince of Gloucester (see under Gloucester)

Frederick William (1831–?) Prince of Hesse–Philippsthal–Barchfeld. He served in the Prussian navy. Was a member of the lodge Urania in 1856, and an honorary member of the grand lodge, Royal York a l'Amitie, in Berlin.

Frederick William Charles (1797–1881) Prince of the Netherlands. Son of King William I, and brother of King William II, q.v. He served in the Dutch army, and took part in the Belgian Revolution of 1830. In 1825, he married Princess Louise, the daughter of Frederick William III, q.v., king of Prussia. He was initiated in Berlin by a deputation of the grand lodge of “The Three Globes” in 1817, and the same year was appointed grand master of the National Grand Lodge of the Netherlands. He was a Masonic reformer who denounced the advanced degrees as being contrary to the true intent of Freemasonry, and in 1819, tried to introduce a new rite consisting of five degrees. This included the degrees of “Elect Master” and “Supreme Elect Master,” in addition to the three symbolic degrees. Only a few lodges accepted his new system.

John E Fredrick (1865–1943) Chairman of the board of Continental Steel Corp. b. Oct. 27, 1865 in Randolph Co., Ind. Received M.D. from Ohio Medical Coll. in 1892, and practiced medicine at Ridgeville, Ind. from 1892–96. Between 1896 and 1901, he organized the Kokomo Nail & Wire Co.; Kokomo Steel & Wire Co. and merged with others as Continental Steel Corp. He was co-author of the Indiana workmen's compensation law, and president of the Indiana state chamber of commerce for 18 years. He affiliated with Howard Lodge No.

93 at Kokomo, Ind., June 1, 1898. His original lodge is not known. d. March 3, 1943.

Emerich B. Freed Federal Judge, Northern District of Ohio since 1941.

Richard P. Freeman b. Nov. 22, 1897 in Hungary, and came to U.S. in 1910. Graduate of Western Reserve U. Admitted to bar in 1919, and was in private practice from 1918–29, when he became assistant prosecuting attorney for Cuyahoga Co., Ohio, and later U.S. attorney for Northern Ohio. Mason.

Alfred B. Freeman President of Louisiana Coca-Cola Bottling Co., 1943–47, and chairman of board since 1947. b. Jan. 13, 1881 in Dalton, Ga. He went with the Louisiana beverage company in 1906, as secretary and treasurer. He is also a director of Wesson Oil, and Snowdrift Co. of New Orleans, and a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, Ga. Mason.

James E. Freeman (1866–1943) Episcopal Bishop of Washington, D.C., whose inspiration resulted in the building of the great national cathedral on Mt. St. Albans in Washington. Like Hiram Abif, he never lived to see his dream completed. b. July 24, 1866, in New York City. After spending 15 years in the legal and accounting departments of the New York City and Hudson River Railways, he completed a theological course under Bishop Henry C. Potter, and later received many honorary degrees from universities and colleges throughout the U.S. He was ordained a deacon in 1894, and priest in 1895, in the Protestant Episcopal church. He then served churches in Yonkers, N.Y., Minneapolis, Minn., and Washington, D.C. He was consecrated bishop of Washington in 1923, and although elected bishop coadjutor of Western Texas in 1911, he declined. He was the author of If Not the Sa- loon, What?; Man and the Master; Themes in Verse, and The Ambassa- dor. He was raised in Nepperhan Lodge No. 736, Yonkers, N.Y., Nov. 22, 1906, passed, Feb. 18, 1907, and raised, April 1, 1907. On Oct. 12, 1922 he affiliated with Temple Noyes Lodge No. 32, Washington, D.C., and served as chaplain of the lodge. A 33° AASR, he first affiliated with the Southern Jurisdiction in Washington, and later with the Northern Jurisdiction in New York City. His bust is displayed in the national cathedral of which he is considered the "father." d. June 6, 1943.

Martin J. Freeman Author and English professor. b. May 17, 1899 at Ada, Ohio. Graduate of Ohio Northern U. and Ph.D. from U. of Chicago in 1934. Was a reporter on Ohio and Illinois newspapers from 1917–19, and editor of the Beaumont News (Texas) in 1922. After more newspaper work in Ohio, he taught English in Iowa State Coll., and U. of Chicago, and since 1941, has been professor of English at Hunter Coll. In WWI he was an infantry lieutenant. He is the author of The Murder of a Midget; Murder by Magic; Written Communication in Business; The Case of the Blind Mouse; The Scarf on the Scarecrow; and Bitter Honey, as well as others. Initiated in Beaumont, Texas, and presently a member of Ada Lodge No. 346, Ada, Ohio.

Orville Freeman Governor of Minnesota from 1955. b.

May 9, 1918 at Minneapolis, Minn. Received B.A. and LL.B. from U. of Minnesota, and admitted to bar in 1947. Active in city and state civic movements. He served in WWII in the Marine Corps advancing from a 2nd lieutenant to major (1941–45). Member of Khuram Lodge No. 112, Minneapolis, and serving as junior warden at this time. Member of the Grotto. Initiated in 1950. Began in chairs, 1953; installed master Dec. 18, 1959.

Ralph M. Freeman Federal Judge, Eastern District of Michigan from 1954. b. May 5, 1902 at Flushing, Mich. Graduate of U. of Mich. in 1926. Was in private law practice in Flint, Mich. Member of Flint Lodge No. 23, Flint, Mich.

Richard P. Freeman (1869–1944) U.S. Congressman to 64th to 72nd Al Walker B. Freeman Congresses (1915–33) from 2nd Conn. dist. b. April 24, 1869 at New London, Conn. Graduate of both Harvard and Yale (1891 and 1894). Practiced law in New London, Conn. Served in Spanish–American War as a sergeant. Became member of Brainard Lodge No. 102, New London, Conn., Oct. 27, 1897. d. July 18, 1944.

Walker B. Freeman (1843–1935) Commander in Chief of Confederate Veterans in 1925. b. Aug. 28, 1843 in Bedford Co., Va. He was in the mercantile business from 1869–87, and after that, an agent for New York Life Ins. Co. He enlisted in the Confederate Army in June, 1861, and surrendered at Appomattox in 1865. Mason. d. Feb. 9, 1935.

Ferdinand Freiligrath (1810–1876) German poet. His works include lyric and political poems such as Glaubensbekenntnis and Ca Ira. He also did translations from Victor Hugo, Shakespeare, q.v., and Burns, q.v. Initiated in 1842, according to the bulletin of the International Masonic Congress.

Freire de Andrade (1685?–1763) Portuguese general and administrator. Full name was Freire de Andrade de Gomez. b. in Coimbra. He was governor and captain general of Rio de Janeiro from 1733–63. He is celebrated in Gama's epic poem Epicos Brasileiros. A Freemason.

John C. Fremont (1813–1890) American explorer and army officer, known as “the pathfinder.” Often referred to as a Freemason, but no proof of membership can be found. He was a son-in-law of Thomas H. Benton, q.v.

Augustus C. French (?–1864) Former governor of Illinois. Listed as both a member of Lebanon Lodge No. 110, Lebanon, Ill., and Springfield Lodge No. 4, Springfield, Ill. There is no record of his original lodge, and first record is affiliation with Lebanon Lodge No. 110 in 1862. d. Sept. 5, 1864.

Benjamin B. French (1800–1870) Grand Commander of the Grand Encampment, K.T. in 1859, and Grand Secretary of the General Grand Chapter, 1850–59. b. Sept. 4, 1800 at Chester, N.H. He moved to Washington, D.C. in 1813, and became president of the board of aldermen and the common council. He was chief clerk of the U.S. House of Representatives and commissioner of public buildings and grounds. As grand master of the Grand Lodge of the District of Columbia, he laid the cornerstones of the Smithsonian Institution, the Washington Monument, the Capitol extension, many other public buildings, and churches. (1846–55 and 1868) He served as master of Corinthian Lodge No. 28, Newport, N.H., and as grand marshal of the grand lodge in that state. In Washington, he affiliated with National Lodge No. 12 in 1846, and was elected grand master the same year. He was knighted in DeWitt Clinton Encampment, Brooklyn, N.Y., April 5, 1847, and became commander of Washington Commandery No. 1 (D.C.) on its revival in 1847, serving for 11 years. In 1850 he became grand recorder of the Grand Encampment, K.T. and served until 1859 when he became grand master of the same. At the time of his death he was lieutenant grand commander of the AASR (SJ). d. Aug. 12, 1870.

Burton L. French (1875–1954) U.S. Congressman, 58th to 72nd Congresses (1903–33) from 1st Idaho dist. with the exception of two congresses. b. Aug. 1, 1875 at Delphi, Ind., moving to Nebraska, and then to Idaho. Graduate of Idaho and Chicago universities. He was professor emeritus of government at Miami U., Oxford, Ohio. Member of Federal Loyalty Review Board in 1947. Received the degrees in Kendrick Lodge No. 26, Kendrick, Idaho, May 11, Oct. 12, and Nov. 9, 1899, withdrawing from same, May 13, 1909, and affiliating with Paradise Lodge No. 17, Moscow, Idaho, July 17, 1909; he was a member at the time of his death, Sept. 20, 1954.

Domingo French (1783–1825) Argentine patriot and Colonel who took part in many engagements in the War of Independence, especially at the siege of Montevideo in 1814, and in Peru in 1815. He exiled himself to the U.S. from 1817–19. A Freemason.

Sir John D. P. French (1852–1925) British Field Marshal and 1st Earl of Ypres. He served in the British Navy from 1866–70, and in the army from 1874. He distinguished himself in the Nile expedition in 1884, and as a cavalry commander in the Boer War, 1899–1901. He was promoted to general in 1907, was chief of the imperial general staff in 1912–14, and field marshal in 1913. He was placed in supreme command of the British Army on the Western front in WWI and prevented the Germans from reaching Calais by the battle at Ypres. He resigned in 1915, under criticism for costly advances. He later became commander-in-chief of the United Kingdom, and lord lieutenant of Ireland (1918). He was raised June 15, 1906 in Jubilee Masters Lodge No. 2712 of London.

Hubert J. W. Frere-Orban (1812–1896) Prime minister of Belgium. A lawyer, he was leading liberal member of the lower house from 1847–94, minister of public works in 1847, minister of finance, 1848–52 and 1857–70. He was minister of state in 1861, and prime minister from 1867–70 and 1878–84. The bulletin of the International Masonic Congress states that he was a Freemason.

Wilhelm Frick (1877–1946) German politician who was minister of interior from 1933–43 under Hitler and was hanged as a war criminal in 1946. Anti-Mason. Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter announced the final dissolution of all Masonic lodges in Germany on Aug. 8, 1935. The paper blamed the Order for the incidents leading to WWI, saying that Freemasonry believed the time had come for a “bloody war between nations and the erection of a world republic.” The National Socialist press gave the lodges a final obituary in which they were accused of all imaginable historic crimes, including the undermining of the German empire and the assassination at Sarajevo which precipitated WWI. Acting under a decree that had been issued by President von Hindenburg, which charged that the Masonic lodges had engaged in “subversive activities,” Dr. Frick, then minister of interior, called for the immediate disbandment of all lodges throughout Germany and the Saar and ordered a confiscation of their property. This was a step that the German Freemasons had expected for some time.

Alfred H. Fried (1864–1921) Austrian pacifist. b. in Vienna, he settled in Berlin in 1883, where he was a bookseller and author. In 1891 he founded and edited the first pacifist paper in Germany, Die Waffen Nieder! and in 1892 founded the German peace society. He took a leading part in all international peace movements, and in 1911, was co-winner of the Nobel Peace Prize. At the time of his death he was one of the oldest and most faithful members of Lodge Sokrates.

Theodore Friedlander President of Phoenix Hosiery Co. b. March 6, 1886 in San Francisco, Calif. Began with the hosiery company in 1909 at Milwaukee, and was later Pacific coast representative. Worked up as vice president and general manager. Mason.

Oscar J. Friend Author of Western stories. b. Jan. 8, 1897 at St. Louis, Mo. He was in the drug business with his father at Fort Smith, Ark., from 1916–23, and a freelance writer from 1923–28, returning to pharmacy in that year on the death of his father. From 1937–44 he edited western and detective magazines in Standard and Better Publications, moving to California in 1944, and again did freelance work. He returned to New York in 1948, where he purchased Otis Kline Associates, a literary agency. He has Written dozens of western and mystery novels such as The Round-Up; Gun Harvest; Bloody Ground; The Mississippi Hawk; The Long Noose; Range Doctor; The Red Kite Clue; The Hand of Horror; Murder–As Usual, etc. He is the author of numerous short stories for American magazines. Mason and Knight Ternplar.

Amos A. Fries Major General, U.S. Army, who commanded the Chemical Warfare Service in WWI. b. March 17, 1873 at Debello, Wis. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1898, and promoted through grades to brigadier general in 1918, and major general in 1925. He was chief of the Chemical Warfare Service from 1918–29, retiring on the latter date. He served in the Philippines in 1901–03, and from 1906–09, was in charge of the Los Angeles River and Harbor district, laying out a complete and modern harbor. He is a past master of Columbia Lodge No. 3, Washington, D.C.; received 32° AASR (SJ) at Washington, March 25, 1919, and 33°, Oct. 22, 1929. He was knighted in Brightwood Commandery No. 6, K.T. in Washington, June 30, 1927, and served as potentate of Almas Shrine Temple, Washington. He is also honorary past president of the National Sojourners.

Charles E. Friley President of Iowa State College since 1936. b. Aug. 27, 1887 in Ruston, La. Graduate of Sam Houston Teachers Coll., Texas A. & M., Columbia U. and U. of Chicago. He taught school in Texas and La. from 1907–10, and became registrar of Texas A. & M. in 1912, and dean of the school of arts and sciences in 1924. He went with Iowa State in 1932, as dean of the division of science, became vice president in 1935. Mason, 33° AASR (SJ), and Shriner.

Frank F. Frisch Member of the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y. b. Sept. 9, 1898 in New York City. Known as the “Fordham Flash,” he jumped from college into the major league. He was an active player from 1919–37, and, from 1938, was a non-playing manager. Always with the National League, he played for New York from 1919–26, St. Louis from 1927–38, and Pittsburgh from 1940–46. He was an outstanding infielder, base runner, and batter. Had a life-time batting mark of .316 and holds many records. Played in 50 world series games, and managed St. Louis from 1933 through 1938, winning the world series in 1934. He managed Pittsburgh from 1940 through 1946. Member of Beacon Lodge No. 3, St. Louis, Mo.

Lawrence G. Fritz Brigadier General, U.S. Air Force and vice president of American Air Lines. b. Aug. 7, 1896 at Marine City, Mich. He was a transport pilot in 1925, and a test pilot for the Ford Airways from 1925–27. From 1927–29 he was chief pilot of the Maddux Airlines, Los Angeles. 1929–31 he was vice president of Southwest Airfast Express, Tulsa, Okla., and regional superintendent for TWA from 1931–38. From 1938–42 he was vice president of TWA in charge of operations. After military duty from 1942–46, he became vice president of American Air Lines in 1946, and retired in 1956. He served in WWI with the aviation section of the Signal Corps, and, after graduating from advanced flying school at Kelly Field in 1924, was commissioned a 2nd lieutenant in the Air Corps reserve. He was made brigadier general in 1944, and major general of Air Force reserve in 1955. He was assistant chief of staff of Air Transport Command from 1942–43; commanding general of the North Atlantic Wing, 1943–44 and commanding general of North Atlantic division 1944–45. He was raised in Alamo Lodge No. 44 of San Antonio, Texas in 1923, while serving in the Air Corps at Kelly Field.

John Frizzell (1829–1894) General Grand High Priest of the General Grand Chapter, 1887–80. b. Sept. 8, 1829 in Bedford Co., Tenn. Served as registrar of the land office at Nashville when 21 years old. Admitted to bar in 1854. Served with the Confederate Army in the Civil War. He was a member of Cumberland Lodge No. 8; Cumberland Chapter No. 1, R.A.M.; Nashville Council No. 1, R. & S.M. and Nashville Commandery No. 1, K.T. He served as head of all York rite bodies in Tenn. Received 32° at hands of Albert Pike, and honorary 33° in 1886. d. Nov. 30, 1894.

Charles W. Froessel Justice, Supreme Court of New York, 1937–49, and associate judge of New York Court of Appeals since 1950. b. Nov. 8, 1892 in Brooklyn, he graduated from the New York Law School and was admitted to the bar in 1915. In 1935–37 he had charge of the slum clearance projects in New York City as special assistant to the U.S. attorney general. He is a trustee of the New York Law School, served with naval reserve in WWI, and member of the executive board, National Council, Boy Scouts of America. A member of Tadmor Lodge No. 923, Ridgewood, N.Y., he was master in 1926; district deputy grand master in 1927–28; grand lodge law enforcement officer, 1928–39; grand treasurer, 1939–41; deputy grand master, 1942–44; grand master, 1944–46; chairman of committee on awards for distinguished achievement in 1946. On the latter committee, he has been primarily responsible for the selection of the following award recipients: General Omar Bradley, General Jonathan Wainwright, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, Charles E. Wilson, J. Edgar Hoover, Warren R. Austin, John W. Davis, Sir Alexander Fleming, Thomas J. Watson, David Sarnoff, Sir Ernest H. Cooper, Cecil B. de Mille, Dr. Charles W. Mayo, q.v. He was honored by the Grand Lodge of Connecticut with their Pierpont Edwards, q.v., award.

John Frost (1738–1810) Brigadier General in American Revolution. b. May 5, 1738 in Kittery, Maine. He served as a captain in the Canadian campaign of 1759, and, in 1775, was a lieutenant colonel at the siege of Boston. He won distinction in several engagements that preceded the retreat of Washington to Philadelphia, and when Burgoyne invaded New York, his regiment was placed under General Gates, and later, with Washington's central division. He participated in the action of Monmouth. He left the army with the rank of brigadier general. He was a member of St. Andrews Lodge of Boston, Mass. After the war he returned to Kittery, Maine, where he was county judge, and a member of the governor's council in Massachusetts, of which Maine was then a part.

d. July, 1810.

Leslie M. Frost Premier of Ontario, Canada, from 1949.
b. Sept. 20, 1895 at Orilla, Ont. Graduate of U. of Toronto.
He was admitted to the Ontario bar in 1922, and created King's Counsel in 1933. He served in the Ontario legislature in 1937, 43, 45 and 48, and became leader of the Progressive Conservative Party in 1949. In addition to being prime minister of Ontario, he is also treasurer of the province. In WWI he was severely wounded near Arras, France, in March, 1918.
He is a member of Faithful Brethren Lodge No. 77 at Lindsay, and a 32° AASR in the Moore Consistory at Hamilton.

M. M. Frost Vice president of Eastern Air Lines since 1950.
b. July 10, 1898 at Nashville, Tenn. He was a sales executive for Portland Cement Co. in Tampa, Fla. from 1929–41. In 1945 he became vice president, and assistant to the president of Eastern Air Lines, N.Y.C. and has been vice president in charge of traffic and sales since 1950. During WWII (1942– 45) he served as a colonel with the Air Force. Mason and Shriner.

George A. Fry Management consultant and chairman of George Fry & Associates, Inc. since 1946. b. Oct. 20, 1901 in Swayzee, Ind. Graduate of Northwestern U. in 1924. He was director of personnel at that university in 1924–25, becoming associated with Edwin G. Booz Surveys in the latter year. In 1936 he became a partner of Booz, Fry, Allen & Hamilton, and, in 1942, senior partner of Fry, Lawson & Co. In 1952

he was chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower and Nixon Committee. Mason.

Joseph Frye (1711–1794) General in the Revolutionary War. b. April, 1711, at Andover, Mass. He was an ensign in Hale's regiment at the capture of Louisburg in 1745, and a colonel when Montcalm captured Fort William Henry in 1757. He escaped by killing an Indian that had charge of him. He was appointed major general by the Mass. provincial congress in June, 1775, and commissioned brigadier general by the Continental Congress, Jan. 10, 1776, but due to infirmities, resigned on April 23. His great grandson was William P. Frye, q.v., U.S. Senator from Maine. d. 1794 in Fryeburg, Maine. He was a member of a Mass. lodge.

William P. Frye (1831–1911) U.S. Senator from Maine, serving six terms from 1881–1911. b. Sept. 2, 1831 at Lewiston, Maine. He was the grandson of General Joseph Frye, q.v. Graduate of Bowdoin Coll., he practiced law. He was a member of the Maine legislature in 1861, '62, and '67. He served as mayor of Lewiston and attorney general of Maine. From 1871–81 he was U.S. congressman to 42nd through 46th congresses. Member of Ashlar Lodge No. 105, Lewiston, Maine. d. 1911.

Dr. R. H. Fuhrmann (?–1937) St. Louis physician who, as an amateur photographer, compiled an historical collection of photographs of the growth of St. Louis. He left the collection to the St. Louis Scottish Rite bodies, stipulating that they could not be sold, and could be used only for educational, display, and entertainment purposes. They were printed in the St. Louis Globe Democrat about 1955. He learned photography from the professional, Emil Boehi, and together they took many pictures. When Boehi died in 1919, Dr. Fuhrmann bought the hundreds of negatives he had, that date back to the Civil war, and continued to record the history of St. Louis until his own death, Dec. 20, 1937. Member of West Gate Lodge No. 445, St. Louis, Mo., he received his degrees on Feb. 23, March 1, and March 29, 1904.

James F. Fulbright (1877–1948) Judge and U.S. Congressman to 68th, 70th and 72nd Congresses from 14th Mo. dist. b. Jan. 24, 1877 in Millerville, Mo. Admitted to the bar in 1903. Served as prosecuting attorney of Ripley Co. and mayor of Doniphan, Mo. He was a member of the lower house three terms. In 1938 he was named judge of the Springfield court of appeals, and became presiding judge. Member of Composite Lodge No. 369, Doniphan, Mo., receiving degrees, March 4, 20, and 31, 1905. Suspended NPD June 22, 1937; reinstated Jan. 22, 1946. d. April 5, 1948.

M. M. Frost Vice president of Eastern Air Lines since 1950. b. July 10, 1898 at Nashville, Tenn. He was a sales executive for Portland Cement Co. in Tampa, Fla. from 1929–41. In 1945 he became vice president, and assistant to the president of Eastern Air Lines, N.Y.C. and has been vice president in charge of traffic and sales since 1950. During WWII (1942–45) he served as a colonel with the Air Force. Mason and Shriner.

George A. Fry Management consultant and chairman of George Fry & Associates, Inc. since 1946. b. Oct. 20, 1901 in Swayzee, Ind. Graduate of Northwestern U. in 1924. He was director of personnel at that university in 1924–25, becoming associated with Edwin G. Booz Surveys in the latter year. In 1936 he became a partner of Booz, Fry, Allen & Hamilton, and, in 1942, senior partner of Fry, Lawson & Co. In 1952 he was chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower and Nixon Committee. Mason.

Joseph Frye (1711–1794) General in the Revolutionary War. b. April, 1711, at Andover, Mass. He was an ensign in Hale's regiment at the capture of Louisburg in 1745, and a colonel when Montcalm captured Fort William Henry in 1757. He escaped by killing an Indian that had charge of him. He was appointed major general by the Mass. provincial congress in June, 1775, and commissioned brigadier general by the Continental Congress, Jan. 10, 1776, but due to infirmities, resigned on April 23. His great grandson was William P. Frye, q.v., U.S. Senator from Maine. d. 1794 in Fryeburg, Maine. He was a member of a Mass. lodge.

William P. Frye (1831–1911) U.S. Senator from Maine, serving six terms from 1881–1911. b. Sept. 2, 1831 at Lewiston, Maine. He was the grandson of General Joseph Frye, q.v. Graduate of Bowdoin Coll., he practiced law. He was a member of the Maine legislature in 1861, '62, and '67. He served as mayor of Lewiston and attorney general of Maine. From 1871–81 he was U.S. congressman to 42nd through 46th congresses. Member of Ashlar Lodge No. 105, Lewiston, Maine. d. 1911.

Dr. R. H. Fuhrmann (?–1937) St. Louis physician who, as an amateur photographer, compiled an historical collection of photographs of the growth of St. Louis. He left the collection to the St. Louis Scottish Rite bodies, stipulating that they could not be sold, and could be used only for educational, display, and entertainment purposes. They were printed in the St. Louis Globe Democrat about 1955. He learned photography from the professional, Emil Boehi, and together they took many pictures. When Boehi died in 1919, Dr. Fuhrmann bought the hundreds of negatives he had, that date back to the Civil war, and continued to record the history of St. Louis until his own death, Dec. 20, 1937. Member of West Gate Lodge No. 445, St. Louis, Mo., he received his degrees on Feb. 23, March 1, and March 29, 1904.

James F. Fulbright (1877–1948) Judge and U.S. Congressman to 68th, 70th and 72nd Congresses from 14th Mo. dist. b. Jan. 24, 1877 in Millerville, Mo. Admitted to the bar in 1903. Served as prosecuting attorney of Ripley Co. and mayor of Doniphan, Mo. He was a member of the lower house three terms. In 1938 he was named judge of the Springfield court of appeals, and became presiding judge. Member of Composite Lodge No. 369, Doniphan, Mo., receiving degrees, March 4, 20, and 31, 1905. Suspended NPD June 22, 1937; reinstated Jan. 22, 1946. d. April 5, 1948.

Alfred C. Fuller President of the Fuller Brush Co. b. Jan. 13, 1885 in Welsford, Nova Scotia, Canada; he became a U.S. citizen in 1918. He established the Fuller Brush Co. at Somerville, Mass., in 1906, and since, has been president and chairman of the board. He is a director of the national Better Business Bureau in New York City. Mason, 32° AASR, Knight Templar, and Shriner.

Alvan T. Fuller (1878–1958) Governor of Massachusetts, 1925–29. b. Feb. 27, 1878 in Boston. He was a wealthy auto dealer (Packard) in Boston. He was a member of the state legislature in 1915, and U.S. congressman to 65th and 66th congresses (1917–21) from Mass. He served as lieutenant governor from 1921–25. He never cashed a paycheck as governor or congressman. As governor, he was beset by pressure from near and far to intervene in behalf of the condemned Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti. After a full investigation by a committee appointed by him, he decided to back up the state judiciary, and they were executed for murder. Agitators charged that Fuller was predisposed against the immigrant, anarchist Italians because of his wealth and position. He was raised in Converse Lodge, Malden, Mass. in 1906; exalted in Tabernacle Chapter, R.A.M. in 1923, greeted in Melrose Council, R. & S.M., and knighted in Beauseant Commandery, all of Malden in 1923. He received the 32° AASR (NJ), at Buffalo, N.Y., in 1926, and 33° in 1926; member of Aleppo Shrine Temple and Omar Grotto of Boston. d. May, 1958.

Ben H. Fuller (1870–1937) Major General and Commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps. b. Feb. 27, 1870 in Big Rapids, Mich. Attended U.S. Naval Academy. He was appointed a naval cadet in 1885, and transferred to the Marine Corps as a 2nd lieutenant in 1891, advancing through grades to brigadier general in 1918, and major general in 1930. He served on the U.S.S. Columbia in the Spanish–American War, and was in the Philippines during the 1899–1901 insurrection. He was with the Boxer Relief Expedition to Peking, China in 1900, and commanded the 2nd Brigade of Marines in Santo Domingo in 1918. He served as commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps from 1930, until his retirement in 1934. Mason and member of Washington Chapter No. 3, National Sojourners. d. June 8, 1937.

Justin K. Fuller U.S. Public Health Service. b. Aug. 28, 1888 at Marysville, Calif. Graduate of Stanford U. and U. of Calif. In the public health service he rose from assistant surgeon in 1916, to medical director in 1942, and assistant surgeon general in 1944, resigning in 1948 to become medical consultant of the department of correction and health authority of Calif. Active in penal and correctional institution work, he served as clinical director of the U.S. narcotic farm at Lexington, Ky., from 1935–37, and was medical director of the bureau of prisons of the U.S. justice dept. 1937–42. Member of Washington Centennial Lodge No. 14, Washington, D.C.

Levi K. Fuller (1841–1896) Governor of Vermont in 1892–94. b. Feb. 24, 1841 at Westmoreland, N.H., moving to Brattleboro in 1854, where he was educated in the public schools. From 1866 he was associated with the Estey Organ Co., and was vice president for many years. He was a member of the state senate in 1880, and held many town and municipal offices. He organized and commanded the Fuller Light Battery of the national guard. He was lieutenant governor from 1886–88. He was raised in Columbian Lodge No. 36, Brattleboro, Feb.

19, 1863; exalted in Fort Dummer Chapter No. 12, R.A.M. in Brattleboro, April 20, 1864; and knighted in Vermont Commandery No. 4, K.T. at Windsor, prior to 1867, dimitting in 1868. d. Oct. 10, 1896.

Walter D. Fuller President of Curtis Publishing Co. 1934–50. b. June 5, 1882 at Corning, Ia. He began as a bank clerk and salesman (1899–1904), and became associated with the publishing business in 1904. He was with the Crowell Publishing Co. in 1906; the S. S. McClure Company until 1908, associating himself with the Curtis Co. in that year and advanced through various positions to president. Has been a member of Rising Star Lodge No. 126, Philadelphia, Pa., for 48 years.

Hampton P. Fulmer (1875–1944) U.S. Congressman to 67th to 78th Congresses (1921–45) from 2nd S.Car. dist. b. June 23, 1875 near Springfield, S.Car. He was a farmer. In Congress, he was the author of the U.S. standard cotton grading act and agricultural adjustment act. Mason. d. Oct. 19, 1944.

Robert Fulton (1765–1815) American engineer and inventor. Often called the inventor of the steamboat, but claim is a little broad as John Fitch, q.v., had a steamboat in operation before Fulton. Fulton is often referred to as a Mason, but no proof of his membership can be found.

Will H. Fulton Judge, Kentucky Court of Appeals, 1939–44 and chief justice from 1943–44. b. Aug. 8, 1888 in Bardstown, Ky. Graduate of U. of Va. Admitted to bar in 1909. Was circuit court judge for eight years. Resigned from court of appeals to engage in private practice. Served overseas in WWI with field artillery. Mason.

William J. Fulton Judge, Supreme Court of Illinois since 1942. b. Jan. 14, 1875 at Lynedoch, Ont., Canada. Came to U.S. in 1881, and naturalized in 1887. Graduate of U. of Illinois, and admitted to bar in 1901. He served as law clerk, court reporter, city attorney, and circuit judge. Member of Sycamore Lodge No. 134, Sycamore, Ill., receiving degrees, March 4, April 22, 1910, and Nov. 24, 1911.

Charles E. Funk (1881–1957) Dictionary editor. b. April 4; 1881 at Springfield, Ohio. Graduate of U. of Colorado. From 1904–11 he was an engineer in the western states and then associate editor of The Engineering Magazine, becoming managing editor from 1915–17. From 1916–22 he was editor and secretary of the Industrial Extension Institute. His lexicography work began in 1921, as associate editor of the New Standard Dictionary, and in 1939, he became editor, serving as such until 1947. He was also associate editor of New Standard Encyclopedia in 1931, and editor of New International Year Books from 1932–38. He was consulting editor of Funk & Wagnalls Co. from 1947. He was also the author of 25,000 Words Spelled, Divided and Accented; A Hog on Ice and Other Sayings; New Comprehensive Dictionary, 1937; Standard Junior Dictionary, 1939; New Practical Standard Dictionary, 1946; and New College Standard Dictionary, 1947. Mason. d. April 16, 1957.

Eugene D. Funk (1867–1944) Founder and President of Funk Brothers Seed Co. at Bloomington, Ill., in 1901. b. Sept. 3, 1867 at Shirley, Ill. He began plant breeding in 1892, after studying both in the U.S. and abroad. He was primarily interested in corn, and he became one of the largest producers of hybrid seed corn in the world. Member of Shirley Lodge No. 582, Shirley, Ill., receiving degrees Nov. 27, Dec. 15, and Dec. 23, 1893; 32° AASR (NJ). d. Nov. 28, 1944.

Frank H. Funk (1869–1940) U.S. Congressman to 67th and 69th Congresses (1921–27) from 17th Ill. dist. b. April 5, 1869 at Bloomington, Ill. Was farmer and stock raiser on fam–

88 Joseph H. Fussell ily farm, “Funk’s Grove,” from 1891. Served in state senate and was nominee for governor and U.S. senator. Raised in Bloomington Lodge No. 43, Bloomington, Ill., July 6, 1893 and dimitted Jan. 1, 1932. d. Nov. 24, 1940.

Henry Fuqua (1865–1926) Governor of Louisiana, 1924, ‘26, dying in office. b. Nov. 8, 1865 at Baton Rouge, La. Began with corps of engineers on Construction of the Yazoo & Miss. Valley Railroad, and later engaged in bridge building. He then entered the hardware business in Baton Rouge, and in 1892, organized the Fuqua Hardware Co. In 1916 he became warden of the state prison, serving until 1924. This also included the management of three large plantations owned by the state. d. Oct. 11, 1926. Member and past master of St. James Lodge No. 47 at Baton Rouge. Received his degrees, June 1, July 16, Aug. 24, 1894.

Stephen O. Fuqua (1874–1943) Major General, U.S. Army.

b. Dec. 25, 1874 at Baton Rouge, La. He was the younger brother of Henry Fuqua, q.v., governor of Louisiana. Attended Tulane and U. of La. as well as U.S. Military Academy. He was commissioned a captain of volunteers in 1898, and advanced to rank of major general in 1929, when he became chief of Infantry. He served at one time as military attache of the U.S. embassy in Madrid, Spain, and, after his retirement, was military affairs editor of Newsweek magazine in New York. Member of Sackett's Harbor Lodge No. 135, Sackett's Harbor, N.Y., receiving degrees, Feb. 26, March 12, and March 26, 1906. d. May 12, 1943.

Charles M. Furman (1797–1872) Seventh Grand Commander of the Southern Supreme Council, Scottish Rite, 1858. b. Oct. 17, 1797 in Charleston, S.Car. He was admitted to the bar in 1819, and later served as state treasurer, comptroller, and, in 1850, president of the state bank. He “resigned” from head of the AASR in the same year as he was named grand commander, and Albert Pike, speaking the year Furman died, stated “he has been as one dead to us for 13 years.” He was initiated in Solomon's Lodge No. 1 of Charleston in 1824, and became master of Kilwinning Lodge No. 4, same city. In 1838–40 he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of South Carolina, and held the same position again in 1847–48. He was high priest of Union Chapter No. 3 in 1846, and deputy grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of S.Car. in 1847. In 1850 he was commander of South Carolina Encampment No. 1, K.T.

Robert W. Furnas (1824–1905) Governor of Nebraska,

1873–75. b. May 5, 1824 in Miami Co., Ohio. He was a resident of Nebraska from 1855 until his death. During the Civil War, he was a colonel in the 2nd Nebr. cavalry. He was president of the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture. On retiring from public life, he engaged in farming and tree culture. He was a member of Capitol Lodge No. 3 at Omaha, and later served as master of Nemaha Lodge No. 4 at Brownville, Nebr. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Nebraska in 1865–66, and grand secretary from 1858–62. d. June 1, 1905.

Jonas Furrer (1805–1861) First President of the Swiss Confederation and founder of the Grand Lodge Alpina of Switzerland. A Swiss statesman and lawyer, he was a member of the grand council from 1834–46, and president of the same in 1837 and 1846. In 1848 he was a member of the diet council.

Joseph H. Fussell (1863–1942) Theosophist. b. in Nottingham, England, he came to the U.S. in 1890. He first taught in a private school in Savannah, Ga., and was later private tutor in N.J. and N.Y. In 1893 he became private secretary to William Q. Judge, and later secretary to Katherine Tingley (1896–1929). He was secretary general of The Theosophical Society, and a trustee of Theosophical Univ. He wrote Theosophy and Occultism; More Light—A Study of Theosophy and Freemasonry. Mason; received 32° AASR (SJ), July 31, 1912, at San Diego, Calif. and withdrew Aug. 16, 1932. He had affiliated with San Diego Lodge No. 35 in Feb. 1907, from Ancient Lodge No. 724, N.Y., and withdrew in May, 1934. d. May 7, 1942.

Junius M. Futrell Governor of Arkansas, 1933–35. b. Aug. 14, 1871 in Green Co., Ark. Member of Paragould Lodge No. 368, Paragould, Ark., and received AASR (SJ) degrees in May, 1926.

G

William H. Gabbert (1849–1923) Justice of Supreme Court of Colorado from 1898–1917 and Chief Justice, 1904–07, and 1915–16. b. Oct. 12, 1849 in Scott Co., Ia. Began law practice in Davenport, Ia. in 1870, and moved to Colo. in 1879, settling at Telluride. From 1893–97 he was district judge. In 1916 he resumed private practice. Member of Union Lodge No. 7, Denver. d. July 18, 1923.

Clark Gable Movie actor. b. in 1907 in Cadiz, Ohio. Attended Akron U. (Ohio). He began as a worker in rubber plants and oil fields. He first won recognition as an actor in The Last Mile, and made his film debut in The Painted Desert. He has appeared in many films including Hell Divers; Strange Interlude; It Happened One Night; Mutiny on the Bounty; Strange Cargo; Gone With the Wind; The Hucksters; The Wide Missouri; Lone Star; Mogambo; Soldier of Fortune; and Idiot's Delight. He received the award (Oscar) of the Academy. of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for his role in It Happened One Night, in 1934. In WWII he was a 2nd lieutenant in the 8th Air Force, resigning with the rank of major. He was raised in Beverly Hills Lodge No. 528, Oct. 31, 1933, having received his other degrees on Sept. 19, Oct. 17 of same year.

d. Nov. 17, 1960.

James Gadsden (1788–1858) U.S. Army officer and diplomat who, as U.S. minister to Mexico, concluded the treaty with that country for the re-adjustment of the boundary line between the two nations, and the acquisition of the tract of land afterwards known as the “Gadsden Purchase.” b. May 15, 1788 in Charleston, S.Car. He graduated from Yale in 1806, and moved to Florida, where he was a planter, until he joined the army and was appointed lieutenant colonel of engineers. He served with distinction in the War of 1812, and as an aide-de-camp to General Jackson, q.v., in the campaign against the Seminole Indians in 1818, and aided in the capture of the leaders Arbuthnot and Ambrister. He went with Jackson to Pensacola when the latter took possession of Florida, and was active in settling a dispute between Jackson and the Spanish governor. After his retirement from the army, he returned to farming and was a member of the legislative council of the Florida Territory. He removed the Seminoles to the southern part of Florida under a commission from President Monroe. He later returned to his native state of S.Car. and became president of the South Carolina Railroad and engaged in rice culture. In 1853, President Pierce made him minister to Mexico, and on Dec. 30 of that year he negotiated the famous treaty, setting up the new boundary. He was an early member of Jackson Lodge No. 23 at Tallahassee, Fla. which was then under the Grand Lodge of Alabama. It is now No. 1 of Florida jurisdiction. d. Dec. 25, 1858.

Johann C. Gaedicke (1763–?) Ger; man bookseller who published a number of Masonic books including the Freimaurer-Lexicon in 1818 which was later published in English. b. Dec. 14, 1763. He was initiated in 1804.

Henry T. Gage (1852–1924) Governor of California from 1899–1903. b. Nov. 25, 1852 near Geneva, N.Y. He was educated in the public schools of Michigan and under private tutors. He practiced law in Los Angeles. He was U.S. minister to Portugal in 1909–11. As a lawyer, he was counsel for the Southern Pacific Railroad and other corporations. He was raised in Ancient Landmarks Lodge No. 503 of Saginaw, Mich. Sept. 18, 1872. d. Aug. 28, 1924.

Jonathan Gage (1759–1841) One of the organizers of the General Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons. A shipbuilder and owner, his sloop Polly was stolen by the British, and his brig Ranger by the French prior to 1800. He built a turn-pike road; was an incorporator of the Newburyport Academy (Mass.), and also helped found a marine insurance company and a savings association. From 1802–03 he was a selectman of Newburyport, Mass., and from 1805–16, a representative of his city to the Massachusetts general legislature. He was master of St. Peter's Lodge of Newburyport in 1791. In 1797 he met with Thomas Smith Webb, q.v., and others in Boston to plan the organization of the General Grand Chapter. Both Webb and Gage were on the committee with Benjamin Hurd, q.v., to bring together the Royal Arch Masons of the various states. They met in Hartford, Conn., to perfect the organization. In 1798 he was elected first grand treasurer of the Grand Chapter of Massachusetts, and was grand high priest of the same in 1820–22. He was a member of King Cyrus Chapter at Newburyport and served as high priest in 1801–02.

Edmund P. Gaines (1777–1849) Major General in War of 1812. b. March 20, 1777 in Culpepper Co., Va. Commissioned as a 2nd lieutenant in the 6th Infantry in 1799, and advanced to major general in 1814. He was active on the frontier for many years and was instrumental in arresting Aaron Burr, q.v. He resigned from the army in 1811, intending to become a lawyer, but returned when the War of 1812 threatened. As a brigadier general he conducted the defense of Fort Erie in Aug. 1814, and was severely wounded in repelling a superior force. In 1816 he was appointed one of the commissioners to treat with the Creek Indians, and was in the southern military district in 1817, when the Creeks and Seminoles began their depredations against Georgia and Alabama. He was a member of Phoenix Lodge No. 8, Fayetteville, N.Car. d. June 6, 1849.

John P. Gaines (1795–1858) Governor of Oregon Territory 1850–53. b. in Walton, Ky., he was admitted to the bar, and began practice in his city of birth. He served in the Mexican War as a major of Marshall's Kentucky cavalry volunteers, and was taken prisoner in Jan., 1847. He was subsequently aide-de-camp to General Scott, and distinguished himself at the battle of Molino del Rey. While still held a prisoner, he was elected to the 30th Congress as a Whig, and served from Dec. 1847 to March 1849. President Fillmore appointed him as territorial governor in 1850, and he never returned to the east. He was a member of Multnomah Lodge No. 1, Oregon City, Oreg.

Sir Charles Gairdner British Lieutenant General and Governor of Western Australia in 1952. He was initiated in Shamrock Lodge No. 101 (Irish constitution) and affiliated with Military Lodge No. 15 (Western Australia constitution), March 21, 1952. He was given the rank of past master of this lodge, and later named senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England.

John W. Galbreath Owner and President of the Pittsburgh Pirates Baseball Club. b. Aug. 10, 1897 in Derby, Ohio. Graduated from U. of Ohio in 1920, he entered the real estate business and organized the John W. Galbreath & Co., Columbus, in 1924. He was raised in University Lodge No. 631 of Columbus, Nov. 28, 1922, and received the 33° AASR (NJ) in Boston in 1954.

Jacob H. Gallinger (1837–1918) U.S. Senator from New Hampshire for five terms, 1891–1921, dying in last term. b. March 28, 1837 in Cornwall, Ont., Canada. Received medical degree from Medical Institute of Cincinnati in 1858, and practiced in Concord, N.H. from 1862–85. He was surgeon general of N.H., with the rank of brigadier general, in 1789–90. He served in both legislative bodies of his state and was a member of its constitutional convention in 1876. He served in the 49th and 50th U.S. congresses (1885–89) but declined renomination. Raised in Eureka Lodge No. 70, Concord, N.H. on Dec. 13, 1883. d. Aug. 17, 1918.

Floyd E. Galloway (1890–1955) Brigadier general in Army Air Service. b. Sept. 11, 1890 in Falmouth, Ky. Graduate of several early Air Corps schools, and commissioned lieutenant in 1917, advancing through grades to brigadier general in 1942. In WWI he served with the A.E.F. in Siberia and later commanded Bolling Field, Washington, D.C.; Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala.; Crissy Field, San Francisco; and Albrook Field, Canal Zone. He organized and commanded the Air Force Service Command in the Caribbean Area. Mason. d. Sept. 19, 1955.

Joseph Galloway (1729–1803) Pennsylvania lawyer of pre-revolutionary period, who was an intimate friend of Benjamin Franklin, q.v. b. in Anne Arundel Co., Md., he studied law and practiced in Philadelphia where he became intimate with Franklin. When the latter went to England in 1764, he left his valuable papers with Galloway for safe keeping. He was a member of the Pennsylvania assembly almost continuously from 1757 until the Revolution, serving as speaker from 1766 to 1774. In the early part of the colonial struggle, he sympathized with the British and grew to be an active Tory. As a member of the provincial congress in 1774, he proposed a scheme of government to consist of a president-general, to be appointed by the king, and to hold office during his pleasure, and a grand council, to be chosen once in three years by the assemblies of the various colonies. In 1775 he retired to his country place, where Franklin visited him, attempting in vain to swing him to the cause of the colonies. In 1776 he joined General Howe, the British commander and on the taking of Philadelphia, was named superintendent of the police, thus becoming virtual head of the civil government. At the evacuation of the city he retired with the British and left for England, never to return. In 1788 the Pennsylvania assembly found him guilty of high treason and ordered his estate sold. He was a member of Lodge No. 2, Philadelphia. d. Aug. 29, 1803.

Randolph, 12th Earl of Galloway 94th Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1945–48 and First Grand Principal of the Grand Chapter of Scotland, R.A.M. since 1953.

Juan Manuel Galvez President of Honduras, 1949–55. Initiated in Lodge Agustin Disdier of the Orient of La Ceiba.

George, 8th Viscount of Galway (1882–1943) (George Vere Arundell Monckton–Arundell) British soldier and colonial governor. He served in WWI and was quartermaster general from 1917–19. From 1935–41 he was governor general of New Zealand. He was a past grand master of the Grand Lodge of New Zealand.

Leon Gambetta (1838–1882) Premier of France, lawyer and statesman. b. April 2, 1838 at Cahors. He studied law at Paris and won fame as an orator. Opposing the rupture with Germany, and leader of the party in opposition to the reign of Napoleon III, he was a member of the Government of National Defense (1870). On Oct. 8, 1870 he made a spectacular escape from the Prussian–besieged city of Paris, by balloon. He raised an army and fought to the finish. He founded the influential journal La Republique Francaise; succeeded in the adoption of a new constitution and massed effective opposition to the restoration of the Pope's temporal power. He was president of the chamber of deputies from 1879–81. An accidental shot from a pistol cut his life short, Dec. 31, 1882. He was initiated in a lodge at Bordeaux, France, and July 8, 1875, he, with two others, affiliated with the lodge La Clemente Amitie at Paris.

Hamilton R. Gamble (1798–1864) Civil War Governor of Missouri. b. Nov. 29, 1798 in Winchester, Va. Educated in Hampden–Sidney Coll. and admitted to Va. bar when 18 years old. In 1818 he came to Missouri and settled in Old Franklin, Howard Co., where he petitioned Franklin Union Lodge No. 7, Jan. 4, 1822, receiving his degrees Jan. 12, 26, and Feb. 23 of that year. In March, 1822 he was secretary of the lodge, senior warden in October, and master in December. In 1824 he was named secretary of state, holding the office one year. He then moved to St. Louis where he became a successful lawyer, and presiding judge of the supreme court of the state. In St. Louis he affiliated with Missouri Lodge No. 1, Nov. 2, 1824, and was master in 1826–27. He was elected grand master of the Grand Lodge of Missouri in 1832. When Governor Claiborne F. Jackson joined the secession party, the state constitutional convention of 1861 named Gamble governor. Serving in a difficult time, he is credited with saving the state for the Union, but his duties were demanding, and he died on Jan. 31, 1864. He married Louisa, daughter of Col. Rufus Easton, q.v.

Robert J. Gamble (1851–1924) U.S. Senator from South Dakota, 1901–13. b. Feb. 7, 1851 in Genesee Co., N.Y. Graduate of Lawrence U. (Wis.) in 1874, admitted to the bar the following year, and practiced at Yankton, S.D. He served as district and city attorney, state senator, and chairman of the state Republican convention. He represented his state in the 54th and 56th U.S. congresses. He became a member of St. John's Lodge No. 1, June 8, 1880 and belonged to DeMolay Commandery, K.T., and Oriental Consistory AASR (SJ), at Yankton. He was a member of El Riad Shrine Temple at Sioux Falls. d. Sept. 22, 1924.

Frank E. Gannett (1876–1957) Owner of Brooklyn Eagle and 21 other newspapers. b. Sept. 15, 1876 in Bristol, N.Y. Graduate of Cornell in 1898. He first entered the newspaper field as editor of the Ithaca Daily News (N.Y.) in 1900, and built a $3,000 stake into a newspaper empire, owning all, or controlling interest in 22 newspapers, four radio stations, and three television stations. Most of the newspapers are in New York state. Member of Hobasco Lodge No. 716 of Ithaca, N.Y.; he was a Knight Templar and Shriner. d. Dec. 3, 1957.

James Ganson (1774–1858) Morgan trial defendant. b. in Salem, Mass. He settled in Avon, N.Y. with his father and brother about 1789. He achieved notoriety in 1826 as one of the defendants in the Masonic trials for the abduction of William Morgan, q.v. He was acquitted. He was probably initiated in Genesee Lodge No. 130 at Avon, N.Y. as he is listed in the returns of 1806–12 in both the “initiation” and “quarterages” columns. He is also listed as a member on the returns of the same lodge, 1812–14. In 1816 he is listed as the charter senior warden of LeRoy Lodge No. 260, LeRoy, Genesee Co., N.Y. His attic once served as a lodge room. Rob

Morris states that he was secretary of Western Star Chapter No. 35, R.A.M. of LeRoy when William Morgan was exalted to the Royal Arch degree. He moved to Jackson, Mich. in 1827 or 1828 and died there on May 4, 1858.

Calixto Garcia-Iniguez (1836?–1898) Cuban patriot and lawyer. As a revolutionist, he became a leader in the Ten Years' War against Spain (1868–78), and led the Cuban force at El Caney in the Spanish–American War. In that year he was appointed to represent Cuba in negotiations with the U.S. for Cuban independence. Widely remembered in the U.S. through Elbert Hubbard's inspirational essay A Message to Garcia. Mason.

William Y. Gardiner Governor of Maine, 1929–33. b. June 12, 1892 at Newton, Mass. Graduate of Harvard in 1914. Admitted to Mass. bar in 1917, and Maine bar in 1919; practiced at Augusta. Served in Maine lower house 1921–25. Served in both World Wars. In WWI he was with the 56th Pioneer Infantry, and advanced from private to lieutenant. In WWII he was a major with the U.S. Air Force from 1942–45. Made a Mason March 16, 1920 in Hermon Lodge No. 32, Gardiner, Maine, and is a 33° AASR (NJ).

Frederick D. Gardner (1869–1933) Governor of Missouri 1917–21. b. Nov. 6, 1869 in Hickman, Ky. He moved to St. Louis when 17 years old and was employed by the St. Louis Coffin Co.; he became its owner. It was during his term, that the Missouri State Highway Commission was established as a nonpartisan governmental bureau. He received his degrees in Cornerstone Lodge No. 323 of St. Louis in Jan., Feb. and March, 1891, and March 21, 1893, affiliated with Tuscan Lodge No.360. He was exalted in St. Louis Chapter No. 8, R.A.M., and knighted in Ascalon Commandery No. 16, K.T. in 1892. Also a member of the St. Louis Scottish Rite Consistory and Moolah Shrine Temple. In his will he left substantial amounts to the Masonic Home of Missouri and the Shrine Hospital. d. Dec. 18, 1933.

Henry J. Gardner (1819–1892) Governor of Massachusetts, 1855–1858. Member of Revere Lodge, Boston, Mass. and a Knight Templar. Dimitted Jan. 5, 1869.

William S. Gardner (1827–1888) Masonic writer and historian. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts three terms, and was 8th grand master of the Grand Encampment, Knights Templar. Received 32° AASR (NJ), in 1857, and 33° May 16, 1861. b. Oct. 1, 1827. d. April 4, 1888.

James A. Garfield (1831–1881) Twentieth President of the United States. b. Nov. 19, 1831 in Cuyahoga Co., Ohio. He was a teacher, and head of Hiram College, Hiram, Ohio from 1857–61. At the outbreak of the Civil War in 1861, he was a colonel in the Ohio volunteers, rising to brigadier general in 1862, and major general in 1863. From 1863–80 he was a member of the U.S. congress, and Republican leader of the same from 1876. He was elected president in 1880, and inaugurated, March 4, 1881. On July 2, 1881 he was shot, in the Washington railroad station, by Charles J. Guiteau, and died Sept. 19, 1881. He was initiated in Magnolia Lodge No. 20 of Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 22, 1861; passed, Dec. 23, 1861. Owing to war duties, he did not receive the third degree until three years later, when, by request of Magnolia lodge, it was conferred on him by Columbus Lodge No. 30, Nov. 22, 1864. On Oct. 10, 1866, he affiliated with Garrettsville Lodge No. 246, and served as chaplain in 1868–73. Even before he was a member of the latter lodge, he visited them April 26, 1865, and was appointed on a committee to draft resolutions on the death of President Lincoln. His membership remained in Garrettsville lodge until he became a charter member of Pentalpha Lodge No. 23 of Washington, D.C., May 4, 1869. He was one of the petitioners for the charter. He was exalted in Columbia Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. of Washington, D.C., April 18, 1866. On May 18 of the same year, he was knighted in Columbia Commandery No. 2, K.T. of Washington. He was made an honorary member of Hanselmann Commandery No. 16, K.T. of Cincinnati, Ohio, July 19, 1881. He received 4–14° AASR (SJ), Jan. 2, 1872 from Albert Pike, q.v., in Washington. On April 10, 1871 he attended the banquet given in honor of the Earl de Grey and Ripon, q.v., then grand master of the Grand Lodge of England. The banquet was given by the Grand Lodge of the District of Columbia. In 1876 he allowed himself to be suspended in the chapter for nonpayment of dues, but was reinstated in 1877. At his inauguration as president, an honor guard of five platoons was appointed by his commandery of Knights Templar (Columbia No. 2), as an escort. On May 20, 1881, he reviewed five commanderies from Mass. and R.I. at the White House, and the following day gave a reception to DeMolay Commandery of Boston, and St. John's

No. 1 of Providence, R.I., at the White House. When his body lay in state at the U.S. capitol from Sept. 21–23, Columbia Commandery No. 2 formed part of the guard of honor and escorted his remains from Washington to Cleveland, Ohio. At the funeral, Sept. 26, nearly all the officers of the Grand Commandery of Ohio, 14 commanderies of that state, and eight commanderies from adjacent jurisdictions were present and participated in the funeral cortege. Benjamin Dean, grand master of the Grand Encampment, U.S.A. also was present.

Giuseppe Garibaldi (1807–1882) Italian liberator and the “George Washington” of Italy. b. July 4, 1807 at Nice, the son of a sailor. He became associated with another Freemason and liberator—Mazzini, q.v., in 1833, joining his secret revolutionary society, Young Italy. An ill-timed plot sent him into exile in France, with a death penalty imposed upon him, in 1834. He fled to South America in 1836, where he first engaged in trade, and then joined the revolt in southern Brazil. Captured, he was tortured and held prisoner for six months. Back in Montevideo, Uruguay, he headed a small army of his own, and was an important factor in the signing of Uruguay’s freedom. Hearing that Europe was on the threshold of revolution, Garibaldi sailed for Italy with a picked company of his legion, and landed at Nice in June, 1848. He served in the army of the Roman Republic, and with his red-shirted volunteers amazed Europe with his stubborn defense of Rome in a nine-week siege. When Rome was finally captured, he fled to the U.S. where he became a naturalized citizen. For a year he was employed as a candlemaker on Staten Island, N.Y., and for three years captained trading vessels on the Atlantic and Pacific. By this time his presence in Italy was not feared, and he returned to Genoa in May, 1854, and purchased the island of Caprera, where he built a home. On May 5, 1860 he left Genoa with 1,000 hand picked men known as “red-shirts” and captured Sicily, then, crossing to the mainland of Italy, expelled the anti-Mason, Francis II, q.v., thus defeating the so-called Kingdom of the Two Sicilies. He retired after Victor Emmanuel of Sardinia was named as king of Italy. Thus for the first time, Italy became partially united. Only Rome, in the hands of the French, and Venetia, held by the Austrians, stood in the way of Garibaldi’s dream of complete independence. Twice he organized expeditions (1862 and 1867) and marched against Rome, and was defeated by regular Italian troops. Twice, he was placed in prison. Venetia was won in 1866, and in 1870, France was compelled to withdraw her garrison from Rome to fight the Prussians. Although Garibaldi had nothing to do with the latter two actions, they fulfilled his life’s aim. In 1874 he was elected deputy for Rome in the Italian parliament. He became a member of the Lodge Les Amis de Patrie of Montevideo, Uruguay, about 1844, and when he came to the U.S., affiliated with Tompkins Lodge No. 471, Stapleton, N.Y. In 1860 he became grand master of the grand lodge at Palermo, and in 1867, called a convention to unite all the Italian bodies, but this project was not successful. He was an honorary member of the Egyptian Rite of Memphis. In 1863 he was elected grand commander of the Supreme Council, 33° AASR, in Italy. Garibaldi Lodge No. 542, New York City, was named in his honor. Warranted on June 11, 1864, while Garibaldi was grand master of Italy, he wrote, March 14, 1864, sending the lodge his blessing and good wishes. d. June 21, 1882. The Garibaldi monument erected in Rome had large bronze wreaths superimposed on it, acknowledging him as the grand master of Italy. In the Mussolini period, they were removed, but, in 1956, replaced. Said Garibaldi: "Whenever there is a human cause, we are certain to find Freemasonry, for it is the fundamental basis of all true liberal associations. Thank all of my brethren and tell them that I am always with them with all my heart, and that forever I will pride myself upon my Masonic connection."

Clement L. Garner Hydrographic and geodetic engineer with the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey since 1907. b. Sept. 22, 1884 at Bogue, N.C. Was chief of survey party from 1913–23, and commander of the ship Discoverer from 1923–27. He was chief of the service from 1937–45. From 1938–40 he was chairman of the Federal Board of Surveys and Maps. Member of Dawson Lodge No. 16, Washington, D.C.; received 32° AASR (SJ) in Albert Pike Consistory, Washington, May 23, 1922. National Sojourner and member of Heroes of '76.

Alexander C. Garrett (1832–1924) First Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Dallas, Texas. b. Nov. 4, 1832 in Ballymot, Ireland. Graduated from Trinity Coll., Dublin U. in 1855. Ordained deacon in 1856, and priest in 1857. Was curate at East Worldham, Hampshire, England, from 1856–59; and from 1859–69, served as a missionary in British Columbia. He then served as a rector in San Francisco, and dean at Omaha, Nebr. from 1870–74, when, in the latter year, he was elected missionary bishop of Northern Texas, and later of Dallas. Mason and 33° AASR. He was a member of Dallas Lodge No.

760, Dallas, Texas, and served as an officer of the same. d. Feb. 18, 1924.

David Garrick (1717–1779) Regarded as the greatest actor in the history of the English stage. b. Feb. 19, 1717 in Hereford, England, of Huguenot descent, he met Samuel Johnson, q.v., while a student at Lichfield grammar school and became his first pupil at Edial. In 1737 he accompanied Johnson to London, where he made his reputation by acting in Richard III, Oct. 19, 1741. His success continued in other Shakespearean plays and he became co-manager of Drury Lane Theatre in 1747. Amassing a fortune, he retired to Hampton in 1776. He enjoyed the friendship of Dr. Johnson and his circle of distinguished persons of that day. A Mason, he is thought to have belonged to St. Paul's Lodge No. 194. This lodge has a snuff box which, the old minutes state, "replaces one presented to the lodge by Bro. David Garrick." d. Jan. 20, 1779.

James P. Garrick (1875–?) President of Morris College (S.C.) from 1939. b. Aug. 7, 1875 at Weston, S.C. Teacher, and Baptist minister, serving several S.C. pastorates. Mason. Deceased.

Stuart Garson Former Minister of Justice of Canada and Premier of Manitoba. b. Dec. 1, 1898 at St. Catharines, Ont. Law graduate of U. of Manitoba in 1918. He was elected to the Manitoba legislature five times, serving from 1927–48. In 1936 he was appointed treasurer of Manitoba, and in 1941, minister in charge of Manitoba Power Commission. He was sworn in as premier of Manitoba in 1943, and resigned in 1948. He became minister of Justice in St. Laurent's cabinet in that year. Mason.

Schuyler E. Garth (1898–1947) Methodist Bishop. b. Sept. 1, 1898 at Saffordville, Kans. Graduate of Baker U., Garrett Biblical Inst., and Ohio Wesleyan U. Ordained Methodist minister in 1920, serving churches in Kansas, Illinois, Florida, Pa., and Ohio. He was consecrated a bishop in 1944, and assigned to the Wisconsin area. He was later assigned, with his wife, to make a survey of the Chinese mission field. He was killed in an airplane crash near Hankow, China, Jan. 28, 1947, and buried in the International Cemetery near that city. Mason.

Will M. Garton (1875–1946) Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Oct. 31, 1875 at Des Moines, Ia. A physician, he received his M.D. from the U. of Iowa in 1896, and was commissioned an ensign in the Navy in 1898, advancing through grades to rear admiral in 1930, retiring in 1939. He served in the Spanish–American War, Mexican Border, World War I, and Haitian and Dominican campaigns. Mason, 32° AASR, and Shriner. d. June 7, 1946.

Frank B. Gary (1860–1922) U.S. Senator from South Carolina, 1908–09. b. March 9, 1860 at Cokesbury, S.C. He was admitted to the bar in 1881, and practiced at Abbeville, S.C. He was a member of the lower house of his state from 1890–1900, and again in 1906, serving as speaker five years. He was a member of the constitutional convention of 1895. Mason, and potentate of Oasis Shrine Temple in Charlotte, N.C. d. Dec. 7, 1922. His father, Franklin F. Gary, q.v., was grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of S.C. in 1880.

Franklin F. Gary (1829–1897) Surgeon in the Confederate army and grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of S.C. in 1880. His son, Frank B. Gary, q.v., was U.S. Senator from S.C. b. Nov. 4, 1829 at Cokes-bury, S.C., he was a member of state legislature several terms. He served as president of the S.C. Medical Society and was chairman of the state board of health for many years. He was elected a delegate to the Medical Congress of the World at Geneva, Switzerland, but died on Dec. 31, 1897 before it convened.

Hunter L. Gary (1884–1946) Telephone company executive. b. May 27, 1884 in Macon, Mo. He was a partner of Theodore Gary & Partners, N.Y. He was also president and director of the Nemo Corp.; Adaven Corp; National Service, Inc.; Nevada Trust Co.; Natser Corp. (all of Reno, Nev.) and the Gary-Loomis Co. and Walnuts Residence Co. of Kansas City, Mo. He was chairman of the board of Associated Telephone & Telegraph Co. of Wilmington, Del., and vice president of the Anglo-Canadian Telephone Co. (Montreal); Compania Dominican de Telefonos (Dominican Republic). His chairmanships included Theodore Gary & Co. (Kansas City); York Investment Co.; Allied Syndicate, Inc.; General and Telephone Investment, Inc. (of Wilmington). He was a director in many other companies. Member of Censer Lodge No. 172, Macon, Mo. Exalted in Macon Chapter No. 22 April 17, 1907; knighted in Emanuel Commandery No. 7, K.T., May 21, 1909, both of Macon, Mo. withdrew from chapter Jan. 21, 1915, and cornmandery, March 22, 1915. d. Nov. 30, 1946.

J. Vaughn Gary U.S. Congressman, 79th to 81st Congresses (1945–51) from 3rd Va. dist. b. Feb. 25, 1892 at Richmond, Va. Graduate of U. of Richmond in 1912 and 1915. A lawyer, he first taught school. He served as counsel on the Virginia Tax Board, and later was secretary of the National Agricultural Advisory Commission in Washington. He served in the lower house of Virginia (1926–33). Raised June 14, 1918 in St. Johns Lodge No. 36, Richmond, Va. and was master of same in 1926. 18° AASR (SJ) .

Allard H. Gasque (1873–1938) U.S. Congressman, 68th to 75th Congresses (1923–39) from 6th S.C. dist. b. March 8, 1873 in Florence Co., S.C. Graduate of U. of South Carolina. He taught in the public schools and served as county superintendent of Florence Co. Died in office, June 17, 1938. Mason.

Percy L. Gassaway (1885–1937) U.S. Congressman to 74th Congress (1935–36) from 4th Okla. dist. b. Aug. 30, 1885 at Waco, Texas, moving into Indian Territory (Oklahoma) early in life. Admitted to bar in 1919, he was a district judge from 1926–34. Mason. d. May 15, 1937.

Cadet de Gassicourt A Parisian apothecary, who, in 1796, wrote a work against the Masonic fraternity. However, he later acknowledged that he had written something he knew nothing about, and in 1805, was initiated in the Lodge l'Abeille at Paris and became its master.

John Gaston Grand Duke of Tuscany. An anti-Mason, he inaugurated a persecution against the Freemasons in his dominions in 1737.

William Gaston (1820–1894) Governor of Massachusetts, 1875–76. b. Oct 3, 1820 in South Killingly, Conn. Graduate of Brown U. in 1840 and began law practice in Roxbury, Mass. in 1846. He served as mayor of Roxbury, and also mayor of Boston. He was a member of the Mass. legislature and also a state senator. He was raised in Washington Lodge, Roxbury, June 7, 1855. d. Jan. 19, 1894.

Thomas L. Gatch Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy and hero of WWII when, as captain of the battleship South. Dakota, his ship downed 32 Japanese planes in one battle in the Solomon. He is a member of Pacific Lodge No, 50, Salem, Oreg. His grandfather was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Oregon in 1873.

Floyd B. Gates Midget, 49 inches high and weighed 60 pounds. He was past master of James E. Dillon Lodge No. 466 at Mesick, Mich. and was frequently hailed as the “smallest past master in the world.”

Horatio Gates (1728–1806) Major General of Continental Army in American Revolution. b. in Maldon. England. He entered the British army and joined Braddock’s army in Virginia in 1755, and was wounded at Monongahela. In 1760 he was a brigade-major under Moncton at Fort Pitt, and was his aide in 1762 at the capture of Martinique. In 1772 at the invitation of Washington, he took up land in Virginia and settled down to develop it. When the Revolution broke out, he sided with the colonies and was appointed an adjutant-general with the rank of brigadier, by congress in July, 1775. The next year he was made major general and placed in command of the northern army that had been commanded by Arnold Wooster, Montgomery, and Sullivan. He was at Fort Ticonderoga for the next two years and received credit for the success in repulsing Burgoyne's army from the north, although Schuyler and Benedict Arnold, q.v., were responsible for the defense. In fact he was later charged with cowardice at this action. At this juncture his friends formed the noted Conway Cabal to place him as commander-in-chief instead of Washington. It failed, and in 1780, he lost the disastrous battle of Camden, S.C. for which he was relieved of his command; he returned to his plantation. He asked official inquiry into his conduct at the battle of Camden, but it was 1782 before congress got around to acquitting him. He served loyally under Washington for the remainder of the war. His wealthy wife spent most of her fortune on the cause of the colonies, and nursed the patriot Thaddeus Kosciusko for six months in her home, after he was wounded. Gates was probably a member of a regimental lodge at Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia, Canada. There was an active regimental lodge there between 1738 and 1755, with the Philip's or 40th Foot. Practically all the officers of the regiment were members. On Dec. 18, 1778 the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts invited "the Hon'ble General Gates and such of his family who are Masons, be waited upon and invited to dine at the Feast (St. John's Day). The minutes of St. John's Day (Dec. 28) that followed show Gates was present. d. April 10, 1806.

John H. Gates (1865–1927) Judge, Supreme Court of South Dakota. b. Oct. 26, 1865 at Waterloo, Ia. Graduate of State U. of Iowa in 1888. Admitted to bar in 1890, and practiced at Sioux Falls, S.D. He was an associate judge of the supreme court of South Dakota from 1913, serving as presiding judge in 1917, 1920, and 1926. Member of Minnehaha Lodge No. 5, of Sioux Falls, S.D., receiving degrees, Sept. 17, Nov. 16 and Dec. 17, 1904; served in lodge line from 1905 until he was master in 1909. d. Nov. 8, 1927.

Ralph F. Gates Former Governor of Indiana. b. Feb. 24, 1893 at Columbia City, Ind. He is a member of Columbia City Lodge No. 189, receiving his degrees June 3, June 17, and July 1, 1935. Now practices law at Columbia City.

Richard J. Gatling (1818–1903) Inventor of the “Gatling Gun,” the World's first practical repeating guns which changed the tactics of warfare throughout the world. b. Sept. 12, 1818 in Hertford Co., N.C. As a boy he assisted his father in perfecting a machine for sowing cottonseed, and another for thinning cotton plants. He subsequently invented and patented a machine for sowing rice, and when he moved to St. Louis in 1844, adapted it to drilling wheat. Although he studied medicine, he never practiced as a physician. He conceived the idea of his revolving battery gun in 1861. The first was made at Indianapolis in 1862. Twelve were later manufactured and used by General Butler on the James River, Va. In 1865, he further improved his invention, and it was adopted by the U.S. army. It was also made in Austria and England and used by several European governments. The first gun fired about 250 rounds per minute, but later improvements with a motor drive raised it to 3,000 rounds per minute. He was a member of Center Lodge No. 23, Indianapolis, Ind. d. Feb. 26, 1903.

Ga-wa-so-wa-neh (See under Dr. Arthur C. Parker.)

Edward K. Gaylord Newspaper editor. b. March 5, 1873 at Muscotah, Kans. Began as clerk of district court at Colorado Springs, Colo. in 1897 and went with the Colorado Springs Telegraph in 1901. In 1902 he was business manager of the ,St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette. Since 1903 he has been general manager of the Daily Oklahoman, Oklahoma City Times, and Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman. He has been president of the Oklahoma Publishing Co. since 1918. He has been a director of the Associated Press, and president of several firms, including radio and real estate companies. In 1918 he was a member of the commission to construct the Oklahoma state capitol. Mason.

Frank R. Gaynor (1852-1920) Judge, Supreme Court of Iowa, 1912-20. b. Sept 2, 1852 in Hamilton, Ont., Canada, and brought to U.S. at age of three. Graduate of State U. of Iowa in 1877, and practiced in Marshalltown and LeMars, Iowa. Mason. Died, 1920.

John H. Gear (1825-1900) U.S. Senator and Governor of Iowa. b. April 7, 1825 at Ithaca, N.Y. He moved to Galena, Ill. in 1836, and then to Fort Snelling, Iowa Territory in 1838.

In 1843 he moved to Burlington, and was mayor of that city in 1863. He was in the state legislature six years, and speaker four years. He was governor of Iowa from 1878–82, and a member of the U.S. congress from 1887–91, and again from 1893–95. From 1892–93 he was assistant secretary of the U.S. treasury. Elected as U.S. Senator in 1894, he served until his death in 1900. Member of Des Moines Lodge No. 1, Burlington, Iowa.

John W. Geary (1819–1873) Governor of two states and Major General in the Civil War. b. Dec. 30, 1819 near Mount Pleasant, Pa. Admitted to bar, but never practiced. Employed as a civil engineer in Ky., he was named assistant superintendent of the Alleghany Portage railroad. He commanded a regiment in the Mexican War of 1846 as a lieutenant colonel, and was wounded at Chapultepec. He was made the first commander of the city of Mexico. In 1849 he was appointed the first postmaster of San Francisco. In 1850 he became the first mayor of the city and took a leading part in the formation of the new constitution for Calif. In 1852 he retired to his farm in Westmoreland Co., Pa., and remained in private life until 1856, when he was appointed territorial governor of Kansas, serving one year. At the beginning of the Civil War he raised the 28th Pa. volunteers. In 1862 he was commissioned brigadier general, and promoted to major general in 1865. He fought in the battles of Bolivar Heights, Cedar Mountain, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, and Lookout Mountain. His son, Edward, was killed in the last mentioned battle. After the war, he was elected governor of Pennsylvania (1866) and served until two weeks before his death. He received the three degrees of Masonry “at sight” on Jan. 4, 1847 in St. John’s Lodge No. 219, Pittsburgh, Pa., while on the way to Mexico with his troops. He never became a member of this lodge, but on June 11, 1855 was admitted a member to Philanthropy Lodge No. 225, Greensburg, Pa. He was a charter member of California Lodge No. 13 (now No. 1) of San Francisco, and its first secretary. On returning to Pennsylvania in 1851 he severed his connection with the California lodge. It is thought he affiliated with Concordia Lodge No. 67 of Philadelphia, on his return, as he is listed as a member in May, 1860. He received the chapter degrees in Zerubbabel Chapter No. 162, R.A.M., of Pittsburgh on July 14, 1848, as a sojourner, and the commandery orders in Pittsburgh Commandery No. 1 on Oct. 2, 1848—but resigned two days later! d. Feb. 8, 1873.

John Geddes (1773–1828) Governor of South Carolina, 1818–20. b. in Charleston, S.C. He was the son of a merchant. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1797, serving several terms in the state legislature. He was made brigadier general of militia. A past master of St. John’s Lodge No. 13, Charleston, he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of South Carolina in 1826. d. March 5, 1828.

Arthur H. Geissler (1877–1945) U.S. Minister to Guatemala, 1922–29, and Siam from 1929. b. Oct. 30, 1877. Admitted to bar in 1896. He was an instructor in modern languages, president of a bank, and also of an insurance company in Oklahoma City, Okla. In 1918 he was president of the national association of Republican state chairmen. Mason and Shriner. d. Feb. 18, 1945.

Walter Geist (1894–1951) President of Allis–Chalmers Manufacturing Co. from 1942. b. Dec. 1, 1894 at Milwaukee, Wis. Joined Allis–Chalmers in 1909 and advanced from errand boy to draftsman, designer, engineer, manager, general sales manager, vice president, and president. He was a director of many large corporations. Mason and member of St. Wilfred Conclave, Red Cross of Constantine. He received his lodge degrees in Independence Lodge No. 80 of Milwaukee, March 6, May 20 and Sept. 23, 1921. 32° AASR (NJ) in Valley of Milwaukee. d. Jan. 29, 1951.

George I King of Greece (1845–1913) Full name was Christian William Ferdinand Adolphus George. He was king from 1863 to 1913. The second son of Christian IX, q.v., king of Denmark, and served in the Danish navy. After the deposition of Otto I, he was elected king of the Hellenes (Greece), in 1863, by the Greek national assembly. He married Grand Duchess Olga, niece of the czar of Russia. During his reign the greater part of Thessaly and part of Epirus were incorporated into Greece. He was involved in the First Balkan War of 1912–13, and was assassinated at Salonika. His son, Constantine I, as well as his grandson, George II, q.v., were Freemasons. George I was initiated in Denmark before becoming king of Greece.

George II King of Greece (1890–1947) He was the eldest son of Constantine I, a Freemason, and grandson of George I, q.v. b. July 20, 1890 at Tatoi, Greece. He was king from 1922–23, when his father abdicated in his favor, and again from 1935–47. He ruled with little actual authority, and was deposed by the military junta in 1923. He was recalled to the throne by a plebiscite in 1935, but he was overshadowed by Metaxas, who became dictator in 1936, and in 1941 George fled to England for the second time to escape the Nazis. He was again restored to the throne by a plebiscite in 1946. He was initiated, Sept. 16, 1930, during his first 12-year exile in England, in Wallwood Lodge No. 5143 of London. The ceremony took place in the Grecian Temple, Great Eastern Hotel, London. On Feb. 1, 1933, he was installed as master of this lodge and served with zeal. He was a past grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England at the time of his death. He was also a 33° AASR, being created in Sept. 1943.

George III (1738–1820) King of Great Britain and Ireland, 1760–1820. Although he was not a Freemason, the majority of the male members of the immediate royal family were. It is thought that his early accession to the throne (at age of 22) prevented him from joining the Craft. A grandson of King George II, his father, Frederick, Prince of Wales, was initiated in 1737. His younger brother, Prince William Frederick of Gloucester, was initiated in Britannic Lodge in 1795. Six of his seven sons as well as his nephew and son-in-law were Masons. His six Masonic sons were: George, Prince of Wales (later George IV and grand master) initiated in 1787, in a special lodge at the Star and Garter, Pall Mall; Prince William Henry, later King William IV, in Prince George Lodge No. 86 at Plymouth; the Duke of York, in Britannic Lodge No. 29, London, in 1787; Prince Edward, Duke of Kent (later grand master of the “Antients” and father of Queen Victoria) in Lodge Union des Coeurs, Geneva; Prince Ernest, later Duke of Cumberland and King of Hanover, at the house of the Earl of Moira in 1796; and Prince Augustus William, Duke of Sussex, and grand master of the United Grand Lodge, at the Royal York Lodge of Friendship in Berlin in 1798. The only non-Mason son was Adolphus, Duke of Cambridge.

George IV King of England (1762–1830) Full name was George Augustus Frederick, of the house of Hanover. He was the son of George III. His first marriage to Mrs. Fitzherbert in 1785 was declared illegal, and he deserted her in 1794. In 1795 he married his cousin, Caroline of Brunswick, but when crowned king in 1820, he refused to allow Queen Caroline to be present at his coronation. In 1800 he attempted to get Mrs. Fitzherbert to return, but she refused until she gained assurance of papal approval of marriage. He gained the ill will of his father for his extravagances and dissolute habits. He assumed the throne when his father became permanently deranged, first, as regent in 1811, and as king in 1820. During his reign the Catholic Emancipation Act was passed. He was initiated in a special lodge, Feb. 6, 1787, meeting at the Star and Garter at London, by his uncle, the duke of Cumberland, then grand master. He succeeded his uncle in office in 1790. He joined Prince of Wales Lodge No. 259, London, April 16, 1787, and was master of the lodge from that date until 1820. He served as grand master of the Grand Lodge of England for 23 years, and in 1805 was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. When he became king, the Duke of Sussex was elected grand master, and the king took the title of grand patron. The Duke of Sussex, his younger brother, was able to bring about a union of the two English grand lodges in 1813.

George V King of England (1865–1936) Full name, George Frederick Ernest Albert of house of Saxe–Coburg–Gotha, which in 1917 changed its name to the house of Windsor. His father was Edward VII, q.v., whom he succeeded on the throne at the latter's death, May 6, 1910, and ruled until his own death in 1936. Although not a Freemason, he became grand patron of three Masonic charities of the Grand Lodge of England when he ascended the throne.

George V Last King of Hanover (1819–1878) Full name was George Frederick Alexander Karl Ernest August, son of Ernest Augustus, q.v., duke of Cumberland. He ruled Hanover from 1851–66. He refused to yield to Prussia's demands, and sided with Austria in the Seven Week's War of 1866, being forced to abdicate as a result of this conflict. In 1852 he was proclaimed protector of Freemasonry, and when he was initiated, Jan. 14, 1857 in Lodge Zum schwarzen Bar (Black Bear), the initiation ceremonies were not abbreviated at his own request. A lodge room, including ante-room and preparation chambers were set up in the royal palace and 300 brethren assembled to assist in his initiation. He was initiated at 7:15, retired, returned, and passed at 8:00; retired again, and introduced at 8:15 for the Master Mason degree. At the conclusion of the initiation he said: "I am now one of you—received and accepted as a member of your noble fraternity. I may, therefore, now say, without hesitation, that I have always longed and designed to become a worthy member of your noble institution. I was not satisfied to be merely the protector of Freemasonry; I felt that I ought to be in it and of it—that I ought to have the privilege to be called by you a brother.

You have gratified my wish, to your utmost ability, by opening wide for me the doors of the lodges of my country, and by having honored me with membership in each. For those favors bestowed upon me, accept my sincere gratitude, and with it the assurance that I will endeavor to so discharge my duty that you shall find in me all you have a right to expect. In order that I may worthily fulfill this promise, I pray that the Grand Architect may grant me the power to carry out, in practice, what is now only a sincere desire, and that I thus may prove myself a true and faithful brother to you and all good Masons.” This he did, for he became grand master of the Grand Lodge of Hanover, and although blind, regularly attended meetings of the lodges.

George VI King of England (1895–1952) Full name was Albert Frederick Arthur George of the house of Windsor (formerly Saxe–Coburg–Gotha). A son of George V, q.v., he reigned from the time his brother, Edward VIII, q.v., abdicated in 1936, until his death in 1952. He studied in Trinity College at Cambridge and served in WWI. He was created duke of York in 1920. He was initiated in Naval Lodge No. 2612 in Dec., 1919, the ceremony being conducted by Lord Ampthill. In 1922 he was appointed senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England, and in 1924 was made provincial grand master for Middlesex. He was invested and installed by his great uncle, H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, q.v. He held the latter position until he ascended the throne in 1938. As king, he accepted the rank of past grand master of the Grand Lodge of England, and was ceremonially installed at the Albert Hall in London before an audience of Masons from all parts of the world. In 1936 he accepted and was installed grand master mason of Scotland, and affiliated with the lodge of Glamis, Scotland, where his father-in-law, the Earl of Strathmore, was a past master. He created the precedent of the English sovereign's active participation in Masonic ceremonies, and personally conducted the installation of three grand masters—the Duke of Kent at Olympia in 1939; the Earl of Harewood in Freemason's Hall in 1943; and the Duke of Devonshire in Albert Hall in 1948. Only his last illness prevented his installing the Earl of Scarbrough in 1951. Toward the end of his reign, he stated that he had always regarded Masonry as one of the strongest influences of his life. He was a Royal Arch Mason and was a first principal. He was a past grand master of the Mark Lodge and former ruler of the Mark province of Middlesex (1931–37). He held the rank of past grand master, and of knight commander of the Temple, was a 33°, and grand inspector general in the Ancient and Accepted Rite of Rose Croix. Said he of Masonry: "The world today does require spiritual and moral regeneration. I have no doubt, after many years as a member of our Order, that Freemasonry can play a most important part in this vital need."

George August (1748–?) Prince of Mecklenburg–Strelitz. Brother of Duke Karl Ludwig Friedrich and Prince Ernst Gottlob Albert. Initiated in Naples Lodge Vittoria in 1768, and in 1773 affiliated with the Lodge Irene zw den drei Sternen in Rostock.

George Frederic Karl Duke of Saxony–Meiningen.

Brother of Karl Frederick III. Initiated in 1777.

Harold L. George Lieutenant General, U.S. Air Force. b. July 19, 1893 at Somerville, Mass. Began as secretary to U.S. comptroller of currency in 1917. Commissioned lieutenant in U.S. Air Force in 1917, and advanced through grades to lieutenant general in 1944. Commanded the 2nd Bombardment Group in 1939; director of tactics and strategy, Air Corps Tactical School from 1932–35; assistant chief of staff for war plants, 1941; commanding general of Air Transport Command, AAF, 1942–46. President of Peruvian Airways, Lima, Peru, 1947–48. Since 1948 he has been vice president of Hughes Tool Co. and general manager of Hughes Aircraft Co. Raised in Aberdeen Lodge No. 187, Aberdeen, Md. about 1922. Received chapter, council, and commandery at Aberdeen about 1923.

George Karl Prince of HessaDarmstadt. b. 1754. In 1778, he introduced the system of strict observance in Holland.

George Ludwig Prince of Holstein-Gottorp (1710–1763) Became a field marshal in the Russian army. He was initiated in Dresden in 1741, and became a member of the Lodge Absalon zu den drei Nesseln in Hamburg in 1742. The second lodge Sankt Georg in Hamburg was named in his honor.

H.R.H. Prince George Duke of Kent (1902–1942) English Royal Prince. Full name was George Edward Alexander Edmund. He was the son of George V, q.v., and brother of George VI, q.v. He was initiated at an emergency meeting of Navy Lodge No. 2612, held in the Cafe Royal, London, on April 12, 1928. He was proposed for membership by his brother, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, and seconded by his brother, H.R.H. the Duke of York, the latter being permanent master of the lodge at the time. He received his third degree in the same lodge, June 28, 1928. On Dec. 4, 1931, he was installed as master of the lodge, and, on April 26, 1933, he was invested as senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England. On July 19, 1934, he was installed provincial grand master for Wiltshire by Lord Arnpthill, q.v. He was installed first grand principal of the Supreme Grand Chapter, Royal Arch of England, May 3, 1939, by the Earl of Harewood, and installed grand master of the Mark Grand Lodge, June 6, 1939, by the Earl of Stradbroke. On July 19, 1939 he was formally installed grand master of the Grand Lodge of England by his brother, King George VI. He was killed, August 25, 1942, in an airplane accident. He was grand master only three years, which is the shortest tenure for this office on record—the longest being the Duke of Connaught, for 38 years, q.v.

Sir Robert A. George British Air Vice Marshal and Governor of South Australia. b. 1897 at Invergordon, Ross-Shire. Served in WWI with the Seaforth and Gordon Highlanders, and later with the Royal Flying Corps. From 1919–24 he was with the R.A.F. on the Northwest frontier of India, and from 1924–31 was with the R.A.F. College at Cranwell. He was senior air staff officer with the Far East Command; air attache to Turkey and Greece; with the R.A.F. in the Middle East; air officer commanding Iraq and Persia in 1944–45; and from 1945–51 was head of the R.A.F. delegation in Paris, air attache of the British embassy, and with NATO and SHAPE. Appointed governor of South Australia in 1952. Initiated in Hope Lodge No. 337 (S.C.), March 8, 1920, and raised in Hardinge Lodge No. 3754 (E.C.), a service lodge at Risalpur, India. Returning to England he affiliated with Lodge Daedalus, a R.A.F. Lodge which met in the Air Force College at Cranwell. He is still a member of that lodge, but affiliated with Lodge St. Alban No. 38 in South Australia, and served as warden and master. In 1956 he was elected grand master of the Grand Lodge of South Australia, being the fourth governor to be so honored.

Walter F. George (1878–1957) U.S. Senator from Georgia for 34 years, 1922–57. b. Jan. 29, 1878 at Preston, Ga. Began law practice in Vienna, Ga. in 1901. He served his state as superior judge, judge of the court of appeals, and justice of supreme court of Georgia. In 1957 he was serving as Eisenhower's personal representative to the North Atlantic Treaty organization. As a foreign policy and fiscal leader, he was admired by both Democrats and Republicans. Although a Democrat, he was strongly bi-partisan when it came to foreign relations policy and was the senior member of that committee in the Senate. He was a member of Vienna Lodge No. 324, Vienna, Ga., and belonged to both the York and Scottish Rites. d. Aug. 4, 1957.

Joseph C. Gephart Editor. b. Sept. 7, 1902 at Bedford, Pa. Attended Columbia U. and was sports correspondent for the New York Times from 1921–25, and from 1927–28 a copy-reader on that paper. He served as editor of the McKeesporter (Pa.) and of the Calumet Index (Ill.). From 1928–35 he was again with the New York Times as sports editor, and from 1936–43 as news picture editor. He has been editor of the New York Times Index since 1943, and editor of the New York Handbook and Guide from 1932–42. Member of Aliquippa Lodge No. 375, McKeesport, Pa., receiving degrees in 1925.

Alexander A. Gerebsov Russian Major General and courtier. He was raised in a Paris lodge and opened the lodge Les Amis Reunis at Petersburg, Russia, June 10, 1802. His own lodge was impregnated with French ideas, and represented the “liberal” branch of Russian Freemasonry, believing in abolishing religion, national and social differences, and forming a truebrotherhood of man. Among its famous members were the Grand Duke Konstantin, q.v.; Alexander, Duke of Wurtemberg, q.v.; Count Stanislaus Kosta–Potocky, q.v.; and Count Alexander Ostermann–Tolstoy, q.v. From 1815–17 he was grand master of the provincial grand lodge of Russia, following the dissolution of the Directorial Lodge Vladimir zur Ordnung. He was also grand prefect of Chapter Phoenix, which was in reality a ruling body for the Swedish rite union of lodges in Russia at that time.

Charles L. Gerlach (1895–1947) U.S. Congressman, 76th to 78th Congresses (1939–45) from 9th Pa. dist. b. Sept. 14, 1895 at Bethlehem, Pa. He was treasurer of the Allentown Supply Co. Member of Bethlehem Lodge No. 283, Bethlehem, Pa., receiving degrees, April 6, May 9 and June 12, 1914; 32° AASR (NJ); Shriner. d. May, 1947.

Elbridge Gerry (1744–1814) Signer of Declaration of Independence, Vice President of the United States, 1813–14, and Governor of Massachusetts, 1810–11. b. July 17, 1744 in Marblehead, Mass. He was a member of the Mass. provincial congress from 1774–75, and of the Continental Congress from 1776–81 and 1782–85. He signed the Declaration of Independence, and also the Articles of Confederation, but as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention of 1787, he opposed the constitution as drafted. From 1789–93 he was a U.S. congressman. Gerry was a member of the famous XYZ mission to France in 1797–98, but was at odds with the other two negotiators, and attempted to obtain a separate treaty from Talleyrand. For this he was recalled. It was through his efforts of redistricting Massachusetts to give Republicans continued control that the term “gerrymander” was coined. Although no definite proof is available, it is generally understood by his friends and surviving family that he was a member of Philanthropic Lodge of Marblehead, Mass. The records of this lodge are missing from the period 1760–78 when he logically would have been initiated. d. Nov. 23, 1814.

Clark H. Getts Lecture manager. b. Aug. 5, 1893 at Whitehall, Wis. Graduate of U. of Wisconsin in 1914, Columbia U. in 1916. In college days he managed Chautauqua tours for Wm. Howard Taft, Frederick Warde and others. Going to the Orient, he was a newspaper representative in China from 1920–26, returning to the U.S. where he lectured on the Orient until 1932. With National Broadcasting Co.’ from 1930–32, booking tours for Paderewski, Rachmaninoff, Kreisler, and others, until he established himself as Clark H. Getts, Inc., lecture bureau, in 1937. Has done radio shows and managed the Johnson expedition to Africa, making the Stanley and Livingston motion picture for 20th Century Fox. He has arranged national tours for hundreds of personalities including Dale Carnegie, Eleanor Roosevelt, Pearl Buck, Harold Stassen, Alexander Woollcott, Amelia Earhart, etc. Mason.

Peter Getz Goldsmith and engraver of Lancaster, Pa. who is said to have engraved the George Washington Masonic medal of 1797. He was master of Lodge No. 43 at Lancaster, Pa.

Henry S. Geyer (1790–1859) U.S. Senator from Missouri, 1851–57; pioner jurist. b. Dec. 9, 1790 in Fredericktown, Md. He began the practice of law in that city in 1811. In 1813 he was commissioned a first lieutenant in the 38th Infantry, and later regimental paymaster, serving until June, 1815. He then moved to St. Louis, Mo., which was a frontier village at that time. Here he married the daughter of Rufus Easton, q.v., first postmaster of St. Louis. He was a member of the territorial legislature in 1818, and a captain of the first militia company in the territory. He was a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1820, and was chosen for the legislature five times, serving as speaker of the first three general assemblies of the state. In 1825 he was one of the revisers of the statutes, and contributed largely to the adoption of a code, which was at that time superior to that of any other western state. He declined the post of secretary of war offered him by Fillmore in 1850, and was then elected U.S. senator over Thomas H. Benton, q.v., on the 40th ballot, by a majority of five votes.

While in Washington, he was a counsel in the Dred Scott case. He also compiled a digest of the laws of the Missouri Territory in 1817. Geyer was a member of Missouri Lodge No. 12 of St. Louis, which was established under the Grand Lodge of Tennessee in 1815. Geyer was a member at least by 1820, as his name is found in the annual report for that year. In 1816 he had a duel with George H. Kennerly, wounded his opponent in the knee, but later they became fast friends.

Lee E. Geyer (1888–1941) U.S. Congressman to 76th Congress (1939–41) from 17th Calif. dist. b. Sept. 9, 1888 at Wetmore, Kans. He was a high school teacher in Kans. and Calif. Mason. d. Oct. 11, 1941.

Felice di Giardini (1716–1796) Italian violinist and composer of violin pieces, chamber music, and several operas. An early member of the Lodge of the Nine Muses No. 325 in London, England.

Edward Gibbon (1737–1794) English historian who is famous for his History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire. b. April 27, 1737 at Putney, England. He spent 16 years in compiling his monumental work, the first volume being published in 1776, and the last in 1788. He was a member of the British parliament from 1774–80, and 1781–83. In his early days he was a Roman Catholic. He became a member of Friendship Lodge No. 6, London, England in March 1775. His close friend and fellow member of parliament, Rowland Holt, was treasurer of the lodge from 1767 to 1783, and it was Holt and Thomas Dunckerley, q.v., who proposed Gibbon's name for the Royal Arch degree. In the circle in which Gibbon and Holt moved were such as Pope, Swift, Arbuthnot, Samuel Johnson, Boswell, Garrick, Gay, Darner, Gascoine. The majority of them were Masons, and the last two were members of Friendship lodge. The Duke of Buccleuch, q.v., a member of this lodge, became the first patron of Sir Walter Scott, q.v. Friendship lodge was constituted in 1721, only four years after the erection of the first grand lodge. In 1767 it moved from the Haymarket–Picadilly Pall Mall area to the Thatched House Tavern on Pall Mall, which was frequented by members of parliament. d. Jan. 16, 1794.

Herbert A. Gibbons (1880–1934) American author. b. April 9, 1880 at Annapolis, Md. Graduate of Princeton and U. of Pa. Ordained Presbyterian minister in 1908; from 1908–18 was correspondent for the New York Herald in Turkey, Egypt, the Balkans, and France. He also represented Century and Harper's magazines in Europe. Served in A.E.F. in WWI. Served as a history professor in both European and American universities. He managed the trans–Atlantic flight of Byrd, q.v. in 1927. Among his many books are The Foundation of the Ottoman Empire; France and Ourselves; Introduction to World Politics; Life of John Wanamaker; Europe of Today; Contemporary World History. Raised in Princeton Lodge No. 38, Princeton, N.J., Dec. 19, 1921, and dimitted Dec. 11, 1933. d. Aug. 7, 1934.

George S. Gibbs (1875–1947) Major General, U.S. Army and industrialist. b. Dec. 14, 1875 at Harlan, Iowa. Graduate of State U. of Iowa in 1897. Entered military service as a private with the 51st Iowa Infantry in 1898, advancing to brigadier general in WWI, and promoted to major general in 1928, retiring from active service in 1931. He served in the Philippines in the Spanish–American War; the Philippine Insurrection; built north central section of the Alaska telegraph system in 1901–03. He was chief signal officer in Army of Cuban Pacification. In WWI he was assistant chief signal officer of the A.E.F. in France from 1917–18, followed by two years on the general staff. In 1924 he was in charge of laying the new Alaska cable. From 1928 to retirement in 1931 he was chief signal officer of the U.S. Army. At his retirement he became vice president of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. and president of Postal Telegraph–Cable Co. Mason and Knight Templar. d. Jan. 9, 1947.

Willis B. Gibbs (1889–1940) U.S. Congressman, 76th Congress (1939–41) from 8th Ga. dist. b. April 15, 1889 at Dupont, Ga. A lawyer practicing in Jessup, Ga. Member of Jessup Lodge No. 112, Jessup, Ga., raised March 6, 1916. He was master of same in 1921, 1922, 1923 and 1937. d. Aug. 7, 1940.

Colin Wm. G. Gibson Canadian cabinet member. b. Feb. 16, 1891 at Hamilton, Ont. He was educated in the Royal Military College at Kingston. Called to the Ontario bar in 1915, and practiced at Hamilton, Ont., since 1919. Created Kings Counsel, and elected to house of Commons in 1940, serving until 1945. He was named minister of national revenue in 1940, and minister of national defense for air in 1945. In 1946 he was secretary of state, and minister of mines and resources in 1949. Since 1950 he has been an appellate judge of the supreme court of Ontario. Served in WWI rising from captain to colonel. Was international president of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity in 1948. Mason and 32° AASR.

Edward R. “Hoot” Gibson Movie cowboy of the silent film era. He was a member of Truth Lodge No. 628 of Los Angeles, Calif.

Ernest Willard Gibson (1871–1940) U.S. Senator from Vermont. b. Dec. 29, 1871, at Londonderry, Vt., he was a graduate of Norwich U. in 1894 and 1896. He practiced law at Brattleboro from 1899. He served terms in both legislative bodies of Vermont, and was U.S. congressman to 68th to 73rd Congresses (1923–35) from 2nd Vt. dist. He was appointed to the U.S. senate in 1933 to fill an unexpired term, and reelected twice to the office. When he died, June 20, 1940, his son, Ernest William, q.v., was appointed to take his senate seat. Raised in Olive Branch Lodge No. 64 of Chester, Vt., Nov. 14, 1895, and later affiliated (Aug. 20, 1900) with Brattleboro Lodge No. 102 at Brattleboro. He was exalted in Fort Dummer Chapter No. 12, R.A.M.; admitted to Connecticut Valley Council No. 16, R. & S.M. in 1921; and knighted in Beauseant Commandery No. 7, March 27, 1902. He remained a member of the above Brattleboro bodies until his death.

Ernest William Gibson U.S. Senator and Governor of Vermont. b. March 6, 1901 at Brattleboro, Vt. Graduate of Norwich U. in 1923. He served as a teacher in a private military academy, and later as a mathematician with Geodetic Survey; was admitted to Vermont bar in 1926, practicing law at Brattleboro since 1927. He served as secretary of the Vermont state senate from 1933–40, resigning in the latter year to be appointed U.S. senator on the death of his father, who had filled the office since 1933. He was elected governor of Vermont in 1947, reelected in 1948, but resigned in 1950 to accept appointment as Federal district judge. Served overseas in WWII as an army captain. He became a member of Columbian Lodge No. 36 of Brattleboro, Vt., Jan. 22, 1929. His father, Ernest Willard, q.v., was a member of Brattleboro Lodge No. 102, of the same city. He is a 32° AASR (NJ) in the Valley of Montpelier, and joined the Mt. Sinai Shrine Temple at Montpelier on May 13, 1949.

Herbert D. Gibson Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Oct. 27, 1891 at Schenectady, N.Y. Commissioned a second lieutenant in 1917, and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1942. He served with the A.E.F. in 1917–19 in WWI, and, between that time and WWII, was a military professor in several colleges and universities, including Cornell. He commanded the Canton Island Army Task Force in 1942, and was first army commander of the Marshall Islands in 1944. From 1944–46 he was organizer and commander of the replacement training command of the Air Force for the Pacific Ocean areas. Raised in DeWitt Clinton Lodge No. 15, Northfield, Vt. in 1916, and member of King Solomon Chapter No. 7, R.A.M., Montpelier, Vt. Retired on disability from combat wounds in 1946.

J. Bannister Gibson (1780–1853) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, 1827–53. b. Nov. 8, 1780 at Carlisle, Pa. He graduated at Dickinson Coll. in 1800, and was admitted to Pa. bar in 1803, practicing in Carlisle and Beaver counties. He served in the state legislature in 1813, and was named to the supreme court bench in 1816, becoming chief justice in 1827. He was raised Dec. 30, 1811 in Lodge No. 43, Lancaster, Pa. and in March, 1814 affiliated with Lodge. No. 61 at Wilkes-Barre. He served as inn John Gibson master of the latter from 1815–16, and Dec. 1, 1823, was elected grand master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania. d. May 3, 1853.

John Gibson (1740–1822) Secretary of Indiana Territory and acting Governor of Indiana Territory. b. May 23, 1740 in Lancaster, Pa. He joined an expedition against the Indians in 1757. He then settled as a trader at Fort Pitt, where he was taken prisoner, but rescued from the stake by a squaw who adopted him. He married the sister of Logan, an Indian chief, and became familiar with the Indian language and customs. He again settled at Fort Pitt, and in 1774 was conspicuous in Lord Dunmore's expedition against the Shawnee towns. In the treaty that followed the Battle of Point Pleasant, he negotiated between Logan and Lord Dunmore and helped free many Indian captives. At the beginning of the Revolution, he commanded a regiment, served in New York, and in the Jersey retreat; he commanded the western military department from 1781 until peace was established. In 1788 he was a member of the Pennsylvania convention, and subsequently associate judge of court of common pleas of Alleghany Co., and major general of militia. Jefferson appointed him secretary of the Indiana territory in 1801, and he was acting governor of the territory from 1811–13. He received his first and second degrees in Lancaster, Pa., and his third degree in Vincennes Lodge, Indiana, March 14, 1809. He is said to have been the first candidate to receive the Master's degree in Indiana territory. d. April 10, 1822.

John S. Gibson U.S. Congressman, 77th to 79th Congresses (1941–47) from 8th Ga. dist. b. Jan. 3, 1893 at Folkston, Ga. Began as a railroad laborer in 1917, and was admitted to bar in 1923, practicing at Douglas, Ga. Received his degrees in Douglas Lodge No. 386, Douglas, Ga., Nov. 9, Nov. 19, and Dec. 3, 1920.

Robert M. Gibson (1869–1949) U.S. District Judge, Western District of Pennsylvania from 1922. b. Aug. 20, 1869 at Duncansville, Pa. Graduate of Washington and Jefferson Coll. in 1889. Received degrees in Allegheny Lodge No. 23, Pittsburgh, Pa., June 24, Sept. 8, and Nov. 11, 1918, resigning Dec. 8, 1924 to become charter member and master of John Marshall Lodge No. 734, Pittsburgh, Dec. 18, 1924. d. Dec. 19, 1949.

Thomas Gibson (1750–1814) Revolutionary soldier and first state auditor of Ohio. b. in Virginia. He served in the Revolution, and became the auditor of the Northwest Territory. When Ohio became a state, he was its first auditor. He was an early member of Nova Caesarea Lodge No. 10, Cincinnati, Ohio, and the first master of Scioto Lodge No. 2, Chillicothe, Ohio, from 1805–07. He was exalted in Cincinnati Chapter No. 2, R.A.M., Dec. 11, 1799. d. May 3, 1814.

Joshua R. Giddings (1795–1864) U.S. Congressman from Ohio from 1838 to 1858. U.S. Consul General in Canada from 1858 until death in 1864. b. Oct. 6, 1795 in Athens, Pa. His parents moved first to New York, and in 1806 to Ashtabula Co., Ohio. He served in the War of 1812. After the war he became a teacher, studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1820. He was elected to the Ohio legislature in 1826, but refused re-election. In the U.S. congress, he was a champion of abolition, fighting the slavery movement for 20 years. He was raised in Jerusalem Lodge No. 19, Hartford, Ohio in 1819, and later affiliated with Tuscan Lodge No. 342 at Jefferson, Ohio. At one time he was grand junior warden of the Grand Lodge of Ohio. d. May 27, 1864 in Montreal, Canada.

Charles L. Gifford (1871–1947) U.S. Congressman to 67th to 72nd Congresses from 15th Mass. dist. (1923– 47) . b. March 15, 1871 at Cotuit, Mass. He was in the real estate business from 1900, and served on the Mass. general court and in state senate. Raised in De Witt Clinton Lodge, Sandwich, Mass. on Oct. 2, 1900. d. Aug. 23, 1947.

Lucio Martinez Gil (?–1957) Spanish Freemason, who as grand master of the Grand Lodge of Spain, was forced to seek exile in Mexico in 1939, when Franco banned Freemasonry. The grand lodges of Mexico offered asylum to him. d. April 13, 1957 in Mexico City.

Gilbert (See Clare de Gilbert).

Albert C. Gilbert President of Gilbert Paper Co., Menasha,

Wis. from 1926. b. Nov. 20, 1887 at Neenah, Wis. Became associated with the company in 1907, serving as treasurer, director, and vice president. Mason and 32° AASR.

Harvey W. Gilbert Industrialist. b. Feb. 18, 1884 in Beaumont, Texas. Began in the oil and lumber business in Texas in 1903. He is president of the the Harvey W. Gilbert Petroleum Co.; Gilbert Lumber Co.; Gilbert Tidewater Industrial Sites; Gilbert Tidewater Industries; Nona Oil Co.; Nona Lumber Mills, and Cheltenham Import & Export Co. He was the pro-motor of the Beaumont-Port Arthur Ship Channel, and builder of the Kansas City Southern Industrial R.R. Belt Line. He is also the builder and pro-motor of several other railroads, canals, highways, and dams. Mason and 32° AASR (SJ).

Henry E. Gilbert President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen since 1953. b. Oct. 5, 1906 in Ethel, Mo. He has been with the labor group since 1927, first as local chairman, member of executiveboard, board of directors, and vice president. Member of Lawn Lodge No. 815, Chicago, Ill., receiving degrees April-June, 1942; 32° AASR (NJ) at Cleveland, Ohio; Al Koran Shrine Temple, Cleveland and O.E.S. at Lakewood, Ohio.

John Gilbert (1897-1936) Movie actor. b. July 10, 1897 at Logan, Utah. He was educated in grammar schools, and at Hitchcock Military Acad. in San Rafael, Calif. He was identified with the stage from early childhood, and later became a writer, director and cutter of motion pictures. As an actor he was a leading character in many movies including Big Parade and Merry Widow. Mason. d. Jan. 9, 1936.

Levi Gilbert (1852–1917) Editor of Daily Christian Advocate, 1900–1917. b. Aug. 23, 1852 in Brooklyn, N.Y. He was ordained a Methodist minister in 1897, and served pastorates in Minn., Seattle, Wash., Cleveland, Ohio, , and New Haven, Conn. He was a delegate to the general conferences in 1904 and 1908, and a delegate to the Federal Council of Federated Churches of Christ in America in 1908 and 1912. Mason. d. Dec. 24, 1917.

Mahlon N. Gilbert (1848–1900) Episcopal Coadjutor Bishop of Minnesota. b. March 23, 1848 at Laurens, N.Y. He attended Hobart Coll., but was forced to leave before the end of the course because of illness. He later graduated from Seabury Divinity School in 1875. He then supervised the School of the Good Shepherd at Ogden, Utah. He was ordained deacon in June, 1875, and priest in Oct. of the same year. He was rector of St. James, Deer Lodge, Mont., from 1873–78; St. Peters, Helena, Mont., 1878–81, and Christ Church, St. Paul, Minn. from 1881–86. He was consecrated bishop on Oct. 17, 1886. He was initiated in Tienuderrah Lodge No. 605 of New York, and affiliated with Ancient Landmark Lodge No. 5 of St. Paul, Minn. d. in 1900.

Sir William S. Gilbert (1836–1911) English playwright who as a librettist, collaborated with Sir Arthur Sullivan, q.v., another Freemason, to write many famous light operas. b. Nov. 18, 1836 in London, he received a B.A. from London U. in 1857, and was called to the bar in 1863. His first literary work was Bab Ballads in 1869. The first Gilbert–Sullivan work was a burlesque entitled Thespis, published in 1871. Among the more famous of their comic operas are: H.M.S. Pinafore; The Pirates of Penzance; The Mikado; and The Gondoliers. He also wrote the following independently: The Palace of Truth; Pygmalion and Galatea; The Wicked World; The Happy Land; Charity and Broken Hearts. Gilbert was raised in Lodge St. Machar, No. 54 of Aberdeen, Scotland, June 23, 1871. d. May 29, 1911.

Albert W. Gilchrist (1858–1926) Governor of Florida, 1909–13. b. Jan. 15, 1858 at Greenwood, S.C. He was graduated from Carolina Military Inst. at Charlotte, and was a cadet in the U.S. Military Academy for three years. He engaged in real estate and orange growing, and was a member of the Florida state legislature four terms, being speaker in 1905. In 1898 he resigned as a brigadier general of the Florida militia, and enlisted as a private with the 3rd U.S. Volunteer Infantry and served in Cuba, being mustered out with rank of captain in 1899. In 1911 he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Florida. Member of Punta Gorda Lodge No. 115, Punta Gorda, Fla., receiving degrees, April 26, May 7, and May 24, 1890. d. May 16, 1926.

William H. Gilder (1838–1900) Arctic explorer and journalist. b. Aug. 16, 1838 in Philadelphia, Pa. He enlisted as a private in the 5th New York volunteers during the Civil War, and was later on the staff of General Thomas W. Egan. In June, 1878 he accompanied Lt. Schwatka, as second in command, on his expedition to King William's Land in search of the relics of Sir John Franklin. The expedition was marked by the longest sled journey on record at that time—3,251 miles. The expedition proved the loss of Franklin, and found some of the ill-fated expedition's records. In June, 1881 he accompanied the Rodgers expedition in search of the Jeannette. When their ship, the Rodgers, burned on Nov. 30, he made a midwinter journey from Bering Strait across Siberia, to telegraph the news of the disaster to the secretary of the Navy. He then joined in the search on the Lena delta for the survivors of the Jeannette. During these expeditions he was correspondent for the New York Herald. Gilder was a member of the "explorers" lodge, Kane No. 454 of New York City.

Malcolm R. Giles (1894–1953) Supreme Secretary, Loyal Order of Moose, 1925–49. b. May 3, 1894 in Somerset Co., Md. He was with the U.S. postal service until 1915, when he became associated with the Loyal Order of Moose, first as chief clerk, then district supervisor. He was an executive director from 1945–49, and director general from 1949. During WWI he served with the A.E.F. for 14 months. Affiliated March 15, 1932 with Jerusalem Temple Lodge No. 90, Aurora, Ill. from Tangia Lodge No. 159 of Deals Island, Md. d. Sept. 29, 1953.

Peter W. Gilkes (1765–1833) English Masonic ritualist. b. May 1, 1765 in London. He was named after Lord Petre, q.v., a Roman Catholic grand master of the Grand Lodge of England. Gilkes himself was a Roman Catholic. He was initiated in British Lodge No. 4 (now 8) in 1786. After achieving financial independence as a merchant, he devoted his life almost entirely to Freemasonry. As an active instructor in ritual, he was prominent in the Emulation Lodge of Improvement for Master Masons. He was a member of many lodges, and served as an officer in ten of them. He was master of St. Michael's Lodge No. 211 at the time of his death. He served 11 years on the board of general purpose and finance, but declined rank in the grand lodge. d. Dec. 11, 1833.

Joseph A. Gill (1854–1933) U.S. District Judge and Chief Justice of Indian Territory Court of Appeals, 1899–1908. b. Feb. 17, 1854 at Wheeling, W.Va. He was admitted to the bar in 1880, and practiced in Illinois, Oregon and Kansas. He was one of the three commissioners on the organization of Indian Territory as part of the state of Oklahoma. Received his degrees in St. Thomas Lodge No. 306 of Colby, Kans., May 4, June 15, and July 20, 1894, affiliating with Vinita Lodge No. 5, Vinita, Okla., June 1, 1901. He was a lodge officer from 1913 until 1916 when he served as master. d. March 23, 1933.

Alexander G. Gillespie Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Aug. 19, 1881 at Gaines, Mich. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1906. Served in the U.S., Philippines and France from 1906–19. He was corps area ordnance officer at Chicago from 1924–28, and then professor of ordnance and gunnery at U.S. Military Academy until 1933, when he commanded the Rock Island (Ill.) Arsenal, and later the Watervliet (N.Y.) Arsenal until 1945. He retired in 1947. Member of William B. Warren Lodge No. 209 of Chicago, Ill.

Dean M. Gillespie (1884–1949) Business executive and U.S. Congressman to 78th and 79th Congresses, (1944–47) from Colorado. b. May 3, 1884 at Salina, Kans. He was manager of the western district for White Motor Co. from 1913–25, and president of Dean Gillespie and Co. since 1937. He was also president of the Power Equipment Co. and Motoroyal Oil Co. A Mason, he was both a Knight Templar and Scottish Rite member. A member of the Society for Research of Meteorites, he owned one of the largest private collections of meteorites in the world. Raised in Temple Lodge No. 84, Denver, Colo., June 15, 1911; exalted in Denver Chapter No. 2, R.A.M., June 24, 1915; greeted in Denver Council No. 1, R. & S.M. Oct. 2, 1916; and knighted in Colorado Commandery No. 1, K.T., Aug. 8, 1924. d. Feb. 2, 1949.

Guy M. Gillette U.S. Senator from Iowa, 1936–54. b. Feb. 3, 1879 at Cherokee, Iowa. Graduate of Drake U. (Ia.). Admitted to bar in 1900, he practiced in Cherokee, Ia. He served in the Spanish–American War as a sergeant, and as a captain in WWI. A member of the state senate from 1912–16, he was U.S. congressman to 73rd and 74th congresses from the 9th Ia. dist. A member of Speculative Lodge No. 307 at Cherokee, Iowa, he received his 50-year recognition in 1955.

King C. Gillette (1855–1932) Organizer and president of the Gillette Safety Razor Co. b. Jan. 5, 1855 in Fond du Lac, Wis. He was educated in the public schools of Chicago. He invented the Gillette razor and was president of the firm from 1901 until 1931. Mason. d. July 9, 1932.

Wilson D. Gillette (1880–1951) U.S. Congressman, 77th to 81st Congresses (1941–51) from 14th Pa. dist. b. in Sheshequin, Pa. He began as a clerk in a general store, and was a dealer of automobiles from 1913. Member of Union Lodge No. 108, Towanda, Pa., receiving degrees, Nov. 17, Dec. 16, 1909, and Jan. 19, 1910. d. Aug. 7, 1951.

George W. Gillie U.S. Congressman, 76th to 80th Congresses (1939–48) from 4th Ind. dist. b. Aug. 15, 1880 in Berwickshire, Scotland, coming to U.S. in 1882, and becoming naturalized in 1890. Graduate of Ohio State U. in 1907 in veterinary medicine. Practiced in Allen Co., Ind. from 1914. Received degrees in Summit City Lodge No. 170, Fort Wayne, Ind. in 1909; 32° AASR (NJ), and past potentate of Mizpah Shrine Temple.

Frank Gillmore (1867–1943) Actor and union executive. b. May 14, 1867 in New York City. Educated in Chiswick Collegiate School, London, England. He first appeared on the stage in 1879, playing the English provinces for three years, and on London stage five years. He then alternated appearances in U.S. and England for several years. He was leading man with Minnie Fiske, Henrietta Crosman, Mary Mannering, Bertha Kalich, and others. From 1918–29 he was executive secretary of the Actors Equity Association, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, and president of same from 1929–37, and later international president of the Association of Actors and Artists of America. Mason. d. March 29, 1943.

James C. Gillmore (1854–1927) Commodore, U.S. Navy, Congressional Medal of Honor winner (Spanish–American War). b. July 10, 1854 in Philadelphia, Pa. Graduate of U.S. Naval Academy in 1876. He advanced to rank of commodore, and retired at his own request, July 1, 1911, after 40 years service. He saw service in China, Alaska, Panama, Asia, Cuba, and Europe. His last command was of the battleship Illinois. He was an esoteric Buddhist. Mason. d. June 14, 1927.

Charles Gilman (1793–1861) Grand Master of New Hampshire and Maryland, he also was tendered the grand-mastership of California. b. Dec. 14, 1793 in Meredith, N.H. He studied law and became well known in his field. He was grand treasurer of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of New Hampshire from 1830–1833; grand secretary of the Grand Chapter of Maryland, 1836–41; general grand secretary of the General Grand Chapter, R.A.M., and general grand recorder of the General Grand Encampment, K.T., holding both of these offices for 15 years. He served as general grand high priest of the General Grand Chapter from 1856–59, and presided at the meeting in Chicago in 1859, when that organization was stripped of its power and reduced to an advisory body. d. Sept. 9, 1861.

Nicholas Gilman (1755–1814) Signer of the Federal Constitution of 1787 and U.S. Senator from New Hampshire from 1805–14. b. Aug. 3, 1755 in Exeter, N.H. He fought in the Revolutionary War, first as an adjutant in Col. Scammell's regiment, and was for some time a member of Washington's military family. It was his duty to account for the prisoners surrendered by Cornwallis at Yorktown. He was a member of the Continental Congress from 1786–88, and after the adoption of the Constitution, a representative from N.H. from 1789–97. He became a member of St. John's Lodge

No. 1, Portsmouth, N.H., March 20, 1777. d. May 2, 1814.

Albert F. Gilmore (?–1943) Editor of Christian Science weekly and monthly magazines, 1922–29, and president of The Mother Church, 1922–23. b. in Turner, Maine. He was a graduate of Bates Coll. He was first a high school principal, and then with a book company. From 1914–17 he was first reader of the First Church of Christ Scientist at Brooklyn, N.Y. Mason. d. June 8, 1943.

Joseph A. Gilmore (1811–1867) Governor of New Hampshire, 1863–65. b. June 10, 1811 in Weston, Vt. Opened a wholesale grocery in Concord, N.H. in 1842. He became a construction agent, later superintendent of the Concord and Claremont Railroad, and eventually superintendent of the Concord Railroad. He held this position until 1866. He served two terms in the state senate. Holding the governorship at a difficult time (Civil War), his health broke and he was forced to retire from office in June 1865. His rise in Masonry was speedy, indeed. He was made a Mason “at sight,” April 28, 1863, and received the 33° AASR (NJ), May 7, 1863. d. April 17, 1867.

Patrick S. Gilmore (1829–1892) American bandleader and composer of marches and songs. b. Dec. 28, 1829, in Dublin, Ireland. He was associated with bands from the age of 15. He came to Canada with an English band, and then went to Salem, Mass., where he led a brass band. Later, settling in Boston, he organized “Gilmore’s Band,” which became one of the most famous of that era. He took his band on extensive tours, and in 1861 accompanied the 24th Mass. regiment to the field; in 1863 he was placed in charge of all the bands in the department of Louisiana by General Banks. He wrote When Johnny Comes Marching Home Again under the pseudonym of Louis Lambert. He was a member of Essex Lodge, Salem, Mass. His band participated in the centennial anniversary procession of Union Lodge at Nantucket, Mass.

Ray B. Gilmour (1888–1947) President of American Osteopathic Association, 1926–27. b. Feb. 27, 1888 at Blackfoot, Idaho. Graduate of American School of Osteopathy, Kirksville, Mo. in 1908. Began practice in Kirksville, Mo. in 1908, and settled in Sioux City, Ia. in 1910. He served as president of Osteopathic associations in Iowa, central states, and Northwest Iowa. Mason, 32° AASR (SJ), and Shriner. d. March 5, 1947.

George Gilpin Colonel in the American Revolution. A member of Alexandria Lodge No. 22, Alexandria, Va., he served as one of the pallbearers at George Washington's funeral.

Curvin H. Gingrich (1880–1951) Astronomer and editor of Popular Astronomy since 1926. b. Nov. 20, 1880 at York, Pa. Graduate of Dickinson Coll. (Pa.) and U. of Chicago. He taught mathematics in colleges in Mo. and Kans. from 1903–12, and has been a professor of mathematics and astronomy since 1912. He taught at Carleton Coll., Mt. Wilson Observatory, Adler Planetarium, McCormick Observatory. He was assistant editor of Popular Astronomy from 1912–26, and editor from that date. His work at Goodsell Observatory of Carleton Coll. was principally micrometric measures of comet positions and double stars, also celestial photography and photographic determinations of positions of asteroids. Member of Social Lodge No. 48, Northfield, Minn., receiving degrees, Jan. 20, Feb. 14, March 31, 1913 and master of lodge in 1933. Member of Corinthian Chapter No. 33, RAM., and high priest in 1938; member of Northfield Council No. 12, R. & SM., all of Northfield, Minn. d. June 17, 1951.

L. Holmes Ginn, Jr. Brigadier General, U.S. Army Medical Corps. b. Sept. 3, 1902 in Berryville, Va. A graduate of Medical College of Virginia in 1927, he interned in Walter Reed General Hospital. Commissioned in 1928, and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1952. As a major at Fort Knox, Ky., he developed organization of the medical service for armored troops, and the mobile surgical truck used successfully in WWII. Became 1st surgeon of 1st Armored Division in 1940, serving with it in North Ireland, invasion of North Africa (1942) and Tunisian campaign (1943). Then assigned to 15th Army Group, and was senior U.S. Medical Officer for Sicilian campaign. Surgeon of II Corps in Italy; of 15th Army in Western Europe. Established "Cordon Sanitaire," or quarantine at Rhine River to stop spread of typhus to Western Europe at close of WWII. Named surgeon of the Third Army in Southeastern U.S. in 1950. Transferred to Korea in 1952 as surgeon of Eighth Army. Now surgeon, Fourth Army at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and commanding general of William Beaumont, q.v., Army Hospital. A member of Army Lodge No. 1105, San Antonio, Texas, he was initiated May 18, passed Aug. 5 and raised Sept. 2, in 1955. 32° AASR (SJ) in San Antonio. Member of Alzafar Shrine temple and special deputy to potentate to Armed Services in 1957. Honorary member of El Maida Temple at El Paso. Member of National Sojourners and Heroes of '76.

Stephen Girard (1750–1831) Philanthropist. b. May 20, 1750 near Bordeaux, France. The son of a sea captain, he sailed to the West Indies as a cabin-boy at an early age, and thence to New York. He became a mate, captain, and then part owner of a ship, and in 1769 settled in Philadelphia where he established himself in trade, and was alternately a shipmaster and a merchant. In 1812 he founded the Bank of Stephen Girard to take over the business of the Bank of the United States. During the War of 1812, he financed 95% of the war's cost by making five million dollars available to the U.S. government. He aided in establishing the Second Bank of the United States in 1816, of which he was a director, and largely influenced its policy. He amassed a fortune of nine million dollars by the time of his death—more than any other American. Personally, he was an enigma. He pinched pennies; gave his help no more than their just wages; was parsimonious and lived a frugal life. On the other hand, he gave his entire fortune to charity and public improvement, including $20,000 for Masonic charity which is still administered by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania. The most famous of his bequests was to Girard College at Philadelphia, a home for “poor, white, male orphans.” One clause in his will regarding the college specified: “I enjoin and require that no ecclesiastic, missionary or minister of any sect whatsoever, shall ever hold or exercise any duty whatsoever in the said college; nor shall any such person ever be admitted for any purpose, or as a visitor, within the premises appropriated to the purposes of the said college. . . . I desire to keep the tender minds of orphans . . . free from the excitements which clashing doctrines and sectarian controversy are so apt to produce.” This would, as he explained, leave them free in future life to choose “such active religious tenets as their matured reason may enable them to prefer.” His Masonic affiliations are equally strange. The records of Royal Arch Lodge No. 3 of Philadelphia show the following on Sept. 7, 1778: “Capt. Stephen Girard was duly balloted for, unanimously approved of, initiated and accordingly paid his dues, twenty dollars, into the hands of the treasurer.” Again we find that he was made a Mason “at sight” in Union Blue Lodge No. 8, Charleston, S.C. on Jan. 28, 1788 when he was entered, passed, and raised on that date. It has been suggested that Girard was unable to prove himself to be a Mason in 1788, and was initiated a second time—an irregular proceeding, but not impossible in that formative period of the Craft. In 1809 he was appointed to the board of trustees of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, and subscribed the final five thousand dollars necessary to complete the Masonic hall. Two days after his death (Dec. 26, 1831) a public notice appeared in the newspapers requesting the attendance of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania and subordinate lodges listed as well as other benevolent associations. Almost 400 Masons assembled for the funeral which was held in the German Roman Catholic Church of the Holy Trinity. When the Masons appeared, the priests refused to perform the burial rites and, after waiting for some time, the brethren then removed the body from the church and placed it in the vault as had been desired by Girard. His body was removed in Jan. 1851 to the Girard College, and at the request of the commissioners of his estate, the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania participated. The coffin was borne by eight past masters, and a Masonic funeral dirge was composed expressly for the occasion. The heirs had objected to the removal of the remains from the church, but were ruled against by the courts.

Mordecai Gist (1743–1792) Brigadier General of the American Revolution. b. in Baltimore, Md. His ancestors were early English emigrants to Maryland. At the beginning of the Revolution he was elected captain of the “Baltimore Independent Co.,” the first raised in Maryland. In 1776 he was appointed major of a battalion of Maryland regulars, and was with them in the battle near Brooklyn. In Jan. 1779, congress appointed him brigadier general in the Continental Army, and he took command of the 2nd Maryland brigade. He fought at the battle of Camden, S.C. in 1780, joined the southern army under Greene, and was given a light corps to command. In 1782 he rallied the broken forces of the Americans under Laurens at the battle of the Combahee and defeated the British. After the war, he lived on his plantation near Charleston, S.C. He had two children whom he named “Independent” and “States.” A member of Lodge No. 16, Baltimore, Md., he received his degrees March 14, April 11, and April 25, 1775. He was the first master of Army Lodge No. 27 of the Maryland Line, chartered by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania in April, 1780. He was the president of the convention of Army lodges held in Morristown, N.J. which suggested the election of Washington as generalgrand master. He was deputy grand master of South Carolina in 1787, and grand master of the Grand Lodge of South Carolina from 1789–92. d. Sept. 2, 1792.

Peter Maurice Glaire (1743–1819) b. in Switzerland. He went to Poland in 1764, and eventually became a confidant of King Stanislaus Poniatowski, who sent him on numerous diplomatic missions. While in Poland, he established a rite of seven degrees. He returned to Switzerland in 1788, and in 1810 was elected grand master for three years—at the end of which term he was elected to the position for life in the Grand Orient of Helvetia.

James Glaisher (1809–1903) English astronomer and meteorologist. He was chief of the magnetic and meteorological department at Greenwich from 1838–74 and pioneered balloon ascents to obtain meteorological data. He was admitted to Royal Union Lodge No. 382, Uxbridge, England, Jan. 16, 1864. Before this he had been a member of Britannic Lodge No. 33. Carter Glass (1858–1946) Secretary of the Treasury under President Wilson, and U.S. Senator from Virginia. b. Jan. 4, 1858 at Lynchburg, Va. Educated in public and private schools at Lynchburg, he later received honorary doctorates from 13 colleges and universities. He was the owner of the Daily News and Daily Advance of Lynchburg. He was a member of the state legislature several terms before serving as U.S. congressman to the 57th to 65th congresses (1902–19). He resigned from congress in 1918 to become secretary of the Treasury in Wilson's cabinet, serving until 1920, when he resigned to accept senatorship by appointment of Virginia's governor. He served from 1920 until his death in 1946, his last re-election being in 1942. He was president pro-tem of the senate from 1941. He was chairman of the important appropriations committee of the senate and member of the foreign relations committee. He declined the secretaryship of the Treasury under F. D. Roosevelt. He was a member of Hill City Lodge No. 183 of Lynchburg; he received the 32° AASR at Lynchburg, Aug. 16, 1929. He was later coroneted 33°. In 1940 he wrote his lodge as follows: " ... It seems to me I was taken in Hill Lodge considerably more than 50 years ago. I was lectured for entrance by the late Thomas N. Davis, one of the most brilliant Masons who ever wielded a gavel; and, before I entered public life 40 years ago, I could recite the ritual backward as well as forward, and took the intensest interest in Masonic work. I have never ceased to regard the Masonic fraternity in a little less reverential vein than my church. No good Mason could fail to be a good churchman, and no churchman should omit to become a good Mason." d. May 28, 1946.

Benjamin Gleason (1777–1847) First appointed Masonic lecturer in the U.S. He was graduated from Brown U. in 1802. His original lodge is not known, but he was a member of Mount Lebanon Lodge of Mass. on June 2, 1807. He received his appointment as grand lecturer of the Grand Lodge of Mass. in 1805, holding the office until 1842. He received the lectures from Thomas Smith Webb, q.v., and, next to his mentor, he was probably the foremost ritualist in the U.S. At one time Gleason visited the Grand Lodge of England and exemplified the work, where it was declared to be accurate. Gleason taught John Barney, who in turn taught Samuel Willson. Probably not first lecturer. Geo. Richards of N.H. may have been. Jonathean Heart was lecturer in Conn. in 1783.

Edwin F. Glenn (1857–1926) Major General, U.S. Army. b. Jan. 10, 1857 near Greensboro, N.C. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1877. Promoted through grades to brigadier general in 1917, and major general insame year. He instituted military training at the U. of Minnesota in 1888. He was a member of the Minn. bar. He commanded exploring and relief expeditions into Alaska in 1898–99. He served first with the –judge advocate’s department, and in WWI, organized Camp Sherman, Ohio, and the 83rd Division in 1917, commanding that division in France in 1918, and retiring at his own request in 1919. Member of St. Paul Lodge No. 3, St. Paul, Minn. d. Aug. 5, 1926.

Robert B. Glenn (1854–1920) Governor of North Carolina, 1905–09. b. Aug. 11, 1854 in Rockingham Co., N.C. Engaged in law practice, first at Danbury, N.C., and later as counsel for Southern Railway and Western Union. Served as state solicitor and member of state legislature. The Grand Lodge of North Carolina attended his inauguration as governor in a body. He was a member of Winston Lodge No. 167 of Winston–Salem, receiving his degrees Dec. 27–29, 1904, and transferring to Raleigh Lodge No. 500, Raleigh, N.C., May 19, 1905. He was a member of Raleigh Chapter No. 10, R.A.M., Raleigh Commandery No. 4, and Oasis Shrine Temple. d. May 16, 1920.

William M. Glenn Newspaper editor and co-founder of the national professional journalism fraternity, Sigma Delta Chi (1909 at DePauw U.). b. April 21, 1888 at Hillsboro, Ohio. Graduate of DePauw U. in 1910. From 1910–14 he was a reporter on newspapers in Indiana and Illinois, becoming editor of Orlando Morning Sentinel (Fla.) in 1914, until 1925, when he became publisher. In 1931–34 he was editorial writer for the Daily Times of Tampa and returned as publisher of the Orlando paper from 1939–43. Since 1943 he has been an editor with the Florida Sun of Miami Beach. Mason, he is past commander of Olivet Commandery, K.T. of Orlando, Fla. He is the author of several books.

Glenn F. Glezen U.S. Lieutenant Commander and Arctic explorer. Member of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition of 1955–58, as administrative officer on staff of Admiral George Dufek, commanding Task Force H-3 in operational control of ships. Has served in the Navy since age of 17, and was commissioned in WWII. He is the former secretary of Cherrydale Lodge No. 42, Cherrydale, Va.

Carl Glick Writer, director, lecturer. b. Sept. 11, 1890 at Marshalltown, Iowa. Graduate of Northwestern U. in 1915. Started as an actor with Donald Robertson Players, Chicago Art Institute, 1909 and later toured in Shakespearian repertoire. From 1915–17 he was a drama instructor in Fairmount Coll. (Kans.) and then director of the community theatre, Waterloo, Ia. He has directed theatre groups in Sarasota, Fla., York, Pa., Columbia, S.C., Schenectady, N.Y. Glick has taught at U. of Montana; U. of Colo., and since 1955 at California Western U. at San Diego. Served in U.S. Army in WWI. Among his writings are Shake Hands with the Dragon; Three Times I Bow; Swords of Silence; The Secret Societies of China (with Hong Sheng-Hwa); The Secret of Serenity; Death Sits In; and the Masonic volume, A Treasury of Masonic Thought. Member of St. John's Lodge No. 1, New York City; Darius Chapter No. 143, R.A.M., San Diego, Calif. and member of advisory council, Point Loma Chapter, Order of DeMolay.

George W. Glick (1827–1811) Eighth Governor of Kansas, 1883–85. b. July 4, 1827 in Fairfield Co., Ohio. Admitted to bar in 1850, and practiced in Ohio until 1859. He enlisted for Mexican War, but saw no service; he served in the Civil War a short time. He went to Kansas in 1859 where he engaged in farming and stock raising. He was a member of the Kansas legislature from 1863–66, 1876 and 1882. A member of Washington Lodge No. 5 of Atchison, Kans., he was junior warden of same in 1863, and 1864. He was also a member of Washington Commandery No. 2, K.T. of Atchison.

William Henry, Duke of Gloucester and Edinburg b. 1743. He was a son of Frederick, Prince of Wales, q.v., and grandson of King George II. He married Maria, widow of James, Earl of Waldegrave, a natural daughter of Sir Edward Walpole. Their only son was Prince William Frederick of Gloucester, q.v. He was a brother of King George III, q.v. He was initiated in Royal Lodge No. 313, later known as Royal Alpha No. 16 on Feb. 16, 1766. The meeting was held at the Horn Tavern of London and he received all three degrees the same evening, conferred by Lord Blayney, the grand master.

Earl of Gloucester (See Clare de Gilbert).

William Frederick, Prince of Gloucester (1776–1834)

b. Jan. 15, 1776 at the Teodoli Palace, Rome, son of William Henry, Duke of Gloucester and Edinburgh, q.v., nephew as well as son-in-law of King George III, and great grandson of George II. Was educated in Trinity Coll., Cambridge, and entered the army as a captain in 1789, later becoming a major general. He married his cousin, Mary, in 1816 and died childless in 1834. He was initiated in Brittanic Lodge No. 29 (now No. 33) on May 12, 1795; became a Royal Arch Mason on Jan. 7, 1797 and a Knight Templar on Jan. 11, 1797.

Aquila Glover (?–1849) A rescuer of the ill-fated Donner Party in 1847. He crossed the plains from Missouri by ox team with his family in 1846 and spent part of fall and winter of 1846–47 at Sutter's Fort where he met James F. Reed. Reed recognized him as a Mason and requested that he go with the relief party and assist in bringing out the Reed family from the snows of Donner Lake. Glover is reported as saying: "Brother Reed, I will go with the first relief party, and I pledge you on my honor and word as a Master Mason, that I will rescue your family even at the risk of my life and do just the same for them as I would for my own." He was true to his word and did his utmost to accomplish the rescue of the entire Reed family. He could not, however, bring them all out of the mountains. He did rescue Mrs. Reed and two of her four children. Reed, himself, brought the other two children out shortly afterward. Glover moved to San Francisco in the spring of 1847 and lived there with his family in a tent. He helped organize the first Methodist church in San Francisco. He went to the mines at Coloma and died there Nov. 18, 1849. Sherman, in his history of the Grand Lodge of California, stated that Glover was probably a member of a lodge near Warsaw, Benton Co., Mo. and that his Masonic regalia was burned in a house on the Gish road, one mile north of San Jose in 1854 or 1855.

John Glover (1732–1797) Brigadier General of the American Revolution. b. Nov. 5, 1732 in Salem, Mass. At the beginning of the Revolution he raised 1,000 men and joined the army at Cambridge. He commanded the 21st and later the 14th regiment, the latter being one of the first as well as one of the best in the Continental Army. It was composed almost entirely of fishermen and it was called the “amphibious regiment.” On the retreat from Long Island, it manned the boats and crossed the entire army in safety. These troops also manned the boats and led the advance over the Delaware River on the night before the victory at Trenton. As a colonel, he participated in the battle of Stillwater, and was with Washington at Valley Forge. He was appointed brigadier general, Feb. 21, 1777, and in July, joined Schuyler in the campaign against Burgoyne. In 1778 he joined Greene’s division in N.J. and later detached to R.I. under Sullivan. He was a member of the court that sentenced Major Andre to hang. A member of Philanthropic Lodge of Marblehead, Mass., he is recorded as visiting St. John’s Lodge in Providence, R.I. when he was stationed there. d. Jan. 30, 1797.

Charles Gloyd (?–1869) Husband of Carrie Nation, of bar-smashing fame. Signed petition to organize Holden Lodge No. 262, Holden, Mo. on July 31, 1867 and was first master of same in 1868. Record shows a dimit from Ward Lodge No. 281 of Piqua, Ohio dated April 9, 1867. d. March 20, 1869.

John P. S. Gobin (1837–1910) Brigadier General in Civil War and Spanish–American War. b. Jan. 26, 1837 at Sunbury, Pa. Received law degree from Susquehanna U. Following the Civil War, he practiced law at Lebanon, Pa., and was one of the organizers of the G.A.R., serving as its commander-in-chief in 1897. He was lieutenant governor of Pa. in 1898 and commanded the national guard of that state during the coal strike of 1902. He was made a Mason in Sunbury Lodge No. 22 on Jan. 9, 1860, and affiliated with Williamson Lodge No. 307 of Womelsdorf, Pa. on May 4, 1881, and served as its master. A member of Hermit Commandery No. 24, K.T., he was its commander, and was the 15th grand master of the Grand Encampment, K.T. of the U.S. in 1889. He received the 33° AASR (NJ) on May 9, 1906. d. May 1, 1910.

Chester W. Goble Major General, U.S. Army. b. Nov. 25, 1891 at Columbus, OH. He enlisted in Troop B of the Ohio national guard in 1908, and later was commissioned first lieutenant. He served overseas in WWI with the 136th heavy field artillery. In 1940 he was commissioned a lieutenant colonel, and in July, 1955, was retired with the rank of major general. In his 47 years in the military service he served with the cavalry, field artillery, quartermaster corps, and finance corps. In 1947–48 he was adjutant general of Ohio, and for many years before retirement, director of selective service for Ohio. He was raised in Humboldt Lodge No. 476, Columbus, Ohio on April 18, 1913; exalted in Ohio Chapter No. 12, R.A.M. Jan. 21, 1926; greeted in Columbus Council No. 8 R. & S.M. March 19, 1926; knighted in Mt. Vernon Commandery No. 1, K.T. March 12, 1926. Received 32° AASR in Aug., 1917 and 33° Sept. 26, 1951. Member of Aladdin Shrine Temple at Columbus.

Arthur Godfrey Radio and television personality. b. Aug. 31, 1903 in New York City. He served in the Navy from 1920–24, and in the Coast Guard 1927–30; he is a commander in the Naval Reserve. He began in radio as an announcer and entertainer over Station WFBR of Baltimore in 1930, and was with NBC from 1930–34. Since 1934 he has been free-lance. His daily program on radio, Arthur Godfrey Time has run for years. His television programs over CBS have been Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts and Arthur Godfrey and His Friends. Member of Acacia Lodge No. 18, Washington, D.C.; E.A. Feb. 9; FC March 23; MM April 27, 1937. He was raised by Arch McDonald, a radio sports announcer. Member of Albert Pike Consistory, AASR and joined Almas Shrine Temple on May 19, 1937.

Edward S. Godfrey (1843–1932) Brigadier General, U.S. Army and Congressional Medal of Honor winner. b. Oct. 9, 1843 at Kalida, Ohio. Enlisted as a private in Co. D, 21st Ohio Inf. in 1861 and was graduated from U.S. Military Academy in 1867. Promoted through grades to brigadier general in 1907. He was awarded the Congressional Medal for “most distinguished gallantry” at Bear Paw Mountains against Chief Joseph and the Nez Perce Indians on Sept. 30, 1877. He was in all the campaigns and Indian fights of his regiment under General Custer, until the latter's death. He originated "cos-sack" and "rough riding" for the Army and was a member of the board of officers that devised drill regulations for the infantry, cavalry, and artillery. He served in Cuba and the Philippines. Mason, 32° AASR and Knight Templar. d. April 1, 1932.

Frank J. Goebel Vice President of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in charge of personnel. b. Sept. 26, 1893 at Princeton, Ind. A lawyer, he was first secretary and assistant counsel of the Cincinnati, Indianapolis, and Western Railroad. In 1927 he went with the B & O as assistant general solicitor, became director of personnel, and vice president since 1947. Mason.

Henry Goering Premier of Germany, and anti-Mason, who in 1934 issued an official decree to the three largest grand lodges in Germany, stating that their existence was no longer necessary and that lodges must be dissolved. The three grand lodges mentioned were known as the Christian grand lodges because they admitted only members of the Christian faith.

Hermann Goering (1893–1946) Nazi Field Marshal and anti-Mason. Served in German air force in WWI and commanded the Richthofen squadron. He was involved in the National Socialist uprising at Munich in 1923. In Hitler's government, he became Reich Minister of the air force, minister of interior and general of infantry. He was made economic dictator of Germany in 1937, and field marshal in 1938. He committed suicide in jail, while awaiting trial for war crimes. In an interview with grand master von Heeringen on April 7, 1933, Goering told him “In a National Socialist state . . . there is no place for Freemasons.” Later, German Masonic heads reported “if the intention of Minister Goering should find general approval in the Reich cabinet, there need be no question of the continuance of our grand lodge of Freemasons.” Next followed the rules under which Freemasonry might carry on—discontinuation of the use of the words “Freemason” and “Lodge”; breaking off all international relations; requirement that all members be of German descent; removal of the requirement of secrecy; and elimination of those parts of the ritual which were of Old Testament origin. As a result, the National Grand Lodge changed its name to “The National Christian Order of Frederick the Great.”

August von Goethe (1789–1830) Son of the German poet, Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, q.v. He was a government official and chamberlain to the grand duke of Saxe Weimar. His wife was Ottilie, Baroness von Pogwisch. After the death of his wife, in 1816, he took care of his father in his last years; however, he died two years before his father. He was initiated in his father’s lodge—Lodge Amelia in Weimar on Dec. 5, 1815. This was the last time his father was able to attend lodge.

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe (1749–1832) German poet and intellectual. b. at Frankfurt am Me In, he was educated at Leipzig and studied law at Strasbourg. He was the dominant influence of his era on the development of the German literature. His Gotz von Berlichingen, a tragedy published in 1773, inaugurated the romantic school and established the Shakespearean form of drama on the German stage. His Die Leiden des Jun.gen Werthers, a romantic love story published in 1774 as a result of an affair with Charlotte Buff, established the romantic school. His Faust, 1808 and 1832, heralded the modern spirit of German literature. He settled in Weimar in 1775 on the invitation of Charles Augustus, heir to the duchy of Saxe-Weimar. It was then the literary and intellectual center of Germany. He was a close friend of Schiller, q.v., who inspired many of his works. Goethe made an extended trip with the Duke of Weimar during the closing months of 1799 and found evidence of the advantages of Masonic membership. He addressed a petition, of his own composition and handwriting, to the master of Lodge Amalia in Weimar and received the first degree on June 23, 1780. He received the second degree exactly one year later (June 23, 1781), although at that time an entered apprentice was required to wait three years before advancing. Goethe, however, had written a letter to the master calling his attention to the efforts he had put forth to render himself worthy. He received the third degree on March 3, 1782. He subsequently received the higher Templar degrees of the Rite of Strict Observance. At this time the development of the many so-called higher „Ä“ degrees brought strong differences of opinion and caused the closing of Goethe's lodge in 1783, and it did not open again until 26 years later. Goethe's interest in Freemasonry never wavered during these years, and when the reorganization meeting took place on June 27, 1808, he received three out of the 12 votes cast for master. He was one of those who signed the petition to the lodge in the neighboring city of Rudolstade asking their cooperation in securing a charter from the Grand Lodge of Hamburg. His advice was sought by the newly elected officers and although he could not be present at the reopening of the lodge on Sept 24, 1808, he sent a special message bearing his best wishes and assuring the brethren of his interest. For the next four years he attended its meetings regularly. He attended lodge for the last time on Dec. 5, 1815 when his son, August, q.v., was initiated. On June 23, 1830 the lodge celebrated the 50th anniversary of Goethe's admission. Old age and infirmities prevented his attendance, but he wrote a special poem, Fifty Years Today Are Over, which was read. Goethe's writings, especially Wilhelm Meister, contain numerous Masonic allusions and references. He gives many Masonic references in his collected works. His best known Masonic work is the short poem Mason Lodge which may be found in most collections of his works. One biographer writes that on his deathbed his speech became less and less distinct and that the last words audible were More Light.

Nathan Goff, Jr. (1843–1920) Secretary of the Navy and U.S. Senator from West Virginia. b. Feb. 9, 1843 at Clarksburg, W.Va. He served in the Union army during the Civil War from 1861–65, and was admitted to the bar in 1866. He served one term in the lower house of W.Va., was U.S. district attorney, U.S. circuit judge, and U.S. congressman to 48th to 50th Congresses (1883–89). He was elected governor of W.Va. in 1888 by a plurality of 130 votes, but when his opponent contested the vote, he lost the election by vote of the state legislature. In 1881 he was secretary of the Navy in the cabinet of President Hayes. He was U.S. senator from W.Va. from 1913–19. Member of Hermon Lodge No. 6, Clarksburg, W.Va. d. April 24, 1920.

Norris Goff The “Abner” of Lunt and Abner comedy team. Both Goff and Chester Lauck (Lum) are members of Dallas Lodge No. 128, Mena, Ark.

Maurice Goldblatt President of Goldblatt Bros., Inc., Chicago department store, from 1914–45, and chairman of the board since 1945. b. Dec. 17, 1893 at Staszow, Poland. Active in hospital and health societies, he is executive director of the American Heart Association. Mason.

Maurice H. Goldblatt Violinist, composer and art expert. b. May 30, 1883, in Tallinn, Estonia, he was brought to America at age of six. A graduate of the Chicago Music Coll., he has an honorary doctorate from Notre Dame. He made his debut as a violin soloist in St. Louis when he was 13 years old. He has been concertmeister of the Italian Grand Opera Co. of New York and Chicago Philharmonic Orchestra. He was first violinist of the Chicago Opera from 1915–18 and has taught violin at the Chicago Musical Coll. since 1910. He is director of the art gallery of Notre Dame U. and art expert for the Beaumont Galleries of Chicago and Metropolitan Galleries of New York. He was decorated by the French government for establishing authorship of four paintings in the Louvre in 1927. He is said to be the first to employ black light and spectrographic analysis, and is the inventor of the “lightoscope.” He has composed numerous pieces for violin and piano. Mason.

Nathan Goldblatt (1895–1944) Department store executive. b. March 24, 1895 in Staszow, Poland, he was brought to the U.S. in 1904. When 19 he and his brother Morris, q.v., established a small dry goods store in Chicago with a capital of $2,000. They opened a second store in 1928, and others in 1929–30, and in 1936 acquired the Loop store known as The Davis Co. He was also the owner of stores in Hammond, Gary (Ind.) and Joliet (Ill.). He was secretary and treasurer of Goldblatt Bros., Inc. Received degrees in Emblem Lodge No. 984, Chicago on Jan. 22, Feb. 19, and March 2, 1919 affiliating Oct. 23, 1922 with Pilgrim Lodge No. 1079—now known as Pilgrim Jonas Lodge No. 1079. d. Nov. 3, 1944.

Frank Goldman President of B'nai B'rith, 1947–53 and honorary president since that date. b. Dec. 4, 1890 in Lowell, Mass. Graduate of Boston U. summa cum laude in 1910 and admitted to Mass. bar in 1912, practicing in Lowell. A member of B'nai B'rith since 1920, he served as president of the Lowell lodge, district president, national vice president, 1941–47. He has been the editor of The National Jewish Monthly since 1947. Active in civic and Jewish charity organizations. Mason and 32° AASR (NJ).

John R. Goldsborough (1808–1877) Commodore, U.S. Navy. b. July 2, 1808 in Washington, D.C. He became a midshipman in 1824, rising to commodore in 1867. While a midshipman on the sloop Warren, he captured the schooner Helene (of four guns manned by 58 Greek pirates) by engaging them with a launch with 19 men. In the Civil War he commanded the steamer, Union, and was employed in the blockade of the southern coast. He captured and sunk the Confederate schooner, York, and later commanded the Florida and Colorado. He retired in 1870. He was a member of Federal Lodge No. 1, Washington, D.C. and Columbia Chapter No. 15, R.A.M. of Washington, but later withdrew from both. d. June 22, 1877.

Robert H. Goldsborough (1779–1836) U.S. Senator from Maryland, 1813–19 and 1835–36. b. Jan. 4, 1779 near Easton, Md. He was made a Mason in St. Thomas' Lodge No. 37 at Easton, Md. about 1800. In 1807 this lodge became dormant, but was revived again in 1823 at Coats' Lodge No. 76, Goldsborough being one of the charter members and its master in 1824. He was senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of Maryland in 1824. d. Oct. 5, 1836.

Pavel I Golenischev-Kutusov (1767–1829) Russian General and politician. He was curator of the Moscow University, member of the Senate and a general of great personal courage. He was the chief founder and first master of the Lodge Neptune at Moscow in 1803. This lodge was an "inner order" of the outer circle represented by a lodge called Harpocrat. A Rosicrucian, he was a Mason of the old school, being initiated in another lodge called "Neptune" which was founded in Kronstadt in 1779. Members of his lodge belonged to the Moscow nobility and included some professors of the university and a few young army officers.

Freire de Andrade de Gomez (see under Freire).

Samuel Gompers (1850–1924) One of the founders and first president of the American Federation of Labor, serving from 1886–1924. b. Jan. 27, 1850 in London, England. A cigar-maker by trade, he was an advocate of the rights of labor from the time he was 14 years old. He helped develop the Cigarmakers International Union, and was one of the founders of the Federation of Trades and Labor Unions in 1881, being president of same for three years. He probably did more for American labor than any other man. He fought socialism relentlessly. In his autobiography, he relates that his Masonic affiliation frequently protected him. He said “In my Masonic life I have visited lodges in many lands, and I have learned that Freemasonry in many countries, particularly in Latin countries, is the principal means whereby freedom of conscience, of thought, and expression is preserved.” A member of Dawson Lodge No. 16, Washington, D.C. he received his degrees on Feb. 8, March 28 and May 9, 1904, and the 32° AASR (SJ) in Albert Pike Consistory of Washington, D.C. on Feb. 10, 1906. Samuel Gompers Lodge No. 45, Washington, D.C. is named for him. d. Dec. 13, 1924.

Antonio Gonzales Philippine lawyer who was first grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of the Philippines and first grand master of the Grand Council, R. & S.M. of the Philippines. b. Aug. 28, 1895 in Manila. Graduate of San Beda Coll. and Escuela de Derecho. Initiated in Luzon Lodge No. 57 in 1920, he became a charter member of Luz Oceanica Lodge No. 85, served as master and elected grand master of the Grand Lodge of the Philippines in 1932. From 1939–53 he was grand secretary of the grand lodge. A charter member of Manila Chapter, U.D. in 1949, he was appointed deputy for the general grand high priest for the Philippines in 1951. Greeted in Trenton Council No. 37, Trenton, Mo. in 1951. Received Order of High Priesthood in St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 2, 1951 and was instrumental in forming a Philippine convention of same; past commander of Far East Commandery No. 1, K.T. Manila; past sovereign of Asoka Conclave, Red Cross of Constantine and intendant general for Philippines in 1951. He has presided over all the Scottish Rite bodies in the Philippines.

Manuel Gonzalez (1833–1893) President of Mexico, 1880–84, and General. b. near Matamoros, Tamaulipas. As early as 1853 he was fighting in guerilla wars with the reactionary party. Many times wounded, his right arm was amputated. When Mexico was invaded by the French, English and Spanish in 1861, he joined Juarez, q.v., accompanied the president in his flight from the capital as far as San Luis Potosi, and established himself in the mountains of Hidalgo, where he stayed until 1865. Cutting through the French forces, he joined Escobedo, q.v., and marched south with him. In 1869 he was appointed governor by Juarez, holding that office until 1871, when arrested for complicity in the disappearance of Maximilian's, q.v., gold and silver from the palace. He escaped in the revolution of 1871 and joined the forces of Diaz, q.v. He was a determining factor in the winning of the revolution and was named full general and made secretary of War. In the latter position he did much to improve the Mexican army. He resigned his cabinet position in 1880 and was declared elected president and appointed Diaz as secretary of public works. His administration was distinguished by financial mismanagement which grew so bad that he was forced by Diaz to resign in 1884. He then served as governor of the state of Guanajuato. He was a member of the Supreme Council AASR of Mexico.

Tom C. Gooch (1880–1952) President of The Times Herald, Dallas, Texas, and editor in chief from 1910. b. Jan. 25, 1880 in Bonham, Tex., he was the great grandson of Mrs. Mabel Gilbert, the first white woman to come to Dallas. Began as a reporter on Ft. Wayne News (Ind.) and became associated with the Dallas Times in 1901. Member of Dallas Lodge No. 760, Dallas, Texas, receiving degrees on July 15, Sept. 21, 1903 and Mar. 4, 1904. In 1912 he affiliated with Trinity Valley Lodge No. 1048, Dallas, as a charter member; 32° AASR (SJ) and KCCH. d. June 13, 1952.

Edward E. Good (1862–1937) Justice, Supreme Court of Nebraska from 1923. b. May 13, 1862 in Bloomfield, Ia. Graduate of State U. of Iowa in 1885. Began law practice at Wahoo, Nebr. in same year. He affiliated Oct. 9, 1886 with Wahoo Lodge No. 59, Wahoo, Nebr. and was master of same in 1894. His original lodge is unknown. d. Aug. 4, 1937.

James W. Good (1866–1929) Secretary of War under President Hoover and U.S. Congressman, 61st to 67th Congresses (1909–23) from 5th Ia. dist. b. Sept. 24, 1866 at Cedar Rapids, Ia. He was a graduate of Coe Coll. (Ia.) and the U. of Michigan. He resigned from congress to practice law in Chicago. He was raised in Mt. Hermon Lodge No. 263 of Cedar Rapids, Ia. on Feb. 3, 1898 and received the 32° AASR (SJ) in that city on Feb. 8, 1909. d. Nov. 18, 1929 in Washington, D.C.

Albert G. Goodall (1826–1887) President of the American Bank Note Co. b. Oct. 31, 1826 at Montgomery, Ala. Orphaned at the age of 15, he entered the Texas navy as a midshipman, serving three years. In 1848 he moved to Philadelphia and learned copper plate engraving. He then went to New York and became associated with a firm which later became the American Bank Note Co. He was president of the company the last 12 years of his life. In 1858 he went to Europe on a business mission and returned with orders from many countries to make their currency. Greece was his first customer and Russia was next. He also secured orders from several South American countries. In 1860 he went to Russia to teach them the American method of engraving and was decorated by Alexander II. He was a proficient linguist and translated many foreign grand lodge proceedings for the American Craft. He was initiated in Montgomery Lodge No. 19, Philadelphia on Sept. 19, 1854 and was exalted in Jerusalem Chapter No. 3, R.A.M. of Philadelphia on Oct. 31, 1826. Made 33° AASR (NJ) Sept. 16, 1864 and active member May, 1867. d. Feb. 19, 1887.

Reginald H. Gooden Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. March 22, 1910 at Long Beach, Calif. Graduate of Stanford U. and Berkeley Divinity School (Conn.) and studied at U. of Madrid (Spain). Ordained to ministry in 1934. Served as dean of the Holy Trinity Cathedral in Havana, Cuba from 1939–45, and has been bishop of the missionary district of the church in the Panama Canal Zone since 1945. Mason.

John M. Goodenow (1782–1838) Judge, Supreme Court of Ohio from 1830. b. in Mass., he studied law and was admitted to the bar, practicing in Steubenville, Ohio where he developed a large practice. In 1819 he published American Jurisprudence in Contrast With the English Common Law. He was elected to U.S. congress in 1829, but resigned the following year to become supreme court judge. He was a member of Old Erie Lodge No. 3 of Ohio.

Frank R. Gooding (1859–1928) U.S. Senator from Idaho, 1921–28, dying in office. b. Sept. 16, 1859 in Teverton, England and came to the U.S. with parents in 1867. He went to Calif. at the age of 15, and to Idaho when 21, where he engaged in stock and farming business for 20 years, being one of the largest sheep raisers in the state and farming several thousand acres. He was governor of Idaho from 1905–07. He was a member of Lincoln Lodge No. 59, Gooding, Idaho, receiving the degrees on April 27, 1916, June 14 and June 28, 1917, and was a member of this lodge at the time of his death on June 24, 1928.

Walter S. Goodland (1862–1947) Governor of Wisconsin, 1943–47, dying in office. b. Dec. 22, 1862 at Sharon, Wis. Admitted to Wis. bar in 1885, and began practice at Wakefield, Mich. He founded the Wakefield Bulletin in 1887, and the Ironwood Times (Mich.) in 1889. He was part owner of the Beloit Daily News (Wis.), and became editor and publisher of the Racine Times (Wis.) in 1900. He was Samuel G. Goodrich state senator of Wis. from 1926–34; lieutenant governor from 1938–42. A member of Belle City Lodge No. 92, Racine, Wis., he received his degrees in Ironwood Lodge No. 389, Ironwood, Mich. on Nov. 7, 1889; April 26 and Sept. 25, 1890. He affiliated with the Ironwood Lodge on Sept. 28, 1926. d. March 12, 1947.

E. Urner Goodman Boy Scout Executive and Founder of Order of the Arrow in 1915. b. May 15, 1891 at Philadelphia, Pa. He became a scout field executive at Philadelphia in 1915, and was scout executive at Philadelphia from 1917–27, and at Chicago from 1927–31. He was national program director from 1931–51 and national field scout commissioner. He wrote Leaders Handbook for the Boy Scouts of America. Raised in Lamberton Lodge No. 487, Philadelphia, Pa. about 1917.

William M. Goodman Major General, U.S. Army. b. Sept. 8, 1892 at Norfolk, Va. Graduate of Virginia Military Inst. in 1912 and various army service schools. Advanced through grades from second lieutenant in 1916 to major general in 1944. Served overseas in WWI. He was on the General Staff from 1937–42, and in charge of supply division of New York port of embarkation until 1945, and then the San Francisco port of embarkation until 1946. Retired. Mason.

Aaron Goodrich (1807–?) First Chief Justice of the Minnesota Territory, 1849–51. b. July 6, 1807 in Sempronius, N.Y. Studied law and practiced in Tenn. where he was a member of the state legislature in 1847–48. In 1849 he was appointed chief justice of the newly organized territory of Minnesota by President Taylor. He subsequently practiced law in St. Paul, and after Minnesota achieved statehood, was on the commission to revise the laws and prepare a system of pleading and practice. In 1861 Lincoln appointed him secretary of the U.S. legation at Brussels, Belgium, and he served in that capacity for eight years. He was a member of Dover Lodge No. 39, Dover, Tenn. and later of St. Pauls Lodge No. 3, St. Paul, Minn., being past master of the same and deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Minnesota at his death. He was buried by the grand lodge.

Herbert F. Goodrich Judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals, Third Circuit since 1940. b. July 29, 1889 at Anoka, Minn. Graduate of Carleton Coll. (Minn.) and Harvard. Taught law at State U. of Iowa, U. of Michigan; U. of Pennsylvania. He has edited and written for many bar journals. Mason.

James P. Goodrich (1864–1940) Governor of Indiana, 1917–21. b. Feb. 18, 1864 at Winchester, Ind. Educated at Notre Dame, De Pauw, and Wabash. Admitted to Indiana bar in 1886, practicing in Winchester and Indianapolis. He was chairman of the Republican state central committee for ten years, and of the national executive committee eight years. He was a member of the executive committee of the Great Lakes–St. Lawrence Tide Water Assn., chairman of the Indiana–St. Lawrence Waterways Commission, and appointed by president as member of the international St. Lawrence Waterways Commission. Received his degrees in Winchester Lodge No.

56, Winchester, Ind. on Feb. 20, May 14, June 23, 1892 and in 1902 became a charter member of Summers Lodge No. 638 at Winchester. d. Aug. 15, 1940.

Samuel G. Goodrich (1793–1860) American author who wrote under the pen name of “Peter Parley.” b. Aug. 19, 1793 in Ridgefield, Conn. After traveling abroad, he settled in Hartford, Conn. where he published books, particularly juveniles. He then moved to Boston where from 1828–42 he edited the original annual, The Token. The encouragement he gave to young writers became proverbial. Among these was Nathaniel Hawthorne. He served in the Mass. senate in 1838–39, and from 1841–54 edited Merry’s Museum and Parley’s Magazine. From 1851–55 he was U.S. consul in Paris, France by appointment of Fillmore. He published about 200 volumes, 170 of which were under the name of “Peter Parley.” He retired from active authorship in 1859. Member of St. John’s Lodge No. 4, Hartford, Conn. d. May 9, 1860.

Angier L. Goodwin U.S. Congressman, 78th to 81st Congresses (1943–50) from 8th Mass. dist. b. Jan. 30, 1881 at Fairfield, Maine. Graduate of Colby Coll. and Harvard U. Admitted to Maine bar in 1905 and practiced in Boston from 1906. Served in both state legislative bodies. Member of Fidelity Lodge of Melrose, Mass. and past master of same. Member of Waverly Chapter, R.A.M., Melrose Council, R. & S.M. and Hugh de Payens Commandery, K.T. all of Melrose; Past master of the council; 32° AASR (NJ) in Boston; member of Shrine and Eastern Star.

Frederick D. Goodwin Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. Nov. 5, 1888 in Cismont, Va. Graduate of William and Mary Coll. and Virginia Theol. Sem. Ordained deacon in 1917, and priest in 1918, serving churches and parishes in Virginia. In 1930 he was named bishop coadjutor of Virginia, and has been bishop of Virginia since 1944. Mason.

Godfrey G. Goodwin (1873–1933) U.S. Congressman, 69th to 72nd Congresses (1925–33) from 10th Minn. dist. b. Jan. 11, 1873 at Nicollet Co., Minn. Graduate of U. of Minnesota in 1895. Admitted to bar in 1896 and practiced at Cambridge, Minn. Raised on Jan. 16, 1920 in Helios Lodge No. 273, Cambridge, Minn. 32° AASR (NJ) and Shriner. d. Feb. 16, 1933.

Ichabod Goodwin (1796–1882) Governor of New Hampshire, 1859–61. b. Oct. 10, 1796 at North Berwick, N.H. He entered the service of Samuel Lord, a merchant and ship-owner of Portsmouth, and became master of a ship, following the sea until 1832, when he established himself as a merchant in Portsmouth. He served six terms in the state legislature between 1838–56. He also served on two constitutional conventions. He became a member of St. Johns Lodge No. 1, Portsmouth on Nov. 1, 1819. d. July 4, 1882.

Philip A. Goodwin (1882–1937) U.S. Congressman, 73rd and 74th Congresses (1933–36) from 27th N.Y. dist. b. Jan. 20, 1882 at Athens, N.Y. Engaged in lumber and construction business. Received his degrees in Wadsworth Lodge No. 417, Albany, N.Y. on Jan. 23, Feb. 7, Feb. 27, 1907 and on April 16, 1917 affiliated with Ark Lodge No. 48, Coxsackie, N.Y. In 1921–22 he was district deputy grand master of Greene–Ulster district; 32° AASR (NJ). d. June 6, 1937.

Alvin L. Gorby Major General, U.S. Army Medical Corps. Surgeon with the 10th Corps at Inchon landing in Korea. Member of Takoma Lodge No. 29, Takoma Park, D.C.

George Gordon (see Earl of Aboyne).

George H. Gordon (1825–1886) Union Major General in Civil War. b. July 19, 1825 at Charlestown, Mass. He was graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1846, and took part in the Mexican War, seeing action at the battles of Cerro Gordo, Vera Cruz, Contreras, Chapultepec, and Mexico City. He was twice wounded. He was on frontier duty from 1850–54, resigning in the latter year. He then studied law and entered practice in Boston. At the beginning of the Civil War, he raised the 2nd Mass. regiment and became its colonel. He fought at the second battle of Bull Run, Antietam; Virginia, and Maryland campaigns; military governor of Harper's Ferry; opened communications with Little Rock, Ark. by the White river, and took part in the actions against Charleston and Mobile. He was made brigadier general in 1862 and major general in 1865. He retired to his law practice at Boston and published several books on the Civil War. Member of Bunker Hill Army Lodge No. 5 of Mass. d. Aug. 30, 1886.

John B. Gordon (1832–1904) Governor and U.S. Senator from Georgia; Lieutenant General in Confederate Army. b. Feb. 6, 1832 in Upson Co., Ga. Attended U. of Georgia and admitted to bar. He rose from captain to lieutenant general in the Confederate Army, and was shot eight times, being severely wounded at Antietam. He was U.S. senator from 1873–80 and 1891–97. He was governor of Georgia from 1887–90. At one time he was commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans. A Mason, his lodge is not known, but thought to have been in Atlanta. He was a visitor to Cherokee Lodge No. 66 at Rome, Ga., on two occasions.

Sir Robert Gordon-Gilmour Brigadier General in the British Army and 81st Grand Master Mason of Scotland from 1917–19.

Thomas F. Gordon (1787–1860) Historian and author. b. in Philadelphia, Pa., he was a member of the Philadelphia bar, but devoted much of his time to historical and archaeological research. Among his writings are Digest of the Laws of the United States; History of Pennsylvania From Its Discovery to 1776; History of New Jersey From Its Discovery to 1789; History of America; Cabinet of American History; History of Ancient Mexico and others. Member of Columbia Lodge No. 91, Philadelphia. d. Jan. 17. 1860.

William C. Gordon Banker and Grand Master of the Grand Encampment, Knights Templar, 1952–55. b. Aug. 11, 1878 at Waverly, Mo. Graduate of Missouri Valley Coll. and Harvard U. After a period of teaching school, he succeeded his father as president of the Farmers Savings Bank of Marshall, Mo. He has served as treasurer, vice president and president of the Missouri Bankers Association and organized the agricultural work of that organization. He served a number of years on the agriculture commission and executive council of the American Bankers' Association. He has served as president of the Marshall Chamber of Commerce and a member of the board of trustees of Missouri Valley Coll. as well as president of John Fitzgibbons Hospital. He was raised Feb. 12, 1900 in Trilumina Lodge No. 205 of Marshall and served as master in 1913; exalted in Saline Chapter No. 74, R.A.M. on July 12, 1900, he served as high priest in 1911; greeted in Centralia Council No. 34, Jan. 19, 1914 and knighted in Missouri Commandery No. 36, K.T. of Marshall on Aug. 22, 1900, serving as commander in 1912 and grand commander of Missouri in 1932-33. d. Jan. 10, 1959.

Christopher Gore (1758-1827) Governor and U.S. Senator from Massachusetts. b. Sept. 21, 1758 in Boston. His father was banished as a loyalist in 1778, but was restored to citizenship in 1787. He was graduated from Harvard in 1776, and acquired a lucrative law practice in Boston. In 1789 Washington appointed him the first district attorney for Mass. and he held the office until 1796. He spent eight years in London, first to settle American claims, and later as charge d'affaires. He returned to Boston in 1804, and was appointed governor of Mass. in 1809, serving one year. He served in both branches of the state legislature, and in 1813, was elected U.S. senator, serving until 1816. For a time he was Daniel Webster's tutor in law. He left valuable bequests to several organizations, including Harvard, which named its library building for him. He was a member of Massachusetts Lodge of Boston, being admitted Feb. 13, 1781. d. March 1, 1827.

Howard M. Gore (1887–1947) Secretary of Agriculture in Coolidge cabinet (1924–25) and Governor of West Virginia, 1925–29. b. Oct. 12, 1887 at Clarksburg, W.Va. Graduate of West Virginia U. in 1900. He was in agriculture and livestock raising as well as hotel, banking, and mercantile business. He served as assistant secretary of agriculture in 1923–24, and was commissioner of agriculture for W.Va. in 1931–33. He was active in many national farm organizations and was a founder and patron of boys' and girls' organization work. He was a member of Hermon Lodge No. 6, Clarksburg, W.Va. d. June 20, 1947.

George Gorham American captain of the Revolution who helped stretch the cable across the Hudson river to obstruct the British in their attempt to get ships up the river. Member of King Hiram Lodge No. 12, Derby, Conn.

Howard W. Gorham Established the Perfect Craftsmen Quarry Degree in 1919 as degree for Fellowcraft clubs. b. Oct. 7, 1888 in South Norwalk, Conn. Worked for Bridgeport Brass Co. from 1905–24 rising to production manager. In 1924 he succeeded his father as owner and manager of The Gorham Press, Inc. at South Norwalk. He wrote the 36 page ritual for the Perfect Craftsmen in code. Its use has spread to 40 clubs in Conn. and to numerous states. In 1922 he organized the first chapter of DeMolay in New England at Bridgeport. He organized the Norwalk Lions Club; formed organization committee which founded Norwalk Everyman's Bible Class (enrollment of 600); started Norwalk Chamber of Commerce; formed committee to establish Norwalk Community Chest; started Norwalk Town Hall Association; organized committee for better housing for Negroes; organized the Carver Foundation, Inc. in Norwalk; organized United War and Community Fund of Norwalk; and founded the Norwalk Historical Society. Raised in St. John's Lodge No. 3, Bidgeport on May 24, 1911; exalted in Jerusalem Chapter No. 13, R.A.M. in 1913; greeted in Jerusalem Council No. 16 R. & S.M. in 1913. Made honorary life member of his lodge in 1922 for service to Freemasonry. Knighted in Clinton Commandery No. 3, K.T., Norwalk in 1936. Received AASR (NJ) 32° in 1937 and 33° on Sept. 25, 1957. Received the National Cross of Honor from DeMolay in 1930; Shriner and member of Grotto.

William A. Gorman (1814–1876) Union Brigadier General in Civil War, and Territorial Governor of Minnesota. b. Jan. 12, 1814 near Flemingsburg, Ky. A graduate of the U. of Indiana, he was admitted to the bar and practiced in Bloomington, Ind. He served in the Mexican War as a major and colonel with the 4th Indiana regiment which he commanded in several battles. He was severely wounded at Buena Vista. In 1848 he was civil and military governor of Puebla. From 1849–53 he was U.S. Congressman from Indiana. In 1853 he was appointed governor of the territory of Minnesota and ex-officio superintendent of Indians, holding the offices until 1857. He practiced law in St. Paul until 1861 when he was appointed brigadier general of volunteers. He led a bayonet charge at Fair Oaks and commanded a brigade at South Mountain and Antietam. He was mustered out of service in 1864 and returned to St. Paul to practice law. He became a member of Federal Lodge No. 1, Washington, D.C. on July 2, 1850. d. May 20, 1876.

John Gorrie (1803–1855) American inventor. b. in Charleston, S.C. On May 6, 1851 he took out a patent on an artificial refrigeration process containing the basic principle of present day mechanical refrigerators. His statue appears in Statuary Hall of the U.S. Capitol. A bridge, a high school, an elementary school, a chapter of Order of Eastern Star, and a Liberty ship were named in his honor. He was a physician. He was a charter member of Franklin Lodge No. 6, Apalachicola, Fla. and was later its secretary and treasurer.

Henry H. Gorringe (1841–1885) U.S. Naval Commander who brought the famous Egyptian obelisk in New York's Central Park to America in 1880. b. Aug. 11, 1841 in Barbados, W.I., he came to U.S. at an early age and entered the merchant marine service. He served through the Civil War with distinction, rising in rank from a common sailor to lieutenant commander in 1868. He commanded the sloop Portsmouth in the South Atlantic, and in 1876–78 the Gettysburg in the Mediterranean. When the Egyptian government presented the obelisk to the U.S., Gorringe was given charge of transporting it to America. William H. Vanderbilt paid for the expense of its removal ($103,732). Gorringe dug it out of the old location by removing 1,730 cubic yards of earth. Then by an ingenious device of his own invention, lowered it to a horizontal position and cut a hole in the iron steamer Dessoug, purchased from the Egyptian government, through which the obelisk was placed in the hold. The 69 foot shaft which was erected by Thothmes III at Heliopolis about 1600 B.C. was removed to Alexandria in 22 B.C. It has often been claimed that the stone has “Ma-sonic” markings on its base. Subsequently Gorringer criticized naval matters in public, and when called to account, offered his resignation, which was accepted. He then entered the shipbuilding field, but his venture failed. He was a member of Anglo-Saxon Lodge No. 137 of New York City. The lodge at one time tendered him a reception. d. July 7, 1885 as the result of an accident.

Freeman F. Gosden Radio entertainer. The “Amos” of Amos and Andy show. b. May 5, 1899 at Richmond. Va. He began as a tobacco salesman. He became associated with Charles J. Correll in the promotion of amateur theatricals. In 1925 they started their famous comedy team as Sam n’ Henry with radio station WGN, Chicago, and two years later they transferred to station WMAQ of Chicago, under the title of Amos and Andy. Broadcast over a national network since 1929, it has probably had the longest life of any show on radio. Gosden is a member of Petersburg Lodge No. 15, Petersburg, Va., affiliating on June 30, 1922.

Charles A. Goss (1863–1938) Chief Justice Supreme Court of Nebraska, 1927–38. b. Dec. 10, 1863 at Edinburg, Ohio. Graduate of Mt. Union Coll. (Ohio). Admitted to bar in 1887, and practiced at Omaha until 1920. He served as U.S. attorney and district judge. Member of Covert Lodge No. 11, Omaha, Nebr., receiving degrees on March 13, April 22, June 15, 1895; 32° AASR. d. Aug. 13, 1938.

Evan B. Goss (1872–1930) Justice Supreme Court of North Dakota, 1911–16. b. Dec. 8, 1872 at Rockford, Mich. Graduate of U. of Michigan. Practiced law first at Bottineau, and later Minot, N.D. Raised Sept. 9, 1898 in Tuscan Lodge No. 44, Bottineau, N.D.; exalted Jan. 23, 1902 in Mystic Chapter No. 13, R.A.M., Towner, N.D.; charter member June 30, 1904 of Phoenicia Chapter No. 17, R.A.M., Bottineau; affiliated Jan. 14, 1913 with Bismarck Chapter No. 10, R.A.M. Bismarck, N.D.; greeted June 28, 1917 in Lebanon Council No. 2, R. & S.M., Rugby, ND.; knighted April 23, 1906 in DeMolay Commandery No. 10, K.T., Minot, N.D. Charter member, Nov. 1909 of Kern Shrine Temple at Grand Forks, N.D. d. March 23, 1930.

Benjamin B. Gossett Cotton textile executive. b. Aug. 18, 1884 at Williamston, S.C. In cotton manufacturing since 1907, he has been president of the following companies at one time or another: Riverside Mfg. Co.; Toxaway Mills; Panola Cotton Mills; Cohannet Mills; Chadwick–Hoskins Co.; Martinsville Cotton Mill Co.; Gossett Mills; Calhoun Mills; Hoskins Corp. He has also been a director or officer in 19 other corporations. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Charles C. Gossett Former Governor of Idaho. b. Dec. 2, 1888 at Hillsboro, Ore. He received his degrees in 1921 in Golden Rule Lodge No. 147, Nyssa, Ore.; suspended in 1935, he reinstated in May, 1937, and dimitted in Dec. 1937, to affiliate with Ashlar Lodge No. 90 of Nampa, Idaho on June 24, 1938.

Frank C. Goudy (1881–1944) Justice, Supreme Court of Colorado, 1942–44. b. Feb. 16, 1881 at Ouray, Colo. Graduate of Stanford and Columbia universities. Admitted to Colorado bar in 1915. Raised April 13, 1891 in Union Lodge No. 7, Denver, Colo.; exalted in Denver Chapter No. 2, Jan. 16, 1892; affiliated with Colorado Chapter No. 29, Denver, on Sept. 21, 1893; knighted in Colorado Commandery No. 1, on May 2, 1892 and affiliated with Coronal Commandery No. 36, Denver on Sept. 21, 1917. Member of consistory in Denver. d. Oct. 14, 1944.

Arthur R. Gould (1857–1946) U.S. Senator from Maine, 1926–31. b. March 16, 1857 at East Corinth, Maine. Engaged in lumber business at Presque Isle and built an electric railroad from that city to Caribou. He was president of the Aroostook Valley Railroad. He served one term in the Maine senate. Raised June 3, 1889 in Trinity Lodge No. 130, Presque Isle, Maine, from which he dimitted on Dec. 21, 1931; exalted Oct. 25, 1889 in Garfield Chapter No. 48, R.A.M. at Caribou from which he dimitted on March 13, 1936; greeted on Feb. 20, 1891 in St. Croix Council No. 11, R. & S.M., Calais, dimitting on March 10, 1892 to become a charter member of Aroostock Council No. 16, Presque Isle; knighted Jan. 3, 1890 in St. Aldermar Commandery No. 17, K.T., Houlton; joined Kora Shrine Temple March 19, 1903 and dimitted to Anah Temple in 1921. d. July 24, 1946.

Benjamin A. Gould (1824–1896) American astronomer. A graduate of Harvard in 1844, he founded the Astronomical Journal in 1849, which he edited until 1861, and again from 1886–96. He was director of the longitude determinations of the U.S. Coast Survey of 1852–67, and director of the Dudley Observatory of Albany, N.Y. from 1855–59. At the invitation of the Argentina government, he instituted the national observatory at Cordoba in 1870. While there, he made an extended study of the magnitudes of the southern stars, which was published in Uranometrica Argentina in 1879. He was a member of St. Andrew's Lodge of Boston and a 33° AASR (NJ).

Robert Freke Gould (1836–1915) English soldier and Masonic historian. He entered the British Army at the age of 18 in 1854, and the same year was commissioned as a lieutenant, serving with distinction in North China in 1860–62. On his return to England, he studied law and qualified as a barrister in 1868. He was initiated in Royal Navy Lodge No. 429 at Ramsgate in 1854. He joined the Friendship Lodge at Gibraltar in 1857, and also served as master of Inhabitants' Lodge No. 153 at Gibraltar. He was first master of Meridian Lodge No. 743, a military lodge attached to his regiment. Traveling to different countries with his regiment, Gould continued his Masonic activities wherever he went. In 1863 he was master of Northern Lodge No. 570 of China, and was grand "Z" of Zion Chapter No. 570, R.A.M. in Shanghai in 1865. Returning to England in 1865, he became a member of Moira Lodge No. 92 and served as its master as well as head of Moira Chapter No. 92, R.A.M., in 1874. He was a founder of the famous Quatour Coronati Lodge No. 2076 of London, in 1884, and became its second master in 1887. He was appointed senior grand deacon of the Grand Lodge of England in 1868, and served many years on the board of general purposes. In his Masonic writings he set a high standard of scholarship. In 1879 he wrote The Four Old Lodges and in 1899 Military Lodges. His greatest work is his History of Freemasonry, published in three volumes from 1882 to 1887. It has since been revised twice, first in five volumes by Dudley Wright, and again in four volumes by the Rev. Herbert Poole. The third edition is considered better than the first. He also published A Concise History of Freemasonry in 1903. d. March 25, 1915.

John J. J. Gourgass (1777–1865) First Secretary General and third Sovereign Grand Commander of the Northern Jurisdiction, AASR. b. May 23, 1777 of French Huguenot parents in Geneva, Switzerland. The family, fleeing from persecution, later moved to England and then to Mass. in 1803. He was initiated in La Union Francaise Lodge No. 14 (now 17) of New York City on May 19, 1806. On July 29, 1806 he became a member of the Sovereign Chapter of Rose Croix at New York, and on Aug. 4, 1806 received the 32° from Antoine Bideau. When Bideau established a grand consistory two days later, Gourgass was its secretary. On Aug. 5, 1813, Emanuel De La Motta established the Northern Supreme Council, and Gourgass was elevated to the rank of sovereign grand inspector general, 33°, and became the first grand secretary general. In 1832 he became grand commander and served in that position until Aug. 25, 1851. His memory is perpetuated in the northern jurisdiction by the Gourgass Medal, the highest honor it confers. d. Feb. 14, 1865.

Thomas E. Grady Judge, Supreme Court of Washington, 1942–45. b. Nov. 19, 1880 at Chippewa Falls, Wis. Graduate of U. of Minnesota in 1904. Admitted to Washington bar in 1905; he was judge of the superior court of Washington from 1911–17. Mason and 32° AASR (SJ).

Theodore Graebner (1876–1950) Anti-Masonic writer. b. Nov. 23, 1876 at Watertown, Wis. Graduate of Luther Coll., New Ulm, Minn. in 1893, Concordia Coll., Ft. Wayne, Ind., 1894, and Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, 1897. Was a professor of theology at Concordia Theological Seminary, St. Louis, from 1914. Member and ordained minister of the Missouri Lutheran Synod. He was editor of the Lutheran Witness from 1914–49, and Bible Student from 1921. Wrote many anti-Masonic tracts and pamphlets which represented the Missouri Synod's attitude towards Freemasonry including Is Masonry a Religion? in 1946. d. Nov. 14, 1950.

David C. Graham Clergyman, scientist. b. March 21, 1884 at Green Forest, Ark. From 1911 to 1948 he was an evangelistic and educational missionary to China. He taught in the West China Union U. and was curator of the museum of that institution. He was a collector for the Smithsonian Institution and sent them many natural history specimens, including many new species and nine new genera. He also collected two live pandas which were presented by the Chinese government to the American people in 1941. He has written several books on the life and religion of Szechwan Province, China. Mason.

Horace F. Graham (1862–1941) Governor of Vermont, 1917–19. b. Feb. 7, 1862 in New York City. Graduate (cum laude) of Columbia Law School in 1888. He practiced law at Crafts-bury, Vt. He served as state's attorney, and in the state legislature for two terms. In 1900 he was a presidential elector. From 1902-17 he was auditor of accounts for Vermont. He was a member and past master of Meridian Sun Lodge No. 20 of Crafts-bury, Vt. d. Nov. 23, 1941.

J. Clark Graham President of Yankton College (S.D.) 1945-54. b. Feb. 9, 1894 at Aledo, Ill. Graduate of Grinnell Coll. (Ia.) and Columbia U. He was with Ripon Coll. (Wis.) from 1916-45, successively as instructor in English, associate professor, professor and head of dept. of psychology and education. Since 1954 he has been English professor at Drury Coll. (Mo.). He became a member of Lafayette Lodge No. 52 at Montezuma, Ia. in 1915 and received the 32° AASR (SJ) at Yankton, S.D. on Nov. 21, 1948.

Louis E. Graham U.S. Congressman to 76th to 80th Congresses (1939-49) from 25th Pa. dist. b. Aug. 4, 1880 in New Castle, Pa. Graduate of Washington and Jefferson Coll. in 1901, he began law practice in Beaver, Pa. He was U.S. attorney of the Western district of Pa. from 1929-33, and special assistant to U.S. attorney general in 1934-35. Received degrees in St. James Lodge No. 457, Beaver, Pa. on March 16, April 13, May 18, 1905; life member, past master in 1909; and secretary from 1911-19. Life member of Eureka Chapter No. 167, R.A.M., Rochester, Pa. and member of Beaver Valley Council No. 54, R. & S.M. and Beaver Valley Commandery No. 84, K.T., both of Beaver Falls, Pa. Life member and 32° AASR (NJ) at New Castle, Pa. Life member of Syria Shrine Temple at Pittsburgh and honorary member of Almas Temple in Washington, D.C.

William J. Graham (1872–1936) Presiding Judge of U.S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, Washington from 1924. b. Feb. 7, 1872 at New Castle, Pa. Graduate of U. of Illinois in 1893 and practiced law at Aledo, Ill. from 1895. Member of the 65th to 68th congresses (1917–25) from 14th Ill. dist. Member of Aledo Lodge No. 252 at Aledo, Ill., receiving degrees on May 14, June 25 and Oct. 22, 1895 and serving as master in 1899. d. Nov. 10, 1936.

Elijah S. Grammer (1868–1936) U.S. Senator from Washington, 1932–33. b. April 3, 1868 in Hickory Co., Mo. In logging and construction business in Washington most of his life. President and manager of Grammer Investment Co. Mason. d. Nov. 21, 1936.

George McInvale Grant U.S. Congressman to 75th to 81st Congresses (1939–51) from 2nd Ala. dist. b. July 11, 1897 at Louisville, Ala. Graduate of U. of Alabama in 1922, and admitted to bar in same year, practicing in Troy. Served in U.S. Army in WWI. Was state commander of the American Legion in 1929 and national secretary of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity from 1922–25. Mason and Shriner.

James Grant (1720–1806) British General and First Governor of Florida under English rule. b. in Ballendalloch, Scotland. He was a major of the Montgomerie Highlanders in 1757. In 1758 he led 800 men to reconnoiter Fort Duquesne, but was surprised and defeated with a loss of 295. He was appointed governor of East Florida in 1760, and lieutenant colonel of the 40th Foot. He defeated the Cherokee Indians in a severe battle at Etchoe in 1761. In the Revolutionary War he commanded the 4th and 6th British brigades at the battle of Long Island in Aug. 1776. In December of that year, Lord Howe gave him command of the British troops in N.J. at a critical period, and the American victories of Trenton and Princeton followed. In 1777 he was made a major general and commanded the 2nd brigade. He fought at Brandywine and Germantown, and in 1778 was detached with a strong force to cut off Lafayette on the Schuylkill, but was unsuccessful. He defeated Lee at Monmouth and shortly thereafter sailed for the French West Indies in command of the troops in that sector. He was made governor of Stirling Castle and a lieutenant general in 1782, and full general in 1796. While in Florida, Grant, with three others, petitioned the Grand Lodge of Scotland for a charter to establish Grant's East Florida Lodge at St. Augustine. It was also requested that Grant be commissioned as the provincial grand master over the lodges in the southern district of North America. The petition was granted March 15, 1768. In 1771, Grant as grand master, issued a charter to St. Andrew's Lodge No. 1, at Pensacola, West Florida, formed by ten brethren who belonged to Lodge No. 108 of Scottish registry to be held in the 31st Regiment of Foot of the British Army. This lodge continued for ten years until the city and port were captured by the Spaniards in 1781. When Florida was ceded back to Spain in 1783, in exchange for the Bahama Islands, the English settlers abandoned their homes, and the Grand Lodge of the Southern District of North America ceased to exist. d. April 13, 1806.

Jesse R. Grant Father of Ulysses S. Grant, q.v. Member of Bethel Lodge No. 61, Bethel, Ohio.

Robert A. Grant U.S. Congressman to 76th to 80th Congresses (1939–49) from 3rd Ind. dist. b. July 31, 1905 in Marshall Co., Ind. Graduate of U. of Notre Dame in 1928 and 1930. Admitted to bar and practiced in South Bend in 1930. Member of South Bend Lodge No. 294 at South Bend, Ind., receiving his degrees on Feb. 8, Feb. 15 and March 8, 1935. Shriner.

Ulysses S. Grant (1822–1885) Eighteenth President of the United States. Not a Freemason, although he had a number of close associations with the craft. His father, Jesse R. Grant, was a member of Bethel Lodge No. 61, Bethel, Ohio and his father-in-law, Lewis Dent, was a member of Amith Lodge No. 5, Zanesville, Ohio. Even Grant's original name had Masonic significance for he was baptized Hiram Ulysses. His mother was Hannah Simpson, who married Jesse R. Grant in June, 1821, in Clermont Co., Ohio. When Thomas L. Hamer, q.v., appointed him to West Point, he did not know that he was known by his middle name and he presumed his middle name was from his mother's family, so his official appointment was in the name of Ulysses S. When Grant called it to the attention of the West Point officials, they did not feel authorized to correct it, and it became the name by which he was known.

A.F.A. de Grasse-Tilly (See under de Grasse).

Charles Gratiot (1788–1855) Brigadier General in War of 1812. b. in Missouri. A graduate of the U.S. Military Academy in 1806, he served with distinction in War of 1812 as chief engineer with Harrison's army. He was engaged in the defense of Fort Meigs in 1813 and the attack on Fort Mackinack in 1814. In 1815 he was superintendent of the fortifications on the Delaware River, and later those in Hampton Roads, Va. He was breveted brigadier general in 1828, and appointed inspector of West Point, holding that office for ten years. He was dismissed for having failed to pay into the treasury certain balances of money placed in his hands for public purposes. After holding a clerkship in the land office at Washington, D.C. from 1840–55, he went to St. Louis, where he died destitute. Fort Gratiot on the St. Clair River in Michigan and the villages of Gratiot in Michigan and Wisconsin were named for him. He was senior warden of Comfort Lodge No. 143 (now defunct) at Old Point Comfort, Va. d. in St. Louis May 18, 1855.

Henry Grattan (1746–1820) Irish orator and statesman. b. in Dublin, he was called to the Irish bar in 1772. He was a member of the Irish parliament from 1775–97, and of the British parliament from 1805–20. He was a champion of Irish independence and Catholic emancipation. He particularly opposed the union with England in 1800. He was elected a member of First Volunteer Lodge of Ireland in 1784.

John J. Gravatt Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. Oct. 3, 1881 at Hampton, Va. Graduate of U. of Virginia in 1903. He taught school for two years and was ordained a deacon in 1908, and priest in 1909. He was rector in Rapidan, Va. and Frankfort, Ky., and a chaplain in the U.S. Army overseas in WWI. After the war he was rector in Staunton, Va. until 1939 when named bishop of Upper South Carolina. Mason.

Bib Graves (1873–1942) Governor of Alabama, 1927–31 and 1935–39. b. April 1, 1873 at Hope Hull, Ala. Graduate of U. of Alabama and Yale. Admitted to bar in 1897 and practiced at Montgomery. Served as Colonel in WWI. He was adjutant general of Alabama from 1907–11. He was raised in Andrew Jackson Lodge No. 173 of Montgomery in Feb., 1897 and received the 32° AASR (SJ) Oct. 7, 1921 at Montgomery and KCCH Oct. 18, 1927. d. March 14, 1942.

Duncan M. Gray Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. May 5, 1898 at Meridian, Miss. Graduate of U. of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. in 1925. Ordained deacon in 1925, and priest in 1926, serving as rector of churches in Rosedale, Cleveland, Canton, Lexington, Columbus, Macon, Greenwood, and Winona (all Miss.) until he was elected bishop of Mississippi in 1943. Mason.

Gordon Gray Secretary of the Army, 1949–50. b. May 30, 1909 at Baltimore, Md., he graduated from the U. of North Carolina and Yale. He practiced law in N.C. and published the Winston–Salem Journal and Twin City Sentinel. He also operated radio station WSJS from 1935–47. He was assistant secretary of the Army from 1947–49. For eight months in 1950 he was special assistant to the president of the U.S. In 1950 he was president of the U. of North Carolina. He was assistant secretary of defense for internal security affairs from 1955–57 and since 1957 has been director of the office of defense mobilization. He served in the Army 1942–45, first as a private and later an officer. Member of Winston Lodge No. 167, he received his degrees on April 12, July 12 and Aug. 2, 1940.

Harold Gray Cartoonist and creator of Little Orphan Annie. b. Jan. 20, 1894 at Kankakee, Ill. Graduate of Purdue U. in 1917. He joined the staff of the Chicago Tribune as an artist in 1917 and entered the Army in 1918. Discharged as a second lieutenant in 1918, he returned to the Tribune. In 1920 he started his own commercial art studio and was assistant to Sidney Smith on The Gumps cartoon. He began drawing his famous Little Orphan Annie strip in 1924. It first appeared in the New York News and Chicago Tribune, but is now published in more than 250 newspapers. Charter member of Lombard Lodge No. 1098, Lombard, Ill., where he still maintains membership.

Cary T. Grayson (1878–1938) Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Oct. 11, 1878 in Culpepper Co., Va. Graduate of the U. of the South, Medical College of Virginia and U.S. Naval Medical School. Commissioned assistant surgeon in 1903, he was promoted to medical director with rank of rear admiral in 1916. He was surgeon on the presidential yacht, Mayflower, and was attending and consulting physician at the Naval dispensary in Washington during the Roosevelt and Taft administrations. He was physician to President Wilson. In 1935 he was chairman of the American National Red Cross. He retired from the Navy in 1928. He was raised in Temple

Noyes Lodge No. 32, Washington, D.C. on July 13, 1911. d. Feb. 15, 1938.

John Greaton (1741–1783) Brigadier General in Revolutionary War. b. March 10, 1741 in Roxbury, Mass. Before the war he was an innkeeper and officer of militia in Roxbury. On July 12, 1775 he was appointed colonel of the 24th regiment, and the following October, colonel of the 36th. Still later he became colonel of the 3rd Mass. regiment on the continental establishment. During the siege of Boston he led an expedition which destroyed the buildings on Long Island in Boston harbor. On April 15, 1776 he was ordered to Canada and in December joined Washington in N.J., and was afterwards transferred to Heath's division at West Point. Congress made him a brigadier general Jan. 7, 1783. It is thought that he was admitted a member of Masters' Lodge of Albany, N.Y. in 1777, while stationed at West Point. He was present in American Union lodge as a visitor on June 24, 1779. d. Dec. 16, 1783. G.L. of Mass. met in his tavern in 1761. Was J.W. of Washington Lodge No. 10 (Military) in the Mass. brigade when organized at West Point in 1779.

Horace Greeley (1811–1872) American journalist, political leader and anti-Mason. b. in Amherst, N.H. He moved to New York in 1831, where with Jonas Winchester, he founded the New Yorker, a weekly journal, in 1834. In 1841 he founded the New York Tribune and merged the two papers. The Tribune was an outstanding success and in turn it gave him influence in molding thought in the people of the North. He supported the Free Soil movement; encouraged antislavery sentiment; supported the administration in the Civil War. After the war, he was an advocate of universal amnesty and suffrage, believing that the long imprisonment of Jefferson Davis without trial was a violation of Davis' constitutional rights. He accepted the nomination for the presidency by a body of liberal Republicans and was endorsed by the Democrats, but badly beaten in the election of 1872. His biographer, Patton, thus refers to his attitude on Freemasonry: "Our apprentice (Greeley) embraced the anti-Masonic side of this controversy, and embraced it warmly. It was natural that he should. And for the next two or three years he expended more breath in denouncing the Order of Freemasons, than upon any other subject—perhaps than on all other subjects put together. To this day secret societies are his special aversion."

Adolphus W. Greely (1844–1935) Arctic Explorer and Major General, U.S. Army. b. March 27, 1844 at Newburyport, Mass. He served in the Civil War from private to major and was three times wounded. After the war he remained in the army and rose to brigadier general and chief signal officer in 1887, and major general in 1906. From 1876–79 he constructed 2,000 miles of telegraph line in Texas, Dakotas, and Montana. In 1881 he was placed in charge of a U.S. expedition to establish a chain of 13 circumpolar stations, and his party of 25 reached the northernmost point yet achieved (83° 23'), and discovered new land north of Greenland, crossing Grinnell Land to the Polar Sea. Two relief parties failed to reach them, and by the time the third party found them, all but seven had starved to death. He was later in charge of building telegraph lines in Cuba, China, Philippines, and Alaska. He was in charge of relief operations in the San Francisco earthquake of 1906. He authored many books including Three Years of Arctic Service; Handbook of Polar Discoveries; and Polar Regions in the Twentieth Century. A member of St. Marks Lodge of Newburyport, Mass., he was knighted in Newburyport Commandery, K.T. on June 17, 1867, and on June 24, following, carried the banner of the commandery in the procession in Boston at the occasion of the dedication of the Masonic temple. He was made an honorary member of Kane Lodge No. 454 (the explorer's lodge) of New York City. The lodge tendered him a reception, April 28, 1885, and he was given an illuminated certificate of membership in the lodge. While at Fort Conger, Grinnell Land, he made a Masonic flag which was carried by Lieutenant Lockwood and Sergeant Brainard of his command, to the shores of the Polar Sea on the Northwest coast of Greenland, and there displayed at Lockwood Island on May 13th and 15th. It was afterwards presented to Kane Lodge No. 454, New York City.

Allen P. Green (1876–1956) Founder of the world's largest fire brick company. b. in Jefferson City, Mo. on a site now included in the state capitol grounds. Shortly after he was graduated from the Missouri School of Mines at Rolla, he bought a local company in Mexico, Mo. and built the world's largest fire brick plant—the A. P. Green Fire Brick Co. He expanded the company into an international industry, with 15 domestic and Canadian plants. Its sales organization has reached into 54 foreign countries. He pioneered many developments in the refractories industry, and was the leader in making Missouri the fire clay center of the world. In 1928 he gave $100,000 to the School of the Ozarks at Hollister, Mo. He was a national director of both the Y.M.C.A. and the Boy Scouts; director of the Wabash Railroad; vice president of the Missouri State Historical Society, and a member of the advisory board which developed the Missouri Conservation Commission. An enthusiastic Freemason, he gave of his time and money to Masonic purposes. The lot on which the new Masonic Temple in Mexico stands is his gift to the local bodies of that city. He was a member of Hebron Lodge No. 354, Mexico Chapter No. 27, R.A.M. and Crusade Commandery No. 23, K.T. all of Mexico. He was exalted on Jan. 18, 1939, and knighted, May 1, 1939. Before his death he set up a foundation which granted $350,000, of which the major part went to medical research in Parkinson's disease. In his will the foundation was left about two million dollars. Thousands of dollars in other bequests were made, including $1,000 to the Grand Lodge of Missouri. d. June 9, 1956.

Charles M. Green President of the Sperry Gyroscope Co. since 1955. b. March 31, 1891 at Camp Dennison, Ohio. He began as an apprentice machinist in 1906, and was subsequently a clerk, accountant, general storekeeper, assistant production superintendent for a chemical company, service manager for Peters Cartridge Co., and works manager for same. From 1934-44 he was with Remington Arms Co. as works manager, production manager, and plant director. He went with Sperry in 1944 as vice president. He is also vice president of the Sperry Corporation and president of Sperry Farragut Corp., Sperry Gyroscope Co. of Canada. Member of Mason Lodge No. 678, Mason, Ohio, and former junior warden of same. Member of Mason Chapter No. 494, O.E.S. and past patron.

Dwight H. Green (1897–1958) Governor of Illinois, 1940–49. b. Jan. 9, 1897 at Ligonier, Ind. Graduate of U. of Chicago. Admitted to bar in 1922 and practiced at Chicago until 1926. He then went with the bureau of internal revenue as a special counsel and served as special assistant to U.S. attorney in Northern Ill. in charge of income tax matters. He conducted prosecutions against notorious gangsters and public office holders charged with acceptance of bribes. He was the keynote speaker at the National Republican convention of 1948. In WWI he was a second lieutenant in the Air Service, and a pilot and flying instructor. Member of Ligonier Lodge No. 185, Ligonier, Ind. 32° AASR (NJ) in Oriental Consistory of Chicago and 33° on Sept. 29, 1943 at Buffalo, N.Y. Member of St. John's Conclave No. 1, Red Cross of Constantine, and Shriner of Medinah Temple, Chicago. d. Feb. 20, 1958.

Fred W. Green (1872–1936) Governor of Michigan, 1927–31. b. Oct. 20, 1872 at Manistee, Mich. Graduate of U. of Michigan in 1898. Began practice of law at Ypsilanti in 1899, and became identified with the Ypsilanti Reed Furniture Co.; he moved with it to Ionia in 1904. He was vice president of the National Rattan & Willow Co. He served in the Spanish–American War as a first lieutenant and was with the Michigan national guard 14 years, rising to brigadier general. He was a member of Phoenix Lodge No.13, Ypsilanti, and received the 32° AASR (NJ) at Detroit in Oct. 1928.

James S. Green (1817–1870) U.S. Senator from Missouri, 1857–61. Sometimes called “Missouri’s greatest orator.” b. Feb. 28, 1817 in Fauquier Co., Va. Admitted to bar and practiced at Canton, Mo. He served in the U.S. congress from 1847–51, and was named charge d’affaires in Colombia, S.A. in 1853, and consul in 1854; but he tired of the position and returned to the U.S. in 1856, and was again elected to congress, but did not take his seat, having been chosen to the senate. His senatorial career was brilliant. No one could surpass him as a reasoner or excel him as an orator, and few equalled him. He was one of the few senators who could stand up against Stephen A. Douglas, q.v., and in 1859 defeated him in a debate. He was the champion of the slave interests and states’ rights. He was dropped from the senate because of his slavery views, and was under surveillance by both the Union and Confederacy—the former, to quiet his secession activities, and the latter, requiring an oath that he would not take up arms against them. He moved to St. Louis and practiced law, dying there Jan. 9, 1870. He was a member and past master of Canton Lodge No. 100, Canton, Mo.

Jesse Green (?–1834) Delaware political and military leader. A Roman Catholic, he was the second grand master of the Grand Lodge of Delaware, serving three terms from 1809–11. His great, great grandmother was Helen Calvert, daughter of the first Lord of Baltimore, q.v. He was elected eight times to the lower house from Sussex Co., Del. (1797–1807), and was speaker in 1804. He was adjutant general of Delaware from 1808 to 1814. When the War of 1812 broke out, he helped raise a regiment of Delaware and Maryland troops and was present at the British bombardment of Lewes. He owned some 7,000 acres of land. He was raised in Washington Lodge No. 3 (Md. charter). This lodge was originally chartered in 1770 by Pa. as No. 15, Fells Point, Md., then the easternmost part of the city of Baltimore. It is still in existence. On Sept. 18, 1792, he became charter master of St. John's Lodge No. 10 at Georgetown, Del. The lodge became dormant in 1796, but was revived June 23, 1800, and Green was again named as first master of the lodge, then known as Hope Lodge No. 31, at Laurelton, Del. After he was grand master, he served as the first master of Temple Lodge No. 9, Milford. d. Aug. 21, 1834.

Robert S. Green (?–1895) Governor of New Jersey. He was raised in Washington Lodge No. 33, Elizabeth, N.J. on April 18, 1855 and three days later affiliated with Princeton Lodge No. 38, Princeton, N.J., to become warrant master. He was again reelected master in 1856. On Jan. 2, 1857 he reaffiliated with Washington Lodge No. 2, and from 1859–63 was grand pursuivant of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey. d. May 7, 1895.

Thomas Green (1816–1864) Confederate Major General in Civil War. b. in Virginia. His father was chief justice of Tenn. and president of Lebanon law college. Thomas moved to Texas in early manhood, and was a ranger in the war of Texan independence; he also served in the Mexican War. From 1855–58 he was clerk of the supreme court of Texas. He joined the Confederate army and fought in the battles of Valverde, Bisland 'and Galveston. In the campaign of 1863 he commanded the cavalry under Gen. Richard Taylor and repulsed the Union forces at the battle of Bayou la Fourche. He was made major general after this action and placed in command of the cavalry of the trans-Mississippi dept. In April, 1864, he commanded the Texas infantry in the Red River campaign. He was mortally wounded near Pleasant Hill, April 12, 1864, from a shot by a Union gunboat. Member of Austin Lodge No. 12 (Texas).

Thomas E. Green (1857–?) Churchman, lecturer, and author. b. Dec. 27, 1857 at Harrisville, Pa. He was first a Presbyterian minister in Mt. Carmel, Chicago, and Sparta, Ill. (1880–86), and then became a Protestant Episcopal priest in 1887, serving first a Chicago church and later, Grace Church of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. In 1898 he was elected bishop of Iowa, but declined. He began lecturing in 1903, and journeyed around the world in 1910–11 in the interest of international peace. He was a delegate at large to the 4th American Peace Conference of 1913 and a special lecturer for Carnegie Endowment for Peace, the American Red Cross, U.S. Treasury dept. and other organizations. Received many foreign decorations. He was chaplain of the Republican national convention in 1884, and of the Democratic national conventions of 1889–92–95–98. Mason, Knight Templar and 32° AASR, he was grand prelate of the Grand Commandery, K.T. of Iowa in 1897–99 and 1901. He wrote The Mason as a Citizen. Other books included The Hill Called Calvary; In Praise of Valor; The War Trust; The Burden of Nations; War Facts and Peace; The Salt of the Earth and many others. Deceased.

Warren E. Green (1870–1945) Governor of South Dakota,

1931–33. b. March 10, 1870 in Jackson Co., Wis. He engaged in farming and stock raising near Hazel, S.D. from 1895. He served three terms in the state senate and was a member of the state board of charities and corrections from 1913–19. He was made a Mason April 17, 1918, in Sioux Valley Lodge No. 125, Castlewood, S.D. Received 32° AASR (SJ) in Oriental Consistory, Yankton, S.D., in Nov. 1931.

William M. Green (1876–1942). Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. July 12, 1876 at Greenville, Miss. Graduate of the U. of the South. Ordained deacon in 1899, and priest in 1900. From 1900 to 1919 he served various churches in Miss. and Tenn. He was consecrated bishop coadjutor of Miss. in 1919, and bishop of Miss. by succession on Nov. 2, 1938. Member of King Solomon Lodge No. 333, Meridian, Miss., receiving degrees on July 13, 1906, Nov. 19, 1907, and April 8, 1908. d. Nov. 12, 1942.

Christopher Greene (1737–1781) Colonel of the American Revolution known as the “hero of Red Bank.” b. May 12, 1737 in Warwick, R.I. He served in the R.I. legislature in 1772–74. He was made a major by the state legislature in 1775 and given a company, which he marched to Cambridge, and subsequently was placed in command of the first battalion under Benedict Arnold, q.v., by Washington. He was with Arnold in Quebec. Captured in the attack on that city, he was prisoner for eight months. After his release, he was made a colonel and placed in charge of Fort Mercer on the Delaware. When the fort was assaulted by Hessians in Oct. 1777, he repulsed them with heavy loss, including the mortal wounding of their leader, Count Donop. For this, congress voted Greene a sword. In 1778 Greene and his troops were detached for duty in R.I. and put under command of Gen. John Sullivan. On May 13, 1781 his headquarters on the Croton river was surrounded by loyalists and he was killed. A monument to his memory was erected near Red Bank, N.J. in 1829 by N.J. and Pa. volunteers. He was initiated March 3, 1779 in St. John's Lodge, Providence, R.I.

Frank L. Greene (1870–1930) U.S. Senator from Vermont, 1923–30, dying while in office. b. Feb. 10, 1870 at St. Albans, Vt. He began as an errand boy in a railway office and became stenographer, and later chief clerk of the freight department. In 1891 he entered the newspaper business as a reporter on the St. Albans Daily Messenger, and was editor of the same from 1899 to 1912. He was U.S. congressman to the 62nd to 67th congresses (1912–23) from first Vt. dist. He served in the Spanish–American War from 1888–1900 and was captain of Co. B, 1st Vt. Inf. Vols. Greene was a member of Englesby Lodge No. 84, St. Albans, Vt. receiving his degrees on April 4, April 11, April 18, 1891. d. Dec. 17, 1930.

Henry A. Greene (1856–1921) Major General, U.S. Army. b. Aug. 5, 1856 at Matteawan, N.Y. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1879. Rose through ranks to brigadier general in 1914, and major general in 1917. He served in Texas and in Montana, organizing and commanding for nearly three years a company of Sioux Indians. He commanded a company in the Spanish–American War in Cuba, and also in the Philippine insurrection. In 1903 he was a member of the board to select the first general staff of the Army, and was first secretary of the staff. He later commanded departments in Oklahoma City, St. Louis, Alaska, Indiana, Canal Zone, Chicago, Arizona, and Washington. He was on observation duty with French and English forces in WWI. Retired in 1918. Mason. d. Aug. 19, 1921.

Nathanael Greene (1742–1786) General of the American Revolution. b. June 6, 1742, at Potowomut (Warwick) , R.I. He and Washington, along with Putman, Gates and Heath were the only general officers who served throughout the War. He was made a brigadier general in the Continental Army in June, 1775, and a major general in Aug., 1776. He led the left wing of the American force at Trenton on Dec. 24, 1776 and captured the Hessians. In 1778 he was made quartermaster general of the Army. When criticized by Congress in 1780, he resigned, but at Washington's insistence took over the command of the Army of the South from Gates, q.v. Here he conducted a strategic retreat in 1781, and finally turned and forced the British out of Georgia and the Carolinas, and back to three coastal bases. He was considered a military genius by Washington. A Quaker, he was disciplined by them for his military activities. Masonic scholars are still searching for his connection with the fraternity. It is claimed by some that he was a member of a Rhode Island Lodge, and by others, a member of a military lodge. Throughout the revolution he wore a Masonic medal that was presented to him by Lafayette, q.v., and this medal is now in the possession of the Grand Lodge of Rhode Island. A Masonic apron, said to have been worn by him, was presented to Lakewood Lodge No. 601, Lakewood, Ohio in 1937, by William Greene, a descendant and member of that lodge. On March 21, 1825 the Grand Lodge of Georgia united with Lafayette in laying the cornerstone of a monument to Greene in Savannah (also one to Pulaski, q.v.). With his family, he retired from public life to a plantation in Savannah, Ga. d. June 19, 1786 at Savannah.

Samuel D. Greene Anti-Mason and Anti-Masonic writer. Originally a member of Batavia Lodge No. 433, Batavia, N.Y., he was expelled on Feb. 8, 1827. This was shortly after the disappearance of William Morgan, q.v., of Batavia who had written an expose of Freemasonry which started the anti-Masonic movement in the U.S.

Lawrence N. Greenleaf (1838–1922) Masonic author. b. Oct. 4, 1838 in Boston, Mass. He was initiated in Columbia Lodge of that city in 1863. In that same year he moved to Denver, Colo., where he affiliated with Denver Lodge No. 5. He was in the mercantile business until 1893, when he purchased and edited the Masonic monthly Square and Compass. He retired in 1917. He served as master of the lodge five times; exalted in Denver Chapter No. 2, R.A.M., he was twice high priest. He received the cryptic degrees in Boston Council in 1868, and was a charter member of Denver Council No. 1, R. & S.M., and master in 1901. Knighted in DeMolay Commandery at Boston in June, 1868, he affiliated with Colorado Commandery No. 1, K.T., July 17, 1883, and was commander in 1890. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Colorado in 1880; grand high priest in 1867, and grand master of the grand council in 1907. He was mainly responsible for organizing the AASR (SJ) in Colorado and was deputy for Colorado in 1878 and 33° in 1880. His best known Masonic poems are Lodge–Room Over Simpkins' Store; Hands Across the Sea; and Live On, O Masonry! d. Oct. 25, 1922.

Simon Greenleaf (1783–1853) Lawyer and author. b. Dec. 5, 1783 in Newburyport, Mass. Moved with his family to Maine in 1801 and studied law. In 1806 he moved to Standish, and later to Gray, practicing in both places. In 1818 he moved to Portland, and in 1820, after the admission of Maine to the Union, he became reporter of the supreme court, holding that office until 1832, when appointed royal professor of law in Harvard. He remained at Harvard until 1848. He was considered one of the foremost legal authorities. He was made a Mason in Cumberland Lodge in 1804 and was master in 1807. He is considered the leading spirit in establishing the Grand Lodge of Maine, and was its second grand master in 1823. He wrote Origin and Principles of Freemasonry. His greatest legal work is Treatise on the Law of Evidence. d. Oct. 6, 1853.

Clifford C. Gregg Director of Chicago Natural History Museum since 1937. b. July 9, 1895 at Cincinnati, William V. Gregory uate of Lebanon Valley Coll. (Pa.) in 1917. Served churches in W.Va., Va., and Pa. from 1914–17. From 1920–21 he was associate editor of Religious Telescope, and president of Shenandoah Coll. 1922–26. He was pastor of the Euclid Ave., U.B. Church of Dayton from 1926–36, and superintendent of the Miami Conference from 1932–37. From 1937–50 he was executive secretary of the church's national council of administration and was named bishop in 1950. Member of Stillwater Lodge No. 616, Dayton, Ohio, receiving degrees on July 9, Sept. 10 and Sept. 27, 1928; 32° AASR (NJ). d. Dec. 27, 1956.

Luther E. Gregory Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Jan. 9, 1872 at Newark, N.J. Entered the U.S. Navy as a civil engineer in 1898, and rose to rank of rear admiral. He was chief of the bureau of yards and docks of the Navy from 1922–29. Retired. Member of William H. Upton Naval and Military Lodge No. 206, Bremerton, Wash., Washington Chapter No. 3, National Sojourners, 33° AASR, Knight Templar, and member of St. Alban's Conclave No. 18, Red Cross of Constantine, Seattle.

William Gregory (1849–1901) Governor of Rhode Island in 1901, dying in office. b. Aug. 3, 1849 in Astoria, N.Y. A manufacturer, he was president of the Wickford Natl. Bank and director of the Union Trust Co. of Providence. He served in both of the houses of the state legislature and was lieutenant governor from 1898–1900. Member of Franklin Lodge No. 20, Westerly, R.I.

William V. Gregory (1877–1936) U.S. Congressman to 70th to 74th Congresses (1927–37) from 1st Ky. dist. b. Oct. 21, 1877 in Graves Co., Ky. Graduate of West Kentucky Coll. in 1896. Was superintendent of schools in Mayfield, and began law practice there in 1902. Received his degrees in 16, 1889 at Martinsburg, W.Va. Grad- Mayfield Lodge No. 679 on Nov. 4, Ohio. Graduate of U. of Cincinnati in 1917. He was assistant to the director of the Field Museum of Natural History (now Chicago Natural History Museum) from 1926–37. Served as an Infantry lieutenant in WWI, and WWII rose to colonel, serving with 6th Corps Area in Chicago, and later at Tank Destroyer Center, Camp Hood, Texas, and Army Ground Forces, Washington, D.C. He has been vice president, trustee, and general secretary of Beta Theta Pi social fraternity. Member of Vattier Lodge No. 386, Cincinnati, Ohio, receiving degrees on May 18, 1918, Feb. 17 and March 31, 1919; received 32° AASR (NJ) in Massachusetts Consistory; Aleppo Shrine Temple, Boston and past president of Camp Hood (Texas) Chapter No. 208, National Sojourners.

John Gregg (1828–1864) Confederate General of the Civil War who was the last to command the famous Texas Brigade in Lee's Army. b. Sept. 2, 1828. A member of Fairfield Lodge No. 103, Fairfield, Texas, he received the degrees in May, Aug. and Oct., 1854, and was senior warden in 1855; member of Palestine Commandery No. 3, K.T. He was killed on Oct. 7, 1864.

Clifford V. Gregory (1883–1941) Editor of the Prairie Farmer, Chicago. b. Oct. 20, 1883 at Mason City, Ia. He was a professor at Iowa Agricultural Coll. before becoming associated with the Prairie Farmer Publishing Co. in 1911. He became vice president of the company which published Prairie Farmer and owned station WLS from 1911–37. In the latter year he became associate publisher of Wallace's Farmer and Iowa Homestead. Member of Wheaton Lodge No. 269, Wheaton, Ill., receiving degrees on Aug. 24, Aug. 31 and Oct. 13, 1915. d. Nov. 18, 1941.

David T. Gregory (1889–1956) Bishop, United Brethren Church.

Ludwig Greinemann A Dominican monk and Anti-Mason. While preaching Lenten sermons at Aix-la-Chapelle in 1779, he claimed that the Jews who crucified Jesus were Freemasons, and that Pilate and Herod were wardens of a Masonic lodge. Judas, he stated, had been initiated in the synagogue, and the 30 pieces of silver was the amount of his initiation fee. He stated that he would slay every Freemason he met with his own hands, and so aroused the people that the authorities were forced to issue an edict against Freemasons' meetings. Eventually authorities of neighboring districts calmed him down by stating that if he did not cease his practices he would not be allowed to collect alms in their territory.

Perry E. Gresham President of Bethany College (W.Va.) since 1953. b. Dec. 19, 1907 at Covina, Calif. Graduate of Texas Christian U. in 1930, with graduate work at Columbia and U. of Chicago. He was a teacher of Greek and philosophy at Texas Christian and ordained to the ministry of the Christian church in 1931. He served churches in Fort Worth, Seattle, Detroit, and Glasgow, Scotland. He was later a feature writer for the Detroit Free Press on Middle East affairs and a lecturer at many universities. In 1949 he was a delegate to the founding assembly of the World Council of Churches at Amsterdam, and delegate to conventions in 1950–51–52. Mason, 32° AASR and Knight Templar.

Jean Baptiste Greuze (1725–1805) French portrait and genre painter. b. Aug. 21, 1725. He was a member of the famous Lodge of the Nine Sisters (les Neuf Soeurs) at Paris, his name appearing on the list for 1779. He was held in high regard as an artist. d. March 4, 1805.

Robert E. Gribbin Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. Feb. 21, 1887 at Windsor, S.C. Graduate of Military Coll. of South Carolina and Coll. of Charleston. Ordained deacon in 1912 and priest in 1913. He served churches in Charleston, Atlanta, Wilmington, and Winston-Salem, from 1912-34. Consecrated bishop of Western North Carolina on Jan. 25, 1934. Now retired. Served as chaplain in both World Wars. Mason.

Aleksandr Sergeevich Griboedov (1795-1829) Russian poet and statesman. He is known chiefly as the author of a satirical comedy in verse depicting the struggle between two generations. It is variously translated into English as The Misfortune of Being Clever, or Woe From Wit. He was a member of the Lodge of United Friends in Russia about 1820. He was murdered at Teheran, with members of the embassy staff, by a mob.

Jeremiah Gridley (1702-1767) Lawyer, teacher and author of pre-Revolutionary period. Often called "Jeremy," he was a brother of Richard Gridley, q.v., a major general in the Revolution. b. March 10, 1702 in Boston, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard in 1725, and for several years was an assistant in a grammar school in Boston. He studied theology and occasionally preached. He then studied law and was admitted to the bar. For a year he edited a weekly newspaper called The Rehearsal. This was the first newspaper published in America having substantial claim to literary merit. He was elected a member of the general court from Brookline, and became an opponent of the British policies. Notwithstanding, he was appointed attorney general for the province of Massachusetts Bay. In 1761, while in this office, he defended the "writs of assistance" which the British custom officers had applied for to enable them to enter the dwellings of suspected individuals at their discretion. He handled it with such dignity that he did not lose his popularity. He was proposed to the first lodge (Mass.) by none other than Henry Price, q.v., past grand master on April 13, 1748; elected April 27 and made May 11. On Dec. 7, 1750 he was raised in Masters Lodge. He was elected junior warden of Masters Lodge, Dec. 1, 1752, and senior warden July 6, 1753, retiring from office in that lodge on Dec. 7, and receiving the unanimous election as master of the First Lodge on Dec. 26, 1753. On Oct. 1, 1755, he was appointed grand master of North America, an office which he held until his death on Sept. 10, 1767.

Richard Gridley (1711–1796) Major General in American Revolution. b. Jan. 3, 1711 at Boston, Mass. Brother of Jeremiah Gridley, q.v., Earned a reputation as an artillerist, and on Sept. 20, 1775 was commissioned major general in command of the Continental artillery, serving until November of the same year. He served as an engineer in the reduction of Louisburg in 1745, and in 1755 became chief engineer and colonel of infantry in the British army. The following year he was with the expedition to Crown Point, and constructed the fortifications at Lake George. He served under Amherst in 1758, and later under Wolf on the plains of Abraham, being at the capture of Quebec. At the conclusion of the French-Indian War, he received Magdalen Island from the British government for his services, with half-pay for life. He sided with the colonies in 1775, and planned the works at Bunker Hill the night before the battle of June 17, 1775. Although 65, he fought in the entire engagement and was wounded. He was made a Mason in St. John's Lodge of Boston, Mass. on April 4, 1746 and was master of the lodge in 1757. On Jan. 27, 1769 he was appointed deputy grand master of Mass., and subsequently was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts. d. June 20, 1796.

Ruel C. Gridley (1829–1871) Humanitarian of the Civil War who was famous for his “sanitary sack of flour.” b. Jan. 23, 1829 in Hannibal, Mo. Although six years older, it is claimed that he was a boyhood friend of Mark Twain, q.v. He served in the Mexican War while still in his teens. His experiences were wide and varied and he earned his living at mining, merchandising, banking, and newspaper publishing. Married in 1850 to a girl from Louisiana, Mo., he made his way overland to California in 1852, and his family joined him a year or two later by way of Panama. He moved about the state and was a member of six Calif. Masonic lodges, and two in Nevada. In 1866 he opened a store at Paradise and the following year became postmaster. While living in Austin, Nev. during the war, Gridley, a Democrat, bet a sack of flour that David E. Buel would be elected over his Republican opponent, Charles Holbrook. The bet was taken by Dr. H. S. Herrick, with the understanding that the loser would carry it from Clifton to Upper Austin, a distance of about a mile and a half. Gridley lost, and paid the bet. The newly elected officials marched behind him, followed by most of the local citizenry with the town band playing John Brown's Body. At the end of the journey a dispute arose as to what should be done with the flour. Gridley solved it by auctioning off the flour to raise money for the Sanitary Commission—a forerunner of the Red Cross. The idea caught the fancy of the crowd and the sack was auctioned and re-auctioned, none wishing to keep it. This gave Gridley an idea, so shouldering the sack, he went through the country of Nevada, and into California, auctioning the flour. It is said that the last auction brought $15,000, and that he raised a total of $275,000 for relief of the Civil War's sick and wounded. In doing this, however, Gridley ruined his health. His business was gone, and his wife was also in poor health. They moved to Stockton, Calif.—he on a mattress in the wagon bed. His wife hobbled to town each day on crutches to obtain the necessities of life. When it was learned that he was a Mason, and of his charitable deeds, the people of Stockton presented them with a comfortable home. Gridley died Nov. 24, 1870, and in 1886 the Grand Army of the Republic erected a life-size statue of him over his grave in the Stockton Rural cemetery. It is not clear where he was made a Mason, but it is known that wherever he established residence in Calif. and Nevada, he affiliated with the nearest lodge. Thus we find him belonging to the following lodges in order: Diamond No. 29 of Diamond Springs; St. John's No. 37 of Yreka; Oroville No. 103 of Oroville; Table Mountain No. 124 of Oroville (now Paradise); Lander No. 8 of Austin, Nevada; Morning Star No. 68 of Stockton; and Sacramento No. 40, of Sacramento.

Meade F. Griffin Justice, Supreme Court of Texas. b. March 17, 1894 at Cottonwood, Tex. Graduate of U. of Texas. Admitted to bar in 1917, he practiced at Tulia and then Plainview. Served in WWI as a major, and in WWII as a colonel. He was chief prosecutor at Wiesbaden, Germany in 1945. Raised in Alamo Lodge No. 44, San Antonio, Texas in 1917, and presently a member of Plainview Lodge No. 709, Plainview, Texas. Served as junior and senior deacon in 1924–25. Member of Plainview Chapter No. 228, R.A.M. and Plainview Council No. 164, R. & S.M. both of Plainview, Texas.

Calvin R. Griffith President and owner of the Washington Senators baseball team. Adopted son of Clark C. Griffith, q.v., he succeeded his father as president of the team on the former's death in 1955. He is a member of Harmony Lodge No. 17, Washington, D.C., the same lodge in which his father held membership.

Clark Griffith (1869–1955) Owner of Washington Senators baseball club and one of the organizers of American League in 1901. b. Nov. 20, 1869 in Vernon Co., Mo. Known as the “Old Fox” of baseball, he was one of the game's best known personalities. Under his direction the Senators captured three American League pennants and one world series. Griffith became president in 1919. An outstanding pitcher in his day, he was elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y. in 1946. He won a total of 236 games and lost only 139, playing in both the American and National leagues with Chicago, New York, Cincinnati, and Washington. While still playing and managing, he helped organize the American League in 1901. That year he piloted the Chicago White Sox to a pennant. He also managed Cincinnati and New York before casting his lot permanently with Washington. An active and interested Freemason, he was a member of Harmony Lodge No. 17 of the District of Columbia and an honorary member of the Grand Lodge of the District of Columbia. His adopted son, Calvin R. Griffith, q.v., who succeeded him as owner of the Washington team, is also a member of that lodge. He allowed the stadium to be used for the Craft-sponsored "Night of Thrills" and gave liberally to Masonic charities. He died Oct. 27, 1955, and graveside services were conducted by his lodge. Masons acting as pallbearers were Phil Howser, Jim Ritchie, Ossie Bluege, Billy Werber, Billy Jurgens and George Case—all active in baseball or former big leaguers.

David W. Griffith (1880–1948) Known as the "Father of the Film Art," he produced the famous Birth of a Nation, the world's first successful film, which grossed about 50 million dollars. b. in La Grange, Ky. He was the son of Confederate Brigadier General Jacob W. Griffith. For two years he tried acting, but was unsuccessful. He entered the motion picture business in 1908, and was a director for Biograph Film Co. Other pictures he produced were Intolerance; Hearts of the World; Way-Down East; Broken Blossoms; Orphans of the Storm and America. He was a member of St. Cecile Lodge No. 568 of New York City. d. July 23, 1948.

Griffith J. Griffith (1850–1919) Philanthropist and mine owner. b. Jan. 4, 1850 in Glamorganshire, South Wales. He came to America in 1865, and after being educated in public schools of Pa. and Fowler Inst. of N.Y., he moved to Calif. in 1873, where he was associated with the Herald Publishing Co. of San Francisco. He later engaged extensively in mining in Mexico. In 1882 he purchased the Los Feliz Rancho of 4,074 acres near Los Angeles and acquired extensive realty holdings in the city. In 1896 he donated 3,016 acres of his ranch to Los Angeles for a public park without restriction. In 1912 he gave $100,000 for the erection of an observatory on Mt. Hollywood for public use and scientific research. Mason. d. July 6, 1919.

Paul H. Griffith Public relations counselor and national commander of the American Legion, 1946–47. b. April 8, 1897 at Uniontown, Pa. From 1919–32 he was a partner of D.A. Griffith & Son, Uniontown, Pa., and from 1946–49, a partner in a business consultant firm, establishing his own company, Paul H. Griffith Associates in Washington, D.C. From 1935–40 he was executive director of the American Legion. He served as an enlistedman with the 28th Division in WWI, participating in all major engagements, and in WWII served as an executive under the secretary of War, advancing to colonel in 1944; he retired from active duty in 1945. Served as military advisor on a mission to India, and later as chief of the veterans personnel division of the Selective Service. He was in every theatre of operation during WWII. Mason and past master of his lodge.

Thomas Griffith (1680–1744) Irish actor, and first grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Ireland, 1725–32. He first came to Masonic notice by singing the Entered Apprentice's Song at a theatre entertainment following the installation of the Earle of Rosse as grand master of Ireland in 1725. It is thought by some historians that Griffith may have been the author of the words. He later found himself in trouble with the grand lodge for "chusing so vile and obscene a play" as Wycherley's The Country Wife for a benefit performance. Lord Southwell, grand master, gave him the official appointment of "Tide Waiter" (customs officer) and as such it was his duty to keep an eye on the comings and goings of the "wild geese" and other Jacobite sympathizers, of whom Lord Rosse was rumored to be one.

Allan K. Grim U.S. Judge, Eastern District of Pennsylvania, since 1949. b. Oct. 15, 1904 at Kutztown, Pa. Graduate of Harvard. Admitted to Pa. bar in 1929 and practiced in Reading. Raised in Huguenot Lodge No. 377 at Kutztown, Pa. in 1929 and past master of same. 32° AASR (NJ) at Reading, Pa. and member of the Shrine.

Alexander V. Griswold (1766–1843) Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. April 22, 1766 in Simsbury, Conn. Of unusual learning ability, he could read at age of three. Studied law, but gave it up to enter ministry, and was ordained deacon and priest in 1795. For the next ten years he served parishes at Plymouth, Harwinton, and Litchfield, Conn. In 1804 he went to a church in Bristol, R.I., and six years later to Litchfield. In May, 1810 he was elected bishop over the "Eastern Diocese" which included Maine, New Hamp., Vt., Mass., and R.I. He was the first and only bishop to serve this diocese. In 1836 he became the presiding bishop of the church. He was raised in Aurora Lodge No. 35 of Harwinton, Conn., and on removal to Bristol, R.I., affiliated with St. Albans Lodge No. 6, which he served as master in 1805. He was grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Rhode Island from 1815–26. He was exalted in Solomon Chapter No. 3, R.A.M., Darby, Conn. on June 17, 1799 and knighted in Providence Encampment, K.T. Jan. 5, 1826. d. Feb. 15, 1843.

Dwight P. Griswold (1893–1954) Governor and U.S. Senator from Nebraska. b. Nov. 27, 1893 at Harrison, Nebr. Graduate U. of Nebraska in 1914. With First Natl. Bank of Gordon, Nebr., 1912–44; editor and publisher of the Gordon Journal, 1922–40, and president of the Gering (Nebr.) Natl. Bank, 1951–54. Was chief of American Mission for Aid to Greece in 1947–48. Served in both houses of state legislature and was Governor three terms, 1940–46. U.S. Senator from 1952. Member of Arcana Lodge No. 195 of Gordon, Nebr., receiving degrees on Jan. 4, Feb. 1, March 1, 1915, and served as master. He was a member of Occidental Chapter No. 48, R.A.M., Zerubbabel Council No. 27, R. & S.M. and Melita Commandery No. 22, K.T., all of Chadron. Received his Scottish Rite degrees in Guthrie, Okla. and affiliated with bodies at Omaha in 1919. Received KCCH in Oct., 1943 and 33° in 1949. d. April 12, 1954.

Glenn Griswold Editor and vice president of Midwest Television, and manager of station KFEQ-TV, St. Joseph, Mo. since 1956. b. June 19, 1886 at Benton Harbor, Mich. Was publisher of country newspaper at 17 and was later associated with the Inter-Ocean, Examiner, Tribune, Journal of Commerce, all of Chicago. He was editor and publisher of the latter in 1922–31; vice president of Fox Film Corp. in 1931; editor of Business Week, N.Y. 1933–38; and from 1938, head of Glenn Griswold Associates. Mason, Knight Templar, and Shriner.

Alexander J. Groesbeck (1873–1953) Governor of Michigan three terms, 1921–27. b. Nov. 7, 1873 in Macomb Co., Mich. Graduate of U. of Michigan in 1893 and admitted to bar in same year. Served as attorney general of Mich. from 1916–20. Raised in Corinthian Lodge No. 241 and became a life member on Nov. 4, 1938; 33° AASR (NJ) on Sept. 19, 1922. d. March 11, 1953.

Ferde Grofe (Ferdinand Rudolph von Grofe). Composer and conductor. Known for his Grand Canyon Suite. b. March 27, 1892 at New York City. Studied in Germany, New York and Calif. Has been radio orchestra conductor and made personal appearances at many places. Among his compositions are: Tabloid Suite; Mississippi Suite; March for Americans; Kentucky Derby; Knute Rockne; Three Shades of Blue Suite; Christmas Eve; Ode to the Star-Spangled Banner; Cafe Society Ballet; Symphony in Steel; Hollywood Suite; Blue Flame; Miss Mischief; Free Air; Temples Hills; Daybreak; Broadway at Night; and many others. Raised in Silver Trowel Lodge No. 414, Los Angeles, and member of St. Cecile Lodge No. 568, New York City.

Francis Grose (1731?–1791) English antiquarian. Published Classical Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue. Mason.

H. R. Gross U.S. Congressman to 81st Congress (1949–51) from 3rd Ia. dist. b. June 30, 1899 at Arispe, Ia. Attended U. of Missouri. He was newspaper reporter and editor, 1921–35, and radio news commentator (WHO) 1935–48. Served in Mexican border campaign and with A.E.F. in WWI. Member of Twilight Lodge No. 151, Afton, Iowa, and Petworth Chapter No. 16, R.A.M., Washington, D.C.

Milt Gross Cartoonist and author. b. March 4, 1895 at New York City. Started as an office boy for New York American in 1912, and was then a comic artist for the American Press Association, New York Evening Journal, and New York Tribune. With the New York World since 1922. Drew daily news cartoon Banana Oil, and is creator of Gross Exaggerations and Nize Baby. Served as infantry private in WWI. Author of Nize Baby; Dunt Esk; Famous Finales From Heestory. Member of Dirigo Lodge No. 30, New York City.

Moses H. Grossman (1873–1942) Lawyer and founder of Arbitration Society of America in 1922. b. Feb. 18, 1873 at New York City. Graduate of New York U. in 1894. Admitted to bar in 1894 and practiced in New York City. He is the donor of a rare collection of 13th century English legal documents to the New York U. Law School. Member of Centennial Lodge No. 763, New York City, receiving degrees on Feb. 12, Feb. 26 and March 12, 1895; master in 1908; grand representative to Minn., 1923–26; member of Mecca Shrine Temple. d. June 6, 1942.

Galusha A. Grow (1823–1907) U.S. Congressman from Pennsylvania (1851–63). Speaker of the House from 1861–63. b. Aug. 31, 1823 in Ashford, Conn. Family moved to Pa. when he was ten. Was graduated from Amherst in 1844, studied law in Montrose, and admitted to bar in 1847. Later moved to Houston, Texas, as president of International and Great Northern Railroad, remaining there until 1875, when he returned to Pa. In 1876 he declined the position of U.S. minister to Russia. He was a member of Lodge No. 51 (no name) of Philadelphia, Pa., receiving degrees on Jan. 26, Feb. 23 and March 23, 1871. d. March 31, 1907.

Peter Hermann Gruber (1851–?) Jesuit Abbe and anti-Mason. b. Feb. 5, 1851 at Kufstein in Austria. Educated in the Jesuit schools of Austria, Germany, Holland, and England; he entered the Society of Jesus in 1868, and was ordained in 1879. He is known mainly in America for his article on Freemasonry in the Catholic Encyclopedia (now Catholic Dictionary). He spent his adult life fighting the Craft. In Europe, he wrote many books, hundreds of articles, gave speeches, and carried on a wide correspondence in which he undertook to show that Freemasonry is the enemy of Christianity. When the Fascists in France and Italy, the Phalangists in Spain, and the Nazis in Germany began to burn and pillage lodge rooms, mob and shoot Freemasons, he urged moderation, but his efforts were difficult as the encyclical of Pope Leo XIII, q.v., (Humanum Genus) was a virtual invitation for Roman Catholics to use once again the machinery of the Holy Inquisition against Freemasonry. He attacked Freemasonry on the grounds of “liberalism,” “naturalism” and “Deism.” In June, 1928, several prominent Freemasons from Europe and the U.S. held a day-long meeting with him in Aachen, Germany. At that time he expressed a hope that anti-Masons in Europe and anti-Roman Catholics in America would raise the debate to a more dignified level. Ossian Lang, of New York, who attended the meeting, stated that the abbe regretted that his career had been to make war on Freemasonry, which he had come to admire, but that his superiors had started him off with a collection of inferior and misleading books, and that he was afraid his article in the Catholic Encyclopedia had lowered him in the eyes of impartial scholars. Deceased.

Frederick G. Gruen (1872–1945) A founder and president of the Gruen Watch Co. b. April 15, 1872 at Delaware, Ohio. Student at Ohio State U. and graduate of Horological Institute, Dresden, Germany. Founder of modern watchmakers' guild idea, and life member of Horological Institute of America. Member of Hanselmann Lodge No. 208, Cincinnati, Ohio, receiving degrees on May 29, Oct. 16, Nov. 20, 1916; 32° AASR (NJ). d. Sept. 15, 1945.

Felix Grundy (1777–1840) Attorney General of the U.S., 1838–39, and U.S. Senator from Tennessee, 1829–37, 1838–40. b. Sept. 11, 1777 in Berkeley Co., Va. The family moved first into Pa. and then Ky., and in both places were exposed to Indian depredations, three of his brothers being killed by the Indians. Elected to Kentucky constitutional convention in 1799, and was a member of the legislature from 1799–1806. Appointed judge of supreme court of errors in 1806, and became chief justice the next year. Moved from Bardstown, Ky., to Nashville, Tenn. in 1808, where he practiced law and achieved a reputation as a criminal lawyer. He defended 105 criminal cases and only one client was executed. He was elected to U.S. congress in 1811, and reelected in 1813, but resigned the next year due to health of wife. Served in Tenn. state legislature in 1819, and in 1829 was elected U.S. senator. Grundy Co., Mo. is named in his honor. He was raised Oct. 29, 1803, in Washington Lodge No. 6 of Bardstown, Ky., although the proceedings of that grand lodge list him as an entered apprentice of Lexington Lodge No. 1 in 1802. He was secretary of the lodge as well as senior warden in 1804. He later became a member of Hiram Lodge No. 7, Franklin, Tenn., and in 1814 was deputy grand master, proterm of the Grand Lodge of Tennessee (1814). d. Dec. 19, 1840.

Pedro Gual Twelfth President (provisional) of Republic of Venezuela for a short term during the Civil War in 1861. He was a Mason and 18° AASR.

Hezekiah A. Gudger (1850–1917) Consul General to Panama, 1897–1905 and Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Canal Zone, Panama, 1905–14. b. May 27, 1850 at Marshall, N.C. Engaged in law practice at Asheville, N.C. from 1871. Served in both houses of the state legislature. Resumed law practice in Asheville after term in Canal Zone supreme court. Mason. d. Sept. 22, 1917.

Louis Guenther (1874–1953) Publisher of The Financial World from 1905. b. Aug. 4, 1874 in London, Eng. Was in advertising business from 1886–99, and established a monthly trade paper, The Mail Order Journal, in 1892, with his father. Received degrees in Roome Lodge No. 746, New York City, April 23, May 14, and June 11, 1898; affiliated March 28, 1902 with Mystic Tie Lodge No. 272, New York City. d. March 11, 1953.

Vincente Guerrero (1783?–1831) Mexican president and patriot. He became grand master of the York Grand Lodge of Mexico, established through the efforts of Joel Poinsett, q.v., American minister to that republic. He teamed up with Augustin de Iturbide, q.v., to liberate Mexico from the Spaniards, setting up the Plan of Iguala. They forced the Spanish government to capitulate with the Treaty of Cordoba, in 1821, which assured Mexican independence. Iturbide set himself up as Emperor Augustin I, from 1822–23, and his harsh measures of repression led to a revolution by Santa Anna, q.v., Guerrero, and others. Iturbide abdicated, fleeing to Europe, but returned, and was captured and shot, July 19, 1824. Guerrero became vice president of Mexico from 1824–28, and was chosen president by congress in March, 1829, serving until December of that year when a revolution broke out against him, led by Bustamante, q.v. Guerrero was captured and shot, Feb., 1831.

Olindo Guerrini (1845–1916) Italian poet who wrote under the pseudonym “Lorenzo Stecchetti” and also “Beni.” His works include poems and lyrics. Many of them contained humorous Venetian dialects. The bulletin of the International Masonic Congress of 1917 states that he was a Freemason.

William A. Guerry (1861–1928) Protestant Episcopal Bishop of South Carolina from 1908. b. July 7, 1861 in Clarendon Co., S.C. Graduate of the U. of the South in 1884. Ordained deacon in 1889, and priest in 1890. He served churches in Florence, Marion, and Darlington, S.C., from 1888–93, when he became professor of homiletics at the U. of the South. In 1908 he was named coadjutor bishop of S.C. Made a Mason “at sight.” d. June 9, 1928.

Edgar A. Guest American Poet. b. Aug. 20, 1881 in Birmingham, England. He was brought to the U.S. in 1891 where he received a grammar and high school education in Detroit. He has been connected with the Detroit Free Press since 1895, for which he conducts a column of verse and humorous sketches. His “folksy” poems have earned him the title of “foremost poet of the 20th century” from many admirers. Among his best known poems are: A Heap o’ Livin’; Just Folks; Over Here; Path to Home; When Day Is Done; All That Matters; The Passing Throng; Rhymes of Childhood; The Light of Faith; Harbor Lights of Home; The Friendly Way; Life’s Highway; Collected Verse; All in a Lifetime; Today and Tomorrow; Living the Years; and Home. At the height of his productivity he was making nearly $130,000 a year—a fact which caused the long-haired poets with scarcely a penny in their jeans to use him as their favorite punching bag. He has been writing a poem a day since 1916, and they total now well over 15,000. Guest was made a Master Mason in Ashlar Lodge No. 91 of Detroit; exalted in Peninsular Chapter No. 16, R.A.M.; greeted in Monroe Council No. 1; knighted in Detroit Commandery No. 1, K.T.; and received 32° AASR (NJ) in Valley of Detroit—all of Detroit, Mich. He was crowned a 33°, honorary, Sept. 20, 1921. He is a member of St. Clement Conclave No. 39, Red Cross of Constantine, and Moslem Shrine Temple. In 1954 he received the gold medal of the General Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, the highest honor of this national body. Many of his poems are Masonic in character and as a result of his attachment to the fraternity, he was created a Blue Friar in 1954 (an organization for Masonic authors). Guest has said: "Masonry has greatly enriched my life. It has given me friendships that I cherish dearly. It has, I think, whispered subconsciously to me in the silent hours, words of caution and encouragement. I like going back to my lodge. I have found it refreshing and good to step aside out of the path of my busy life and sit again with the Masons who have carried on in my absence."

Baron von Gugomos A Masonic imposter, who, in 1775, called together a Masonic congress at Wiesbaden, Germany, which was attended by many influential Freemasons, in spite of the warnings given them by their more conservative brethren. Gugomos claimed that he had been designated by certain unknown superiors of the Holy See at Cyprus to establish a new Order of Knights Templar with himself at the helm. His claims became so absurd that he left Wiesbaden.

Samuel A. Guiberson, Jr. Oil producer and engine manufacturer. b. Sept. 20, 1873 in Calif. He began as an oil worker in 1894, and has been in the oil business on his own since 1906 as president of the Home Ranch Petroleum Co. In 1930 he began the manufacture of radial diesel aircraft and tank engines, and is president of the Guiberson Diesel Engine Co., Dallas, Tex. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Jean Francois Guichard (1731–1811) French author. b. May 5, 1731 at Chartrettes, France. He wrote a number of books including some comic operas and verse. He was a member of the famous Paris Lodge of the Nine Sisters, being on the roster of 1779 and 1806. d. Feb. 23, 1811.

Curtis Guild (1860–1915) Governor of Massachusetts, 1906–09, journalist, soldier, diplomat. b. Feb. 2, 1860 at Boston, Mass. Graduate of Harvard, summa cum laude, in 1881. He entered the office of the Commercial Bulletin, Boston, which was founded by his father. He rose from bill collector to editor, and was sole owner of the paper from 1902. He was also president of the Anchor Linotype Printing Co. He was a brigadier general of Mass. militia at the outbreak of the Spanish–American War, in which he served as inspector general of the 7th Army Corps and later inspector general of Department of Havana, until the break-up of corps in Cuba. He declined many national jobs offered him. In 1910 he was a special ambassador to Mexico, and from 1911–13 was U.S. ambassador to Russia. He was a member of Columbia Lodge of Boston, being initiated on April 6, 1899. He was also a member of St. Andrew's Chapter, R.A.M. and Boston Commandery, K.T., both of Boston. He was a member of the Scottish Rite bodies in Boston, and was master of Lafayette Lodge of Perfection in 1910, and coroneted 33° AASR (NJ) on Sept. 18, 1906. d. April 6, 1915.

Cato Maximilian Guildberg (1836–1902) Norwegian mathematician and professor of mathematics at Oslo U. At the age of 28 he formulated the famous law of mass termed “The Law of Guildberg and Waage” on which physical chemistry is built. He was master of the Lodge St. Olaus den hvide Leopard in Oslo from 1887–92 and was K.C. of the Order of King Charles XIII.

Comte A. C. Guileminot French General and commander of a division under Napoleon. In 1838 he was Lieutenant du Souveran Grand Commandeur of the Supreme Council, Scottish Rite of France.

Joseph Ignace Guillotin (1738–1814) French physician and deputy to the French assembly in 1789. Although the guillotin used for executions was named after him, it is neither true that he invented it nor met his death by it, as often stated. b. May 28, 1738 at Saintes, France. As a deputy to the States-General, he was the first to demand a doubling of the representatives of the Third Estate. It was in that assembly on Dec. 1, 1789 that he urged capital punishment should be inflicted as speedily and painlessly as possible, and argued for a machine designed for this end. The guillotin was invented by Antoine Louis, secretary of the Academy of Surgeons, and a mechanic named Schmidt. Guillotin was one of the founders of the Grand Orient of France, and was first the orator of the Chamber of the Provinces, becoming president on Oct. 27, 1775. He was master of Concorde Fraternelle Lodge of Paris, his name being on the list of that lodge in 1776 with his address as “the Schools of Medicine.” He was also a member of the famous Lodge of the Nine Sisters, and in 1784 was on a committee with Benjamin Franklin and Sylvain Bailly, a French astronomer, to report on the animal magnetism claims of Mesmer. In 1778 he was the founder of the society which became the Academy of Medicine. d. March 26, 1814 in Paris.

Isaac Guion (1755–1823) Revolutionary War soldier and governor of Natchez under American rule. b. in New Rochelle, N.Y. of a Huguenot family. He was commissioned an ensign in Lamb's Artillery at the outbreak of the revolution. He accompanied Gen. Montgomery's expedition into Canada in 1775, and was in the general's party at the ill-fated attempt to take Quebec when the general was killed. Guion was taken prisoner but permitted to attend Montgomery's funeral. He was soon exchanged, and served until the end of the war in Thomas Machin's artillery company, being discharged in 1783 as a captain. He reentered the army in 1792, and in 1797 was ordered by General Wilkinson, q.v., down the Mississippi to occupy Natchez and receive that territory from the departing Spanish garrison. He served as military governor of Natchez until relieved by Winthrop Sargent, q.v., the first civil governor of the territory. It was at this time that Guion was called upon to entertain the Duke of Orleans, later Louis Phillippe, q.v., Emperor of France and his entourage. It is said that Guion was singularly handsome, had excellent manners, and was a brilliant linguist. A contemporary described him as "impetuous but cool; resolute, inflexible, extremely courteous" and another said he was "one of the most fastidious, circumspect and courtly officers in the army." His original lodge is not known, but he was a visitor to American Union Lodge at Morristown in 1780 and again at West Point in 1783. He visited Lodge No. 22, Burlington, N.J. in 1782, and was master of Military Lodge No. 58, Pennsylvania charter. He was also master of Lodge No. 4, New York City in 1789. He assisted at the installation of Nova Caesarea Lodge No. 10 at Cincinnati, and soon after his arrival at Natchez, was one of the petitioners for Harmony Lodge No. 7 (later No. 33, but now No. 1) under Kentucky charter. As the last survivor of the siege of Quebec, he returned 50 years later to identify the burial place of General Montgomery, whose body was removed to New York City by Governor DeWitt Clinton, q.v., then grand master. There was another Isaac Guion, also a Revolutionary soldier. He was a surgeon and belonged to St. John's Lodge No. 3, New Bern, N.C. They are often confused.

Charles P. Gulick (1885–1955) President and chairman of board of National Oil Products Co. b. May 21, 1885 at Newark, N.J. Began as clerk with National Oil & Supply Co. of Newark, N.J. and was later treasurer of the National Red Oil & Soap Co. He became associated with present company in 1912 as treasurer and has been president since 1947. He was also president of the Metasap Chemical Co.; Rare Chemicals, Inc.; Admiracion Labs; The Vitex Labs; and a director of other companies. Member of Northern Lodge No. 25, Newark, N.J.; 32° AASR (NJ) at Jersey City and member of Salaam Shrine Temple, Newark. d. Sept. 4, 1955.

Emil Gumpert Judge, Superior Court of California. b. Jan. 14, 1895 at Stockton, Calif. Studied at Columbia and Washington & Lee U. and admitted to bar in 1916. He practiced at Stockton until 1947. Named superior court judge in 1956. He is a founder of the American College of Trial Lawyers and was president of same in 1950–51. Mason and Shriner.

Carl Gunderson (1864–1933) Governor of South Dakota, 1924–25. b. June 20, 1864 in Clay Co., Dakota Territory. Graduate of U. of South Dakota in 1890. He was a member of the S.D. senate for five terms, and from 1904–12 was U.S. Indian allotting agent. He served two terms as lieutenant governor (1921–24). Member of Incense Lodge No. 2, Vermillion, S.D. d. Feb. 26, 1933.

George P. Gunn Protestant Episcopal Bishop. b. Oct. 11, 1903 at Winona, Miss. Graduate of Episcopal Theological Seminary at Alexandria, Va. in 1930. Ordained deacon in 1929, and priest in 1930, he was consecrated a bishop in 1948. From 1948–50 he was bishop coadjutor of Southern Virginia, and senior bishop (diocesan) since April, 1950. Member of Campbell Lodge No. 316, Altavista, Va., receiving degrees in 1932.

James Gunn Contemporary English portrait painter. Has painted portraits of King George VI, Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, and the present reigning Queen Elizabeth, the latter hanging at the headquarters of the Royal Regiment of Artillery, of which she is captain-general. He painted the Earl of Scarbrough, present grand master of the Grand Lodge of England. In 1953 the grand lodge lent this painting to the Royal Academy for exhibition.

James Gunn (1739–1801) General in American Revolution and U.S. Senator from Georgia. b. in Virginia. He received a common school education, studied law, was admitted to the bar, and moved to Savannah, Ga. where he practiced. He was elected U.S. senator to the first congress, and was reelected in 1789. He was one of the members of congress who voted for establishing the seat of government at Washington. He fought a duel with General James Jackson. Both belonged to Solomon's Lodge No.1 of Savannah. He also twice challenged General Nathanael Greene, q.v., to a duel, but George Washington refused to let Greene duel. d. July 30, 1801.

Walter T. Gunn (1879–1956) Justice, Supreme Court of Illinois, 1938–51. b. June 4, 1879 in LaSalle Co., Ill. Admitted to bar in 1902. Member of Olive Branch Lodge No. 38, Danville, Ill. receiving degrees on Sept. 22, Oct. 20 and Nov. 5, 1903. d. Oct. 13, 1956.

Royal Arch Gunnison (1873–1918) U.S. Federal Judge, 1st Alaska District, 1904–09. b. June 24, 1873 at Binghamton, N.Y. On the evening of June 24, 1873, his father, Christopher B. Gunnison, attended a meeting of his chapter, Binghamton No. 139, and returning home, found that he was the father of a boy whom he promptly named "Royal Arch." He was graduated from Cornell in 1896, and was admitted to the N.Y. bar in 1897. From 1909 until his death, he was in private practice in Juneau, Alaska. He served as food administrator of Alaska under Herbert Hoover during WWI. A member of Osteningo Lodge No. 435 of Binghamton, N.Y., he received his degrees on June 26, Aug. 30 and Sept. 20, 1894, and received the Royal Arch Degree in his father's chapter on July 12, 1898, withdrawing on Sept. 12, 1916. He belonged to the AASR (NJ) in Binghamton and affiliated with the Scottish Rite bodies of Seattle, Wash. on Oct. 27, 1911. Received KCCH Oct. 20, 1915 and 33° on April 13, 1916. His son, Royal Arch, Jr. became a radio commentator and writer. d. June 15, 1918.

Julius C. Gunter (1858–1940) Governor of Colorado 1917–19. b. Oct. 31, 1858 at Fayetteville, Ark. Admitted to Colo. bar in 1881, and practiced in Trinidad. He served as a district judge on the court of appeals, and from 1905–07 was a justice of the Colorado supreme court. He was president and trustee of Tillotson Academy of Trinidad; Clayton Coll. Denver, and a regent of the U. of Colorado from 1913–15. Raised Dec. 8, 1906 in Union Lodge No. 7, Denver, Colo. d. Oct. 26, 1940.

Willis H. Gurley President of Borden Food Products Co. since 1951. b. Jan. 4, 1894 at Altmar, N.Y. He began as a clerk in a general store in 1904; and later worked as a telegraph operator, in highway construction, operated a rural milk plant, and was cashier in a dry goods store. In 1919 he was employed by Merrell-Soule Co. and rose from accountant to sales manager. The company was taken over in 1928 by the Borden Co., and he became vice president in 1946. Served in Army in WWI. Mason.

Chandler Gurney U.S. Senator from South Dakota, 1939–51. b. May 21, 1896 at Yankton, S.D. He was secretary and treasurer of House of Gurney, Inc. (seeds and nursery stock) at Yankton from 1918–33, and president of the Chan Gurney

Oil Co., Sioux Falls, 1933–35. He has been a member of the Civil Aeronautics Board since 1951, and was chairman of same in 1954. From 1927–32 he operated radio station WNAX. Served in WWI as a sergeant. He is a member of the Scottish Rite bodies (SJ) at Yankton and is a KCCH.

William Gurney (1821–1879) Union Brigadier General of Civil War. b. Aug. 21, 1821 in Flushing, N.Y. At the beginning of the Civil War he was in business in New York City. He entered the army in April, 1861, and, after three months with the 7th regiment, accepted a commission as captain in the 65th New York and served with it through the early campaigns of the war. In 1862 he raised the 127th New York regiment, which he headed as part of the 23rd Corps. In October of that year he commanded the 2nd Brigade of General Abercrombie's division. Wounded at Devoe's Neck in S.C. and assigned to command the Charleston post, being promoted to brigadier general of volunteers for gallantry in action. After the war he returned to Charleston and established himself in business. He was a member of Centennial Lodge No. 287, New York and served as its master. d. Feb. 3, 1879.

Gustavus III (1746–1792) King of Sweden from 1771–92. He followed his father, Adolphus Frederick, q.v., on the throne, becoming king when royal power was low and party strife intense. In 1772 he arrested the council in a body, retained power, and waged a useless war against Russia in 1788. In 1789 he received more power from the diet. He was assassinated by J. J. Anckarstrom, an army officer, in a conspiracy of nobles. He was the author of dramatic works and poems of merit. He became interested in Freemasonry in 1780, and through his instigation the IX Province of the Rite of Strict Observance was established in Sweden. He named his brother, the Duke of Sudermania, as grand master in 1780. The duke succeeded him as regent after his assassination, and later became Charles XIII, q.v., on the deposition of Gustavus IV, q.v., his nephew. Under the grandmaster-ship of Gustavus III, Swedish Freemasonry took a particular form which it has always preserved. He received the title of Vicarius Saiornortis (Vicar of Solomon), or “protector.”

Gustavus IV Adolphus (1778–1837) King of Sweden, 1792–1809. Son of Gustavus III, q.v., and grandson of Adolphus Frederick, q.v. He ascended the throne on the assassination of his father, under the regency of his uncle, the Duke of Sudermania. His uncle, in turn, became Charles XIII, q.v., when Gustavus Adolphus was dethroned in 1809. He served under the regency for eight years, and was actually crowned in 1800. Actuated by a hatred of Napoleon, he entered into a coalition against him in 1805, and as a result, lost Swedish Pomerania and German possessions. He received help from England, but lost Finland to Russia in 1808. Dethroned in 1809, he wandered about Europe and died in poverty at Saint Gallen, Switzerland. He was initiated into Freemasonry at the hands of his regent and uncle, Charles, on March 10, 1793, in Stockholm. On March 9, 1803 he issued an edict which required all secret societies in his dominions to register themselves with local authorities, giving the nature of their oaths and the objects of their associations. They were also required to submit to inspection at any time by government officials. At the end of the decree, however, the king stated: "The Freemasons, who are under our immediate protection, are alone excepted from this inspection, and from this ordinance in general."

Gustavus V (1858–1950) King of Sweden, 1907–50. Better known as "Gustaf." Son of Oscar II, q.v., of the Bernadotte dynasty, he was born in Drottningholm and educated at Uppsala. He married Victoria, daughter of Frederick William Louis, Grand Duke of Baden. In 1892 he was a lieutenant general. He often acted as regent during his father's absence from the throne, especially in 1899–1900. He strongly favored the allies in WWI, but kept Sweden neutral. A popular sovereign, he was presented one million dollars by his people on his 80th birthday in 1938. Tall, thin, and athletic, he played tennis well past his 80th year, and his favorite hobby was knitting altar pieces for churches. He was made a Mason, Jan. 13, 1877, and served as grand master of Sweden until his death. An active Freemason, he took part in the ritual work. In 1947 he was made an honorary past grand master of the Grand Lodge of England. In 1949 he received the Gourgas Medal from the AASR (NJ) of the United States. This is the highest honor of the Scottish Rite (NJ) and Gustavus was the third person to be so honored.

Ludovic Gutakovsky President of the State Council, Duchy of Warsaw, the political entity set up by Napoleon I, q.v. When the Grand Orient of Poland was reestablished on March 22, 1810, Gutakovsky headed it.

William E. Guthner (1884–1951) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Dec. 18, 1884. Entered army in 1901 and served from a private to brigadier general in National Guard and same rank in U.S. Army 1941. From 1934–42 he was commanding general of the 89th Infantry Brigade of the 45th Division. From 1942–46 he was director of security and intelligence of the VI Corps Area at Chicago. From 1934–40 he was director of public safety, Denver, Colo., and from 1946–49, secretary of the Illinois Highway Traffic Safety Comm. In 1936 he was national chief of staff of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Mason. d. Jan. 24, 1951.

George W. Guthrie (1848–1917) Ambassador to Japan, from 1913. b. Sept. 5, 1848 at Pittsburgh, Pa. He was graduated from Western U. (now U. of Pittsburgh) in 1866 and 1868. Admitted to bar in 1869 and practiced at Pittsburgh. Mayor of Pittsburgh 1906–09. Member of Franklin Lodge No. 221, Pittsburgh, receiving degrees on Sept. 18, Nov. 6 and Dec. 18, 1873; master of the lodge in 1880 and grand master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania in 1910–11; Received 33° AASR (NJ) in Sept., 1885. d. March 8, 1917.

James Guthrie (1792–1869) U.S. Secretary of Treasury and U.S. Senator from Kentucky. b. Dec. 5, 1792 in Nelson Co., Ky., he was educated at Bardstown, Ky., and studied law under John Rowan. In 1820 he entered practice at Louisville. He served in both houses of the Kentucky state ASR Felix X. Gygax legislature between 1827–40, and in the latter year was president of the convention that formed the state constitution. He was secretary of the Treasury from 1853–57 under the administration of Franklin Pierce. In 1865 he was elected U.S. senator, but resigned in 1868 due to poor health. From 1860 to 1868 he was president of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. A member of Clark Lodge No. 51 of Louisville, he is listed as a past master in the proceedings of 1850. He was also a member of Louisville Chapter No. 5, R.A.M. d. March 13, 1869.

Jacinto Gutierrez Provisional President of the Republic of Venezuela in 1879. Under the control of Blanco, q.v. A 33° AASR.

Tomas Guardia Gutierrez (1832–1882) President of Costa Rica, 1870–76 and virtual dictator, 1876–82. His administration proved of great benefit to the country. His principal work was the construction of rail lines. He abolished the death penalty in Costa Rica. He was a member of Caridad Lodge No. 26 and was “Protector of the Order.”

Walter C. Guy Imperial Potentate of the Shrine, 1955–56. b. April 9, 1891. Taught school nine years in Illinois and Missouri, traveled for a building materials concern in Oklahoma, and was with the U.S. Veterans Bureau in St. Louis from 1921–26, when he reentered sales work with Remington Rand, and later became regional manager of that concern, with offices in Memphis, Tenn. In 1931 he returned to Little Rock and became president of the Arkansas Printing and Lithographing Co. as well as three allied firms. Past master of Trinity Lodge No. 694, Little Rock; 33° AASR (SJ); Knight Templar; past potentate of Scimitar Shrine Temple; member of DeMolay Legion of Honor and Court No. 12, Royal Order of Jesters.

Ulysses S. Guyer (?–1943) U.S. Congressman to 68th Congress (1923–25) and 70th to 77th Congresses (1927–43) from 2nd Kans. dist. b. in Pawpaw, Ill. From 1897–1901 he was principal of the St. John, Kans. high school, and was admitted to the bar in 1902, practicing in Kansas City. Member of Wyandotte Lodge No. 3, Kansas City, Kans., receiving degrees on Dec. 11, 1905 and March 3 and May 12, 1906. He became a member of Wyandotte Chapter No. 6, R.A.M. in 1906 and Ivanhoe Commandery No. 21, K.T. in 1908, withdrawing from both in 1924. Active in Scottish Rite, he was a member of Caswell Consistory in Kansas City, Kans. and Abdallah Shrine Temple. d. June 4, 1943.

Felix X. Gygax Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. March 30, 1884 at Twin Creek, Kans. Graduate of U.S. Naval Academy in 1906. Commissioned ensign in 1908, and advanced through grades to rear admiral in 1940. Served on U.S.S. Kearsarge on round the world cruise of battle fleet in 1907–09; naval attache to Switzerland in 1911; duty with submarines from 1913–20. He pioneered as officer in charge of Submarine School, New London, Conn., and established the submarine base at Pearl Harbor, T.H. From 1926–27 he was commander in chief of the U.S. Fleet, and secretary of the War Plans division of the Chief of Naval Operations, 1927–28. He was director of the Naval reserve from 1937–40, and commanded Cruiser Division No. 2 in the Pacific, 1940–41. From 1941–44 he was commandant of the Norfolk Navy Yard, and from 1944 to retirement in 1946, was commandant of the 1st Naval District and Boston Navy Yard. Received the three degrees in fall of 1918 at San Pedro, Calif. as a courtesy to Saqui Lodge No. 160, Osborne, Kans., while en route with submarine division from San Francisco to Panama; on dimit since 1946.

H

Haakon VII (1872–1957) King of Norway, 1905–1957. Second son of Frederick VIII, q.v., King of Denmark. In 1896 he married Maud, the daughter of King Edward VII, q.v., of England. When Norway was separated from Sweden in 1905 he was chosen king and crowned at Trondheim in 1906. When the Nazis invaded Norway, he fled to England in 1940, and returned in 1945. He was initiated into Freemasonry by his father, as were his two brothers, King Christian X, q.v., of Denmark and Prince Harald, q.v., of Denmark. He only received two degrees and, after becoming king, did not continue. d. Sept. 21, 1957.

James Habersham (1712–1775) Acting Governor of Georgia, 1769–72. b. in Yorkshire, England. He arrived in Savannah, Ga. on May 7, 1738 in company with his friend, George White-field, the evangelist, and opened a school for orphans and destitute children at Bethesda, nine miles from that city. In 1744 he became a merchant. In 1750 he was appointed to serve with one other, as a committee of two, to advance the culture of silk in the colony. In 1754 he became secretary of the province and one of the councillors. In 1767

he was one of the presidents of the upper house of assembly, and from 1769–72 served as governor during the absence of Sir James Wright. He raised the first cotton in the state at Bethesda and sent the first few bales grown to England. He was a member of Solomon's Lodge No. 1 of Savannah and grand treasurer of the Grand Lodge of Georgia in 1787. d. Aug. 28, 1775. His sons, John, q.v., and Joseph, q.v., were both members of the same lodge.

John Habersham (1754–1799) Officer of the American Revolution. b. in Savannah, Ga., the son of James Habersham, q.v. He engaged in mercantile pursuits and took an active part in the pre-Revolutionary movements, and was later a major of the 1st Georgia Continental Regiment. He was greatly trusted by the Indians and after the Revolution, Washington appointed him Indian agent. He was a member of the Continental Congress from Georgia in 1785–86, and was collector of customs at Savannah in 1789–99. Member of Solomon's Lodge No. 1, Savannah, as were his father and brother, Joseph, q.v. d. Nov. 19, 1799.

Joseph Habersham (1751–1815) Third Assistant Postmaster General of the U.S., 1795–1801. b. July 28, 1751 in Savannah, Ga., son of James Habersham, q.v. He was one of first members of the commission appointed by the Friends of Liberty in Georgia in 1774, and upon hearing of the skirmish at Lexington, they seized the powder in the royal magazine at Savannah. He was a member of a party that captured a government ship with munitions, including 15,000 pounds of powder, in July, 1775. On Jan. 18, 1776, while a member of the state assembly, he raised a body of volunteers who took Gov. Wright prisoner and confined him to his house under guard (his father had served as governor of Georgia 1769–72 during the absence of Wright). As a major of the 1st Georgia battalion he defended Savannah from a British naval attack in March, 1776. When Savannah fell to the British, he moved with his family to Va., but returned to participate in the disastrous attack on Savannah in 1779. Attained rank of lieutenant colonel at close of war and later served in the state assembly, being its speaker in 1785 and 1790. He was a member of Solomons Lodge No. 1, Savannah as were his father and brother John, q.v. d. Nov. 17, 1815.

George, 11th Earl of Haddington (1827–1917) Seventy-third Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1892–93.

Lord George Haddo Thirty-Fifth Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1784–85.

Countess Hadik–Barkoczy (see under Barkoczy).

Henry H. Hadley (1841–1903) Prohibitionist. b. 1841 in Ohio. He served in the Civil War with the Ohio volunteer infantry from 1862–66, rising from private to lieutenant colonel. Graduate of National Law U. at Washington in 1875. When “converted” in 1886, he went into the rescue mission work, organizing 60 rescue missions and several total abstinence societies. He raised $258,000 for their support and addressed over 5,000 audiences on the subject of total abstinence. Raised in Progressive Lodge No. 354, Brooklyn, N.Y.

on March 20, 1871, he affiliated with Metropolitan Lodge No. 273, New York City on May 11, 1882, and became unaffiliated Dec. 9, 1886. d. in 1903.

Herbert S. Hadley (1872–1927) Governor of Missouri, 1909–13. b. Feb. 20, 1872 at Olathe, Kans. Graduate of U. of Kansas and Northwestern U., with honorary doctorates from U. of Missouri, Mo. Valley Coll. and Harvard. Was in general law practice in Kansas City from 1894–98. As attorney general of Mo., from 1905–09, he prosecuted cases against several large trusts and race track gamblers of St. Louis. After term as governor, he resumed practice in Kansas City. From 1917–23 he was professor of law at the U. of Colorado and chancellor of Washington U., St. Louis from 1923–27. He was the author of Rome and the World Today, a scholarly treatise, for which he was honored by the Italian government. He was raised in Temple Lodge No. 299, Kansas City, Mo., and withdrew on Dec. 20, 1916, affiliating with Columbia Lodge No. 14 of Boulder, Colo., March 6, 1921. He was a member of this lodge at the time of his death. In 1913 he was the grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Missouri. In 1924 he presided over a Flag Day service at the Scottish Rite Temple in St. Louis. He was a member of Orient Chapter No. 102, R.A.M. Kansas City, receiving his degrees, Nov. 23, Nov. 29, and Dec. 13, 1895, and withdrawing on Dec. 26, 1916. Also member of Oriental Commandery No. 35, K.T. of Kansas City, receiving the orders on Nov. 22 and Dec. 2, 1899 and withdrawing on Jan. 5, 1917. d. Dec. 1, 1927.

Hiram E. Hadley (1854–1929) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Washington, 1907–09. b. Jan. 16, 1854, at Sylvania, Ind. Practiced law in Bloomington, Ill. (1877–81) and Rockville, Ind. (1881–89), moving to Whatcom, Wash. in 1889. Served as supreme court justice from 1901–09, declining reelection to resume practice. Mason. d. Jan. 13, 1929.

Lindley H. Hadley (1861–1948) U.S. Congressman to 64th to 72nd Congresses (1915–33) from 2nd Wash. dist. b. June 19, 1861 near Sylvania, Ind. Admitted to Ind. bar in 1889, moving to Whatcom, Wash. in 1890 where he established law practice. He was a brother of Hiram E. Hadley, q.v., Mason, Knight Templar. d. Nov. 1, 1948.

Fitzhugh W. Haensel (1879–1944) Impresario. b. Jan. 11, 1879 at Richmond, Va. He first entered newspaper work in New York City, specializing in musical reviews and criticism. In 1905 he founded and was president of Haensel & Jones. He was director and vice president of Columbia Concerts Corp., and president of Community Concerts Corp. Member of Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City, receiving degrees on Oct. 25, Nov. 8 and Nov. 22, 1921; Knight Templar, 32° AASR (NJ) and Shriner. d. May 3, 1944.

Harold C. Hagen (1901–1957) U.S. Congressman, 78th to 81st Congresses (1943–51) from 9th Minn. dist. b. Nov. 10, 1901 at Crookston, Minn. Started as newspaper reporter in 1920, and was a publisher of weekly newspaper from 1928–32; salesman until 1934, and congressional secretary from 1934–42. Member of Crookston Lodge No. 141, Crookston, Minn. being raised June 30, 1944. d. March 25, 1957.

Lawrence W. Hager Newspaper publisher. b. May 28, 1890 in Louisville, Ky. Graduate of Centre Coll., Danville, Ky. President and editor of the Owensboro Inquirer and Owensboro Messenger (Ky.). Has been with the former since 1910 and the latter since 1929. He is also president of the Owensboro Broadcasting Co. since 1938. He was national chairman of the American Legion publicity committee which launched The National Legionnaire, a weekly newspaper, in 1935. Member of the American Legion publications committee since 1939. Mason and Knight Templar.

Maurice S. Hague (1862–1943) Artist. b. May 13, 1862 in Richmond, Ohio. Studied medicine for three years but abandoned it for art. He was a portrait painter until 1895, when he switched to landscape painting. He was self-educated in art. His works are in private collections throughout the country. He exhibited at Boston, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Buffalo, Cleveland, and Columbus. From 1888–1903 he was a basso in the Scottish Rite Quartet, and was a member of the Orpheus Club, a noted malechorus. Mason 32° AASR (NJ). d. Feb. 3, 1943.

Ernest H. Hahne (1890–?) President of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. b. Oct. 20, 1890 at Walker, Kans. Graduate of U. of Nebraska, Harvard and U. of Chicago. Admitted to Nebraska bar in 1913. He has taught at Dakota Wesleyan U. and Northwestern U., serving as assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts of the latter from 1925–30. Mason. Deceased.

Samuel Hahnemann (1755–1843) German physician and founder of homeopathy. His full name was ChristaM Friedrich Samuel. He practiced at Leipzig, Germany from 1816–22, but retired to Cothorn after being driven from Leipzig by apothecaries, for dispensing medicines. In 1835 he moved to Paris. While translating Cullen's Materia Media into German, he noticed the similarity between the effects of Peruvian bark (cinchona) on a healthy person and the symptoms of disease cured by the bark. After further investigations, he announced the principle that a disease could be cured by a drug that would produce symptoms in a healthy person similar to those in a diseased one. He expounded the homeopathic system of medicine in his Organon der Rationellen Hefikunde (1810). He was initiated in a lodge in Hermanstadt, Germany in 1777, and affiliated with the Lodge Minerva in Leipzig in 1817. b. April 10, 1755 at Meissen, Saxony and d. July 2, 1843 in Paris.

Douglas Haig (1861–1928) British Field Marshal, created 1st Earl of Haig in 1919. b. June 19, 1861 in Cameronbridge, Fife, Scotland. He served in the Sudan in 1898, and the Boer War from 1899 to 1902, and in India from 1903–06. He was made a major general in 1904; lieutenant general in 1910; general in 1914; and field marshal in 1917. In WWI he commanded the 1st Army from 1914–15, and was commander-in-chief of the expeditionary forces in France and Flanders from 1915–19. After the war he was commander-in-chief of the Home Forces in Great Britian until 1921. He was initiated in Elgin Lodge No. 91 at Leven, Scotland on Dec. 27, 1881. After 43 years, he was passed on Feb. 2, 1924, and raised on March 4, 1924. Haig was installed master of Elgin Lodge, Dec. 1, 1925. He also received the Mark Master degree in his lodge in 1925.

On Dec. 3, 1924 he was installed as junior grand deacon of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. He was elected an honorary member of Lodge Canongate Kilwinning No. 2, Edinburgh in May, 1924. d. Jan. 29, 1928.

Henry H. Haight (1825–1878) Governor of California, 1867–71. b. May 20, 1825 in Rochester, N.Y. His father was U.S. judge for the district of California. Haight was graduated from Yale in 1844, studied law and was admitted to the bar at St. Louis in Oct., 1846. He moved to California in 1850. He was appointed U.S. district judge by President Lincoln. He resumed private law practice after his term as governor. He was a member of Pacific Lodge No. 136 of San Francisco and served as grand orator of the Grand Lodge of California. He was also a member of San Francisco Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. d. Sept. 2, 1878.

Harry L. Haines (1880–1947) U.S. Congressman, 72nd to 75th Congresses (1931–39) from 22nd Pa. dist. b. Feb. 1, 1880 at Red Lion, Pa. He was a cigar manufacturer from 1906. Member of Red Lion Lodge No. 649, Red Lion, Pa., receiving degrees on March 8, May 3 and May 31, 1917. d. March 30, 1947.

William T. Haines (1854–1919) Governor of Maine, 1913–14. b. Aug. 7, 1854 at Levant, Maine. Graduate of U. of Maine in 1876, and Albany Law School (N.Y.) in 1878. He began practice in Waterville, Maine, in 1879. He served as a member of both state legislative bodies and was attorney general from 1897–1901. Raised Aug. 29, 1877 in Kenduskeag Lodge No.

137, Kenduskeag, Maine, and affiliated with Messalonskee Lodge No. 113, Oakland in 1879, and on April 27, 1893, affiliated with Waterville Lodge No. 33, Waterville, Maine. He was exalted on May 20, 1880 in Drummond Chapter No. 27, R.A.M. of Oakland, and became a charter member of Teconnet Chapter No. 52, Waterville in 1893; knighted May 13, 1881 in St. Omer Commandery No. 12, K.T. of Waterville. Joined Maine Consistory, AASR (NJ) May 29, 1908 and Kora Shrine Temple Dec. 8, 1898. He was active in building the mosque at Lewiston. d. June 4, 1919.

Sherrill Halbert Federal Judge. b. Oct. 17, 1901 at Terra Bella, Calif. Graduate of U. of California, and admitted to bar in 1927. Practiced in Porterville, Calif. from 1927–36; San Francisco, 1942–44 and Modesto, 1944–49. He was judge of the superior court of Calif. from 1949–54, and since 1954, has been U.S. district judge of Northern Calif. Mason.

John A. Halderman (1833–?) Union Major General in Civil War and diplomat. b. April 15, 1838 in Mo. and spent his boyhood in Ky. He emigrated to Kans. in 1854, and served as private secretary to that state's first governor. He served in both houses of the Kans. legislature and was twice mayor of Leavenworth. He entered the army as a major and advanced to major general, being named in official orders for conspicuous gallantry in action. He was one of the leaders in Kans. to abolish slavery. He was U.S. consul in Bangkok, Siam in 1880, later consul general, and from 1882–85 minister resident in Siam. He received his degrees in Leavenworth Lodge No. 2, Leavenworth, Kans. on Oct 6, 1855, Feb. 6 and Feb. 23, 1856.

He served the lodge as junior warden in 1863, and was first grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Kansas in 1856. He also served in four grand lodge committees. He dimitted July 18, 1870, and there is no Masonic record of him after that date.

Fletcher Hale (1883–1931) U.S. Congressman to 69th to 71st Congresses (1927–31) from 1st N.H. dist. b. Jan. 22, 1883 at Portland, Maine. Graduate of Dartmouth U. in 1905. Admitted to bar in 1908, and practiced at Littleton, N.H. until 1912, and from that time at Laconia. Member of Mount Lebanon Lodge No. 32, Laconia, N.H., receiving degrees on June 6, Oct. 3 and Nov. 20, 1917. d. Oct. 22, 1931.

Garth Hale (See Albert B. Cunningham).

Harry C. Hale (1861–1946) Major General, U.S. Army. b. July 10, 1861 at Knoxville, Ill. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1883, and rose through grades to major general in 1921. In 1891 he was in charge of the Sioux Indian prisoners of war in S.D. During the Manila campaign, he was aide to General Merritt and during the Philippine Insurrection of 1899–1902, he was battery commander of the 44th U.S. Volunteers. After this action, he joined the General Staff, but returned to the Philippines from 1906–09. In WWI he first commanded Camp Zachary Taylor at Louisville, Ky., and then the 84th Division overseas. From 1922 to his retirement in 1925, he commanded the 6th Corps Area in Chicago. He was raised in Dearborn Lodge No. 310 of Chicago on Feb. 12, 1925. d. March 20, 1946.

Nathan Hale (1755–1776) American Revolutionary patriot, whose last words before being hanged by the British as a spy were: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country." b. June 6, 1755 at Coventry, Conn. He was graduated from Yale in 1773 and taught school until 1775, when shortly after the Battle of Lexington, he was commissioned a lieutenant in the Continental army. In 1776 he was promoted to a captain. He volunteered for hazardous spy duty behind the British lines on Long Island in response to a call from General Washington. He was caught and ordered executed by Sir William Howe, who refused his request for a Bible or a chaplain. He was hanged Sept. 22, 1776 in an orchard at the present junction of Market St. and East Broadway in New York City. It is almost certain that Hale was not a Freemason although he is often referred to as such. James R. Case, Conn. Masonic historian believes that the confusion is caused by the initiation of Colonel Nathan Hale of New Hampshire (d. 1780) in St. John's Lodge of Portsmouth. The martyr, Nathan Hale is sometimes referred to as a member of "St. John's Regimental Lodge of New York City."

Oscar Hale Judge, Supreme Court of Iowa from 1939. b. Feb. 27, 1867 at Wapello, Iowa. Admitted to the bar in 1893, and practiced at Wapello until 1913, when he became a judge of the district court. Mason and Knight Templar.

Samuel W. Hale (1823–1891) Forty-second Governor of New Hampshire. b. April 2, 1823 at Fitchburg, Mass. A manufacturer of chairs at Keene, N.H. He was inaugurated governor on June 7, 1883. Member of Social Friends Lodge No. 42, Keene, N.H. receiving his degrees Feb. 4, April 8, and July 15, 1861. d. Oct. 16, 1891 at the home of his brother, John M. Hale, in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Theodore Hale Vice President of International Harvester Co. in charge of sales since 1944. b. Oct. 26, 1896 in Madison, Wis. He started with International Harvester in 1915 as a warehouse helper. Served in France during WWI with 164th Infantry. Mason, 32° AASR (NJ) and Shriner.

William W. Hale Vice President of Southern Pacific Railroad in charge of freight traffic since 1942. b. March 15, 1887 at Solomon, Kans. With Southern Pacific since 1901. Mason.

James A. Haley President and Director of Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey Circus, from 1946–48, and U.S. Congressman to 83rd and 84th Congresses from 7th Fla. dist. b. Jan. 4, 1899 at Jacksonville, Ala. From 1920–33 he was an accountant at Sarasota, Fla., and from 1933–43 was general manager of John Ringling estate. From 1943–45 he was 1st vice president of Ringling Circus, and president of same from 1946–48. Member of Sarasota Lodge No. 147, Sarasota, Fla.

Arthur E. Hall Vice President, Treasurer and General Manager of Chicago Daily News since 1953. b. Oct. 22, 1898 at Covington, Ky. He was a public accountant from 1920–29, becoming associated with the Chicago paper on the latter date as a auditor, and rising as controller, assistant treasurer, circulation director. Mason.

Charles B. Hall (?–1883) First President of American

Bankers Association in 1875. He served three terms and asked to be relieved of a fourth. Member of Revere Lodge, Boston, Mass. in 1858. d. May 8, 1883.

Charles B. Hall (1844–1914) Major General, U.S. Army. b. April 29, 1844 at Portland, Maine. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the 25th Maine Volunteer Infantry in 1862, and in 1867 commissioned second lieutenant in the U.S. Army, serving in the 28th Infantry. He was promoted through the grades to major general in 1908, and retired that year. Was twice cited in Civil War for gallantry. He later commanded the Infantry, Cavalry and Signal Schools as well as the Army Staff Coll. Served as master of Hancock Lodge No. 311, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans. d. May 11, 1914.

Charles F. Hall Episcopal Bishop of New Hampshire since 1948. b. April 20, 1908 in Dorchester, N.B., Canada. Graduate of Springfield Coll., Episcopal Theol. School and Tufts Coll. Ordained deacon in 1936, and priest in 1937, he served churches in Worcester and Medford, Mass. and Concord, N.H. from 1936–48. Mason and received 33° AASR (NJ) in 1952.

David Hall (1714–1772) Printer and business partner of Benjamin Franklin, q.v. b. in Edinburgh, Scotland. He learned the printing trade in that city and later worked in London. He came to America about 1747 and entered into a partnership with Franklin until May, 1766, when it was dissolved, and he formed another with William Sellen. As a member of these firms he was one of the printers of the Pennsylvania Gazette. The latter firm printed the paper money issued by Congress during the Revolutionary War. After his death, his sons, William, q.v., and David became the partners of Sellen. Hall was a member of Lodge No. 2 in 1760, and in 1761 was senior warden of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania. d. Dec. 24, 1772.

David Hall (1752–1817) Governor of Delaware, 1802–05. b. Jan. 4, 1752 in Lewes, Del. He was the son of David Hall, q.v., the printer and partner of Benjamin Franklin, q.v. He was admitted to the bar in 1773. During the Revolution he served as a captain in Haslet's Delaware regiment in 1776, and the following year was made colonel of the Delaware regiment. He was wounded at the Battle of Germantown, Oct. 4, 1777, sent home, and never returned to active duty. He was raised in Lodge No. 18 at Dover, Del. on May 18, 1776 (under Pa. charter). He was later master of Hiram's Delaware Regimental Lodge No. 30 under Pa. charter, and was charter master of Lodge No. 63, Lewes, Del. whose charter was granted May 28, 1794. d. Sept. 18, 1817.

Elijah Hall Naval Captain of Revolutionary War, who was a lieutenant under John Paul Jones, q.v., on the Ranger. He commanded a marine battery during the siege of Charleston, S.C. Hall was second in command to Jones in the naval battle between the Bonhomme Richard and the Serapis of Flamborough Head in 1779. He was raised in St. John's Lodge No. 1, Portsmouth, N.H., on June 26, 1777.

Henry C. Hall (1820–1901) Foreign service officer. b. Aug. 17, 1820 in Dutchess Co., N.Y. He had nearly 30 consecutive years in the consular and diplomatic service of the U.S. in Cuba and Central America. He was known as the “father of the Nicaragua canal,” and was instrumental in breaking up the coolie slave trade in Cuba. He was initiated in Sylvan Grove Lodge No. 274 of N.Y.C., on March 25, 1856. His father-in-law, Antonio Echeverria, a Cuban merchant of Italian descent, claimed that his life was saved by a pirate captain who had once seized his ship. Just before “walking the plank,” he recognized the pirate captain as a Mason. The pirate spared his life and all the men in the crew. At Hall’s death, the secretary of the lodge wrote Mrs. Hall, “In his death, this lodge has lost one of its oldest members, an upright and true Mason, an honor to the fraternity and this lodge.” d. Oct. 29, 1901.

John Hall (1767–1833) Judge, Supreme Court of North Carolina, 1818–32. b. in Waynesboro, Va., he went to N.C. at an early age and was educated at William and Mary Coll. He settled in Warrenton in 1792 and became eminent as a lawyer. He was judge of the superior court of N.C. from 1801–18. Member of Johnson Caswell Lodge No. 10 of Warrenton, he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina from 1805–07. d. Jan. 29, 1833.

Lee D. Hall Justice, Supreme Court of Mississippi since 1948. b. Nov. 20, 1893 at Laurel, Miss. Graduate of Mississippi Coll. in 1912, and U. of Mississippi in 1915. Admitted to bar in 1915 and practiced in Columbia until 1948. He received his degrees in St. Alban’s Lodge No. 60, Columbia, Miss. and served as master of the same. A member of Columbia Chapter No. 123, R.A.M. and Columbia Council No. 25, R. & S.M., both of Columbia, he served as high priest of the chapter. Member of Hattiesburg Commandery No. 21, K.T. Hattiesburg; 33° AASR (SJ) at Jackson; Wahabi Shrine Temple of Jackson and St. Leonard Conclave No. 64, Red Cross of Constantine, Jackson.

Leicester C. Hall (1874–1950) Saved from hanging by a Masonic sign. As an attorney representing the city of Los Angeles in a water project, he was kidnapped by a band of Bishop, Calif. citizens and ranchers, Aug. 29, 1924, taken to the outskirts of the town, and strung up to the limb of a tree. As he was dangling in the air, Hall gave a Masonic signal of distress, and was immediately cut down and revived by his kidnappers, whose names he refused to reveal in the face of an Inyo Co. jury inquiry. He died of natural causes at the Sawtelle Veterans Hospital, Glendale, Calif., 26 years after having been “hanged.”

Leonard W. Hall U.S. Congressman, 76th to 81st Congresses (1939–51) from 2nd N.Y. dist. b. Oct. 2, 1900 at Oyster Bay, N.Y. Was graduated from Georgetown U. in 1920, admitted to bar the following year and began practice in New York City. Mason.

Luther E. Hall (1869–1921) Governor of Louisiana, 1912–16. b. Aug. 30, 1869 at Morehouse Parish, La. Graduate of Washington and Lee U. and Tulane U. Began law practice at Bastrop, La. in 1892, and served in the state senate from 1898–1900. He served as a district judge from 1900–06, judge of the court of appeals from 1906–10, and justice of the supreme and Prince Hall court from 1910. Received his degrees in Mt.

Gerizim Lodge No. 54, Bastrop, La. on April 24, May 29, June 26, 1893. He served as master of this lodge. On Feb. 6, 1917 he affiliated with Ideal Lodge No. 367, New Orleans, as a charter member. He was past district deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Louisiana. d. Nov. 6, 1921.

Lyman Hall (1724–1790) Signer of Declaration of Independence and Governor of Georgia one term (1783). b. April 12, 1724 at Wallingford, Conn. He was graduated from Yale in 1747, studied medicine, and moved to Georgia in 1752, where he acquired a large practice. He took an active part in the pre-Revolutionary movements and was influential in causing Georgia to join the other colonies. In 1775 he was elected by the parish of St. John to congress and served until 1780. When the British took possession of Georgia, he moved with his family to the north, and all his property was confiscated by the Crown. He returned to Georgia in 1782. It is thought that he was a member of Solomon Lodge No. 1, Savannah, Ga., but the records of that lodge from 1734–84 were destroyed by the British and his membership cannot be proved. d. Oct. 19, 1790.

Manly P. Hall Founder-President of The Philosophical Research Society, Inc., an educational corporation devoted to the study of comparative religion, idealistic philosophy and analytical psychology. b. March 18, 1901 in Peterborough, Ont., Canada. He has been an author, lecturer, editor and teacher at Los Angeles, Calif. since 1919. He has lectured in Carnegie Hall, Town Hall, India, England. He is the discoverer of a unique Aztec manuscript named Coder Hall.

He has made numerous radio and television appearances and is a motion picture writer and technical consultant. Among his many writings are An Encyclopedic Outline of Masonic, Hermetic, Quabbalistic and Rosicrucian Symbolical Philosophy; The Lost Keys of Freemasonry; Freemasonry of the Ancient Egyptians, and Masonic Orders of the Fraternity. He was raised in Jewel Lodge No. 374, San Francisco on Nov. 22, 1954 and 32° AASR (SJ) in Valley of San Francisco. Made knight patron of the Masonic Research Group of San Francisco in 1953.

Peirson Hall U.S. District Judge for Southern California since 1942. b. July 31, 1894 at Armour, S.D. Admitted to bar in 1916 and practiced in Los Angeles until appointed to bench as judge of the superior court of Los Angeles Co. in 1939. Mason.

Prince Hall (1748–1807) First Negro Freemason in the United States and one for whom the Negro Prince Hall Grand Lodges are named. b. Sept. 12, 1748 in Bridgetown, Barbadoes, British West Indies. He was the son of Thomas Prince Hall, an Englishman, whose wife was a free Negro of French descent. “Prince” is not a title, but a first name. Other sources place his birth date as 1735, and also 1738. In 1765 he arrived in Boston, and through eight years of frugal living, he saved enough money to become a freeholder and voter. In 1774 he was converted under the preaching of two pioneer Methodists, Richard Bondman and Joseph Gilmore. Using his evenings for study, Hall became an ordained Methodist preacher in Cambridge, Mass., and a leader of his race in New England. On March 6, 1775, he was made a Master

Mason, together with 14 other free Negroes of Boston, in a British Army lodge of Irish register that was attached to one of General Gage's regiments. The lodge gave them the privilege of meeting, marching in procession, and burying their dead, but not to confer degrees. In the Revolutionary War, he espoused the cause of the Colonies and as the spokesman for the Negroes, he won Washington's approval of the service of free Negroes in the Continental Army. Five thousand responded. In March, 1784, Hall petitioned the Grand Lodge of England for a charter which was issued Sept. 29, 1784, but was not delivered until April 29, 1787. Delivery was made by Captain James Scott, a seafaring man, who was a brother-in-law of John Hancock, q.v. On May 6, 1787, African Lodge No. 459 was established. Four years later—on June 24, 1791—the African Grand Lodge was formed with Prince Hall as grand master. The name was changed on June 24, 1808 to the M.W. Prince Hall Grand Lodge, F. & A.M. of Massachusetts, honoring their first grand master who had died on Dec. 4, 1807 (this has been given as both Dec. 7 and 1808 by some authors). The original charter of African Lodge No. 459 is still preserved. It was issued by the authority of the Duke of Cumberland, q.v., and attested to by William White, q.v., grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of England. Today there are 38 Prince Hall grand lodges in the U.S. and one each in Canada, Liberia and Africa. All claim descent from the original Mass, grand lodge. In 1864 the Prince Hall Masons of Mass. purchased a plot of ground in Arlington, Mass. for a cemetery, and a year later erected a monument to the memory of Prince Hall on Copp's Hill. Hall led the movement to secure educational facilities for Negro children and was a passionate advocate of equality before the law. He is described as an eloquent, persuasive speaker, an ardent patriot and a devoted Freemason. Unquestionably he is the “father of Negro Freemasonry” in the United States.

Reynold T. Hall (1858–1934) Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Nov. 5, 1858 at Philadelphia, Pa. He was appointed assistant engineer in the Navy in 1880 and advanced through grades to rear admiral in Dec. 1914, retiring in 1922. He was chief engineer of the U.S.S. Petrel under Dewey in the Battle of Manila Bay, May 1, 1898, and manager of Cavite Navy Yard during the Spanish–American War of 1898. He was made a Mason in Merchantville Lodge No. 119, Merchantville, N.J. on April 20, 1880, dimitted April 14, 1916, and on May 31, same year affiliated with Franklin Lodge No. 34, Philadelphia, Pa. He was master of this lodge in 1921. He was exalted in Jerusalem Chapter No. 8, R.A.M. of New York City, May 15, 1908, received the 32° AASR (NJ) in New York City, Jan. 5, 1909, and 33°, Sept. 21, 1920. He served as first vice president and trustee of the National Sojourners. d. Feb. 10, 1934.

Robert H. Hall (1837–1914) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Nov. 15, 1837 at Detroit, Mich. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1860. He was breveted brigadier general of volunteers in 1898, and in regular army in 1901. Serving throughout the Civil War, he was cited for bravery in the battles of Lookout Mountain and Weldon (Va.). After the war he served on the frontier until 1871, and at the U.S. Military academy 1871–88. He later commanded Ft. Sheridan, Ill., and served in the Philippines during the 1899–1900 insurrection. Mason. d. Dec. 29, 1914.

Robert S. Hall (1879–1941) U.S. Congressman 71st and 72nd Congresses (1929–33) from 6th Miss. dist. b. March 10, 1879 at Williamsburg, Miss. Admitted to bar in 1900 and practiced at Hattiesburg. Was member of state senate one term, and district judge for eleven years. Raised in Hattiesburg Lodge No. 397, Hattiesburg, Miss. on Feb. 26, 1912. Suspended twice for NPD; last one on Aug. 8, 1934. Member of Hattiesburg Chapter No. 114, R.A.M. and Liberty Council R. & S.M., suspended in each in 1920. d. June 10, 1941.

Willard Hall (1780–1875) U.S. District Judge and founder of the public school system of Delaware. b. Dec. 24, 1780 in Westford, Mass. He was graduated from Harvard in 1799 and was admitted to the bar in 1803. He moved to Dover, Del., in that year and practiced there for 20 years. He served two terms as secretary of state for Delaware, and in the U.S. congress from 1817–21. He was appointed U.S. district judge for Delaware by President Monroe in 1823, holding this office until retirement in 1872. He revised the state laws by order of the general assembly in 1829, and in 1831 was a member of the state constitutional convention. He advocated the establishment of public schools, and suggested the plan that was adopted in 1829. Member of Union Lodge No. 5, of Middletown, Del., and was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Delaware from 1817–19. d. May 10, 1875.

William Hall (1774–1856) Governor of Tennessee and Major General of militia. b. in Virginia. He served in the Indian wars and commanded a regiment of Tenn. riflemen under General Jackson, q.v., in the War of 1812. He served in the state legislature for a number of years and became governor on the resignation of Samuel Houston, q.v., in 1820. He served in the U.S. congress from 1831–33. Member of King Solomon Lodge No. 6, Gallatin, Tenn. d. in Oct. 1856.

William P. Hall (1864–1937) Founder and President of The Hall Signal Co., he introduced automatic block signals on many American railways. b. Feb. 1, 1864 at Stamford, Conn. A prominent lay evangelist of the Methodist Episcopal Church, he was vice president of the American Bible Society, and president of the Bible League of North America. Past master of Acacia Lodge No. 85, Greenwich, Conn. and Knight Templar. d. Aug. 14, 1937.

Fitz–Greene Halleck (1790–1867) American Poet. b. July 8, 1790 in Guilford, Conn. Original family name was “Hallock.” He was interested in poetry from early childhood. He served as a bank clerk in New York City from 1811–29, and in 1832 entered the employment of the fur baron, John Jacob Astor, q.v., as a confidential clerk. He was able to retire in 1849 with a yearly stipend of forty pounds granted him by Astor. He then lived with a maiden sister in his home town of Guilford, Conn. He was best known for Fanny, a satire on fashion; Green Be the Turf Above Thee, an eulogy on the death of a friend; Marco Bozzaris; Poetical Works; and Alnwick Castle, With Other Poems. His portrait was painted by Jarvis, Morse, Inman, Waldo, Elliott and Hicks. In May 1877, a life-size bronze statue of him was dedicated in Central Park, New York—the first statue to a poet in the new world. Attending the ceremonies were the president of the U.S., his cabinet, and many prominent citizens including the poets Bryant, Boker, Bayard Taylor, and John G. Whittier. He was made a Mason in Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City in 1815. He was a member of Columbian Commandery, No. 1, K.T. of New York City and must have been suspended at one time, for he reinstated in the same, on Dec. 13, 1833. He was grand standard bearer of the Grand Commandery, K.T. of New York in 1817–18. d. Nov. 19, 1867.

Harry L. S. Halley Justice, Supreme Court of Oklahoma since 1949; Chief Justice, 1953–55. b. Sept 5, 1894 at Antlers, Okla. Graduate of U. of Oklahoma in 1917. Practiced in Tulsa from 1918–49. He served in WWI as an Infantry captain, and in WWII as a lieutenant colonel in Africa, Italy, and France. Received his degrees in Delta Chapter No. 425, Tulsa, Okla. in 1923; 32° AASR (SJ) at Guthrie; Shriner and member of High Twelve.

James G. Halliwell-Phillips (1820–1889) English antiquarian, librarian I On A. S. Hall-Johnson and Shakespearean scholar. Although not a Mason, the fraternity owes him a debt of gratitude, for in his work he found a document erroneously catalogued as “A Poem of Moral Duties,” which was actually a Masonic constitution. Experts believe it was written about 1390, making it the oldest known Masonic document. It was called the Regius Manuscript or Regius Poem, but more often The Halliwell Manuscript, in his honor. He published it in 1840, with a brochure entitled On the Introduction of Freemasonry Into England. His original name was “Halliwell,” but in 1872 he added his wife’s surname of “Phillips.” As librarian of Jesus College, Cambridge, he concentrated on the writers Camden, Percy, and Shakespeare, collecting many of their works and rarities. He also published Nursery Rhymes of England; Dictionary of Archaic and Provincial Words; and Outlines of Life of Shakespeare.

A. S. Hall-Johnson Masonic lecturer and writer. b. July 25, 1891 in Bingham, Nottinghamshire, England. A long time resident of Argentina, he was initiated into Excelsior Lodge No. 617, Buenos Aires, on Dec. 7, 1922. He is grand representative of the grand lodges of Connecticut and Colorado at the Grand Lodge of Argentine. Holds honorary memberships in many lodges; 18° AASR and prominent in Royal Arch, Mark and Knight Templar work. He has written and privately printed more than 50 papers on Masonic subjects which he has distributed free throughout the world. He is a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society; Royal Society of Arts; Royal Economic Society; honorary life president of the Johnson Society River Plata and member of many learned societies. A veteran of WWI, he is a licensed reader of the Church of England.

Charles G. Halpine (1829–1868) Author and poet. b. Nov. 20, 1829 in Oldcastle, County Meath, Ireland. His father was editor of the Evening Mail, the chief Protestant paper of Dublin. Was graduated at Trinity Coll. Dublin, in 1846. Came to New York in 1852, where he worked on the New York Herald. For a time he was assistant editor of the Boston Post, and finally associate editor of the New York Times. In 1856 he became part owner and editor of the New York Leader.

He served in the Civil War as a major, and was with the 69th New York Infantry, and later, on General Hunter's staff. As the result of his war experiences he later wrote under the pseudonym of "Private Miles O'Reilly." He wrote Life and Adventures of Private Miles O'Reilly; Baked Meats of the Funeral and others. After the war he became editor and proprietor of The Citizen, a New York City paper that advocated reforms in the civil administration of that city. He was a member of Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City. d. Aug. 3, 1868.

Frederick Halsey (1870–1952) Canon of Church of England. Graduate of Magdalen Coll., Oxford, he was ordained in 1894. He succeeded his brother, Admiral Lionel Halsey, q.v., as deputy grand master for the province of Hertfordshire in the Grand Lodge of England, on the former's death in 1949, and was installed Jan. 19, 1950. His father, Sir Thomas F., q.v., held that position for 50 years. He was deputy grand master of the Mark Grand Lodge of England from 1936. A Mason for 60 years, he was initiated in Apollo University Lodge No. 357 at Oxford while still a student. He was also past grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of England. d. Jan. 31, 1952.

Sir Lionel Halsey (1872–1949) Admiral of British Navy. In WWI he took part in the Battles of Helgoland Bight (1914) and Dogger Bank (1915), and from 1917–18 was third sea lord. He commanded the Australian navy from 1918–20. Promoted to vice admiral in 1921 and admiral in 1926. From 1920–36 he was comptroller and treasurer to the Prince of Wales. He was deputy grand master of Hertfordshire for 19 years and was succeeded by his brother, Canon Frederick Halsey, q.v., in this position. Previously, their father, Sir Thomas F. Halsey, q.v., served in that capacity for 50 years.

Sir Thomas F. Halsey (1839–1927) Deputy Grand Master of United Grand Lodge of England from 1903–27. b. Dec. 9, 1839 at Temple Dinsley, Hertfordshire, England. Educated at Eton and received M.A. degree from Christchurch Coll., Oxford. He represented the county of Hertfordshire in the house of commons from 1874–85, and the Watford division of the country from 1885–1903. In 1901 he was appointed a member of the privy council of Great Britain. Initiated in Apollo University Lodge. No. 357 at Oxford in Jan., 1861, he joined Westminster and Keystone Lodge No. 10, London, and was master in 1867, and master of Watford Lodge No. 404 the following year. He was a founder of the Hertfordshire Imperial Yeomanry Lodge No. 3192 and a joining member of Berkhamstead Lodge No. 504. In 1873 he was appointed provincial grand master for Hertfordshire and held this position for 50 years. Two of his sons were named to this office: Sir Lionel Halsey, q.v., and Canon Frederick Halsey, q.v. He was also first master of Hertfordshire Masters Lodge No. 4090 in 1920. He was exalted in Watford Chapter, R.A.M. on Sept. 28, 1863 and was first principal in 1871, and in 1903 was second grand principal of the Supreme Grand Chapter of England. d. Feb. 12, 1927.

Joseph S. Halstead (1818–1925) A pioneer physician who at one time was the oldest Freemason in the world, living to be 107 years of age and a Mason for 80 years. b. March 4, 1818 at Lexington, Ky., he worked his way through the Transylvania Medical Coll., and traveled through Kentucky, Indiana, and Illinois before coming to Missouri to establish a practice. In Missouri, he looked over the towns of Boonville and Chillicothe, but finally settled in Richmond. His wife was the daughter of Gov. Wickliffe, q.v., of Ky. Henry Clay was among Dr. Halstead's patients, and the latter prided himself on their correspondence. He later practiced in Lexington, Mo., but in 1860 moved to Caldwell Co., where he practiced farming near Breckenridge. He received his 50-year pin from the grand master of the Grand Lodge of Missouri. d. 1925.

Thomas L. Hamer (1800–1846) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. in Northumberland Co., Pa. in July, 1800. He moved to Ohio, studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1821. He practiced at Georgetown, Ohio. He served several years in the lower house and was its speaker at one time. He served in the U.S. congress from 1833–39, and as a congressman nominated Ulysses S. Grant to the U.S. Military Academy. (See interesting story under “Grant” on how Hamer made an error in his name that he carried thereafter.) He volunteered as a private in the Mexican War; however, he had to serve only one day as such, for the following day (July 1, 1846), his commission as brigadier general arrived. He distinguished himself at Monterrey, and commanded General Butler's division after the latter was wounded. He died in Monterrey, Mexico, on Dec. 2, 1846. Hamer was a member of New Caesarea Harmony Lodge No. 2 of Cincinnati, Ohio and was a Royal Arch Mason.

Alexander Hamilton (1757?–1804) American statesman and first U.S. Secretary of the Treasury (1789–95). b. on island of Nevis of Leeward Islands, West Indies. He served through the Revolution and was secretary and aide-de-camp to Washington. He showed a remarkable grasp of governmental, financial, and administrative problems. He was a member of the Continental Congress in 1782–83 and 1787–88. As secretary of the Treasury he planned and initiated policies establishing a national fiscal system, strengthened central government, stimulated trade, and developed national resources. In 1789 he was appointed inspector general of the Army with the rank of major general. In 1800 he was instrumental in defeating Aaron Burr for the presidency and for the governorship of New York in 1804. In a duel with Burr, q.v., on July 11, 1804, he was wounded, and died the next day. His Masonic membership has never been determined, although the majority of authorities believe he was never a Freemason. The latest work on this is by James R. Case in 1955, in which he comes to the conclusion that Hamilton was never a member of the Craft. Those who state that he was a Freemason base their claims principally on the fact that he was recorded among the visitors of American Union Lodge (military) at Morristown, N.J., on Dec. 27, 1779, at which time Washington is supposed to have raised General Lafayette, q.v. It is stated that it must have been the Alexander Hamilton because he was the only one of that name then holding a commission in the Army under Washington. It is also claimed in the painting The Petition, which shows the presentation of a petition to Washington to become general grand master of the United States, that Lieut. Col. Alexander Hamilton of New York is standing next to Washington. His youngest son, Philip, q.v., was a Mason and past master of his lodge.

David G. Hamilton (1842–1915) Railroad president and capitalist. b. Jan. 10, 1842 at Chicago, Ill. Graduate of Asbury (now DePauw) U. in 1865, 1868. He was president of the Anglo–American Land & Claim Assn. of Texas in 1890; president of Texas & Mexican Central R.R.; president of National Railway of Illinois and subsidiary companies, and president of the Chicago City R.R. Co. Member of Home Lodge No. 508, Chicago, Ill., receiving degrees on May 22, June 5 and June 12, 1874. He served the lodge as senior warden in 1877 and master in 1878. d. Feb. 16, 1915.

Duke of Hamilton (see Marquis Wm. Douglas).

Alexander, 10th Duke of Hamilton and Brandon
Fifty–third Grand Master Mason of Scotland, 1820–21.

George E. Hamilton (?–1945) Author of the “Iowa Corn Song.” He is said to have derived his inspiration from the tune Traveling, which he had heard Shrine bands play. Strange to say, it was the last line of his chorus (That’s where the tall corn grows) that gave him the most trouble in composing. It was this line which really made a “hit” of the song. He taught it to the various Iowa Shrine Temples and they serenaded Los Angeles with their new song, carrying printed ears of corn. The success of the song in Iowa was gradual. In 1921 Prof. J. T. Beeston, director of the Za–Ga–Zig band, wrote three new verses which retained the Shrine theme. Hamilton never got around to copyrighting it because he did not realize he had written a hit tune. Beeston’s verses and Hamilton’s chorus were printed in sheet music for the first time in 1921. A member of the chapter and council, Hamilton took the part of Nebuchadnezzar in the cryptic work for 35 years at Des Moines. He was secretary of the Des Moines Chamber of Commerce for 24 years, retiring in 1938. d. March 14, 1945.

Henry DeWitt Hamilton (1863–1942) Soldier, lawyer, and General I 17 Philip Hamilton Grand High Priest of the General Grand Chapter, R.A.M. in 1927. b. Feb. 26, 1863 in Whitehall, Ill. Educated at West Point and Columbia U. He was admitted to New York bar in 1884, and Rhode Island bar in 1923. He enlisted as a private in the New York national guard in 1884, and served in the Spanish–American War as a major. In 1913–14 he was adjutant general of New York; in WWI served as an Infantry colonel. In 1924 he was placed on the reserve list of the New York national guard as a brigadier general. In Dec., 1923 he was appointed adjutant general of Rhode Island. He was a close friend of Senator Gerry, q.v., and active in Democratic politics. He was raised in United States Lodge No. 207, March 6, 1889 (N.Y.C.) and became master in 1892. He served as district deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of New York in 1906–07. He was exalted in Constellation Chapter No. 209, Brooklyn on April 28, 1890 and served as high priest in 1899 and grand high priest in 1905. He was also a member of Adelphic Council, R. & SM., Clinton Commandery No. 14, K.T., and 33° AASR (NJ). He also belonged to Kismet Shrine Temple and Azim Grotto. d. Aug. 18, 1942.

James Hamilton (1710?–1783) Pre–Revolutionary Governor of Pennsylvania, and son of the famous Andrew Hamilton, the lawyer who made American legal history by his defense of the printer, John Peter Zenger, in 1735. James became a member of St. Johns Lodge, Philadelphia in 1734, and was grand master in 1735. He was elected to the provincial assembly in 1734 and reelected five times. He was mayor of Philadelphia in 1745, and a member of the provincial council in 1746. He was residing in London in 1748, when he was commissioned by the sons of William Penn as lieutenant governor of the province and territories. He resigned in 1754, when the news of the Indian outrages reached Philadelphia, and entered actively on the work of erecting a chain of forts and block-houses. He was again deputy governor from 1759–63, and on the departure of John Penn, he administered the government as president of the council until the arrival of Richard Penn in Oct., 1771. He was acting governor for the fourth time in 1773. d. Aug. 14, 1783.

John W. Hamilton (1845–?) Methodist Bishop. b. March 18, 1845 at Weston, Va. He was licensed to preach in the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1865; a deacon in 1868, and elder in 1870. He held pastorates at Newport, Ohio, Maplewood, Mass., Sommerville, Mass. Was made bishop in May, 1900. He was chancellor of the American U. at Washington, D.C. from 1916–22 and emeritus from that date until his death. Mason, deceased.

Paul Hamilton (1762–1816) Governor of South Carolina, 1804–06, and Secretary of Navy, 1809–13. b. in St. Paul's parish, S.C., Oct. 16, 1762. He rendered important services during the Revolution and was comptroller of S.C. from 1799–1804.

As secretary of the navy under James Madison, his policy was to keep our frigates in port to prevent their capture in the War of 1812, and the first great American victory of the Constitution was gained because Hull did not obey Hamilton's mandate "to remain in Boston until further orders!" He was a member of Lodge No. 8, Charleston, S.C. and past master of the same. In 1806 he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of South Carolina. d. June 30, 1816.

Philip Hamilton (1802–1884) Youngest son of Alexander Hamilton, q.v. Sometimes confused with the oldest son of the same name, who was killed in a duel, Nov. 24, 1801, on the same spot where his father was killed by Aaron Burr, q.v., three years later. The second "Philip" was born June 1, 1802. He was assistant district attorney in New York City, and for some time was judge advocate of the naval retiring board in Brooklyn. He was a member of Albion Lodge No. 26, being master of the same (New York City) in 1829. d. July 9, 1884.

Wilson H. Hamilton Justice, Supreme Court of Iowa. b. May 1, 1877 at Delta, Ia. Graduate of Drake U. in 1900. Admitted to bar in 1900 and practiced at Sigourney, Ia. Became associate justice of the supreme court in 1935, and was chief justice in 1937–38. Returned to private practice in Sigourney. Mason.

Joe B. Hamiter Justice, Supreme Court of Louisiana since 1943. b. Nov. 16, 1899 at Shreveport, La. Graduate of Louisiana State U. in 1923, and in private law practice in Shreveport until 1935, when appointed judge of court of appeal, 2nd circuit. Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner.

Harry G. Hamlet Rear Admiral, U.S. Coast Guard. Member and past master of Semper Paratus Lodge No. 49, Washington, D.C., and of National Sojourners. Received 33° AASR (SJ) on Oct. 19, 1943.

Leonidas L. Hamline (1797–1865) Methodist Episcopal Bishop. b. May 10, 1797 at Burlington, Conn. Early in life he moved to Ohio where he was admitted to the bar and practiced at Lancaster. He became a member of the Methodist church in 1828, and was soon afterward licensed to preach. He became assistant editor of the Western Christian Advocate at Cincinnati in 1836, and when the Ladies' Repository was started in 1840, he was its editor. He was ordained a bishop at the general conference in New York in June, 1844. It was at this meeting that the rupture between the northern and southern organizations started, and it is thought that a speech delivered by Hamline, at the time, greatly advanced the split. In 1852 he was released from his office as bishop at his own request, due to ill health. Hewas a member of Lafayette Lodge No. 79 of Zanesville, Ohio. d. March 23, 1865.

Wilbur E. Hammaker Methodist Bishop. b. Feb. 17, 1876 at Springfield, Ohio. Ordained to Methodist Episcopal ministry in 1901, and served churches in Dayton, Middletown, and Youngstown, Ohio from 1901–36, being elected bishop in the latter year. He was assigned to Nanking, China area from 1936–39, and then to the Denver area in 1939. He was reassigned in 1940, and retired in 1948. He was president of the National Temperance and Prohibition Council of the Methodist Church since 1948. Member of Jefferson Lodge No.

90, Middletown, Ohio, receiving degrees on April 19, May 17 and June 21, 1907; received 50-year medal from Grand Lodge of Ohio; 32° AASR (NJ).

John Hammill (1875–1936) Governor of Iowa three terms, 1925–31. b. Oct. 14, 1875 at Linden, Wis., moving with his family in boyhood to Hancock Co., Ia. Graduate of State U. of Iowa in 1897, he was admitted to the bar that same year and practiced at Britt. From 1908–12 he was a member of the state senate and lieutenant governor, 1920–24. He was a member of Darius Lodge No. 431 of Britt and past master of the same. He was also a member of chapter, commandery and 32° AASR (SJ). d. April 6, 1936.

Benjamin Hammond Commander of the privateer schooner, Greyhound in the Revolutionary War. Member of Essex Lodge of Salem, Mass.

James Hammond, Jr. Business executive. b. Aug. 1, 1892 at Tolu, Ky. Served as bank cashier from 1912–18. Treasurer of Lord & Taylor, N.Y., 1922–26; president of Gimbel Bros., department store at Pittsburgh from 1927–32; president and publisher of Detroit Times, 1932–33, and of the Commercial Appeal (Memphis, Tenn.) 1933–36. Chairman of the board of Cleveland (Ohio) Automatic Machine Co. Mason, Knight Templar, 32° AASR and Shriner.

John Hays Hammond (1855–1936) American mining engineer who was consulting engineer for Cecil Rhodes, q.v. b. March 31, 1855 in San Francisco, Calif. Graduate of Yale. As a mining engineer he examined properties in all parts of the world. While in South Africa as a consulting engineer to Consolidated Gold Fields and Randfontein Estates Gold Mining Co., he was one of the four leaders in a reform movement in the Transvaal (1895–96). For this he was arrested and sentenced to death. The sentence was commuted to 15 years and he was later released on payment of a fine of $125,000. In London, he became interested in many mining companies. When he returned to the U.S. in 1900, he became associated with some of the most important financial groups in the country, purchasing and promoting several of the largest mining properties in the U.S. and Mexico. He was also active in hydro–electric and irrigation projects. In 1911, he was appointed by President Taft as special ambassador to the coronation of King George V of England. He was raised in Oriental Lodge No. 144, San Francisco, Calif. on June 20, 1893. d. June 8, 1936.

Winfield S. Hammond (1863–1915) U.S. Congressman to 60th to 63rd Congresses from 2nd Minn. dist. b. Nov. 17, 1863 at Southboro, Mass. Graduate of Dartmouth Coll. Served as high school principal and superintendent of schools in Minn. until 1890, when he was admitted to the bar and practiced at Madelia, and later St. James. Member of Libanus Lodge No. 96 at St. James, Minn. d. Dec. 30, 1915.

Walter Hampden American Shakespearean actor. b. June 30, 1879 in Brooklyn, N.Y. His real name is Walter Hampden Dougherty. Attended Yale U. and was graduated from Poly. Inst. of Brooklyn in 1900. He first appeared on the stage in England in 1901, and for three years was leading man at the Adelphi Theatre in London. He returned to the U.S. in 1907 and appeared in The Tempest, Macbeth, Othello, Salome, Romeo and Juliet, Taming of the Shrew, and others. In 1925 he leased the Colonial Theatre (N.Y.) and renamed it "Hampden's." He appeared there in 1925–26, co-starring with Ethel Barrymore in Hamlet and Merchant of Venice. He alternated appearances on the legitimate stage of New York with tours throughout the country, presenting his revived Cyrano de Bergerac. The New York stage saw him in the leading roles of a dozen plays and dramas. He also did motion picture and radio work. Member of Howard Lodge No. 35, New York City.

John Hancock (1737–1793) First signer of the Declaration of Independence; first Governor of Massachusetts; Major General of the American Revolution. b. Jan. 12 (some sources say the 23rd), 1737 at Quincy, Mass. He received a good education and was graduated from Harvard in 1754. He entered the countinghouse of an uncle by the same name, who adopted him, and at his uncle's death in 1764, he fell heir to his business which was worth \approx £70,000. He was probably the wealthiest man in Boston. He was chairman of the committee which protested the "Boston Massacre" to the royal governor and demanded the removal of British troops from the city. In 1774–75 he was president of the first and second provincial congresses. He was one of the few men who was excluded from an offer of general amnesty by the British as he was "too flagitious a nature to admit of any other consideration," and the expedition sent by General Gage to Lexington and Concord in April, 1775 was to capture Hancock, as well as destroy the materials of war. He was a member of the Continental Congresses from 1775–80, being its president from May, 1775 to Oct., 1777. When asked why he wrote his name so boldly on the Declaration of Independence, he replied, “So that George III may read it without putting on his glasses.” In 1776 he was commissioned a major general of militia in Mass., and in August, 1776, he commanded the Mass. troops in the effective Rhode Island expedition. His military leadership, however, was not as outstanding as his abilities in the political field. He was elected the first governor of the commonwealth of Massachusetts in 1780, and served for nine terms (1780–85 and 1787–93), being governor at the time of his death. Honorary degrees were conferred on him by Yale, Princeton and Brown Universities. He was treasurer of his own university, Harvard, and presented it with a valuable library. He went to London in 1760 on business and, while on a similar mission to Quebec, he was made a Freemason in Marchants Lodge No. 277, in 1762. On his return to the colonies, he affiliated with St. Andrew’s Lodge of Boston on Oct. 14 of the same year. d. Oct. 8, 1793.

Winfield S. Hancock (1824–1886) Major General, U.S. Army. b. Feb. 14, 1824 in Montgomery Square, Pa. Graduate of the U.S. Military Academy in 1844, he was commissioned and sent West where under General Scott, he participated in the Mexican War. In 1855 he was ordered to Florida as a captain to participate in the fights against the Seminole Indians. From there he went to Kansas and then to Utah, where serious trouble had developed between the Mormons and the Gentiles. When the Civil War broke out, he was stationed in Calif. and immediately requested to be sent to the zone of operations. He was made brigadier general of volunteers, and aided in the organization of the Army of the Potomac. From this point on he became one of the most respected general officers, fighting in major engagements of the war: Fredericksburg; Chancellorsville (lost 2,000 of his 5,000 men); Gettysburg (lost 4,000 out of 10,000); Spottsylvania Court House (took 4,000 prisoners). He was appointed brigadier general in the regular Army in 1864 and major general in 1866. A popular man, he was almost president of the United States. In the election of 1880, he received 4,444,952 votes as the Democratic candidate and was defeated by James A. Garfield, the Republican, with 4,454,416 votes. He received all three degrees by special dispensation in Charity Lodge No. 190 of Norristown, Pa. on Oct. 31, 1860 while on leave. He was also a member of Norristown Chapter No. 190, R.A.M. and Hutchison Commandery No. 32, K.T., both of Norristown, Pa. d. Feb. 9, 1886.

Edward Hand (1744–1802) Brigadier General and Adjutant General of Continental Army. b. Dec. 31, 1744 in Clyduff, King's Co., Ireland. In 1774 he accompanied the 18th Royal Irish regiment to this country as a surgeon's mate, but resigned and settled in Pennsylvania where he practiced medicine. At the start of the Revolution, he joined Thompson's brigade as a lieutenant colonel, serving at the siege of Boston, and in the battles of Long Island and Trenton. He was appointed brigadier general in 1777. He succeeded General Stark in command at Albany in 1778, and soon afterward served with General Sullivan in his expedition against the Indians in central New York. Near the close of the war he succeeded Alexander Scammell as adjutant general. He was a member of the U.S. congress in 1784–85 and a signer of the Pennsylvania constitution of 1790. He was a member of the Pennsylvania Military Lodge, now Montgomery Lodge No. 19. d. Sept. 3, 1802.

Thomas M. Hand U.S. Congressman to 79th to 81st Congresses (1945–51) from 2nd N.J. dist. b. July 7, 1902 at Cape May, N.J. Admitted to bar in 1924 and practiced at Cape May City, N.J. Hand also published a newspaper, and was mayor of the city from 1937–44. Mason.

George Handley (1752–1793) Governor of Georgia in 1788. b. Feb. 9, 1752 in Sheffield, England. He arrived in Savannah in May, 1775, where he joined the Georgia continental battery as a captain in 1776, rising to lieutenant colonel. He was actively engaged in S.C. and Ga. during the Revolution, was captured at Augusta, and sent to Charleston as a prisoner of war. He was afterward sheriff of Richmond Co., and often a member of the state legislature. A member of Solomon Lodge No. 1 of Savannah, he was grand treasurer of the Grand Lodge of Georgia in 1786. d. Sept. 17, 1793.

Levin I. Handy (1861–1922) U.S. Congressman from Delaware, 1896–98. b. Dec. 24, 1861. A teacher, superintendent of schools (Kent Co.) and lawyer. He also edited the Wilmington Every Evening paper. He was raised in Harmony Lodge No. 13, Smyrna, Del. and later affiliated with Hiram Lodge No. 25, Dec. 27, 1897. In 1906 he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Delaware. d. Feb. 3, 1922.

William C. Handy (1873–1958) American Negro composer known as “Father of the Blues.” b. Nov. 16, 1873 at Florence, Ala. He taught school from 1892–93, becoming a teacher–bandmaster in the latter year. In 1900 he was with the music department of the A. & M. College, Normal, Ala. until he became an orchestra leader for minstrel shows in 1903. In 1912 he started devoting all his time to composing and publishing as president of the Handy Bros. Music Co., Inc., N.Y.C. Among his most famous blues songs are St. Louis Blues; Memphis Blues; Beale Street Blues; and the march, Hail to the Spirit of Freedom. He was author of Negro Authors and Composers of the United States; W. C. Handy’s Collection of Negro Spirituals; Father of the Blues (an autobiography); and Unsung Americans Sung. Handy was a member of the Prince Hall group and a 33° AASR. d. March 31, 1958. Buried with Masonic rites.

Charles B. Hanford (1859–1926) American Shakespearean actor. b. May 5, 1859 at Sutter Creek, Calif. He worked for a time in the U.S. pension office in Washington, D.C. and then as a private secretary of a Calif. congressman; he began his first season as an actor at New London, Conn. in 1882. Through the years as a legitimate actor, he starred with such famous actors of the day as William Stafford, Thomas W. Keene, Edwin Booth, Julia Marlowe, Louis James, and Kathryn Kidder. In 1917 he volunteered for naval duty and was assigned to the office of Naval Intelligence. He was detailed to duty with Thomas A. Edison. Member of King Solomon Lodge No. 31 (Daylight Lodge), Washington, D.C. and received 32° AASR (SJ) in Albert Pike Consistory, Washington, D.C. on Feb. 28, 1922. d. Oct. 16, 1926.

Louis B. Hanna (1861–1948) Governor of North Dakota two terms, 1913–17. b. Aug. 9, 1861 at New Brighton, Pa. He moved to N.D. in 1881 and became president of the First National Bank of Page. He served in the lower house from 1895–97, and in the state senate from 1897–1901, and 1905–09. Hanna was a member of the 61st and 62nd U.S. congresses (1909–13) as a delegate at large. In WWI he served with the American Red Cross in France. He was appointed by President Hoover as a member of the Mount Rushmore National Memorial Commission. He was the first grand tyler of the Grand Lodge of North Dakota and the last surviving member of the charter members of that grand lodge. A member of Hiram Lodge No. 20, Page, N.D., he was raised Oct. 20, 1885; exalted in Casselton Chapter No. 2, R.A.M. on Feb. 21, 1890, he affiliated with Keystone Chapter No. 5, Fargo on Nov. 25, 1918; greeted May 2, 1907 in Fargo Council No. 1, R. & S.M.; knighted in Auvergne Commandery No. 2, K.T. Dec. 29, 1894; 32° AASR (SJ) at Fargo Dec. 7, 1894 and 33° in 1903. Joined El Zagal Shrine Temple Dec. 7, 1894. Served the Grand Lodge of North Dakota as grand tyler (1889), grand pursuivant (1896), grand junior steward (1897) and grand senior steward (1898). d. April 23, 1948.

Robert Hanna (1786–1858) U.S. Senator from Indiana, 1825–1832. b. April 6, 1786 in Laurens, S.C. His parents moved to Indiana in 1802, and settled in Brookville. He was sheriff of the eastern district from 1809 until the organization of a state government, and a member of the Indiana constitutional convention of 1816. He was registrar of the land office and general of militia. For many years he was a member of the state legislature. In 1835 he moved to Indianapolis. He was a member of Harmony Lodge No. 11 of Brookville. On Nov. 19, 1858 he was killed by a train while walking on the railroad tracks at Indianapolis.

John A. Hannah President of Michigan State College since 1941. b. Oct. 9, 1902 at Grand Rapids, Mich. Graduate of Michigan State in 1923. He was an extension specialist in poultry husbandry at Michigan State from 1923–33, and manager of the Federal Hatchery Coordinating Committee at Kansas City, Mo. from 1933–35. In 1935 he returned to Mich. as secretary of the State Board of Agriculture of the state college, serving until named president in 1941. He has been a U.S. delegate to the World Poultry Congresses in London, Rome, Leipzig, and Copenhagen. In 1948–49 he was president of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities. Mason.

Wallace Hannah English Anti-Mason. In 1955–56 the Rev. Hannah, curate of St. Augustine's church at Kensington, England since 1952 shocked the English newspaper readers with a vicious personal attack on the Archbishop of Canterbury in particular, and Freemasonry in general. Shortly thereafter he announced that he had taken steps for his "immediate admission" into the Roman Catholic Church.

Allen B. Hannay U.S. District Judge, Texas since 1942. b. Feb. 14, 1892 at Hempstead, Tex. Graduate of U. of Texas in 1913. Practiced law in Hempstead and Houston 1913–30. He was judge of Waller Co. from 1915–17; judge of 113th dist. of Texas 1930–42. Mason, 32° AASR (SJ) and Shriner.

Edward A. Hannegan (1807–1859) U.S. Senator from Indiana, 1843–49. b. June 25, 1807 in Hamilton Co., Ohio. He was educated in Ky., where he spent his boyhood; he began law practice in Covington, Ind. He was a frequent member of the Indiana legislature and served as U.S. Congressman one term. In 1849–50, he was U.S. minister to Prussia. He has been described as eloquent, brilliant, and erratic. In 1852, while under the influence of liquor, he killed his brother-in-law, Capt. Duncan. Afterwards he moved to St. Louis, Mo. where he spent the remainder of his life. His original lodge is not known, but he was a charter member of LaPorte Lodge No. 41, LaPorte, Ind. in 1838, and, in 1850, affiliated with Fountain Lodge No. 60 at Covington, Ind. and served as master of the same in 1851. d. Feb. 25, 1859.

Arthur T. Hannett Governor of New Mexico, 1925–27. b. Feb. 17, 1884 at Lyons, N.Y. Graduate of Syracuse U. in 1910, he began law practice in Gallup, N.M. in 1911. He served as city attorney and mayor of Gallup, and was chairman of the state highway commission from 1923–25. He is a member of Lebanon Lodge No. 22, Gallup; 32° AASR (SJ) at Santa Fe and Ballut Abyad Shrine Temple at Albuquerque.

Ernest Augustus, King of Hanover (see under Duke of Cumberland).

Henry C. Hansbrough (1848–1933) U.S. Senator from North Dakota three terms, 1891–1909. b. Jan. 30, 1848 at Prairie du Rocher, Ill. Moved to Calif. in 1867, where he learned the printing trade and published a daily paper at San Jose from 1869–70. Following that, he was with the San Francisco Chronicle until 1879, and then published a paper at Baraboo, Wis. for two years. He moved to the Territory of Dakota in 1882, where he engaged in journalism, and was twice mayor of Devil's Lake. He served in the 51st U.S. congress from N.D. He was a member of Minnewaukan Lodge No. 21 at Devil's Lake and Doric Chapter NO: 8, R.A.M. as well as Cyrene Cornmandery No. 7, K.T. all of Devil's Lake. He received the 32° AASR (SJ) in 1897. d. Nov. 16, 1933.

Charles R. Hanscom (1850–1918) Shipbuilder. b. June 6, 1850 at Portsmouth, N.H. He was an assistant draftsman and draftsman in the navy yards at New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and Washington from 1873–80, and naval expert with U.S. Navy Dept. at Washington from 1880–90. From 1890–1900 he was superintendent and general superintendent of the Bath (Maine) Iron Works, and president of the Eastern Shipbuilding Co. of New London, Conn. from 1900–06, retiring in the latter year. He designed and built many steam yachts for private owners and also the large steamships Minnesota and Dakota. Mason and Knight Templar. d. Oct. 31, 1918.

Agner B. Hansen (1896–1948) President of Northern Paper Mills. b. June 7, 1896 at Racine, Wis. Began as a chemist for paper company working his way to the vice presidency of Northern Paper Mills in 1935, and president in 1941. He was also president of four other allied companies. Served as ensign, U.S. Navy in WWI. Received his degrees in Belle City Lodge No. 92, Racine, Wis. on July 13, July 27 and Aug. 10, 1918 and affiliated with Washington Lodge No. 21, Green Bay, Wis. on Jan. 6, 1939. Member of Scottish Rite bodies (NJ) at both Green Bay and Milwaukee. d. July 4, 1948.

Niels E. Hansen (1866–1950) American horticulturist and developer of new strains of fruits, grasses and plants. b. Jan. 4, 1866 near Ribe, Denmark, coming to U.S. with parents in 1873. Graduate of Iowa Agriculture Coll. in 1887. Was professor of horticulture, first at Iowa Agriculture Coll., and then at the S.D. Agriculture Coll. and Experiment Station, 1895–1937. He made many exploratory expeditions to Russia, China, Siberia, Transcaucasia, Lapland, Finland, Manchuria, Japan, North Africa, Mongolia, and Turkestan, collecting new varieties of hardy seeds and plants. He was the originator of new fruits, especially the Hansen hybrid plums, named in his honor. He introduced Turkestan, Siberian and many other alfalfas and also introduced and named the Cossack alfalfa, now widely grown on the Northwest prairies. It was developed from a spoonful of seed in 1906, to over 1000 bushels of seed in 1916. Member of Brookings Lodge No. 24, Brookings, S.D., receiving degrees on Oct. 10, 1896, Feb. 6, June 1, 1897; suspended April 1, 1924; reinstated April 5, 1927. d. Oct. 5, 1950.

Ole Andreas Hansen A giant. The Mystic Star, in Sept. 1869 quoted a story from the Glasgow Herald (Scotland) of an emergency meeting of Clyde Lodge No. 468 in that city at which Major Ole Andreas Hansen of the U.S. Army and a native of Norway, was initiated, passed and raised. His height was given as eight feet and weight 33 stones.

William C. Hansen President, State Teachers College, Stevens Point, Wis. since 1940. b. July 4, 1891 at Neenah, Wis. Graduate of U. of Wisconsin. Was teacher, principal and superintendent of schools in Wis. cities. Mason and 32° AASR (NJ).

Roger W. Hanson (1827–1863) Confederate Brigadier General in Civil War. b. Aug. 27, 1827 at Winchester, Ky. At the age of 20 he served in the Mexican War under John S. Williams. After returning home he fought a duel in which he was crippled for life. He studied law and was admitted to the bar and then went to Calif. as a gold-seeker, returning to Ky. in 1850, where he practiced law at Winchester. In 1853 he was elected to the state legislature and gained considerable distinction as a lawmaker. Later he moved to Lexington and continued his law practice there. At the beginning of the Civil War he entered the Confederate Army and was made colonel of the 2nd Kentucky Inf. After the battle of Fort Donelson, he was promoted to brigadier general for bravery. He participated in numerous battles and was mortally wounded at the Battle of Murfreesboro (Tenn.) on Jan. 2, 1863 and died on the 4th of the same month. He was a member of Good Samaritan Lodge No. 174, Lexington, Ky., from the date of his initiation in 1856 until he left for Army service in 1861.

Prince Harald of Denmark (1876–1949) b. Oct. 8, 1876, the third son of King Frederick VIII of Denmark, q.v. The king, an interested Freemason and grand master for many years, initiated all three sons—Harald, Christian X, q.v., and Haakon, q.v. Harald was initiated April 4, 1896 in Lodge Nordstjernen at Copenhagen. He served as pro-grand master for many years and succeeded his brother Christian X as grand master, being installed, Sept. 18, 1947, in the presence of about 800 brethren. He was known as the “Hussar Prince” as he was a lieutenant general in the Danish Army Hussars. He married Princess Helena, April 28, 1909. He frequently took part in the work of all degrees. d. March 30, 1949.

Count Agoston Haraszthy de Mokcsa (1812?–1869) An Hungarian pioneer in America who founded the town of Sauk City, Wis. about 1841. He migrated to Calif. in 1849, and there introduced Tokay, Zinfandel, and Shiras grapes into Calif., thereby creating the grape and wine industry of that state. He became a member of Madison Lodge No. 5, Madison, Wis. in 1845.

James G. Harbord (1866–1947) Lieutenant General, U.S. Army and President of Radio Corporation of America. b. March 21, 1866 at Bloomington, Ill. Graduate of Kansas State Agriculture Coll. Entered army as an enlisted man in 1889, and commissioned second lieutenant in 1891. Fought in Spanish–American and First World Wars. Made brigadier general in 1917, major general in 1919, and retired as lieutenant general in 1942. He was chief of staff, A.E.F. in France, and commanded the Marine Brigade near Chateau Thierry and the 2nd Division in the Soissons offensive. From 1923–30 he was president of R.C.A., and chairman of the board from 1930–47. He was a member of Council Grove Lodge No. 36, Council Grove, Kansas (Dec. 8, 1898), and received the 32° AASR (SJ) on Dec. 5, 1909 at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans. while stationed there. He was a member of the Grand Council, Order of DeMolay. d. Aug. 20, 1947.

Cary A. Hardee Governor of Florida, 1921–25. b. Nov. 13, 1876 in Taylor Co., Fla. He was a teacher in the Florida public schools until 1900, when he was admitted to the bar and practiced at Live Oak, Fla. Was a member and speaker of the lower house from 1915–17. Mason, member of Live Oak Commandery, K.T.

Karl August von Hardenberg (1750–1822) Prussian prince and statesman. He was councilor at Hanover from 1779–82, and later in service of state at Brunswick, and administrator of principalities of Ansbach and Bayreuth. Served in war against France in 1792–95, and concluded the peace at Basel in 1795. In cabinet of Frederick William III, q.v., from 1798–1804, and foreign minister of Prussia from 1804–06. From 1810–17 he was chancellor of Prussia, and was made a prince in recognition of his part in the War of Liberation (1813–14). He was active in the Holy Alliance, and his policy in later years was reactionary. Said by the Bulletin of the International Masonic Congress (1917) to have been a member of the Craft.

Wesley Hardenbergh President of American Meat Institute since 1939. b. July 14, 1894 at Youngsville, N.Y. Graduate of Columbia U. in 1918. In 1919 he edited the Liberty Register (N.Y.), and the following year joined the public relations staff of the American Meat Inst. He was made vice president in 1928. In 1944–45 he was president of the American Trade Association Executives. Mason.

Delmar S. Harder Vice President of Ford Motor Co. b. March 19, 1892 at Delhi, N.Y. He started in the automotive industry with the Durant Motor Co. in 1915, and was later with Budd and Fisher Body Division of General Motor Corp. In 1945 he was president of the E. W. Bliss Co. He has been a Ford vice president since 1947; first, in charge of manufacturing, and since 1955 in charge of basic manufacturing groups. He is also a director of the Ford Motor Company. Mason.

Frederick A. Hardesty Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Jan. 16, 1893 at Astoria, Oreg. Graduate of U. of Oregon in 1915. He taught school until entering the Naval reserve in 1917, advancing to captain in 1943, and retired as rear admiral in 1947. In WWI he served on the U.S.S. Ohio and was commanding officer of the U.S. Schuykill in 1943–44 and U.S.S. Rocky Mount in 1944–45. Mason.

James Hardie (1750?–1826?) Masonic author, who in 1818 published The New Freemasons' Monitor and Masonic Guide. Mackey thought it more valuable than the monitors of Webb and Cross, qq.v. Although credited with membership in New York, the records of that jurisdiction fail to reveal any record of New York membership. He was born either in 1750 or 1760 and 1826 is the probable year of his death.

Charles H. Hardin (1820–1892) Governor of Missouri, 1875–1877. b. July 25, 1820 in Trimble Co., Ky. The family moved to Missouri in 1821, and his father was the first post-master of Columbia. His mother was the sister of Dr. William Jewell, for whom William Jewell Coll. is named. He attended the Columbia schools, the U. of Indiana, and graduated from Miami U., Oxford, Ohio in 1841. While in college at Miami, he was one of the founders of the Greek letter fraternity, Beta Theta Pi, now a national organization. He was admitted to the bar in 1843, and practiced law in Fulton, 1848–52. In 1852 he was a member of the lower house and served three terms. In 1860 he was state senator. He was against secession, and in the “Rebel Legislature” which met at Cassville, was the only senator who voted against it. From 1865–71 he practiced law at Mexico, Mo. and was again elected state senator in 1872. His administration as governor was marked by reduction of debt, enforcement of criminal laws, and erection of the state penitentiary. He issued his famous “grasshopper proclamation,” designating June 3, 1875, as a day of “fasting and prayer” for relief from grasshoppers which had again invaded Mo. after ruining crops the year before. In 1873 he founded Hardin College for women at Mexico, and in 1889 was active in the establishment of Missouri Military Academy at Mexico. He was initiated Jan. 26, 1852, passed Feb. 3, and raised March 2, in Fulton Lodge No. 48. He was elected senior warden in 1854, and became master in 1855. d. July 29, 1892 in Mexico, Mo. and his body was moved in 1893 to the Jewell Graveyard, two miles south of Columbia, Mo.

John J. Hardin (1810–1847) Colonel in Mexican War. b. Jan.

6, 1810 in Frankfort, Ky., the son of Martin D. Hardin, q.v., U.S. senator from Kentucky. He was educated in Transylvania U. (Ky.), studied law and moved to Jacksonville, Ill., where he practiced. He was prosecuting attorney for several years, and a member of the state legislature from 1836–42. In 1842 he was elected to the U.S. congress and served one term. He volunteered when the Mexican War began and was appointed colonel of the 1st Illinois regiment. He was killed on the second day of the battle of Buena Vista while leading his men in a charge. Hardin Military Lodge No. 87, chartered by the Grand Lodge of Mo., was named for him when it was organized in N.M. d. Feb. 27, 1847.

John R. Hardin (1860–1945) President of Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. from 1924. b. April 24, 1860 in Sussex Co., N.J. Graduate of Princeton U. in 1880 and 1883. Admitted to bar in 1884, and practiced at Newark, N.J. from that date. Mason. d. Dec. 7, 1945.

Martin D. Hardin (1780–1823) U.S. Senator from Kentucky, 1816. b. June 21, 1780, Monongahela River, Pa. He was educated in Transylvania Academy (Ky.). He practiced law in Franklin Co. and served several terms in the state legislature. During the War of 1812 he joined the army and served under General Harrison, being promoted to major of the Kentucky volunteers. He was a Mason and member of Washington Chapter No. 11, R.A.M. His son, John J. Hardin, q.v., was a U.S. congressman from and was killed in the War with Mexico. d. Oct. 8, 1823.

Warren G. Harding (1865–1923) Twenty-ninth President of the United States. b. Nov. 2, 1865 at Corsica, Ohio. A newspaperman, he published the Marion Star (Ohio) from 1884. He was a member of the Ohio senate from 1900–04, and lieutenant governor of Ohio, 1904–06. He was U.S. senator from Ohio for the term 1915–21, resigning in 1920. He was nominated for president by the Republicans in 1920, and elected for the term 1921–25, but died Aug. 2, 1923. He was initiated in Marion Lodge No. 70, Marion, Ohio on June 28, 1901, and after 19 years he was passed, Aug. 13, 1920, and raised Aug. 27, 1920. On May 4, 1921 he was made an honorary member of Albert Pike Lodge No. 36 of Washington; made honorary member of Washington Centennial Lodge No. 14, Washington, on Feb. 16, 1922; and honorary member of America Lodge No. 3368, London, England in 1922. A member of Marion Chapter No. 62, R.A.M., he received his degrees, Jan. 11 and 13, 1921. He was knighted in Marion Commandery No. 36, K.T. on March 1, 1921, and made honorary member of Columbia Commandery No. 2, K.T. in Washington, March 4, 1921. He had been elected to receive his degrees in Marion Council No. 22, R. & SM., but died before they could be conferred. In the Scottish Rite, he received the 32° (NJ) at Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 5, 1921, and was elected to receive the 33° on Sept. 22, 1921, but died before receiving it. He joined Aladdin Shrine Temple of Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 7, 1921, and was made an honorary member of Almas Temple of Washington, March 21, 1921. He was associate honorary member of the Imperial Council of the Shrine in June, 1923. Kallipolis Grotto MOVPER conferred the degrees on him at the White House on May 11, 1921, and made him a life member. Washington Chapter

No. 3, National Sojourners, made him a member at the White House on May 28, 1923, and he was made a member of Evergreen Forest No. 29, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, at Milford, Del. on June 9, 1923. Harding visited many Masonic groups from Alaska to the Canal Zone. On July 8, 1923 he laid the cornerstone pf Ketchikan Lodge No. 159, Ketchikan, Alaska; laid the cornerstone of the Masonic Temple at Birmingham, Ala. on Oct. 26, 1921; and addressed the National League of Masonic Clubs in Washington at the Willard Hotel on May 12, 1921. He stated: "No man ever took the oaths and subscribed to the obligations with greater watchfulness and care than I have exercised in receiving the various rites of Masonry, and I say it with due deliberation and without fear of breaking faith, I have never encountered a lesson, never witnessed an example, never heard an obligation uttered which could not be proclaimed to the world." At the cornerstone laying in Birmingham, Ala. he said "I have been a better citizen for being a Mason. There is nothing in Masonry that a free, religious, and just Ameri- can could not be proud to subscribe to, and be a better citizen for so doing." When he received the Royal Arch degree he inscribed the Bible of a friend with the following: "With grateful and happy remembrance of the occasion when this Holy Book was employed in revealing the exalting impressions of Royal Arch Masonry." He was scheduled to deliver an address on Aug. 2, 1923, in Hollywood, Calif. to Hollywood Commandery No. 56, K.T. on the occasion of the presentation to them by him own cornmandery, Marion No. 36, of the International Traveling Beauseant. He was on death's doorstep, and his secretary, Sir Knight George B. Christian, delivered the address. This was his last message to the American people. He died Aug 2, 1923, and on Aug. 8, the body was conducted from the White House to the Capitol with the six commanderies of Knights Templar of Washington, D.C. being in the funeral cortege. The asphalt container in which his body was placed was the gift of Boumi Shrine Temple of Baltimore, Md.

William L. Harding (1877–1934) Governor of Iowa, 1917–19. b. Oct. 3, 1877 at Sibley, Iowa. Graduate of U. of South Dakota in 1905. Began law practice in 1905. He was a member of the lower house in Iowa from 1907–13, and lieutenant governor from 1913–17. Member of Morningside Lodge No. 615, Sioux City, Iowa. d. Dec. 17, 1934.

John H. Hardy (1847–1917) Justice Superior Court of Mass. from 1896. b. Feb. 2, 1847 at Hollis, N.H. Graduate of Dartmouth in 1870 and admitted to bar in 1872. Raised in Hiram Lodge, Arlington, Mass. on Oct 17, 1872, dimitted March 22, 1888. d. Oct 10, 1917.

Oliver Hardy (?–1957) Comedian of stage and screen. Gained worldwide recognition with his partner Stan Laurel in the team of “Laurel and Hardy.” He was a member of Solomon Lodge No. 20 in Jacksonville, Fla. and was a frequent visitor at Hollywood and Mount Olive Lodges in California.

Samuel Hardy (1758?–1785) American statesman, who, in 1784, was nominated by President Jefferson as minister plenipotentiary to Europe, to assist John Adams and Benjamin Franklin in negotiating treaties of commerce. b. in the Isle of Wight Co., Va. Educated at William and Mary Coll. in 1776–81, he entered law practice. He was a member of the Continental Congress from Va. in 1783–85, and for a time, lieutenant governor of Va. A county in the northern part of Va. is named for him. He received his Entered Apprentice degree in Williamsburg Lodge No. 6 at Williamsburg, Va. on Dec. 12, 1778. d. Oct., 1785.

Ray M. Hare Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Aug. 19, 1893 at Louisville, Ky. Graduate of Harvard U. in 1936. Commissioned in 1917, he advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1950. During WWI he served in France and Germany. From 1937–42 he was member of staff of secretary of War, and from 1942–45 was chief of ordnance. In 1945 he was in the Western Pacific, and since 1950, assigned to chief ordnance of European command. Member of Alamo Lodge No. 44, San Antonio, Texas; 32° AASR (SJ) at Galveston; Arabia Shrine Temple, Houston; National Sojourners. Was senior warden of Laneck Lodge, U.D. (Texas) at Coblenz, Germany in 1920 during occupation of Germany.

Earl of Harewood (1882–1947) Full name was Henry George Charles, Viscount Lascelles. He later became the 5th earl of Harewood. He was a brother-in-law of King George VI, q.v., and one of the richest men in England. He served with distinction in WWI and was wounded three times. He married Princess Mary in 1922. By the time he was 40 years old, the earl—nicknamed “Lucky Lascelles”—was the husband of a king’s sister, possessor of a fortune estimated at 12 million dollars, and owner of about 27,700 acres, three country houses and a town house. One day, in 1915, while on leave from France, he met his great-uncle, the wealthy, eccentric marquis of Clanricarde. Lord Lascelles, as he was then, took his uncle out to lunch and had a chat about antiques. Not long afterward, when again at the front, Lascelles received a telegram telling him that the marquis had left him his estate amounting to some ten million dollars. Thirteen years later he inherited $1,200,000 from his father. It was often rumored that the earl and the duke of Windsor, q.v., were not on the friendliest of terms. The duke was once reported to have said: "Every day I get commoner and commoner, and every day Lascelles gets royaller and royaller." He served as provincial grand master for West Yorkshire and on June 1, 1943, he was installed by his brother-in-law, King George VI, as grand master of the United Grand Lodge of England at an especial meeting of that body in the Grand Temple at Freemasons Hall. Previous to that he had been pro-grand master from 1935–42. d. May 24, 1947.

Sir Henry Harford (1762?–?) Owner of the Province of Maryland, and provincial grand master of Maryland. He was the natural son of Frederick, the sixth and last Lord Baltimore, and Hester Wheland. When Frederick died in 1771, he had no legitimate children, and he willed the province of Maryland to Harford, then a child about nine years of age. Harford's interests in Maryland were represented by Robert Eden, as proprietary governor, until the Revolution. In the Book of Constitutions (1783) of the Maple T. Had Grand Lodge of England, Harford's name appears as provincial grand master for Maryland. It also appeared in the calendars published from time to time by the grand lodge, and strange to say, even appeared after the Grand Lodge of Maryland was formed and working. He is recorded as having given ≈£25 to the Free Masons' Hall. He returned to America after the war and attempted to recover some of his property, but was unable to do so. He then returned to England, and that country indemnified him to the amount of ≈£90,000 for his losses.

George Harison (1719–1773) Fourth Provincial Grand Master of New York (English constitution). b. in England. He changed the spelling of his family name which had contained two “r’s.” His father, the Hon. Francis Harrison, Esq. of Berkshire, England, came to N.Y. with Governor Lovelace in 1708, where he served as a member of the provincial council, recorder of the City of New York, and judge of the admiralty court. He later fell into political disfavor and returned to England, leaving his family in America. Son George visited him in England in 1738, and returned home with an appointment to the office of surveyor of customs in N.Y. He married Jane, daughter of Richard Nicholls, a prominent N.Y. citizen, on Sept. 3, 1740. On June 8, 1753 he was made provincial grand master of New York by Baron Carysfoot. He was in charge of the celebration of St. John the Baptist on June 25, 1753, at the King’s Arms Tavern, and again that fall, at the celebration of the Feast of St. John the Evangelist. A full account of these ceremonies was published in the New York Mercury on Dec. 31, 1753. The paper was owned by Hugh Gaine, secretary of the grand lodge, and he took the opportunity to refute the charges against Freemasonry by drawing attention to their acts of public and private charity. Freemasonry grew under Harison's leadership, and by 1771 there were seven lodges in New York City, two at Albany, one at Johnstown, one at Fairfield, Norfolk, Stratford, and Stamford, Conn. and even one at Detroit, Mich.—all deriving their authority from New York. He was one of the original vestrymen of Old Trinity Church and was also the owner of the brigantine, Charming Sally, with 12 guns, which his brother, Capt. Merely Harison, commanded. In 1765 he went into the brewing business with his father-in-law and James Leedbeater, a professional brewer. d. April 18, 1773.

Thomas J. Harkins Grand Commander, Supreme Council, 33° AASR, Southern Jurisdiction from 1952–55, succeeding John H. Cowles, q.v. b. Jan. 15, 1879 in Buncombe Co., N.C. He was a student at U. of North Carolina from 1897–1901. Admitted to the Oklahoma bar in 1901, he practiced at Weatherford, Okla., and at Asheville, N.C. since 1907. Member of Republican National Congressional Committee, 1912–14, and delegate to Republican National Convention in 1916. From 1922–26 he was special assistant U.S. attorney, and U.S. attorney for Western N.C. dist. from 1927–31. In 1931 he served as special assistant to the attorney general of the U.S. Member of Mount Hermon Lodge No. 118 of Asheville, N.C.; he served as its master in 1926, and grand master of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina in 1940–41. He received the 32° in 1904; KCCH in 1911; 33° in 1915 and was named deputy for N.C. in 1918. He became an active member of the supreme council in 1921.

Maple T. Harl National Commander of Disabled American

Veterans of the World War in 1937. b. Feb. 4, 1893 at Marshall, Mo. Graduate of William Jewell Coll. (Mo.). He is a former president of the Harl Mortgage Co., Denver Safe Deposit Co. and Sun Investment Co. From 1939–45 he was state bank commissioner of Colorado. He enlisted as a private in the Army in 1917, and rose to major, being discharged in 1919. Served with the A.E.F. Mason, Knight Templar, 32° AASR and Shriner.

John M. Harlan (1833–1911) Justice of U.S. Supreme Court, 1877–1911. b. June 1, 1833 in Boyle Co., Ky. Was graduated from Transylvania U. in 1853. He served in the Civil War as Union colonel in the 10th Kentucky Infantry. From 1863–67 he was attorney general of Ky. He was probably made an Entered Apprentice in Hiram Lodge No. 4, Frankfort, Ky. in 1858. He is carried as such in the proceedings of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky for 1858–67 inclusive, but disappears from the list of Entered Apprentices of Hiram Lodge after 1867. d. Oct. 1, 1911.

William W. Harllee Confederate General in Civil War. Member of Clinton Lodge No. 60, Marion, S.C.

Richard C. Harlow Football coach and professor of zoology. b. Oct. 19, 1889 at Philadelphia, Pa. Graduate of Pennsylvania State Coll. 1912 and 1913. From 1913–17 he was football coach and instructor of zoology at Pennsylvania State Coll., and again from 1919–21. From 1921–25 he was football coach and assoc. professor of ornithology at Colgate U. From 1925–34 he was football coach and athletic director of Western Maryland Coll. From 1934–49 he was football coach at Harvard U. and curator of zoology. He returned to Western Maryland Coll. and became head coach of track and advisory football coach. In 1936 he was voted “coach of the year” by U.S. football coaches and writers. He served with the U.S. Army in WWI and was discharged as an Infantry lieutenant. In WWII he was a lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve. Mason.

Arthur F. Harman (1875–1948) President of Alabama State College for Women, 1935–47. b. Aug. 10, 1875 at Lexington, S.C. Was teacher, principal, superintendent of schools, and state superintendent of education for Alabama. Mason. d. Oct. 12, 1948.

Josiah Harmar (1753–1813) Brigadier General and General-in-Chief of the Army in 1789. b. in Philadelphia, Pa. He was educated in a Quaker school and entered the Continental army as a captain in 1776, serving in the 1st Pa. regiment. He served until the close of the war, being brevetted brigadier general by congress in 1787. He was with Washington’s army in 1778–80, and in Greene’s division in the south in 1781–82. After the war he was Indian agent for the northwest territory, and in 1790 commanded a force against the Miami Indians. He resigned his commission in 1792, and was appointed adjutant general of Pa. He was made a Mason in Lodge No. 3 of Philadelphia on July 2, 1778. He is also reported as a member of Pennsylvania Union Lodge No. 29, and was one of the petitioners for Nova Caesarea Lodge No. 10 (now N.C. Harmony Lodge No. 2 of Cincinnati). d. Aug. 20, 1813.

Henry G. Harmon College President. b. June 14, 1901 at St. Paul, Minn. Graduate of Cotner Coll. (Nebr.); Transylvania Coll. (Ky.); and U. of Minn. Taught school in China for two years, returning to America to teach in Culver Stockton Coll. (Mo.). From 1934–41 he was president of William Woods Coll., Fulton, Mo. and has been president of Drake U. since 1941. Member of Craft Lodge No. 287, Canton, Mo. 33° AASR (SJ) at Des Moines, and Shriner.

Judson Harmon (1846–1927) Governor of Ohio two terms, 1909–13, and U.S. Attorney General under Cleveland, 1895–97. b. Feb. 3, 1846 at Newton, Ohio. Graduate of Denison U. in 1866, and Cincinnati Law School in 1869. He served as mayor of Wyoming, Ohio, judge of court of common pleas, and judge of the superior court. Member of Walnut Hills Lodge No. 483, Cincinnati, and elected honorary member of American Union Lodge No. 1 at Marietta on July 18, 1910. d. Feb. 22, 1927.

Reginald C. Harmon Major General, U.S. Air Force and first Judge Advocate General of U.S. Air Force in 1948. b. Feb. 5, 1900 at Olney, Ill. Admitted to bar in 1928, and practiced at Urbana, Ill. Commissioned second lieutenant in the U.S. Army in 1926, and advanced through grades as major general in regular Air Force in 1948. In WWII he was in charge of legal representation of U.S. government in industrial expansion program of the Air Force. Mason and Knight Templar.

Forest A. Harness U.S. Congressman to 76th to 80th Congresses (1939–49) from 5th Ind. dist. b. June 24, 1895 at Kokomo, Ind. Graduate of Georgetown U. in 1917, he has practiced law at Kokomo, Ind. since 1919. In 1933–34 he represented the U.S. in the extradition of Samuel Insull from Greece. Served in WWI with the 80th Infantry division, as a first lieutenant. Mason.

Cornelius Harnett (1723–1781) American Revolutionary patriot and governor of North Carolina, 1775–76. b. April 20, 1723. A resident of Wilmington, N.C., he first became known in public affairs through his opposition to the stamp act. He represented Wilmington in the provincial assembly of 1770–71. As the Revolution approached, Harnett became its leading spirit in the Cape Fear region. In the provincial congress of 1775 he represented his old constituents of Wilmington, and when Governor Martin was forced to abdicate, he was made president of the council, and thus acting governor of N.C. In 1776 Sir Henry Clinton appeared in Cape Fear River with a British fleet and offered a general pardon to all residents except Harnett and Robert Howe. In 1778 he was elected to fill Caswell's seat in the congress, and his signature is found on the "articles of confederation and perpetual union." When the British subsequently took possession of the Cape Fear region, Harnett was taken prisoner, and died in a British prison at Wilmington on April 20, 1781. He was a member of St. John's Lodge No. 213 under English constitution and St. John's Lodge No. 1, under North Carolina constitution (at Wilmington). This was the first lodge to be established in N.C. At one time he was deputy provincial grand master of America under the provincial grand master, Joseph Montfort, q.v.

Edwards Harper First Grand Secretary of the United Grand Lodge of England. He shared this position with William Henry White. Harper served as deputy grand secretary under Leslie in the grand lodge of the “Ancients” from 1801–13. White became grand secretary of the grand lodge of the “Moderns” in 1810. They served the United Grand Lodge jointly until 1838 when Harper retired on a pension. White then continued alone as grand secretary until 1856. They also acted as secretaries to the Lodge of Reconciliation from 1813–16.

Roy W. Harper U.S. District Judge of Missouri from 1947. b. July 26, 1905 at Gibson, Mo. Graduate of U. of Missouri in 1927 and 1929. Practiced law first at Steele, Mo., and later at Caruthersville. He enlisted in the U.S. Air Corps in 1941, and served with 35th Fighter Group in the Southwest Pacific from 1942–44. In 1945 he became a colonel in the Air Corps Reserve. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

Thomas Harper (1736–1832) Deputy Grand Master of the grand lodge of the “Ancients” (Athol). At the union of the grand lodges, he opened the especial grand lodge as deputy grand master, and by unanimous accord was requested to continue in office until the installation of a grand master. When the Duke of Kent was installed, he appointed Harper as his deputy. The latter also had a footing in the “Moderns,” as he was a member of the Lodge of Antiquity from 1792, and served as grand steward in the Moderns’ grand lodge in 1796. He was expelled by that body in 1803 for nonattendance at the committee of charity. This action hurt the attempt at union between the two grand lodges. Harper was a jeweler by trade, and many old lodges still possess lodge jewels struck by him.

William R. Harper (1856–1906) President of University of Chicago from 1891. b. July 26, 1856. He was graduated from Muskingum Coll. when he was 14 years old (1870) with a B.A. degree, and delivered the commencement oration in Hebrew. He was graduated from Yale in 1875, with a Ph.D. degree. He first taught and was principal of the Masonic Coll., Macon, Tenn. (1875–76). His field was Semitic languages, and he was a professor of the same at the Baptist Union Theol. Sem. of Chicago; Yale U.; Chautauqua Coll.; and U. of Chicago. He helped organize the U. of Chicago and guided it as president during its early years. He was a member of Ashlar Lodge No. 308, Chicago, El.

Edward Henry Harriman (1848–1909) Capitalist. b. Feb. 25, 1848 at Hempstead, L.I., N.Y. He received a common school education, and became a broker's clerk in Wall Street at the age of 14. He later became a stock broker, and was admitted to the exchange in 1870. He was president of the following companies: Union Pacific Railroad (and chairman of executive committee); Oregon Railroad & Navigation Co.; Portland & Asiatic Steamship Co.; Oregon Short Line Railroad; Southern Pacific Co.; Texas & New Orleans Railroad; Southern Pacific Coast Railroad; Western Railroad. He was an officer and director in numerous other large corporations, including chairmanship of executive committee of Wells–Fargo & Co. Member of Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City.

Walter Harriman (1817–1884) Governor of New Hampshire,

1867–68, Brigadier General (Union) in Civil War. b. April 8, 1817 at Warner, N.H. He began as a teacher but became a Universalist clergyman. He abandoned the ministry in 1851, and entered a life of politics. He was state treasurer in 1853–54; was on a presidential commission to classify Indian lands in Kansas; and served in both the N.H. lower house and senate. In 1860 he was elected to the state senate over his opponent—who was his brother! He canvassed Michigan for Buchanan, in company with General Lewis Cass, q.v., and was an earnest supporter of Stephen A. Douglas, q.v. In 1861 he became publisher of the Union Democrat at Manchester, N.H., and advocated immediate action against the seceding states. He became colonel of the 11th N.H. regiment and was taken prisoner in the Battle of the Wilderness on May 6, 1864, sent to Macon, Ga. and removed to Charleston. He was exchanged in March, 1865, and brevetted brigadier general in 1865. In 1868 he toured the midwest and west campaigning for General Grant, q.v. d. July 25, 1884. Member of St. Peters Lodge No. 31, Bradford, N.H.

Frank L. Harrington President of Paul Revere Life Insurance Co. since 1945. b. Jan. 17, 1902 at Worcester, Mass. Graduate of Dartmouth and Harvard. He entered the insurance field with the Mass. Protective Association in 1927, and has been with the Revere Company since 1930, starting as a claim examiner. Member of Acacia fraternity and a Mason.

Jonathan Harrington The last survivor of the Battle of Lexington. He was made a Mason in King Solomon Lodge of Charlestown, Mass., March 7, 1797, and was a charter member of Hiram Lodge at Lexington, Mass. He was buried Masonically.

Charles K. Harris (1865–1930) Composer and music publisher who wrote After the Ball. b. May 1, 1865 at Poughkeepsie, N.Y. Moved to Milwaukee after attending public schools in East Saginaw, Mich. He wrote more than 100 songs including After the Ball (in 1892), and was head of the Charles K. Harris Publishing Co. of Milwaukee, and later of New York, with many American and foreign branches. He also wrote Can Hearts So Soon Forget? He authored several plays including A Limb of the Tree, The Luckiest Man in the World, The Barker, and The Heart of a Man. He was raised in Arcana Lodge No. 246 of New York City on Jan. 15, 1906, and was a member of the Mecca Shrine Temple, N.Y. d. Dec. 22, 1930.

Everette B. Harris President of Chicago Mercantile Exchange since 1953. b. April 19, 1913 in Norris City, Ill. Graduate of U. of Illinois, and U. of Chicago. He was an economist with the department of labor from 1938–46, and director of personnel of Mandel Bros. department store of Chicago from 1946–49. From 1949–53 he was executive secretary of the Chicago Board of Trade. Member of May Lodge No. 718, Norris City, Ill.; 32° AASR (NJ) at Chicago; and member of Medinah Shrine Temple, Chicago.

Frederic R. Harris (1875–1949) Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. April 10, 1875 in New York City. He was commissioned lieutenant, j.g. in 1903, rear admiral in 1916, and retired in 1927. In WWI he was in charge of navy war construction in U.S. and abroad. He was general manager of the Emergency Fleet Corp., of the U.S. Shipping Board and in charge of war emergency merchant marine construction. He specialized in bridges, harbor and river work. After retiring from Navy, he was president of Frederic R. Harris, Inc., and was a consulting engineer to the Navy from 1939–45, and to the British admiralty. He designed water-front facilities and some of the largest floating dry docks in the world. Place of Masonic membership not known, but he was a member of the National Sojourners. d. July 22, 1949.

Frederick Harris Lieutenant General, British Army. b. in 1891, he was educated at Coleraine school in Northern Ireland, and attended Trinity Coll. of Dublin U. He saw service in WWI at Gallipoli, Egypt, France and Italy, winning the Military Cross, and being wounded twice. In WWII he was on the staff of the Northern Command in India, and after serving as deputy director of the medical service in Burma, was appointed director general of the Army Medical Service in 1952. He was created a companion of the Order of the Bath in 1949. He was an honorary surgeon to King George VI from 1946 until his death. He is a commander of the Order of the British Empire. He is a member of Royal Thames Lodge No. 2966, Gerrard's Cross, Buckinghamshire.

Frederick B. Harris Chaplain of U.S. Senate, 1942–46 and since 1949. b. in Worcester, England, he was graduated from Dickinson Coll. (Pa.) with A.B., A.M. and D.D. degrees, holds honorary doctorates from several universities. He was ordained to the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal church in 1912, and served churches in Trenton and Long Branch, N.J.; Grace Church in New York City; and Foundry church in Washington, D.C. He has been at the latter since 1924. Member of Pentalpha Lodge No. 23 of Washington, D.C.

Lord George St. Vincent Harris Fifth Baron Harris. The barony of Harris, Seringapatam, and Mysore was created in 1815, with a land tenure in Belmont, Kent. It was awarded to his ancestor George, 1st Baron Harris who was wounded at the Battle of Bunker Hill in 1775, captured Seringapatam, and conquered Mysore in 1799. The baron succeeded his father in 1932. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church Coll. of Oxford. Lord Harris was installed deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of England in 1952. He is also grand master of the Mark Grand Lodge of England. He was grand master of the Knights Templar, and 33° AASR, being grand inspector general of the same. Previously he had been provincial grand master for the provinces of Surrey and Kent.

Henry B. Harris (1866–1912) Theatrical manager. b. Dec. 1, 1866 at St. Louis, Mo. He was educated in the public schools of that city and in Boston. As an associate of Rich & Harris, he undertook the management of May Irwin, and later managed Pete Daily, Lily Langtry, and Amelia Bingham in The Climbers, and launched Robert Edeson as a star. He became manager of the Hudson Theatre in 1903, the Harris Theatre in 1906, and the Follies Bergere in 1911. During the season of 1910–11 he had 18 companies on tour. Included in the productions he managed were The Lion and the Mouse; The Traveling Salesman; The Third Degree. He was a member of Munn Lodge No. 190, the Scottish Rite, and Mecca Shrine Temple, all of New York City. He was lost in the sinking of the Titanic on April 15, 1912.

Isham G. Harris (1818–1897) U.S. Senator and Governor of Tennessee. b. Feb. 10, 1818 at Tullahoma, Tenn. Of poor parents, he became a merchant in Tippah Co., Miss. By studying law at nights, he was able to pass the bar in 1841. He served in the state legislature from 1847–49, and was U.S. congressman from Tenn. for two terms, 1849–53. He was elected governor three times, serving from 1857–62. It was a turbulent period, and he joined the staff of General A. S. Johnston as an aide, and was with the Army of the West during most of the war. He was captured, broke parole, and went to Mexico, and then to England. He returned to the U.S. in 1867 and resumed law practice in Memphis, Tenn. He lost his fortune of $150,000 in the war. In 1876 he ran for the U.S. Senate, won, and took his seat in 1877. He served in the senate until his death on July 8, 1897, and was president pro tern of that body from 1893–97. A member of Paris Lodge No. 108, Paris, Tenn., he was elected grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Tennessee in 1851, but was unable to serve.

Nathaniel E. Harris (1846–1929) Governor of Georgia, 1915–17. b. Jan. 21, 1846 at Jonesboro, Tenn. Graduate of U. of Georgia in 1870. He enlisted in the Confederate forces in 1862, and served to the close of the Civil War, being on the staff of the Army of Northern Va. part of that time. He began law practice at Sparta, Ga. in 1872, and moved to Macon in 1873. He served in both branches of the state legislature, and was superior court judge of the Macon circuit in 1912. In 1885, he founded the Georgia School of Technology, and for a long time was chairman of the trustees. He was also trustee of the U. of Georgia, and Wesleyan Female Coll. Member of Macon Lodge No. 5, serving as master in 1914. Also a member of Constantine Chapter No. 4, R.A.M. of Macon. d. Sept. 21, 1929.

Oren Harris U.S. Congressman to 77th to 81st Congresses from 7th Ark. dist. b. Dec. 20, 1903 at Belton, Ark. Graduate of Henderson State Coll. (Ark.), and Cumberland U. Admitted to Ark. bar in 1930, and since practiced law at El Dorado. Member of El Dorado Lodge No. 13 and El Dorado Chapter No. 114, RAM., El Dorado, Ark.; 32° AASR (SJ) at Little Rock, Ark.; Shriner and Jester.

Overton Harris (1856–1931) Cattleman and banker. b. July 3, 1856 at Harris, Mo. A farmer from boyhood, he owned 3,000 acres in Sullivan Co., Mo. He started breeding Hereford cattle about 1890, and won most of the prizes offered for cattle with show herd at St. Louis Exposition in 1904. His herd developed into one of the foremost in the U.S. In 1888 he organized and was president of the Harris Banking Co., Harris, Mo. Member of Arcana Lodge No. 389, Harris, Mo.; exalted Milan Chapter No. 103, R.A.M., April 30, 1885; and charter member of St. Bernard Commandery No. 52 K.T. of Milan, in April 1889. Withdrew from chapter and commandery in 1923. Member of Scottish Rite. d. April 14, 1931.

Ray Baker Harris Masonic author and librarian. b. Dec.

31, 1907 in Manila, Philippines. Educated in public schools of New York City, the Massanutten Acad. (Va.), and George Washington U. He was on editorial staff of Doubleday, Doran & Co., publishers, N.Y. from 1928–30, and from 1930–39 was in charge of the publications section of The Library of Congress. Since 1939 he has been librarian of the Scottish Rite Supreme Council Library (SJ) at Washington, D.C. A contributor of historical and biographical articles to Encyclopaedia Britannica, historical quarterlies, magazines, and newspapers, he founded the Romanian Collection at Kent State U. (Ohio). In WWII he was with the 109th Inf. regiment and 28th Inf. Div. hdqs. in the Rhineland, Alsace, and German campaigns. A member of Potomac Lodge No. 5, Washington, D.C., he was master in 1947, and grand master of the Grand Lodge of District of Columbia in 1957. He is past secretary of Potomac–Hiram Chapter No. 8, R.A.M., and past recorder of Columbia Council No. 3, R. & S.M. He belongs to Potomac Commandery No. 3, K.T. Harris received the 33° honorary, in the AASR (SJ) in 1947, and is past wise master of Evangelist Chapter of Rose Croix. He also belongs to Almas Shrine temple, American Lodge of Research (active member), National Sojourners, Tall Cedars and O.E.S. He is the author of A Century and a Half of Freemasonry in Georgetown, and editor of Bibliography of the Writings of Albert Pike.

Reginald V. Harris Lawyer and Masonic author. b. March 21, 1881 at Londonderry Mines, N.S., Canada. Holds B.A. from Trinity U. (Toronto), and M.A. from Toronto U. and King's College (Windsor), with two honorary doctorates. Admitted to Nova Scotia bar in 1905, and has practiced in Winnipeg (Man.) and Halifax (N.S.) Active in the Church of England for 50 years, he was elected prolocutor in 1946, being first layman in Anglican Communion to hold this office. A founder and past president of the Commercial Club of Halifax; founder of Canadian Cancer Society; governor of King's College; school commissioner for Halifax; alderman, Halifax; founder and past president of Halifax Welfare Bureau; past member of provincial and national Red Cross council. Created officer of Order of St. John in 1917, and commander in 1943; received King's Coronation medal in 1937. In 1909 he won first prize in the Empire-wide competition for essay on Standard of Empire. Among his many writings are The Trial of Christ from a Legal Standpoint; His- tory of Knight Templarism in Canada; The Beginnings of Freemasonry in Canada (1606–1800); and over 200 histories of Masonic bodies in Canada. He has written a number of plays including ten Masonic ones. Raised in St. Andrew's Lodge No. 1, Halifax, Oct. 7, 1913, he served as master and secretary. He was grand master of Nova Scotia from 1932–35, and has been grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia since 1945. Exalted in St. Andrew's Chapter No. 2 in 1915, he was grand high priest in 1926–27; Knighted in Antiquity Preceptory No. 5, K.T., he was supreme grand master in 1937–39. A member of the Nova Scotia Consistory, Scottish Rite, he was made honorary 33° in 1932, and was active 33° from 1954–56.

Robert LeRoy Harris (1874–1948) Episcopal Bishop. b. Feb. 12, 1874 at Cleveland, O. Graduate of Kenyon Coll. (Ohio) in 1896. Ordained Episcopal deacon in 1899, and priest in 1900. He served churches in Toledo, Ohio; Newport, Ky.;

Cincinnati, Ohio; and Cheyenne, Wyo. He was elected bishop of Marquette in 1917, and later served as bishop in charge of Episcopal churches in Europe. Member of Sanford L. Collins Lodge No. 396, Toledo, Ohio; Toledo Chapter No. 161, R.A.M.; Toledo Council No. 33, R. & S.M.; Toledo Commandery No. 7, K.T. Received Scottish Rite degrees in Valley of Cincinnati in 1905, and in 1908 affiliated with the bodies at Cheyenne, Wyo., returning to Valley of Toledo in 1918. He was crowned 33° (NJ) on Sept. 16, 1919. d. Feb. 6, 1948.

Rufus C. Harris President of Tulane University since 1937. b. at Monroe, Ga. in 1897. Graduate of Mercer U. in 1917. He was professor of law at Mercer U. from 1923–27, and from 1927–37 was dean and professor of law at Tulane U. Has been director of U.S. Federal Reserve Bank at Atlanta, Ga. since 1938. Served in WWI as a first lieutenant of Infantry in France. Member of General Warren Lodge No. 20, Monroe, Ga., being raised on May 11, 1920.

Thaddeus M. Harris (1768–1842) Colonial clergyman and Masonic writer. b. July 7, 1768 at Charlestown, Mass. His father was a Revolutionary patriot, who died during the war, leaving his family destitute. He entered the school of Dr. Morse, who prepared him for college; and in 1787 he was graduated from Harvard U. Through the influence of friends he was invited that year to become private secretary to General Washington, but was prevented from accepting by an attack of smallpox. He taught at Worcester a year, studied theology and in 1781 was appointed librarian at Harvard. He served until 1793, when he became pastor of the First Unitarian church at Dorchester, where he remained until three years before his death. His son, Thaddeus W., q.v., later became librarian at Harvard. He wrote Discourses in Favor of Freemasonry (1803). Other writings were: Biographical Memoirs of James Oglethorpe; A Natural History of the Bible; Journal of a Tour of the Territory Northwest of the Alleghany Mountains; and others. He was the first grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts from 1797–98, drafted the “Harris Constitutions” for his grand lodge; was junior warden in 1800, and grand secretary from 1800–10. He was made a Mason in King Solomon Lodge, Charlestown in 1790. d. April 3, 1842.

Thaddeus W. Harris (1795–1856) Entomologist and librarian. b. Nov. 12, 1795 at Dorchester, Mass., the son of the Rev. Thaddeus M. Harris, q.v. He was graduated from Harvard in 1815, studied medicine, and practiced at Milton Hill, Mass. until 1831, when he was appointed librarian of Harvard. He served in this capacity until his death in 1856. His father had been librarian of Harvard 1781–93. In 1837 he was appointed to make a zoological and botanical survey of Mass., and after much research, published a catalog of insects that numbered 2,350 species. He was a member of Union Lodge at Dorchester. d. Jan. 16, 1856.

William L. Harris (1817–1887) Methodist Episcopal Bishop. b. Nov. 4, 1817 at Mansfield, Ohio. Admitted to the Michigan conference of the church in 1837, and in 1840, when boundaries between Mich. and Ohio were adjusted, became a member of the Northern Ohio conference. He served pastorates in Ohio for eight years and became an instructor in Ohio Wesleyan U., and later principal of Baldwin Inst. at Berea. Ordained bishop in 1872. In 1872–73 he circumnavigated the world on a visit to various missions. He was recognized as an expert on Methodist church law. The place and dates of his degrees are unknown, but in 1842, he was a member of Mount Zion Lodge No. 9, (Ohio) and in 1848 was a member of Toledo Lodge No. 144, Toledo, Ohio. d. Sept. 2, 1887.

Alexander C. Harrison An aide to General Washington during the Revolution. Member of Hiram Lodge No. 28 of Maryland. During the Revolution, Washington had a total of 32 aides at one time or another. Some were military and others were secretaries. Seven of them have been identified as Freemasons.

Benjamin Harrison Federal Judge, Southern District of California since 1940. b. Dec. 18, 1888 at San Bernardino, Calif. Admitted to bar in 1914, and practiced at Needles, and then San Bernardino. Raised in Needles Lodge No. 326, Needles, Calif. in Jan., 1922; exalted in Keystone Chapter No. 56, R.A.M. of San Bernardino; greeted in Valley Council No. 56, R. & SM., San Bernardino; and knighted in St. Bernard Commandery No. 23, San Bernardino. He went through the chairs in the chapter. Member of Al Malaikah Shrine Temple, Los Angeles.

Byron P. “Pat” Harrison (1881–1941) U.S. Senator from Mississippi (four terms) 1919–43, dying in office. b. Aug. 29, 1881 at Crystal Springs, Miss. Attended Louisiana State

U., and began law practice at Leakesville in 1902, and later at Gulfport. He was a member of the 62nd to 65th U.S. congresses (1911–19) from the 6th Miss. dist. He was chairman of the senate finance committee. Member of Gulfport Lodge No. 422 and 32° AASR (SJ) in Gulfport Consistory, both of Gulfport, Miss. d. June 22, 1941.

Carter H. Harrison (1860–1953) Lawyer, publisher, and five times mayor of Chicago (1897–1905, 1911–15) b. April 23, 1860. He was the son of Carter Henry Harrison, who also served five terms as mayor of Chicago, and was killed by an assassin, Oct. 28, 1893. Graduate of St. Ignatius Coil. (Loyola U.) in 1881. He first practiced law, then engaged in the real estate business, and from 1891–94 was editor and publisher of the Chicago Times. Member of Auburn Park Lodge No. 789 of Chicago, receiving degrees on Feb. 10, March 12, and March 18, 1898; Knight Templar. d. Dec. 25, 1953.

Francis B. Harrison (1873–?) Former Governor General of the Philippines. b. Dec. 18, 1873. He replaced Governor General Forbes in 1913. A member of Manila Lodge No. 1, he was made “at sight” by Grand Master Taylor on July 11, 1916. He received the 32° AASR in August, 1916, dimitted in 1927, reinstated in 1946, and again dimitted in 1949.

George P. Harrison Confederate General of Civil War. Was deputy grand master of Grand Lodge of Alabama in 1892–93, and grand master in 1894–95.

Henry B. Harrison (1821–1901) Governor of Connecticut, 1885–86. b. in New Haven, Conn. Graduate of Yale at head of class in 1846, receiving LL.D. from same in 1885. A lawyer, he was often in the state legislature, and was one time speaker of the house. He assisted in the organization of the Republican party in Conn. in 1885–86. Member of Hiram Lodge No. 1, Franklin Chapter No. 4, and New Haven Commandery No. 2, K.T., all of New Haven, Conn.

Roland R. Harrison (1878–1940) Managing editor of the Christian Science Monitor. b. June 10, 1878 at Smithville, N.Y. Graduate of Cornell U. in 1903. From 1903–22 he was with the following newspapers: Brooklyn Standard Union; New York Times; New York Herald. He joined the Monitor staff at Boston in 1922, and was executive editor from 1924–29, and administrative editor from 1939. He was manager of the Christian Science Publishing Society from 1929–39. Mason. d. Jan. 16, 1940.

William H. Harrison Judge, Supreme Court of New Brunswick. b. Sept. 25, 1880 in St. John, N.B., Canada. Graduate of U. of New Brunswick and Harvard Law School. Called to the bar in 1903, and became King's counsel in 1923. From 1908–19 he edited the N.B. Law Reports. He served in the provincial legislature from 1925–33, when appointed attorney general of N.B. on the latter date. Supreme court judge since 1935. In WWI he commanded the 3rd New Brunswick Royal Canadian Artillery, and was awarded the D.S.O. Mason.

William Henry Harrison (1773–1841) Ninth President of the United States. Anti-Mason.

Archibald C. Hart (1873–1935) U.S. Congressman to 62nd to 64th Congresses (1911–17) from 6th N.J. dist. b. Feb. 27, 1873 at Lennoxville, P.Q. Canada. Admitted to N.J. bar in 1896. Served in Spanish–American War with 2nd N.J. Volunteer Infantry. Raised in Pioneer Lodge No. 70, Hackensack, N.J. on March 16, 1900. d. July 24, 1935 (grand lodge records say July 23rd).

John E. Hart (1825–1863) Lieutenant Commander, U.S. Navy. A truce was called while his erstwhile enemies gave him Masonic burial services. b. in New York City. Appointed midshipman in the navy, Feb. 23, 1841. At the outbreak of the Mexican War he was serving on the famous Constitution. He entered the U.S. Naval Academy, and was the 92nd man to graduate from that newly formed school, in 1847. In 1856 he served on the sloop Jamestown off the African coast. He was apparently granted a leave, for he was made a Mason in St. George's Lodge No. 6, Schenectady, N.Y. in 1857. He married the daughter of Abraham A. Van Vorst, who was three times mayor of Schenectady, and master of the lodge in 1855–56. Thereafter Hart made Schenectady his home. He served on the receiving ship New York in 1857, and was promoted to lieutenant commander Aug. 5, 1862, and assigned command of a small side–wheel gunboat Albatross. As a part of Farragut's squadron, he received orders to shell the town of St. Francisville, La. on the Mississippi River. He became delirious with fever and shot himself to death in his cabin. Before dying, he requested that he be given a Masonic funeral instead of having his remains consigned to the river. Fellow officers, respecting his request, ran up the flag of truce, and rowed to Bayou Sara, where they contacted Capt. William W. Leake, the senior warden of Feliciana Lodge No. 31. Leake was home on leave from the Confederate Army. Leake, Samuel, and Benjamin White (local residents), and the Masons of the Albatross conducted the Masonic services. In the ensuing years the lone Union grave in a field of Confederate dead was cared for by Leake, who passed the job on to his daughter, Mrs. Camilla Barrow, when he died in 1912. Mrs. Barrow was still living when on Jan. 8, 1956, a delegation from St. George Lodge of Schnectady, N.Y. and St. Francisville Masons, gathered to dedicate a new marker on the 93-year-old grave, and to hear repeated the strange story of how once the bonds of Masonry stretched across the enemy lines. Two dates are given for Hart's death. Navy records state it was June 11, 1863, while Feliciana Lodge records say it was April 11, 1863.

Louis F. Hart (1862–1929) Governor of Washington. b. Jan. 4, 1862 at High Point, Mo. Admitted to the bar in 1884, he first practiced at California, Mo. and then in Snohomish, Wash. from 1889. He was lieutenant governor of Washington from 1912–19, and governor from 1919–25. He was grand secretary of the Grand Lodge I.O.O.F. of Washington from 1901–14. He was a member of Fern Hill Lodge No. 80 of Tacoma, and Afifi Shrine Temple of that city. d. Dec. 5, 1929.

O. Frank Hart (1879–1950) General Grand Master, General Grand Council, R. & S.M., 1927–30. He was a druggist before accepting the grand secretaryship of the state bodies of S.C. Made a Master Mason in Richland Lodge No. 39, Columbia,

S.C. in 1903. Member of Columbia Chapter No. 5, RAM.; Columbia Commandery No. 4, K.T. Served as grand high priest of the grand chapter and grand commander of the grand commandery of S.C., secretary and recorder of grand lodge, chapter, council and commandery; grand commander, grand commandery of S.C. in 1927. d. Nov. 28, 1950.

Oliver J. Hart Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Pennsylvania. b. July 18, 1892 at York, S.C. Graduate of Hobart Coll. (N.Y.) in 1913. Ordained minister in 1917, and served churches in Charleston, S.C.; Macon, Ga.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Washington, D.C.; and Boston, Mass. He was elected bishop coadjutor of Tenn. in 1937, but declined. In 1938 he was made bishop of Delaware, and in 1942 bishop of Pennsylvania. He served as a chaplain in both World Wars. Received degrees in Philanthropic Lodge No. 32, York, S.C. on Oct 3, Nov. 6, 1917, and Feb. 4, 1918. Later affiliations have been Macon Lodge No. 5, Macon, Ga. (1920–37); Temple Noyes Lodge No. 32, Washington, D.C.; St. Andrew's Lodge, Boston, and since 1946, University Lodge No. 610, Philadelphia, Pa. Exalted in Carolina Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. of Charleston, S.C., April 22, 1920, and later affiliations have been in Macon, Ga., Mt. Pleasant Chapter No. 13, R.A.M., D.C., and University Chapter No. 256, R.A.M., Philadelphia. He was knighted in South Carolina Commandery No. 1, Charleston, S.C. on May 29, 1920, affiliating with Chattanooga Commandery No. 32, K.T. Chattanooga Tenn., Dec. 26, 1930, and later, with Mary Commandery No. 36, K.T. at Philadelphia. He has been grand chaplain of Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania since 1949. Received the 32° AASR (NJ) in Philadelphia and 33° in Boston on Sept. 27, 1951.

William L. Hart Judge, Supreme Court of Ohio from 1934. b. Feb. 5, 1867 at Salineville, Ohio. Graduate of Mt. Union Coll. and U. of Michigan, he was admitted to the bar in 1897, and has since practiced at Alliance. Member of Conrad Lodge No. 271, Alliance, receiving degrees on May 23, Oct. 2, and Oct. 16, 1913.

Dow W. Harter U.S. Congressman to 73rd to 77th Congresses (1933–43) from 14th Ohio dist. b. Jan. 2, 1885 at Akron, Ohio. Practiced law first at Akron, and later in Washington, D.C. Mason.

Roland H. Hartley (1864–1952) Governor of Washington, 1925–33. b. June 26, 1864 at Shogomoc, N.B., Canada. Educated in public schools of Minneapolis, Minn. In 1897 he was private secretary to his father-in-law, Governor David M. Clough of Minn. Moved to Everett, Wash. in 1903, where he engaged in the lumber business. He was mayor of Everett in 1910, served in the lower house in 1915–16. He was president of Clough, Hartley Co. Mason, Shriner, and member of St. Alban's Conclave No. 18, Red Cross of Constantine. 33° AASR (SJ) on Oct. 22, 1897. He was raised Nov. 26, 1885 in Cataract Lodge No. 2 of Minneapolis, and served as master in 1897. He was later a member of Cass Lodge No. 243 of Cass Lake, Minn. and served as master in 1901. In 1898 he was district deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Minn. He had also served as high priest of his chapter, commander of his commandery, potentate of his Shrine Temple and grand commander of the Grand Commandery, K.T. of Minn. in 1902–03. d. Sept. 21, 1952.

Leroy L. Hartman Dentist, and after 18 years of research, discoverer of formula for desensitizing dentine of teeth (1935), known as "Hartman's Solution." b. Jan. 20, 1893 at Victoria, B.C., Canada. Received dental degree from Northwestern U. in 1913. Naturalized in 1919. Practiced dentistry in Victoria and in Seattle, Wash., and was professor of operative dentistry at Columbia U. Mason, 32° and Shriner.

John F. Hartranft (1830–?) Governor of Pennsylvania, 1872–78, and Major General in Civil War. b. Dec. 16, 1830, in New Hanover, Pa. Graduate of Union Coll. in 1853, he was admitted to the bar in 1859. At beginning of Civil War he raised the 4th Pa. regiment, and commanded it. He later organized the 51st Pa. regiment, which he commanded and led in the charge of the stone bridge at Antietam. He fought at Fredericksburg, Campbell's Station, the defense of Knoxville, Vicksburg, and with Sherman in his march to Jackson, Miss. He commanded a brigade in the battles of the Wilderness and Spottsylvania, and was made brigadier general of volunteers in 1864. In Aug. 1864, he commanded a division and was brevetted major general for services in recapturing Fort Steadman. He was postmaster of Philadelphia in 1879, and collector of the port in 1880. Member of Charity Lodge No. 190 at Norristown, Pa. Deceased.

Joseph C. Hartzell (1842–1929) Methodist Episcopal Bishop. b. June 1, 1842 at Moline, Ill. Graduate of Illinois Wesleyan U. and Garrett Bible Inst. Ordained to ministry in 1866, and served churches in Pekin, Ill., and New Orleans, La. from 1869–82. He founded the Southwestern Christian Advocate in 1875. Served as missionary bishop of Africa from 1896–1916. At one time he was special envoy to U.S. and England in behalf of the Republic of Liberia, and succeeded in averting a crisis between that country and Germany. He was made Knight Commander, Order of Redemption of Africa by the Liberian government. Mason. d. Sept. 6, 1929.

Matthew Harvey (1781–1866) Governor of New Hampshire in 1830, serving but one year. He resigned to accept appointment of President Jackson, q.v., as Federal judge of the district court. b. June 21, 1781 in Sutton, N.H. Graduate of Dartmouth U. in 1806, he practiced law in Hopkinton. He served in the state legislature from 1814–20, and in U.S. Congress from 1821–25. From 1825–28 he was president of the state senate. Member of King Solomon's Lodge No. 14, Elkins, N.H. (formerly of Scytheville). d. Concord, April 7, 1866.

William W. Harvey Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Kansas. b. Nov. 21, 1869 in Madison Co., Ky. and reared in Shawnee Co., Kans. He taught school in Silver Lake, Rossville, and Ellsworth, Kans. before being admitted to the bar in 1898. He first practiced law at Topeka, but moved to Ashland in 1906. Harvey served on the supreme court bench from 1923–56, and was chief justice from 1945–56. He was initiated in Ellsworth Lodge No. 146, Ellsworth, Kans., May 2, 1898, passed Aug. 1, and was raised Oct. 11. On May 20, 1903 he was admitted to Topeka Lodge No. 17, Topeka, and on Jan. 2, 1907, was admitted to Ashland Lodge No. 277, Ashland. He served the latter lodge as junior warden in 1908 and master in 1909.

Charles Harwood (1880–1950) Governor of Virgin Islands, 1941. Federal Judge of Canal Zone, 1937. b. May 24, 1880 in Brooklyn, N.Y. He was graduated from the New York Law School and was admitted to the bar in 1904. He practiced in New York City until 1935, when he became special assistant to the U.S. attorney general for two years. Raised in Mar-chants Lodge No. 709, Brooklyn, April 18, 1907; became dual member of Harrison Lodge No. 1093, Feb. 2, 1949. Received 32° AASR (NJ), May 24, 1907, and joined Kismet Shrine Temple, May 31, 1907. d. Oct. 23, 1950.

Kittredge Haskins (1836–1916) U.S. Congressman to 57th to 60th Congresses (1901–09) from 2nd Vt. dist. b. April 8, 1836 at Dover, Vt. Admitted to bar in 1858. During the Civil War, he served with the 16th Vt. regiment from 1862–63. He practiced law in Brattleboro after 1866. He was a U.S. district attorney from 1880–87, served in the state legislature, and was speaker of the house in 1898, and member of state senate, 1892–94. He was raised in Social Lodge No. 38, Wilmington, Vt., June 7, 1857, affiliating with Columbian Lodge No. 36 at Brattleboro in 1865; exalted in Fort Dummer Chapter No. 12, R.A.M. in 1865; knighted in Beauseant Cornmandery No. 7, all of Brattleboro. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Vermont from 1895–97; grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of Vermont in 1883; and grand commander of the Grand Commandery of Vermont in 1891. Received 33° AASR (NJ) in 1899. d. Aug. 7, 1916.

Daniel H. Hastings (1849–1903) Governor of Pennsylvania, 1895–99. b. Feb. 26, 1849 at Salona, Pa. Reared on a farm, he practiced law from 1875–88. He was largely interested in coal mines and banking. In 1887–91 he was adjutant general of Pa., and as such had charge of the relief measures in the Johnstown flood of 1889. His home was at Bellefonte, Pa. and he was a member of Bellefonte Lodge No. 268; he served as commander of Bellefonte Commandery, K.T.

Daniel O. Hastings U.S. Senator from Delaware, 1928–37. b. March 5, 1874 at Somerset Co., Md. Admitted to bar in 1902, he served as deputy attorney general of the state, and as secretary of state. In 1909 he was appointed associate justice of the state supreme court, and served until 1911, when he resigned. He was appointed by the governor as U.S. senator in 1928, and won the next term by election. Now practices law in Wilmington. Member of Armstrong Lodge No. 26, Newport, Del. and 32° AASR (NJ) at Wilmington since 1914.

Francis, 1st Marquis of Hastings (see Earl of Moira).

S. Clinton Hastings (1814–?) Chief Justice of Iowa and California; philanthropist. b. Nov. 14, 1814. He was educated at Gouverneur Academy (N.Y.) and studied law, beginning practice in Iowa. He was a member of the Iowa legislature and was one of the first U.S. congressmen from Iowa, serving from 1846–47. He was appointed chief justice of Iowa supreme court in 1848, but only served one year, moving to Calif. where he was elected chief justice of Calif. by the unanimous vote of the state legislature. He designed the first seal of Calif. which showed an altar with a square and compass on it. In 1878 he founded and endowed Hastings Coll. of Law in the U. of Calif. He paid $100,000 in gold to the state treasury for use in legal education of students. He also gave $6,000 in property to the foundation of St. Catherine Academy in Benicia. He belonged to two California lodges, Tehama No. 3 and Jennings No. 4 of Sacramento. The latter lodge had a short but tempestuous life. It was originally chartered as New Jersey Lodge, U.D. under the Grand Lodge of N.J. (1849), and then as Berryman Lodge No. 4 under Calif. in 1850, and a short time later changing its name to Jennings No. 4. Both the lodge names were in honor of Berryman Jennings, the first grand treasurer of the Grand Lodge of California. Due to expenses of building a lodge hall ($3949) and charity to sojourning brethren ($14,000), it was forced to close its doors after three years. Hastings was one of the names on the note to make good the money advanced the lodge by Jennings.

Samuel M. Hastings (1860–1943) President of Dayton Scale Co. and director of International Business Machines Corp. b. Aug. 14, 1860. Was in manufacture and sale of computing scales at Chicago from 1893, and president of the Dayton Scale Co. until 1927, when it merged with I.B.M. and he became director of the latter organization. Received the degrees in Braidwood Lodge No. 704, Braidwood, Ill., Nov. 15, Dec. 6, and Dec. 31, 1883. Affiliated with Streator Lodge No. 607, Streator, Ill. in 1885, dimitting Feb. 5, 1890, and on Feb. 7, 1918, affiliating with A.O. Fay Lodge No. 676, Highland Park, Ill. d. April 1, 1943.

William W. Hastings Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Feb. 18, 1889 at Geneva, Nebr. Graduate of Mass. Inst. of Tech. in 1925 in naval architecture and marine engineering, he entered the naval service in WWI and advanced through grades to rear admiral in 1947. He was with the Naval Construction Corps from 1918 until his retirement in 1947. Mason, Knight Templar and Royal Arch Mason.

Charles H. Haswell (1809–1907) First Engineer-in-Chief of the U.S. Navy, 1844–52. b. May 22, 1809 in New York City. He was a member of the board that designed the steam frigates Missouri and Mississippi. Before the naval engineering corps was established in 1844, he had served as chief engineer from 1836. He was a consulting engineer in New York City from 1852, and a trustee of the New York and Brooklyn Bridge in 1877. He wrote Mechanic's and Engineer's Pocket-Book; Mechanic's Tables; and others. He was a past master of Hiram Lodge No. 10, Washington, D.C.

Carl A. Hatch U.S. Senator from New Mexico, 1933–49; U.S. District Judge for New Mexico from 1949. b. Nov. 27, 1889 at Kirwin, Kans. Graduate of Cumberland U. He first practiced law at Eldorado, Okla., but moved to Clovis, N.M. in 1912. He was assistant attorney general in 1917–18, and judge of the 9th judicial dist. from 1923–29. He again practiced law at Clovis from 1929–33. Received his degrees in Clovis Lodge No. 40, Clovis, N.M., and life member of same; 32° AASR at Santa Fe, and member of Ballut Abyad Shrine Temple at Albuquerque, N.M.

William B. Hatcher (1888–1947) President of Louisiana State University from 1944. b. Dec. 12, 1888 at Ripley, Miss.

Graduate of Louisiana State U. in 1916. He served as principal of high school in Baker, La. and superintendent at Baton Rouge before going to Louisiana State U. as a history professor in 1936. Received his degrees in Plains Lodge No. 135, Zachary, La. on Oct. 8, Nov. 12, and Dec. 3, 1915. Dimitted Dec. 3, 1940. d. April 3, 1947.

Ichiro Hatoyama Prime Minister of Japan. b. Jan. 1, 1883 in Tokyo. He studied at the Tokyo Imperial U. and practiced law in Tokyo from 1907–15. He served many years in the Japanese house of representatives, starting in 1915, and was chief secretary of the cabinet in 1927–29. In 1931–34 he was minister of education. He was elected prime minister of Japan in 1954. He was made a Master Mason, March 26, 1955, while prime minister. This was widely publicized in the Japanese newspapers, for it was an about face of policy from 15 years previous, when the Japanese government forbade any national to become a member of the fraternity. Local attacks upon Freemasonry went as far back as 1921, when Jiro Imai, faculty member of Tokyo Imperial U., warned against “this dangerous and subversive secret society.” The ceremony was jointly conducted by the Grand Lodge of the Philippines and the district grand lodge of Japan. Five officers from the Philippines attended, including Grand Master Warner Schetelig, and Grand Secretary Antonio Gonzales. The Nippon Times stated that General John E. Hull, General Paul E. Rusto, General K. P. McNaughton, and Venezuelan Minister Rodriguez-Jiminez participated in the ceremony. Messages of congratulations poured in from people all over the world to Hatoyama, including ex-president Truman and General

Douglas MacArthur. MacArthur's wire read: "As basic morality is the foundation of Freemasonry it is a source of deep satisfaction to me to see its progress in Japan. No more reassuring indication of its growing strength could be evidenced than the conferring of its third degree upon the Prime Minister. Please extend my felicitations to him on this significant occasion not only personally, but as the political representative of the great Japanese race."

Jacob Hvinden Haug Major general in Norwegian army; he was in charge of the Oslo (Grand area when the Germans occupied Norway). Master of the Grand Lodge of Norway 1945–1957, at which time he resigned because of ill health. He was distinguished for his work in rebuilding Freemasonry in Norway after WWII. Grateful brethren from all parts of Norway presented him with a gold medal upon his resignation in 1957 as grand master. He was K. and C. of the Order of King Charles XIII. b. in 1880.

David N. Hauseman Brigadier General U.S. Army and president of Houndry Process Corp. b. March 4, 1895 at Pottstown, Pa. Graduate of U. of Pennsylvania, Mass. Inst. Tech. and Harvard U. He enlisted in the Army as a private in 1917, and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1944, retiring in 1946. Following WWII he was in charge of the general staff supervision of settling war contracts and disposal of surplus property for Army Service Forces and Air Force. He was vice president of Temple U. and president and director of that institution's research institute from 1946–48. Mason.

Samuel T. Hauser (1833–1914) Governor of Montana, 1886–88. b. Jan. 10, 1833 in Falmouth, Ky. Educated as a civil engineer, he was an engineer on Missouri Pacific Railroad in 1854, and a prospector along the upper waters of the Missouri and Columbia Rivers in 1862. He opened a bank at Virginia City, Mont. in 1865, and from 1866 was president of the First National Bank of Helena, Mont. He was a prominent member of the Vigilance Committee in the pioneer days. Mason. d. Nov. 10, 1914.

John W. Haussermann Capitalist, known as the “Gold King of the Philippines.” b. Dec. 14, 1867 in Clermont Co., Ohio. Graduate of U. of Cincinnati in 1889. Admitted to Ohio bar in 1889, and later practiced in Leavenworth, Kans., where he was city attorney; in 1898, he enlisted with the 20th Kansas volunteers, and served in the Philippines as a second lieutenant. In 1902 he was appointed by Governor Taft to prepare a charter for the city of Manila. He served as assistant attorney general for the Philippines in 1902–03, and resigned to enter private practice of law. Since 1915 he has engaged principally in gold mining. He has been president of the Benguet Consolidated Mining Co. since that time. On his 90th birthday, he offered his Ohio estate, known as the Pond Run Farm, to the Masons of Ohio. Member of Corregidor–Southern Cross Lodge No. 3, F. & A.M. in Manila, Philippines; Luzon Chapter No. 1, R.A.M. and Oriental Council No. 1, R. & S.M., Manila; Nile Shrine Temple, Seattle, Wash.; and Asoka Conclave No. 30, Red Cross of Constantine, Manila.

John F. Haussmann (1873–1955) University coach, baseball player, and professor of German. In early life he was a member of the St. Louis Cardinals. He was an uncle of Clemens Haussmann, Boston Red Sox pitcher, and of George Haussmann, 2nd baseman with New York Giants. He studied at Washington U. (Mo.) ; Elmhurst Coll. (Ill.) and was graduated from U. of Michigan in 1902, with Phi Beta Kappa honors. He played on Michigan's baseball team. After study in Germany, he taught German at the U. of Wisconsin where he earned a master's and doctor's degree. In 1908 he was the university's baseball coach. He retired in 1948. Made a Mason in Hiram Lodge No. 50 of Three Rivers, Mich. on April 14, 1917, he was buried by that lodge following his death on Dec. 30, 1955.

Henry Havemeyer (1838–1886) Sugar magnate. b. July 25, 1838 in New York City. He became a member of the family sugar refining firm, which controlled more than half of the entire sugar interest of the country. He was also engaged in tobacco commerce. He was one time engaged of the Long Island Railway. Member of Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City. d. June 2, 1886.

Joseph E. Haven (1885–1937) U.S. Consul. b. Jan. 19, 1885 at Chicago, Ill. Entering consular service in 1904, he served at St. Christopher, W.I.; Crefeld, Germany; Roubaix, France; and Catania, Turin and Trieste, Italy. d. May 4, 1937.

Benjamin C. Hawkes (1875–1931) President of Standard Playing Card Co. from 1898, and President of U.S. Playing Card Co. from 1929–30. b. Oct. 8, 1875, at Chicago, Ill.

Educated in Chicago public schools, Northwestern U., and Chicago Coll. of Law. Admitted to bar in 1896, and practiced at Chicago until 1906. He was also president of the Caxton Printing Ink and Color Co., and Great Northern Lumber Co. Mason. d. Dec. 16, 1931.

Alan S. Hawkesworth (1867–1942) Mathematician and clergyman. b. Aug. 10, 1867 in New Orleans, he was taken to England when four years old, and educated in Church Missionary Coll. of London. He went to San Antonio, Texas in 1891. Ordained deacon in Protestant Episcopal church in 1892, he went to Buenos Aires, S.A., and was ordained priest in 1894. He was rector at Sao Paulo and Santos, Brazil, Georgetown, St. Vincent, B.W.I. and Pittsburgh, Pa. from 1893–1917. From 1917–1923 he was a mathematician in the Bureau of Naval Ordnance. He discovered and published nearly 100 new theorems in geometrical conics. He traveled in nearly all countries of the world. In 1908 he was a member of the 4th International Mathematical Congress at Rome, and a perpetual fellow of the Circolo Matematico di Palermo. Mason. d. Oct. 31, 1942.

Edward L. Hawkins (1851–1913) English Masonic author. b. Aug. 10, 1851. He was raised in Apollo University Lodge No. 357, Oxford, in 1881. He was an early member of the Quatuor Coronati Lodge No. 2076, joining in 1886. However, he resigned at the first meeting after its consecration, and did not again affiliate for 20 years. He served as its senior warden in 1912. He wrote A History of Freemasonry in Oxfordshire (1882); A Concise Cyclopaedia or Handbook of Masonic Reference (1908); started the publication Miscellanea Latomorum in 1911; and prepared a revised edition of Mackey's Encyclopaedia of Freemasonry in 1911. d. March 17, 1913.

Albert H. Hawley (1866–1931) Labor leader. b. May 13, 1866 at Davenport, Iowa. He was a hotel employee from the age of 13 to 19, and a railroad fireman and engineer from 1885–1901. From 1901–09 he was an inspector for the Interstate Commerce Commission, and from 1909 was general secretary and treasurer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers. Mason. d. May 28, 1931.

Joseph R. Hawley (1826–1905) Governor, Congressman, Senator from Conn. Was brigadier general (1864), and brevetted major general (1865), in Civil War. He served as governor of Conn. in 1866, U.S. congressman several times, and U.S. senator from 1881–1905. He is referred to as a Mason, but no record is found of his membership.

Paul R. Hawley Major General, U.S. Army Medical Corps, and now chief executive officer of Blue Cross and Blue Shield programs. b. Jan. 31, 1891 at West College Corner, Ind. Graduate of Indiana U., 1912, U. of Cincinnati, 1914, Johns Hopkins, 1923. He was commissioned a first lieutenant in the Medical Corps in 1916, and advanced through grades to major general in 1944. From 1943–47 he was chief medical director of the U.S. Veterans Administration. He is director of the American College of Surgeons. He has received many decorations and awards, both foreign and domestic. Served in WWI in France, and in WWII was chief surgeon of Army Air Force in British Isles and European theatre. Mason.

Willis C. Hawley (1864–1941) U.S. Congressman to 60th to 72nd Congresses (1907–33) from 1st Oregon dist. b. May 5, 1864 near Monroe, Ore. Held a B.S., LL.B., A.B., A.M. and LL.D. from Willamette U. of Salem, Ore. He was president of the Oregon State Normal School from 1888–91, and 1893–1902. From 1902–05 he was vice president and dean of Willamette U. He was admitted to the bar in 1894. Member of Pacific Lodge No. 50, Salem, Ore., receiving degrees on Nov. 25, 1903, March 30 and April 27, 1904. d. July 24, 1941.

Frank W. Hawthorne Justice, Supreme Court of Louisiana from 1945. b. June 2, 1900 at Springhill, La. Graduate of Louisiana State U. in 1924, he was admitted to the bar in that year and practiced at Winnsboro for a short time, and then at Bastrop from 1924–33. Received the degrees in Simcoe Walmsley Lodge No. 359, Cypress, La. on Sept. 10, Dec. 4, Dec. 15, 1921; affiliated with Mt. Gerizim Lodge No. 54, Bastrop, La., May 21, 1928; 32° AASR (SJ).

Arthur D. Hay (1884–1952) Justice of Supreme Court of Oregon, 1942–52. b. Oct. 24, 1884 in Scotland, he came to the U.S. in 1906, and was naturalized in 1918. He studied at the HeriotWatt Coll. of Edinburgh, and graduated from U. of Oregon in 1911, being admitted to the bar in that year. He first practiced in Portland, then Klamath Falls (1912–15), and Lakewood (1915–33). He served as district attorney and circuit judge. He received his degrees in Lakeview Lodge

No. 71, Lakeview, Oreg., Feb. 19, April 13 and June 8, 1921, serving as master of same, 1924–32, and grand master of the Grand Lodge of Oregon in 1941. He held dual membership in Research Lodge No. 198. d. Dec. 19, 1952.

Marion E. Hay (1865–1933) Seventh Governor of Washington, 1909–13. b. Dec. 9, 1865 in Adams Co., Wis. After clerking in a store in Minn. for seven years, he moved to Washington Territory in 1888, and entered the mercantile business in Davenport, moving to Wilbur in 1889, and Spokane in 1908. Elected lieutenant governor in 1908, and became governor on the death of Governor Cosgrove. He was a member and past master of Tuscan Lodge No. 81 of Wilbur. d. Nov. 21, 1933.

Count Tadasu Hayashi (1850–1913) Japanese diplomat and statesman. He was minister to China from 1896–98; minister to Russia from 1898–99; minister to Great Britain, 1899–1906. He was created a count in 1907, for being largely responsible for the treaties of the Anglo–Japanese alliances of 1902 and 1905. He was a delegate to the International Peace Conference at The Hague in 1899. He was made a Freemason in Empire Lodge No. 2108 of London, England.

Carl Hayden U.S. Senator from Arizona since 1926. Now in his sixth term. b. Oct. 2, 1877 at Hayden's Ferry —now Tempe, Ariz. Served as member of town council of Tempe, treasurer and sheriff of Maricopa Co. In WWI he was an infantry major in the national guard. He was a member of the 62nd to 69th U.S. congresses (1912–27) from Arizona at large. He has specialized in legislation relating to irrigation of arid lands and Federal aid for highways. Member of Tempe Lodge No. 15, Tempe, Ariz.

Franz Joseph Haydn (1732–1809) Austrian composer, regarded as the first great master of the symphony and the quartet. He sang in the cathedral choir of St. Stephen's at Vienna from 1740–49. From 1760–90 he was kapel/meister in the service of the Esterhazy family, and it was during this period that he wrote some of his greatest music, operas, Masses, piano sonatas, symphonies and overtures. He had a long friendship with Mozart, q.v., beginning in 1781. Mozart's influence aided him in developing a fuller mastery of orchestral effects in his later symphonies. While in England from 1791–92, he wrote and conducted six symphonies, and again in 1794–95, wrote another six symphonies while in that country. He was a resident of the Vienna suburbs from 1795, where he wrote his last eight Masses, his finest chamber music, the Austrian national anthem, and the two great oratorios, The Creation, and The Seasons. It is probable that his association with Mozart led him to petition Freemasonry, as it happened three years after their close association started. Haydn received his Entered Apprentice degree on Feb. 4, 1785 in the lodge Zur Wahrn Eintracht at Vienna and Mozart was present on that occasion.

N. W. J. Haydon (1871–1950) Librarian, Grand Lodge of Canada, 1923–50. b. Devonshire, England, Oct. 1, 1871. Raised in North Lodge, Lowell, Mass. in 1886, and was the first affiliate of Riverdale Lodge No. 494 of Toronto, Canada in 1910.

He formed the Toronto Society for Masonic Research in 1920, and was greatly interested in the literary side of Freemasonry. d. Dec. 12, 1950.

Charles M. Hayes Founder of the "Schoolboy Patrol" and long-time President of the Chicago Motor Club. b. June 9, 1877 in Cincinnati, Ohio. First employed by Standard Oil Co., he later owned Chicago agency for the Halliday car. He was elected president of the Chicago Motor Club in 1914. In 1922 Hayes interested Ill. and Ind. public and parochial schools in a project whereby volunteers were assigned to direct pupils at street crossings while going and returning from school. The resultant reduction in deaths and injuries was followed by an adoption of the plan throughout the nation, and in foreign countries. In 1954 the government issued a 3c stamp on the 50th anniversary of the American Automobile Assn., featuring the Schoolboy Patrol. He was raised in Alpha Lodge No. 155, Galesburg, Ill. in April, 1904. He was exalted in Galesburg Chapter No. 46, R.A.M. the same month, and knighted in Galesburg Commandery No. 8, K.T. in May, 1904. He received the 32° AASR (NJ) at Galesburg in Nov. 1904. Moving to Chicago he transferred his memberships to Dearborn Lodge No. 310; Chicago Chapter No. 127, R.A.M.; Englewood Commandery No. 59, K.T. He is also a member of Medinah Shrine Temple, Chicago. In Sept., 1953 he received the 33° AASR (NJ) and later he and his wife contributed $5,000 to the benevolent foundation of the Supreme Council, AASR.

Charles R. Hayes Judge, Supreme Court of South Dakota

from 1947–51. b. Dec. 24, 1899 at Deadwood, S.D. Graduate of U. of South Dakota in 1924, and admitted to bar in that year, practicing at Deadwood, and at Miami, Fla. from 1925–30. He was a member of the state legislature (SD.) from 1937–38, and circuit judge 1939–47. In private practice at Deadwood since 1951. Mason and master of Deadwood Lodge No. 7, Deadwood, in 1937. A 32° AASR (SJ), he headed the Black Hills Consistory from 1947–50. Member of NAJA Shrine Temple.

Isaac I. Hayes (1832–1881) Arctic explorer. b. March 5, 1832, in Chester Co., Pa. A medical graduate of the U. of Pennsylvania in 1853, he was with the E. K. Kane, q.v., expedition, 1853–55, as surgeon and naturalist. In May, 1854 he crossed Kane Sea, and was the first white man to place foot on Grinnell Land. On this trip his boat, the Advance, was frozen in, and but for the charity of the Etah Es-quimaux, he and his companions would have frozen and starved to death. In 1860–61 he headed his own Arctic expedition, financed by Henry Grinnell, which led to important knowledge of polar geography. It was undertaken in the ship United States. In May, 1861 he crossed the Kane Sea and again set foot on Grinnell Land, attaining, on May 18th, a point which he called Cape Lieber (latitude 80° 15' N; longitude 70° W). On this date he planted a Masonic flag, together with the American flag. It was on this trip that he was the first white man to set foot on Ellesmere Land. His third expedition to the Arctic was with William Bradford in the Panther, in 1869. For his Arctic work he received the founder's medal of the Royal Geographic Society and the gold medal of the Paris Society.

In 1862 he was commissioned a surgeon of volunteers, and served in the Civil War until 1865, as a lieutenant colonel. He moved to New York City, and was there an assemblyman for five years. He published An Arctic Boat-Journey; The Open Polar Sea; The Land of Desolation, and others. Although his original membership is not known, he was made an honorary member of Kane Lodge No. 454 (the explorer's lodge) of New York City in 1875. d. Dec. 17, 1881. Initiated in Lodge No. 51, Philadelphia on Feb. 24, 1859 while lodge was under dispensation.

Moses M. Hayes (1739–1805) Early Boston merchant. His original membership is not known. He first appears on Masonic records, Dec. 6, 1768, when Henry A. Trachen, of Jamaica, appointed him deputy inspector general of the Rite of Perfection for the West Indies and North America. On Feb. 17, 1769, George Harrison, provincial grand master of the New York “Moderns,” issued a warrant for King David’s Lodge in New York City, in which Hayes, “A Hebrew of Masonic distinction,” was named master. Apparently, Hayes later took the warrant to Newport, R.I., and opened a lodge there. He eventually became grand master of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts. As grand master he ruled with a firm hand, and urged caution in the admission of candidates, and insisted upon secretaries keeping proper records.

Paul H. Hayne (1830–1886) American poet. b. Jan. 1, 1830 at Charleston, S.C. His father, a naval officer, died at sea when Paul was an infant, and he was educated by his uncle Robert Y. Hayne, U.S. Senator and Governor of S.C. Graduate of Coll. of South Carolina at an early age, and at 23, was editor of Russell's Magazine, and afterward the Charleston Literary Gazette. He served for a time in the Civil War as an aide to Gov. Pickens; his home and all family effects were burned in the bombardment of Charleston. He then moved to Augusta, Ga., where he supported himself by his literary efforts. His last years were spent in virtual poverty and poor health. He became known as the "Laureate of the South." His published volumes are: Poems; Sonnets and Other Poems; Avolio, a Legend of the Island of Cos; Legends and Lyrics; The Mountain of the Lovers, and Other Poems. He was raised in Landmark Lodge No. 76 of Charleston, S.C. about 1851. d. July 6, 1886.

Caleb V. Haynes Brigadier General, U.S. Air Force. b. March 15, 1895 at Mt. Airy, N.C. Graduate of Wake Forest Coll. in 1917. Served in WWI as a private in the aviation section of Signal Corps, U.S. Army, and commissioned second lieutenant in 1918, advancing through grades to brigadier general in 1942. Has been flying since WWI, and never crashed a plane. He set world record for flight for altitude with greatest pay load, in 1939, and record for load distance (2,000 kilograms for 5,000 kilometers), non-stop in 1939. In WWII he helped set up the ferrying commands between the U.S. and England and Africa-Middle East. He personally directed the evacuation of Burma, and was named chief of U.S. Army Bomber Command in China to assist Chiang Kai-Shek, and General Chennault's American Volunteer group in China. He was commanding general of Indian Air Task Force operating against Japanese in Burma. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

Eli S. Haynes (1880–1956) Astronomer. b. July 12, 1880 at Trenton, Mo. Received A.B. and A.M. from U. of Mo. and Ph.D. from U. of Calif. Instructor in astronomy at U. of Mo., 1908–11, and in U. of Calif. 1912–13. From 1913–14 he was a Martin Kellogg fellow at the Lick observatory, and professor of astronomy at Beloit Coll. from 1915–23, as well as director of Smith observatory. He returned to Mo. in 1923 as professor of astronomy and director of Laws observatory at the university, retiring in 1950. Member of board of trustees of Christian Coll., Columbia, Mo. from 1937. He made valuable contributions to science on variable star photometry, orbits of comets, and asteroids, and orbits of spectroscopic binaries. Raised in Acacia Lodge No. 602, Columbia, Mo., Sept. 6, 1910; master in 1932; DDGM from 1933–35; charter member of Mo. Lodge of Research; exalted in Columbia Chapter No. 17, R.A.M. Nov. 5, 1925; high priest in 1939, and grand treasurer of the Grand Chapter of Missouri from 1944–56; greeted in Centralia Council No. 35, R. & S.M. in 1926, and master in 1937; knighted in St. Graal Commandery No. 12, Dec. 13, 1935 and was commander in 1940. d. Sept. 13, 1956.

Roy A. Haynes (1881–1940) Federal Prohibition Commissioner, 1921–27. b. Aug. 31, 1881 at Hillsboro, Ohio. He was editor of the Dispatch at Hillsboro, O., from 1908, and an active worker in prohibition campaigns for many years. From 1927–28 he was president of the Economy Fire Insurance Co. Author of Prohibition Inside Out. Member of Highland Lodge No. 38, Hillsboro, Ohio, receiving degrees June 29, 1905, July 2, and Aug. 14, 1914; dimitted June 1, 1931. d. Oct. 20, 1940.

William B. Haynes Sports writer. b. May 29, 1881 at Akron, Ohio. He is widely acquainted with fish and game grounds of America, and contributor of illustrated articles to sportsmen's magazines. Author of Ducks and Duck Shooting; co-author of Duck Shooting and Hunting Sketches, and Supreme Duck Hunting Stories. Mason.

Brooks Hays U.S. Congressman, 78th to 84th Congresses from 5th Ark. dist. b. Aug. 9, 1898 at Russellville, Ark. Graduate of George Washington U. in 1922, and U. of Arkansas in 1919. Admitted to bar in 1922, practicing first at Russellville, and then at Little Rock. Attorney general of Ark. in 1925–27. President of the Southern Baptist Convention in 1957. Received his degrees in Russellville Lodge No. 274, Russellville, Ark. in 1922. Received 33° AASR (SJ) in 1957.

Frank L. Hays Justice, Supreme Court of Colorado from 1946. b. Feb. 12, 1889 at Council Bluffs, Iowa. Graduate of Creighton U. at Omaha, Nebr. in 1918. Admitted to bar in 1920 and practiced in Denver. Mason.

George W. Hays (1863–?) Governor of Arkansas, two terms, 1913–17. b. Sept. 23, 1863 near Camden, Ark. Began law practice in Camden, Ark. in 1894, and was circuit judge from 1906–13. Mason. Deceased.

Harry T. Hays (?–1876) Confederate Brigadier General in Civil War. Received all his degrees in Louisiana Lodge No. 102, 1860 (New Orleans). d. Aug. 21, 1876.

Norman R. Hays Judge, Supreme Court of Iowa since 1946. b. Nov. 9, 1891 at Knoxville, Iowa. Graduate of Grinnell Coll. (Ia.) and Harvard U. Admitted to bar in 1919. He served as county attorney and district judge. In WWI he was a captain in the Army. Mason.

Will H. Hays (1879–1954) Postmaster General of the U.S. under President Harding (1921–22) and “czar” of the motion picture industry 1922–45. b. Nov. 5, 1879 at Sullivan, Ind. Graduate of Wabash Coll. (Ind.) in 1900 and 1904. Admitted to bar in 1900. Active in Republican politics, he was chairman of the National Committee in 1918–21. As president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc. he accepted the job at a time when the film industry was beset with public criticism which threatened its independence. He ruled the “Hays Office” with firmness and fairness, and was credited with having saved the industry from government regulation. He retired in 1945, but acted as advisor until 1950. He was raised in Sullivan Lodge No. 263; he was a member of both York and Scottish Rites. He received the 33° AASR (NJ) in Sept. 1945. He received his 50-year service emblem from the grand lodge in 1950. d. March 7, 1954.

Charles D. Hayt (1850–1927) Justice, Supreme Court of Colorado, 1889–98. b. May 20, 1850 at Poughkeepsie, N.Y. He practiced at Walsenburg, Garland City, Alamosa, and Denver, in that order. Served as district judge and district attorney. Was chief justice of the supreme court from 1892–98. His original lodge is not known, but on May 6, 1899 he affiliated with Denver Lodge No. 5.

Alvin Hayward Early California miner. He purchased an interest in a mine in 1853, and after working it four years, his four partners abandoned the claim as worthless. Hayward persevered under the most discouraging conditions, and when poverty stricken and without credit, struck an immensely rich vein of gold, and became the richest man in the state at that time. He was principal sojourner of Volcano Chapter No. 11, R.A.M., which changed its name to Sutter Chapter No. 11 (Sutter Creek) in 1860. He worked his way through the chairs and became high priest. He presented the chapter with a golden altar and a set of solid gold jewels which are still in use.

Harry LeRoy Haywood (1886–1956) Masonic author. b. Nov. 1, 1886 in Mulberry, Ohio. He was graduated from the Cedarville, Ohio high school at the age of 13, and attended the Theological Seminary, Dayton, and Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis. Ordained a minister at 18, he gave up preaching in 1919. Although without a college degree, he taught and lectured on religion and anthropology for 13 years in many major colleges of the U.S. In 1917 he became editor-in-chief of The Builder, official journal of the National Masonic Research Society. From 1925–30 he was editor of the New York Masonic Outlook. At the time of his death he was engaged in research and writing for the Grand Lodge of Iowa at Cedar Rapids. He was considered the dean of Masonic historians and writers of his generation. He has written at least 30 books and 1500 articles on Masonry. Among his books are: Symbolical Masonry (his first in 1916); Vol. 3 of Mackey's Encyclopedia; A History of Freemasonry (with James Craig); The Newly-Made Mason;

More About Masonry; Freemasonry and Roman Catholicism; Well-Springs of Freemasonry. He was raised in Acacia Lodge No. 176 at Webster City, Ia., June 7, 1915. He later affiliated with Waterloo Lodge No. 105, and with Publicity Lodge No. 1000 of New York City. Returning to Iowa, he became a member of Mizpah Lodge No. 639 at Cedar Rapids. Hewas a member of Tabernacle Chapter No. 42, R.A.M. at Waterloo, and 32° AASR (SJ) at Zarephath Consistory in Davenport. d. Feb. 25, 1956.

John Haywood (1753–1826) Judge of Supreme Courts of both North Carolina and Tennessee. b. in Halifax Co., N.C., his father was an officer in the Revolution. He entered law practice at an early age and was attorney general of N.C. in 1791, and supreme court judge in 1794, holding the latter office until 1809, when he resigned to defend James Glasgow, the secretary of state, on charge of fraud. His defense of Glasgow caused much criticism, and he left the state to settle in Tenn. in 1810. By 1812 he was judge of the Tenn. supreme court and held that office until his death. He authored A Manual of Laws of North Carolina; Haywood's Justice and North Carolina Law Reports; Tennessee Reports; Natural and Aboriginal History of Tennessee, and The Civil and Political History of Tennessee From Its Earliest Settlement to 1796. In 1813 he was reported as a member of St. Andrews Lodge No. 57, Louisburg, N.C. d. in Dec., 1826.

William H. Haywood (1801–1852) U.S. Senator from North Carolina, 1843–46. b. in Wake Co., N.C., he graduated from the U. of North Carolina in 1819, studied law and established a practice in Raleigh. He was a member of the state legislature from 1831–36. He resigned from the U.S. senate and returned to practice, but poor health forced him to retire. Member of Hiram Lodge No. 40 of Raleigh. He represented his lodge at grand lodge as early as 1823, and was grand lecturer in 1825–27. d. Oct. 6, 1852.

Joseph C. Hazen Baptist clergyman. b. April 5, 1874 at Beaver Co., Pa. Graduate of Bucknell U. (Pa.) and U. of Chicago. Ordained to ministry in 1903, and served churches in Ill., Wis. and N.J. Corresponding secretary of Northern Baptist Convention 1940–51; president of New Jersey Baptist State Convention, 1927–41; member of executive committee and radio commentator of Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, 1930–45; chairman of the general commission on Army and Navy chaplains, Washington, 1947–50. Mason, 32° AASR and Shriner.

Natt Head (1828–1883) Governor of New Hampshire, 1879–80. b. May 20, 1828 in Hookset, N.H. He was a railroad and general building contractor. Was a member of the state legislature in 1861–62, and was adjutant general from 1864–70. In the latter capacity he published a four-volume set containing the records of every officer and enlisted man in the Civil War from N.H. He was president of the New Hampshire Agricultural Society. In 1876–77 he served in the state senate, being president of same in last year. Under the new law providing for biennial elections, he was chosen governor in 1879. He received his degrees in Washington Lodge No. 61, Manchester, N.H. in 1857, and was a member of Mt. Horeb Chapter, RAM., Adoniram Council, R. & S.M., Trinity Commandery, K.T., all of Manchester, and 33° AASR (NJ). d. Nov. 12, 1883.

T. Grady Head Justice, Supreme Court of Georgia since 1945. b. July 4, 1897 at Tunnel Hill, Ga. Graduate of Chattanooga Coll. of Law (Tenn.) and admitted to Georgia bar in 1925, practicing at Ringgold. He was attorney general of the state in 1942. Received degrees at Tunnel Hill Lodge No. 202, Tunnel Hill, Ga. in July–Aug., 1918, and presently a member of Buckhead Lodge No. 712, Atlanta; past master of Tunnel Hill Lodge.

Walter W. Head (1877–1954) Founder and President of the American Life Insurance Co. of St. Louis, 1933–54. b. Dec. 18, 1877 near Adrian, El. He first taught public schools in DeKalb Co., Mo. and entering the banking business, was officer of banks in St. Joseph, Mo., Omaha, Nebr., and Chicago, Ill. From 1931–33 he was president of the Morris Plan Corp. of America. From 1926–46 he was president of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, and thereafter honorary life vice president. From 1942–46 he was state chairman of the Missouri War Finance Comm. Active in hospital, youth, educational, and community projects. He was a member of St. Johns Lodge No. 25 of Omaha, Nebr. and later affiliated with Wellington Lodge No. 22, DeKalb, Mo. He was exalted in Ringo Chapter No. 6, R.A.M. of DeKalb (now defunct) and on Dec. 9, 1839 affiliated with Kilwinning Chapter No. 50 of St. Louis. He was knighted in Hugh de Payens Commandery No. 4, K.T. of St. Joseph, Mo., Dec. 16, 1912; also 32° AASR and Shriner. d. May 3, 1954.

John W. Headley (1901–1957) College President. b. May 5, 1901 at Filley, Nebr. Taught in public schools of S.D. from 1921–29, and with Gen. Beadle State Teachers Coll. from 1929–45. From 1931–38 he was superintendent of schools at Colman and Winner, S.D. From 1945–47 he was president of the State Teachers Coll. at Mayville, N.D. and from 1947–51, president of State Teachers Coll. at St. Cloud, Minn. He was president of South Dakota State College from 1952–57. He was initiated in Garden City Lodge No. 146, Garden City, S.D. and affiliated with Evergreen Lodge No. 17 of Madison, S.D.; member of Cyrus Chapter No. 26, R.A.M. and Madison Commandery No. 20, K.T., both of Madison, S.D. He was a past master of Evergreen Lodge. A 32° AASR (SJ) and member of El Riad Shrine Temple, both in Sioux Falls, S.D. d. Nov. 29, 1957.

Charles J. Heale (1900–1949) President and General Manager of Iron Age and Hardware Age. b. May 20, 1900 at Brooklyn, N.Y. Began as office boy with Iron Age in 1916, becoming vice president and editor in 1934, and president and general manager in 1946. Member of Sandalphon Lodge No. 836, Brooklyn, N.Y., receiving degrees, March 29, Nov. 15 and Dec. 6, 1923. d. Dec. 1, 1949.

George W. Healy, Jr. Editor of The Times–Picayune, New Orleans, La. since 1952. b. Sept. 22, 1905 at Natchez, Miss. Graduate of U. of Mississippi in 1926. He began as a correspondent for Associated Press while in college, and later was reporter on the Knoxville Sentinel (Tenn.). With The Times–Picayune since 1926, first as a reporter, city editor and managing editor. He is also managing editor of The Times–Picayune New Orleans States and treasurer of Times–Picayune Publishing company since 1939, and vice president since 1942. Elected national president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in 1958. Member of Louisiana Lodge No. 102, New Orleans, receiving degrees Feb. 19, April 10, and April 15, 1948.

Jack W. Heard Major General, U.S. Army. b. March 6, 1887 in New York City. He was graduated from U.S. Military Academy in 1910, and advanced through grades to major general in 1941. He served in the cavalry, 1910–15; aviation section of Signal Corps 1915–19; Motor Transport Corps, 1919–20; cavalry, 1920–32; U.S. Bureau of Budget, 1932–33; Cavalry 1933–40; armored Force, 1940–43 and manpower board of War Department, 1943–46. Received his degrees in June, 1920 in Mt. Vernon Lodge No. 151, Baltimore, Md. and became a member of Jerusalem Chapter No. 9, R.A.M., Baltimore. Has not maintained membership since 1925.

Oscar E. Heard (1856–1940) Justice, Supreme Court of Illinois, 1924–33. b. June 26, 1856 at Freeport, Ill. Attended Northwestern U. and admitted to Ill. bar in 1879, practicing at Freeport. Was circuit judge and appellate judge. From 1927–28 and 1932–33 he was chief justice of the supreme court of Ill. Member of Evergreen Lodge No. 170, Freeport, Ill., receiving degrees, March 22, April 2, April 9, 1888, and was master in 1892. d. July 15, 1940.

Jonathan Heart (1744–1791) Officer of American Revolution. b. in Kensington, Conn., he was graduated from Yale in 1768, taught school in N.J. for a year or two, and returned to Kensington district and entered merchandising business with a local minister. The business was about to fail when the Revolution came on. He was a Lexington volunteer, but was shortly given a commission and served throughout the war from Bunker Hill to Yorktown, being discharged as a captain in 1783. He remained out of the army only a year or so and returned to be commissioned in the newly organized 1st American Regiment of the regular army, staying with it until his untimely death in 1791. His importance, however, stems from the fact that he was an original member of the famous American Union Lodge (Military), first secretary, and third and last master, bringing that lodge to the Northwest Territory. When the lodge was organized in the Connecticut line in 1776, he was its first secretary; elected senior warden in Feb., 1779, and master the following June, continuing as such until his death in 1791. He carried on an extensive Masonic correspondence; was well informed on the ritual and Masonic history. In 1783 he was selected by a general convention to visit and instruct the several lodges in the state of Conn. His long tenure of office saw him presiding in the East at many famous meetings, when such personalities as Washington were present. It was Heart who called a convention of army lodges at Morristown in 1780, when the idea of a national grand lodge was proposed. When the Grand Lodge of Mass. chartered Washington Lodge No. 10 (military) he was designated as deputy grand master for the elaborate institution ceremonies at West Point. The original minutes of American Union Lodge are largely in Heart's handwriting, and still preserved. They contain the records of nearly 500 visiting Masons. According to his own record, he was made a Mason in the lodge at Wallingford, Conn. (now Compass No. 9) shortly after his graduation from Yale in 1769. Heart carried the records of American Union Lodge in his field chest during the War. He was one of the early members of the Mark lodge attached to St. John's Lodge No. 2 of Middletown, Conn. and registered his mark in the form of a "heart." When he affiliated with a chapter in the same town he is recorded as "a very well-known, vouched-for Royal Arch Mason." He was also interested in Frederick Lodge, formed by his comrades in arms at Farmington, and it was with them that he left the records of American Union Lodge. His Army service took him to the Northwest Territory (Ohio), and while stationed at Fort Harmer, near Marietta, he invoked his commission, called the brethren in the community, and again resumed labor as American Union Lodge, thus introducing Freemasonry into that territory. He was succeeded as master by General Rufus Putnam, q.v., who later became first grand master of Ohio. His battalion was ordered on a punitive expedition against the Indians under General St. Clair. Lack of security measures and generalship resulted in the massacre of 900 men, including Heart, on Nov. 4, 1791. Due to the deep snow, the bodies were not recovered until the following January. Fort Recovery monument is now on this spot on the Wabash River.

Edwin R. Heath (1839-?) Explorer, physician, and diplomat. Won recognition as a South American explorer while secretary to the American legation in Chile. A river which forms part of the boundary line between Bolivia and Peru is named in his honor. By charting 90 miles of a mysterious river he opened a passage for Bolivia to the Atlantic, and a Bolivian holiday was declared in his honor. After his legation service, he became chief surgeon for the Pacasymo Railroad, employing 45,000 men. A Royal Arch Mason from 1880, he was a member of Wyandotte Chapter No. 6, Kansas City, Kans., serving as high priest of that chapter five times. He was a member of Palmyra Lodge No. 248, Palmyra, N.Y. His death date is not known, but he lived at least into his 92nd year.

Fred H. Heath Chemist, who discovered selenium mustard gas in 1918. b. Feb. 25, 1883 at Warner, N.H. Graduate of U. of New Hampshire, 1905, and Yale, 1909, studying later in Germany. He taught chemistry in M.I.T., Case School of Applied Science, Wesleyan U., U. of North Dakota, U. of Washington, U. of Florida. Mason.

Leonard D. Heaton Major General, U.S. Army Medical Corps. b. Nov. 18, 1902 at Parkerburg, W.Va. Received medical degree from U. of Louisville in 1926, and entered the medical corps that year as a first lieutenant, advancing through grades to lieutenant general in 1948. He has been commanding general of Walter Reed Army Hospital since 1959. He has served in Army hospitals in El Paso, Texas, San Antonio, Texas, Fort Warren, Wyo., Hawaii, Staunton, Va., Blandford, England, and commanding general of Letterman General Hospital, 1946–52. Member of Hancock Lodge No. 311, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas; received 32° AASR (SJ) at Fort Leavenworth in 1938, and 33° in 1957.

Paul O. Hebert (1818–1880) Governor of Louisiana, 1853–56, and Brigadier General, C.S.A. in Civil War. b. Nov. 12, 1818 in Bayou Goula, La. He graduated from U.S. Military Academy in 1840. For the next two years he taught at the academy, and from 1843–45 was sent with the Army engineers for work on the Mississippi River. He resigned from the army in 1841, and was appointed chief engineer of the state of Louisiana, holding this office until the Mexican War, when he was appointed lieutenant colonel of the 14th volunteer infantry, and participated in battles of Contreras and Chapultepec, as well as Molino del Rey. In 1851 he was U.S. commissioner to the Paris World's Fair. He was a member of the convention for the state constitution of 1852. In 1861 he was appointed a brigadier general in the provisional Confederate army, and the rank was afterwards confirmed by the Confederate congress. He was first in command of Louisiana, and then the trans-Mississippi and Texas departments. Member of Iberville Lodge No. 81, Plaquemine, La. d. Aug. 29, 1880.

Gabriel A. J. Hecart (1755–1838) French Masonic writer and developer of the “Hecart System” of Masonic degrees. His system included five degrees—Knight of the Prussian Eagle, Knight of the Comet, The Scottish Purifier, Victorious Knight and Scottish Trinitarian, or Grand Master Commander of the Temple. It was never accepted or practiced by any Masonic group.

Cornelius Hedges (1831–1907) “Father” of Yellowstone National Park. b. Oct. 28, 1831 at Westfield, Mass. Graduate of Yale in 1853, and in law from Harvard in 1855. Admitted to Mass. bar in 1855, moving in that year to Independence, Iowa, where he practiced until 1864. In 1864 he walked to Virginia City, Mont. and the following year moved to Helena, bringing his family in 1867. When the territorial government was established, he served a term as U.S. district attorney. Hedges once said "It could not be said that every vigilante was a Mason, but it could be said that every Mason was a vigilante without deviating far from the truth." He served as superintendent of public instruction for six years, and was one of the original founders of the Helena public library in 1868. He was a senator from Lewis and Clark Co. in the first Montana legislature. He was a member of the Washburn-Doane-Langford expedition of 1870 that first explored the area which later became Yellowstone National Park. Both Washburn and Langford, qq.v., were Freemasons; the latter was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Montana. On the last night in the area, on the Firehole River, Hedges remarked that "this area must be set aside for the use and benefit of the people." His words are incised in the granite arch at the northern entrance to the park, where the party first entered. The park was established in 1872, as the first national park, largely through the efforts of Langford and Hedges. Hedges was raised in Independence Lodge No. 87, Independence, Ia., Oct. 27, 1858, withdrawing on June 7, 1865 to affiliate and become master of Helena City Lodge, U.D. under the Grand Lodge of Colorado, on Aug. 17, 1865. He was again master in 1874. He was exalted in Aholiab Chapter No. 21, R.A.M., Independence; withdrew on April 18, 1867 to become charter member of Helena Chapter No. 2, R.A.M., and its first scribe. He received the council degrees in Springfield, Mass.

and affiliated with Helena Council No. 9, R. & S.M. under California jurisdiction, serving as master in 1869. Hedges was knighted in Helena Commandery, U.D., K.T., March 25, 1869, and was commander in 1873 and 1879. A moving factor in the organization of the Grand Lodge of Montana in Jan., 1866, he was its first senior grand warden, and its fifth grand master from 1870–71. In 1871 he became grand historian, and on June 24, 1872 was appointed grand secretary, serving in that capacity until his death. He wrote Montana's correspondence reports for 36 years. He represented Montana at the Masonic congress of Chicago in 1893. He was grand recorder of the Grand Cornmandery of Montana from its organization in 1888, until his death, with the exception of the years 1896–1904. In 1896 he was grand commander of the Grand Commandery of Montana. He was grand secretary of the Grand Chapter of Montana from its organization in 1891 until his death. He was crowned 33° AASR by Albert Pike on Sept. 10, 1885. d. April 29, 1907.

William S. Hedges Vice President of National Broadcasting Co. b. June 21, 1895 at Elmwood, Ill. He began as a reporter for the Chicago Daily News in 1914, and in 1922 became director of that paper's radio service. In 1929 he became president of station WMAQ of Chicago, and from 1932–33 managed WMAW and WENR of Chicago for NBC. The following two years he managed station KDKA of Pittsburgh, and in 1934 became general manager of the NBC stations in New York. In 1937 he became vice president of Crosley Radio Corp. and general manager of their station WLW in Cincinnati. He has been vice president of NBC since Nov. 1937. Received his degrees in Standard Lodge No. 873, Chicago, in 1918; 32° ASSR (NJ) at Freeport, Ill.; life member of Medinah Shrine Temple of Chicago and member of national headquarters chapter of the National Sojourners.

Joseph J. Hedrick President of Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of America; Texas–Illinois Natural Gas Pipeline Co. since 1949; and of Natural Gas Storage Co. of Ill. and Texoma Production Co. since 1951. b. Nov. 8, 1898 at Olathe, Kans. Graduate of LaSalle U. and John Marshall Law School. Admitted to Okla. bar in 1921, and became general counsel of Natural Gas Pipeline Co. in 1930. He is also president of Kimswick Development Co. and Peoples Production Co. A life member of Bartlesville Lodge No. 284, Bartlesville, Okla., he received his degrees on Sept. 5, Oct. 26, and Dec. 5, 1922; exalted in Bartlesville Chapter No. 55, R.A.M. March 22, 1923. He served as senior deacon of the lodge at one time. Member of Bartlesville Chapter No. 142, O.E.S.

Roy C. Heflebower Brigadier General, U.S. Army Medical Corps. b. Oct. 25, 1884, in Washington, D.C. Received medical degree from George Washington U. in 1906, and is an honorary graduate of U.S. Army Medical School in 1910. Began medical practice in 1906, and was commissioned in Medical Corps Reserve in 1909, advancing through grades to brigadier general in 1941; he retired in 1946. Now with Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research. Mason, 32° AASR, Shriner and National Sojourner.

J. Thomas Heflin (1869–?) U.S. Senator from Alabama,

1920–31; U.S. Congressman to 59th to 66th Congresses from 5th Ala. dist. b. April 9, 1869 at Louina, Ala. Admitted to bar in 1893. Served in Alabama legislature 1896–1900. First elected to senate to fill term of John H. Bankhead, q.v. After senate terms, he resumed law practice in Lafayette, with Heflin & Heflin. A member of Solomon Lodge No. 74 of Lafayette, he received his degrees, Jan. 1, Dec. 28, 1898, and Jan. 4, 1899. Received 32° AASR (SJ) in Albert Pike Consistory, Washington, D.C. on April 20, 1923.

Robert A. Hefner Justice Supreme Court of Oklahoma, 1926–33. b. in Hunt Co. Texas. Graduate of U. of Texas, 1902. Practiced law in Beaumont, Texas. Moved to Ardmore, Okla., where he was city attorney, mayor and president of board of education. From 1939–47 he was mayor of Oklahoma City, Okla. Mason, Knight Templar, Shriner and member of grand council of DeMolay.

Albert F. Hegenberger American aviator, who with Lester J. Maitland, q.v., was the first to make a successful flight from Hawaii to the United States. Member of Stillwater Lodge No. 616, Dayton, Ohio, receiving degrees, June 16, Sept. 29, 1919, and Feb. 16, 1920; suspended NPD July 27, 1936.

Rolf Magnus von Heidenstam (1884–1958) Swedish industrialist and lord in waiting to the King of Sweden. B.C.V.O. (British). He was managing director of the Aga Co. from 1937–50; president of board of same, 1950–58. He was president of the board of the Svenska Handelsbanken, Swedish Ford Motor Co., Swedish Shell Co., Dunlop Rubber Co. He had served as vice president of the Stockholm Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the Swedish National Committee of the International Chamber of Commerce (1948–51) and president of the International Chamber of Commerce (1951–53). He was president of the General Export Association of Sweden, member of the Board of the Federated Swedish Industries and chairman of the Swedish Trade Mission to the U.S. and Canada in 1943–44. He was Swedish delegate to the conference on international trade in Havana, Cuba in 1947–48. Past master of lodge St. Erik in Stockholm (1938–43), grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Sweden, 1938–43 and grand chancellor of same, 1943–58. d. Aug. 6, 1958.

Julius P. Heil (1876–1949) Governor of Wisconsin, 1938–43. b. in Dusemond, Germany. He began in a Wis. general store at age of 12, and was later a drill press operator, blacksmith, and welder with International Harvester. Became an expert welder and traveled throughout the country, completing welding contracts, building street railways in Buenos Aires, Argentine. He founded the Heil Co. in 1901, and served as president until 1946. Was head of the NRA of Wis. A member of Independence Lodge No. 80, Milwaukee, 32° AASR (NJ) Wisconsin Consistory, and Tripoli Shrine Temple. He was Shrine potentate in 1927, and chairman of finance, and member of building committees. d. Nov. 30, 1949.

Frank A. Heileman Major General, U.S. Army. b. Mar. 13, 1891 at St. Louis, Mo. Graduate of U. of Missouri in 1914. He was commissioned second lieutenant of Infantry in 1917, transferred to engineer corps in 1923, and promoted through grades to major general in 1945. He was with the general staff in 1940; headquarters Army Service Forces in 1942; director of supply in Western Pacific in 1945, and chief of transportation Department of Army, 1948–53; now retired. Acacia fraternity; Acacia Lodge No. 602, Columbia, Mo. (about 1914); former member of Columbia Chapter No. 17 R.A.M. (1915), Columbia, Mo.

Van Campen Heilner Explorer, naturalist, and author. b. July 1, 1899 at Philadelphia, Pa. Graduate of Trinity Coll. (Conn.) in 1927. He is an associate editor of Field and Stream, sportsman's magazine. He was field representative in ichthyology of American Museum of Natural History, on an expedition to Peru and Ecuador in 1924–25, and leader of the Heilner Far Western Alaskan expedition for American Museum of Natural History in 1927. He made another expedition for same museum to Cienaga de Zapata on the south coast of Cuba in 1934, and in 1948 an expedition for the Peabody Museum of Yale to Tiena del Fuego and Straits of Magellan. He is the first naturalist to make successful motion pictures of the roseate spoonbill in its natural haunts, and discovered several new species of West Indian fishes. He is the author of The Call of the Surf; Adventures in Angling; Beneath the Southern Cross; A Book on Duck Shooting; Our American Game Birds. Member of Spring Lake Lodge No. 239, Spring Lake, N.J.; 32° AASR and member of Lu Lu Shrine Temple, Philadelphia, Pa.

Adolphus Heiman (?–1863) Confederate Brigadier General of Civil War. b. in Potsdam, Prussia, he became a member of Cumberland Lodge No. 8, Nashville, Tenn. on Jan. 31, 1843. He was a member of Cumberland Chapter No. 1, R.A.M., and Nashville Commandery No. 1 (1847) of Nashville. d. at Jackson, Miss.

Edward O. Heinrich Criminal expert. b. April 20, 1881 at Clintonville, Wis. Graduate of U. of Calif. in 1908. Became a chemical-legal expert, and expert in criminal investigation. Entered chemical engineering practice at Tacoma, Wash. in 1908. Later moved to Calif., and was chief of police of Alameda. In 1918-19, was mayor of Boulder, Colo.; he has practiced in San Francisco since 1919. Lecturer at U. of Calif. on criminal investigation and political science. He was an expert on questioned documents and other evidence in HinduGhadr revolution trials; U.S. vs. Jack Dempsey; U.S. vs. Levin;- people vs. Roscoe Arbuckle; the d'Autremont train bandits; Black Tom cases; U.S. vs. Harry Bridges; and other celebrated cases. Mason and Knight Templar.

Charles E. Heitman (1874-1948) Manager of Christian Science Publishing Society, and director of The Mother Church, 1st Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston. b. Nov. 12, 1874 in McLean Co., Ky. He was first reader of 2nd Church of Christ, Scientist, at New York City from 1918-21, and president of the Mother Church in 1923-24. From 1926-27 he was associate editor of the Christian Science Monitor. Served as corporal in Roosevelt's Rough Riders in Spanish-American War. Member of Marble Lodge No. 702 at Tuckahoe, N.Y., and 32° AASR in Boston, Mass. d. Oct. 1, 1948.

Friedrich Heldmann (1770–1838) German Masonic philosopher and professor of political science in the academy of Bern, Switzerland. He was initiated at Freiburg in 1809, and in studying Fessler, q.v., and other Masonic writers, decided to establish a system founded on a collation of all the rituals which would be more in accordance with the design of the Craft. For this purpose, he organized the Lodge Zur Brudertreue at Aarau, Switzerland in 1816, and prepared a manual for it. When the Swiss authorities demanded an inspection of it, he refused, and withdrew from the lodge. He later published The Three Oldest Memorials of the Ge7-mart Masonic Brotherhood at Aarau in 1819. It is in this work that the constitutions of the stone masons of Strausburg were published for the first time.

John R. Heller, Jr. Director of National Cancer Institute since 1948. b. Feb. 27, 1905. Received B.S. at Clemson Coll. (S.C.) in 1925, and M.D. from Emory U. (Ga.) in 1929. He became associated with the U.S. Public Health Service in 1931, and in 1943 became medical director and chief of the division of venereal disease. He has been a professor and lecturer at George Washington U. since 1944. Member of Atlantic Lodge No. 82, Brunswick, Ga., receiving degrees in 1931.

John L. Helm (1802–1867) Governor of Kentucky, 1850–52. b. July 4, 1802 in Hardin Co., Ky. Studied law and admitted to bar. He served in both state legislative branches, and was lieutenant governor in 1848. He was made president of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad in 1854. After the Civil War, he was again chosen governor of Kentucky, and was inaugurated at his residence in Elizabethtown Sept. 3, 1867, five days before his death. Member of Morrison Lodge No. 76, Elizabethtown, and Eastern Star Chapter No. 34, R.A.M. of same city.

Claude Adrien Helvetius (1715–1771) French philosopher. He was appointed farmer general in 1738. In 1741 he married Anne Catherine de Ligniville d'Autricourt, and shortly afterward retired to his country estate to devote himself to study. His great work is de VEsprit, published in 1758, in which he expounds his doctrine of sensationalism or sensualism. The book was condemned by the Sorbonne and publicly burned in 1759. Member of the Lodge of the Nine Sisters in Paris.

John Michael Hely-Hutchinson (see Earl of Donoughmore).

Samuel Hemming (1767–1832) One of the leaders in the uniting of the “Ancients” and “Moderns” into the United Grand Lodge of England in 1813, and its first senior grand warden. He was master of the Lodge of Reconciliation (1813–16), which was formed to bring about a union of the two groups. At this time the Prestonian lectures were practiced by the Moderns, while the Ancients, or Atholl Freemasons, recognized higher degrees and varied their ritual. After the union, the Prestonian system was abandoned and Hemming formed a new set of lectures, known as “Hemming Lectures,” which was adopted. In it he abolished the dedication to the two Saints John, and substituted a dedication to Solomon. He is also credited with defining Freemasonry as “a beautiful system of morality, veiled in allegory and illustrated by symbols.” d. in 1832.

Fay Hempstead (1847–1934) Lawyer, Masonic writer, and grand secretary. b. Nov. 24, 1847 in Little Rock, Ark. He attended St. John’s College, a Masonic institution at Little Rock, and following the Civil War, graduated in law at the U. of Virginia in 1868. He practiced his profession in Little Rock until 1881, when he retired to devote his entire time to Freemasonry. He was grand high priest of the Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Arkansas in 1891, and served as grand secretary for 35 years. He was grand master of the Grand Council, R. & S.M. in 1889 and general grand master of the General Grand Council from 1921–24, and grand secretary for 35 years. He was grand commander of the Grand Commandery, K.T. of Arkansas in 1919, and grand recorder of same 34 years. His grand secretaryship of the Grand Lodge of Arkansas lasted 53 years. He was sometimes called the “poet laureate of Freemasonry.” d. April 24, 1934.

Stephen Hempstead Second Governor of Iowa, succeeding Ansel Biggs, q.v. He received all three degrees in Dubuque Lodge No. 3 in June, 1843, being raised June 30. He served as master in 1845, and was instrumental in forming the Grand Lodge of Iowa, serving as grand junior warden in 1848. He was a member of Dubuque Chapter No. 3, R.A.M., and served as secretary of the same. He was a charter member of Siloam Commandery No. 3, K.T.

Byrd E. Henderson President of Household Finance

Corporation, 1933–51; Chairman of Board since 1951. b. Jan. 9, 1889 at Louisville, Ky. and educated in Louisville high school. Began as an investigator for Mackey Finance System at Louisville in 1907, and rose to executive vice president in 1925. Owner of the Everett Resort and Everett Golf Club at Eagle River, James Pinckney Henderson Wis. Mason, Knight Templar, and Shriner.

Charles Henderson (1860–1937) Governor of Alabama, 1915–19. b. April 26, 1860 in Pike Co., Ala. In business at Troy, Ala. as Charles Henderson & Co. He was president of the Troy Bank & Trust Co. and Standard Telephone and Telegraph Co. He was also director of other organizations, and president of the Alabama Railroad Commission from 1906–15. Mason. d. Jan. 7, 1937.

Charles B. Henderson U.S. Senator from Nevada, 1918–21; Director of Reconstruction Finance Corporation, 1934–47. b. June 8, 1873 at San Jose, Calif. He was graduated from U. of Michigan in 1895, and began practice of law at Elko, Nev. in 1896. He was a member of the state legislature in 1905–07, and regent of U. of Nevada from 1907–17. Raised in Elko Lodge No. 15 on April 4, 1899. Shriner.

David B. Henderson (1840–1906) Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, 1899–1903. b. March 14, 1840 at Old Deer, Scotland. He was brought to Ill. in 1846. and to Iowa in 1849. He entered the Civil War as a private in the 12th Iowa volunteers, was wounded in the Battle of Donelson, lost a leg at the Battle of Corinth, and was then discharged.

He reentered the army as a colonel in 1864. Admitted to the bar in 1865, he served as collector of revenue, 3rd Iowa dist., and U.S. attorney of northern district of Iowa. He served in the U.S. congress from 1883–1903, but withdrew from ticket in 1902, when renominated. He was made a Mason in Mosaic Lodge No. 125 of Dubuque, June 23, 1883; exalted in Dubuque Chapter No. 3, April 29, 1889, and knighted in Siloam Commandery No. 3, May 8, 1899. He joined El Kahir Shrine Temple of Dubuque, May 22, 1901.

Howard A. M. Henderson (1836–1912) Clergyman and soldier. b. Aug. 15, 1836 in Paris, Ky. Graduate of Ohio Wesleyan U. in 1858. Ordained to Methodist Episcopal ministry in 1856, he served pastorates in Newberne and Demopolis, Ala., until 1861, when he entered the Confederate army as a captain of Co. E, 28th Ala. Infantry. In 1864 he was assistant adjutant general, C.S.A., and in 1864–65 was assistant commissioner of exchange of prisoners of war. Following the war, he was pastor at Frankfort and Lexington, Ky., and then state superintendent for public instruction of Kentucky from 1871–79. He then served churches in San Francisco, Calif., Hannibal, Mo. (1881–83), Jersey City, N.J., New York City, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Hartwell, Ohio. In 1872 he founded the system of Negro schools in Kentucky. He was grand master of I.O.O.F. in Kentucky, and grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky from 1867–79. He first appeared as a Mason in the records of Hiram Lodge No. 4 in 1868, and was suspended, Aug. 24, 1893. H. A. M. Henderson Lodge No. 515, chartered Oct. 24, 1872 at Bethlehem, Ky. was named for him.

James Pinckney Henderson (1808–1858) First Governor of Texas after statehood, and U.S. Senator. b. March 31, 1808 in Lincoln Co., N.C. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1829. Moving to Miss. in 1835, he remained there until the Texas difficulties began, when he volunteered in the Texan army, and was appointed brigadier general in 1836. He was appointed attorney general by President Sam Houston, q.v., and was subsequently secretary of state in 1837–39. In 1839 he visited England and France to procure the recognition of Texan independence. He resumed his law practice in 1840, in partnership with Gen. Thomas J. Rusk, q.v. He was “special minister” to the United States in 1844, to negotiate the annexation of the Republic of Texas, and was a member of the state constitutional convention in 1845. He again took up arms in the Mexican War, and for action at Monterrey, received a sword and the thanks of congress. In 1857 he was appointed U.S. senator to fill the unexpired term of his partner, Rusk, who had died. He took his seat in March, 1858 but died before the end of the session. He was a member of Redland Lodge No. 3, San Augustine, Texas. d. June 4, 1858.

John Henderson (1795–1857) U.S. Senator from Mississippi. He practiced law in Woodville, Miss., and in 1835 served in the state legislature. In 1849 he was elected to the U.S. senate as a Whig. At the expiration of his term, he allied himself with the politicians of the extreme southern school that favored annexation of Texas, the conquest of Mexico and Cuba, and was connected with General John A. Quitman, q.v., in these enterprises. In 1851 he was arrested with Quitman, and tried before a federal court in New Orleans for violating the neutrality laws of 1818 by his complicity with the Lopez expedition against Cuba. He was acquitted, but retired from public life. Henderson was a member of Washington Lodge No. 3, Port Gibson, Miss. d. at Pass Christian, Miss. in 1857.

Leon Henderson Economist and Administrator of Office of Price Administration. b. May 26, 1895 at Mill-vine, N.J. Graduate of Swarthmore Coll. (Pa.) in 1920. First employed as economics instructor in Wharton School (Pa.), and Carnegie Inst. of Tech., then director of consumer credit research for Russell Sage Foundation, N.Y.C. 1925–43. Entering the government field in 1934, he was with the N.R.A.; advisor to U.S. senate; advisor to Democratic National Committee; W.P.A.; Council of National Defense; OPA, 1941–42; director of Civilian Supply Division of O.P.M., and War Production Board. He then became chief economist for Research Institute of America; president of International Hudson Corp., and since 1955, has been president of American Leduc Uranium Corp. Served in WWI from private to captain in ordnance. Raised in Shekinah Lodge No. 58, Millville, N.J. on Jan. 21, 1920.

Leonard Henderson (1772–1833) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of North Carolina from 1829. b. Oct. 6, 1772 in Granville Co., N.C. He was clerk of the district court at Hillsborough for several years after his admission to the bar, and became judge of the appellate court in 1808. He was elevated to the supreme court bench in 1818. He conducted a law-school throughout his judicial career that was the most popular in the state. Member of Malta Lodge No. 24, Williamsburgh, Granville Co., N.C., and was its senior warden in 1797. d. Aug. 13, 1833.

L. Manuel Hendler Director of The Borden Co. b. Feb. 10, 1885 near Baltimore, Md. From 1905–12 he was the owner of T. A. Hendlers (ice cream) at Baltimore. In 1912 he established Hendler Creamery Co. of which he is still president. In 1929 he became chairman of the Southeastern division of The Borden Co.; director of same in 1930, and member of the executive committee in 1940. Mason and 32° AASR (SJ).

Eldo L. Hendricks (1866–1938) President of Central Missouri State Teachers' Coll., 1915–30. b. Oct. 2, 1866 at Rossville, Ind. Graduate of Franklin Coll. (Ind.) He served as school superintendent in Indiana before coming to Mo. He was a member of the fact finding commission to Indians in 1930–31. Mason. d. Nov. 22, 1938.

William W. Hening (1767–1828) Lawyer and author. b. in Virginia, he was admitted to the bar on April 30, 1789, in the district court at Fredericksburg, at the same time as John Marshall and James Monroe. He moved to Albemarle Co., and in 1804–05, represented it in the legislature. He later became a member of the state executive council, and deputy adjutant general. During his later years he was clerk of the chancery court for Richmond district. An accomplished writer, he compiled Hening's Justice; edited Francis' Maxims of Equity, and several volumes of reports from the Va. court of appeals. His greatest work was the 13-volume set of Statutes at Large of Virginia, which contained the laws beginning with the colonial period. Raised March 19, 1796, in Richmond Lodge No. 10, he later became master of the Door of Virtue Lodge No. 44 at Charlottesville. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Va. in 1805–06. Exalted in Richmond Chapter No. 2, R.A.M., Dec. 22, 1805, he served as high priest; he was the second grand high priest of Virginia in 1810, and assisted in the formation of the Grand Chapter of Virginia. d. April 1, 1828.

Edward J. Henning (1868–1935) Federal judge. b. Dec. 28, 1868 at Iron Ridge, Wis. Graduate of U. of Wisconsin (1894) and Columbian U. (1896). He practiced law in Milwaukee until 1912, when he moved to San Diego, Calif. He was judge of the Eastern District of Wis. from 1901–10 and of Southern District of Calif. from 1925–29. From 1921–25 he was assistant secretary of Labor. A member of Damascus Lodge No. 290, Milwaukee, Wis., he received his degrees on July 1, Aug. 31 and Sept. 30, 1905; member of Wisconsin Chapter No. 7, Milwaukee and Ivanhoe Commandery No. 24, K.T., Milwaukee; 32° AASR (NJ) Valley of Milwaukee. d. Sept. 6, 1935.

Andrew Henry (1775–1833) Western explorer, fur trader, and discoverer of the South Pass through the Rockies. b. in York Co., Pa., he lived for a time at Nashville, Tenn. He moved to St. Genevieve, Mo. and while here became one of the first three petitioners of Western Star Lodge No. 107 at Kaskaskia, Indian Territory (across the river). On Dec. 27, 1806 he was one of the petitioners for Louisiana Lodge No. 109 (from Pa.) at St. Genevieve—the first lodge west of the Mississippi River. He is listed among the 13 charter members and as senior warden in 1808. Old records of the lodge bear witness to his wanderings and one financial report states “absent two years and six months; dues have been remitted, $4.62.” Francois Valle, also formerly of Lodge No. 107 and charter member of 109, evidently accompanied Henry on this expedition, for the same entry was made at the same time concerning him. Henry was interested in lead mining while at St. Genevieve. On March 7, 1809 he joined with several others including Pierre Chouteau, Jr. and William Clark, qq.v. in establishing the Missouri Fur Co. He was with the first expedition of 150 men that set out three months later for the west. They reached the Rockies at a place called Three Forks (confluence of Madison, Jefferson and Mo. Rivers) and set up a post. Indians, however, forced them to leave after losing 30 men. Henry then led his group across the Rockies into what is now the state of Idaho, and wintered at a post they set up on the North fork of the Snake River, known as Henry Fork. They returned home in 1811. On another expedition in 1822, with General William Ashley, he reached the mouth of the Yellowstone and discovered the South Pass through the Rockies. He returned to Missouri in 1824, and settled between Caledonia and Potosi, Mo., where he returned to lead mining.

Henry VI (1421–1471) King of England, 1422–61 and 1470–71. His reign was marked by the Statute of Laborers, which prohibited the congregations of Freemasons.

Henry Frederick (see Duke of Cumberland).

Horace C. Henry (1844–1928) Pioneer railroad builder. b. Oct. 6, 1844 at Bennington, Vt. Served in Civil War from 1862–63, and fought at Cemetery Ridge. Entered the railway contracting business at Minneapolis in 1866, and with associates built about 2,500 miles of railway in the Northwest. He moved to Seattle, Wash. in 1890, and built lines for the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, and Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul, involving over 20 million dollars, and employing 10,000 men. He erected an art gallery and gave his collection of 160 paintings to the U. of Washington. He was honored by the French government with the Cross of Legion of Honor for his aid in supporting 1,800 French orphans. Mason. d. June, 1928.

Isaac N. Henry An early Missouri journalist, who, in 1819, established the Enquirer at St. Louis, which was edited at one time by Col. Thomas H. Benton, q.v. Henry was a member of Missouri Lodge No. 12 (under Tenn.) and on Oct. 4, 1819 attended an annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Tennessee, representing his lodge. In 1820 he printed 1,200 copies of the state constitution for $100.

Henry Louis Frederick, Prince of Prussia (see under Frederick).

Patrick Henry (1736–1799) American Revolutionary leader famous for his words “Give me liberty, or give me death.” There are many references to his being a Freemason, particularly by grand lodge orators in the 1800’s, but no satisfactory evidence of his membership. It is possible that he was a member of old Tappahannock Lodge of Virginia whose records are lost. There was at one time a Patrick Henry Lodge No. 140 in Patrick Co., Va. There is a Masonic apron in existence that is reported to have belonged to him. It was exhibited at one time in Lexington Lodge No. 1, Lexington, Ky.

Thomas P. Henry (1877–1945) President of American Automobile Association, 1923–45. b. Dec. 28, 1877, at Brookhaven, Miss. As a newspaperman he worked on papers in Miss., New Orleans, and on the Chicago Tribune, New York Times, and Detroit Free Press. In 1906 he founded the Thomas P. Henry Co. at Detroit. Raised Oct. 15, 1913 in Zion Lodge No. 1, Detroit, Mich. d. Sept. 7, 1945.

William Henry (1761–1824) Soldier of the Revolution and War of 1812. b. in Charlotte Co., Va., he entered the army when very young and fought at Guilford, the Cowpens, and Yorktown in the Revolutionary War. He then moved to Kentucky, and took part in many conflicts with the Indians. He was appointed a major general of Kentucky volunteers in Aug., 1813, and commanded a division in the Battle of the Thames in Oct. of that year. He also served in Scott's and Wilkinson's campaigns. He served in both houses of the Kentucky legislature, and was a member of the constitutional convention of that state. He was raised in Union Lodge No. 43 of Pa. and admitted to Lexington Lodge No. 1 of Lexington, Ky. in 1803. d. Nov. 23, 1824.

David Henshaw (1791–1852) U.S. Secretary of the Navy, 1843 under Tyler. b. April 2, 1791 in Leicester, Mass. Was apprenticed to a druggist in Boston at 16, and was in the drug business for himself from 1814–29. Gained prominence as a political writer, served in both houses of state legislature, and was a collector of Boston customs from 1830. He was active in promoting the early railroad enterprises in Mass. Appointed secretary of the Navy by Tyler, July 24, 1843, he served for seven months, and was then rejected by the senate. Member of Columbian Lodge, Boston, Mass. d. Nov. 11, 1852.

Samuel J. Hensley (?–1866) California pioneer. b. in Lexington, Ky., he emigrated to Platte Co., Mo. as a small boy, and in 1843 went overland to Calif. as a member of the Chiles–Walker party. He worked for John Sutter and became a Mexican citizen so he could obtain a land grant; however, he was one of the promoters of the Bear Flag revolt. In the war with Mexico, he joined Fremont's battalion and rose to rank of major. At the close of the war he went to Washington, D.C. as a witness at Fremont's court martial, returning to Calif. in 1848, after the discovery of gold. He engaged in general store and banking business, and then turned to real estate and water transportation, organizing the California Steam Navigation Co. in 1854. This company virtually controlled all traffic on San Francisco Bay. On July 19, 1851, Henry Eddy, veteran of the Donner Party, presented Hensley's petition to San Jose Lodge No. 10. He received his degrees, Aug. 23, Nov. 8, 1851, and Feb. 21, 1852. Late in 1855 he was exalted in California Chapter No. 5, R.A.M. of San Francisco, but when Howard Chapter No. 14, R.A.M. was organized in San Jose in 1856, he was one of its charter members—and the only one who had received all chapter degrees in Calif. d. Jan. 7, 1866.

William N. Hensley, Jr. (1881–1929) Pioneer aviator. Free balloon pilot, kite balloon pilot, observer, airship and airplane pilot. b. Oct. 18, 1881 at Columbus, Nebr. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1905. Commissioned second lieutenant in cavalry in 1905, and rose to major in 1920. He organized a division of Philippine national guard in 1917, and was commander of the army balloon school at Pasadena, Calif. in 1918–19. He was the first American to make a non-stop flight from U.S. to Europe (on return trip of R-34 from England in July 1919). In 1919 he made a study of the Zeppelin Airship Line in Germany, and furnished the U.S. War Dept. with the first detailed authentic information on the L-72, the giant dirigible built at Friedrichshafen for the bombing of New York City, in WWI. The dirigible was almost completed when armistice was signed. Mason. d. March 21, 1929.

Josiah Henson (1789–1883) The Negro slave whose life formed the basis of Harriet B. Stowe's famous novel, Uncle Tom's Cabin. References on his birth and death dates differ. His tombstone in Dresden, Ont. states: "In memory of the Rev. Josiah Henson, died May 5, 1883, born July 15, 1789. Aged 93 years, 10 months and 5 days." Another reference states he was born June 15, 1787 at Port Tobacco, Md., and died in 1881. Born as a slave, he took all his first master's slaves to a relative in Kentucky to prevent their passing into the hands of creditors. He escaped with his wife and two children to Cincinnati, and then across the wilderness to Sandusky where they were conveyed to Canada by schooner. He settled at Colchester, Ont., and during the Canadian rebellion, was the captain of a company of colored men. He later farmed near Dresden, and was the pastor of a church. At the age of 55 he began to learn to read and write. He made three trips to England, and at one time was entertained at Windsor Castle by Queen Victoria. It is not known whether Henson was a Mason—either regular or Prince Hall affiliation. It is possible that he could have been either—possibly in Canada or even England. However his gravestone carried the square and compasses in the fellowcraft position with one point of the compasses above the square.

Matthew A. Henson (1866–1955) Negro explorer who was with Admiral Peary, q.v., when he reached the North Pole in 1909. b. Aug. 8, 1866 in Charles Co., Md. He was associated with Peary for 20 years. In his final dash to the pole, Peary said this of Henson: “When each man has led me and my men to a certain point, within striking distance of the pole, their work is done. They shall no longer be needed. But Henson is not to return. I can’t get along without him.” Commander Donald MacMillan said of him: “A carpenter, he built sledges; a mechanic, he made the alcohol stoves; an expert dog driver, he taught us to handle our dogs. Highly respected by the Eskimos, he was easily the most popular man on board the ship. . . . Henson, strong physically, and above all fully experienced, was of more real value to our commander than Bartlett, Marvin, Borup, Goodsell and myself put together. Matthew Henson went to the pole with Peary because he was a better man than any one of us.” Henson, the last survivor of the expedition, died in 1955. He was a member of Celestial Lodge No. 3, of Prince Hall jurisdiction in New York City. He is the author of A Negro Explorer to the North Pole.

William P. Hepburn (1833–1916) U.S. Congressman from Iowa to 47th to 49th Congresses (1881–87), and 53rd to 60th Congresses (1893–1909), introducing the bill to carry out President Theodore Roosevelt’s Pure Food and Drug Act in Dec., 1905. b. Nov. 4, 1833 at Wellsville, Ohio. He was taken to Iowa Territory in 1841, and educated there. Admitted to bar in 1854, he was county prosecuting attorney, clerk of the Iowa house of representatives, and district attorney. He served in the Civil War as a lieutenant colonel of the 2nd Iowa Cavalry from 1861–65, and lived at Memphis, Tenn. from 1865–67. He returned to Iowa in 1867, and remained at Clarinda until his death on Feb. 7, 1916. His absence from the 50th to 52nd congresses was due to his position as solicitor for the Treasury during these years (1888–93). Member of Nodaway Lodge No. 140 at Clarinda, Iowa.

James M. Herbert (1863–1923) President of Colorado, Wyoming & Eastern Railway, 1914–16 and St. Louis Southwestern Railway, 1916–23. b. Jan. 15, 1863 in Westmoreland Co., Pa. Began as a telegraph operator in 1881, and worked up as dispatcher, chief dispatcher, and trainmaster. In 1897 he became superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, and of the Missouri Pacific in 1901. He was later manager of the Southern Pacific and Denver and Rio Grand Western. Mason. d. Aug. 5, 1923.

Thomas J. Herbert Governor of Ohio, 1947–48, and Justice, Supreme Court of Ohio since 1956. b. Oct. 28, 1894 at Cleveland, Ohio. Admitted to Ohio bar in 1919, he served as assistant county prosecutor and assistant attorney general. Specialized in public utilities. Was attorney general of Ohio from 1938–44, and president of the National Association of Attorneys General in 1943–44. Served as a lieutenant in the Air Force in WWI; wounded in 1918, and discharged in 1920. He organized the 17th Aviation Division of the Ohio National Guard in 1927. A member of Master's Lodge No. 675 of Cleveland, he received his degrees, July 13, July 27, and Sept. 27, 1921; is 32° AASR (NJ).

Johann Gottfried von Herder (1744–1803) German philosopher and man of letters. Upon Goethe's q.v., recommendation, he was called to Weimar as general superintendent of the church district, serving there from 1776 to 1803. Among his works are Kritische Waller (1769); Abhandlung uber den Ursprung der Sprache (1772) ; and various editions of German folksongs. He was made a Mason at Riga in the lodge Zurn Schwert in 1766.

Frank E. Hering (1874–1943) Credited as first nationwide sponsor of Mother's Day; President of Fraternal Order of Eagles, 1909–12. b. April 30, 1874 in Northumberland Co., Pa. Graduate of U. of Notre Dame in 1898 and 1902. He was a trustee of the U. of Notre Dame, and national president of the Alumni Assn. U. of Notre Dame in 1930–31. He was a teacher of English and history at U. of Notre Dame from 1898–1904. He was managing editor and advertising manager of The Eagle magazine from 1912. He was active in promoting mothers' pension laws and old age pension laws. A bronze tablet was erected in his honor at the English Opera House of Indianapolis, hid. commemorating the first Mother's Day address on Feb. 7, 1904. Member of South Bend Lodge No. 294, South Bend, Ind. d. July 11, 1943.

Nicholas Herkimer (1715–1777) Brigadier General of American Revolution, who was fatally wounded in the Battle of Oriskany. His name is anglicized from the German Herchheimer. His father, John Jost Herkimer, was one of the Palatine Germans that settled Herkimer Co., N.Y. At the age of 30 he was a lieutenant of militia, and was in command at Fort Herkimer (his home), when the French and Indians attacked German Flats in 1758. He later lived in the Canajoharie district, and was made colonel in 1775, and brigadier general in 1776. He was made a Mason April 7, 1768, in St. Patricks Lodge No. 8 (now 4) of Johnstown, N.Y. The master of this lodge was Sir John Johnson, q.v., who was also Indian agent for the British and provincial grand master of New York. The Indian, Joseph Brant, q.v., was a protege of Johnson's. At the Battle of Oriskany Herkimer opposed Johnson, Brant, and Col. Butler, q.v., another member of St. Patricks Lodge. In 1777 when General St. Leger invested Fort Stanwix (afterwards Fort Schuyler), Herkimer took his militia to the relief of Gen. Gansevoort. At a point some six miles from Ft. Stanwix, Herkimer fell into an ambush. His horse was killed and he was badly wounded, a leg being broken. Dragging himself to a stump, he encouraged his men to the last, but sustained a loss of 200 men. He was removed from the field to his home at Little Falls, and died, Aug. 16, 1777, ten days after the battle, from an unskilled amputation of his leg. The town, township, and county in New York are named for him.

Raphael Herman (1865–1946) Manufacturer and active in promotion of peace and international relations. b. Dec. 15, 1865 near Konigsburg, Germany. Educated in Germany, he came to America in 1890, and engaged in business in

New York state. In 1901 he was official of the Buffalo Pan-American Exposition. From 1895–1903 he published the Acetylene Journal. He was president of the Diamond Power Specialty Co., Detroit; Power Efficiency Corp.; Calorizing Corp. of America. He was an organizer and trustee of the Detroit Tuberculosis Sanitarium; founder of the Detroit Museum of Art; founder and trustee of the Los Angeles U. of International Relations; and member of the board of the World Federation of Educational Associations and American Museum of Natural History (N.Y.) He was national vice president of the League of Nations Association. He was the donor of a $25,000 competitive peace prize. Mason and 32° AASR. Deceased.

Leo D. Hermle Lieutenant General, U.S. Marine Corps. b. June 30, 1890 in Hastings, Nebr. Graduate of U. of California in 1914 and 1917. Commissioned lieutenant in Marine Corps in 1917, and rose to major general in 1944. In WWI he commanded a Marine company in France, and commanded the 6th Marines in Iceland in 1941. He was chief of staff of the 2nd Marines on Guadalcanal in 1943; assistant division commander at Tarawa in 1943, and assistant division commander of 5th Marines in 1945. He landed at Iwo Jima on D-Day and was island commander of Guam in 1946. Raised in Oakland Lodge No. 188, Oakland, Calif., Nov., 1914; member of AASR (SJ) in Oakland and the Shrine.

Don Manuel Diaz Hernandez (1774–1863) Catholic priest, Freemason, patriot, and liberal. He was made a Mason in 1810, and later became master of his lodge and a member of the Scottish Rite. He always wore the insignia of his Scottish Rite chapter on his cassock—a pelican, a cross and a rose. Because of his liberal activity, he was banished to Teneriffe in 1820 by King Ferdinand VII, q.v. In 1825 he was allowed to return and his parish was restored. In 1894 the people of Santa Cruz de Palmas, in the Canary Islands, erected a monument in his honor. The base states “Diaz—his grateful fatherland,” and the statue shows him in his cassock with the Masonic emblems.

Chesley C. Herndon Executive Vice President of Skelly Oil Co. b. Aug. 26, 1886 at Clarksville, Tenn. Graduate of Cumberland U. (Tenn.) in 1909, and admitted to bar in that year, practicing in Nashville until 1910, when he moved to Oklahoma and took up practice at Chickasha, and later Tulsa. He became an attorney for Gulf Oil Corp.; and vice president of Skelly Oil Co. in 1919, and executive vice president and director from 1948. Affiliated with Chickasha Lodge No. 94, Chickasha, Okla. on April 6, 1911, dimitting from same on Oct. 22, 1915 and affiliating with Delta Lodge No. 425, Tulsa on April 18, 1916.

Charles N. Herreid (1857–1928) Governor of South Dakota two terms, 1900–04. b. Oct. 20, 1857 in Dane Co., Wis. Graduate of U. of Wisconsin in 1882. Settled in McPherson Co., S.D. in 1883, where he served as county judge and state’s attorney. He was lieutenant governor from 1892–96. After his governorship, he practiced law at Aberdeen. He was past grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias. Received degrees in Acacia Lodge No. 108, Eureka, S.D. on June 21, July 25 and Aug. 17, 1894. Affiliated with Aberdeen Lodge No. 38, Aberdeen, S.D. on Feb. 1, 1916. d. July 6, 1928.

Thomas W. Herren Lieutenant General, U.S. Army. b. Aug. 9, 1895 in Dadeville, Ala. Graduate of U. of Alabama in 1917, and commissioned second lieutenant in that year, advancing through grades to lieutenant general in 1954. He served overseas in WWI with the field artillery, and in WWII was commander of the 106th Cavalry regiment and commandant of the Cavalry School. He later became assistant division commander of the 70th Infantry division; G-3 of the 4th Army; chief of staff of U.S. Army forces in Korea; commanding general of military district of Washington; commanding general of Northern area in Europe; commanding general of first army; and since 1954, senior member of Military Staff Committee of United Nations. Now retired. Member of Rockford Lodge No. 102, Rockford, Ill., but his work was completed at Burlington, Vt. Member of National Sojourners at Springfield, Mass.

Dionisio Herrera (1790?–1850) Elected President of three countries —president of Honduras from 1824–27; president of Nicaragua from 1829–34. He retired in 1833 to live in El Salvador, and in 1835 was elected president of that country, but refused. Mason.

Lott R. Herrick (1871–1937) Justice, Supreme Court of Ill., 1933–37. b. Dec. 8, 1871 at Farmer City, Ill. Graduate of U. of Ill. (1892), and U. of Michigan (1894). In law practice at Farmer City, Ill. from 1894–1933. Member Farmer City Lodge No. 710, Farmer City, Ill. d. Sept. 18, 1937.

Samuel Herrick Brigadier General in War of 1812. He affiliated with Amity Lodge No. 5 of Zanesville, Ohio about 1813, dimitting on June 19, 1824 to affiliate with LaFayette Lodge No. 79, Zanesville on May 25, 1825, withdrawing on Dec. 30, 1830.

Frederick W. Herring (1821–?) American artist. b. Nov. 24, 1821, the son of James Herring, q.v., who was also an artist. He studied art with his father and Henry Inman, and devoted himself to portrait painting. Member of St. John's Lodge No. 1, New York City, N.Y.

James Herring (1794–1867) Artist. b. Jan. 12, 1794, in London, Eng. He came to America with his family in 1804. He began his career by coloring prints and maps. He lived in Philadelphia for a time, but returned to New York where he settled in Chatham Square as a portrait painter. He illustrated (with Longacre) American biography in the National Portrait Gallery. His son, Frederick W. Herring, q.v., was also a painter. James was initiated in Solomon's Lodge, Somerville, N.J. in 1816, and was master of Clinton Lodge, N.Y.C., in 1827–28–32–34, during the period when the anti-Masonic spirit was at its height. He, with the remaining members of Clinton Lodge, united with St. John's No. 1 of N.Y.C. on Dec. 18, 1834. He was grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of New York from 1829–46. When the grand lodge split, June 5, 1849, he became grand secretary of the Phillips (or Herring) group and held that office until 1858. He was exalted in Jerusalem Chapter No. 8, R.A.M., New York City, Jan. 5, 1817; knighted in Columbian Commandery No. 1, K.T.; and was 33°, sovereign grand inspector general, AASR (NJ). He was high priest of his chapter, and served for a time as general grand secretary of the General Grand Chapter of the U.S. He was also grand master of the Grand Encampment, K.T. of the U.S. d. Oct. 8, 1867 in Paris, France.

Arthur W. S. Herrington President of Marmon-Herrington Co., 1931–42 and chairman of board since 1940. b. March 30, 1891 in Coddensham, England, he was brought to the U.S. in 1896. Served in WWI. He designed several types of military trucks with four and six wheel drives, as well as track laying vehicles for U.S. Army and Marine Corps. In 1942 he was technical advisor for the U.S. Mission to India. Member of Madison Lodge No. 93, Madison, N.J. and 32° AASR (NJ) at Indianapolis, Ind. Member of Murat Shrine Temple of Indianapolis.

Alexander Herrman (1844–1896) Magician. b. Feb. 11, 1844 in Paris, France. He died suddenly while en route from Rochester, N.Y. to Bradford, Pa., and was buried with Masonic ceremonies in Woodlawn Cemetery, near New York, by Munn Lodge No. 190, N.Y.C. d. Dec. 11, 1896.

Francis J. Herron (1837–1902) Major General in Civil War. b. Feb. 17, 1837 in Pittsburgh, Pa. He was graduated from Western U. (Pa.) in 1853, and moved to Dubuque, Ia. in 1856, where he was in the mercantile business. He organized a military unit in 1861, and in Sept. of that year, was made lieutenant colonel of the 9th Iowa regiment. He saw action in the campaigns in Mo., Ark., and Indian Tern Was wounded in Battle of Pea Ridge. As a brigadier general he commanded the Army of the Frontier at Battle of Prairie Grove, Ark., and was made major general of volunteers in Nov., 1862. He subsequently captured Van Buren, Ark., invested Vicksburg, and captured Yazoo City. He negotiated and received the surrender of the Confederate forces west of the Miss. In 1865 he was appointed commissioner to negotiate treaties with the Indians. After the war he practiced law in New Orleans, and was U.S. marshal of dist. of La. in 1872–73. He later practiced law in New York City. Charter member of Mosaic Lodge No. 125, Dubuque, Iowa, dimitting April 9, 1872. 32° AASR. d. Jan. 8, 1902.

Ira G. Hersey (1858–1943) U.S. Congressman to 65th to 70th Congresses (1917–29) from 4th Maine dist. b. March 31, 1858 in Hodgdon, Maine, he began law practice in that city in 1880. He served in both bodies of the state legislature, and was president of the senate in 1915–16. After his term as congressman, he practiced law in Washington, D.C. Member of Monument Lodge No. 96, Houlton, Maine, receiving degrees on Oct. 17, 24 and Nov. 14, 1894. In lodge line from 1896, serving as master in 1905–06. d. March 6, 1943.

Mark L. Hersey (1863–1934) Major General, U.S. Army. b. Dec. 1, 1863 at Stetson, Maine. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1887, and received A.M. from Bates Coll. in 1902. Commissioned in 1887 he advanced through the grades to major general in 1924, retiring in November of that year. He was with the Philippines constabulary from 1905–14, and chief of the Mindanao constabulary from 1909–14. In WWI

he commanded the 155th Infantry brigade in the St. Mihiel offensive, and the Bois des Loges defensive in the Meuse-Argonne. Given command of the 4th Division in Oct., 1919, he served with it on the march to the Rhine, and throughout the occupation service. He was a member of Pacific Lodge No. 64, Exeter, Maine, and New England Chapter of National Sojourners. d. Jan. 22, 1934.

Lewis B. Hershey Lieutenant General, U.S. Army, and Director of Selective Service. b. Sept. 12, 1893 in Steuben Co., Ind. Graduate of Tri-State Coll. (Ind.) in 1914. He began as a country school teacher in 1910, and was high school principal of Flint, Ind. from 1914-16. He entered the Indiana National Guard in 1911 as a private, and advanced through grades to lieutenant general in 1956. In the regular Army, he was promoted to major general in 1942, and retired on physical disability in 1946. He was a member of the War Department General Staff from 1936-40. He was appointed deputy director of the Selective Service System in 1947, and made director in 1948. Member of Northeastern Lodge No. 210, Freemont, Ind.

Paul L. Hershfield President of Mississippi Glass Co. since 1949. b. July 11, 1908 at Montrose, Ill. He was associated with Anchor-Hocking Glass Corp., from 1934-40. Has been chairman of board of Walsh Refractories Corp. since 1951. Mason, Knight Templar, 32° AASR, and Shriner.

Jean Hersholt (1886-1956) Actor. b. July 12, 1886 in Copenhagen, Denmark. Educated in Knud Coll. at Copenhagen, he received honorary degrees from several American colleges. He began acting in the Dagmar Theatre of Copenhagen in 1904, and continued on the European stage until 1913, when he came to the U.S. and was naturalized in 1920. Under contract to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Film Corp., he played in more than 400 pictures including Four Horsemen; Greed; Stella Dallas; Old Heidelberg; Emma; Old Soak; Alias the Deacon; Men in White; Grand Hotel; The Country Doctor; Sins of Man; Reunion and Heidi. He received the Academy of Motion Picture Arts' award (Oscar) in 1939-49-50, and was president of the academy from 1945-49. From 1937 he starred in the Dr. Christian radio series. He was knighted by King Christian X, q.v., of Denmark in 1946 for his work as president of the American-Denmark Relief, Inc. during WWII. He was a partner of the Sol Lesser Productions, Inc. of Hollywood. He authored a complete translation of Hans Christian Anderson's Fairy Tales. Member of Palms Lodge No. 512, Hollywood, Calif. d. June 2, 1956.

Christian A. Herter Governor and Congressman of Massachusetts; and Under Secretary of State, Department of State since 1957. b. March 28, 1895 in Paris, France. Graduate, cum laude, of Harvard in 1915. During 1916-17 he was an attache of the American embassy in Berlin, and a special assistant to U.S. Dept. of State in 1917-18. He was secretary of the American commission to negotiate peace at Paris in 1918-19. In 1919-24 he was assistant to Herbert Hoover, secretary of Commerce. He edited The Independent from 1924-28, and was assistant editor of The Sportsman, Boston, from 1927-36. Herter served in the Mass. legislature from 1931–43, and was a member of the 78th to 82nd Congresses from 1943–53, from 10th Mass. dist. He served as governor of Mass. from 1953–57. Member of Mount Tabor Lodge; St. Paul's Royal Arch Chapter; Council of R. & S.M.; St. Bernard Commandery, K.T. all of Boston. In Scottish Rite he is member of Boston Lafayette Lodge of Perfection; Giles F. Yates Council, Princes of Jerusalem; Mount Olivet Chapter of Rose Croix and Mass. Consistory. He became a 33°, honorary member of the Northern Supreme Council on Sept. 23, 1953 at Chicago, Ill. He became a charter member of Nantascot Lodge, Hull, Mass.

Earl of Hertford (see Clare de Gilbert).

Harcourt Hervey Major General, California National Guard. b. Sept. 2, 1892 at Los Angeles, Calif. He was graduated from U. of California in 1916. Commissioned in that year, he advanced through grades to lieutenant colonel, and was with the A.E.F. from 1916–18, resigning to enter the banking profession. He became vice president of Security National Bank of Los Angeles. He entered the national guard in 1922, and advanced through grades to major general. He saw overseas duty in WWII from 1942–45, in Europe, Asia, Pacific, and Korea. A member of Pentalpha Lodge No. 202 of Los Angeles, he received his degrees, Jan. 6, June 9, and June 23, 1914, and 32° AASR (SJ), March 18, 1917, in Kansas, affiliating with Los Angeles AASR bodies on Nov. 4, 1917.

William R. Hervey (1870–1953) Judge of Superior Court of California in 1909. b. March 26, 1870 in Somerville, Tenn. Graduate of U. of Arkansas in 1890, and U. of Michigan in 1894. Practiced law in Los Angeles from 1894–1907. He was president of American Savings Bank from 1908–11, and superior court judge from 1901–11. He was also vice president of two other banks and a building and loan concern. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of California in 1917–18. He was a 33° AASR (SJ), and grand inspector general for Calif.; Knight Templar, and past potentate of Al Malaikah Shrine Temple. He was raised in Pentalpha Lodge No. 202 on June 10, 1895. d. Feb. 1, 1953.

William E. Hess U.S. Congressman to 71st to 74th, and 76th to 80th Congresses, from 2nd Ohio dist. b. Feb. 13, 1898 at Cincinnati, Ohio. Attended U. of Cincinnati and Cincinnati Law School, being admitted to the bar in 1919, and practiced since at Cincinnati. Member of Hanselmann Lodge No. 208, Cincinnati, Ohio, receiving degrees on March 1, April 5 and May 15, 1920. 32° AASR (NJ) and Shriner.

Prince of Hesse–Cassel (see under Frederick).

Prince of Hesse–Cassel (see under “Karl”).

Dukes of Hesse–Darmstad (see under “Ludwig”).

Prince of Hesse–Darmstadt (see under George Karl).

Landgrave of Hesse–Homburg (see under Frederick Ludwig).

Edouard Gregory Hesselberg (D’ Essenelli)

(1870-?) Pianist. b. May 3, 1870 at Riga, Russia. Graduate of the Conservatory of Music and Dramatic Art, Moscow, with honors in 1892, and later studied under the famous Rubinstein. He came to America in 1892, and was naturalized in 1900. He taught in the Ithaca (N.Y.) Conservatory of Music, 1895-96, and at U. of Denver, and Dick's Normal Coll. (Denver), from 1896-1900. He was director of music at Wesleyan Coll. Conservatory, Macon, Ga., 1900-05, and at Belmont Coll., Nashville, Tenn., 1905-12. Later he taught at London, Ontario, and Chicago, Ill. He composed a new national hymn, America, My Country, in 1916. He composed many songs and compositions for piano, violin, and orchestra. Mason. Deceased.

Prince of Hesse-Philippsthal-Barchfeld (see under Frederick William).

Hugh B. Hester Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Aug. 4, 1895 at Hester, N.C. Graduate of U. of North Carolina in 1916. Commissioned in 1917, he advanced through grades to general rank in 1944. Served in Quartermaster department, and was in Southwest Pacific and Australia in WWII. Later he was with military government in Germany, and military attache in Australia. He has commanded the Philadelphia Quartermaster depot since 1948. Member of Army Lodge No. 1105, Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas; 32° AASR (SJ).

Henry Heth (1825-1899) Confederate Major General in Civil War. b. in Virginia, he was graduated from U.S. Military Academy in 1847, and joined the 6th Infantry. He was promoted to captain in 1855. At the out-break of the Civil War, he resigned and entered the Confederate Army as a brigadier general, and was commissioned major general in May, 1863. He commanded a division under General A. P. Hill in Virginia, and was in the battle of Gettysburg, and the campaigns of 1864–65. After the war he engaged in business in South Carolina. He was first a member of Rocky Mountain Lodge No. 205, Camp Floyd, Utah, and served as its senior warden at one time. He affiliated with Benjamin B. French Lodge No. 15, Washington, D.C. about 1891. He was buried Masonically by Richmond Lodge No. 10, Richmond, Va., at the request of Benjamin B. French Lodge. d. Sept. 27, 1899.

Jacob A. W. Hetrick President of New York Medical College since 1942. b. April 22, 1895 at Asbury Park, N.J. He was graduated from New York Medical Coll. in 1918. He became associated with the college in 1927 as a professor, and later served as registrar, assistant dean, and dean. Received his degrees in Kane Lodge No. 454, New York City in spring of 1931.

Frederick L. Hetter Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy. b. Jan. 25, 1907 at Rock Island, Ill. Graduate of U.S. Naval Academy in 1927. Advanced through grades to rear admiral in 1952. His specialty is Naval aircraft supply. He served in the Central Pacific in WWII, and since the war has been executive officer of supply depots at Philadelphia, with the Atlantic fleet, and at Bayonne, N.J. since 1956. Raised in Rock Island Lodge No. 658, Rock Island, Ill. in Oct., 1928. He was a DeMolay in Rock Island, Ill. as a youth. Member of Mt. Vernon Chapter No. 8, R.A.M.; Warren Council No. 5, R. & S.M. and Hugh de Payens Commandery No. 1, K.T., all of Jersey City, N.J.

Ralph D. Hetzel (1882–1947) College president. b. Dec. 31, 1882 at Merrill, Wis. Graduate of U. of Wis– .1.1 A Howard R. Hick consin in 1906 and 1908. A professor of English and political science, he became president of the New Hampshire Coll. of Agr. and Mechanic Arts, 1917–23, and president of U. of New Hampshire, 1923–26. He was president of Pennsylvania State Coll. from 1927. Made a Mason “at sight” by R. R. Lewis, grand master of Pa. in Masonic Temple at Philadelphia on Dec. 27, 1938. Became member of State College Lodge No. 700. d. Oct. 3, 1947.

Joseph Hewes (1730–1779) Signer of the Declaration of Independence. b. Jan. 23, 1730 in Kingston, N.J. His family were farmers and Quakers, but at the beginning of the Revolution, he gave up his ties with the Society of Friends and devoted himself to the war. In 1776 he was a member of the secret committee of the committee on claims, and was virtually the first secretary of the Navy. At an early age he moved to Philadelphia where he engaged in business, but moved to Edenton, N.C. in 1763. He was in the state senate that year, and in 1774 was a delegate to the Continental Congress and assisted in the preparation of the report on “The Statement of Rights.” With General Washington, he conceived the plan of operations for the ensuing campaign. He was again chosen a delegate to congress in 1776, but illness prevented him from serving. He was again returned to congress in 1779, but died in the second month of his term. His funeral was attended by Washington, and he was buried in Christ Church, Philadelphia. His lodge is not known, but he is recorded as a visitor at a meeting of Unanimity Lodge No. 7 of Edenton, N.C. on Dec. 27, 1776, just after his return from the Continental Congress. d. Nov. 10, 1779. Was buried with Masonic honors.

Weldon B. Heyburn (1852–1912) U.S. Senator from Idaho, 1903–09, 1909–15. b. May 23, 1852 in Delaware Co., Pa. Admitted to the bar in 1876, and practiced in Shoshone Co., Idaho from 1883. He was a delegate to three national Republican conventions. Member of Shoshone Lodge No. 25, Wallace, Idaho. d. Oct. 17, 1912.

Melville L. Hibbard President of Minnesota Power and Light Co. 1933–54 and now chairman of board. b. Feb. 21, 1883 at Farnham, Quebec, Canada, coming to the U.S. in 1908; was naturalized in 1921. He was employed by utility companies in San Antonio, Texas, Fargo, N.D., and Minneapolis, Minn. He was president of the Idaho Power Co., 1931–33. Member of Shiloh Lodge No. 1, Fargo, N.D. receiving degrees on Feb. 28, March 28 and April 29, 1919. Member of Keystone Chapter No. 20, R.A.M. and Duluth Commandery No. 18, K.T., both of Duluth, Minn.; 32° AASR at Fargo, ND.; El Zegal Shrine Temple, Fargo; past director of Duluth Court No. 55, Royal Order of Jesters; Aad Shrine Temple, Duluth; St. George Conclave No. 6, Red Cross of Constantine and DeMolay Legion of Honor.

Philip Hichborn (1839–1910) Rear Admiral, U.S. Navy and inventor of Franklin Life Buoy. b. in Charleston, Mass. He served five years as an apprentice in the Boston Navy Yard, and took a special course in ship construction in the Navy. He went to Calif. in 1860, where he entered the Mare Island Navy Yard and became a master shipwright in 1862. He entered the Navy in 1869, and became chief naval constructor, 1893–1901, retiring in the latter year. He was master of Naval Lodge No. 87 at Vallejo, Calif. in 1866, but withdrew in 1872. d. 1910.

Howard R. Hick Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of the Philippines (1958–59). Born in England March 8, 1910. In 1915 while England and France were at war his parents moved to the United States, coming on the last voyage of the Lusitania before it was sunk. They settled at 00.

Bourke B. Hickenlooper Easton, Pa., where after graduation from high school he attended New York U., graduating with a B.S. in aeronautical engineering. Was captain and member of 1932 track team at Olympic tryouts in Los Angeles. He was an instructor in Pacific Military and Elsinore Naval Academies. He was naturalized in 1933; he engaged in research work in Greece, India and the Philippines; he spent three years in Santo Tomas internment camp. He is president and general manager of the Peter Paul Philippine corporation. Made a Freemason in 1946, he advanced rapidly, becoming grand master in 1958. He had a large part in securing an agreement in the Japanese–Philippine grand lodge controversy.

Bourke B. Hickenlooper Governor and U.S. Senator from

Iowa since 1945. b. July 21, 1896 at Blockton, Iowa. Graduate of Iowa State Coll. in 1920, and received law degree from U. of Iowa in 1922. Admitted to bar in latter year, and has since practiced in Cedar Rapids. He was lieutenant governor of Iowa from 1939–43, and governor 1943–44. He served in the lower house 1935–39. During WWI he was a second lieutenant with the 339th Field Artillery and served in France. Member of Mizpah Lodge No. 639, Cedar Rapids; received 32° AASR (SJ) in Army Consistory No. 1, Kansas, April 2, 1918, and affiliated with the Cedar Rapids consistory, Jan. 21, 1925. Shriner.

Doyle O. Hickey Major General, U.S. Army. b. July 27, 1892 at Rector, Ark. Graduate of Hendrix Coll. Conway, Ark. in 1913. He was commissioned in 1917, in officers reserve corps, and in the regular army in 1920. He advanced through grades to major general in 1948. Mason, 32° AASR, and Shriner.

John E. Hickman Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Texas since 1948. b. Mar. 28, 1883 at Liberty Hill, Texas. He taught school, and was admitted to bar in 1910. He practiced in Erath and Stephens Co. until 1926, when he became a justice of the court of civil appeals. He served as chief justice of this court from 1928–34. He became associate justice of the supreme court in 1945. Mason.

Henry D. Hicks Prime Minister of Nova Scotia, 1954–56. b. Mar. 5, 1915 at Bridgetown, N.S. Graduate of Mount Allison and Dalhousie universities, he was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford in 1943. Admitted to the bar in 1941, he practiced at Bridgetown. He has been a member of the Nova Scotia legislature since 1945; was minister of education, 1949–54; provincial secretary in 1954, and leader of the Liberal Party since 1956. In WWII he served as an artillery captain, from 1941–45, in the Canadian Army. He was initiated in Rothsay Lodge No. 41, Bridgetown, in 1947, and is a member of the Scottish Rite.

Joseph W. Hicks Public relations and industrial relations counsel. b. July 18, 1899 in Oliver Springs, Tenn. He was graduated from U. of Oklahoma in 1923, and is the author of Cheer Oklahoma, the U. of Oklahoma's song. Starting as a newspaper man and editor, he was on papers in. Topeka, Kans., Seattle, Wash., San Francisco, Calif., and Oklahoma City, Okla. He was also a correspondent of the United Press from 1921–23 and International News Service, 1923–24. He entered the public relations field at Chicago in 1925, and taught in the Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern U. from 1927–33. In private practice since 1941, he is president of the Joseph W. Hicks Organization. Served in WWI in artillery. Member of Siloam Lodge No. 276, Oklahoma City, Okla.; chapter, council and commandery in Evanston, Ill. and 32° AASR (NJ) in Chicago. Member of Medinah Shrine Temple, Chicago. 226 Archibald T. Higgins Raymond M. Hicks Steamship executive. b. at Kingston, N.Y. in 1898. He is executive vice president and director of Number One Broadway Corp.; U.S. Lines Co.; and Roosevelt Steamship Co. Member of Columbia Lodge No. 3, Washington, D.C.

Thomas H. Hicks (1798–1865) Governor and U.S. Senator from Maryland. b. Sept. 2, 1798 in Dorchester Co., Md. Reared on a farm, he entered the mercantile business in 1831. As governor of Maryland from 1858–62, he strongly opposed secession. He was first appointed to the senate, and later elected, serving from 1863–65. He was a member of Cambridge Lodge No. 66, Cambridge, Md. and served several terms as master. He was deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of Maryland in 1849. He was also a member of Livingston Chapter No. 14, Cambridge. His commandery membership is not known, but he was buried with Knights Templar ceremonies from the senate chamber of the U.S. Capitol. d. Feb. 13, 1865.

Miguel Hidalgo (see under Costilla) .

Anton Hieronymus It is said that in the examination of a German steinmetz, or stonemason, this was given as the name of the first Freemason. Mackey says that it is unquestionably a corruption of Acton Hiram.

Joseph Hiester (1752–1832) Governor of Pennsylvania, 1821–23. b. Nov. 18, 1752 in Bern township, Pa. Had a common school education, and worked as a farm laborer, and then as a clerk in Reading, Pa. At the beginning of the Revolution he raised and equipped that town with a company which took part in the battles of Long Island and Germantown. He was a colonel, and at one time was captured and held prisoner. Hiester was a member of the constitutional convention of 1776. He served five terms in the state house, and four in the state senate of Pa. In 1807 he was appointed one of the two major generals to command the quota of Pa. military militia called for by the president. He served in the U.S. congress from 1797–1805, and again from 1815–20. A member of Lodge No. 62 of Reading, Pa., he served as junior and senior warden, and was treasurer in 1811. d. June 10, 1832.

Ranulf Higden (?–1364) A monk of Chester, England, who is buried in the Chester cathedral. He was the compiler of Polychronicon, a world history, drawn upon for some details in the very imaginary history of Masonry found in the Old Charges. Polychronicon was written in Latin, but an English version was printed by Caxton in 1482.

Andrew J. Higgins (1886–1952) Shipbuilder, who during WWII was identified with the construction of amphibious landing boats. b. Aug. 28, 1886 in Columbus, Nebr. He was a lumber mill owner and operator in Ala. and Miss. from 1908–15; then a lumber broker and exporter at New Orleans from 1915–20. From 1920–30 he was president of the Higgins Lumber and Export Co., and from 1930 was president of the Higgins Industries, Inc., builders of motor boats, planes, engines, ship radios, etc. at New Orleans. He was the inventor of some 30 improvements for amphibious landing craft and vehicles. Mason. d. Aug. 1, 1952.

Archibald T. Higgins (1893–1945) Justice, Supreme Court of Louisiana from 1934. b. Oct. 31, 1893 in Algiers, La. He graduated from Tulane U. Law School and Loyola U. Admitted to the bar in 1916, he practiced at Gretna. He served in the lower house from 1920–24 and was judge of the court of appeals, Orleans Parish, 1929–34. He received his degrees in St. John Lodge No. 153, New Orleans on Dec. 19, 1919, April 20, and Oct. 7, 1920. Became charter member of William De White Lodge No. 408 in 1922 and was master in 1923. Exalted in Orleans–Delta Chapter No. 1, R.A.M.; knighted in Jacques de Molay Commandery No. 2, K.T.; 32° AASR (SJ) on July 27, 1929. Was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Louisiana in 1937. d. Oct. 3, 1945.

Frank W. Higgins (1856–1907) Governor of New York, 1905–07. b. Aug. 18, 1856 at Rushford, N.Y. He was in the mercantile business at Stanton, Mich. from 1875–79 and in Olean, N.Y. in 1879. He served as state senator from 1894–1902, and was lieutenant governor from 1903–05. A member of Olean Lodge No. 252, Olean, New York, he was past commander of St. John's Commandery No. 24, K.T. of Olean. d. 1907.

William L. Higgins (1867–1951) U.S. Congressman to 73rd and 74th Congresses (1933–37) from 2nd Conn. dist.; physician. b. March 8, 1867 at Chesterfield, Mass. Received M.D. degree from U. of City of New York in 1890, and began practice at Willimantic, Conn., moving after a short time to South Coventry, Conn. Served seven terms in the lower house, and one term as state senator. He was Corm. secretary of state two terms, 1929–33. Member of Uriel Lodge No. 24, Merrow, Conn., receiving 3rd degree on Feb. 24, 1923. Member of Trinity Chapter No. 9, R.A.M. and St. Johns Commandery No. 11, both of Willimantic. 32° AASR (NJ) at Norwich and member of Sphinx Shrine Temple, Hartford. d. 1951.

Ben Frank Hilbun President of Mississippi State College from 1953. b. Nov. 14, 1890 in Laurel, Miss. Graduate of Miss. State Coll. in 1923. He became associated with the college in 1925, as director of publicity, and later served as registrar and assistant to president. Member of Abert Lodge No. 89, Starkville, Miss. since 1922 and J. J. Brooks Chapter No. 151, Starkville. Past master of his lodge. Son, Ben Frank, Jr. member of same bodies.

Oscar F. Mild (1901–1950) Member of the International Executive Board of American Federation of Musicians since 1940. b. Feb. 15, 1901 at Cincinnati, Ohio. Student at U. of Cincinnati, 1926–30. From 1916–30, he was an instrumental musician with various bands and orchestras, including the Chicago Opera, and Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. In 1931 he was business agent of the Cincinnati Union of Musicians, and president since 1932. He was manager–director of the Cincinnati Summer Opera which presents the only summer grand opera season in America. Mason and Knight Templar. d. April 24, 1950.

Horace A. Hildreth Governor of Maine, 1945–49, and Ambassador to Pakistan, 1953–57. b. Dec. 2, 1902 at Gardiner, Maine. Graduate of Bowdoin Coll. (1925), and Harvard Law School (1928). Admitted to the bar in 1928, he first practiced in Boston, Mass., and after 1936, in Portland, Maine. He served one term each in the state house and senate, being president of the senate in 1943. From 1949–53, he was president of Bucknell U. Member of Casco Lodge No. 36 of Yarmouth, Maine.

Melvin A. Hildreth (1859–1944) Brigadier General of National Guard, and Congressional Medal of Honor winner. b. Oct. 27, 1859 at Whites-town, N.Y. Began practice of law in Watertown, N.Y. in 1883, and moved to Fargo, N.D. in 1888. He was U.S. attorney for N.D. from 1914–24. He enlisted in the N.D. National Guard in Oct., 1890, serving in the Spanish–American War, and in the Philippine Insurrection of 1898–99, as a colonel. He was a member of the commission, under treaty to settle military affairs with the Spanish government in the Philippines in 1899. Elevated to brigadier general in 1908. Member of Shiloh Lodge No. 1 of Fargo, ND., and made life member on Nov. 16, 1942. Member of Keystone Chapter No. 5, R.A.M., Auvergne Commandery No. 2, K.T. and El Zagal Shrine Temple of Fargo, N.D. d. Jan. 13, 1944.

Arthur M. Hill Chairman of executive committee of The Greyhound Corp. b. March 23, 1892 at Charleston, W.Va. He is chairman of board of Atlantic Greyhound Corp.; president and chairman of the Charleston Transit Co.; and chairman of the board and director of Capitol Greyhound Lines. He is an officer in a number of other corporations. From 1935–48 he was a director of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, and is president of the National Assn. of Motor Bus Operators. He was an officer in WWI with the 77th Infantry Division, and in WWII was special assistant to the secretary of the Navy. Mason, 32° AASR (SJ), and Shriner.

Claude E. Hill (1874–1957) Disciples of Christ minister. b. Jan. 11, 1874 in Pike Co., Mo. Graduate of U. of Chicago in 1901. Ordained minister in 1896, and served churches in Ala., Tenn., and Okla. From 1906–18 he was national superintendent of Christian Endeavor, Disciples of Christ, and a member of the executive commission of the International Convention, Disciples of Christ in 1923–26. In 1926 he was chairman of the Peace Commission of that church. He was a delegate to the Churches of Christ in Great Britain in 1932. Author of Keeping the Faith: Plea of the Disciples of Christ for Christian Unity. Member of Chattanooga Lodge No. 199, Chattanooga, Tenn. and John Bailey Nicklin Chapter No. 49, Chattanooga. Member of Trinity Commandery No. 20, K.T., Tulsa, Okla. and grand prelate of Grand Commandery of Oklahoma in 1932. Shriner. d. Feb. 10, 1957.

David G. Hill President of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. since 1955, and member of executive committee. b. June 6, 1902 at Pittsburgh, Pa. Graduate of Cornell in 1924. He began with Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. as an engineer in 1924, and advanced as assistant to vice president, 1929–40; general superintendent, 1940–52; vice president, 1952–55. He is also a director of many large corporations. Member of Shekinah Lodge No. 257, Festus, Mo.

Isaac Hill (1788–1851) U.S. Senator and Governor of New Hampshire. b. April 6, 1788 in Somerville, Mass. He was employed in the printing office of the Amhurst, N.H. Cabinet, at the age of 14, and in 1809 went to Concord, N.H., where he purchased the American Patriot, changing its name to New Hampshire Patriot. After serving in both branches of the state legislature, he was second comptroller of the treasury, from 1829–30, when he was elected U.S. senator, holding this office until 1836, he resigned to become governor of New Hampshire. He served as governor until 1839. He was a member of Blazing Star Lodge No. 11, Concord, and King-Trinity Chapter No. 2, R.A.M. of Hopkinton, N.H. In 1826 he was grand senior warden of the Grand Lodge of New Hampshire. d. March 22, 1851.

James J. Hill (1838–1916) Railroad president who was known as the “Empire Builder of the Northwest.” b. Sept. 16, 1838 near Guelph, Ont., Canada. He left his father’s farm for a business life in Minn. He became associated with a steamboat office in St. Paul in 1856, and later established a fuel and transportation company of his own. His Red River Transportation Co., established in 1870, was the first to open communication between St. Paul and Winnipeg. He organized a syndicate which secured control of the St. Paul & Pacific R.R. from Dutch owners, and reorganized it as the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway Co., serving as general manager from 1879–81; vice president, 1881–82; and president 1882–90. It became part of the Great Northern system in 1890. Hill was the moving force in the construction of the Great Northern Railway from Lake Superior to Puget Sound on the Pacific, with Northern and Southern branches, and direct steamship connections to China and Japan. He was president of the entire Great Northern system from 1889–1907, and chairman of the board from 1907–12. He was the owner of one of the finest collections of modern French paintings in the world. He contributed half a million dollars to the erection and endowment of the St. Paul Theological Seminary. Member of Ancient Landmark Lodge No. 5, St. Paul, Minn. d. May 29, 1916.

Jim Dan Hill President, State Teachers College, Superior, Wis. from 1931, and major general, 32nd Division (Wis. N.G.). b. Feb. 4, 1897 in Leon Co., Texas. Graduate of Baylor U., U. of Colorado, and U. of Minn. Was principal of high school, in Texas, and commandant of Gulf Coast Military Acad. in Miss. He then taught English in the N.M. School of Mines, and English and economics in the Michigan Coll. of Mines. In WWI he was a seaman in the Navy. During WWII he was granted a leave of absence from the college for military service. Raised in Eldorado Lodge No. 890, Eldorado, Texas in Feb., 1918 and presently a member of H.H. Grace Lodge No. 324, Superior, Wis.

John F. Hill (1855–1912) Governor of Maine two terms, 1901–05. b. Oct. 29, 1855 at Eliot, Maine. He received an M.D. degree from Bowdoin in 1877. He served in both branches of the state legislature, and was a member of the executive council from 1898–99. Member of Augusta Lodge No. 141, Augusta, Maine. d. March 16, 1912.

Lister Hill U.S. Senator from Alabama since 1938. b. Dec. 29, 1894 at Montgomery, Ala. Graduate of Stark Univ. School (Ala.); U. of Alabama; and Columbia U.; he began law practice in Montgomery in 1916. Served in U.S. Army in WWI from 1917–19. U.S. congressman, 68th to 75th congresses (1923–39) from 2nd Ala. dist. During 77th–79th congresses, he was the majority whip in the senate. Received 32° AASR (SJ) at Montgomery, Ala. on Nov. 24, 1924.

Matthew W. Hill Chief Justice, Supreme Court of

Washington. b. June 26, 1894 at Bozeman, Mont. Graduate of U. of Washington in 1917; admitted to bar in 1918, and practiced in Seattle, 1919–45. He was elected justice of supreme court in 1947, and reelected to term ending 1959. He is now chief justice (1957–58). In 1955–56 he was first vice president of the American Baptist Convention, and a member of the general council, 1957–58. Mason, he was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Washington in 1940–41; 33° AASR (SJ). Coroneted 33° Dec. 8, 1945. Active in York Rite, Red Cross of Constantine.

Robert P. Hill (1874–1937) U.S. Congressman, 63rd Congress (1913–15) from 25th Ill. dist. b. April 18, 1874 at Ewing, Ill. Admitted to bar in 1904, and practiced at Marion, Ill. Member Fellowship Lodge No. 89, Marion, Ill. Suspended NPD in 1918. d. Oct. 29, 1937.

Samuel B. Hill Judge of Tax Court of the U.S. b. April 2, 1875 at Franklin, Ark. was graduated from U. of Arkansas, and practiced law in that state five years before moving to Waterville, Wash. in 1904. He was judge of the superior court of Washington, 1917–23, and member of the 68th to 74th U.S. congresses from 5th Wash. dist. (1923–37). In 1936 he was appointed to the U.S. Board of Tax Appeals (now the Tax Court of the U.S.), and reappointed for a term ending in 1960. Mason.

Thomas R. Hill President, director and general manager of Rexair, Inc., Detroit, since 1935. b. Dec. 15, 1894 at Williamstown, Ky. Graduate of Georgetown Coll. in 1915.

From 1915– 18 he was a coach, high school principal and superintendent of schools. From 1915–18 he was a lecturer on the Redpath Chautauqua circuit and from 1927–31 with the RKO Lyceum Bureau. He is also president, director and general manager of Martin–Parry Corp., Detroit, since 1941. Raised in Jellico Lodge No. 527, Jellico, Tenn. in 1916. He is a member of Kentucky–Tennessee Chapter No. 148, R.A.M. of Williamsburg, Ky. and Pineville Commandery No. 39, K.T., Pineville, Ky., as well as Eastern Star, Shrine and White Shrine.

Wilson S. Hill (1863–1921) U.S. Congressman to 58th to 60th Congresses (1903–09) from 4th Miss. dist. b. Jan. 19, 1863 in Choctaw Co., Miss. Graduate of Cumberland U. (Tenn.). Admitted to bar in 1884 and practiced first at Winona and later at Greenwood. Received degrees in Winona Lodge No. 48, Winona, Miss. in 1898; suspended in 1909; reinstated in 1915; dimitted in 1915. d. Feb. 15, 1921.

Michael Hillegas (1729–1804) First Treasurer of the U.S. b. in Philadelphia on April 22, 1729, son of an early German emigrant. He engaged in sugar refining and became a man of some wealth. In June, 1774, he became treasurer of the committee of safety, of which Benjamin Franklin was president. In 1775, he was appointed by the Continental Congress as treasurer of the U.S. and held this office until 1789. Member of St. John's Lodge (Moderns), Benjamin Franklin's lodge. His name appeared on the original subscription list for the erection of Freemason's Hall, March 13, 1754. The only documentary evidence of any meetings of the "Moderns" during or after the Revolution is a communication to the grand lodge dated Oct. 30, 1782, wherein it gives Hillegas as junior warden of the lodge. d. Sept. 28, 1804.

Jeffrey P. Hillelson U.S. Congressman, 83rd Congress from 4th Mo. dist. b. March 9, 1919 in Ohio, he graduated from U. of Kansas City in 1947. Served in WWII as a captain (1942–46). From 1947–52 he operated a grocery store in Independence, Mo. For a time he was executive assistant to the postmaster general, resigning in 1956. In 1957 he was named postmaster of Kansas City, Mo. Member of Independence Lodge No. 76, Independence, Mo.; exalted in Independence Chapter No. 12, R.A.M. on April 17, 1954 and knighted in Palestine Commandery No. 17, K.T. on June 4, 1954, both of Independence, Mo.

Benjamin C. Hilliard (1868–1957) Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Colorado, 1939–41. b. Jan. 9, 1868 near Osceola, Ia. Graduate of State U. of Iowa in 1891. He practiced law in Kansas City, Mo. in 1890–93 and moved to Denver, Colo. in 1893. He was a justice of the supreme court of Colorado from 1931. Member of Highlands Lodge No. 86, Denver, Colo., receiving degrees on Oct. 19, Nov. 16, and Dec. 14, 1894, and master of same in 1901. Grand orator of the Grand Lodge of Colorado in 1934–36 and grand master, 1941–42. Received 32° AASR (SJ) in Colorado Consistory No. 1, in Feb., 1936. d. Aug. 1, 1957.

Otto Hillig (1876–1954) Transatlantic flyer and philanthropist. b. in Germany in 1876. He came to this country at the age of 13, worked at odd jobs and took up photography commercially. Living frugally he amassed a fortune of approximately $100,000. In 1931, he flew from his home in Liberty, N.Y. to Copenhagen, Denmark, with Maj. Holger Hoiriis as his pilot. On the trip he carried a letter from the grand master of New York to the King of Denmark. He constructed a German type "castle" on a mountain top near Liberty to remind him of his homeland. In his will he left this to the Grand Lodge of New York. Once a year, his home lodge, Mongaup No. 816 of Liberty, N.Y., met in the building. He also left bequests to six other lodges in that county. Other bequests in his will were to a dozen churches and many friends and associates. d. Oct. 2, 1954.

Charles C. Hillman Physician and Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Aug. 27, 1887 at Almyra, Ark. Graduate of U. of Arkansas (B.S. 1907) and Rush Medical Coll. (M.D. 1911). He became a contract surgeon with the Army in 1912. He was commissioned the following year and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1942. During WWII he was commanding general of Letterman General hospital, San Francisco; retired in 1947. Member of Mt. Zion Lodge No. 135, Metuchen, N.J.; 32° AASR at Bloomsburg, Pa. (NJ) and Irem Shrine Temple, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

James N. Hillman President of Emory and Henry College, 1922–41. b. Nov. 6, 1883 in Coeburn, Va. Received A.B., M.A. and LL.D. from William and Mary Coll. He served as high school principal in Williamsburg, Va.; Latin instructor in William and Mary; superintendent of schools in Wise Co., Va.; and secretary of the state board of education, 1917–22.

As president of Emory and Henry College, he was privileged to sign and confer degrees on all four of his children as well as his son-in-law, brother, and niece. He was grand master of the Grand Lodge of Virginia in 1938; grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of Virigina in 1947. He was raised March 19, 1906 in Williamsburg Lodge No. 6; past high priest of Coeburn and Highland Park Chapter No. 37; past commander of Cyrene Commandery No. 21, Norton, Va. Received KCCH in 1948 and 33° AASR, (SJ) in 1951, being a member of Dalcho Consistory. Member of Acca Shrine Temple, Richmond, St. Poly-carp Conclave, Red Cross of Constantine, Royal Order of Scotland, and master of Virginia Lodge of Research No. 1777 since 1950.

Thomas Hilson (1784–1834) Actor. b. in England in 1784, his family name was Hill. He first appeared in this country at the Park Theatre in New York City in 1809 as Walter in The Children of the Wood. He continued as a member of the company until August, 1833, performing a wide range of character in comedy, tragedy and opera-bouffe. Paul Pry, Touchstone and Tony Lumpkin were among his most successful renderings. It is said that “his forte was low comedy, but he sometimes lowered it to vulgarity.” Member of Holland Lodge No. 8, New York City. d. July 23, 1834.

William O. Hiltabidle, Jr. Commodore, U.S. Navy. b. Nov. 2, 1896 at Glyndon, Md. Graduate of Lafayette Coll. in 1919. He was a civil engineer from 1919–21; was commissioned in the Navy in that year, advancing through grades to commodore in 1945. He has been stationed at Naval yards and installations in New York City, Washington, D.C., Guam, Hawthorne, Nev., Pearl Harbor, San Diego, Quantico, Va., Newport, R.I. and Marianas Islands. In 1947–48 he was assistant chief of Bureau of Yards and Docks. Mason and National Sojourner.

Clifford L. Hilton (1866–1946) Justice, Supreme Court of Minn. from 1928. b. Dec. 8, 1866 in Kenyon, Minn. Graduate of U. of Wisconsin in 1888, entering law practice at Fergus Falls, Minn., that year. He served two terms as attorney general of the state. Member of Corner Stone Lodge No. 99, Fergus Falls, Minn. Was Knight Templar, 33° AASR (NJ) and Shriner. d. April 5, 1946.

David C. Hilton (1877–1945) Surgeon and Brigadier General, National Guard. b. April 22, 1877 at Saline Co., Nebr. Received A.B. and A.M. from U. of Nebraska and M.D. from Rush Medical Coll. He practiced medicine in Lincoln, Nebr. from 1903. Served as a captain in medical corps in WWI and was division surgeon of 35th Division, Nebr. National Guard, 1927–40. Made brigadier general, unassigned, in 1940. He was U.S. delegate to International Congress of Military Medicine and Pharmacy at Warsaw, Poland in 1927 and in 1929 to same in London, England. Member of Acacia fraternity. Initiated in Siloam Lodge No. 780, Chicago, Ill. in 1903, he affiliated with Lincoln Lodge No. 19, Lincoln, Nebr. and served as master in 1917–18. Exalted in Lincoln Chapter No. 6, R.A.M. in Sept., 1914, he was high priest in 1925 and grand high priest of Grand Chapter, R.A.M. of Nebraska in 1945–46. Knighted in Mt. Moriah Commandery No. 4, K.T., Lincoln in Nov. 1914, he served as commander in 1938; greeted in Lincoln Council

No. 4 R. & S.M. in Dec. 1914. Was sovereign of Coeur de Lion Conclave No. 10, Red Cross of Constantine in 1941. Received 32° AASR (SJ) in 1906, KCCH in 1915 and 33° on Oct. 24, 1919. d. Dec. 12, 1945.

James W. Hilton Brigadier General, U.S. Army (retired); Manager of industrial relations at Wisconsin Steel Works, International Harvester Co. A combat infantryman in WWI and WWII, he served as an enlisted man in the same regiment during the first war that he commanded in the second. Retired as brigadier general in March, 1951. He is past master of South Park Lodge No. 662, Chicago; past president and member of board of governors of Chicago Chapter, National Sojourners; member of Logan Chapter No. 196, R.A.M.; Englewood Commandery No. 59, K.T.; Chicago Court No. 48, Royal Order of Jesters; 32° AASR (NJ) Valley of Chicago, being chancellor of Oriental Consistory and chairman of fraternal relations committee; potentate of Medinah Shrine Temple, Chicago in 1958.

Joseph H. Himes Business executive and U.S. Congressman to 67th Congress (1921–23) from 16th Ohio dist. b. Aug. 15, 1885 in New Oxford, Pa. He rose from a cinder pitman in the Pittsburgh steel mills to an executive position. He is founder and president of Group Hospitalization, Inc., Washington, D.C.; president of Joseph H. Himes Co., Inc.; director of Acacia Mutual Life Ins. Co.; special partner in brokerage firm of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane, N.Y. and director of a number of corporations. Mason. 32° AASR and Shriner.

John H. Hinds Major General, U.S. Army. b. Feb. 9, 1898 at Ft. Monroe, Va. Graduate of U.S. Military Academy in 1918 and advanced through grades to brigadier general in 1943. He has served in France, Philippines, Hawaii, North Africa, United Kingdom, Belgium, Germany and Czechoslovakia. In WWII he was with the War Dept. general staff, corps artillery commander, and artillery officer of 12th army group. From 1946 he was liaison officer to the Atomic Energy Commission. Retired. Member of Leonard Wood Lodge No. 105, Philippines.

Edward N. Hines (1870–1938) Highway pioneer who designed and built the first mile of concrete road in the U.S. b. Jan. 13, 1870 in St. Louis, Mo. He entered the printing business in 1889 and incorporated in 1907 as Speaker–Hines–Printing Co., of which he was president and general manager from 1925. He was road commissioner of Wayne Co., Mich. from 1906. In 1911 he originated the white line device to separate traffic lanes, and in 1893 he compiled and published the first road tour book. He sponsored the adoption of county road law in Mich. in 1893, and was organizer of American Road Builders Assn. in 1903. Member of Ashlar Lodge No. 91, Detroit, Mich., receiving degrees on Nov. 2nd, 9th, and Dec. 28, 1893. d. June 4, 1938.

Frank T. Hines Brigadier General, U.S. Army; Administrator of Veterans' Affairs; U.S. Ambassador to Panama. b. April 11, 1879 in Salt Lake City, Utah. He entered the service as an enlisted man in the Utah Light Artillery (N.G.) in 1898 and advanced through grades to brigadier general (N.G.) in 1918. In the Philippine insurrection, he served in 24 engagements and was recommended for the Congressional Medal of Honor. He assisted in the return of 3,100 American citizens from Europe in 1914 at the start of WWI. In 1918 he was chief of the embarkation service and the following year appointed chief of the Transportation Service, U.S. Army. In this position he was largely responsible for the transporting of over two million men to Europe in 18 months and returning them home in eight months. He was made permanent brigadier general in 1919 and resigned in 1920. From 1923–30 he was director of the U.S. Veterans' Bureau, and from 1930–44 was administrator of Veterans' Affairs. He was appointed ambassador to Panama in 1945. Raised in Temple Noyes Lodge No. 32, Washington, D.C. on Jan. 10, 1929; 32° AASR (SJ) and KCCH. d. April 3, 1960.

James F. Hinkle (1864–1951) Governor of New Mexico, 1923–25. b. Oct. 20, 1864 in Franklin Co., Mo. Educated in U. of Missouri. From 1885–1911 he was a cattle raiser in New Mex. He entered the banking business in 1911 and became president of First National in Roswell. He served three terms in the lower state house and was elected to the territorial senate in 1901. Member of Roswell Lodge No. 18, Roswell, N.M., receiving degrees on Sept. 27, Dec. 27, 1890, and March 25, 1891. Knight Templar, received 33° AASR (SJ) on Nov. 23, 1933. Shriner. d. March 26, 1951.

Thomas Hinkle Wagon boss for pioneer firm of Russell, Majors and Waddell, the great freighting firm of the prairies which started the Pony Express. Its owners and employees were predominantly Freemasons. Hinkle was a first sergeant in the Lexington, Mo. company of Doniphan's regiment in the Mexican War. In the Civil War, he was a colonel under General Sterling Price, q.v., and directed placing of the bales of hemp to form a moveable breastworks behind which Price's troops stormed the Masonic College in the Battle of Lexington in 1861. He was an early member of Lexington Lodge No. 32, petitioning, Oct. 25, 1841, and receiving the first degree, Nov. 23, 1841, and the next two, Dec. 3, 1841. This lodge later consolidated with Lexington No. 149.

Alonzo G. Hinkley Justice, Supreme Court of N.Y., 1920–47. b. Sept. 27, 1876 in Buffalo, N.Y. Admitted to bar in 1898. He served as official referee for the supreme court of New York following his retirement from the bench in 1947. Member of Washington Lodge No. 240, Buffalo, N.Y. receiving degrees on Feb. 23, April 7, and 27, 1899. District deputy grand master, 1922–23. Received 33° AASR (NJ) on Sept. 19, 1922. Shriner. Received 60-year lodge palm in 1959. Past potentate of Ismailia Shrine Temple; past monarch Zuleika Grotto.

Eugene E. Hinman (1875–1937) Masonic Author, physician. b. May 23, 1875 in Albany, N.Y. Received M.D. degree from Albany Medical College in 1899. Raised in Temple Lodge No. 14, Albany, N.Y. in 1901; served as master in 1919. He was grand master of the Grand Council, R. & S.M. of New York in 1917. He was co-author of History of Cryptic Masonry. d. Jan. 20, 1937.

George E. Hinman Justice, Supreme Court of Connecticut 1926–40. b. May 7, 1870 in Alford, Mass. He edited the Willimantic Journal for three years and was admitted to the bar in 1899, practicing in Willimantic, Conn. He served terms as attorney general of the state and justice of the superior court. After retirement from bench in 1940 he was state referee. Member of Cincinnatus Lodge, Great Barrington, Mass.; Trinity Chapter No. 9, R.A.M. and St. John's Cornmandery No. 11, K.T. (past commander) in Willimantic, Conn.

Carl Hinshaw (1894–1956) U.S. Congressman to 76th to 81st Congresses from Calif. (1939–51). b. July 28, 1894 in Chicago, Ill. Graduate of Princeton U. and U. of Michigan. From 1920–28 he was a salesman in Chicago, first with motor vehicle companies and later investment companies. In 1928–29 he was in real estate and investments in Tucson, Ariz., moving to Pasadena, Calif. in 1932 in the same business. Mason and 32° AASR (SJ). d. Aug. 5, 1956.

William W. Hinshaw (1867–1947) Singer, conductor and operatic producer. b. Nov. 3, 1867 near Union, Iowa. Graduate of Friends Academy (Ia.) and Valparaiso U., he also studied singing in U.S. and Germany. At the age of 15 he was the leader of a boys' band. From 1890–99 he taught music in Chicago and Valparaiso U. He made his debut with Castle Square Opera Co. as Mephisto in Faust at St. Louis in 1899. From 1903–07 he was president of the Chicago Conservatory of Music, and for the following two years, of the Hinshaw Conservatory in Chicago. He was the leading American baritone with the Metropolitan Opera Co. of New York from 1910–13. He sang in Austria, Germany, and Canada, and in 1920 organized his own company, giving Mozart operas in English (800 performances). In 1926 he retired from musical activities and devoted himself to publishing an encyclopedia of American Quaker genealogy. Mason, Knight Templar, 32° AASR and Shriner. d. Nov. 27, 1947.

Frank Hiscock (1834–1914) U.S. Senator from New York, 1887–93. b. Sept. 6, 1834 at Pompey, N.Y. He was admitted to the bar in 1855. A member of the state constitutional convention of 1867, he served in the 45th to 49th U.S. congresses (1877–87). Following his term as senator, he resumed private practice at Syracuse, N.Y. d. June 18, 1914.

Arthur M. Hitch (1875–1956) President of Kemper Military School, Boonville, Mo. b. Feb. 26, 1875 at Cuba, Mo. He attended the Rolla School of Mines (Mo.) and was graduated from the U. of Missouri in 1897. He began his teaching career in 1897 and was with Kemper from 1899. He was vice president and principal from 1907–27; superintendent from 1927–49; and president from 1934. A member of Cooper Lodge No. 36, Boonville, Mo.; he was exalted in Boonville Chapter No. 60, R.A.M. on Feb. 20, 1904; served as high priest in 1907–08–09 and received his 50-year chapter pin; member of Olivet Cornmandery No. 53, K.T., Boonville, he was knighted on April 2, 1904; member of Ararat Shrine Temple of Kansas City, he was past president of the Boonville Shrine Club. d. Feb. 20, 1956.

Herbert E. Hitchcock (1867–1958) U.S. Senator from South Dakota, 1936–38. b. Aug. 22, 1867 in Maquoketa, Iowa. Attended Iowa State College and College of Law, Chicago, moving to Mitchell, S.D. in 1884 and was admitted to bar in 1896, practicing in Mitchell. Member of the state senate three terms. Member of Resurgam Lodge No. 31, Mitchell, S.D., receiving degrees on May 16, 1898, Jan. 21 and Feb. 22, 1899. Received 32° AASR (SJ) in Oriental Consistory Oct. 5, 1919. d. Feb. 17, 1958.

Phineas W. Hitchcock (1831–1881) U.S. Senator from Nebraska, 1870–77. b. Nov. 30, 1831 in New Lebanon, N.Y. He was admitted to the bar and settled in Omaha, Nebr. in 1857. In 1861 he was appointed U.S. marshal of the Territory of Nebraska, holding this office until his election as a delegate to congress in 1864. He was a member of the national committee appointed to accompany the remains of Lincoln to Illinois. On the organization of Nebraska as a state in March, 1867, he was appointed surveyor-general, and held that office two years. Member of Capitol Lodge No. 3, Omaha, Nebr. d. July 10, 1881.

Raymond Hitchcock (1865–1929) Star of the comedy stage. b. in Auburn, N.Y. Member of St. Cecile Lodge No. 568, New York City.

Adolf Hitler (1889–1945) Anti-Mason. German chancellor and Fuhrer. Dorothy Thompson, writing about him for the Ladies Home Journal in Oct. 1955 thought that he was suffering from paranoia and a persecution complex: “Those whom he imagines to be conspiring against him may be individuals. But his enemies may also be ‘they’—a whole society, or some section of it. Priests, Freemasons, Jews, or ‘the crowned heads of Europe.’ “ Hitler not only forbade meetings, but even membership, and established a museum which was to depict the foolishness of Freemasonry. The following is part of Hitler’s official decree against Freemasonry in 1942 that was presented during the Nuremburg trial: “Freemasons and the ideological enemies of National Socialism who are allied with them are the originators of the present war against the Reich. Spiritual struggle according to plan against these powers is a measure necessitated by war. I have, therefore, ordered Reichsleiter Alfred Rosenberg to accomplish this task in cooperation with the Chief of the High Command of the armed forces. To accomplish this task, he has the right to explore libraries, archives, lodges, and other ideological and cultural establishments of all kinds for suitable material and to confiscate such material for the ideological tasks of the N.S.D.A.P. for scientific research work. The regulations for the execution of this task will be issued by the Chief of the High Command of the armed forces in agreement with Reichsleiter Rosenberg.”

George Hoadly (1826–1902) Governor of Ohio, 1883–85. b. July 31, 1826 at New Haven, Conn. In 1830 he moved to Cleveland, Ohio with his parents. Was graduated from Western Reserve Coll. in 1844 and studied at Harvard Law School. Admitted to the bar in 1847, he practiced in Cincinnati. After 1887 he practiced law in New York. Mason and 32° AASR. d. 1902.

William D. Hoard (1836–1918) Governor of Wisconsin, 1889–91. b. Oct. 10, 1836 at Stockbridge, N.Y. Moved to Wis.

in 1857, where he engaged in farming and in nursery business at Columbus from 1865–70. Was publisher of Jefferson County Union, Lake Mills, 1870–73, moving it to Ft. Atkinson in latter year. He also published Hoard's Dairyman. He served as president of Farmers National Congress and National Dairy Union; president of board of regents, U. of Wis. 1907–11. Member of Billings Lodge No. 139, Fort Atkinson, Wis. at time of his death, Nov. 22, 1918.

James Hoban (1762?–1831) Architect who designed and supervised the construction of the White House, Washington, D.C. (1792–1800). When it was destroyed by the British in 1814, he designed the one replacing it (1815–29). b. at Tullamore, near Callan, in County Kilkenny, Ireland, his exact birth date is unknown. He studied architecture under Thomas Ivory, and in 1785 arrived in Philadelphia. He then went to Charleston, S.C., where he built several public buildings, and the state house at Columbia. For this he was recommended to President Washington, and he went to Philadelphia to confer with Washington about developing the Federal City. His plan for the White House was accepted, and he received the contract to supervise the construction at 200 guineas a year. Hoban collaborated with William Thornton, q.v., in constructing the U.S. Capitol, and, in 1797, was named superintendent of the executive buildings to be erected, including the Treasury, State, War, and Navy buildings. He married Susanna Sewell in 1799, and they had ten children. Although a devout Catholic, he was ardently interested in Masonry. Bishop Carroll stated, in a letter in 1794, with reference to prohibitory edicts, that they would not be enforced in his diocese.

James Hoban laid the cornerstone of the White House with Masonic ceremonies, Oct. 12, 1792. It is not known where he received his degrees, but under his leadership a group of Irish Catholics and Scotch Presbyterians organized Federal Lodge No. 1, Washington, D.C. and he became its first master, and afterwards, treasurer. The lodge also participated in the laying of the cornerstone of the Capitol by Washington, Sept. 18, 1793. He was a member of an early Royal Arch “encampment” in the Dist. of Columbia. d. Dec. 8, 1831, and his body was interred in the graveyard of St. Patrick’s Church, but reinterred in Mt. Olivet by his grandson in 1863.

Garrett A. Hobart (1844–1899) Twenty-fourth Vice President of the United States, 1897–1901. b. June 3, 1844 in Monmouth Co., N.J. He was graduated from Rutgers Coll. in 1863, taught school, studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1869. He practiced at Paterson, N.J. He was a member of the state legislature from 1873–78, and state senator, 1879–85. A member of Falls City Lodge No. 82, Paterson, N.J., he received his degrees, July 9, Oct. 31, 1867, and raised Dec. 8, 1868. He was exalted in Cataract Chapter No. 10, R.A.M., Paterson, Nov. 6, 1871, and knighted in St. Omer Commandery No. 13, K.T. of Paterson in the same year. He became a charter member of Adelpic Chapter No. 33, R.A.M. of Paterson, Oct. 13, 1874, and a charter member of Melita Commandery No. 13, Paterson, May 10, 1876; at one time he served as generalissimo of this commandery. On Dec. 23, 1896 he became a life member of Washington Commandery No. 1, K.T. at Washington, D.C.; received 32° AASR (NJ) in New Jersey Consistory, Jan. 31, 1876. d. Nov. 21, 1899.

Thomas Walter Hobart (see under Inskip).

Sam Francis Hobbs (1887–1952) U.S. Congressman to 74th to 81st Congresses (1935–51) from 4th Ala. dist. b. Oct. 5, 1887 at Selma, Ala. Graduate of U. of Alabama in 1908, and practiced law in Selma from 1908–21, when he became a circuit judge. He resumed law practice in 1926. Mason. d. May 31, 1952.

William P. Hobby Newspaper publisher and Governor of Texas, 1917–21. b. March 26, 1878 at Moscow, Texas. He served an apprenticeship on the Houston Post, and in 1924 became president of the board, resigning in 1955 to become chairman. From 1907–21, he published the Beaumont Enterprise. He was lieutenant governor of Texas in 1914–17, then governor. His wife, Oveta Culp Hobby, was the commanding officer of the WAC organization (Woman's Army Corps) in WWII, and has succeeded him as publisher of the Post. Member of Beaumont Lodge No. 286, Beaumont, Texas, receiving degrees on March 5, May 26, and June 23, 1913, dimitting May 28, 1931.

Homer Hoch (1879–1949) Judge, Supreme Court of Kansas from 1939, and U.S. Congressman to 66th to 72nd Congresses (1919–33) from 4th Kans. dist. b. July 4, 1879 at Marion, Kans. Graduate of Baker U. and Washburn Coll. Member of Center Lodge No. 147, Marion, Kans. d. Jan. 30, 1949.

August F. Hockenbeamer (1871–1935) President of Pacific Gas & Electric Co. 1927–35. b. March 6, 1871 at Logansport, Ind. Worked for Pennsylvania, B. & O. and C.R.I. & P. railroads from 1887–1903; N. W. Halsey & Co., investment bankers, 1903–07; went with the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in 1907. Was vice president of Bond & Share, and a trustee of Edison Electric Inst. Mason. d. Nov. 11, 1935.

Thetus H. Hocker Vice President of George A. Hormel & Co. (meat packers) from 1944, and director since 1938. b. Oct. 5, 1902 at Monroe, Ind. Graduate of U. of Indiana in 1924. Member of Fidelity Lodge No. 39, Austin, Minn., 32° AASR (SJ), Winona, Minn. and Osman Shrine Temple, St. Paul, Minn.

John R. Hodge General, U.S. Army. b. June 12, 1893 in Golconda, Ill. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1917, and advanced through the grades to general in 1952. In WWI, he served in France in 1918–19. In WWII he was in the Pacific Theater from 1942–48, commanding the 24th Corps from activation in 1944, to Aug., 1948. He commanded the U.S. Army forces in Korea from 1945, until the Korean government was formed in 1948. He was in the landings at Leyte and Okinawa. Hodge accepted the surrender of the Japanese army in Korea. In 1950–52 he commanded the Third Army in the U.S., and was chief of army field forces, 1952–53. Now retired. A member of E. A. Minor Lodge No. 603, Atlanta, Ga., he was raised Nov. 18, 1950. In 1954 he was created an honorary member of the Grand Lodge of Mississippi. In 1951 he addressed the Grand Lodge of Alabama and in part said: “I think the proudest day of my life is the day I was raised and could call myself a Mason. The obligations exemplified the things that I always believed in, so I was not embarrassed at any stage.” Also a member of Phoenix Chapter No. 2, R.A.M.; Fayetteville Council No. 27, R. & S.M.; and Palestine Commandery No. 20, K.T., all of Fayetteville, N.C. 32° AASR (SJ) in Atlanta, Ga. and Yaarab Shrine Temple, Atlanta.

Walter H. Hodge U.S. Federal Judge. b. Aug. 29, 1896 at Auburn, Ind. Graduate of U. of Washington, 1919, admitted to Washington bar in 1919, and Alaska bar in 1935. In private practice at Seattle from 1929–34, and Cordova, Alaska, 1935–54. Named judge of U.S. district court, second div. at Nome in 1954, and has served since that time. Received degrees in Mount Baker Lodge, Mount Vernon, Wash. about 1925. Past master of Mount McKinley Lodge No. 183, Cordova, Alaska and present chaplain of Anvil Lodge No. 140, Nome, Alaska. 32° AASR at Juneau; member of Nile Shrine Temple, Seattle, Wash.; and Cordova Chapter No. 4, O.E.S. at Cordova.

George H. Hodges (1866–1947) Governor of Kansas, 1913–15. b. Feb. 6, 1866 at Orion, Wis., moving with parents to Kans. in 1869. He began as a lumber yard salesman and bookkeeper at Olathe in 1886. He became senior member of Hodges Bros., owning 12 lumber yards, 12 hardware stores, and the Johnson County (Kans.) Democrat. As a member of the Kansas senate he authored the Hodges hard surface road law. As governor, he inaugurated a movement to collect food and supplies for the Belgians; the state and its citizens donated 50,000 barrels of flour, meal, and food that were delivered in 90 days. He advocated a constitutional amendment abolishing the two-house legislature by substituting a single body of 12 men to pass and repeal the laws of the state (failed). At his death he had been a Mason 55 years, and had received his 50-year button. He was a charter member of Caswell Consistory of Kansas City, Kans., Aug. 19, 1898; he had received the 33°. Member of Olathe Lodge No. 19, Olathe, Kansas. d. Oct. 7, 1947.

Henry C. Hodges (1831–1917) Brigadier General, U.S. Army. b. Jan. 14, 1831 in Vt., he was graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1851 and was promoted through grades to brigadier general in 1904, when he retired. He saw early service on the frontier, and in 1853–54 was on the Pacific Railroad explorations. In the Civil War he was chief quartermaster of the Army of the Cumberland, and on the staff of Gen. Rosecrans in the Tenn. campaign. Later he was quartermaster general after the war until he retired. A member of Willamette Lodge No. 2, Portland, Oreg., he received the first two degrees on Dec. 9, 1853 and the third the following night. d. Nov. 3, 1917.

Luther H. Hodges Governor of North Carolina since 1954. b. March 9, 1898 in Pittsylvania Co., Va. Graduate of U. of North Carolina in 1919. An executive in the mill industry (fabrics). He delivered an address at the laying of the cornerstone of the new Masonic temple at Winston-Salem, March 19, 1955. He delivered the principal address at the General Grand Chapter banquet in 1954.

Silas H. Hodges (1804–1875) Commissioner of Patents 1852–53, and examiner-in-chief of U.S. patent office, 1861–75. b. Jan. 12, 1804 in Clarendon, Vt. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1825. In 1832 he abandoned his profession, studied theology, and became a Congregational clergyman, preaching until 1841, when he resumed his law practice in Rutland, Vt. Member of Center Lodge No. 6, Rutland. d. April 21, 1875.

Richard M. Hoe (1812–1886) Inventor of the rotary press (1847), web press (1847), and improvements that made possible the modern newspaper press. b. Sept. 12, 1812 in New York City. He entered his father's printing press manufacturing business at the age of 15, and became senior member of the firm in 1833. Of an inventive mind, he made many improvements on the prevailing flatbed press of that day. His new rotary press was known as Hoe's "lightning press." He was a member of Columbia Lodge No. 91, Philadelphia, being initiated, Oct. 23, 1854, and remaining a member until his death, June 7, 1866.

Heinrich Hoepker (1874–1956) Active in the rejuvenation of the Masonic groups in Germany in 1949, forming the United Grand Lodge of Germany, after the Nazi regime. b. June 28, 1874, he was initiated in Urania zur Unsterblichkeit Lodge in May, 1911, serving as master of the lodge in 1922–26. He was deputy grand master of the Grosseloge von Preussen (Royal York) from 1925–31. He served as representative of the Grand Lodge of New York from 1926 until his death. In 1929 he was chairman of the Verein Deutscher Freimauer. d. Feb. 10, 1956.

Charles B. Hoeven U.S. Congressman to 78th to 85th

Congresses (1943–59) from 8th Ia. dist. b. March 30, 1895 at Hospers, Ia. Graduate of Iowa State U. in 1920. Admitted to bar in 1922, and practiced at Alton. He was a member of the Iowa state senate from 1937–41, and president of same last three years. Served in WWI with 88th Div. in France. Raised in Floyd Lodge No. 537, Orange City, Iowa in 1921 and past master of same; 32° AASR (SJ) at Sioux City, Iowa; and member of Abu Berk Shrine Temple, Sioux City.

Clyde R. Hoey (1877–?) Governor of North Carolina, 1937–41, and U.S. Senator, 1945–1951. b. Dec. 11, 1877 at Shelby, N.C. Attended U. of North Carolina, and was admitted to bar in 1899. He began in a printing office at age of 12, and later edited a county newspaper. He served in both houses of the state legislature, and was U.S. congressman to 66th congress (1919–21) from the 9th N.C. dist. He declined congressional renomination, and resumed law practice in 1921. A member of Cleveland Lodge No. 202, Shelby, N.C. he received his degrees, Sept. 20, Oct. 18, and Nov. 22, 1907. He was trustee of his lodge from 1931–36; grand orator of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina, 1932–33, addressing that body on April 18, 1933.

Harold G. Hoffman Governor of New Jersey, 1935–37. b. Feb. 7, 1896 at South Amboy, N.J. He enlisted as a private in WWI, and was promoted to captain in the 114th Infantry. In WWII, he was colonel in the Transportation Corps. Was mayor of South Amboy, 1925–26, and U.S. congressman to 70th and 71st congresses (1927–31) from 3rd N.J. dist. From 1930–35 he was commissioner of motor vehicles in N.J. Member of St. Stephen's Lodge No. 63, South Amboy, being initiated March 7, 1927.

John T. Hoffman (1828–?) Governor of New York, 1868–72. b. Jan. 10, 1828 at Sing Sing, N.Y. Graduate of Union Coll. in 1846, he studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1849. He acquired an extensive practice in New York City; joined the Tammany organization in 1854. He was mayor of New York City from 1865–69. Mason. Deceased.

Paul G. Hoffman Corporation executive and Economic Cooperation Administration administrator, 1948–50. b. April 26, 1891 at Chicago, Ill. Honorary degrees from many universities. He began as an automobile salesman for Studebaker Corp. in 1911, and became president of same, serving from 1935–48; chairman of board in 1953; chairman of board Studebaker-Packard Corp. 1954–56. Chairman of board of Hoffman Specialty Mfg. Co.; president and trustee of Ford Foundation, 1951–53. Director of many large corporations including New York Life Ins. Co., Encyclopedia Britannica, Time, Inc., and United Air Lines. Member of Wilshire Lodge No. 445, Los Angeles, Calif., receiving his degrees in 1926.

Roy Hoffman (1869–1953) Lawyer, judge, and Major General, National Guard. b. June 13, 1869 in Neosho Co., Kans. Founded the Guthrie (Okla.) Daily Leader in 1889; was admitted to the bar in 1892; was district judge, 1908–12; and U.S. attorney for Okla. in 1903–07. He enlisted in army during Spanish–American War, and rose to captain. In Mexican Border conflict he was a colonel; became brigadier general, U.S. Army, in 1917. In WWII he commanded Ft. Sill, Okla.; 61st Depot Brigade, Camp Bowie, Tex.; and organized, commanded, and went overseas with the 93rd Division. Following the war he commanded Camp Shelby, Miss., and was discharged March, 1919. Retired as major general, commanding 45th Division, National Guard. Member of Oklahoma's Hall of Fame. Mason; received 32° AASR (SJ) on Aug. 5, 1898.

James Hogan (see under Hogun).

William Hogarth (1697–1764) English painter and engraver famous for his caricature and satirical paintings. b. Nov. 10, 1697, in St. Bartholomew parish of London. He was apprenticed to Ellis Gamble, a silversmith of Cranbourne St., Leicester Fields, London. His talents soon found another outlet; his first sketch was of a drunken fray which he happened to witness in a tavern on the road to Highgate. His extremely ludicrous sketch set the pattern for his future efforts—to exhibit vice in all its deformities, strip villainy of its cloak, and ridicule all excesses offensive to the moral code. Hogarth was an active Freemason, and not only served as grand steward of the Grand Lodge of England in 1735, but designed the jewel of the Grand Stewards Lodge that is still used today. He is shown on the records of the grand stewards as having been a member of the lodge at the “Bear and Harrow,” Butchers’ Row in 1730, and at the “Hand and Apple-tree,” Little Great Queen St. in 1725. In 1729 he secretly married Jane, daughter of Sir Thomas Thornhill, q.v., a painter under whom he studied. Thornhill became senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England in 1828. Hogarth painted his father-in-law's portrait in Masonic attire as a grand officer. His best known Masonic engraving is entitled Night, being the last of a series known as The Four Times of the Day. It represents Restoration Day (May 29) in Hartshorn St., Charing Cross (now part of Northumberland Ave.), with an inebriated master, or past master being assisted down the street by a tyler. It is thought that the master is Sir Thomas DeVeil, q.v., past master of Hogarth's first lodge, and the tyler was Bro. Montgomerie, the grand tyler, or as he was then called, "garder of ye Grand Lodge." The painting Sleeping Congregation (1736) represents Dr. Desaguliers, grand master in 1720, preaching to a congregation. Among the sleepers are a number of grand lodge officers and Masonic notables whom Hogarth knew well through his attendance at the quarterly sessions of grand lodge, and in the dozen London lodges. The Mystery of Masonry Brought to Light by the Gormogons (1742), shows Dr. James Anderson, q.v., and the Duke of Wharton, q.v., grand master in 1722–23. The Roast Beef of Old England, or The Gate of Calais, was the result of Hogarth's visit to France, shortly after the peace of Aix-la-Chapelle. While sketching the gate, Hogarth was arrested as a spy and returned to England. The friar depicted in it is none other than John Pine, official engraver to the grand lodge in 1746. He also made an engraving of Martin Folkes, q.v., deputy grand master of the grand lodge in 1724. He executed a savage portrait of Bro. John Wilkes, q.v., who had been initiated in prison, and one of Lord Lovat (1746), who was connected with the Rite of Strict Observance and executed April 9, 1747 for treason. Hogarth died Oct. 25, 1764.

Moses D. Hoge (1819–1899) Virginia clergyman, said to have been the most eloquent speaker in the southern Presbyterian church. He was made a Freemason on his death-bed. b. Sept. 17, 1819 near Hampden Sidney Coll., Va.; he was graduated from that institution in 1839. He was licensed to preach in 1844. He served the 2nd Presbyterian church of Richmond most of his life. During the Civil War he ran the blockade to England in order to provide Bibles for the Confederate Army, and the Earl of Shaftesbury granted him ≈$4,000 for this purpose. He declined the presidency of Hampden Sidney Coll. at one time. From 1862–67 he edited the Central Presbyterian with Rev. Thomas Moore. He died at Richmond, Va., Jan. 6, 1899.

Palmer T. Hogenson (1899–1955) President of Webber College, Babson Park, Fla. since 1949; economist. b. Dec. 25, 1899 at Stewartville, Minn. Graduate of St. Olaf Coll., Harvard, and American U. He traveled and studied in China, Philippines, Sumatra, Ceylon, Italy, France, and England. He was professor of economics at Missouri Valley Coll., (Marshall, Mo.) 1927–30; same at Bradley U., 1930–44, and economist with the War Dept. in Washington, 1944–47. Mason, 32° AASR. d. Oct. 8, 1955.

James Hogg (1770–1835) Scottish poet known as the “Ettrick Shepherd.” b. in Ettrick, Selkirk, Scotland, he was a friend of Scott, Byron, John Wilson, Wordsworth, and Southey. He settled in Edinburgh in 1810, and at Eltrive Lake in Yarrow in 1816. Among his works are Donald M'Donald; Scottish Pastorals; The Mountain Bard; Forest Minstrel; The Queen's Wake; Pilgrims of the Sun; The Poetic Mirror; and Queen Hynde. He was made a Mason in Lodge Canon-gate Kilwinning, Edinburgh, May 7, 1831.

Jean Baptiste N.M. de la Hogue (see under Delahogue).

James Hogun (?–1781) Brigadier General in American Revolution. b. in Ireland, he served in the Georgia and North Car. militia and was appointed brigadier general on Jan. 9, 1779. He was taken prisoner at Charleston, S.C. on May 12, 1780 and died while a prisoner, Jan. 4, 1781. Member of Lodge No. 3, Philadelphia, Pa., he received his degrees on April 13, 15 and 17th, 1779. He signed the by-laws on April 16th, 1779 as James Hogun; however, the minutes refer to him as Hogan. Two other officers received the degrees at the same time. They were General J. P. G. Muhlenberg, q.v., and General William Thompson, q.v., the latter while a prisoner on parole, en route to N.Y.

